3.—Most compositions follow strict musical from A-B-A most often. It means you will see an opening movement, a repetition of it, a development of it to make up the A part. The B is different, although it may have grown from the thematic material which through manipulation developed a second part. The A is the return to the original A, either as you first saw it in the beginning, or a new version of it.

4.—Did the dance convey anything to you? Welcome or greeting in opening dance, dilemma in the Bewildered Heart or perhaps lusty gayety in Exhuberance.

5.—Did the costume or color catch your eye?

6.—Did you become interested in watching the design the body made in space or the special pattern of the dance itself? To see dance in its choreography (arranging of dances) one should look down upon it from the audience, and never up. Notice the body as well as the feet.

7.—Was there something about the music which you liked or did not like? The two Cowell extracts are stange. The whole hand isused in the base, striking all the black keys the hand can span.

The Lullaby music is Spanish which makes it monotonous, most such music is. The problem here is to beiate that monotony through the use of the one figure against the group.

8.—A last criteria, what would you like to see again, and why?

Select your favorite shade of

LIPSTICK AND ROUGE

at

ROSE'S

5-10-25c Stores

Farmville's Most Popular Store

Betty Ellis

On the Ball

Good Habits

Have you ever thought very much about your health, and why it is so important to you? Good health comes from good habits, and a daily schedule worked out by you alone can help to make you a better person .Of course, you are always rushed up here at school, but don't forget to take the time out for that weekly hair washing. Brushing your hair each night, will keep it shiny, and cleaner. Use a good shampoo, lots of hot water, and scrub hard.

A daily bath is another important item in one's routine. Again you use lot of hot water, plenty of soap, and a sturdy brush to use for your knees, which get so grimy and your back, which you can talk your roommate into washing. Lots of good smelling bath powder gives you a very nice feeling, and dusting it in between your toes and fingers, will keep out cracks from perspiration, and the beginning of athlete's foot.

Plenty of sleep is something we all need, and never seem to get. If we could give up that last hand of bridge, or forget that favorite radio program just once, it would be surprising to find that extra hour of sleep come in very handy. Eight hours of sleep are essential for good health, and if you like, you can call it that needed beauty sleep. Along with sleeping comes eating, they always seem to team together, Cokes, nabs, peanuts, chocolate bars, seem to be the favorite food of the average college girl, but it is these things that cause bad complexions, that excess fat ,and oftentimes, bad dispositions. Three regular meals a day will help to make you feel more physically fit, and ready for anything.

These are but a few of the habits we should all form, so lets start out this next week right, by trying to live up to each one of them, and making up some of our own also.

Athletic Ideas

So you want to be an athlete? Not everyone is built for that, but there are many who have tried and succeeded in doing some sport well, because they did try. Practice, practice, practice keeps running through your mind ,but that is exactly what you have to do, if you expect to get anywhere on the tennis courts, hockey field, riding ring, basketball court, or other sports activities.

Trying out for a class team does not mean just coming down to the gym, sitting around, and watching the other girls play. It means going out on the court and working just as hard as the rest of them. You might be afraid at first if you happen to be teamed up for the afternoon with all physical ed majors, but you will find that although they may have had the spirits, they don't all excel in them!

Try to learn the rules, and stick by them. Watch closely when you are not playing, and see if you can find a foul of penalty as soon as the umpire or referee does. When you are in the game, remember you are a member of the team, and there are other girls playing besides you. Don't go haywire, and forget to cooperate. If you are playing tennis, golf, or riding a horse, which calls for individual work, try to make yourself work hard as though you were being directed, instead of just practicing by yourself. A good player on any team or in any game, always trys to be in practice at all times, so use that as one of your rules toward becoming an athlete.

Brochure Published

Continued from Page 1

ous groups. They give a cross section of the spiritual life of America as expressed in song, and it is hoped that they may be useful as an aid in intelligent and reverent worship."

Twenty-four hymns selected from several hundred will form the major part of the prochure, and each hymn will have a complete review by Dr. Walmsley. In addition, there will be six hymns composed by Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department.

The purpose of this book is to stimulate good hymn singing and to give each student information both as to author and composer that will help in the days to come.

Club '45

Continued from Page 1

floor will be cleared and those in the coffee shop will be able to dance.

Lights for the production are being worked by Lillian Elliott, and Virginia Terrell is in charge of decorations and publicity.

Club '45 was the original production of last year's graduating class in 1941, and was passed on to the present junior class last year. Last year's scene was set in an English pub.

SHANNON'S

FOR BETTER FOOD

PHONE 522

PLAIN
RYTEX STATIONERY
$1.00 A BOX

Martin the Jeweler

Orchesis Program

Opening Dance ..... Rosa Dance Group
Technique Studies ... arr. by Ozlin Apprentice Group
"To Those Who Will Speak" .... Greves
From the poem by Sergeant Chas. E. Butler, United States Army—Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Virginia Mae Ellett, Lucy Harvie, Edith Lovins, Gloria Pollard.
Reader ..... Betty Ellis
Jazz Suite—
One-Step Sturt ..... Dett
Lillian Goddin, Ann Jones, Kitty Renneker, Neil Scott, Gloria Pollard, Edith Lovins.
Jive Jitters ..... arr. by Overbey
Virginia Mae Ellett, Betty Ellis.
Jazz Lyric ..... Gershwin
Mary Crank, Mildred Droste, Virginia Mae Ellett, Betty Ellis, Lucy Harvie, Jean Parry, Nancy Whitehead.
Intermission—Ten Minutes
The Bewildered Heart, Schoenberg
From Santos: New Mexico by May Sexton, Ruth Dugger.
Reader ..... Kitty Renneker
Dooey-Do ..... Cowell
Mildred Corvin, Shirley Cruiser, Barbara Dickenson, Patricia Garth, Lucy Harvie, Earlene Kimmerling, Frances Lee, Edith Lovins.
Exuberance ..... Cowell
Gloria Pollard
Lullaby ..... arr. by Commins
Based upon the use of the rebozo (shawl) worn by Mexican women.—Betsy Caldwell, Ruth Dugger, Betty Ellis, Patricia Garth, Margaret Harvie, Ann Jones, Kitty Renneker.
Waltz ..... Tschaikowsky
Lillian Goddin, Margaret Harvie, Edith Lovins, Gloria Pollard.
Dance Group: Betsy Caldwell, Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Virginia M. Elliett, Betty Ellis, Patricia Garth, Lillia Goddin, Lucy Harvie, Margaret Harvie, Ann Jones, Edith Lovins, Gloria Pollard, Kitty Renneker, Jean Carter Smith.
Apprentice Group: Mildred Corvin, Mary Crank, Shirley Cruiser, Barbara Dickenson, Earline Kimmerling, Frances Lee, Jean Parry, Frances Satterfield, Nell Scott, Esther Shevick, Nancy Whitehead.
Accompanist Elizabeth A. Jordan
Assistants: Connie Ozlin, Mary Cabell Overbey.
Lighting ..... Mary St. Clair Bugg
Readers ..... Betty Ellis, Kitty Renneker.
Choreography, Costuming, Staging —Miss Emily M. Kauziarich Dance Group

Collins Florist

FRESH FLOWERS

FOR ALL OCCASIONS

S. T. C. Students

Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA

Wilson's

Firestone Store

311 West Third Street

Peoples National Bank

Farmville, Virginia

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink

BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to

Kleanwell Cleaners

Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

CLEARANCE SALE OF FALL & WINTER

SHOES

VALUES UP TO $6.50

NOW

$2.89

Non-Rationed

First Floor—Rear

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality Farmville, Va.

Put the Brain In Gear--Will You Be Blondie or Lollypop As Mardi Gras Rolls Round?

Something old . . . something new . . . something borrowed . . . anything will do . . . not wedding attire we are talking about . . . but the Mardi Gras costume problem —which isn't really a problem at all. First and foremostly the costume must be modest in that it must be knee-length. If you are smart it will be something you can wear shoes with . . . no reflection on dates danceability. It is not at all necessary to rent an expensive costume, though some do. The prize for originality usually goes to one who has rigged available material into something attractive—something not necessarily beautiful. The next consideration is that what you wear be comfortable enough for you to have a good time in. Crepe paper is fine and dandy but makes a pretty miserable jitterbug garb.

And if perchance you might desire a few suggestions here they are. P. S.—Why not take a peek at some costume books in the library?

Foreign costumes . . . Almost any type of European folk costume can be flung together using a dirndl skirt, a peasant blouse, some jewelry and a head gear, made according to country using anything you can find that will resemble it. Arabian costumes can be made from bathrobes, (bed evening dress for base.) You can, with the aid of a black pencil mark or so for the slanted eyes, oriental type pajamas, turn heathen Chinee overnight or Japanese if you are so inclined.

All forms of military dress can be fixed up using suit jackets and jodphurs or riding breeches and boots. Apply some medals, a wide leather belt and little black mustache and guess who!

Typical tacky party attire is acceptable. Hillbillys are welcome, as are Gypsys, Carmen Mirandа's, little girls and boys, valentines, Scarlet O'Haras and shieks.

If you are a lover of the abstract, masquerade as a lolly pop, candy cane or a Christmas tree, an alarm clock or anything else that might pop into your mind. In that field you are strictly on your own ingenuity or what not.

You can be your favorite literary personality, movie queen or funny paper character. Get the ole brain busy 'cause the prizes are very nice, they say. Anyway, have fun!

Ellen Moore and Lynn Spry wearing typical Mardi Gras costumes.

Pi Kappa Sigma Leads Sorority Averages

Pi Kappa Sigma led the eight sororities on campus in scholastic standing, with the average for all its members 2.08, Miss Ruth Gleaves, panhellic adviser, announced this week. Phi Zeta Sigma, which has led the sororities for the past three quarters, placed second with an average of 2.03.

Other sorority averages for the fall quarter are Mu Omega, 1.93; Gamma Theta, 1.91; Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1.88; Alpha Sigma Tau, 1.85; Theta Sigma Upsilon, 1.75; and Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.64.

Ten Best Stories Chosen By T. C. U.

Eight of the ten best news stories of 1943 developed outside of the United States, but all were directly or indirectly related to the war. That's the studied opinion of journalism students at Texas Christian University who were asked by Prof. J. Willard Ridings, head of the department of journalism, to pick the ten big stories of '43.

The Fall of Italy got top billing in a year when big headlines were the rule of the day. It was placed among the first ten by every student in the department, the only story to be unanimously chosen. "Sudden death to one of the Axis members, who, after all never got any farther than the balcony!" was a typical comment.

Twenty-six stories were nominated for final consideration, and from these the 10 best were named by the journalism students each one supporting his selections by pertinent comment.

Here are the remaining nine stories, with added comment:

2. Four-Power Conference. The four Mr. Bigs of the war plan for peace. Plans are formed at devastating diplomatic dinners which which will wreak eventual devastation upon the Axis.

3.John L. Lewis and the Coal Miners. Trouble and confusion on the home front. The thermometer of public opinion—on both sides —registers the high interest rating of this news.

4. Bombing of Berlin. Allied theme song becomes "Night and day, you are the one!" Certain Nazi bigwigs said it couldn't be done, forgetting that England and the United States specialize in the impossible.

5. Capture of North Africa. American, British and French forces get together for the first important Allied victory. Hitler's African ambitions die along with the Africa Korps.

6. U. S. Race Riots. Black, brown and white men are caught in an underlow of prejudice and misunderstanding. Detroit, Beaumont and Los Angeles share the shame of the spotlight.

7. Russian Summer-Fall Successes. The Russians give Hitler's men the bum's rush. The most consistent headline-holder in the war news.

8. Invasion of Sicily. American boys help to drive the first blow into the "soft underbelly of Europe."

9. General Patton Case. General Patton struck a shell-shocked soldier. A shocked American public opinion struck General Patton.

10. Jap Slaying of Captured Doolittle Fliers. Tojo makes sure that the U. S. will "Remember Pearl Harbor."

Sorority Pledges

Continued from Page 1

Sheffield, Suffolk; Virginia Terrell, Richmond; and Mary Virginia Walker, Suffolk.

Taking Alpha Sigma Alpha were Cecilia Arthur, Roanoke; Lucy Bralley, Richmond; Mary Stewart Buford, Lawrenceville; Patsy Dale, Homeville; Betty Graves Johnson, Richmond; Barbara Lee Myers, Danville; Dorothy Lewis Owen, Birley; Catherine Stoner, Pincasle; Dorothy Louise Turley, Wytheville; and Lucille Upshur, Choriton.

Girls taking Mu Omega were Helen Apperson, Newport News; Hilda Bennett, Bedford; Virginia Sutton Bland, West Point; Joan Davis, Lynchburg; Shirley Gibson, Falls Church; Doris Harper, Falls Church; Janice Holstead, Norfolk; Earlene Kimmerling, Roanoke; Sara Dailey Moling, Winchester; Doris Lee Murray, Roanoke; Mary Preston Sheffy, Marion; Ann Shufflebarger, Bluefield; Rosemarie Waggner; Virginia Woodward, Chuckatuch.

Pledging Pi Kappa Sigma are Madelyn Ayers, Roanoke; Lucy Barger, Lexington; Nancy Barrett, Baltimore, Maryland; Margaret Brace, Charleston, West Virginia; Martha East, South Boston; Shirley Ethridge, Norfolk; Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Cape Charles; Margaret Lohr, Culpeper; Mary Anne Loving, LaCrosse; Beverly Peebles, Hampton; Mabbot Perkins, Petersburg; Frances Seward, Petersburg; Mary Agnes Sheffield, Victoria; Lynn Pary, Lynchburg.

Those taking Alpha Sigma Tau were Dorothy Bennett, Roanoke; Betty Bibb, Lynchburg; Beatrice Bruch, Roanoke; Ann Carter, Cumberland; Jean Daniel, Roanoke; Martha Droste, Ronceverte, West Virginia; Betty Ellis, Coral Gables, Florida; Barbara Kellam, Norfolk; Ann Masloff, Danville; Elizabeth Meeks, Amherst; Ann Nichols, Farmville; Evelyn Perry, Ronceverte, West Virginia; and Virginia Pullen, Danville.

Pledging Theta Sigma Upsilon was Virginia Parson, Stoney Creek.

Phi Zeta Sigma pledges were Ann Gray Bell, Chatham; Louise Blane, Alton; Beverley Bohon, Roanoke; Florence Godwin, Smithfield; Louise Harrell, Suffolk; Nell Glynne Holloway, Purdy; Irma Lassiter, Driver; Helen Blair McRee, Bonair; Caroline Marshall, Amelia; Geraldine Newman, Chuckatuch; Doris Smith, Victoria; and Mary Walker Williams, Holcomb Rock.

Sara Moling Relates—

Terrors of Leaky Tap —or— Strong With Moral

All complacent souls please note—the many foundations of your own private universe can be threatened upon a moment's notice. Witness our sad story: It all began when one of us failed to turn off the hot-water faucet of the tub securely. A rhythmical dripping continued for nours. Our few remaining shreds of sanity were fast disappearing. But at last someone's girl scout instincts triumped and, with a things-have-come-to-be-a-pretty-pass attitude, she valiantly approached the tub's offensive tap. Her efforts were rather ineffectual, however, by this time the faucet was definitely stuck. Then ensued repeated tugging, all in vain. Tampering only increased the drip to an annoying trickle.

Thus our era of nightly towel-draping was inaugurated. We found that sleep would come only in peace and quiet. And peace and quiet were impossible with the water's thundering roar (the noise grew noticeable as the long, slow hours began to creep). Therefore, we tried smothering the excess moisture in a towel, tying it about the faucet at a rakish angle.

The climax came when the tap literally crumbled. One of the heroines (meaning us), having drawn a tubful of warm water, declared, "The heck with you, you foul faucet. This time you go off and stay off." So saying, she wrenched it so violently it cracked into five separate and distinct parts. The drip continued unperturbed.

All of which explained our nonconforming visits to our neighbors. We restorted to the hunt and peck system, ferreting out an unoccupied bath we might borrow for a few minutes.

Finally defeated, we called in a little outside aid, and soon a shiny new tap greeted our expectant eyes. The only drawback is —you've guessed it—the drip staggers steadily on.

Chinese Vision

Continued from Page 1

cations and had to stay put. But there was no physical mistreatment. The first night I was there I was made to stand in the corner for an hour because one of the guards thought me impudent when I sat on a bench to fill in a form because there was no room at the table. But that was fun— I had my back to the wall and was standing behind the Japanese in charge and everyone thought I was in charge,' the former representative of the Americans in Shanghai on the city council laughingly recalled.

"Most Americans think of the war as beginning with Pearl Harbor—they forget that China had already been at war with Japan for four and a half years before that. And the Chinese had suffered more than the Americans have suffered before Pearl Harbor more ed yet," Dr. McMullin added.

"When the Japanese came into China, the educated people let the eastern coast and went West. They knew they would be looted and mistreated and compelled to cooperate. More than 100,000,000 move west, and it was this movement that has made the people of China aware of the existence of more world than just their own countryside. How many hundreds died in this movement because of malnutrition and other hardships will never be known," the man who has been in China for 33 years this year sadly commented.

Dr. McMullin returned to the United States on the Gripsholm, which arrived in New York December 1, 1943. A boat was started from New York carrying Japanese prisoners simultanously with one in China, bearing some 1,500 Americans and Canadians.

"We met in a place no bigger than a hat on the west coast of India. It was a Portuguese port and therefore neutral. There we exchanged 'cargoes', man for man, woman for woman. I tried to see what they changed for me, but I didn't get a good look at him!" And Dr. McMullin's face lit up at the remembrance.

"I was the first to get on the Gripsholm. I knew where I was going and I wanted to get here!" Mr. McMullin had not been in the States since 1937. He was in Hanchow for a number of years where, he served as president of the Hanchow University, the University, like so many Chinese schools was disbanded after the attack on Pearl Harbor and Dr. McMullin and his wife were sent to Shanghai.

"There was no getting from place to place," he told us, "because there was barbed wire around the cities!"

"The war has unified China just as Pearl Harbor united the United States," Dr. McMullin reflected. "I have yet to find a Chinese, even in the employ of the puppet government, who wants the Japanese to win."

"The Chinese people have taken the war much more calmly than Americans would have under the same circumstances," the missionary informed us. "They are more used to taking things. But I believe they are storing up a hatred that is going to cause no little trouble later."

"And," he added emphatically, "they can and will keep up their resistance as long as the Japanese keep coming!"

From Farmville, Dr. McMullin left for Atlanta, Georgia, where he was scheduled to speak before several civic groups and in the Presbyterian Church there. From there he will go to Princeton, because, he said "Even now, I've got a lot to learn!"

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
A new department has been added for S. T. C. girls' needs.
POPULAR SHEET MUSIC
35c per copy

SOCIAL NOTES

MERRITT ENTERTAINED

The men on the faculty gave a supper for Mr. Merritt last Thursday night before he left for the army. It was prepared by the Home Ec Club, and served in the Science Building.

JOYNES INITIATED

Kappa Delta Pi gave a reception for Mrs. Edith B. Joynes, following her initiation as honorary member of Beta Epsilon chapter, last Saturday night in Student Lounge. Mrs. Joynes made a talk. Also there was a supper given in her honor before the initiation in the Tea Room.

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

Have you ever wondered what real pandomonium was like? If so, then Saturday night in Cunningham Hall was the answer to your query Confusion reigned. Vics playing at top volume; dancing in the halls; all night bridge games; streams of laughing, pajamaed girls running from room to room; coke bottles piled high; plenty of food; every bed more than filled to capacity; . . . all of which led to lots of fun but little sleep. The reason for all the excitement? The freshmen, their long period of waiting over, were at last tasting the delights of spending the night within the hallowed precincts of the "building".

Far from the waddling crowd, but probably having just as much fun were many other Farmvilleites. Some went home some went shopping and others, lucky girls, attended college dances.

Richmond was filled to overflowing with: Anne Jacob, Betty Wright, Betty Bridgeforth, Margie Pierce, Rosemarie Waggner, Doris Burks, Dorothy Haile, Gene Harrison Anna Ward Peery Frances Satterfield, Jane Philhower, Ella Banks Weathers, Edith Sanford, Jane Crump, Louise Blane, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Susan Durrett, Betty Edwards, Vivian Gwaltney, Marjie Hewlett Lucie Harvie, Libby Ann Jordan, Marie Kelly, Lucille Lewis, Gloria Pollard, Nancy Robbins, Mary Sue Palmer, Betty Cock, Beverly Bohon Helen Shaw, Frances Lee and Betty Lee.

Among those who saw the French paintings at the Virginia Museum were Nell Holloway, Page Massey, Betty Overcash and Faye Johnson.

Down to Kenbridge went Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Margaret Ellett Kitty Parham, Nellie Smith, Rosa Lee Bell and Lucille Bell, while in nearby Crewe were Virginia Mae Eliett, Mary Agnes Sheffield, and Mildred Corvin.

Feeling the need of a breath of mountain air were Gerry Beckner, Betty Blackwell, Gussie Himes Katherine Kearsley, Cary Beard Barbara Surface, and Madelyn Ayers who went to Roanoke. Also to be found in "them thar hills" were Kitty Maddox, Louisa Dawson, Dotty Overcash, and Glenn Anne Patterson week ending in Lynchburg.

Dances at the University of Virginia claimed Anne Darnell, Beverly Peebles, Margaret Harvie, Frances Rainey, Anne Summers and Anne Mingea. Also attending dances were Mary Lou Dondley, Alice Feitig and Jane Knapton, who went to Chapel Hill in the Tar Heel State while Helen Savage went all the way to the University of Pittsburgh. They get around, these girls.

Continental Bus Line
One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Phone 78

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Glamour J. G.
(Glamour Junior Grade)
"CLASSIQUE" is a Mary Muffet perennial dedicated to you young Americans by your own choice. In Coolie Linen, (rayon and cotton) . . . the gayest colors. Sizes 9-15.
BALDWIN'S

HAVE YOU SIGNED UP FOR THE WAR STUDY GROUP?

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS TO NEW ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA MEMBERS

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 9, 1944 | No. 16

Alpha Kappa Gamma Taps Five in Chapel Today

Open Letter to All STC Alumnae

From the Alumnae Secretary

We are sending this copy of the ROTUNDA to you because we are in a dilemma. The Alumnae magazine was sent to the printers about December 1, 1943, but due to war conditions, we may be unable to mail it in time for you to make plans for attending Founders Day. Yes, we are celebrating our Alma Mater's sixtieth birthday on Saturday, March 4, 1944, and we are hoping you can come. If you are a member of the "Four" classes who are having reunions this year, please make every effort to come.

The following is a tentative Founders Day program:

12:00 Noon—Auditorium program—Greetings from Students and Alumnae
1:30 P. M.—Alumnae Luncheon—S. T. C. Tea Room
3 to 5 P. M.—Class Reunions—possibly a basketball game
6:00 P. M.—Dinner (Formal)—College Dining Room
8:30 P. M.—S. T. C. Dramatic Club Play. Directed by Miss Leola Wheeler

If you are an Alumnae Chapter President, will you phone the members of your Chapter? If it is a large city Chapter, you might divide phoning lists and get other Alumnae to help you. Will you please see that a notice of our Founders Day appears in your local newspaper? Also, will you please bring or send a word of greeting from your Chapter?

Send the following information to me (Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Alumnae Secretary, Box 123, Farmville, Virginia) as soon as possible:

Name ..... Date of Graduation .....
Address .....
Do you expect to attend Founders Day, March 4, 1944? .....
Do you wish a room in the College dormitory? .....
Do you want a ticket to the Alumnae Luncheon? (Price $1.00) .....
Will you attend the dinner in the College Dining Room? .....
(Complimentary to Alumnae)
Do you wish a ticket to the Dramatic Club play on Saturday night? .....
(Complimentary to Alumnae)
Are you contributing to the financial support of your Alumnae Association? .....

Sincerely,

Ruth Coyner

57 Complete Training For Dramatic Club; Shackleford Reports

Fifty-seven girls received bids to membership in the Dramatic Club this week, Virginia Shackleford, secretary, reported recently. The girls receiving bids have served a period of apprenticeship in the various departments since last fall.

Informal initiation was stayed last night and the new members will be formally initiated tonight.

Receiving bids to membership are Betty Lewis Hayward, Betty O'Conner, Sara Hodges, Jean Camper, Colleen Agee, Mary C. Butt, Beanie Dudley, Virginia Farrier, Heidi Lacy, Sarah Leech, Anne Summers, Mary V. Walker, Lee Palmer, Anne Dickenson, and Frances Timmons.

Also Anne Brushwood, Pat Buckler, Constance Christian, Marchetta Cunningham, Shirley Etheridge, Peggy Fink, Ann Foster, Dot Hall, Ann M. Umstead,

Continued on Page 3

McDaniel Portrays Temples of All Ages To Students Friday

Allen B. McDaniel spoke and presented a series of moving pictures on "The Temples of All Ages" to the student body in chapel on Friday, February 4.

"After we win the war, we should have a greater and more difficult problem in some respects in winning the peace," Mr. McDaniel said as he introduced his subject to the students.

Continuing, Mr. McDaniel said that unless nations of the earth are united on a proper basis within another generation, we shall have another global war. "This peace" he said, "must be based on the great spiritual principles of right and justice."

"Most of you are making your contribution through the continuance of your education to bringing in the era of peace and brotherhood," Mr. Daniel said in concluding his lecture and series of pictures.

Terrell to Portray "Sister Joanna" In Spring Play

Drama Scheduled As Part of Program On Founders Day

Virginia Manget Terrell, junior from Richmond, has been cast as Sister Joanna of the Cross, the leading role in the spring production, "The Cradle Song", Lucy Manson, president of the Dramatic Club, revealed last night.

Virginia is veteran as the STC stage, having taken the lead in last year's spring production, "Prunella", and having a character role in the fall play "The Ivory Door."

VIRGINIA TERRELL

The part of Teresa will be played by Rosemarie Wagner, freshman from Richmond and Peggy T. Ross, sophomore from Onley, will take the part of the Prioress. Fay Byrd Johnson, junior from Vinton, and Catherine Trower, junior from Eastville, will portray the Vicaress and the Mistress of Novices, respectively.

Carlotta Norfleet, sophomore from Virginia Beach, has been cast as Sister Marcella. Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice, will play the part of Sister Maria Jesus; Mobbat Perkins, freshman from Petersburg, wil portray Sister Sagrario, and Martha Frances Webb, freshman, will play Sister Inez and the part of Sister Torena will be enacted by Helen Apperson, freshman from Newport News.

Doris Harper, freshman from Falls Church, has been selected for the part of the Doctor, and Gwen Ackiss, freshman from Newport News, will play the role of Antonio.

Other parts have not yet been cast and will be announced at a later date.

The play, a drama in two acts, is slated to be given as the concluding event of Founders Day, March 4. It is under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler, assisted by the heads of the various departments of the Dramatic Club.

Beorc Eh Thorn Bids Issued to 9 Girls

Beorc Eh Thorn, English Honor Society, issued bids to nine girls Friday, February 4. They are Carolyn Beard, senior from Newport News; Geraldine Beckner, senior from Troutsville; Frances Copenhaver, junior from Farmville; Louise Dawson, sophomore from Lynchburg; Nancy Harrell, junior from Emporia; Mrs. Elizabeth Hinman, senior from Prospect; Catherine Lynch, sophomore from Lebanon; Anne Masloff, junior from Danville; and Sara Moling, junior from Winchester.

Craddock, Ellett, Bell, Manson, and Ruffin Receive Recognition for Leadership Shown

Davis Announces Frosh Production

Freshmen Appear On February 22

February 22 has been set as the date for the Freshman Production, Joan Davis, chairman, announced this week.

Illustrations of each month, mainly holidays or typical scenes, have been selected by the Freshman class as the theme. The production will touch all phases of emotion, patriotism, drama, comedy and take-offs.

The committees and their chairmen have already been selected and practice has begun. The chairmen include Katherine Kearsley, Patricia McLear, Ann Shipflebarger, Kitty Parham, Judy Beick, Martha Droste, Louise Halbert, Sue Hundley, Jerry Payne, Ann Houser, Cam Butt and Virginia Anderson.

Julian Lake Speaks On Campus Monday For Local Y. W. C. A.

World Day of Prayer, Sunday, February 20, marks the beginning of Religious Emphasis Week.

Reverend Julian Lake is scheduled to appear on this campus as guest speaker of the YWCA for the week. Plans for his series of talks begin with the question, "What is a Christian?"

Some other subjects he expects to discuss while here are "Christianizing Economic and Political Order," "The Magnificent Lift of Christianity" and being superconquerors.

A reception for Mr. Lake is being given for the faculty and administration Tuesday night, February 22.

The theme of the week is to be "The Challenge of Religion." Religious Emphasis Week is observed each year on the campus under the auspicies of the YWCA.

War Study Group To Meet Tonight

The first war study group for all girls who are interested will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Dr. Walmsley's classroom.

The purpose of this group is to

Continued on Page 4

Hannah Lee Crawford, president of A. K. G.

Perry's Vagabonds To Set Mardi Gras Tempo Next Week

Angelo Perry and his vagabonds from Lynchburg, will furnish music for the Mardi Gras dance on February 19. Mildred Corvin, chairman, announced this week. Bea Cline, diminutive soloist who appeared with the band here at Senior Dance, will be featured.

The dance theme will be centered around the Civil War period, and the court will dress in the fashion of the 1860's. The floor show, presented after the crowning of the queen, will likewise portray the entertainment of that period.

All girls must be in costume, and all boys not in uniform will go formal. Everyone will wear a mask until intermission. Costumes need not be elaborate, and most be at least knee-length. Costumes will be judged and prizes will be awarded. These prizes will go on display Friday at Martins, two each for most beautiful and for most original.

Tickets will go on sale Thursday and Friday after lunch in the second floor Rotunda, Mary Moore McCickle, ticket chairman, announced. They will be fifty-five cents for those who wish to dance, and twenty-five cents for spectators. Masks of all colors will be sold next week.

Crawford Conducts Tapping Ceremony

Frances Craddock, Blackstone, and Virginia Mae Ellett, Crewe, seniors; Marilyn Bell, Richmond; Lucy Manson, Norfolk, and Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City county, juniors, were tapped by Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity in leadership, this morning in chapel.

Frances Craddock is president of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary fraternity in social science, and is chairman of the finance committee of the War Council.

Virginia Mae Ellett is Head of May Day committee, president of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority, president of Cotillion, and has been elected Mardi Gras Queen this year.

Marilyn Bell has been active on the Debate team, is chairman of the USO committee, was director of the Junior production, is vice-president of the junior class and of Mu Omega sorority, and is president of Pi Kappa Delta.

Lucy Manson has shown leadership as president of the Dramatic Club, is various phases of Home Economics work, and as a member of the A. A. council and of the USO committee.

Jane Ruffin is the managing editor of the Rotunda, a member of the Colonnade staff, and active on the debating team.

Alpha Kappa Gamma recognizes leadership in the various fields of school activity, and places importance on scholarship and character, as well. Hannah Lee Crawford, president, conducted the tapping service and read a paper on the meaning of the fraternity and the significance of the choosing of the patron saint, Joan of Arc, for whom this circle is named.

Other officers are Frances Lee Hawthorne, vice-president; Ella Banks Weathers, secretary, and Patsy Connelly, treasurer. Miss Elizabeth Burger and Miss Ruth Gleaves are advisers.

Butcher's, Hangout For Frosh, Faculty, Defies Description

By SUE HUNDLEY

It's on campus when you're off and off campus when you're on. What is it? None other than Butcher's. Then we might not arrive at a definite or satisfactory meaning.

You wouldn't exactly say it was a General Store. But rather a general hangout. For whom? Well, anything from S. T. C. girls right on down to mothers and babies. I bet Beanie Dudley made her first trip to Butcher's, not as a Josephine College, but in a baby carriage.

Who are the Butcher's? Ma, Pa, and Son. Pa calls everybody "Shorty". Ma is the one to appeal to if you want a hidden bar of candy. Son helps and is threatening to join the Merchant Marines.

Where is Butcher's? Oh! down the road a piece. When, even Annie wanted to know where she could get vanilla icecream. She was immediately directed to Butcher's.

Girls usually spend their freshman year there, but by the time they're Juniors and can go anywhere, the novelty sort of wears off. Butcher's is even important enough to be included in the Student's Handbook.

We are all very fond of Butcher's, and it will always be a part of S.T.C. whether on campus or off.

Father Time Sends Dan Cupid Back Again to Boost Morale

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

What we like about Father Time are his subtle little reminders of how he marches on. This time it's Valentine's Day again, and back we go to our childhood days, our eyes brightening with expectancy and our hearts gay with secret wisdom. It may seem scarcely possible for February 14 to be nerly upon us again, but we waste no time in doing something about it.

No sooner than we get back to school from anywhere than we head Five-and-Tenwards, to see what new has been laid out for our esteemed inspection and probable purchase, and before the Christmas decorations are well put away, the Valentines all shine forth. All kinds and shapes and sizes, these anonymous epistles of amour and admiration, infallibly including those of the comic variety. There are the inevitable frilly ones of lace and red satin, and the more down-to-earth ones of variations of paper. There are those with an immodest Cupid prancing around in his birthday suit, or those illustrated with the most adorable of down-to-earth people. For the little folks, our toys and animals sparkle with animation, and for the old Sentimentalists the interwoven hearts glow softly with the warmth of Love.

This year, as in everything else, we find radical changes due to the War. You needn't mind which branch of service your Valentine-of-the-moment is in, for there are scads of specialty cards suitably adapted to one and all. If he is overseas, buy a V-Valentine, or if he's just at a camp, find one

Continued on Page 4

Miss Millie Mortimer Mouse Muses Over Sad Autobiography

By M. M. MOUSE

I. Mille Mortimer Mouse was born, so my mother affirms, under the radiator in Dr. Walmsley's class room. Our family tree, as far back as we can trace, has been composed altogether of Farmville alumni. I believe it was my grandmother, Rachel Rat who first settled in the infirmary, thus this branch of the family.

When I was small I had a large number of sisters, brothers, uncles, aunts, and cousins, but since then our family has decreased sadly. My aunt Henrietta and her children starved to death because they had established their homes in the room of Frances Satterfield, and besides they always did say that that bunch on Ritz Rowe was past a bunch of tight wads anyway.

My cousin Weary Wat, with whom I used to play often, met a very sad death. She died of complications which set in after she had eaten her way through someone's Psychology book which had fallen on the flor. Weary said it was the dryest thing she had ever waded through and that it make her so thirsty that she drank a whole bottle of green ink which not only made her feel worst, but also make her turn a very peculiar color just before she died. My sister, Millicent Marybelle Rat was so engrossed reading a "love letter" she found in Nancy Whitehead's waste paper basket that she was killed instantly when Sue Hundley emptied the trash — odd occurence, emptying the trash, you know. My brother, Willie Watt, was investigating some cheese in a trap one day when she discovered, all too late, alas! that "sure-shot", "slap-trap" MarKent Stevens was economiz-

Continued on Page 4

"This is a Watch Bird Watching a B.-S. B.- Were You a Busy-Sign Breaker Today?"

Evidently wherever there is a group, there are some present in that gorup who have no respect for the rights of the others. These same unfortunates have a firm belief that rules are made for everyone but themselves.

In this instance, the group is composed of all who live in the dorms, and the selfish few are those who have so little regard for their neighbor's privacy as to break busy signs and to intrude where friends are studying. The busy sign is, of course, made for some one else on the hall, and hung on the door to keep out the cold.

Since a certain amount of studying is required, busy signs are made as a signal that the occupant of a room wishes to have a few moments of quiet, conducive to work. The busy sign is a hint, that, if taken, will assure her privacy for the time she wishes and needs it. But for some time now, busy signs have been decreasing in effectiveness just because some poor soul can't read or else just isn't superstitious and doesn't believe in signs—especially those signs that say "Stay out—we want quiet!"—or, in a word, "Busy."

It gives the school an air of kindergarten to have cute little signs hung around on the bulletin boards to remind the girls to respect busy signs. But such reminders have been made necessary. It is hoped that the student body will grow up sufficiently to respect the rights of others, in which event of "the watch bird" signs can go back to the nursery.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1943

For Home-Front Fighting Prepare By Learning Now

Often we are reminded that the future of our country depends upon the younger generations, which means, in part, those who are in college. Many of your country's leaders have asked young people to remain in school as long as possible, in order to fit themselves for future usefulness.

If we are to serve, we should study and attempt to learn just what is going on. In accordance with this idea, a group of girls —anyone who is interested—will meet weekly to study various points of interest in the world today. They will keep up, as far as possible, with the events of the war, and will ask those members of the faculty and of the student body who are well versed in special fields, to lead the discussions. No one group will be in charge or will lead the thinking. Everyone is invited to pool her ideas.

For anyone who feels her responsibility as a citizen and a patriot, this study group will lead to a well of knowledge and will be an answer to unexpressed hope.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The Germans are using their best troops in counterattacking the bridgehead below Rome, and the fighting is fierce. In fact, the Allies have had to "readjust and consolidate" themselves in such a way that they have lost two miles in their march to Rome, but they are standing firm in their new positions. The fighting in the streets of Cassino is very bitter. The Germans are sending in more men and weapons to prolong this battle as long as possible. With the capture of Masera Albanita, two miles west of Cassino, Cassino is practically surrounded by the Allies.

* * * *

A new offensive has been opened by the Rusians in the Lower Dnieper River area. A wedge was made between Krivoi Rog and Nikopol which cut the retreat for more than five Nazi infantry divisions. The Reds captured more than 250 towns and settlements, and are within 33 miles of Nikopol which the Nazis have held desperately because of ore deposits there.

* * * *

The American occupation of the Kwaljalien Island, important to Japanese plane and sea base; is vrtually completed. Three other islands were captured, and several undefended islands have been taken over. Twenty-one of about thirty-two principal points in the Marshall Islands have been captured by both soldiers and marines since the first landings on January 31.

Cape Hoskins, New Britain, was blasted by Amercan flyers while raiders on the New Guinea bases sank two Japanese ships, 14 barges, and two float-type planes. Wewak, New Guinea, important enemy base, was raided for the third straight day. Enemy air opposition is very weak.

The action in Southwestern Burma has been comparatvely light lately, but the enemy losses have been heavy. Mountbatten's forces are consolidating their positions in the jungles northeast of Buthedaung.

* * * * *

A showdown between Britain and Spain is expected within the next two weeks. Spain's violation of neutrality may mean war. The British press has demanded "strong action" to see that Franco fulfills the principles of neutrality, and the next step is up to Franco.

* * * * *

The Senate has begun the third week of debating on the service vote bll. The administration seems to have the votes at hand to keep this opposition move in check until it can perfect this bill.

"On Broadway"

The week end was strangely quiet with so many girls away, but nevertheless we picked up a few juicy morsels on broadway (Broadway at STC extending from Cunningham Hall through Main Building to Longwood).

First of all, the long distance call that Marilyn got from Chuck Friday night. We couldn't hear but one end of the conversation but that was enough. The STC phone booths are not sound proof, Marilyn, and we wish you the best of luck!

"While the cat is away the mouse will play." Perhaps the old saw isn't exactly apropos here, but anyway we couldn't help noticing the little freshman with Crist while Carolyn Hayzlett had gone to see Earle. That Buckier child even took him to church, and was she proud!!

Lillian Goddin's sisters added a new spice to life on second floor junior building this week end . . . Bring 'em back again, Lily.

Short Story of the Week . . . We can't give all the details 'cause then it would cease to be a short story, but ask Jane Knapton or Jane Smith about the mixup of names. It all started when one of the Janes was returning from Carolina last week end, and things came to a climax—and what a climax!—Sunday when the gentleman concerned appeared unexpectedly on the scene. They tell us that all's fair in love and war—and far be it from this humble reporter to say which this is.

And while we're getting straight on things . . . It was a group of the Home Ec girls who prepared that supper for Dr. Merritt and not the Home Ec Club.

Prettiest sight of the week—the orchid Nimmo was wearing when she returned Sunday afternoon.

Club '45 had competition last week on 2nd floor Annex. Some fans were so engrossed in the "swoon crooner" that they issued the production. Each as he choose said the old man as he kissed the cow.

Vera Loyd is sporting a new frat pin. Looks good . . . Is good!

Never let it be said that STC girls can be scared off. Despite the warning of "Measles", Martha Russell East trekked off to Woodberry Forest.

New arrangements noticed: Virginia Fry Terrell with Jack Stevens and Jerry Payne with "Tinga-Ling" Bell.

What is it that Virginia Radogna has the rest of us ain't? She gets a picture (and of a handsome guy, too) in the 5 o'clock mail, and then before half a dozen hours are past, she has callers—two of them, one Army and one Navy. And Shorty Taliaferro is doing all right by herself, too!

Hun Carper really knows how to choose 'em. He came for her, took her away, and then brought her back—Olive, too!

With an H. S. C. dance in the offing, there should be big doings. And so tune in next week—same time, same station—for the latest details "On Broadway."

the "Y"

This Sunday was the beginning of the Sunday School contest which will run through February. The Baptist are leading with 16%. The Methodist have 6%, and the Presbyterian 5%. There's plenty of room for improvement for all of us. Let's bring these figures up next Sunday.

Regular Committee Meetings will be held tonight at 10 o'clock. It is important that all members be present since this will be the first meeting with the freshmen members of the Committees.

Christian Worker's Co-operative Training School will be held at the Methodist Church February 14-18. This school is being sponsored by the Farmville Presbyterian and the Farmville Methodist Churches. The classes will begin at 7:45 P. M. Everyone is invited to attend the school.

Class sings on Saturday nights will continue through February.

For the next two weeks the denominational groups will have charge of prayers. This week the Episcopal and Baptist groups will lead with the "Organization of the Church" as the theme.

Continued on Page 5

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Scouting on foot in Tunisia, Pfc. Charles H. Evans was captured by 30 Italian infantrymen and marched to the rear. A bayonet at his back, Evans whirled, disarmed his guard, and escaped. Although wounded by rifle fire, he hid in a cactus patch till nightfall, slipped back to our forces with valuable information picked up as a prisoner. For this he wears the Purple Heart and the Silver Star. Celebrate Evans' escape with another War Bond

Question of the Week

When you leave school, and don't go home, where do you like most to go?

Phe Whittle: I haven't been away for ages, but I'd like to go to Ft. Bragg.

Anne Summers: University of Virginia!

Virginia Terrell: To Richmond, where there's life!

Jane Waring Ruffin: Virginia Beach, because I lost a ring there once and I'd like to find it.

Elsie Thompson: South America.

Dodie Jones: To Emporia (Guess that will please my roommate.)

Anne Martin: Petersburg, where I have an aunt.

Mary Lou Dondley: Depends upon what's going on where.

Joe Beatty: When I leave school, I go home.

Joan Davis: To the beach, any ol' time, especially in the winter.

Jane McFall: Hopewell, the mushroom city.

Peggy Alphin: Hampden-Sydney, because it's so unique.

Martha Droste: I prefer home anytime.

Lucille Jones: Richmond— lots of fine people there!

Rosemary Elam: Take me back to V. P. I. in the good old days.

Anne Shufflebarger: Any place where I can get some sleep and good food.

Nancy Hutter: Duke.

Alice Nichols: Debate trip to the Carolinas (one in which we're not defeated).

Helen McGuire: This week-end to the officers' club at Camp Lee!

Louise Bell: Hampden-Sydney, because it's so quiet.

Faye Nimmo: Wilmington, N. C., because it's the nearest city to Camp Davis.

Virginia T. Pullen: Wherever Jack is.

Letter to Editor:

Dear Editor:

Twice last week I was embarrassed by and ashamed of the STC Student Body at public gatherings. The freshmen, particularly, were guilty of a rudeness and crudeness that was entirely uncalled for among people who have been reared in cultured homes and who have been taught a few fundamental rules of etiquette, at least.

On Friday morning I felt extremely sorry for the speaker as he tried to make himself heard above the tittering, book-dropping, and unnecessary coughing. The students did not merely whisper but talked in understones throughout the lecture and lounged on each other in an effort to catch up on lost sleep.

On Friday night a similar display of unmannerliness was given at the recital. From the sound of whistles coming from the girls in the audience, one might think that men were a terrific oddity at S.T.C.

Laughs and applause at the wrong time seem to be a phobia with Farmville girls.

May I beseech these unheeding creatures to be a little more careful of their conduct? If they cannot appreciate and enjoy what is presented to them, they might have the courtesy and decency to grant that privilege to others who desire it.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Ann Jordan

(Editor's Note: Miss Jordan's letter expresses the opinion of several girls and a faculty member who noted the above-mentioned incidents and who requested an editorial on student conuct. Since this letter so adequately expressed the sentiments of all who asked that something be written, an editorial seemed unnecessary. It is hoped that the students will take notice and check up on their behavior at lectures, recitals, and other lyceums. We are gaining a not-too-favorable reputation for our entire school by such thoughtless and unladylike conduct.

Dorm Rooms Pass Expectations With Essence of College Life

It's funny how college is so different from what you expect it to be before you come. The people are different, the classes are different, the faculty are different, the rooms are different, and YOU are different. Several weeks ago one reporter expounded at length in these columns on how you spend your time differently from how you expected to.

And now we want to steal some space to talk about rooms. Let us take a peep and see how they measure up to the dainty rooms in the bulletins. The catalog says of the dormitory rooms: "Every room is supplied with single beds and other necessary furniture. The rooms in Cunningham Hall are grouped in suites of two with connecting baths. Every building is supplied with steam heat, electric lights, hot and cold water."

Which is all right as far as it goes. .

But he who wrote that hadn't looked at a room very carefully. Somehow he forget to tell of the table piled high with lab manuels, last year's annuals, stationery boxes, bottles of ink of half a dozen or more hues, alarm clocks, photographs and so on into the night. He overlooked entirely the blue blotter from Patterson's now spiotched with spilled ink and grease where the grill leaked when you fried potatoes last night.

Continued on Page 3

18 Upperclassmen Were Selected For '44 Varsity Basketball Team

16 Frosh Compose Subvarsity Group

The 1944 varsity basketball squad and sub-varsity squad have been selected with eighteen players chosen for the varsity and sixteen freshmen on the subvarsity.

Selection was based on playing ability, sportsmanship, and interest. Representing the varsity are Margaret Bear, Louise Blaine, Norma Chandler, Patsy Connelly, Mildred Droste, Lillian Elliott, Frances Griffin, Rosa Hill, Edith Lovins, Margaret Orange, Cecile Parr, Dottie Sue Simmons, Bobbie Scott, Eleanor Wade, Martha Watkins, Billy Wade, Mary Walker Watts, and Helen Wilson.

Sub-varsity is composed of freshmen only as no freshmen is on the regular varsity squad. This season's sub-freshmen group includes: Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Martha Droste, Beanie Dudley, Margaret Elliett, Marian Hubbard, Sue Hundley, Margaret Lohr, Dot Owen, Katheryn Parker, Betty Parrish, Nancy Parrish, Mary Agnes Sheffield, Nellie Smith, Rebecca Tomlinson, Ann Tucker, and Mickey Williams.

Dorothy Sue Simmons, basketball manager.

4 Girls Initiated Into Monogram Club

Patsy Connelly, Shirley Pierce, Mildred Droete, seniors, and Ophelia Whittle, junior, received initiation into the Monogram Club on Monday night, February 7.

Monograms, bearing the S. T. C. letters were awarded to the new members. Sara Jeffreys, president of the Monogram Club, has announced.

KEEP ON
Backing the Attack
WITH WAR BONDS

12.98

Mint cool... beautifully cut and tailored... here's a Many Mufftteen to steal a march on his heart. Pot O' Gold spun (rayon); the blouse in burning bush, fern green, copper clay, bluebell. Sizes 9-15

BALDWIN'S

Orchesis Group Goes To Dance Symposium At Carolina in March

Come the middle of March, and Orchesis is taking off for Chapel Hill, North Carolina, to a dance symposium, sponsored by the Dance Club and Physical Education Department of the University of North Carolina. S.T.C. is to be the only Virginia college represented at the symposium and it should prove interesting to see the other college's ideas of dancs.

The program begins at 10:00 a. m. and will consist of classes in dance technique and composition conducted by teachers of modern dance. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 and followed by an informal discussion of subjects relative to the dance. Each group will then have an opportunity to rehearse on the stage and at 4:00 p. m. each group is to give a short demonstration of some technique or dance composition indicative of the work they have been doing. In the evening a square dance will be held for the college groups attending the Symposium, and the Navy Pre-flight cadets stationed at Chapel Hill.

Plans are already under way as to which dances the club will take with them. "To Those Who Will Speak" is one that will definitely go, and the Reel is another being thought over. A thorough job of polishing up the dances to be taken will be done before the Club leaves. Only eight girls are to go because of transportation facilities, and that is another problem facing Orchesis at the moment.

Those of you who are interested in dance will want to know of the program to be held in The Mosque in Richmond this Sunday at 4:00 p. m. Private Jose Limon internationally famous dancer, and now stationed at Camp Lee will present his Camp Lee Concert Dance Group with music by the Camp Lee Symphony orchestra. The program is for the benefit of the welfare and recreational fund of the camp. The tickets are fifty cents to two dollars and fifty cents, tax included.

Dorm Rooms

Continued from Page 2

And he must have been nearsighted 'cause he made no mention of that bulletin board which is the essence of the room. Pinned to it with straight pins, thumb tacks and corsage pins are small white envelopes (they're so thrilling — bids to honor societies, invitations to teas!), flower ribbons, special specials and telegrams, clippings that tell of last year's roommate's wedding, the sergeant stripes and the air corps insignia, a few treasured snapshots and a few ticket stubs, to say nothing of the various and sundry collection of "inspirational" magazine pictures.

How he missed the book case is beyond understanding. It's piled up high with unread parallel material, text books, notebooks and magazines.

And the window—he didn't mention those drapes you worked so hard on nor the jar of jelly and the mayonnaise and the empty coke bottles on the still nor the fruit juice and the milk on the outside.

And he forgot such little details as the hot plate on the floor, and the sweater stretcher behind the chair and the typewriter under the bed.

Moverover he never looked in the middle room of the suite at all. Had he, he must have seen the clothes line stretched from door to door, the dirty dishes on the floor, the empty jars in the winder sill beside the tooth paste, shoe polish and first aid equipment. And he missed altogether the tools implements like the hammer and the screw driver and the can opener.

But I guess all those things were not there when he looked. Men aren't allowed in the dorms when we're here so he must have made his tour during the summer. His descriptions fit the room as it was when we got here. But look at it now!

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.

Collins Florist
FRESH FLOWERS
FOR ALL OCCASIONS

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Left Lead

"There's nothing like sharing your man with a horse", said someone on the sidelines, and Betsy was forced to agree. Sumpter Priddy was in great shape last Wednesday and Thursday, and put Flicka and Cindy over the jumps with the most jovial of spirits. Cindy remained rather calm, despite her three and a halfs, but the frolicking Flicka, was unrestrainable, and she sidestepped (at a gallop, of course) all over the field before actually going over the poles.

Best part of the performance was the way Sumpter donned the blue jeans over that zoot-suit. And did you see the bow tie? Maybe he sings to his mounts . . . 'tis stated he's a sure double for Sinatra!

Anyhow, it was a good show while it lasted, and came to us through the courtesy of Caldwell and Cheatwood, inc.

The trail ride Saturday earned for Margaret Wilson the prefix of "Cowboy Maggie", but at least let it be understood that she did some tall sticking while MacArthur was prancing about the golf-course on his two hind feet. Even when Joyce took over, he tried some high-stepping on the home route, but his maniacal mood could be explained by the fact that he's been standing with a cold for several days, and was just feeling good on his first day out.

Mac's been pretty rambunctious of late, anyhow. Two of the prettiest falls ever executed were tossed last week, and one was Joe Eades, at it again, and finding out that Mac likes to kick up his heels ever so often, too. The other was Shirley Gibson, jumping Lindy for the first time. But the funny part was, she didn't go off while jumping . . . she resented those spurs just once too often, and Shirley got a close look at the new spring grass. And then someone asks for curiosity's sake, "Where are you from, Shirley?" and our crestfallen heroine drops her eyes, and scarcely audibly whipers, "Falls Church, Va."!

In addition to the now familiar Sunday afternoon sight of Joyce and Co. in Beauty's Go-cart, this week caught town-gals Emma Allen, and Judy Cocks, and Sara Graham out with Princess, Flicka and Winnie, tearing up the turf to the tune of a howling wind, that whipped the manes about in a swirl of beauty, and onlookers stopped for a longer pause than usual. There's no prettier sight, or if there is, we have yet to find it.

Come on out and see what we mean, some time. You don't hafta read a book to learn about leads and diagonals . . . and besides . . . now that Henning has gone, Joyce needs some one to help her yell instructions!!!

Run . . . for the luvva.

PEGASUS

8 Groups Complete Ping Pong Round

Second Contest Begins Today

First round matches in the ping pong annual tournament ended today. All players were required to complete the first series of games in order to qualify to the rules of the contest.

Completing the games, scores were recorded on the chart of players and winners will now be matched against another group for the second round which will last for a week. During this time challenge games must be played off and scores reported to Ruth Dugger, manager of ping pong. Ball, nets, and racquett are located in Mike Shifflett's room on second floor annex and Miss Iler's office.

Anne Jones defeated M. Agnes Sheffield; Shirley Peirce won over Cab Overbey; and Lucille Jones defeated Mary Ann Loving. Also, Phyllis Watts defeated Sue Hundley; Ophelia Whittle won over Nellie Smith, and Rebecca Tomlinson defeated Dot Overcash. The other matches were between Mary Walker Wattts vs. Margaret Ellett, and Helen Wilson vs. Kitty Sue Brideforth, but scores have not been recorded.

Second round games will be between Ann Jones vs. Shirley Pierce, Lucille Jones vs. the Ellett-Watts match, B. Minitree vs. the Wilson-Bridgeforth match, and Rebecca Tomlinson vs. Ophelia Whittle.

Lucille Jones, Betty Ellis off to a ping pong match.

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgiina
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Recital Review

Last Friday night Orchesis presented its third annual recital in the large auditorium. It was filled with S. T. C.'ers, H.-S. sailors, the faculty, and townspeople. The audience was an appreciative one, for they seemed to enjoy all the dances.

This year the club gave a variety of dances. The tempo of the music, the composition of the dances, the costumes and lighting were a varied theme of artistic temperament. All kinds of moods were expressed. Heavy one, like "To Those Who Will Speak," in which the girls portrayed a symbol of those who have died on the battlefield. Light ones, like the waltz, which was a portrait of light and color, or the Juba, which was negroid jazz.

Work for May Day has already begun. It is to have a Mexican theme, and the dances are to be typically Spanish type. The Lullaby which you saw in the recital had a Spanish theme, and many of the dances will be like that one Mexico's colors are red, black and green. These will be the colors used in costuming. The Mexicans are a vivid people and their dances are typically so. Every girl in the school is given a chance to participae in May Day, so when they call for girls to be in the dances, all of you who are interested, be sure to join in making this year's May Day one of the best.

Aquatic Talents

Participants in the interclass swimming meets are hard at work trying to improve their speed and strokes each afternoon in the school pool. When the meet starts it is up to you as spectators to be there to back your class team on to victory.

Back stroke, side stroke, Australian crawl, and free style are but a few of the different types of races that will be held. Exhibition diving will prove interesting to the spectators as well as the swimming

Pigskin Fans

Last Saturday afternoon found several of the girls playing football behind the library. We don't recommend this for those who are not ready for a rough and tumble game, but it did prove fun for those who played. Perhaps they are working up a team for next year. Who knows, we might be able to get a game with Hampden-Sydney!

Speaking of Hampden-Sydney, Saturday night found several S. T. C'ers at the game, and it was a good one. Although the Raiders were outmatched by an All-American team, they put up a good fight, and the game was one of the best of their season. Since the sport was begun, basketball has become one of America's favorite sports. It is a fast game, and although not quite as thrilling as football, it always proves interesting.

Until next week, yours truly bids you adios, and don't forget to stay in the game.

The "Y"

Continued from Page 2

"And who do you say that I am?" he asked them. So Simon Peter answered, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God."

"Blessed are you, Simon, Son of Jonah," said Jesus, "for flesh and blood have not revealed this to you, but my Father who is in heaven! Moreover I say to you that you are Petras (a rock), and on this petra (rock) I will build my church, and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against her." Matt. 16:15-19

(Montgomery translation)

Dramatic Club

Continued from Page 1

Eilen Moore, Beverley Peebles, Doris Ramsey, Eloise Stancell, Markent Stevens, and Mary Watkins.

Also Emma Allen, Louise Harrell, Ann Shufflebarger, Olivia Meade, Ann Buck, Rose M. Wagner, Jean D. Harrison, Christine Shifflett, Martha F. Webb, Lillian Johnson, Doris Harper, Margaret Wilson, and Grace Loyd.

Also Nancy Whitehead, Nancy Harrell, Marilyn Johnson, Ann Christian, Mary V. Vondelshr, Mary M. Fontaine, Mary A. Tabor, Gwen Ackiss, Helen Apperson, Betty Bibb, Pat Dole, Jane Glenn, Lois Kavenough, and Katherine Kearsley.

PLAIN
RYTEX STATIONERY
$1.00 A BOX
Martin the Jeweler

Select your favorite shade of
LIPSTICK AND ROUGE
at
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

SPECIAL
—ONE LOT—
Junior Coats
—and—
Suits
REDUCED
1/3 to 1/2
Second Floor—Elevator Service
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Use Your Natural Assets Arranging New Hair-Do

With the spring fever that invades our spirits from the first warm day in February comes thoughts of new clothes, new shoes and new hair-does. The supply of the first two is limited but the last is inexpensive and unrationed.

Take the old mop, your imagination well in hand and stand before the mirror. According to the shape of your face, should your hair do be what it is? If your face is long and thin, is your hair too long to shorten the length? If your face is heart shaped, does your coffieur accent that face? Are you using such gifts as widow's peaks, a good hair line, a natural wave, or so to the best advantage? After considering the questions, go to work.

If you could do without two inches or so, go down town and find someone who knows how to remove the exeess. If your roommate happens to know how, trust your hair to her hands. Don't be afraid to try something new and different and don't be discouraged when it doesn't do so well the first few days.

Though sleek hound-dog hair does are still in Vogue the accent is on the sleekness with just enough length to give that impression. If you are wearing it long, curl it more than once a week, brush it till it shines, and keep it clean. When spring springs, try braiding it with a ribbon for the third part of the plait, and be sure that there are no sprigs sticking forth to add to the porcupine appearanee.

To some a new part works a miracle, say perhaps from a side to a center part or to the other side. Try them with a comb after you wash your hair.

When you get the spring blues for something new, try a new hair-do.

War Study Group

· Continued from Page 1

keep up with the events of the world, and members of the faculty and student body will be asked to lead the discussion from time to time.

A similar group met once a week last year. These meetings will probably be held each Friday night.

According to the National Geographic Society there are more than 700,000 quinine bearing acres in Columbia, South America.

Art Class Completes Murals for Main Rec

Two mural paintings have recently been completed by a class in design and hung in the Rec of the Main Building. The paintings are part of a project of the Rec committee in improving the appearanee of the hall.

Pictured in the murals are arrangements of college students at work and at play, done as symbolic of the many phases of college life.

Students who worked on the murals are Eleanor Correll, Mary Lou Dondley, Lueille Lewis, Sally Robertson, Edith Sanford and Virginia Manget Terrell. The group worked as a elass on the paintings under the supervision of Miss Virginia Bedford, of the art department.

Frolic on Longwood Lawns For Fun, Rest

Our campus may not be large, but it does include a beautiful extra piece of playground out at Longwood. It's rolling lawn has afforded S.T.C. girls a place for walking, for playing golf, and for pienics in the spring for many years, and now the soldiers are likewise finding the Longwood air restful and refreshing.

For these wintry Sunday afternoons, there's no place like homeq Longwood—just far enough to grant a brisk walk out, and at the end, such yum-yummy things as ean be had to eat! Longwood buns, ehocolate cake, sandwiches, coffee, tea . . . And come Spring, the soft clouds, the green grass, the budding trees all will mark the ideal spot for a pleasant afternoon that will ease away the cares of school life.

Soldiers enjoy Longwood in the spring.

Yep, we are lucky that part of our eampus is "away from it all", out where all is beautiful and where everyone can roam on a brisk afternoon of winter or a soft spring day.

U. S. Treasury Department

Mary Moore McCorkle, president of Kappa Delta Pi.

KDP Writes Again

Dear Students:-

Have you added any new books to your personal library? We just wish to remind you that the Personal Library Building Contest is still on and we hope you are adding to your collection some of the excellent new books which are currently being published.

Don't forget that all personal libraries of those contestants entering will be displayed early in May. If you have not yet entered and wish to do so, see Gerry Beckner. Let's make this one of the big events of this year.

KAPPA DELTA PI

VPI Engineering Courses for Women

Opportunity is offered women to receive a free 13-week training course in fundamentals of engineering at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg. Starting dates are February 21, June 16 and September 18.

The course of study is designed to teach women to make engineering drawings, prepare maps, test and inspect engineering materials, assist in experimental research, make computations, compile reports, and handle technieal correspondence.

College graduates who complete this course satisfactorily will be eligible for eivil service rating of Junior Engineer at a salary of $2,430 per year including overtime. Those who do not have a degree will be eligible for a rating based on the nature and extent of their previous eduеation and experience.

Room, boarti, laundry, books and drawing instruments will eost approximately $110 and is payable at the beginning of the course. Students live and take their meals in college dormitories. There is no charge for tuition or collego fees as the federal government pays for instruetion and educational supplies.

SPELLING TEHRAN

Practically every newspaper which carried the aecount of the meeting between President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin referred to the meeting place as Teheran. The correct spelling of the eity is Tehran.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

MEET ME . . .
—At—
SHANNON'S

R. M. Team To Debate At S. T. C. February 12

Alice Nichols, president of the Debate Club, announeed today that a debate was slated for Saturday, February 12, at 8 o'elock, in the Honor's Room, with Randolph Macon Woman's College.

The college is sending down one team to uphold the negative on the question: Resolved: That the United States should eooperate in establishing and maintaining an international polіee foree upon the defeat of the Axis."

The same topie will also be debated February 25 with two teams from Radford.

Alice Nichols and Marilyn Bell will compose the affirmative team from Farmville in the debate Saturday night.

Father Time

Continued from Page 1

that'll remind him you'll still be around when the boys are home again. The main thing is to get 'em off in time . . . 'cause they're A-number- on the current list belonging to Ol' Man Morale.

Also on account of the War, we find those home-front ideas and ideals . . . "unrationed amounts of love", "no shortage of wishes that you'll be mine", "answer soon before the postages goes up to 4e . . ." and so on and on. . . things that we'll remember long after have meat and sugar again.

And another . . . very vital phase to this year's selection . . . 'tis 1944, gals, and Leap Year ! ! The possibilities are innumerable. You can beg him, borrow him, buy him, steal him, plead with him, snake him or threaten him . . . but if you can get him, he's all yours this year! There are 365 days in this year, and every one a Sadie Hawkins day, but if you want to be real smart, catch him this time and marry him in '45 . . . just so's people won't be catty!

Yes, the same old variety hangs on, and the changes all amount to the same vital point . . . they all say "Be my Valentine". They have started arriving around here, and the fun they eause is irreplaceable. All in all, they can't be beat . . . but the best story we've heard yet is that of the eareful little soldier who neatly wrote his return address in the corner opposite the "free" . . . and then signed the Valentine "Guess Who"! Incidentally, it took the young lady quite awhile to imagine who in the world . . .

Ten to one there are some girls here who had definitely vowed to grow up this year, and not clutter up the mails with sueh trash. G'wan . . . we've said it's Leap Year, whyn't leap? Just be sure you look first. And you can send him the box of candy this time; in most cases he'll be somewhere where it's more than deeply appreciated. We read one Valentine this week that covered the whole idea pretty well, and was the simplest one yet . . . Know what it said? "I'm willin' . . . how 'bout you?"

Miss Mouse

Continued from Page 1

ing on yellow crepe paper.

If Martha Wells is still wondering about that cake missing a long time ago—I could sure tell her a funny story about a couple of two-legged rats.

WE WIRE FLOWERS
EVERYWHERE
COLLINS FLORIST

Visit Us For BEST SODA FOUNTAIN
SERVICE
CHAPPELL'S

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
Visit Our Complete
Anklet Department
New Spring
Collars

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

JUST LOOKING, THANKS

After a week filled with exciting things to do, the week end was almost an anti-elimax. First on the list was the closing night of Club '45—a production of which the Juniors might be justly proud. Following closely on its heels was the Orchesis recital, which was truly lovely. The music, costumes, and dances were perfection and all who saw it left with a feeling of pride in the girls who had worked so hard to make it a success.

While most of us counted ourselves lueky just to spend the week end in peace and quiet, there were some who got the traveling bug and departed for all eorners of the state.

Wearing out their dancing slippers at V.M.I. were: Anne Curley, Bernice Copenhaver, and Margaret Sheffield, while Martha Russell East was doing a little rug-cutting at Woodbury Forest.

The bright lights of Richmond lured: Margaret Rebersold, Betsy Corr, Earlene Kimmerling, Mary William Calvert, Mae Derieux, Shirley Easterly, Shirley Gibson, Caroline Huddle, Betty G. Johnson, Mike Shiflett, Lib West, and Martha Lee White.

In the big city of Roanoke for the week end were Betty Jane Austin, Rachael Brugh, Beverly Bohon, Helen Cobbs, Elizabeth Driscoll, Ann Foster, Kathryn Hutchinson, Carolyn Hayslett, Gussie Himes, while in nearby Rocky Mount were Emily Carper, Natalie Carroll, Betty Ann Wimbish.

Nancy Wilkinson, Glenn Ann Patterson, and Shirley Skinner trekked to Kenbridge, while Mabbot Perkins, Kitty Parham, and Jeanne Richardson got a taste of the home life in Petersburg.

To Norfolk went Freddie Butt, Anne Brushwood, Beverly Boone, Shirley Cruser, Lois Meekins, Ellen Moore, Katherine Parker, and Earlye Lee Palmer. And having a big time in Danville were Betsy Fox, Martha Higgins, Barbara Lee Myers, and Lynne Sprye.

South Hill elaimed Betty Minetree, Anne Tucner, and Jane Paulette, while not far away but still having a good time were Jo Beatty, Poguie Massey, Betty Overcash, Dotty Overcash, Agnes Stokes, Anne Summers and Louise Bell, who week - ended in Hampden-Sydney.

STC Conference February 25-27

State Teachers College, Farmville, will be the meeting place of the Methodist Student Conference, February 25-27, when students from universities and colleges in the state of Virginia, will gather to discuss the theme, "That We May All Be One."

The Rev. G. C. Speidel, former missionary to Korea, now of the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, is state director and counselor of the conference.

Guest speakers will be Dr. Clarence T. Craig, Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, will be the platform speaker and Dr. Harold Ehrensperger, of Nashville, Tenn., editor of "Motive" who will represent the General Board of Eduеation, co-sponsor of the conference.

The program for the week end eonference will include platform addresses, morning worship and business meetings, discussions and directed reereation.

Student officers are Julia Ann Stanton, president, Randolph-Maeon Woman's College, Lynchburg; viee - president, Margaret Hudson, Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg; and Pauline Walker, William and Mary College, Williamsburg; secretary, Franeis Currin, State Teachers College, Radford; treasurer, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, State Teachers College, Farmville; Publicity ehairman, Evelyn Holladay, Randolph-Macon.

The approaching conference is one of a series held annually on a nation-wide scale under auspices of the Methodist Board of Education in cooperation with State Student Conference.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

NEW SHIPMENT
—of—
NUBBY KNIT SWEATERS
In Spring Pastels
$7.98
Also . . .
Spring Plaid Skirts
100% Wool
$8.98
BALDWIN'S

SUPPORT THE FOURTH WAR LOAN DRIVE

The Rotunda

HAVE YOU BOUGHT YOUR MARDI GRAS TICKET?

VOLUME XXIII — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 16, 1944 — No. 17

Students Celebrate Mardi Gras Saturday Night; Ellett Will Be Crowned Queen of the 1860 Ball

Freshmen to Portray Essence Of Months Next Tuesday Night

Class Production Features Many

"Thirty Days Hath September - - - " Freshman Production, will be presented February 22 in the large auditorium, Joan Davis, chairman, has announced.

Around the twelve months of the year, the Freshmen have woven a series of skits representing holidays or typical scenes.

The production will begin with March accenting St. Patrick's Day under Ann Shufflebarger's supervision. April portrays April Fool's Day by showing all the types of fools with Kitty Parham, chairman. May shows the dreams that grow out of last minute cramming for exams with Judy Reick as chairman.

Joan Davis, chairman of the freshman production.

Martha Droste is chairman of June, which is dedicated to the senior skit with a comedy take-off on their futures seven years hence. July is brought out by a Baby Show with Louise Halbert as chairman. A roof scene during

Continued on Page 3

AAUP Hears Humber On World Federation

Robert Lee Humber, originator and advocate of a plan of world federation as part of the post-war planning, spoke to the American Association of University Professors at their regular meeting last Wednesday night. Mr. Humber's plan has already been passed by the general assemblies of six states, and at present the author is on a tour of Virginia, speaking in behalf of the plan.

The plan for world federation as designed by Mr. Humber involves the retention of absolute automony by individual nations with the single exception of matters pertaining to war and preparation for war. And even then, Mr. Humber's plan is to act upon individuals rather than nations.

Mr. Humber, a native of North Carolina, was educated at Harvard where he received a Rhodes scholarship. Following his graduation, he went to France, where for 16 years he was the head of a law firm in Paris. With his French wife and two children, Mr. Humber left Paris just 50 hours before the entrance of the Germans.

State Senator Brock, of Farmville, will introduce the Humber Resolutions at the next convention of the Virginia General Assembly.

ReligiousEmphasis Week Begins Sun. Night at Prayers

Julian Lake Will Speak In Chapel Each Day for Week

Rev. Julian Lake, pastor of Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church, Rock Hill, South Carolina, will open Religious Emphasis Week services with a talk Tuesday morning, February 22 at 12 o'clock in the auditorium.

The theme for the week is "The Challenge of Religion" and Mr. Lake will speak on "What Is A Christian?," "This Generation's Opportunity," "No Atheists in Foxholes," "Marriage," and "Worry."

He will speak in chapel each day, Tuesday through Friday, will lead Prayers two nights, and will lead the "Bull Sessions" Wednesday and Thursday nights at 10:30 o'clock in the Student Lounge.

Mr. Lake is a native of Atlanta, Georgia, and a graduate of Davidson College, North Carolina, and Union Theological Seminary, Richmond. His first pastorate warrenton; and he has been at Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church since 1938. At Mr. Lake's church, he ministers to 280 Presbyterian students at Winthrop College.

Mr. Lake has travelled in Europe and Asia, the Holy Land being part of his trip.

Coming to Farmville as a man interested in students, Mr. Lake has conducted Religious Emphasis Week services at Limeston College and Presbyterian College.

Personal conferences may be had with Mr. Lake on Thursday from 3 o'clock until 5 o'clock by signing up with Anne Martin.

Religious Emphasis Week is held annually on the campus under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Pictured above are those on Mardi Gras Court. Seated are eJan Arington, Virginia Mae Ellett, queen, Betsy Caldwell, and Mary Agnes Sheffield. Standing are Jane Crump, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Marilyn Johnson, Mary Evelyn Pearsall and Ann Blair.

Spirit of Gaity and Festivity Permeate Mardi Gras Carnival

Those who are promoting the Mardi Gras carnival here are anxious that a spirit of gaiety and festivity, typical of that of the Creoles, permeate the entire affair.

The plans for the festival at S. T. C. being generally known, some of the highlights of the New Orleans carnival will be described here.

While some form of festivity is to be found in practically every country where the Catholic church is found, the custom has been developed more elaborately in New Orleans than elsewhere. Here an entire season—not just a day—of merry-making is observed. From New Year's Day till the midnight stroke on Shrove Tuesday, the revelry continues with gathering momentum. The term Mardi Gras, as applied to the Tuesday before Lent, means "Fat Tuesday", so called because of the fatted ox customarily paraded in the streets. It was thus that the forty days of sackcloth an dashes are preceded by a gay and vivid holiday—a tinseled festival in which the beautiful is jostled by the grotesque, a coronation ceremony and circus combined.

Each Mardi Gras find the city of New Orleans overflowing with visitors, balconies and galleries

Continued on Page 4

Old Man Weather May Be Temperamental, But He Has Nothing on These Fickle Women

True, true we say . . . and it applies to women, too. We've hoped all winter for snow, and when we get it, we holler about how wet it is, and what nasty weather, and 'bout how glad we'll be when the Spring has come again. Then the following week, when a premature warmness sets in for a day or so, the general cry turns to, "Of all the freak weathers . . . why can't it stay cold 'til it's supposed to be warm?", and there we go again.

And we find that this is true, not only in the case of weather, but that our whole life's code runs by it here at S. T. C. Take stock of yourself. How many times have you heard this?

"If that ol' bag doesn't stop giving us so many chapters to read I'll just die of over-work, that's all!" And the swift reconsideration the next day: "I wish to heck he'd give us some questions to write up so's I'd have something to show for all the work I've done in his ol' class." Well, which do you prefer?

All week the cry is, "Gee, I'm tired of classes!" and all week end, "This place is so dead ya could bury it!"

"As a Rule a Man is a fool.
When it's hot he wants it cool,
When it's cool, he wants it hot;
Always wanting what is not".

All fall we prayed for Thanksgiving holidays; when we got them we swore 'twas unpatriotic. We said we'd never live 'til we got home for Christmas; then back we came so bored with lonely life at home we couldn't stand it. We vow and declare we just have to go to that USO dance, and once there we vow and declare we've never had such a sticky, drippy time. We're positively sure we're starving to death, and when we get home and eat continually for a whole week end, we're sure we can never look food in the face again.

Once in a blue moon we'll let those piled-up letters all get answered, and then we complain 'cause the people all write back at once. Once a quarter we'll send ALL our clothes to the laundry and wander around for days saying, "I haven't a thing to wear."

Inevitably we'll wait for ages to see a good movie, and then when we're there and crying our eyes out, wonder in weepy bewilderment why we came. We spend our last red cent on a chocolate shake with ice cream and then remember we had to buy a shorthand tablet for the next hour's class. And every time we make our bed ahead of time, somebody dismisses a class and we could've had an hour's sleep that we would not tear the bed up for now for anything!

There's nothing anybody can do about it. What's the quotation 'bout pleasing some of the people all of the time and all of the people some of the time, but not everybody all at once? Think it over. Some will like your hair short and some'll like it long. Some like you in red better, some in blue. Some think you should invite Tom to Mardi Gras; some insist it should be Tim. You want

Continued on Page 4

P. G. M. Sponsors Contest for Sophs

Meaning of War Is Essay Theme

Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, announces the initiation of a new contest on campus for sophomores, a contest designed to give recognition to underclassmen for outstanding work in the field of social science.

The contest is to be an essay contest, Mary Moore McCorkle, chairman, revealed, open only to sophomores. The essay to be written involves the meaning of the war to the individual contestant, and must not exceed 2000 words. The deadline for entries has been set for May 2, and all entries must be given to Mary Moore McCorkle or Jane Waring Ruffin by that time.

The winning essay will be published in one of the college publications and also in the winners home town local newspaper. In addition there are two prizes of five dollars and two fifty in war stamps will be awarded for the two best entries. Essays, all of which shall be entitled, "What this War Has Meant to Me", will be judged by a committee of faculty members for veracity, relevance, and general quality of material and for manner of presentation.

All entries must be typed, on

Continued on Page 4

Correction

The names of five girls were omitted from the list of pledges printed in the Rotunda of February 2.

Girls pledging Alpha Sigma Alpha were Doris Burks from Bedford, and Betty Juliet Jones from Suffolk.

Other Pi Kappa Sigma pledges were Phyllis Page Cook from La-Cross and Martha Lynn Sprye from Danville. Doris Ramsey from Richmond pledged Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority.

Perry Starts Music At 8:30 Feb. 19

Owen, Prebble Will Herald Queen, Court

With Angelo Perry and his Vagabonds furnishing the music, Mardi Gras, the last open dance before May Day, will begin at 8:30 p. m., on Saturday, February 19.

Set in the period of the 1860's, the costumes will be similar to those worn at a Mardi Gras of that gay era. About ten o'clock the pages, Dorothy Owen and Katherine Prebble, will herald the coming of the queen, Virginia Mae Ellett, escorted by Bob Baldwin. Following the queen will be her court with their escorts. Those in the court will be Jean Arington with Ensign Steve Richard; Mary Evelyn Pearsall with Dr. Roland Pearsall; Marilyn Johnson with Lee Williams; Betsy Caldwell with Joe Whittle; Ann Blair with Stumpy Thompson; Jane Crump with Randy Trice; Minnie Lee Crumpler with Elmore Clarke; and Mary Agnes Sheffield with Ed Andrews.

To entertain the queen and her court, Ann Masloff will sing and Virginia Pullen will play. Edith Lovins and Jean Parry will do a boogie-woogie dance typical of the one done by the pickaninnies in the 1860's. Betsy Fox and Joan Davis will dance.

After the entertainment, the judges will award the prizes. First prize for most beautiful costume will be a lapel pin; second prize, pearl earrings. For most original costumes, first prize will be an identification bracelet, second prize, a set of book ends. These are now on display at Martin the Jeweler's. The judges will be Mrs. Shelton Whitaker, Mrs. F. B. Gilbert, Mrs. J. B. Wall, Miss Emily Barksdale, and Mrs. J. H. Cocks.

In the receiving line will be Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Rachel Royall, the officers of Pi Gamma Mu, Frances Craddock, president; Sara Trigg, vice-president; Bernice Copenhaver, secretary; and Sara Wayne France, treasurer; Mildred Corvin, chairman of the dance, and Dr. J. E. Walmsley, sponsor of Pi Gamma Mu.

On the floor committee will be

Continued on Page 4

Committee Chairmen Named To Conference

Committee heads for the Methodist Student Conference to be held at the Farmville Methodist Church and State Teachers College on February 2 to 27 have been appointed by Betty Watts, chairman.

Ann Hamlin is working with the Reverend H. Conrad Blackwell on the housing committee; Louise Bell will have charge of the registration of delegates; Elizabeth Mast and Lorraine Raiford will serve on the decoration committee and Mary E. Grizzard will be in charge of recreation. Virginia Lee Price will head the refreshments committe and Dorothy Cummings will be in charge of the reception committee.

The worship commission will be led by Dr. Harold Ehrensperger of Nashville, Tennessee and Mrs. Dewitt Baldwin, head of the Lisle Fellowship will lead the summer service commission. The interracial commission will be led by Dean McKinney of Union University in Richmond and the Christian Reconstruction commis-

Continued on Page 4

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Spryc, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Shefficid, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1944

You May Not Be Asked To Give Your Life,, But - - - Give Freely of Your Money

In the Richmond Times-Dispatch of February 12, there was a feature concerning a merchant seaman who had come back home after months of hard fighting, only to be shocked by the indifference of the people at home toward the war. He had thought that those here were giving freely of their money to buy war bonds—but he found out differently. And he added—"the men are beginning to talk and to wonder."

There is very little that we can say. We have the money—there is not one of us here who could not, through some personal sacrifice, buy at least one war stamp a week. And most of the girls here could buy more than that. As long as the soda fountains do such a rushing business with S. T. C. girls, as long as girls pour out of the dining hall each day to go downtown for lunch, as long as there are dances and movies, there is enough money being wasted, comparatively speaking, to buy several bonds each week.

For those who did not read about Seaman Kane, this paragraph is included:

"You have dinner with a man," he said, his voice trembling, "and 15 minutes later, there he is, dead on the deck. He gave up everything he had, and nobody, made him do it, either. I tell you, after what I've seen, if I had a million dollars, I'd give it to the government, if it meant that this hell would be over a minute sooner. We've got the most wonderful country in the world, but does a man have to watch his friends die before he can appreciate what they're dying for? Maybe if some of these people here could see little kids starving—not just hungry—but starving, maybe they'd buy those extra bonds and stop this war sooner."

No, we're not even in the war—not until we have given up something to bring peace closer; not until we've enlisted our help to bring men like Seaman Kane home, and to bring them home in triumph.

For A Happier Winter Time, Whistle Away Those Blues

As the winter months settle down to routine, it is easy for life to become monotous and for nerves to grow frayed. Everyone has seen everyone else day in and day out, no holidays are in sight, parallel piles up, tests are given constantly, voices take on a sharp note—and civilian morale sinks lower and lower.

But have you ever tried playing a little game with yourself about the time all the above mentioned things begin to grow evident, The game goes like this: every morning at reveille-hour you take stock of all the good things that the day might holf if you let it. You figure out how you can get that parallel read and that test studied for in those scattered minutes that are usually wasted. (This procedure wards off that hopeless I'll-never-have-time-to-get-everything-done feeling.) — Then smile—yes, smile!—and do a few swift exercises to wake yourself up. If your roommate likes to be greeted, bid her a cheery good morning. Otherwise, just provide her with an equally cheery silence.

And so off to class. But—take a deep breath. You've talked yourself into being happy, so while in class concentrate on learning as much as possible, instead of keeping one eye on your watch and the other on a letter you're writing.

Now just as you are doing fine and keeping in good spirits, along comes the head of that committee and asks you to get your work in that very day. Now don't snap at her—turn around and whistle the merriest tune you know for thirty seconds, then answer her with a smile in your voice.

My, but you're becoming a little sunbeam! You, who griped all day yesterday and wrote that poor-little-me letter home. And all it takes is a smile, (even if the first one has to be forced,) a little hard work to get the corners off the pile, and a whistle as you go.

And what's that you're doing? Writing a morale-lifting letter to all your friends overseas! Remind 'em to keep whistling.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

After much fierce fighting in the bridgehead below Rome, the Allies have again gained the offensive in most of it and some slight gains have also been made. Reinforced with troops and supplies, the Allies were able to stop the counterattacks of the Germans and take the initiative. This action came at the same time that the Allied leaders announced that they were confident the battle of Rome would be successful.

* * * *

The Germans have been driven back by the Reds to within 43 miles of Pskov, gateway to Latvia and Southern Estonia. The fall of this city would collapse the entire northern German line of defense and endanger a large German garrison still holding Staraya Russia, 110 miles to the east. Luga and the entire east bank of Lake Peipus have been occupied by the Russians.

* * * *

The only thing which can be said about the believed proposal for an understanding between Finland and Russia is that secrecy is the watchword. The whole world is waiting for some definite sign of what is being done between these two countries.

* * * * *

A concentrated attack on the Japanese base of Rabaul, New Britain, has nearly destroyed the enemy power there. Three of the four airdromes have been practically neutralized, and it is believed this Allied campaign is close to a successful conclusion.

* * * * *

Although the result of the battle in Burma where the Japanese slipped behind the British positions can not be predicted, it is known that the battle has gone "not unfavorable" for the British. It is believed that the British still had the Ngakyedauk Pass which is necessary for a British supply line across the mountains.

S.T.C. Sideshow

Between the two dances—the one with the Navy at Hampden-Sydney and the other for the Army at Camp Pickett— there were an extra lot of highlights in the STC Sideshow this week end.

To begin with it was the last week end of liberty for many of the Hampden - Sydney V-12's. Some are graduating, others have received orders to report to Midshipman's School, and still others are being transferred to other training schools. Among those coupies we'll miss after next week are Pappy and Elam, Charlie and Leaky, Jelly and Frances, and Howard and Ann Marie.

Mystery of the week: Where was Knapton's date Saturday night? Your guess is as good as anybody else's.

Joy reigned with the Cock child when the O. and O. (one and only, to you naive readers!) Ned arrived on the scene last Thursday. She departed with him and spent the week end in the country with his family 'course he stayed too!

Pat Maddox received a very tender plea from her past flame in the form of a Valentine, but no, she isn't ready for "making up" yet—so she very cleverly sent his picture away, not back to him, but with another gal to keep for the time being.

Back for the game at Hampden-Sydney was the same old Allen Fox. And up to his same old tricks, too, but that was good candy, wasn't it, Higgins?

The Carolyn Hazlett-Pat Buckler affair gets more and more complicated. Carolyn went to the dance with the gentleman concerned, but it was Pat who was being photographed with Crist on Sunday. And things took a new twist when Carolyn walked into church Sunday with McGrew.

Prettiest Valentine of all: Poguey Massey's red and white carnations from Neale.

And brickbats to girls who crash planned church suppers with dates. It sort of makes things hard for those who are cooking, so sign up the next time you are taking a date to a church dinner, gals.

The less said about farewell parties for the V-12's the better.

The ninety odd (?) girls who went to Pickett held their own in spite of short dresses when most of the others were dressd formally, and already there is an extra shower of mail from that direction.

And how 'bout Margaret Black? She started the week end off right by getting a diamond— right hand, too (or should we be more

Continued on Page 3

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

Religious Emphasis week begins Sunday night when the speaker will lead prayers. Sunday is The World Day of Prayer.

Monday during chapel there will be a special Cabinet Study Group. Everyone is invited to attend this. The speaker will lead prayers again Tuesday evening, and he will speak in chapel each day next week. Wednesday at six o'clock in the "Y" Lounge the Association meeting will be held.

One of the highlights of the week will be the Bull Sessions. They will be held in the Student Lounge around an open fire. Bring your problems and questions to these sessions at 10:30 on Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Bull Sessions will be very informal. Personal conferences will be had for those who wish them.

Tonight there will be a Little-Big Sister Coke and nab party. Little Sisters don't forget to come and bring your Big sisters. They'll be looking for you.

The Baptists are still ahead in the Sunday school contest with the Methodist and Presbyterians tying. Watch the bulletin board for the progress. There are only two more Sundays left for you to help your denomination win.

At the Methodist Church this week there is a Leadership Training School being held. This school is well worth the time it takes to attend.

The Presbyterians had a very successful supper Sunday night.

This week's topic for prayers is the Role of the Church. The Methodist and Presbyterian girls have charge of it.

Constantly Changing Weather Of Farmville Never Bores

"Colder tomorrow with diminishing winds". It was colder but we didn't notice the winds diminishing any. They swirled around happily whipping the tangled curls of Farmville lassies—blowing the full skirt high above the head, howling and shrieking with all their might around the corners of "The Building" (The Building is where you're not at the moment). Definitely these are not the winds mentioned by the sincere radio voice. His winds were "diminishing" but that's just one phase of Farmville weather. When Miss S. T. C. inches slowly out of her bed of a morning she never knows what to expect. The firts procedure naturally is to close the window. Then she wonders how cold it is and what she should wear.

One morning snow covers the ground. It's lovely, it's delightful. By afternoon there is no vestige of it: we carry our coats and throw off our boots regretfully. Snow is always unique at Farmville as it is anywhere there are children.

Farmville may not be able to boast of as much weather as Mark Twain claims for New England. We won't pick a fight with those august puritans who brought perhaps a little extra weather along in the hole of "The Mayflower." But we are never bored (by the weather!!?) We may be sad, disappointed, disillusioned, frustrated, dissapated, incapacitated, encouraged, cheered—by the weather, but we are never bored.

Thirty days has September and each of them are bearers of a different shape of atmosphere. The rain, the fog, the sun, the wind, the mist, the clouds, the breeze, the dew, the snow, the sleet, the calm, the hail—all these and others, too we claim as part and parcel of our weather. Ain't it wonderful?

Just think beautiful people—it's only thirty-four days until Spring. (When the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love)

Question of the Week

What is your favorite "Little Moron" joke?

Bianny Jenkins: I like the one about the moron who stuck his feet out from under the covers 'cause he didn't want those cold thing in bed with him.

Louise Putney: The doctor told the little moron he was gonna die so he pulled up a chair for Rigor Mortis to set in.

Ellen Bailey: It's old but I still like the one about the moron who buried his wife under the house so he could sing "I'm walking the floor over you."

Dana McClellan: Have you heard about the little moron that backed off the bus because he heard a lady say she was going to grab his seat when he got off?

Sam Eggleston: What about the two morons out hunting, and one sees two ducks. He shoots one and it falls at his feet. The other says "You needn't have shot that . . . The fall would have killed him."

Martha East: I like the one about the three little morons sitting by the road, when a car passed by. One said "That car was red." After a while, the second moron said, "No, it was black." After a period of just sitting there the third moron said, "Well, if you all are going to argue, I'm going to leave."

Margie Culley: My favorite is the little moron who thought he was gonna have pupples because his stomach growied.

Grace Lloyd: I still like the little moron who killed his mother and father so he could go to the orphan's picnic.

Phyllis Watts: Did you hear the joke about the bald-headed moron?

No!

He didn't have any hair.

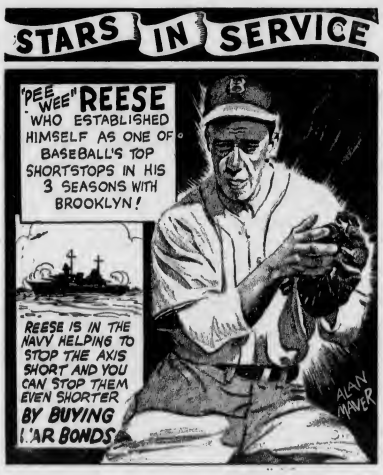
"Liz" Goodwin: How about the moron who put bird seed in his shoes to feed his pigeon toes.

Mary Ellen Petty: One little moron thought they had to fence in the graveyard 'cause people were just dying to go there!

Anonymous: One little moron pitches woo under a toadstool because some one told him it was a mush room!

Jane Ruffin: My favorite one is about the little moron who was found sitting in the Westinghouse refrigerater because he wanted to "west."

Caroline Caldwell: One that I like is about the moron who took the street car home and his mother made him take it back. Also the one who went to the city to live because he heard the country was at war.



Betty Little: The little moron took some oats to bed to feed his nightmare.

Nell Richard: And the one who took his bottle to bed with him so so he could sleep tight.

Virginia Treakle: The one about the moron who met a girl in a revolving door and has been going around with her ever since.

Lelia Holloway: The moron who pushed the cow over the cliff to hear the Jersey Bounce.

Betsy Fox: The little moron who cut off his finger so gangrene could set in and make a fourth at bridge.

Third Ping Pong Round Ends Tonight; Finals Come in March

Jones Pierce Meet In Decisive Clash

Second round matches in the annual ping pong tournament are nearing completition. Wednesday, February 16, has been set as the deadline for final matches of the third round. The final match between the winner in the next set of matches will be played the first week in March and will determine the winner of the tournament.

Ruth Dugger, manager of ping pong has announced the winners of games to date. Ann Jones defeated Mary Agnes Sheffield, Shirley Pierce defeated Cab Overbey and Ann Jones. Lucille Jones won over Mary Ann Loving. Mary Walker Watts scored over Margaret Eliett, and Lucille Jones scored over Mary Walker Watts. Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, in the first round defaulted to Helen Wilson and Betty Minitree defeated Helen Wilson in the match.

Also, Phyllis Watts defeated Sue Hundley, Nellie Smith defeated Ophelia Whittle, Rebecca Tomlinson won over Dot Overcash, and Nellie Smith defeated Rebecca Tomlinson in their match.

Scheduled to complete a game in the second round is Betty Minitree and Phyllis Watts. Third round games to be played this week will be between Lucille Jones and Shirley Pierce, first and second place winners, respectively, last year. Also, Nellie Smith will challenge the winner of the match between Betty Minitree and Phyllis Watts.

The ping pong torunament is an annual contest between the colors and five points towards the color cup is awarded to the color winner. Last year Red and White won the tournament with Lucille Jones in first place.

Practice for games can be secured at any time the ping pong table are available. They are located both in the shower room in the little gym. Balls and paddles are found in either Miss Iler's office or Mike Shifflett's room, second floor Annex.

Notice

All girls who are interested in signing up for the Dramatic Club will meet in the large auditorium immediately after Prayers tonight.

Swimming Class Offered on Monday

Red Cross Tests Will Be Given Later

An Intermediate swimming class will begin Monday at 4:50 P. M. and continue throughout the remainder of the quarter on Monday and Wednesday afternoons. This class of introduction is open to all who have completed the beginners course of instruction and are interested in continuing swimming.

Included in the course will be the fundamentals of diving, various forms of swimming including the side stroke, elementary back stroke, back crawl, breast stroke, and front crawl. At the conclusion of the course an American Red Cross Intermediate swimming test will be given and all who complete will receive their certificates.

All who wish to enroll will report to the pool room on Monday, February 20.

Frosh Production

Continued from Page 1

Summer School will portray the month of August with Sue Hundley as chairman.

Jerry Paine will direct the September skit which is dedicated to Labor Day and women war workers. October shows the Freshman's idea of a perfect rat week with Ann Houser as chairman. November brings out Football Season which shows girl players directed by Cam Butt, chairman. December symbolizes a scene on any one of STC's roll with Virginia Anderson as chairman.

January is portrayed by a typical mid-winter scene directed by Katherine Kearsley. The production is brought to an end by a patriotic note in February directed by Pat McLear.

Ann Buck has charge of tickets; Carmon Lowe, publicity; Frani Wood, finance; and Cab Overby and Hilda Bennett, music. Ann Curlee is assistant chairman of the production and Margaret Elett is Mistress of Ceremonies.

Left Lead

If much more is said about the Weather in this week's issue, either the editors or the printer will feel more than under the subject, but because of the weather this column almost didn't get written. We just couldn't see Lindy keeping up his usual fast pace in all that muck and mire, or Midnight remaining in his usual calm and stately condition with the real winter nip in the air.

But even the cold snap didn't keep 'em home forever. Braving the elements Saturday afternoon were Warren and Jack, proving the man shortage by scorting Judy Jean, Jean and Joyce to Hampden-Sydney on a trek that started at 12:30 and lasted till four and included lunch at the H-S. College Shoppe. How the horses fared we didn't hear, but at least they weren't part of the menu.

And because of the most changeable weather, the whole school got a laugh out of the most recent note on the mantel. I. e. . . "If nothing is falling, there will be riding this afternoon".

By Tuesday the ring was still a mass of mud, but the trails were hard packed and well ridden. One group ended up at the High school where the boys were busy drilling. They practically had to form a cavalry unit . . . the service-men-to-be were drilling in and out and all around the horses before the animals even knew what it was all about.

Town gal Jane Smith isn't sure just what Flicka has against her, but hopes her latest cut-ups were not wishful thinking on the mare's part. Flicka's mad dash this ride took a detour straight through the graveyard! That's one time sticking on was really a matter between life and death!

We have been realizing for some time that many of our patient readers read on and on about this horse and that without ever really knowing the horses themselves. Next week, or sometime, we hope to take off on an imaginary trip to the stables to see whether it's really so that Mairzy Doates, and which mares eat which, or which mares are which. And we'll include Midnight and Mac and the others who aren't mares, too, so be sure you're dressed for the trip.

And don't forget, try an unimaginary trip, too, 'cause from now on "if nothing is falling, there will be riding!"

See ya in the saddle . . . . .

PEGASUS

Graduation at H.-S. C. Set for February 24 9 Receive Degrees

Five seamen and four civilians will receive degrees at the Hampden-Sydney graduation scheduled for 10:30 a. m., February 24, Lt. George Howe, commanding officer of the Naval Unit, announced this week.

In addition, some members of the V-12 Unit have received orders to report to Midshipmans School, and others to report to various units for specialized training different from that received at Hampden-Sydney.

The V-12 Unit, scheduled to be restricted this week-end because of exams, will be given liberty on Saturday night to attend the Mardi Gras festival here.

The graduation dance at Hampden-Sydney last Saturday night was preceded by a basketball game with William and Mary in which the Tiger cagers triumphed.

S.T.C. Sideshow

Continued from Page 2

explicit and say, left hand?) And then the week end was completed with a corsage of red roses.

Short story of the week concerns one Barbara Lee Myers and a very interesting piece of mail. It was addressed to her P. O. box, but the addresssee was a "Mrs." Inside all that was said was: "Ah, that it might be" or words to that effect. No little confusion was caused by the episode in and outside the post office.

Some people can think of the cleverest means of getting their presents to the right girls—even resort to sending them via relatives who happen to be part of the administration. But the effect was good, eh, Minitree?

Confirmed rumor: Betty Ellis leaves soon for a week end at Chapel Hill with Bob. And Ella Banks swears she's been jilted, but that's not confirmed. Maybe it's just a reprieve—shall we ask Bill? Also in the offing is a trip by Shirley Skinner to Pennsylvania to visit her parents-in-law-to-be. Don't get cold feet, Shirley.

And so draws the curtain on another S.T.C. Sideshow—and if you didn't like it, remember that your Mother warned you against sideshows!

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Basketball

The freshmen were given a taste of basketball last week when they played their first game last Tuesday with Farmville High School. This was the first game of the basketball season, and gave the frosh a chance to have some experience before the class games begin.

Class games are scheduled to be held very soon, so you who want to play for your class team have a chance to finish getting in those eight practices. Every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, the gym is open for basketball only. With Miss Olive T. Iler as coach, here's your chance to improve your game, or learn some of the fundamentals of basketball through experience if you are only a beginner.

The Varsity team has been chosen, and plans are being made to schedule at least one game with another college. If one of the games should be held in the S. T. S. gym, let's show our school spirit by coming to the game and yelling for ole Blue and White.

Square Dancing

Last Wednesday night found the regularly scheduled Square Dancing class under the direction of Miss Emily Kauziarich tripping through their figures with the Hampden-Sydney sailors. The boys seemed to catch on quickly, and everyone had a grand time. There weren't quite enough boys to go around, only twelve showed up, with five spectators who just couldn't be talked into dancing, but with promises of bringing more men next time, another meeting has been planned for Wednesday week.

Square dancing is the original national dance of America, just as the Highland fling and Irish jig are typical of those countries. It originated with our pioneer grandparents, and has become a tradition especially in the South and West. The square dancing in the West is much more vigorous compared to the Virginia reel and quadrilles of the South. The class has been experimenting with steps from the West lately, and is finding them not only interesting, but fun too.

Cold Winds

The weather lately has spoiled lots of plans concerning athletics out-of-doors, but those who are really interested in sports have found substitutes inside. Our indoor swimming pool is a solution to all problems. Swimming is one of the best all around exercises one can participate in, and our nice green tiled pool, makes a wonderful swimming hole. Next time they have Play Night, let's find the pool crowded with those who like to get more than their little toes wet.

Ping pong is another diversion which proves entertaining. The table is set up in the Little Gym with ping pong paddles and balls in Miss Iler's office. Some cold and dreary afternoon, gather up the gang, and work out a tourney among yourselves, it should be lots of fun, and you might find your roommate a whiz at the game.

Volleyball, another indoor sport is held each Tuesday and Thursday night after supper in the gym. This is the way of making up that lost third period, or you can still become a member of one of the teams already organized. Definite teams have not been selected, but the same girls seem to join together for competition each time.

There are lots of things to do to keep you active, and although it is mighty tempting to curl up on the bed with a good book, you will find the exercise lots more exhilirating and better for you. Try it just once, and see if you don't like it.

Until next week, yours truly signs off for another time. Stay in the game!

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body

Good Things to eat and drink

BUTCHER'S

(High Street)

Men Like That Spick 'n Span Look

Do you have it?—If not, have your clothes cleaned and pressed at the

DeLuxe Cleaners

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

College Shoppe

Peoples National Bank

Farmville, Virginia

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Towels and Washcloths 49c per pound at ROSE'S 5-10-25c Stores

Farmville's Most Popular Store

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to Kleanwell Cleaners

Opposite Postoffice

See Betty Bridgeforth Our Representative

SHE WANTED A PART IN WINNING THE WAR!

ANN, A REAL AMERICAN GIRL, JOINS THE WAVES

Write or go to nearest Navy Recruiting Station or Office of ...cer Procurement for copy of new WAVES booklet.

NON - RATIONED

Black Gabardine Pumps

$5.00

Low and Medium Heels

ALL SIZES

You can buy these shoes without a shoe ration stamp

MAIN FLOOR—REAR

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

Be a Wise Shoe, Shoe Baby, Advises Your Fashion Editor

A few short springs ago we had no more of a shoe problem than the great decision between the red sandals or the blue spectators. This spring, in order that all God's children may have shoes, we must buy footwear with more in mind than the color scheme. Our shoe stamps, number eighteen and number one of the aeroplane ones, are supposed to supply shoes to last over an indefinite period of time, which may mean one year. First, buy shoes that fit, putting enough in the price to be sure of wear and quality. Choose a serviceable type and a style or color to go with as many things as possible. Remember you may be wearing them longer than you realize now.

In addition to wise buying of rationed shoes, keep your eyes open for unrationed ones to save wear and tear on the others. Unrationed shoes must be made from non-priority goods so you cannot expect but so much from them. Rope or string soles are fine but walking in the rain in them loosens the glue that holds them together.

The picture shows four pairs of unrationed play shoes. Nancy Langhorne models a pair of strap sandals composed of a number of narrow bands woven together. These are suitable for beach wear and look fine with play clothes. The second pair modeled by Nell Richard are equally good with play clothes, cotton suits and chambrays. They come in a wide variety of colors and are comparatively inexpensive. The white duck ones, modeled by Marion Orange, clean easily with soap and water, go well with sport clothes and are very comfortable for walking. Betty Little shows some non-rationed two-tone gabardine pumps intended for dress wear only.

Watch your color schemes with colored shoes. Be sure they are not too dressy for your dress. Buy non-rationed ones early for the pick in sizes and styles.

Nancy Langhorne, Nell Richard, Marion Orange and Betty Little model non-rationed shoes.

Celebrate Mardi Gras

Continued from Page 1

Sara Trigg, Frances Craddock, Sara Wayne France, and Betsy Fox.

Mrs. Mabel McCoy, Mrs. Hallie Laing, Miss Pauline Camper, Dr. and Mrs. George Jeffers, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, Mr. Raymond French, Mr. S. M. Holton, Dr. F. B. Simkins, Mr. M. B. Coyner and Mr. S. L. Graham will be

Chairmen for the dance to assist Mildred Corvin, general chairman, are Marilyn Bell, floor show; Sara Wayne France, decorations; Bernice Copenhaver, business manager; Mildred Willson, orchestra; Ella Banks Weathers and Sara Trigg, theme, costumes, and publicity; and Mary Moore McCorkle tickets. Masks and tickets will be on sale this week, and spectator tickets may be bought at the door.

Committee Chairmen

Continued from Page 1

sion by the Reverend D. D. Holt, of Lynchburg. Dr. James Elliott Walmsley will lead the Christian Basis of New World Order.

Girls of all denominations are invited to attend any of the meetings and to have Friday night supper, Saturday lunch and banquet that night at the Methodist Church. The price of the three meals for college girls is $2.50.

Patronize

PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS

WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Kappa Delta Pi Bids Twelve Girls Today

Twelve girls received Kappa Delta Pi bids today, Mary Moore McCorkle, president, revealed. They are Virginia Lee Abernathy, Cochran; Margaret Barksdale, Java; Susan Durrett, Richmond; Alice Feitig, Richmond; Patricia Garth, Farmville; and Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Drewryville.

Also, Dora Walker Jones, Radford; Edith Sanford, Richmond; Mary Preston Sheffey, Marion; Nannie Webb, Gloucester; and Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock.

Old Man Weather

Continued from Page 1

to go to Tech, and you know you should save that cash for a ticket home when your brother gets a furlough. It's all up to you, y'know. Turn around and give the critics a piece of that mind of your own. And then what?

Run apologize and ask their opinion and admit you don't know what you want. After all . . . you're not understood. You're considered a Young Lady by the proper authorities, but you're treated like a child. You'd quit school if you could, but then what would you do? Don't ask us. They tell us it's a free country . . . but look at the taxes one has to pay to live in it!

Spirit of Mardi Gras

Continued from Page 1

overhanging the streets being filled with spectators. The carnival colors, yellow, green and purple, are festooned from house to house. There are day and night parades,

A dance will be held in the school gymnasium Saturday night for those who attend the conference.

Students from universities and colleges all over the state will attend the conference. The boys will be accommodated for the week end in Farmville private homes and the girls in the S. T. C. dormitories.

S. T. C. Students

Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA

Wilson's
Firestone Store

311 West Third Street

Collins Florist

WE HAVE FRESH FLOWERS
FOR EVERY OCCASION

NEW SHIPMENT OF
COSTUME JEWLERY

Martin the Jeweler

Women Dentists No Longer Scarce

Women dentists, as scarce now as women welders were before Pearl Harbor, will appear in the future in ever-increasing numbers, Professor Charles W. Creaser, chairman of the pre-medical and pre-dental committee at Wayne university, predicts.

Professor Creaser points out that of more than 1,400 dentists now practicing in Detroit, only 12 are women, and that throughout the country there are 35 men in the profession for every woman.

"The skill which women in war industries are displaying in the manipulation of small tools," said Professor Creaser, "gives ample evidence of their aptitude for at least one phase of dental work. Furthermore, we know that the few women who have entered the profession have proved exceptionally successful, particularly in the fields of children's dentistry and orthodontia."

Dr. Creaser also emphasized the existing need for Negro dentists, both male and female, and quoted Dr. M. Don Clawson, director of dental education at Meharry medical college, Fisk university, as saying that there are only 2,000 Negro dentists, very few of them women, serving the 12,000,000 Negroes in the United States.

—ACP

Absent-Minded Prof Acts In Confusion

Because the army demands promptness, a Westminster college, New Wilmington, Pa., professor was hurrying along to meet his scheduled history class for army cadets. In one hand he carried some letters to be mailed. In the other he had his grade book and quiz papers to be returned to the cadets.

As he rounded a corner he stopped at a mail box. He did not discover until he got to his classroom that he had mailed his grade book and test papers and brought the letters with him.

It was a shame-faced prof who later went to the post office to reclaim his property and mail the letters.

—ACP

when glittering monarchs ride through the streets.

"Have a good time while you may"—that is the spirit of Mardi Gras. All inhibitions are lost and all superficial dignity is cast aside. Troubles are forgot, sorrows are banished, and for this one night of masked receiling, fantasy reigns supreme.

(Ed. Note: This feature on the meaning of Mardi Gras appeared in the Rotunda several years ago.)

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Farmville's Newest and Finest

5-10-25c Store

Visit our . . .
JEWELRY DEPARTMENT
New Spring Shades Arriving Daily
Feature Showing of Ear Buttons 10c

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

MEET ME . . .
—AT—
SHANNON'S

Little Sisters Give Big Sisters a Party In the Rec Tonight

Tonight at 10 o'clock the little sisters will take their big sisters to a party given by the membership committee of the Y.W.C.A.

Pat Maddox and Cab Overbey are preparing a musical program. Pat will sing, Cab will play the piano, and everyone will enter a music contest. The party will be held on the rec. Unlike the big sister-little sister reception in the fall, this party will be informal.

Vivian Edmunds is in charge of refreshments, and Hannah Lee Crawford is chairman of the entire party.

Manson Announces Completion of Cast

The remainder of the parts in the Spring production of the Dramatic Club, "The Cradle Song", to be presented on Founders Day, March 4, have been cast, Lucy Manson, president, revealed last night.

Portraying the poet will be Margaret Wilson. Gwen Ackiss will take the part of the Lover, and Betty Cock will be the Voice. In addition there are several extras in the play.

Assisting Miss Leola Wheeler, director, are Mary St. Clair Bugg, in charge of lighting; Coral Diggs, head of the staging group; Lucille Lewis in chare of make-up; Frances Shackleford, who will costume the play; Ann Blair, in charge of music and Sally Robertson, properties head.

Pi Gamma Mu

Continued from Page 1

one side of the paper, and the contestant's name must not appear anywhere on the essay proper. The entry must be submitted with the name of the contestant clipped to the essay on a separate piece of paper.

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

February 14th, and the air was filled with hearts and flowers, mail boxes filled with mail for a change, instead of the usual dust; boxes of candy enough to fill the entire student body's sweet tooth; valentines complete with perfume and lace; sentimental songs coming from all radios and vics; and best of all a Valentine dance at Hampden-Sydney. The Leap Year girls were out in full force and from all accounts it proved to be a most satisfactory week end for all concerned.

Having a merry time at H-S C. were the following girls with their dates:

Gwen Ackiss, with Paul Timmerman; Peggy Alphin, with Tom Marshall; Lou Baker, with Joe Basilone; Anne Bell, with B. F. Yancey; Rosa Lee Bell, with Kenneth Dodson; Rachel Bourne, with Ray Ranum; Margaret Brace, with Charles Loving; Pat Buckler, with Frank Hobbs; Betsy Caldwell, with Sumpter Priddy; Constance Christian, with Harold Tidler; Martha Cole, with Hugh Wrenn; Joyce Collins, with Buddy Curlee, and Marcheta Cunningham, with F. H. Pennington.

Also Belle Daulton, with Ben Taylor; Joan Davis, with Bob Goldenburg; Elizabeth Driscoll, with Chester Slapinski; Vivian Edmunds, with Miles Fletcher; Rosemary Elam, with David Hoyle; Betty Ellis, with Bill Cantwell; Alice Feitig, with Bob Malone; Jane Ford, with Bob Burke; Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, with Walter Larrimer; Delia Gregory, with Jack Gregory; Carolyn Hammond, with Bill Houtz; Carolyn Hayslett, with Ed Crist; Ellen Higginbotham, with Bill Bergman, and Mary Ellen Hoge, with William H. Hoy.

Lelia Holloway, with Charles Davis; Joy Kennan, with Frederick Dilouto; Ruby Huddle, with Curtis Anderson; Nancy Ingle, with Lonnie Dickens; Beatrice Jones, with Jack Woodside; Ruth Jones, with Tom Beasley; Lois Kavanaugh, with Milford Bradley; Anne Leatherbury, with Bruce Morrison; Norma Lindley, with Harry Parks; Vera Lloyd, with G. N. Casto; Margaret McIntyre, with Dan Leeck, and Lucy Messick, with Jo Fletcher.

Also Ellen Moore, with David Noel; Betty O'Connor, with Robert Thomas; Jac Parden, with Bob Carter; Jerry Payne, with John Beall; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, with Bruce Le Grande; Julia Revercomb, with Robert Cahill; Jeanne Richardson, with George Little; Frances Shackelford, with Eddy Neilson; Lois Sheppard, with Elmer Deyerle; Sara Taliaferro, with Paul Rohrer; Ann Umstead, with Howard Jones; Mary J. Vonderlehr, with Bob Younger; Rosemarie Waggner, with Aubrey Anderson; Nancy Lee Weeks, with John DeHardit, and Frances Rainey, with Frank Johns.

Still in the hearts and flowers' class was a tea given Sunday afternoon by Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority for Naomi Major Shipp who was married recently.

KEEP ON Backing the Attack! WITH WAR BONDS

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films

Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll

Southside Drug Store

BALDWIN'S

Trudy Hall Jr.

Cuts Capers with COTTON

You'll love 'em and tub 'em! These frisky fresh cottons that are brim full of Trudy's tempting tricks. She truly strikes up the band with stripes . . . better hop on quick-like for a carefree ride into Spring and Summer.

Sizes 9 to 15

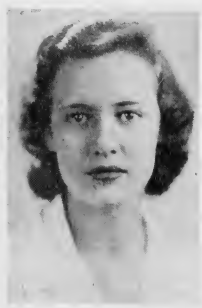
4.98 and 6.98

WAGON WHEELS in fine stripes of navy, red, blue, or green printed on fine cotton. $4.95

SHORTIE-PIE jacket two-piecer in woven stripe broadcloth. Red, blue or brown. $6.95

The Rotunda

VOLUME XXIII | WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1944 | No. 18



Bell, Ruffin, Knapton Named Editors of '44 Publications

MARILYN BELL

JANE RUFFIN

JANE KNAPTON

Sterrett, Hutt Are New Business Managers; Maddox, Treakle Become Managing Editors

MARY STERRETT

HERSEY HUTT

PAT MADDOX

Rotunda, Colonnade Editors Assume Duties in Spring Quarter; Virginian Editors Publish 1945 Annual

At the meeting of the Publication's Board last Thursday afternoon, the editors, business managers, and managing editors of the three publications were selected for the coming year.

Bell Succeeds France

Marilyn Bell, junior from Richmond, will succeed Sarah Wayne France as editor-in-chief of the Virginian; Jane Waring Ruffin, junior from Charles City County will succeed Ella Banks Weathers as editor-in-chief of the Rotunda; and Jane Knapton, junior from Covington will succeed Elizabeth Tennent as editor-in-chief of the Colonnade.

Virginian Manager Not Known

Business managers will be Mary Sterrett, junior from Raphine, Rotunda, to succeed Mary St. Clair Bugg, and Hersey Hutt, junior from Neenah, Colonnade, to succeed Mildred Corvin. The business manager for the Virginian will be announced later.

Managing editor of the Virginian will be Patricia Maddox, junior from Roanoke, who will succeed Harriett Moore. Virginia Treakle, sophomore from Farmville, will be the managing editor of the Rotunda to succeed Jane Waring Ruffin.

Editors on Staff This Year

Marilyn Bell served on the literary staff of the Virginian this year; Jane Waring Ruffin was managing editor of the Rotunda; and Jane Knapton was on the literary staff of the Colonnade.

Mary Sterrett was advertising manager of the Rotunda, and Hersey Hutt was a business assistant of the Colonnade this year.

Patricia Maddox served on the literary staff of the Virginian, and Virginia Treakle was news editor of the Rotunda.

The newly elected editor of the Virginian wil edit the '45 Virginian; the editor of the Rotunda will take charge of the second issue of the paper in spring quarter; and the editor of the Colonnade will put out the last copy of the magazine this year.

The Publication's Committee is composed of the faculty advisers and editors of the three college publications.

publications, one member from the student body at large, who is this year, Betty Watts.

Religious Emphasis Week Continues With Discussions

Theme, "Challenge Of Religion", Used By Lake for Week

Continuing the Religious Emphasis Week program, Rev. Julian Lake, pastor of the Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church, Rock Hill, South Carolina, will conduct the "Bull Session" tonight at 10:30 o'clock in the Student Lounge.

All meetings and services this week are being centered around the yearly theme, "Christian Faith for Today and Tomorrow", and the weekly theme, "The Challenge of Religion." Because of Mr. Lake's desire to talk according to the needs of the students, he has not announced any specific topics for specific days.

A special musical program will be presented in Prayers tonight as a part of the Religious Emphasis Week services.

Mr Lake will speak in chapel tomorrow and Friday mornings at 12 o'clock, will lead Prayers tomorrow night, and will lead another "Bull Session" at 10:30 on Thursday night.

REV. JULIAN LAKE

Mr. Lake Will hold personal conferences with any students desiring them on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Girls may make an appointment with Anne Martin for conferences.

Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock,

Continued on Page 4

Beard To Lead Group In Special Service

Under the direction of Carolyn Beard, a group of girls will provide music for the special service at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday night, February 17.

Alice Parkhurst will sing "This Holy Hour" and Doris Lee Murray will sing "Ave Maria" by Gounod.

Singing in the choir will be Betty Albright, Carolyn Beard, Mary William Calvert, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Mary Moore McCorkle, Julia Messick, and Ann Snydor.

FTA Issues Bids To Twelve Girls

Twelve girls received bids to the Association of Future Teachers of America, Mary Franklin Woodward, president, has revealed.

Girls receiving bids include Betty Adams, Richmond; Margaret Barksdale, Java; Lucy Bowling, Andersonville; Mary William Calvert, Lynchburg; Nell Ray Fleming, Chula; and Lelia Hollaway, Purdy.

Also Georgia Knight, Appalachia; Helen Mundy, Chatham; Katherine Prebble, Lynchburg; Virginia Radogna, Purdy; Virginia Shackleford, Gloucester Point; and Virginia Vla, Critz.

At State Meeting Peele, Craig Talk

150 Students Will Attend Conference

Bishop W. W. Peele, of the Methodist Church and Dr. Clarence T. Craig, of the Oberlin, Ohio Graduate School of Theology, will be the principal speakers at the State Conference of the Methodist Student Movement, to be held in Farmville, February 25-27. Bishop Peele is going to conduct a communion service Sunday morning at the Farmville Church. The topic will be "Oneness With Christ". The theme for the entire conference is "That All May Be One".

One hundred and fifty students from campuses are expected to attend the three-day conference, which will be held in the Methodist Church with Rev. Conrad Blackwell as pastor.

At the opening session Friday afternoon, Feb. 25, Miss Mary Mizasaki, a Japanese student at Lynchburg College will discuss the Japanese Relocation Project. After this, Mrs. Dewitt Baldwin, of New York, N. Y., will head the Lisle Fellowship group. She is going to discuss Work Camps.

Worship service Friday night will be led by Harold Ehrensperger, editor of "Motive", Methodist Student Magazine, from Nashville, Tenn. Dr. C. T. Craig, of Oberlin Divinity School, Oberlin, Ohio, will give an address. He is the author of "The Beginnings of Christianity", a best seller of religious books. Dr. Craig will a'so conduct a forum Saturday take part in an Interracial Panel, and give addresses on Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Richard McKinney, of Richmond, from Virginia Union University, will conduct and take part in discussions of race problems.

Rev. D. D. Holt, pastor of the Lynchburg Methodist Church, is going to speak on "Christian Reconstruction".

Dr. Walmsley, of S. T. C. faculty, will conduct a class "Christian Basis of World Order".

Director of Virginia Interracial Commission, Rev. Allen will discuss this topic. Rabbi Leonard Kasle, of Beth Israel Temple in Charlottesville, Va., plans to take part in the Interracial Panel also. Catholic priest, Father I. A. Mc-

Continued on Page 4

Lake Challenges Students In Chapel

Yesterday, Tuesday, at chapel period the Reverend Julian Lake opened Religious Emhasis Week with the question, "What is a Christian?"

In developing this question Mr. Lake first made the point that many of the most important engredients of Christianity cannot be explained, and often are overlooked in an explanation of the term, "Christian".

He went on to say, however, that a Christian is "a person to whom Christ is everything. We must go all the way or we can't go any of the way with him. Christianity is what Jesus is."

"A Christian is a person who lives for other people." The speaker referred to Saint Paul as an example of the early Christian who lived for other people.

"The Christian is, first "in" in time of danger; last "out" in time of safety."

"A Christian is a person who cares — every eight minutes an American boy is dying for you— do you care?', Mr. Lake challenged the students.

STC, Radford Girls Debate Here Friday

"Resolved: that the United States should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an international police force upon her defeat of the Axis" will be the topic of debate between Radford and Farmville State Teachers Colleges, Friday night at 8:30.

Debating on the affirmative side for Farmville will be Faith Weeks and Alice Nichols, and on the negative will be Betty Adams and Mildred Altice.

Radford college will send four girls to debate and two to observe.

The affirmative and negative sides will be debated at the same time, one in the Honor's Room and one in the small auditorium.

Students are invited to attend.

Last week Alice Nichols and Marilyn Bell met a negative team from Randolph-Macon Woman's College on the same question. The debate was nondecision.

Woman's Club Will Hear Choral Members

Members of the choral groups of the college will present a special program for the Farmville Woman's Club on March 1, Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department, announced this week.

Carolyn Beard will play the second movement from the sonata "Pathetique", and Anne Blair and Alice Parkhurst will render solos.

Pedigo Featured As Founders Day Speaker March 4

Miss Phyllis Pedigo, severa' times featured in the Rotunda, and featured in Harpers Bazaar and the Readers Digest, will be the guest of the college on Founders Day, March 4, when she will speak to the Alumnae Association and the student body.

Miss Pedigo is an alumna of Farmville S. T. C. and was a Red Cross Field representative in South Carolina before going overseas. Her work with the soldiers in Australia has become a tradition and her ingenuity in making a deserted tumble down building into a homelike club for the Yankees "down under" is a miracle in itself. After being wounded, Mirs Pedigo was sent back to the States, and now she is at her home in Covington, Virginia.

Other special features of the Founders Day program are the seven class reunions that are scheduled. One member of the class of 1884 is expected to return and all that is left of the 21 "twenty -onders" of the graduating class of 1894 is expected, Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Alumnae secretary revealed. Other reunions planned are those for 1904, 1914, 1924, 1934, and a quarter century reunion for the class of 1919.

Mrs. S. Gardiner Waller, president of the Alumnae Association will preside at the morning session, and the day will be concluded with a Dramatic Club presentation, "The Cradle Song", under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler.

Plans are being made for further details of the Founders Day program under the direction of M. Boyd Coyner. Alumnae returning for the occasion will attend a luncheon in the Tea Room and dinner in the dining hall.

VIRGINIA TREAKLE

Anderson, Maddox Attain High Degree

Jane Anderson, sophomore from Farmville, and Kitty Maddox, sophomore from Lynchburg, were recently recognized for having attained the master's degree in Alpha Phi Sigma, national honorary society for freshmen and sophomores.

tOher girls in Alpha Phi Sigma who have attained the master's degree are Mildred Altice, Rocky Mount; Anna Lee Blanton, Cumberland; Carolyn Bobbitt, South Hill; Emily Carper, Rocky Mount; Shirley Cruser, Norfolk; Louisa Dawson, Lynchburg; Lucy Harvie: Richmond; Leliar Holloway, Purdy; Connie Ozlin, Chase City; Virginia Radogna, Purdy; Virginia Treakle, Farmville; Faith Weeks, Purdy; and Betty Anne Wimbish, Rocky Mount.

To attain the master's degree which is the highest degree obtainable in Alpha Phi Sigma, a student must have an average of B plus for two consecutive quarters, and to hold the degree, a student must maintain an average of B.

Students Select May Queen, Court At Meeting Tonight

Tonight, immediately following the student body meeting in the large auditorium, 20 students will be elected as members of the 1944 May Day Court. One student will be selected queen and 19 will be chosen to make up her court.

Thirty-six girls were nominated yesterday and Monady. Those candidates for queen are all seniors, Jean Arington, Mildred Corvin, Frances Craddock, and Mary Evelyn Pearsall.

Those nominated for the court are Betty Bridgeforth, Rosemary Elam, Virginia Mae Ellett, Nancy Hutter, Nancy Langhorne, Jane McFall, and Sara Trigg, senoirs; Marilyn Bell, Ann Blair, Betsy Caldwell, Martha Higgins, Elise Hume, Marilyn Johnson, Lucy Manson, and Mary Watkins, juniors.

Also Jane Crump, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Frances Lee, Lucie McKenry, Nancy Pitts, Barbara Surface, Nancy Whitehead, and Betty Wright, sophomores, and Cecilia Arthur, Madelyn Ayers, Mary Cameron Butt, Ann Carter, Joan Davis, Ann Dickinson, Ellen Moore, Mary Agnes Sheffield, and Lynn Sprye, freshmen.

Dressed formally, these girls will walk across the stage as the student body votes by secret ballot. Of those candidates for queen the one receiving the highest number of votes will be queen, the one receiving the second highest number of votes will automatically become maid of honor, and the other two candidates will be in the court. Students will vote for 16 of the candidates for the court.

The results will be published in next week's Rotunda.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Spryc, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1943

Give Beauty A Chance At May Court Voting

Each year as time cames for voting for May queen, the editor of this publication states in an editorial that the first consideration in choosing a May court be beauty. So perhaps you have heard this song before, but there are always freshmen to whom everything is new.

A strong character and pleasant personality are requisites for many positions, but beauty and a graceful carriage are the two important characteristics of a May queen and her court. If we can all be big enough to put aside personal feeling in all our voting we could soon cut out what is known as politics. It is nice to have our friends in May Court, but some times the little known girl may have the real beauty

Before voting, it might be a good idea to look around and see who is truly pretty, who walks gracefully, who has the type of looks that would "show up" well in a court. You will have an opportunity tonight to see how various girls look in evening dress. Don't go to the auditorium resolved already as to whom you will vote for, but go with an eye open to beauty and grace. Be critical this once, and vote honestly for the girls who will best represent your school in a May court.

Religious Emphasis Week Brings Great Opportunity

This week we have again one of the golden opportunities for which we come to college. For a week we will have on our campus a man who has worked with young people in various colleges, a man who can give us something to think about and who can give new meaning to those things about which we have been thinking.

Not only will there be one here to guide our thoughts, but we will have time set aside for the airing of our problems and ideas. We can meet with other girls and in talking with them attain a wider conception of those things which have been bothering us.

No one goes to chapel every day, but this week it will profit each of us to go every day and not lose the train of thought from day to day. Members of the faculty have thoughtfully refrained from giving tests this week so that we might all be able to attend the night discussions. This is not to be a holiday, but a week of religious emphasis.

Gleanings

By Dr. F. B. Simkins

The burning question of the war remains, when will the Allies strike Hitler's European fortress from the north? Our leaders have given emphatic promise of this grand assault. They have concentrated huge armies and mountains of supplies in England. They have intensified the air war, putting this week 5,000 bombers over Germany, some of which went as far east and south as Leipzig and Stuttgart. It is believed that one-fourth of German air force production was destroyed. Is this the "softening up" prelude to an attempted land attack? The Germans profess to believe so. They claim that they are ready for the assault and have even sent newspaper reporters to the North Sea area to record what is expected to be the g reatest military show of all times.

* * * *

While both friends and foe wait for the decision in Western Europe, definite events are taking shape in the Pacific. Americans during the past week made assaults from the Equator to the northernmost reaches of Japanese territory. Marines and infantry ripped through the defenses of Enewitok Atoll. Navy bombers hit the northern Kuriles Islands, off the tip of Siberian Kamchatka. Triumphant carrier task forces steamed back from an attack on Truk, the main Japanese fortress of the Mid-Pacific. The Japanese admit the los of two cruisers, three destroyers, 13 transports and 120 planes at Truk. Although no capital ships were cited, the Truk engagement is a kind of Japanese Pearl Harbor. It has led to the dismissal by Premier Tojo of General Sugiyama and Admiral Osami, the chiefs of the Japanese army and navy. These victories may point a decisive assault upon the Japanese homeland before the promised decision with Germany is pushed to a conclusion.

* * * *

Disappointment over continued German resistance in central Italy creates this possibility. The Nazis continue to hold their mountain positions and they are still thrusting out savagely against the Anzio beachhead which the Americans and British established some weeks ago. It may b that the great drive on Rome will not get under way until the good weather of spring allows a full exercise of Allied air supremacy.

* * * *

The Russians continue to push forward on the Polish boarder and in the Dneiper Bend. Their troops have reached the suburbs of vital Krivoi Rog. Catastrophe may come at any time to the German armies of the East. The question is, will the Russians beat the Anglo-Saxons to the heart of Germany?

* * * *

The main domestic question is, will Roosevelt run for the fourth term? The President himself is noncomittal. He is encountering great opposition in Congress and there is a very articulate dissatisfaction with his handling of domestic policies. Yet he retains the confidence of his party's chieftain's and of the common masses and apparently the almost unanimous approval of all classes of Americans on his handling of the war problems.

Scuttlebutt

The spotlight points with pride this week to the grand array and variety of costumes at Mardi Gras, to say nothing of the majestic beauty of the queen and court. South Sea islanders, Red Cross nurses, gypsies, GT's, Christmas presents, fairy-tale characters, the Sunday funnies, hearts, Russian "guerrels"; a regular cross-section of the world was to be found in the gym.

Dreama Waid was back to lead the parade of beauties at Mardi Gras and conquered first prize. Numerous other old girls were back to celebrate the occasion also. Orchids go to Betsy Fox and Joan Davis for a superb performance.

Mardi Gras Notes: Randy Trice was not to be out-shined with his new midshipman's uniform . . the long and short of it was Peggy T. and 'Bee-Bo" . . . what happened to your date Bev, did he really make you mad or was it all a front?

At last we've seen Anne Mapp's Billy, and can't that boy dance!?!

Hey, Beanie . . . what's the score? Who's two-timing who?

And how about Kitty Maddox's handsome brother?

Our thanks go to Sailor Billy Neale for his marvelous help in decorating the gym and with the lights. A miracle in itself, and he turned up in the nick of time.

Touching story of the week: A lonely sailor appeared at the dance looking for his date. He had been overseas for months, had the date for months for Mardi Gras, arived just in time only to find his girl "gone with the wind". What happened, Patsy, find somebody more interesting?

Seemed like old times to have Doug Crummet on the campus again. Nice to see that old smile

Continued on Page 3

Letter to Editor:

Dear Editor:

We just wanted to throw a bouquet of orchids to Pi Gamma Mu and especially Mildred Corvin for skillful and quite successful direction of Mardi Gras. Mildred and her committee had a huge success—in that many came and many had a good time. The whole night was one of entertainment and good fun—it went off without a hitch. We bow in appreciation.

Sincerely,
A JUNIOR

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

The climax of our year is here with Religious Emphasis Week. It began Sunday night in prayers. We are fortunate in having the Rev. Lake with us. We expect the climax of the week to be tonight. There will be a Bull Session in the Student Lounge at 10:30 around an open fire. The subject—marriage! The discussion will be informal so bring your questions and problems. Tomorrow night here wil lbe another Bull Session on Worry.

There will be a special program in prayers tonight concerning Religious Emphasis Week. Mr. Lake will speak tomorrow night. Don't forget to sign up for a personal conference with him for tomorrow afternoon. He will be glad to discuss any of your problems with you. This is your week, and it will mean as much to you as you make it. It's for all denominations. And don't forget that you may enjoy going to chapel when you don't have to go.

The Statewide Methodist Conference will be held in Farmville this year. The Conference begins this Saturday and will continue through Friday.

The Baptist girls will meet at the Student Center Saturday evening for a buffet supper and a Mission Study Class on Home Missions. The B. S. U. secretary, Miss Frances Copenhaver, will teach the book. This is your last Sunday to help your denomination with the Sunday School Contest.

Under the auspices of the Johns Memorial Sunday School, beginning tonight and every night until Easter, the Episcopal Church bell will ring for a few minutes at 6 o'clock as a call to special prayer. This Youth Angelus is a special reminder for prayers for servicemen, and everyone is invited to the church for those few minutes.

"The Cradle Song" Is Viewed Through Character Portrayal

By CATHERINE TROWER

Over an actor's shoulder we see right into the plot of the new spring play everybody is awaiting so eagerly—"The Cradle Song". With all the grace and piety of a nun the Prioress (Peggy T. Ross), or Head of the Convent, is maintaining a peaceful "community". The tongue - lashing Vicaress (Fay Johnson) is at her best when warning the young Teresa about the wickedness of a MAN! (As if she knew anything about it!)

Teresa (Rosemary Waggner), serves to brighten the convent with her vivid, yet slightly wild tales and exciting accounts of the outside world and of her lover, all very novel to the nuns. Teresa had been left at the convent as a fondling and reared under the watchful eyes of the nuns, and yet had been given contact with the outside world which the inmates of the convent were denied.

The lover, about whom Teresa talks continually, is played by Gwen Ackiss, and is utterly delighted as well as completely overcome at the sight of the nunnery and all it stands for.

Then there is the mischievous Marcella (Carlotta Norfleet), who is always giggling at the wrong time and consequently serving punishment. Sister Joanna-of-the-Cross (Virginia M. Terrell) is overwhelmed with love for the foundling (Whom you will find on the poster of the bulletin board!) and becomes closer to the child than the rest of the sisters.

The only man allowed in the convent, the Doctor, (Doris Harper), finds in the Sisters a serenity which he realizes has become an integral part of his life, and coupled with the confidence the nuns place in him, finds a real place in the convent life.

There are other nuns who lend charm to the enchanting atmosphere of the cloister.

Ah, yes, at last the nuns, nuns. nuns of S. T. C. have come to life and may be seen by one and all as a conclusion of Founders Day. A glimpse at the characters is the best short peek at the play itself, and even at rehearsal when the only part of the costume used are the black and white headgears and veils for the nuns when hard benches and mismatched chairs furnish the parlor, when single curtains substitute for the portals, and during lighting experiments each part seems perfectly cast and destined to stay in the hearts of the audience for many weeks to come.

Question of the Week

Should we (the Student Body) be allowed to go to the movies on Sunday afternoon? Why?

Romella Sayre: Yes, but not during church hours. There's nothing to do on Sunday afternoon.

Helen Shaw: Definitely yes, because there's nothing to do Sunday afternoons.

Mary Moore McCorkle: The girls should be allowed to decide for themselves.

Gene Tucker: Since there's nothing to do but loaf on Sunday evenings, I think we should be allowed to go to the movies.

Ann Marie Umstead: Sunday afternoons are so long and lonesome—we need something to do!

Jane Waring Ruffin: I don't think we have any right to ask Dr. Jarman to let us go. If our parents expressed an unwillingness to let us do a thing, we certainly wouldn't keep asking. We should have that much respect.

Isabel Key: Should be allowed to go to Sunday movies if we were allowed to go at home. There's nothing else to do anyway. Besides, sometimes the best movies come on Sunday.

Hersey Hutt: Yes, because there is nothing else to do!

Mary Walton Rucker: Yes, it would keep us out of mischief.

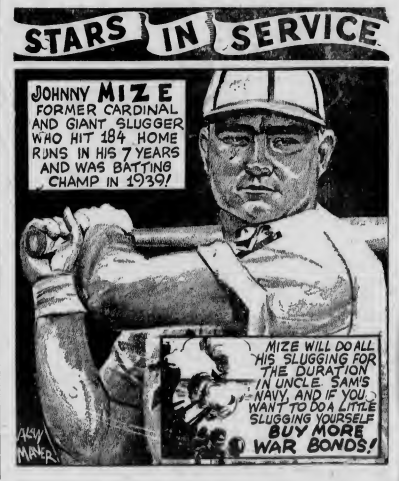
Rosalie Jones: There's no harm to it if you don't go at church time and movies and church time do not conflict.

Elizabeth McLean: No! It seems we must keep up appearances of some sort.

Frances Satterfield: I most certainly do think we should be allowed to go to Sunday movies!!!

Margie Willis: We miss many of the best movies by being "restricted." on Sunday.

Gin & Licky (Radogna & Holloway): Such a decision should be up to the individual—and this individual has always gone to the movies on Sunday at home.



Anna Price: I think it would eliminate the problem of what to do on Sunday. The movies are usually good.

Betty Watts: It doesn't make a "dif of bitterence" to me.

Blanche Steele: I just wish they would show the same movies on Monday.

Kitty Wright: Yes, if our parents give us permission from home we should be allowed to go on Sundays.

Anonymous: I haven't got time to answer. I'm on my way to the movies. (And this was on Sunday).

H20 Club Presents Program In College Pool at 8 Tonight

Demonstration Replaces Pageant

The H20 Club will present a Water Demonstration in the college pool tonight, Wednesday February 23, at 9 p. m. The entire program is in charge of Gloria Pollard, chairman, assisted by members of the H20 Club.

As an annual project of the swimming club a program is presented to the student body. In previous years a pageant composed the work of the club, but this season a new type of demonstration will be put on. The program will begin with the formation swim with Ruth Dugger, Shirley Pierce, Mildred Droste, Frances Lee, Phyllis Watts, and Kit Kearsley in the formation. Following, various types of demonstrated, elementary back stroke by Shirley Pierce, side stroke by Isabel Sampson, breast stroke by Gloria Pollard and Robin Lear in the back crawl. Also, the front crawl tandin with Mildred Droste and Shirley Pierce; the back crawl tander with Isabel Sampson and Virginia Naylor.

A formation swim with lighted candles will be done by Cab Overbey, Betty Little, Ebe Perry, Martha Droste, Robin Lear, Isabel Sampson, Betty Lee, Frances Lee, and Janet Salenburger. Adding spice to the program will be the attraction of a comic dress race by several members of the club and a balloon race.

Fancy diving will be followed with Robin Lear, Jean Smith, Cab Overbey diving. The first formation will keep in time with the 1944 patriotic theme, Twelve club members, Ruth Dugger, Mildred Droste, Shirley Pierce, Jean Smith, Gloria Pollard, Betty Little, Betty Lee, Frances Lee, Phyllis Watts, Elise Hume, Betty Lou Haywork, and Kit Kearsley will form the "flag formation", ending with a V for Victory and National Anthem.

Members of the student body and faculty are invited to attend the demonstration.

Scuttlebutt

Continued from Page 2

back on Olive's face that's been missing for four months.

Terrell's last stand or did you sit it out Sunday night waiting?

What is this sudden change in Jean Prosise? Could be sudden realization of the awarness of Bee-Bee . . . and love?

Alice, what's the big complication about Monday week? Two men staying at the same place in town! Ye gods! It's time to quit!

Nu has just announced by secret note from who knows who, that Ann Payne was a member last year. Since she did not return to school, her membership is now made known. Senior members will be revealed at sprin Cotillion. (Is this O. K., Nu?)

Ping Pong Tourney Will Be Terminated By End of Next Week

Final results of the annual ping pong tournament wil lbe terminated by the end of next week when the finals will be played. eSveral of the matches have been delayed this past week, but will be completed by the deadline date for the final match.

Phyllis Watts will play the semi-finals match, having defeated Nellie Smith in the third round. Lucille Jones and Shirley Pierce are scheduled to play and the winner of their match will vie Watts in the finals for ,first place winner. Red and White comprises the color of the remaining players which idicates a possibility of that color leading for points in the color cup contest.

Other match completed include: Ann Jones deefated Mary Agnes Sheffield and Cab Overbey lost to Shirley Pierce, who defeated Ann Jones, Mary Walker Watts won over Margaret Eliett and Lucille Jones won over Mary Ann Loving, whom Jones had defeated. Kitty Sue Bridgforth dfeaulted to Helen Wilson who lost to Betty Minitree. Sue Hundley bowed to sPhylli Watts, who defeated Minitree. Nellie Smith defeated Phe Whittle, Rebecca Tomlinson defeated Dot Overcash who lost to Nellie Smith in the third round.

Ruth Dugger, manager of ping pong will announce the final results of the matches as soon as the semi-finals are complete. A record of the matches has been posted on the A. A. bulletin boar.

Eight Swimming Practices Needed For Class Team

Class practices for the interclass swimming meet may be obtained during the recreational swimming period on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Other practices will be announced when the pool is opened for special prectices. The annual meet which will take place the last week in February will be divided into two parts, an advanced group of contestants, and an intermediate group.

Swimmers must have eight one-hour practices before being qualified for the meet. Following the meet practices will begin for the intercollegiate telegraphic meet which ends on March 15. A varsity from the group swimming in the meet will be selected to swim in the telegraphic. In previous years S. T. C. has rated high in the district in the national meet. Grace Lloyd, manager will announce the swimmers and time of the contest within the week.

Left Lead

Greetings! Have you donned your plaid shirt? Have you saddle-soaped your boots? Got that "Wunnerfuldayforearide" feeling? OK . . . we promised you a trip to the stables, so hang on to your crop and let's go!

If it's your first trip, and your first ride, you've all the more to look forward to. You'll meet Mr. Nolen, you'll be shown all the horses and then you'll very likely be put upon LINDY. This may surprise you, for you've probably read more about Lindy than any of the others. He kicks, yes, and he bucks and he's stubborn as a mule . . . and if you can get him to move any faster than a slow-minded snail, you'll do well. But he is the one for the beginner, and no one else will do as well as Lindy.

The horse that cails forth most comment from those who watch from the windows is PRINCESS. She's a little brown mare . . . gaited, and gentle, as a whole. She looks as though she should be an illustration for a children's book, so perfect is she, with her smooth coat and flowing mane and forelock. Her tiny feet twinkle around the ring in enviable rhythm, and when she stands, any artist-at-heart would give his soul to paint her as she is . . . She's a regal-looking mare, and a true Princess indeed.

From the minute hoof-prints left by her, we look again and gape at the size of those left by our old friend, MIDNIGHT. Tall and black, and with a coltish gleam in his eye, he arches his neck and tosses his head and prances like a giant kitten, and he's never sure one minute what will frighten him in the next. The general air of uncertainty an be walved at times; for he's sure to leap away from bicycles and baby-carriages, but other than these, his riders never know. His canter is super . . . smooth and exciting . . . and he knows it as well as you will. Midnight is not mean. He just hasn't grown up yet.

Newest and youngest of the flock is MacARTHUR. He's quite a guy! He's tall and spotted, and very pretty, and as many have remarked, he looks like an Indian pony. True . . . and we're only glad we needn't ride him bare-back. Mac is probably the least unconcerned with side attractions on a trail ride, but once he does shy, look out. His height is even greater when he's standing on his hind feet, and he's a long way from the ground when one falls off. But Mac is a gentleman . . . always glad to have you up and at it again.

Another tall one is FLICKA, and she's black, too. She's fast as the wind, and at a trot can pass any horse who's cantering around the ring. She's sleek and beautiful, and one of the favorites.

Among the smaller clan, we find NELLIE, WINNIE, and FLASH. Nellie and Flash are black, and Winnie is dark brown. Nellie's disposition is scarcely to her credit, and she's more obstinate than we care to admit, but once she's started she does all right. Flash O' Lightin' is going to be a jumper one of these days, but with his bad shoulder, he's just getting back into circulation and has a good way to go. Winnie is another beginner's beginner, and is of a gentle, lady-like nature most of the time.

And speaking of jumpers, last but not least we come to CINDY. She'c a jump back to the bigger class, too, for she bumps shoulders even with Mac, and she's a rusty beauty. Her coat is of a reddish brown, and she has an awfully nice, face. She'll stand patiently in the center of the ring without even being tied, and she loves attention. And she can clear four feet already! That's jumping, really . . . she hasn't been at it very long.

So there you they are . . . for better or for worse. We love 'em all, thought we may lose patience with all of them sometimes . . . and we hope you like them, too. And now that we've taken you on this imaginary ride, we find the hour's almost up . . . and we hope you'll come again . . . on an hon-est to goodness ride next time. Sign up for the Spring quarter and see what you've been missing.

So long . . . . .

PEGASUS

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Ping Pong

Back and forth across the net goes the ping pong ball. It really leads an exciting life, although to an onlooker, it seems quite monotonous, spending one's time bouncing across a net. Ping pong is a game of skill and endurance, and is fast becoming one of America's favorite indoor sports. The tournament here at school, has been completed, but those of you who like the game, will find the table available for use at any time.

Only practice makes perfect, and it isn't until you acquire the skill of knowing where you want to place the ball on the table and doing it, that you have really begun to enjoy the game. Of course you don't have to have the air of a professional to really get anything out of the game, but it is best to understand what you are doing to help you and your opponent enjoy it. Find a partner who likes to play or who wants to try, or you can even make it doubles, and let's try to sharpen up our game of ping pong.

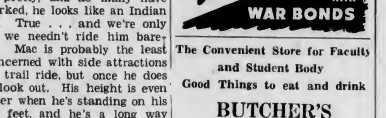
Swim Festival

In the near future we will be able to attend a swimming demonstration under the sponsorship of the H20 Club. As you can readily see, this club is devoted to water, and it loves it, just the way ducks do. If you should happen to glance in on a practice, you will find a pool full of graceful swimmers, going through their paces, under the watchful eye of Gloria Pollard who has been put in charge of this demonstration.

The program is being given for you girls, so that you may have a better understanding of the physical and entertaining possibilities of swimming. Different forms of strokes and dives will be shown, so you who have aquatic ideals, come down to the pool as soon as they set the date, and sit in one one of the best in swimming demonstrations.

Jump Ball

Yours truly is still mentioning basketball in the column, for it is the major sport in circulation now, and one of the most important things on the sports schedule for this year. The girls who have been out for varsity, sub-varsity, and lass teams have been working hard, and under the capable direc torship of Miss Olive Iler, they have tried their best.



There is nothing quite as exciting as a basketball game. The thrill when your team makes a goal, the hushed silence when someone has a free throw, the excitement you can't help but feel as a girl tries for a long shot, and the exultation you feel if she makes it, all these go to make up the audiences feeling toward the game. If you aren't exactly sure about the rules and the way the game is played, ask one of the girls who plays. They would love to tell you, and it is surprising how easy it is to understand, in just a few short moments.

This year, let's have large crowds out for the class games. Come down and support your colors, not only for loyalty, but because you will find it interesting to watch your classmates on the court, as they try for that two-goal. Good luck to both color teams. Until next week, adieu, sports fans.

Freshmen Report Monday for Tests

Freshmen who have not contemplated the American Red Cross beginners swimming test must report to the pool Monday afternoon, February 28, to complete the requirements. This does not include those freshmen already enrolled in a class or those who will enroll next quarter, but other freshmen who can complete the requirements may do so during this time.

All freshmen who must have instruction in swimming in the spring quarter will sign for a class of instruction on the bulletin board in the gym. A complete list of people who must meet this requirement will be posted.

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgilna
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

New Spring COTUME JEWELRY will add to any outfit
Martin the Jeweler

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest 5-10-25c Store
See our . . .
NEW PASTEL SHADES
2 PLY WOOL
For Spring Accessories

Visit us for BEST SODA FOUNTAIN SERVICE!
CHAPPELL'S

The State
YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER
IN FARMVILLE, VA.
Won.—Tues.—Wed.
Deanna Durbin
in
"HIS BUTLER'S SISTER"
A Captivating Musical

Spring Showing

Coats
Suits
Dresses
Sweaters
Skirts
Elevator Service
SECOND FLOOR
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Brighten Up Tired Wardrobe With Springy Frills and Plaids

February is a funny month. Clothes reach the impossible stage. It is too early to begin wearing spring clothes and everyone is getting tired of their winter ones. Magazines and fashion columns explode with ideas for changing what you have. Here are a few I gleaned from hither and yon.

Blouses and dickies from scarfs and kerchiefs require little but originality . . . Circles of white organdy and lace make fancy frou frous for a tired dark dress . . . or puritanical, plain white pique collars and cuffs for the tailored jersey . . . The fall jacket takes a new lease on life when the collar is removed and its cages are bound is a contrasting braid . . . or try a gay plaid lining for your extra jacket . . . newest suit idea is a plaid one. Make a skirt and bag of plaid or checked wool and make a removable collar for the camel's hair topcoat. P. S. Add another strip of plaid to the pocket lapels . . . for something spiffy concoct a satin vest for bolero for a winter wool or to wear with a dress suit . . . take out your needle and thread and embroider your initials with a bar of your favorite song on a white blouse . . . try an engaging half hat, literally conocted from ribbon and flowers or the crown of last winter's black felt . . . applique bright felt flowers on the shoulder of a winter frock . . . Find a pattern, and design for yourself one or two matching hat and bag sets, easy and inexpensive . . . put on lace shoulders and cap sleeves to an old Sunday special . . . dye your moccasins a different color . . . try rick rack on a beat up blouse in rows up the front . . . Anyway put the spring in your bones into your clothes.

Religious Emphasis

Continued from Page 1

Mr. Lake will lead the Cabinet in an evaluation discussion at which time the merits of Religions Emphasis Week will be discussed.

Concluding the week will be a special Prayers service Friday night led by Pat Garth.

Religious Emphasis Week started on the campus last Sunday night after dinner with special Prayers led by Sara Byrd Williams. Frances ee Hawthorne led the Cabinet Prayer Group on Monday at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Lake spoke to the student body for the first time Tuesday at 12 o'clock. He also spoke at Prayers Tuesday night, in chapel Wednesday morning, and led the Y open association meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the College Choir under the direction of Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department, are helping with the special music for the week.

Religious Emphasis Week is sponsored annually on the campus under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association. Louise Bell is chairman of the week's program assisted by Mary Anne Jarratt, and Anne Martin.

All State Meeting

Continued from Page 1

Carty, of Crewe, will be the third speaker in the same discussion. As a special feature in the conference, a member of the American Friends Service Committee, Miss Pat Sleezer, will speak on the Work Camps.

The present officers of the Conference are: President, Miss Julie Ann Staunton, Randolph Macon Woman's College, in Lynchburg; vice-president Miss Margaret Hudson, Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg; and Miss Pauline Walker, College of William and Mary; secretary, Miss Frances Currin, Radford State Teachers College; and treasurer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Farmville, S. T. C.

One of the social peaks at the conference will be the banquet and dance in the gym on Saturday night. Leap year theme will be carried out.

Mardi Gras Is Over But Memories Linger In Minds of All

What's the first thing you think when you hear "Mardi Gras"? MEN? I thought so. It was heaven to see those animals we call males waiting in throngs in the Rotunda for their masked dates, and woe unto those who didn't showup. You never knew whether to believe that sweet story he dreamed up as an excuse or not. Of course your man wouldn't stand you up purposely, or WOULD HE?

Regardless of whether the M. O. Y. L. (Man of your life, all you coy people) came or not, the dance went on. The stags kept things moving at a fast tempo. The orchestra was good, giving out with music both hot and sweet, so you looked, talked, or danced, perhaps all three at once.

The most vital and important question for three weeks before the dance had been "What are you going to wear?" Saturday night brought the results:

Little girls in big hoop skirts;

Bigger boys in white stuffed shirts;

Christmas package, skirts of grass;

Army boys with buttons brass;

Navy boys, too, don't forget . . .

And here and there a Tech cadet.

V.M.I., W. and L., and Other places

Bangle bracelets, freckled faces

Mysterious women; veiled, exciting!

Pinafores, bare feet, grins inviting;

Trainmen, newspapers, bathing suits, old style.

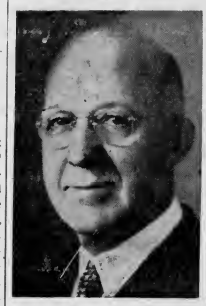
There we'll leave this matter for awhile.

The gym was attractively dressed in blue, yellow and white with a curtain of streamers at one end. Poised over the band stand canopy were the words "Mardi Gras", for all and sundry to observe. Special lighting effects for the queen and her court and the floor show added to the atmosphere.

The floor show itself included a solo by Esther Shevick, one by Pat Maddox, a special dance number by Joan Davis and Betsy Fox, and a medley of songs by a trio.

This mixture of color and gayety was fun, but when the queen and her court appeared, it was really beautiful. We couldn't decide whether our dates looked longest at the girls or the dresses, but it's a cinch it wasn't their escorts they raised their eyebrows at.

After intermission, the dance was really right. The mad rush of getting your date introduced to stags was over, and the stags mad rush to dance with your date began!



It's hard to believe that the thing you'd looked forward to for weeks has come and gone, but's it is emphatically true, but there's always another time. Did your dreams come true?

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

MEET ME . . .
—At—
SHANNON'S

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Methodist Leader

BISHOP PEELE

Conference Schedule

The schedule planned for the Methodist Conference here on February 25-27 by Gerald C. Speidal, of Richmond, dean of Conference:

Friday—Church
2:00 P. M.—Registration
4:30 P. M.—Japanese-American Relation ... Mary Mizosaki
5:15 P. M.—Lisle Fellowship—Mrs. DeWitt Baldwin
6:15 P. M.—Supper
7:00 P. M.—Worship—Harold Ehrensperger
7:30 P. M.—Address—Dr. C. T. Craig
8:30 P. M.—Campus Reports
9:15 P. M.—Recreation
10:00 P. M.—Adjournment
Saturday—Church
9:00 A. M.—Worship
9:30 A. M.—Address—Dr. Craig (Forum)
10:00 A. M.—Methodist Student Movement Hour.
11:00 A. M.—Commissions; Worship—Harold Ehrensperger
Summer Service — Edna Baldwin
Race Relations—Dr. McKinny
Christian Reconstruction—D. D. Holt
Christian Basis of World Order ... Dr. Walmsley
12:30 P. M.—Lunch
1:30 P. M.—Interracial Forum Dean McKinney, Rev. Allen
230 P. M.—Commisisons
3:45 P. M.—Interracial Panel Rabbi Leonard Kasle Father J .A. McCarty Rev. C. T. Craig
5:00 P. M.—Elections
5:30 P. M.—Adjournment
7:00 P. M.—Banquet
8:30 P. M.—Recreation—College gym
Sunday—Church
9:00 A. M.—Communion
9:30 A. M.—Worship
10:00 A. M.—Bishop's Crusade —Our part in it
11:00 A. M.—Worning Worship Bishop W. W. Peele
12:00 P. M.—Lunch
1:00 P. M.—Commission report
2:00 P. M.—Address—Dr. C. T. Craig
3:00 P. M.—Adjournment

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

"Thirty Days Hath September" But One Day In February Made Production A Big Success

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

If the truth be told, we'd like to sit right down now and write twelve separate and distinct features . . . one for each act of Freshman Production. As it is, we can only hope that this one will be worthy of the thing as a whole, and we know that's asking a lot.

Starting out with their class color well represented by the evergreen St. Patrick's Day, the March skit boasted real old Vaudeville thing. Grace Loyd made an excellent "H-A-doubleR i- Harrigan", and though Ann Kindon wasn't impersonating Sinatra this time, she still had her listeners swooning.

April carried on with all kinds of fools . . . an Educated Fool, a Loving fool, Looking, Crazy, and Dancing Fools . . . and ended up with a typical April Fool, bounding across the stage in a confusing manner, and planting itself firmly in the hearts of all.

With exams coming up in May, two weary freshmen fell asleep over anatomy preparation, and the skeleton of Bracie . . . and her inhuman anatomy jerked and wriggled and convulsed itself into their dreams to make the nightmare all the more agonizing.

June jumped swiftly to the night before graduation, and a fortune-teller foretold the fates of several seniors. Biggest laugh of all come when Mary Evelyn Pearsall (or a reasonable facsimilie thereof) came forth with two bolstrous children, and stated, "Allan, Jr., and Mary Evelyn, if you DON'T behave I'll just have to give you a call-down!"

And speaking of children, there was a Baby-Show in July. It was the scream of the evening, without a doubt, and despite rare competition from replicas of the Gold-Dust Twins, or something, and a long-legged youngster in blue shirts and a goo-ing infant with very fetching ways, the prize of Lolly-pops fittingly went to the charmingly chubby "Blossom McGillicutty".

August brought us back to school for a non-typical scene on the Roof where Summer-school was portrayed (again in a dream) as We The Students would like for it to be.

Unexpectedly, September did not play up the opening of school, but a day near a war-plant, with the women war-workers parking their offspring in a day nursery, and Rosie the Riverer intriguing the few 4-F's still hanging around the bus-stops.

But October did revert to Rat Week, and a few more impersonations.

November ran a close second to the Baby Show . . It was Thanksgiving Day, and the Army-Navy game was carried on between The He-men of Camp Pickett and the Hampden-Sydney Lilies. Results of the scrimmage were hysterical. Uniforms were realistic . . . and the players spare no punches.

December is a bit of a mystery . . . but everyone took a holiday, and left the audience wanting more.

More came in January . . . a beautiful scene, well accompanied by the charm and grace of the tune, "Winter Wonderland".

Truc to its "Holiday Inn" theme Washington's birthday made a perfect setting for the February fable, and the international theme came out in a variety of dances, we'l costumed and well done. Ann Kingdon did it again, and brought a catch in the throat of many a listener, as she sang "There'll Always be an England". And then the finale. Patriotism? Of course.

Who said "no more productions?" Here's a point for consideration. . . . when Productions can hold the interest and produce the laughs and bring forth the spirit and make one as production-conscious as that one did 'ast night, then congratulations to all the over-worked chairmen, especially to Jody Davis, and we say, On with the show!!

Towels and Washcloths
49c per pound
at
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

The Beauty of our Business Is Flowers
COLLINS FLORIST

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Below Left:—"TIGER LANE"—Flores de American rayon jersey. Junior sizes 9 to 15.....$17.95.
Above Left:—"WINDSORETTE"—Irelin* spun rayon. Junior sizes 9 to 15.....$14.95.
Above Right:—"DETACHABLE ANGEL"—Tiara rayon sheer. Junior sizes 9 to 15.....$19.95.
*A Crown Soap 'n Water Fabric.
BALDWIN'S

WELCOME, ALL ALUMNAE FOR FOUNDERS DAY

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS TO MAY QUEEN, COURT

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1944 | No. 19

Jean Arington To Reign as May Queen at Fete
Mildred Corvin Will Be Maid of Honor in Court

JEAN ARINGTON

MILDRED CORVIN

Five Seniors, Five Juniors, Three Sophs, Five Frosh Compose Court

Jean Arington, senior from Lynchburg, will reign as queen over the 1944 May Day celebration, as a result of the election by the student body last Wednesday night. Mildred Corvin, senior from Crewe was elected as maid of honor to reign with her.

Other seniors in the celebration as members of the court will be Frances Craddock, of Blackstone; Rosemary Elam, from Elam; Virginia Mae Elliet, of Crewe; Jane McFall, of Danville; and Mary Evelyn Pearsall, of Raonoke.

Junior representatives will be Ann Blair, Portsmouth; Betsy Caldwell, of Sweet Briar; Martha Higgins, of Portsmouth; Marilyn Johnson, of Roanoke; and Lucy Manson, of Virginia Beach. Sophomore Court members include Jane Crump and Frances Lee of Richmond; and Betty Wright, of Waynesboro. From the freshman class are Mary Cameron Butt, of Portsmouth; Ann Carter, of Buckingham; Joan Davis, of Lynchburg; Mary Agnes Sheffield, of Victoria; and Nancy Whitehead, of Hampton.

Jean Arington, the queen, is president of Gamma Psi, honorary fraternity in art, and is Dining Room Hostess this year. Mildred Corvin, maid of honor, is business manager of the Colonnade, chairman of Student Standards, and was chairman of Mardi Gras. Both girls were cited in this year's "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," and both are members of the Cotillion Club.

May Day is always the first Saturday in May, and this year falls on May 6. The place for the celebration has not yet been definitely decided.

The title of May Day is "Cinquo de Mayo", which is a national Mexican holiday. The entire program will be that of a Mexican

Continued on Page 3

Vagabonds Return For Pan-Hel Dance

March 25 Slated As Prom Date

Angelo Perry and Vagabonds will furnish the music for the spring pan-hellenic dance which will be held on March 25, Vivian Gwaltney and Catherine Trower, co-chairman of the dance, announced this week.

The committees for the dance are floor committee, Carol Diggs, chairman, Jane Smith, Pat Maddox, Elsie Thompson, Nancy Langhorne, Nancy Wilkinson, Alice Nichols, and Alice Green; ticket committee, Evelyn Faw, chairman, Gussie Himes, Barbara Dickinson, and Mary Parrish Vicellio; decorations committee, Eleanor Wade, chairman, Betty Overcash, and Margaret McIntyre; music committee, Lucille Cheatham, chairman, and Mary Lee Pittard.

Elementary Pupils Present Program

Elementary School pupils will present a musical program Wednesday, March 8, at 8:00 p. m. in the large auditorium.

All the children in Elementary grades at school have been asked to take part. The kindergarten and fifth grade will have "rhythms"; the first grade a band, and other group singing.

The program is sponsored by the A. C. E. assisted by the P.T.A. of the Elementary School. The main idea of childhood education is to make conditions better for children.

A silver offering will be taken at the door. The proceeds are to help in getting playground equipment and to help some child in a country at war.

Ruth Dugger Elected Senior Giftorian

At a meeting of the senior class last night, Ruth Dugger, of Denbigh, was elected class giftorian.

Also at this meeting, ten girls were elected to be "senior personalities. The Rotunda will feature one of these girls each week, starting nex week.

Alumnae Arrive Saturday for Founders Day; Dramatic Club Presents Spring Production

Pedigo To Speak; Reunions Slated

Events for the Founders Day program, commemorating the 60th anniversary of the college, will begin with the exercises in the auditorium at 12 o'clock noon this Saturday, March 4, Mrs. M. B. Coyner, alumnae secretary, announced this week.

Mrs. S. Gardner Waller, president of the Alumnae Association will preside at the morning program and introduce the speakers.

Featured speaker on the morning program will be Miss Phyllis Pedigo, of the American Red Cross who has done such outstanding work in Australia as to be recognized in Harper's Bazaar and in the Readers Digest.

Dr. F. B. Simkins will present to the Alumnae Association a bound copy of the results of his research concerning the portraits rung in the College library. The book contains the essential facts about the life of each of these individuals, and indicates the reason they were selected for the library.

During the morning program there will be presented the gifts from the various student organizations and alumna chapters, and from individuals.

The basketball game, formerly

Continued on Page 3

Marry, Says Alsop But Know Mind First And Know Him Well

To the would-be war bride, Dr. Guilema F. Alsop, physician for New York's Barnard College and co-author of a book on marriage, offers this advice: "Once assured in your own mind, marry him, the soldier, sailor, the man of the sky —before he goes to war."

Dr. Alsop thinks "a lot of nonsense is being written and said about marriages."

After years of association with girls at the school, she said in an interview she feels young women should not be too timid or cautious about marrying men they've known for a reasonable length of time.

"Young people today are romantic, idealistic and ready for any kind of devotion," she said. The heightened emotion that sweeps the youth of a nation in war time makes for permanence in marriage.

"The basis of all marriages is responsibility and trust. And the young woman of today is self-reliant, capable and determined. I have confidence in the young woman of today to make a success of marriage and motherhood.

"But I do not advocate the week -end marriage, which is the chief

Continued on Page 4

Weger Attains High Shorthand Speed

Passing the standard Gregg shorthand test at 140 words per minute, is Harriet Weger, freshman from Newport News, Mr. R. G. Hallisy, head of the department of Business Education Department announced this week.

Virginia Treakle, sophomore from Farmville and Margaret Sheffield, freshman from Suffolk, have passed the 120 word test, Mr. Hallisy revealed.

The Cradle Song Pictures Convent

On Saturday, March 4, 8:00 p. m., the Dramatic Club will present "The Cradle Song" under direction of Miss Leola Wheeler, as a scheduled part of the Founders' Day program.

As a Lyceum feature, there will be no admission for students or alumnae; tickets for others will be on sale at 55c. Tickets will go on reserve at the registrar's office, Thursday, March 2, from 9:00 until 2:00 and from 3:00 until 6:00 p. m. Students will be expected to go formal.

"The Cradle Song", written by Gregorio and Maria Martinez Sierra, is a two-act production, with an interlude in verse. It is concerned with Dominican Nuns in a convent, who are left with the responsibility of bringing up a baby girl who is left on their doorstep. The second act takes place eighteen years later when the baby has grown up, and is in love. The touching ways of her relationships with the nuns, and the little happenings in their everyday life, go to make up a story that has been successfully produced many times throughout the country.

Virginia Terrell, junior from Richmond, will portray Sister Joanna of the Cross. The part of Teresa will be played by Rosemarie Wagner, freshman, also from Richmond. Peggy T. Ross, sophomore from Onley, will take the part of the Prioress. A junior from Vinton, Fay Byrd Johnson, will portray the Vicaress, and Catherine Trower, junior from Eastville, will take the part of the Mistress of Novices.

Sister Marcella will be played by Carlotta Norfleet, sophomore from Virginia Beach; Sister Maria Jesus by Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice; Sister Sagrario by Mabbot Perkins, freshman from Petersburg; Sister Inez by Martha Frances Webb, freshman from

Continued on Page 3

Methodist Students Elect Price New Vice-President

Virginia Lee Price, sophomore, S. T. C., Farmville was elected a vice-president of the Virginia Methodist Student Movement at the Methodist Conference held here on February 25-27.

Pete Smith from the University of Virginia was elected president, and Christy Lou Miller from Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg and Fran Currin from S. T. C., Radford, are the other vice-presidents.

The other officers are Barbara Ann White from Madison College, Harrisonburg, secretary; Earl Ward from the University of Virginia, treasurer; and Dorothy Harris from Roanoke College, editor of the Scribbler.

Choral Club Gives Special Program

This morning's chapel featured a special program by the Choral Club.

An instrumental solo was given by Neil Scott, "The Scarf Dance" by Charmianade.

"Rose in the Bud" by Dorothy Foster was sung by Joy Kennon.

"Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes' was sung by the Quartette.

The entire club sang the selection Kipling's Recessional.

Elizabeth Ann Jordan led the devotionals.

Backstage Reports Reveal Real Difficulties In Producing Atmosphere of Cradle Song

Dominican Nuns To Be Costumed

Looking at the Spring play with a more serious attitude to suit its more serious mood, it's interesting to note that we still find the usual unusual effects in staging and costuming. Instead of modern costumes, or those of Olde England, we are impressed with the robes of the Dominican Nuns . . . their gray tones set off by the black veils of the older women, and the white one of the novices. We note the Rosaries that hang ankle length with the soft folds of the gray skirts, and the close-fitting caps that leave very little of the girls' faces showing. And we note the graceful solemnity with which the nuns cover their faces at the approach of the jovial doctor who attends the institution.

Staging a Convent is not a simple job, but the hard-working staging group has created an effective setting, indeed. Simple furniture stands out (or blends in) against the blue-gray background of the convent walls, and the arched doorways open onto a beautiful patio-style garden, which lends charm and color to the scene.

In the second act, as the Nuns sit about sewing on the young bride-to-be's wardrobe, life in the convent becomes concerned with straight tucks and petticoats; bed-Jackets and corset-bows, and human nature effervesces. In this act, too, comes some of the most effective of symbolic lighting, and we find comparison in the light and brilliancy of the outside world, where the young lover stands waiting, and the dim interior of the cloister with the Sisters seated therein.

Properties have proved more than interesting. Besides the usual line of doorbells and dinner bells, there are baskets upon baskets! Bird-cages (and birds) and babies and Bibles, and trunks and trousseaus and innumerable bits of fascinating paraphinalia are turned up by the efficient property group, and manipulated accordingly, and so life backstage, too, goes on and on.

This is just a preview. The miracles performed by the' stage crews in any production, and we include lighting among the most miraculous, are more than worthy of highest mention, but if you want to see the realness of it, you will have to come and look for yourself. That's Saturday night, in the big auditorium, and you'd better reserve a seat soon. With the rep this Dramatic Club has, and with Miss Wheeler in charge, and with all those extra "old girls" expected . . . well, we merely repeat . . . you'd better reserve a seat soon, and come and see for yourself!

Staging Convent Gives Problems

Farmville Spirit Lives To Recall Daughters For Founders Day, 1944

Founder's Day again, and we realize how vital a part of each girl's life at S. T. C. becomes in four years. Her concepts her outlook, her philosophy of life is affected by her college life, and years later she still feels a kinship to her Alma Mater.

This year eleven "old girls" are returning to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation from S. T. C. After fifty years they still feel the part that their chosen college has played in their lives. They still love her and wish to pay tribute.

They and all others, though they graduated five years ago or fifty, will find the school changed. They will find new buildings that speak of material growth. They will learn of added courses that have kept this school a modern one. They will thrill to new oranizations that are adding new meaning to the life here. They will look around and at first they will see the many differences, the changes, and though they will know these changes to be improvements, they will have a look of nostalgia in their eyes when they view their beloved school that may at first seem no longer theirs.

But they will look farther, these alumnae of whom our school is so proud. And they will find that though the girls now dress differently, they have the same spirit that was here then. They will hear joyous laughter; they will hear discontented murmurings; they will see groups of girls learning to live together; they will happen on some who are griping about lack of mail or disappointment in a D she has made on a test. They will hear girls singing, and though the songs be new, they will be hearing themselves when they were here.

They will view it all, and note at first the differences. But as they look behind these changes, they will find the thing they returned to enjoy; the same joy in living, the same quiet pride in girls' voices, the same youthful bickering, the same spirit of State Teachers College, Farmville.

They will find our president, Dr. Jarman, and all that he has put into the life here. And they will be satisfied and glad.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overeash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overeash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Spry, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Molling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

What Others Say.....

"The country club atmosphere of the schools reflects in part a general social trend. For some years—until the war intervened—there has been a certain tendency toward softness and weakness of character in American life. We have not yet adjusted our living to the increasing leisure of modern life. As our people at the higher economic levels have passed from the stage of struggling pioneers to that of comfortable livers off the fat of the land, they have tended to lose some of the characteristics which enabled them to conquer the wilderness and at the same time to live with reasonable happiness. As they have invented machines to carry their loads, they have been weakened through lack of exercise. Their children have had little discipline of real labor. We hear much about the destruction of the human race in war through turning against itself the mighty forces of nature. This is tragic, but far less dangerous in the long run than the insidious forces of internal decay." Dr. Herschel T. Manuel, professor of educational psychology at the University of Texas, says the United States has gone too far in the direction of play in its schools.—(ACP)

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

Proof of the size of history's greatest sustained aerial offensive is the fact that the reports of the losses disagree. But from all the reports, it has been fairly accurately estimated that 1800 tons of bombs were dropped by the combined Allied air force on 15 German aircraft centers, and 664 German planes were destroyed in the air. The Allied plane loss was not very great while the Nazis lost more planes than they lost during the week of the heaviest loss over Britain. The enemy will soon only have newly produced planes to use at this rate.

* * * *

The Russians continue to be very successful. The most spectacular triumph of the past week was the Reds pushing the Germans toward the Baltic states at the rate of 10 miles a day. The drive in the Nihozol area was reopened, and the German advance in Eastern Poland has been repelled also.

* * * *

Helsinki, capital of Finland, received its heaviest attack from Russian bombers last week. The raid has been reported to have lasted 10 hours. Panic broke out among the people, and the damage was very severe. It is believed more than 70 percent of the buildings of the city were damaged. Because of the raid and no indication of the Germans withdrawing troops from Finland, the Finns have little hope of negotiating a peace.

* * * *

The news from the southwest Pacific is very encouraging. Some gains have been made in Burma by the Allies. The United Powers are using Ngahyedank Pass again without trouble from the Japanese. Four Japanese ships were sunk off New Ireland near Kavieng, and Rabaul was also bombed heavily. The Japanese are anxiously waiting for the American naval forces to strike again. There is no prediction where this attack will be the next time, but here is good cause for the Japanese to worry Saipan, Tinian, and Guam have been bombed; Truk has been attacked; American naval attacks have been made at Paramushiro in Kuriles; all of the Eniwetok atoll, westernmost of the Marshalls, is under American control. The whereabouts of the Japanese fleet is still a mystery to the Allies as well as the defenders of the Japanese islands.

On High Street

Outside of the Black Hawk's numerous visits there has been little activity around High Street this week.

Of course, there was the little incident of Marilyn Bell leaving school a whole four days to go to see Everett. Oh, surely you remember him — the tall, dark, and handsome from the Air Base.

Fate has smiled again — this tihe upon Frances Wentzel with the unexpected arrival of John and a leave.

Ah! And who is this young man who is occupying a big part of Hannah Lee's life? And a very gay part at that!

Shirley Etheridge returned to school looking happy. Could be due to B. C.'s extended week end. There's just something about a Marine!

The whole trouble about 92 Main is there are just to many pictures for the provided space!

Gussie Himes and Virginia Via still find V. P. I. especially charming. If you don't believe it, ask them!

Another short, short story: Leaky Holloway and Gin Rodogna were separated for a few minutes the other day. Consequences: Gin fell and practically injured her leg for life.

It doesn't take Betty Cock long. One afternoon at the USO and the gal has a date. Whew!

At last Bus is here—all the way from Nebraska to see Alice. It must be rather serious, what with a diamond now on Alice's third finger left hand.

Richmond really drew the crowd this week end. Vivian and Fowler find it most convenient, and not too far from Camp Mackall. Libby and Pat likewise found the capital city of interest Sunday.

Betty Lou Hayward's long week end must have meant seeing Charles—the longer the better, eh Betty Lou?

Who is the man of mutual interest to Judy Connelly and Betty Jane Austin? Ah, Tech!

Letter to Editor:

Dear Editor:-

I wish to thank the members of the Faculty, Administration, Home Department, and each member of the Student Body for the interest shown in me while a patient in the hospital. The letters, cards, and flowers all helped to cheer me and make the time pass more quickly.

I have missed my association with S. T. C. and now that I am about recovered I expect to be back soon.

Sincerely,
Eva H. Warren

Ed. Note: Mr. Hallisy has kindly given us a letter that he wishes all the students to read. It is self-explanatory.

Dear Mr. Hallisy;

I want to thank you for the assistance you and your students rendered the War Finance Committee during the Fourth War Loan Drive. Your assistance played a very important part in the success of the campaign, and I will be glad if you will extend to those who helped you our thanks and appreciation.

We are going over the top with a little margin to spare. Again thanking you, and with best wishes I remain

Yours very truly,
O. H. WHITTEN
Chairman
War Finance Committee

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

The Baptist came out on top in the Sunday School contest with the Methodist second and the Presbyterians third. In the near future there will be a party given by the Methodist and Presbyterians in honor of the Baptist.

The Sing Committee is doing a good job of the class sings. They will be continued after Founder's Day.

We hope that Religious Emphasis Week meant as much to all of you as it did to some of us. Let's not forget the resolutions we made during the week.

We will study about prayer this week in prayers. There will be a special musical program tonight.

First Warm Days Lull Girls On Roof, Into Spring Fever

The subject is inevitable and universal. We have all types of literature pertaining to this season, from "I wandered lonely as a cloud . . ." to " 'Tis Spring . . . the bird is on the wing: But that's absurd: I thought the wing was on the bird".

On the campus we're especially susceptible to that ancient malady called Spring Fever. We readily convince ourselves that it's criminal to stay indoors on such-a-day-as-this, and to heck with Spanish verbs or what ab2 equals. We suddenly develop into walking enthusiasts, going all out for the active life of the open road. Cherished memories of our good ol' Scouting days are revived, and some among us become ambitious enough to set the alarms for a pre-breakfast hike. The mild weather is so conducive to exercise we promptly resolve to take tennis or softball . . . next quarter.

However, Spring Fever may have a radically different effect on us. We're prone to succumb to prolonged bench - sitting. Thus lulled by the atmosphere in general, we find even conversation an effort, and soon lapse into a pleasantly sub-conscious state of day-dreaming or snoozing. And so we grog peacefully through any terrors; no mail, too many tests, or an unattractive lunch. We're impervious to all; nothing can pierce our armor of unwareness.

Spring also marks the resumption of the Daily Upward Exodus. Religiously we crawl up those peculiar little ladders to our respective (rooves) roofs. Our chests expand, we breathe deeply, remark upon the exhilaration in the breeze, and feel very superior gazing out to the limits of Farmville. Such rituals are sufficiently exhausting to force us to spread our blankets immediately. Then we stretch out to bask in the sun and read a bit of required parallel. Presently comfort submerges us; our weary eyelids close; the cares of the world fade into oblivion. Well, after all, it's only beneficial that we make up for last night's bull session, isn't it?

V-12 Unit Sets Future Wives Good Example In Housekeeping

When the Hampden-Sydney "Tiger" had to go out of circulation, it left a gap that wasn't easy to fill, but a few of those gallants, with Printer's Ink running through their veins instead of blood, took hold despite the Navy, or with the help of it, and produced for posterity the "Fore 'N' Aft".

Truthfully speaking, the little paper is little more than a mimeographed bulletin, but 'tis quite typical and effective to supremity. It appears weekly (and faithfully) and does credit to its staff. Page one boasts local lead articles, with heads and sub-heads; the editorial page, complete with masthead, covers the editorials as well as opinionated bits of news, and requests of the students. The other two pages are devoted to sports, feature stories, "civilian chatter", and the usual nautical nonsense accredited to the super-snoops of the H-S Sea. (Pun intended!)

So you see, congratulations could be in order to those fellows who were fond enough of their journalistic abilities to be unwilling to let them die with the Tiger, and we heartily agree that they have done a record job with the Navy edition. Congratulations to the incoming staff, too, and "Here's to the future, not forgetting the past . . ."

But . . . Being S. T. C.'ers, or more rightly, being female, we too, have sources of information, and some of the things that have trickled through we've found to be of vastest interest. Comparisons? Scads of 'em! Take note, you WAVE-minded wimmin, and think again!

When we have room inspection, we think we're doing fine if the beds are made, the open floor-spaces swept and the dressers fairly tidy. When we get a room-warning, its' a simple note stating that the beds are unmade, or the room untidy as a whole. Often, in the worse cases, it simply gives the room number and says, "Warning" in quite an alarming manner. When we're sure of another inspection, we check up a little closer. Well, a room inspection slip in the Navy isn't quite so simple. It's a long (101-2 inches!) mimeographed sheet, and it starts out with the date and the room number. Then comes a broad statement . . . "This room has been inspected and the' general condition of it is: ()Smart, shipshape; ()Good; () Passable; or ()Untidy and unsatisfactory." From there we reach a list (4 1-2 inch) that is headed by the announcement, "Special details are checked for your guidance . . ." Can you stand it? All right . . ." adrif; Ashtray dirty; Blanket Articles unauthorized; Articles stowage, improper; Book stowage, improper; Bunk untidy; Clothing adrift; Deck not clean; Drawer or locker open; Furniture dusty; Laundry-bag out of place; Light burning; Locker stowage improper; Mirror dirty; No 'In charge of room' card; Pillow untidy; radio playing; Room dusty; Shoes dirty or adrift; Table in disorder; Toilet articles, disarranged; Towels, disarranged; Walls dirty; Waste basket not emptied; Windows dirty . . ." and then, just for good measure, there are several blanks to be filled in in case the above fails to cover the situation! Also, "The

Continued on Page 3

Jones Wins Ping - Pong Title Again For Five Points Gain for Red-White

Watts Wins Second Place In Tourney

Lucille Jones, sophomore from Staunton, Va., placed first in the annual ping-pong tournament for the second consecutive time. Undefeated by anyone in school, the Red and White player tallies five points toward the color cup for her colors.

The final match was played by Phyllis Watts and Lucille Jones and ended with Jones leading 21-19, 21-18, leaving Watts as second place winner in the contest. Games have been scheduled for the past four weeks. Seventeen players were entered in the tournament, managed by Ruth Dugger. Players included Ann Jones, Mary Agnes Sheffield, Cab Overby, Mary Ann Loving, Phyiss Watts, Shirley Pierce, Lucille Jones, Ophelia Whittle, Margaret Eilett, Betty Minetree, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Nellie Smith, Dot Overcash, Rebecca Tomlinson, Sue Sundley, Mary Walker Watts, and Helen Wilson.

Annually, the ping-pong tournament is played in the sports field and slated on the color cup points. Red and White has held the title for the past two years, Green and White for four years prior to that.

Lucille Jones, ping pong winner, and Bety Ellis.

Sophs Win First Basketball Game

Red and White sophomores defeated their sister class, the seniors in the first class basketball game of the season yesterday afternoon, February 29 in the gym. Other games scheduled this week include the freshmen and juniors which played this afternoon, March 1. On Thursday a double-header will be played between the sophomores versus the seniors and juniors versus freshmen. Results of these games will be given in next week's paper. Final games of all classes will be scheduled next week instead of Founders Day as previously announced.

Class captains have been selected for the four teams. Dottie Sue Simmons, senior from Fincastle, will head the senior team. Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville, will captain the junior team while Louise Blaine, Alton, will head the sophomore class squad. Margaret Lohr, freshman from Culpeper, will be captain of the freshman team.

V-12

Continued on Page 3

A. S. in charge of this room is directed to sign and return this form to the Executive Office after correcting defects," and the whole is signed by the Room Inspector. Whatta warning!

They're still men, though, and therefore not perfect. Our house council and campus leagues are easy on us, too . . . the boys get demerits, and they get 'em for any and everything. Just little things, of course . . . Room in disorder, improper performance of duty, eating on street. (The Bakery, the Bakery) . . . I'll never go there any more) not following paths, late to class, out of uniforms, no excuse from swimming, inattention to duty, failure to sign in from liberty, late to class, not shaved at inspection, lot to show (!!), late to formation, sleeping through muster, talking in ranks, absences unauthorized, etc., etc. Mere details—but still to be thought about.

And what tickles our funny-bone is that on excuse slips instructions read, "Civilian students turn excuses into Dean's office by 4:15 P. M. on date of issue. Navy students turn excuses into Executive Office by 1615 on date of issue." Nothing like discrimination.

But anyhow, gals, if you don't want your postwar husbands to be better at housekeeping than you are, take a tip from the V-12's and get in on the swing of things. Don't cut campus just 'cause we don't get demerits, and don't sleep through any vital formations. And give our room inspectors a break . . . sweep UNDER the bed next time, too!

Swim Meet Planned At Florida College

STC Delegates To Attend Tourney

March 15 has been set as the final date for the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming Meet which is an annual meet of all colleges in the United States. Farmville will be among the colleges represented in the southern region of which Florida State College for Women in Tallahassee, Florida, is hostess.

Colleges of the southern region entering include Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Va.; William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va.; H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College, New Orleans, La.; Duke University, Durham, N. C.; University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Fla., and Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va. Margaret L. Clements is faculty advisor and Martha Twitly, student manager from Florida State College for Women.

Included in the telegraphic meet are various distances times and compared with colleges who enter. As many events may be included as desired. Times are sent direct to the district headquarters and tallied with other colleges for a first, second and third place. Farmville will enter in the 40 yard crawl with Droste and Pollard trying out; 40 yard back crawl with Pollard and Sampson; 75 yard medley relay with Lee, breast stroke. Dugger, Crawl, and Pollard back. Also, Lee for the 40 yard breast; Pierce, Lee, Pollard and Dugger for the 100 yard free style. Others who wish to try out for any of the events may do so, and the fastest swimming time will be counted. Try-outs will be timed Wednesday, March 8 at 5:30 p. m.

Grace Lloyd is manager of the 1943-1944 National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming meet from S. T. C., anl will announce the winners as soon as word is received from the district.

Former Student Wins Scudder School Title

Kendall Nottingham, from Eastville, was recently selected most beautiful and best dressed student at Scudder School in New York. It was a result of the annual voting for the yearbook, and banquet was held in her honor in New York City.

Kendall was a members of this year's junior class before transferring to Scudder School.

Olive-Kist
Salted Nuts
Always Fresh—Cooked aDily
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

Left Lead

In the days of Shakespeare, King Richard shouted, "A horse . . . my Kingdom for a horse!" In the days of the early auto, sly pedestrians howled at troubled motorists, "Git a hoss!" And in the Spring a school-girl's fancy slightly turns to thoughts of trail . . . . and she heads for the stables with the song in her heart breaking forth into a whistle from her lips. Coatless, sweaterless, Shirt sleeves rolled up. Blue jeans preferable to scratchy woolen jodphurs. Just enough laziness in the air to make a canter worth your while . . . and a trot more to your taste. That's riding in the spring. Trees budding and birds everywhere. A little black dog bounding around the horses' heels. The once frozen streams burbling down through the woods. Grasses growing high and green. That's riding on the trail. Riding in the ring isn't poetic, for it involves mud and slippery footing. Squeezily, squashy, icky mud that sucks at the horses' hooves and makes for danger at a fast gait. Warm air and balmy breezes. And large c'asses scheduled for the Spring Quarter prove that the girls appreciate the season in a goodly way. More horses would be helpful, but the subject is doubtful.

Besides the new girls signed up to ride next quarter, the larger-than-ever list of those in town and from Camp Pickett who wish to hit the road should trend of thought. The horses stay busy, but perhaps it'll calm them down a bit. Frog must think MacArthur needs a bit of calming . . . he tore home to the stables with her the other day, and skidded around the corner on two feet . . . both on the same side. Mr. Nolen says she was still on, but had even given up hanging . . . and was just loosily draped over the horse's back.

Joyce felt the spring in Flicka's bones, too, in that jumping bout last Friday. Flicka was contrary and Joyce was persistant, so the audience enjoyed the super match of wits.

Another sign of Spring was the called meeting of the Riding Club last night, to start plans for the horse show, tentative date of which is May 21. Committees aren't definite yet, but things will no doubt be shaping up from now on. So keep your ears open and your eyes bright, and watch that lead.

Surprising sight of the week was Mac again . . . racking this time. It was Mary Sterrett up, and a pretty sight. From now on there'll be more diagonals and more leads and more figure eights . . . and more than we can guess of pairs and trick riding, and surprising gaits. You're always welcome at the ringside, so direct one of your daily walks over that way, and see what you can see. See you around, and stay on the bit.

PEGASUS

Girls that look the Best
Have Their Cleaning Done at
DeLuxe Cleaners

The Beauty of our Business Is Flowers
COLLINS FLORIST

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Last Wednesday night's swimming demonstration proved to be one of the successful sports events of the year. The girls in the H2O club did their best, and it proved worth their while, for all the work they had put in to it.

Different strokes in swimming, and dives were shown to the spectators. A candle-light proved most effective, and the audience almost held their breath as one for fear one of the candles would go out. The finale, in which the girls swam with American flags, was beautifully done. At the end a V for victory was made, and the Star-Spangled Banner was sung.

Congratulations to the H2O Club for one of the finest swimming demonstrations in years. Here's hoping this will become an annual event. Swimming should be one of the major sports in schools, and it is through the clubs work, that further interest is being made.

VOLLEYBALL

Captains Sarah Jeffries, Bobbie Scott, Lucille Jones and Heidi Lacy, senior, junior, sophomore, freshman respectively, have been elected to head this year's volleyball teams. Every Tuesday and Thursday nights since the new quarter started, has found the gym occupied by volleyball players. The seasonal games start this week, and here's luck to all concerned.

Some of you may not know exactly what volleyball is, so come on out and support your class when they play this week. There should be lots of pep and enthusiasm, and your team will appreciate those cheers on to victory. It sort of peps up their morale. And if you like the game, try out for next year's team. You may make it, and we promise lots of fun. Come on down and watch the games this time. It is easy to catch on, and next year when the season starts, be one of the first on the volleyball courts.

BASKETBALL

Last Tuesday the upperclassmen elected their captains for the class teams. Dottie Sue Simmons was elected from the seniors, and Eleanor Waid and Louise Blane from the junior and sophomore classes. The class games start this week, and the captains have been busy electing their teams.

As we go to press, the first game scheduled is the game between the seniors and sophomores which is to be Tuesday afternoon. We would like to give you the outcome of the game, but the ole crystal ball needs polishing, and we just haven't time to polish it now.

Best of luck to both the green and whites, and red and whites. All the teams are well-matched this season, so the games should provide plenty of excitement for the spectators.

FING PONG

Orchids to Lucille Jones this year's ping - pong champion for some very nice playing, and also congratulations to her opponents, and all participants in the tourney. They all played grand games, and this year's contest was one of the best.

But don't let the end of the tourney stop your interest in ping-pong. Practice up, you novices and beginners, and even those who helped make this tourney such a good one. There is always next year to look forward to, and we want to have many contestants.

Until next week yours truly closes with good luck to all the teams who are participating in events this week. So-long for awhile.

May Day

Continued from Page 1

celebration, to be carired out in various Mexican dances, and scenes, some of which wil be in pantomime.

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgilna
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

The Cradle Song

Continued from Page 1

tha Frances Webb, freshman and Sister Tornera by Helen Apperson, freshman from Newport New.

Doris Harper, freshman from Falls Church, will play the role of the doctor, and Gwen Ackiss, freshman from Newport News, has been cast as Antonio.

Betty Cock, sophomore from Hampton, has been selected as the countryman and Margaret Wilson, freshman from Washington, D. C., will portray the Poet, and Gene Dare Harrison, freshman from Richmond, is taking the part of the Monitor.

Sally Robertson is head of properties; Carol Diggs, staging; Mully Bugg, lighting; Lucille Lewis, make - up; and Frances Shackleford, costuming.

Pedigo To Speak

Continued from Page 1

scheduled for the afternoon has been cancelled and at that time alumnae returning for the Founders Day program will be conducted on tours of the campus.

The annual business meeting of the Alumnae Association will be held in the College Tea Room immediately following the luncheon.

At 6 p. m. a formal dinner will be served in the college dining hall. Special tables will be reserved for the reunion classes—1884, 1894, 1904, 1914, 1824, and 1934.

The program will be concluded at 8 p. m. with the presentation of the spring production of the Dramatic Club, "The Cradle Song."

KEEP ON
Backing the Attack
WITH WAR BONDS

New Spring COTUME JEWELRY
will add to any outfit
Martin the Jeweler

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
See our . . .
NEW PASTEL SHADES
2 PLY WOOL
For Spring Accessorics

We invite you to visit our second floor and see our display of—
Sweaters
3.49 TO 10.95
Skirts
3.98 TO 8.95
Blouses
1.50 TO 5.95
The House of Quality
Second Floor—Elevator Service
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Orchesis Gals Journey to W.C. To Attend Dance, Forum et al

By BETTY ELLIS

"North Carolina or bust" was our motto, as we set out on our journey last Thursday morning, and little did we know how true this was all going to be. Seats were definitely a priority, and some of us started the long bus trip standing up. And where were we going? Seven of us, Ruth Dugger, Edith Lovins, Shirley Cruiser, Erline Kimerling, Connie Oslin, and Miss Emiley Kauzlarich and I were to be representatives of Orchesis at a modern dance forum held at the Women's College, University of North Carolina, in Greensboro, N. C.

We arrived late Thursday afternoon tired and travel worn. Catching a taxi to my grandmother's where we planned to stay, we could finally take off our shoes and relax. Since nothing was scheduled for that night, we broke up, and four of us went out to see the bright lights, and take in a movie, while the other three visited the USO. Here we met some very entertaining psychologists from the B. T. C. camp and they immediately proceeded to psychoanalize us. After such a long evening we were definitely ready for bed.

Bright and early the next morning we left for the college, where we first registered and then attended the first forum of the day. Martha Hill, who was to be the main speaker, could not come because of bronchical pneumonia, so that sort of dampened our spirits. After all we were dancers, and had come for that purpose, rather than to seriously participate in the music, art and dramatic forums. But Norman Lloyd, chairman of the music department of Sarah Lawrence College and composer of music for modern dances, took the place of the missing celebrity for us. His music was light and gay, and the fundamentals we did were easy.

That afternoon we watched the Greensboro girls go through their modern dance techniques with some of the visiting colleges. They were directed by Mrs. Lois Rathburn Allison, dance director at W. C., and accompanied by Norman Lloyd at the piano. Friday night we played hookey from the music recital and again attended the movies.

Saturday morning in our blue club leotards we participated in the fundamentals in the W. C. gym. This took most of the morning, and was really the part we enjoyed most the whole week end. That afternoon we watched some movies of Martha Graham, and only wished they had showed them again and again. That night we attended a play given in the Aycock auditorium, in which the Greensboro dance group participated. Early to bed that night for us, for we had a day of bus riding to greet us the next morning.

On the way back, it was "Carry me back to ole Virginny" for us. We hated to see the week end over, but it was nice to get back to S. T. C. and to be able to tell all of our very eventful trip to Greensboro. We are already looking forward to next year's trip, so here's hoping it will be as successful.

Phi Zeta Sigmas Celebrate With Tea

Phi Zeta Sigma sorority celebrated its Founders' Day last Saturday with a banquet in the Tea Room and a tea Sunday afternoon in the Chapter room. Returning for the week end were several alumnae, including Sarah Seward, Sue Marshall.

Navy Chief Declares V-12 Continuance

Rear Adm. Randall Jacobs, chief of naval personnel, declared "the navy department has no plans to discontinue" its college training program.

Jacobs said his bureau "has recently received a number of inquiries concerning reports that the navy college program may be stopped."

In a statement, he declared:

"The U. S. Navy is still expanding. The urgent need for technically trained young officers continues, and the colleges and universities participating in the V-12 program are doing a splendid job of producing such officers. While changing wartime conditions may, from time to time, necessitate revision in the quotas for the program in order to conform with the needs of the service, the navy does not contemplate discontinuance of the program." —ACP

★ What You Buy With ★

WAR BONDS

Holy Stone

Cleanliness is the first order of every American soldier and sailor and the United States Government spends millions upon millions of dollars to keep our fighting men as clean and as healthy as circumstances will permit.

"Swab the deck!" cries out a petty officer and the men fall to with their "holy stone" equipment and in a short time everything is spick and span.

Buy War Bonds and more War Bonds and you know that you are sharing in the effort that will free the world from war lord domination.

U. S Treasury Department

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

MEET ME . . .

—At—

SHANNON'S

S. T. C. Students

Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—

COLUMBIA VICTOR

DECCA

Wilson's Firestone Store

311 West Third Street

Patronize

PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY

WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-

WORTH CANDIES

UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS

A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.

238 MAIN ST.

FOUNDERS DAY LEADERS

President . . . Featured Speaker . . .

MRS. S. GARDNER WALLER

MISS PHYLLIS PEDIGO

Secret Elevator Opening Provides Entrance For Disappearing Feline

It all started with the cat. Of course, we'd all been noticing the quantity of "man's best friends" who roamed the campus freely, but what really struck us so forcibly was the cat. There it lay sleeping peacefully, its curled tail and furry paws outlined the glass. There it lay asleep in the dining hall skylight. Now if you know anything about skylights at all, you'll know that they are supposedly airtight. We pondered—if the skylight is all sealed in "how in the world did the cat maneuver himself or herself into said skylight?" Always watching for a story we determined to determine where the cat's secret entrance was.

Well—that started a great deal of activity. First we climbed the stairs to the roof—and amid the puzzled gazes of February sunbathers searched the top of the skylight for any possible crack thru which such a hefty cat could have inserted itself. There was none. We dashed frantically from one side of the roof to the other. We pondered on the possibilities of a ghost cat, a phantom feline who dissolved into and out of thin air. We finally were reduced to such a state of wild murmurings that not only the people on the roof, but the total strangers we passed in the halls gave us queer glances and hurried on.

But, there was a cat. There was no doubt about that. He was a real cat, a live cat. Quite definitely a thoroughly catty cat. So we took our problem to Mrs. Shelton in the dining room. Has she seen the cat? Did she know where he came from?

Quite naturally she had seen the cat. She had seen him and wondered as we did how he got in—and out. "For", she said, "he comes and goes quite at will." But HOW?

And then she explained the mystery. There is an elevator shaft running from the kitchen to the basement—and somewhere along that shaft is a tunnel or opening through which the cat can quite easily walk unconcernedly to the sunny skylight. That's the solution given. We hate to be unbelievers, but we looked, and looked and looked; we retraced our steps to the elevator house on the roof. We went inside. And that is when it almost happened. Our editor, eager to find the facts (like all true reporters) leaned over the elevator shaft to look below, with her hand on the railing for support. The railing moved. It started downward on its pulleys. There was a scream, but just in time we caught her coattails and saved her from a horrible fall. And still we had not found the cat's private entrance. Undaunted, we pushed on—and on—and on. I repeat once more. We believe there is an entrance. We are hard headed people and give no credence to the phantom cat story, but we have yet to see the entrance, yet to view with our own eyes the secret passageway of the cat—God Bless Him.

The people who make it put a special "clinging agent," Chrystallyne, in the polish to make it hold well to the fingernail, and thus resist chipping longer. Try Dura-Gloss today.

LORR LABORATORIES • PATERSON, NEW JERSEY • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

After a series of week ends crammed with exciting things to do, there suddenly came one which was a complete blank—no parties, no dances, no productions, no nothing. This left Susie Farmville with two courses in view. Either she could settle down for a quiet week end at school, or she could leave for more glamourous places—to Tech for the Midwinter dances, to Richmond to shop, or just home to see the folks. Quite a few decided on the latter course, and blithely packed their bags and hopped on the trains or busses for points East, West, North and South.

Having a high time in Richmond were Betty Adams, Carolyn Bobbitt, Virginia Terrell, Joscelyn Gillum, Vivian Gwaltney, Mary Lib Harvey, Rosalie Jones, Anne Leatherbury, Shirley Mankin, Jane Crump, Betty Culbreth, Anne Curley, Anne Dickinson, Mildred Droste, Lucy Harvie, Ann Jacob, Elizabeth Ann Jordan, Betty Lee, Margaret Orange, Frances Satterfield, and Betty Wright, and Marilyn Bell.

At V. P. I. for Midwinters were: Ann Kingdon, Betty Bibb, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Judy Connelly, Elizabeth Crouch, Marcheta Cunningham, Gussie Himes, Elizabeth Meeks, Barbara Surface, and Virginia Via.

Painting the town of Roanoke red were: Cary Beard, B. J. Austin, Lou Baker, Beverley Bohon, Jean Button, Mary Anne Loving, Shirley Pierce, Mary Evelyn, Pearsall Anne Shaw, Anne Gregory, Eleanor Bisese, Sara Jeffreys, Sara Wayne France, and Pat Maddox.

High in the mountains of Lynchburg were Jean Arington, Kitty Maddox, Betsy Caldwell, Phe Whittle, Katherine Prebble, Lucy McKenry, Katherine Reynolds, and Nancy Watts. While in the good town of Petersburg were Louise Andrews, Leah Jordan, Frances Shackleford, Nellie Smith, Martha Wells, Margaret Ellett, Marilyn Johnson, Helen McGuire, Frances Strohecker, Betty Minetree, Jeanne Richardson, Frances Seward, Eleanor Wade, and Helen Wilson.

Journeying down to Greensboro, N. C., for the Modern Dance forum were Shirley Cruser, Earlene Kimmerling, Ruth Dugger, Connie Ozlin, Betty Ellis and Edith Lovins, while far out to the 'hills of West Virginia' went Alise Hume and Anne Shufflebarger who week-ended in Bluefield.

Marry, Says Alsop

Continued from Page 1

thing to be feared. The young woman who meets a soldier on Friday, marries him on Satufday and parts with him—perhaps for months—on Monday may have serious difficulties ahead.

She advised war brides not to date other men, but to devote leisure hours to war work or to entertaining soldiers and sailors at properly conducted community parties.

She also warns young war brides: "You will now always be judged as a member of a partnership, not as an isolated individual. You must reflect your husband's ideal as well as your own.

"You have become a part of the war. Win the war with him."—(ACP)

Sizes 10-16—$7.98

BALDWIN'S

CONGRATULATIONS TO MAJOR OFFICERS

The Rotunda

WE CHALLENGE YOU TO IMPROVE CHAPEL CONDUCT!

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1944 | No 20

Moore, Williams, Wilson, Higgins Win Elections

Boys All Wool and Yard Wide Pedigo Says of Her "Wolves"

"After two weeks in Washington, I am ready to go back to New Guinea where it is quiet and peaceful," Miss Phyllis Pedigo told us when we barged into the privacy of the dormitory room where she was staying, for an interview.

Before we talked to her we should have said that the task she had been credited with was impossible, but after sitting spellbound for nearly two hours listening to this trim Red Cross worker, we have changed our minds.

Work Not All Glamor

"I don't want anyone to get the idea that the work there is all glamour," the former S. T. C. student told us, "so I always tell them that my one accomplishment was building with my own hands, the most beautiful cesspool in all Australia.

"We had to do everything from beginning to end," she said. "We mixed and poured concrete, we set up a laundry in the backyard with a Dutch oven affair to heat the water; we had to make our refrigerator; we had to make the club into a home for the several thousand American boys there."

One of the chief problems in turning an abandoned house into such a club lay in the fact that such things as easy chairs and comfortable lounges just aren't known to the Australian people. They are an outdoor people, we were told, who consider a home just a place to come in out of the weather.

"And rationing was quite a factor, too", Miss Pedigo pointed out. "I made all my chair covers and draperies of bed ticking because that was all I could get."

Pride Was Orchid-Filled Patio

"But my pride and joy was the orchid-filled patio. The boys brought me all sorts and colors of orchids from the jungle and helped me fix it," and the Red Cross worker who was affectionately nicknamed "Merrylegs" by the boys she worked with smiled in remembrance.

"The people of Australia are

Continued on Page 4

Nelson, Brinkley, Stant Elected New Alumnae Officers

Mary Berkeley Nelson, Norfolk, was elected first vice-president of the Alumnae Association, and Virginia Brinkley was chosen second vice-president, at the business meeting following the luncheon in the Tea Room last Saturday, Founders Day. Mary Dorrin Stant, of Bristol, was selected as a director. The present setup of the Association is that a president and one director, and the two vice-presidents and the other directors are selected on alternate years, each to serve a term of two years.

Other officers who were selected last year, are Mrs S. Gardner Waller, president, and Carrie Sutherlin, director. Mrs. M. B. Coyner is the permanent executive secretary.

The Founders Day program began at noon with the exercises in the auditorium, with Mrs. Waller presiding. Dr. F. B. Simpkins presented to the Alumnae Association the result of his research on the 20 portraits hung in the College Library and at Longwood. Mrs. M. B. Coyner presented the reunion classes and Mrs. Waller awarded the cup for the largest percent attendance to the class of 1894. In the absence of Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, the students gifts were received by M. B. Coyner, Founders Day chairman.

Featured speaker of the pro-

Continued on Page 4

STC, Wacs, Waves, Nurses, Red Cross Pictures Displayed

Featured in the College Library for Founders Day were the alumnae of S. T. C. who are in the service. Forty letters were sent to the parents of these girls, and 34 responses were received. Displayed in the exhibition room of the library were 33 girls, in the various services. Of these 18 are in the Woman's Reserve of the Navy, four are in the Woman's Army Corps, four are in the Army Nurses Corps; six are working with the American Red Cross and one represents the Woman's Reserve of the Marine Corps.

WAVES in the display were Yeoman Rachel Clarke, Ensign Kathleen Ranson, Ensign Bess McGlothlin, Ensign Jane McGinnis Gregory, Ensign Gwen Hardy, Ensign Gwen Daniels, Ensign Winifred Wright, Ensign Jane Cabell Sanford, Ensign Elizabeth Morris, Ensign Grace Collins, Ensign Margaret Birdwell, Ensign Annie Shaw Watson, Ensign Elizabeth Tyree, Pharmacist's Mate Elizabeth Burke, Ensign Dot Lawrence, Pharmacist's Mate Margaret Stratton, Ensign Helen Roberts, and Pharmacist's Mate Catherine May.

Those in the Woman's Army Corps are Lt. Thelma Houpe, Cpl. Hilda Hubbard, Lt. Alice Grainger Remsburg and Captain Catherine Riddle (recently given a medical discharge).

The lone representative of the Marine Corps is Lt Doris Chesnut. Also in the Marine Corps is Opal Nelson, but her picture was not available for the display.

The six Red Cross workers included in the display are Phyllis Payne Pedigo, Marjorie Booten, Lucie Shields, Lena Mae Gardner Sammons, Frances Barksdale, and Harriette Vaiden.

Lt. Sara Buchanan, Lt. Frances Rucker, Lt. Margaret Rucker, and Lt. Elizabeth McIntosh were the Army nurses included in the display.

The library staff is preparing a list of the available information about these S. T. C. alumnae in the service for those faculty members who desire a copy.

Student Government

HARRIETTE MOORE

Athletic Association . . .

HELEN WILSON

Y. W. C. A. . . .

SARA BIRD WILLIAMS

House Council . . .

MARTHA HIGGINS

Handwriting Pupils Attain Proficiency, Display Notebooks

A marked improvement has been shown by the members of the Class of Handwriting since the beginning of this quarter, Miss Ottie Craddock of the Department of Business Education announced.

Because of the high standard of proficiency attained Betty Jane Ausin, Margaret Brace, Elizabeth Driscoll, Ann Gregory, Vera Lloyd, Virginia Thompson, Mattie Winston, and Ruby Wright have been excused from class one period during each week.

Papers showing a comparison of

Continued on Page 3

Elementary Pupils To Present Program In Auditorium at 8

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the large auditorium, a musical program will be presented by the Elementary School pupils. The program will be sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association of the Farmville Elementary School and the Farmville Chapter of the Association for Childhood Education.

The Rhythm Band by the first grade group will play "Moment Musical Schubert", "Little Minuet in G—Bach," and "Turkey in the Straw Fold Dance."

The fourth grade group will sing "The Keeper' and "De Capetown"

Continued on Page 4

Newly Elected Officers Assume Duties At Beginning of Spring Quarter

Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C.; Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock; Helen Wilson, Petersburg, and Martha Higgins, Portsmouth, were selected presidents of Student Government, Y. W. C. A., the Athletic Association, and the House Council, respectively, as a result of the elections held on the halls yesterday.

Harriette Moore has served as secretary of the Student Council this year and has been on government for two years. She acted as Managing editor on the 1944 Virginian, is secretary of the H2O Club, and a member of Kappa Delta Pi and Alpha Kappa Gamma. As a freshman she served as class president.

Sara Bird Williams has been treasurer of the Y this year and worked in the same capacity last year. She served as Photographic editor on this year's Virginian, and is a member of Gamma Psi.

Helen Wilson has been treasurer of the Athletic Association this year. She served on the A.A. Council last year as manager of hockey and was listed on the honorary varsity hockey and basketball teams. In addition she plays on the class hockey, basketball, and volleyball team.

Martha Higgins has served as secretary of the House Council this year and has been on the Council for two years in the capacity of hall president. As a freshman she took part in one of the Dramatic Club productions, and served on the Freshman Commission. Martha was on May Court last year and was recently elected to the 1944 May Court.

All four of the girls are juniors and will assume their new duties in the spring quarter. In addition to their respective duties as president of the Y. W. C. A., the House Council, and the Athletic Association, Sara Bird, Martha and Helen will serve as ex-officio members of the Student Council.

Sheffield, Grizard, Cock, Ellis Assume Editorial Duties

Business Managers Are Brooks, Turley, Rucker, Pullen

Jane Waring Ruffin, recently selected editor of the Rotunda for next year has announced her staff, which will take over with the first issue in April. Working with her as managing editor and business manager are Virginia Treakle and Mary Sterrett, respectively.

Associate editors for next year include Margaret Sheffeld, freshman from Suffolk, who will replace Virginia Treakle as news editor; Betty Deuel Cock, sophomore from Hampton who will continue as feature editor; Betty Ellis, sophomore from Coral Gables, Florida, who will replace Shirley Pierce as sports editor, and Evelyn Grizzard, sophomore from Drewryville who will take over as social editor.

Margaret has been working on the news staff this year, Betty Cock has been on the feature staff for two years, Betty Ellis has served on the sports staff this year writing the weekly sports column, and Evelyn Grizzard is new to the staff.

Replacing Mary Sterrett as advertising manager will be Dorothy Turley, freshman from Wytheville, who has been an advertising assistant this year. Ruth Brooks will continue as circulation manager. Mary Walton Rucker, junior from Lynchburg and Virginia T. Pullen, junior from Danville, will serve as chief typists for next year.

The place of photographic manager has not yet been filled.

Founders Day Fund Amounts To $1,060.50

Funds received for Founders Day amounted to $1,060.50 including the $500 which increased the different organizations loan funds.

The faculty, administration and Y. W. C. A. gave $50, and the alumnae contributed $77.50. The Athletic Association gave $111.50 for improvements on the cabin at Longwood. The college publications contributed $22.50; The Rotunda $10; The Virginian $10 and the Colonnade $2.50.

The organizations that contributed were Choir, $10; Choral Club, $10; Orchestra $1; Farmville Woman's Club, $20; and Orchesis $5. Pan Hellenic Association gave $10; Cotillion Club $10; Granddaughters Club, $15; The Dramatic Club, $25; and the Association of Childhood Education contributed $3.

From the senior class $25 was received. The sophomore class gave $25 and the freshman class contributed $50.

Societies and sororities who made contributions were Kappa Delta Pi, $2.50; Alpha Phi Sigma, $5; Pi Gamma Mu, $25; Beore Eli Thorn, $5; Gamma Psi $2.50; Sigma Pi Rho, $2.50; Pi Kappa Sigma $10; Alpha Sigma Alpha, $15; Alpha Sigma Tau, $10; Mu Omega, $5; and Sigma Sigma Sigma, $5.

Increasing their loan funds were Gamma Theta by $100; Dramatic Club, $200; Alpha Sigma Tau, $100, and Mu Omega $100.

Poetry Contest Ends Midnight March 10

Midnight March 10 is the deadline for all entries for the Colonnade Poetry Contest, Lois Aiphin, poetry editor, has announced.

All S. T. C. students may enter this contest, and there are no specification as to the types of poetry entered.

Prizes for the contest will be $5, $3, and $1 in war stamps.

Naval Unit At H-SC Begins New Session

One hundred men have been added to the Navy V-12 at Hampden - Sydney this session, Lt. George Howe, commanding officer, revealed to the press this week. The addition of the new men to replace those who were transferred and who graduated on February 24 brings the total number at Hampden-Sydney, including civilians, to 240.

The new men, some of whom came directly from civilian life to the V-12 unit, but most of whom came from other branches of the Navy, including the Construction Battalion, arrived at their station on March 1, and classes were resumed Monday morning, March 6. The set-up at Hampden-Sydney remains the same, Lt. Howe reported.

Longwell To Speak In Chapel Friday

Speaking in chapel on Friday will be Miss Elizabeth Longwell, supervisor of Week Day Religious Education of the Virginia Council of Religious Education.

Miss Longwell will speak to student body on the possibilities in the field of week day religious education. She will be on the campus for conferences with girls who are interested in going into this field of work.

Global Cartography Assumes New Place In Minds, Rooms, Lives of STC Students

Intriguing Maps Decorate Walls

To paraphrase Robert Frost "Something there is that doesn't love a map." We've just been making an extensive investigation and find that whereas maps were formerly those things you got in filling stations to find which highway led to Stop-Gap Hollow, they have now assumed a more important position in world affairs. They are very much in evidence even among those students (presumably) who don't take geography under Miss Moran or Miss Waters. They are pasted and taped or stuck in some form or another to the walls in which capacity they serve a dual purpose — add to decoration and knowledge, and cover that spot on the wall which used to be such a blight.

Our suitemate has a map which is the envy and delight of all who look upon it. It is the United States in many colors and even towns as small as Farmville are clearly marked. Many loving hands have found the spot in California, Oklahoma, Texas, Illinois where the b. f. is at present stationed. Dark circles accentuate these attractive places, and wistful sighs accompany the location of the far away ones.

The world map from the Richmond paper with a Yank in each corner, one a jungle warrior, the other clad for artic duty, adorns many walls. There are big maps and little maps; world maps and maps of little far off islands nobody ever heard of—that is nobody ever heard of them until Johnny landed on them.

Some fortunate people possess

Geography Classes Inspire Interest globes which can be remade after the war with new pieces when the names of the countries and who owns them are decided upon.

We all rushed to these same maps when Miss Pedigo spoke of her experiences in New Guinea, when we learned of invasions of the Admiralty Islands, when we follow the fateful battle on the Anzio beachhead.

These far-off places do not seem quite real. They are in another world which brought nearer by the map—the lines drawn on paper—some show the rivers, mountains, plains. We can imagine better with their aid. A better understanding of this other world will bring us a truer conception and realization of the War. So on and up with the maps.

Every Student Challenged To Improve Chapel Conduct

Numerous remarks have been made, several "letters to the editor" have been written, classes have taken up the discussion. The administration, the faculty, the students all have hands up in horror — yet chapel misbehavior grows worse and worse.

There must be some reason for college girls showing irreverence and disrespect. There just must be some explanation of the turmoil that marks chapel and lyceum programs. Indeed, the chapel programs could be much improved. But even so, the girls themselves must go part of the way. Possibly their talking, reading, rustling, and refusal to march out is a bad habit caused by laziness and lack of control.

But whatever it is, it will have to be stopped. There is no question of that. The reputation of the school is suffering. The girls themselves are preparing themselves to reap a true "random harvest." Perhaps if each girl were to take care of her own behavior the situation could be remedied right now. That is really all it would amount to, it only everyone would cooperate. How about taking that as a challenge?

Politics, Sororities Make Poor Combination in School

There are many words in our language that, though they have a meaning of good—have been so used to speak of their ill meaning until we think of them with an unpleasant sensation.

Politics to us is bad, because of its use in the world, in our country, and here in our own school. Yet politics can be good.

Sororities, too, are made for the good of those in them. Yet some sorority members have allowed themselves to grow so small that their every word, thought and action is determined by their sorority. For this reason, politics and sorority have become almost synonymous to some girls.

Even though major elections are over, minor elections, wherein sorority politics so often hold great sway, come tomorrow. These, as girls, who will vote for the candidate from their sorority without even looking to see who opposed her, or to consider the relative merits of the two girls. There are some who refuse to vote for the girl they honestly believe to be the best choice, mainly because she is a member of the wrong sorority. There are those among us whose entire purpose in all elections is to get their sorority sisters in the prominent positions.

As we said, politics can be good, sororities should be good, student elects run on a good theory, there is good all around; but the pettiness of some minds can be so low as to cause these goods to be personated with bad. If we are to have sororities, it may be a good idea to divorce them from politics altogether—sometimes the combination of goods can produce a bad.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Berulee Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 1944

What Others Say - - - - -

"Teachers should start immediately to teach children there will be no peace in the world if they retain hate for Japs, Germans or anybody. It is equally important they learn note to hate minority groups in their own country," Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education of University of Chicago, urges caution in wartime use of the doctrine of hate.—(ACP)

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The attacks on aircraft centers of Germany have been heavy this past week. There is little doubt that the Allies do not intend for Germany to have any air strength when the second front is opened. Lately when the assaults have been made, few enemy fighters were seen, but the flak was unusually heavy. The first American raid ever made on Berlin was staged this past week. It was a daylight raid by Flying Fortresses.

* * * *

Despite heavy resistance and shellfire by Nazi infantry, the American troops successfully counterattacked the Germans below Cisterna in Italy, and regained their former positions. Other operations were also won by the Allies. In the Cassino area, the rain limited the fighting both on the ground and in the air. The unloading of supplies by the Allies at Anzio continued despite German air attacks and heavy artillery shelling.

* * * *

It is reported that the Yugoslav Partisan troops are engaging as many Nazi troops as the Allies are in Italy. Tito, with his made-over fishing fleet, is making havoc with the German communications off the Damation coast. He is also believed to be tipping off the Allied sea and air forces concerning German convoy movements.

* * * *

With only a few days left in winter, the Russians started a new drive in the Ukraine area, and the Germans suffered a defeat so strong that they may be forced to withdraw from all of Southern Russian. The Red army is now fighting along the Odessa-Warsaw railroad, the Nazi lifeline to the Dnieper bend.

* * * * *

The Chinese in Burma have forced their way into the outskirts of Maighivan, chief village of the Hukwang Valley. The capturing of this village would open the way for a drive toward Myitkyina, and important key to the new Lido Highway, which American engineers are building across Burma to take the place of the Burma Road.

* * * *

Allied bombers have been again attacking Rabaul, an enemy base in Northeastern New Britain, and Wewak, an enemy base on the northeastern coast of New Guinea. The Japanese attempted to recapture the Momota airdrome on Los Negros Island in the Admiralty group, but the attack was useless and bloody for the Japanese.

HIGH AND LOW

The high and low of it this week centers around Founders Day week-end when everybody (almost) was here for the occasion. The main exceptions were Sally Robertson who took her parts off to Georgia, and Ruth Rowe who went all the way to Alabama. What's the attraction "way down South" gals? Of course, it is perfectly obvious why Minnie Moore went to Boston—her husband was there!

Men about campus: Frances Lee's Frank, Vivian's Fowler, Gin T's Jack, and E. Bank's Bill.

Lois Lloyd Sheppard and Mary Elizabeth Grizzard appeared this week-end with corsages. The occasion? Well, you name it.

It seemed almost like old times to see Mangy Fox (Beebeau, Neale Oliver, with Higgins and Betsy and Pogney again.

'Twas last Thursday night that the fleet came in. We came out from dinner to find the Rotunda lined with the new "gobs" from Hampden-Sydney. And here let's throw a few brickbats to those girls who try to avoid the regulations by taking their dates to the Library on week nights.

After a week of being mixed up, Ellen Moore and David Noel finally got together. It was coming and going there for a while with the first one and then the other out of town.

The pick of the new men at H-SC seems to be the clarinet player. We've already heard of him, and we're waiting for him to "strut his stuff."

We spoke about fast workers at USO last week. Well, Ann Darnell isn't doing too bad. Or has the faithful Bob joined the Navy?

Jane Ford has the picture and the letter, but what happened to man himself? "Curley" just didn't show up this week-end—but that was all right, for she had such an attractive date Saturday night. His name was Iitch.

Letter to Editor:

Dear Editor:

To a husband and wife fourteen years removed from any contact with student functions, a return to a college dance is necessarily approached rather warily. Such a mood is easily understood if one considers the changes that have taken place in this world of ours. It is with this in mind that we wish to let you know of our appreciation and enjoyment of the Mardi Gras held February 19.

The atmosphere was one of subdued gaiety, not a bit forced, with poise and dignity an outstanding feature. The many dresses of silk and satin and the billowing hoop skirts were worn and handled gleefully.

In the procession of the queen and her attendants with their escorts, we read the fusion of pageantry and present-day America at war. Altogether it was a lovely, enjoyable, and reassuring evening.

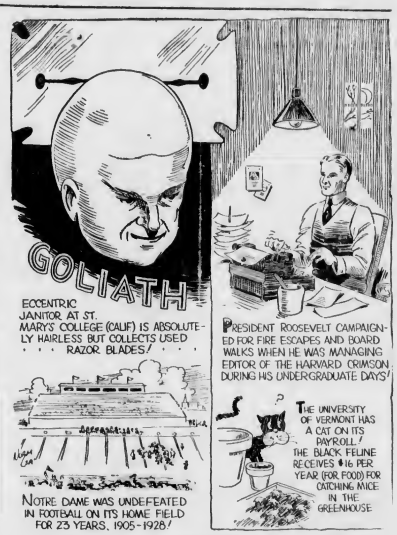
Very truly yours,
Anne P. Grazian
(Special Student)

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

By SARAH LEE EAST

The Sunday School party (climax of the Sunday School contest) was held last night at 10 o'clock in the Student Lounge. The Presbyterians and Methodists entertained the Baptists, who were the winners of the contest which was sponsored by the Church Cooperative during February.



Have you noticed the display furnished by the Library committee in the Browsing Room of the Library on the theme of the month, 'Faith In the Right Triumphant!"

"Y" Commitetes will meet tonight at 10 o'clock. It'll be the last meeting of the quarter, and so all freshmen and old girls be sure to attend. The membership committee is to commended for its fine work in helping with Founders Day.

Don't forget to come to the Art Lab to help roll bandages Thursday night.

The theme of prayers this week will be the "Physical Appearance of Christ". We will study his face,

Continued on Page 3

Question of the Week

What would you like to see less of around here?

Evelyn Parry: Week-end migrations when I can't go.

Shirley Cruser: Rain, when we don't need it.

Hannah Lee Crawford: Griping. That goes for me too. Otherwise I think the place is pretty sharp.

Anne Mingea: French assignments.

Anne Jones: Sweet potatoes.

Betty Jones: Noise during so-called study hour.

Joan Davis: Classes.

Anne Masloff. Superfluous chapels and inconsideration by the freshmen when we leave the auditorium.

Rosemary Elam: Term papers to write in the wee hours of the morning.

Agnes Stokes: Hot dogs and cabbage.

Gloria Pollard: Quibble about, "What I have to do."

Isabel Simpson: Quiet.

What would you like to see more of?

Betsy Fox: Men!

Grace Lloyd: Free periods.

Mary Evelyn Pearsall: Cooperation.

Anne Summers: Good food, so I wouldn't have to go home so often.

Sara Lee East: Sunny days to go back on the roof.

Louise Bell: Holidays closer together.

Jane Knapton: Meals like those we had last week-end.

Lucy Messick: Dances and social life.

Lucy Bowling: Time to sleep.

Sara Bird Williams: Spring weather.

Vivian Gwaltney: Founders days.

Lucy Harvie: Time for fun.

Mary Anne Jarratt: Speakers like Miss Pedigo.

Nancy Wilkerson: Good movies.

Pogue Massey: Credit—I'm always broke.

Dining Hall Dressed Up For Alumnae; "Class of '94" Had Gaiest Table There

Well, the dining room, yes, our own S. T. C. dining hall, presented minor chaos the past week-end. Some people even came to breakfast who hadn't been there since rat week. It was worth the trouble though, for S. T. C. strutted it's self (chickens do strut, don't they?) along the food line.

Almost all the students wore white Saturday morning, and everyone was astounded to see everyone else there. At lunch most of the alumnae ate in the 134 room, so there were no mothers or last year's English teachers to introduce to your table mates. However, there were two celebrities present, but not accounted for. Well, anyway, two men. We haven't yet figured out how two faculty members got so completely lost, but they did. They got a gay and noisy welcome and every table wanted the honor of their dining with them. We would have actually come to blows about it, could it have done any good, but Miss Mary settled the issue, and quickly and ended our dreams.

The banquet was superb from the cherry grapefruit to the two layer cake. The dinner music was extra nice, and really gave the place an unknown atmosphere, which we rather liked. And after such a feast no one could write home and say "Send me food, but quick." The atmosphere of plenty gaiety, plenty music, and plenty food blended to make all of us plenty happy the formal dress, the flowers on the tables, the gentle strains of "The Merry Widow Waltz" all went to make it a most

Continued on Page 3

What We Remember About - - - - -

Founders Day . . . elderly "State Normal" girls . . . receptions at the bus station . . . antiquated but enthusiastic reunions . . . the Georgia Peach . . . new neighbors in the dining hall . . . "Food around the Corner" . . . Miss Pedigo . . . the "fuzzy-wuzzy angels" . . . all the good meals . . . ice cream AND cake! . . . Company . . . Seniors moving here and there . . . the Granddaughters' efficiency . . . the Class of 1894 . . . red carnations . . . "The Cradle Song" . . . Dr. Jarman's absence . . . the weather . . . two clean sheets . . . familiar faces and forgotten names . . . the orchestra's renditions of our Alma Mater . . . the one end of the Dining hall that got painted . . . the enlarged congregations in church on Sundoy . . . the quietness in Junior Building . . . the girls who didn't go home for the week-end . . . the general rush hither and yon . . . class meetings . . . other meetings . . . and more meetings . . . people everywhere . . . a gradual diminishing of these people . . . Seniors moving back to their suites, room by room . . . goodbyes until next year . . . and now, the aftermaths: monontony of class routine . . . stew . . . an uncrowded dining hall . . . red carnations . . . and programs lying about . . . Founders ay, 1944.

Loyd Announces March 15 Date For Timing of Swimmers For Meet

All Colleges Report Final Time Result To Florida College

Grace Loyd, manager of the 1943-44 National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming meet, has announced that March 15 has been set as the final date for timing of swimmers for the meet. Try-outs will be tonight, Wednesday, March 8, at 9 p. m. in the pool and those with the best time record will be chosen to swim for the final record which is sent to the regional headquarters which is Florida State College for Women in Tallahassee, Florida.

The Telegraphic meet is an annual recording of the fastest swimming times in the various colleges in the United States. Farmville is located in the southern region and will compete with time sent in from Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia; William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia; H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College, New Orleans, La.; Duke University, Durham,. N. C.; University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Florida; and Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va.

S. T. C. will race for records in the 40 yard crawl, 40 yard back crawl, 75 yard medly relay; 40 yard breast; and any other events which can be qualified for. Any swimmer is eligible to try-out for any of the events. Speed is the requirement for all entries.

VOLLEYBALL CAPTAINS

Red, White Sophs Win Championship In Volley Ball

Red and white sophomores are the new champions in volley ball. They defeated the freshmen Tuesday night 16-12, 12-12, 17-15, while the juniors defeated the seniors 18-11, 16-10. Last week the freshmen and seniors tied with a score of 13-13, 15-13, 14-15. The sophomores defeated the juniors 28-8, 24-8.

This year's captains were senior, Sarah Jeffries; junior, Bobbie Scott; sophomore, Lucille Jones; and freshmen, Heidi Lacy.

Varsity Basketball Team Chosen Tues.

15 Girls Elected For Good Playing

Honorary varsity basketball team for this year consists of—guards, Patsy Connelly, Margaret Lohr, Margaret Orange, Eleanor Wade, Billie Waid; substitutes, Catherine Parr and Helen Wilson. Forwards are Lillian Elliott, Bess Hill, Ann Hauser, Betty Parrish, Dottie Sue Simmons, Rebecca Tomlinson; substitutes, Louise Blane, and Mary Virginia Watts.

These girls were elected for outstanding playing on the basketball court this season. Because of the war they cannot take trips this year, but otherwise they would be representatives of S. T. C. on basketball courts in other colleges.

Dining Hall

Continued from Page 2

successful party—in fact, we all put on our company manners for the Founders, and not one single soul threw any water during the whole meal.

The gaiest of the tables, however, was the one that seated the class of '94. And we wager they had more fun than anybody!

Even Sunday morning breakfast was amazing. At first it seemed that you could have seated the entire crowd at ten tables. but soon enough straggled in so they would have probably filled eleven. Those extra sleeping hours are really grasped at, even by the returning alumnae. A whole orange a piece didn't even entice most of them.

The hostesses struggled with baked chicken Sunday at dinner while the alumnae struggled to tell all of their old and new friends goobye, till next Founders Day.

Indeed, the dining room is where you meet and eat, and the whole spirit of the day surges in there. It it's a cold rainy day during exams, the dining hall is strangely subdued and gloomy, but it brightens with the sun, and the whole staff went over the top in doing their part on Founders Day.

Yes, sir (or ma'am!) when we reach the point of being classed as "Founders" 'twill be worth the effort to come back just to see the dining room at its height!

Horse Show Set For Sat., May 21

Sterrett, Cock Elected Officers

Pegasus Riding Club has set the date for its annual horseshow, which is to be May 21, 1944 at Longwood. There are to be thirteen classes, junior beginner, S. T. C.; three-gaited, open; senior beginner, S. T. C.; pairs of riders, open; jumping, open; intermediate, S. T. C.; five-gaited, open; horsemanship local adults, S. T. C.; horsemanship children, open; old Virgiina riders, open; advanced horsemanship, S. T. C.; horsemanship local, open; costume class, open.

Committees elected are program advertisements, Mary Sterrett, chairman, Carmen Lowe, Margaret Wilson, Helen Shaw, Phyliss Watts, Ann Darnell. Printing, Betty Little chairman, Jo Edes and Mildred Corvin. Ribbons, blues and reds, Betty Ellis chairman. Lucille Jones and Betty Cock; yellow and whites, Margaret Lohr chairman, Nance Ingle, Anna eHadlee, and Rebecca Tomlinson.

Mary Sterrett was elected secretary to replace Martha Higgins, resigning secretary, and Betty Cock was elected historian to be in charge of the club scrapbook.

Social Life Unknown To Mexican Students

"Dating" is something unknown to college students in Mexico, according to Felipe Garcia Beraza, formerly a student at the National University of Mexico, who was entered Macalester College, St. Paul.

On a special Macalester scholarship fund, to study literature, habits and customs of the people of the United States, Felipe said: "In Mexican colleges there is no social life. Students attend college only to study and have no extra-curricular organizations, dances, or parties.

"Mexican men do not ask a girl to attend a movie with them or even to go over to the drug store for a 'coke.' If a boy wishes to see a girl, he goes to her home, where he visits the whole family. This gesture is accepted as an indication that he is interested in marrying the girl."

Felipe finds American schools are more systematic than Mexican schools in the matter of making and completing assignments. He said Mexican students select their own outside work, but are called on frequently and unexpectedly for oral recitations.

Handwriting Pupils

Continued from Page 1

the handwriting of the students at the beginning of the quarter and at the present time have been on display. Those showing noticeable improvement are Margaret Aebersold, Mary Butt, Reba Connor, Ann Marie Curley, Anne Foster, Malinda Fox, Betty Lou Hayward, Betty Johnson, Beatrice Jones, Helen Lacy, Sarah Leech, Frances Tabor, Virginia Terrell, Virginia Thompson, Frances Timmins, Mary Jane Vonderlehr, and Rosemarie Wagner.

Sophs Defeat Frosh In Basketball 26-19 To Tie Green-White

Tuesday afternoon the sophomores, class champions, defeated the freshmen in basketball, 26-19 leaving the frosh with another month of rat cap wearing. The juniors defeated the seniors 23-6. This gives both the Green and Whites and Red and Whites five points each toward the color cup.

Last Wednesday the juniors defeated their sister class the freshmen in a 20-17 victory. Thursday the sophomores defeated the juniors 4-2, while the freshmen beat the seniors 34-16. The juniors and sophomores are tied for the championship title with a score of two games won for each.

Captains and teams are, seniors, Dottie Sue Simmons, captain, M. Droste, M McCorkle, P. Connelly, R. Dugger, H. Shaw. Juniors, Eleanor Wade, captain, M. Watts, M. Bear, H. Wilson, E. Lovins, B. Scott, sophomores, Louise Blane, captain, R. Hill, L. Elliott, B. Waid, M. Orange, K. Parker. Freshmen, Margaret Lohr captain, K. Bridgforth, R. Tomlinson. B. Budley, B. Parrish, N. Parrish.

Color Cup

Are you up on the color cup points? The reds and whites are now in the lead with thirty-five points, with the greens and whites having fifteen points. Red and whites have gotten their points from hockey, ten points; tennis, five points; ping-pong, five points; volleyball, ten points, and basketball, five points. The green and whites have gotten their points from honorary varsity hockey, five points; basketball, five points, and honorary varsity basketball, five points.

Olive-Kist
Salted Nuts
Always Fresh—Cooked aDily
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

New Spring COTUME JEWELRY
will add to any outfit
Martin the Jeweler

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Left Lead

March winds bring April showers; April showers bring May flowers . . . and May flowers bring June-bugs . . . but we don't need to go that far yet. For the Horse Show has been set for May 21, and of all the Big Dates to remember, that's "It" with a capital I! Yes, sir, the Riding Club meeting last night was not only a re-hashing of last year's show, but a complete renaissance for the new one, and things really got done. Committees were appointed and prizes discussed, and ribbons all but printed, in the enthusiastic rush inspired by the ideas brought out by President Cheatwood, and it sounds big, so keep listenin'.

But back to the March winds . . . and the premature April showers. The ring looks like a branch of the muddy James. There has been little riding of late whether the weather was falling or not! Tearing up the turf last week in an authentic Gleesome Threesome went Betty Ellis on Flicka, Mary Sterrett on Midnight, and Lucille Jones on Flash, and though precision in gait and time and motion was not up to perfection, still, the fact remains that they did walk, trot and canter together every now and then. Made nice watchin' . . . from a distance.

The Air Corps has almost been grounded lately, but they're still as far up as the saddle, and ready to fly, every time there's a handy trail. Too bad Joyce is prone to car-sickness, bus-sickness, etc. etc., or things could prove interesting.

Main object of interest in the ring and on the road has been one of the many canine inhabitants of F'ville . . . and he goes by the enlightening title of the "li'l black dawg". Distinctive, anyhow . . . he must think he's a horse. He dashes here and there in front of the horses, or leads the rest on a trail-ride, and yaps his little black head off the whole while. But whereas the other dogs who bother the mounts get chased away in no uncertain terms, ya just can't get mad at that little guy. He enjoys life too much . . . and he'll finally submit to gentle pleas, and take a respective seat on the sidelines . . . until the next class come out.

Stay on the Bit . . .

PEGASUS

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Basketball season has started with the well-known bang! The juniors and sophomores are tied now, both having won one game each. Tuesday is the big day for the sophomores play the freshmen, and the juniors play the seniors. The first game will determine whether the freshmen will have the chance to remove their rat caps before Easter or not. Yours truly would like to publish the outcome of the game, but you will have to look a cross the page at the news column to find that.

Hope lots of you will be out for basketball next year. Support your colors, and try out for the teams. Theres always a chance that you will make the team, and even if you only help to warm the bench, you will know that you have at least done your part.

Over the Net

Sohphomores under the captaincy of Lucille Jones have the lead in the volleyball tournament. They deefated the juniors twice last Thursday night, while the seniors and freshmen played off three games, which ended in a tie.

For the future games, come out and support your colors. Red and White is now in the lead, so come on Green and Whites out everything you've got into it. You still have a chance to get that color cup yet.

Take a Walk

Last Thursday Miss Barlow's 2:50 physical education class took a hike to Longwood during its class period. Walk, skip, run was the routine for the day, and it proved rather tiring for many members of the class.

Now that spring is here, or we hope it is even if the weather keeps changing its mind, lets all try to get outdoors more than we have before. The weather has kept most of us, but now with those sunny days and cool spring breezes in store for us, it should be fun to get outdoors. In the spring its nice to loll around and be lazy, but a brisk walk will clear your head, and make you feel so much better.

Get out and exercise, and don't forget to stay in the game.

The Y

Continued from Page 2

eyes, hands, and feet. There will be a musical program Wednesday night.

The Sing Contest will continue this week starring the seniors. You will not want to miss this!

March has been designated as Church Loyalty Month in the Presbyterian Church. All Presbyterians and other friends are urged to attend the worship services each Sunday this month.

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.
The basic entrance requirements are intelligence, aptitude for nursing, and character. During the War, high school graduates who have not had college work, including chemistry, should enroll in the special Pre-Nursing Course offered in this School, which will begin July 3, 1944. Those who successfully complete this pre-nursing course, and other students with acceptable college work will begin September 29, 1944. Tuition for the pre-nursing course is $100.00 and $100.00 per year for the nursing. This covers the cost of instruction and maintenance. Students joining the United States Nurse Cadet Corps will have no tuition to pay and will receive uniforms and stipends. Kellogg Loan Funds for tuition are also available. Catalogue and application forms should be obtained from: The Dean of the School of Nursing, Nurham, North Carolina.

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgiina
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

SPRING
SHOE SHOWING

DRESS SHOES
BLACK PATENT LEATHERS
BLACK GABARDINES
BLACK LEATHERS
BROWN LEATHERS
SPORT SHOES
BROWN OXFORDS
BLACK OXFORDS
WHITE OXFORDS
BROWN LOAFERS
$3.95 TO $6.50
First Floor -:- -:- Rear
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Through the Rain See Rainbow Of Bright Pastels For Spring

Sunshine May Bring Flowery Cottons

Fashion flashes from here and there. Though the rain seems to go on forever and you forget whether your friends are blonds or brunettes because of the omnipresent scarves, March and April showers bring May flowers and June eventually. And rainy afternoons can be spent browsing thru spritely spring issues of fashion magazines and dreaming of sunshine and springtime, and light cottons and veils and little girl pinafores once again.

For the present . . . think about pastel wool suits in tweeds and plaids and plains . . . top coats to match or contrast with last spring's selection . . . about flower hats and cosy caps and frilly blouses . . . about new bags and white gloves for a gay Easter Sunday . . .

Turn the pages to bright spring cottons . . . featuring this year's new low round necks . . . ruffles and rickrack . . . once more your favorite rocking chair dresses of gay chintz . . . cotton blouses and dirndl skirts . . . saddles and sandals sans socks . . . printed silks . . . striped chambry . . . two piece coot suits . . . denim apron dresses . . . last year's plain blue with appliqued flowers on the skirt . . . fresh crips and ruffly pinafores over all . . . pigtails . . . sunburn . . .

And you may even find some bathing suits . . . fewer lastex ones because of the lack of that material . . . more flowered dressmakers . . . more two piece suits . . . synthetic bathing caps in all and sundry colors and styles . . . suits with robes to match . . . . beach robes of prints and chenile and towling . . .

Yes, the calendar pages get torn off one by one . . . and if she hasn't already arrived, Spring is just around the corner. So rack your brains for new ways to make up that chambray and that pique and that sharkskin. Make it new and different . . . After the same old sweaters and skirts all winter, put your personality into your summer dresses.

Student Tiredness Makes For Failures

Term-end school failures were found in research conducted by Dr. C. W. Hunnicutt, director of "How to Study" classes in the school of education, Syracuse university, to have their underlying cause in the tiredness of students.

"Too many of our high school and college boys and girls," Hunnicutt said, "are trying to take advantage of current high wages by holding a full-time swing shift or night shift job and going to school at the same time. If they budget their time, they'll find there aren't enough hours to work, go to school and sleep. Something has to be eliminated—and usually it's sleep. Then the boy or girl is too sleepy to study—and down go the grades." Recommended as "good study practices": a regular time for study; study with the idea of getting answers to definite questions in mind; acquiring a listening ability in taking lecture notes so that only the pertinent will be absorbed.—(ACP.

Elementary School

Continued from Page 1

Rakes". The kindergarten will play rhythms and the second grade group will sing "An April Day', "Early Easter Bunny", and "Springtime."

"Passing By" and "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" will be sung by the sixth grade. The fifth grade group will give the "Virginia Reel" and "Oh, Susannah!"

"The Fisher Maiden", and "The Surrey With the Fringe on Top" will be rendered by the sixth grade and "Little Eskimo", "My Favorite Colors", and "The Robin" will be sung by the third grade.

The program will be concluded by a group of miscellaneous songs by the fourth grade.

Pedigo

Continued from Page 1

different from Americans," Miss Pedigo said. "They are behind us in styles and when I arrived there the current popular piece was "I'm the Shiek of Araby," which piece is old enough in the United States to have been "revived" by several band leaders. And as for the styles well, when we walked down the streets, we felt almost naked with dresses nearly up to our knees. And they were uniforms and so were longer than the current styles here."

The club of which Miss Pedigo was hostess was somewhree in the so-called "Never never" land of Australia, somewhere in the bush country of the northern part of the smallest continent.

"I consider the opportunity of working with boys from all stations of life the greatest privilege I have known," Miss Pedigo stated. "Those American boys are all wool and a yard wide and have hearts of pure gold. And I don't know a truer phrase than the one used recently by one of the war correspondents, who spoke of the 'fraternity of war.' There was no difference between the lad whose father holds a seat on the stock exchange and the kid who claimed he was the 'best darn' plumber in the state of Indiana! And the the state of Indiana!" And the "But", the girl who has been called hostess, nurse, sweetheart, and mother to those boys there, reassured us, "there is nothing like the American girls and those boys there know it. The Australian girls are just not up to the quick answers and the double talk that the American girl hands out. But now the Yanks have the situation there well in hand."

The whole group—several thousands of them—called Miss Pedigo by the nickname 'Merrylegs" whever they weren't teasing her and calling her "Rebel". "And," she said, "those who didnt call me 'Merrylegs', called me 'Phyl'. That's all of my name some of them knew." The Virginia girl who has done such a great work in Australia laughed as she recalled "her boys' when they came piling in the club about dusk everyday. "I'd be back in the kitchen or somewhere and I'd hear this awful call, "Phyl, where are you? And I always thought something dreadful had happened and all they wanted was somebody to speak to when they came 'home'."

"And eat. The just loved to eat. Their favorite prank was raiding the refrigerator at night. So we had two—one for them to raid and the other which I kept carefully locked. I'd hear them come in at night—sometimes 2 or 3 in the morning—tiptoeing (if one can tiptoe in G. I. boots!) and laughing and talking and trying so hard to be quiet as they raided the box. I always fussed, 'cause it wouldn't have been any fun if they had thought that I had left the food there just so they could raid!"

'Our newspapers were all six months old but we read every word of them over and over. And whenever anyone would get a cartoon, we'd leave it posted for three months. And we'd laugh at it for three months. Sometimes we'd get so hard up for something to read that we'd go into the storeroom and read the labels on the cans!" Phyllis told us. She insisted that we not call her "Miss Pedigo", and it was so easy to follow the example of her "wolves" and call her "Phyl", that we broke down and did it. She was so informal herself that it was easy to believe when she said that she called the generals "Butch."

"It wasn't all fun at all. There was tragedy and pain and heartaches that the boys who fought there will never tell. Sometimes I feel like a missionary sent back to tell the people of America just exactly what war is. The boys themselves never will. To hear them talk you would think it was all one gay party all the time. And it wasn't," Phyl assured us.

"And all I was doing there was taking the place of all the "ladies next door" who couldn't be there to laugh and cry with the boys, whose cookie jars were too far away for them to get into."

And then Phyl commissioned us to tell you that she feels that her years at S. T. C. prepared her for anything. "I had had no preparation for the work except my years her. But after all, one can meet a lot of emergencies when one has learned to make fudge and Welsh rarebit under one's bed. And even the little things like learning that a little talcum powder wil remove grease came in handy!"

We could go on and on, repeating the experiences she told us, but it was just her being "Merrylegs," just being herself, that made her able to keep a club that was home to some 10,000 men. And her spirit is so great the paper couldn't hold it and so elusive that we couldn't capture it.

Sororities Entertain Visiting Alumnae During Week-end

In honor of the returning alumnae several sororities entertained in their chapter rooms this week end.

After the play Saturday night, Alpha Sigma Alpha entertained at an informal punch party in the chapter room for some of the old members who returned.

The Sigmas served after dinner coffee in their chapter as usual, after dinner Sunday.

Cokes and nabs were served by the Pi Kappa Sigmas Saturday night for their alumnae.

The members and pledges of Mu Omega were entertained at an informal tea by Shirley Cruiser and Eleanor Bisese Sunday afternoon.

The Theta Sigma Upsilon's were entertained at a tea Sunday afternoon.

★ PERSONALITY ★ SENIOR ★

PATSY CONNELLY
President of Athletic Association

From the hills of Lebanon she came, to Kenbridge as the wife of a farmer she hopes to go . . . but in between she's A. A. president at S. T. C.

Sincere and a conscientious worker in these fields that she likes, Patsy is likewise a lover of a good argument—and her lisping (her suitemates insist that she be remembered by her lisp!) has never been known to keep her quiet. Always positive in her likes and dislikes as well as in her opinions, she usually puts up a good fight for her point. It is well that she gets such a joy out of talking—for as a singer, she is a monotone!

She's active in the world of sports—plays basket ball, volleyball, hockey, and as such is a member of the Monogram Club.

What does she like? Well, besides Bagley, she likes beach parties . . . bridge . . . reading in the tub . . . biting fingernails . . . sleeping on her stomach . . . good books (she's reading about Huck Finn at present!)

Alumnae Officers

Continued from Page 1

gram was Miss Phyllis Payne Pedigo, S. T. C. alumna, who has done outstanding work with the Red Cross in Australia.

Following the Alumnae luncheon, Mrs. Waller presided over the annual business meeting of the Association, at which time new officers were elected.

The six class reunions were held in the afternoon. Returning from the class of 1894 were Mrs. E. A. Ames, the former Lena Trower; Mrs. Sam Bland, the former Louisa Gayle; Mrs. Henry Chappell, the former Effie Shell; Mrs. C. S. Diggs (Ruby Hudgins); Mrs. M. L. Eggleston, (Mary Fitzhugh); Mrs. T. M. Netherland, (Alma Harris); Mrs. E. A. Richardson, (Pauline Harris); Mrs. M. B. Simpson, (Malyn Branch); and Mrs. R. L. Turman, (Maude Pollard).

Returning from the class of 1904 were Mrs. E. R. Booker, (Jessie Whitmore); Mrs. George Bratten, Lucie Chrisman; Jessie Day; Byrd Eckles; Mrs. James Graham, (Mary Lou Campbell); Mrs. Josephus Grimes, (Lottie Snead); Clay Hiner; Mrs. Fannie Moses, (Fannie Hodnett); Mrs. James Peake, (Mary Herbert); Mrs. L. G. Pedigo, (Carrie Lee Martin); Mrs. T. B. Ray, (Bettie Munfree); Lucy Stearnes; Mrs. Bennett Taylor, (Bessie Carter); and Mrs. J. E. White (Ethel Reynolds).

The 1914 reunion class representatives included Mrs. J. S. Drewry, (Lucy Moore); Mrs. W. T. Dent, (Corine Kemper); Mrs. T. J. McIlwaine, (Carrie Galusha); Mrs. M. Murphy, (Alice Dadnun); Mrs. Richard Randolph, (Mary Mood); Mrs. Otha Stiff, (Sadie Upson); Mrs. Donald Stant, (Mary Dornin; and Mrs. Carter Watkins, (Emma Ruth Webb).

Catherine Riddle and Shannon Morton represented the degree clas of 1919.

The 1924 reunion class representatives were Mrs. B. E. Crumpler, (Julia Reid); Dorothy Diehl; Mrs. L. V. Morgan, (Louise Bland) and Virginia Wall.

From the 1934 class were Mrs. Miller Arrett, (Alma Foster); Mrs. R. E. Barlow, (Mildred Gwaltney); Virginia Brinkley; Eunice Chenault; Hazel Dorrier, (Hazel Clevinger); Mrs. R. W. Dickson, (Ida Miller); Doreen Smith Franklin; Ruth Gaines; Frances Horton; Lottie Marsh; Mary Berkeley Nelson; Mrs. A. H. Phillips, (Margaret Copenhaver); Mrs. R. L. Pond, (Margaret Parker); Mrs. James Steger, (Mary Hill); Edith Shanks; Mrs. P. E. Turner, (Mary V. Johnson; Mrs. John Whitehead, (Mary S. Shelton); and Mrs. Peter Zanca, (Helen Allen).

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

With Founders Day making this a closed week-end, many students left school to visit the dentist, to tell brothers and sweethearts goodbye, to shop, to dance at the Medical College of Virginia or just to see the folks before exams.

Those traveling to Lynchburg were Jean Arington, Hilda Bennett, and Jane Conson. To Richmond went Margaret Abersold, Mary B. Billups, Emma Broyles, Ann Christian, Betsy Dillard, Margie Hewlett, Gene Dare Harrison, Esther Shevick, and Martha Lee White. To the dance at the Medical College went Ann Carter and Barbara Graham.

To the hills of Roanoke went Betty Tom Andrews, Kitty and Marjorie Vaughan and Nancy Lee Weeks. To Lexington went Lucy Barger and Peggy Alphin. To Midlothian to see the "boy friends" went Roberta Davis, and to Culpeper went Lucille Lewis. Glenn Ann Patterson visited in Winston-Salem, N. C., and Ann Snyder and Betty Van Arsdale visited the doctor in Newport News.

The prize for the longest trip of the week is a tie between Sally Robertson who visited in Augusta, Georgia, Jane Rowe, who visited in Montgomery, Oklahoma, and Minnie G. Moore who visited her husband in Boston, Mass.

KEEP ON Backing the Attack! WITH WAR BONDS

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

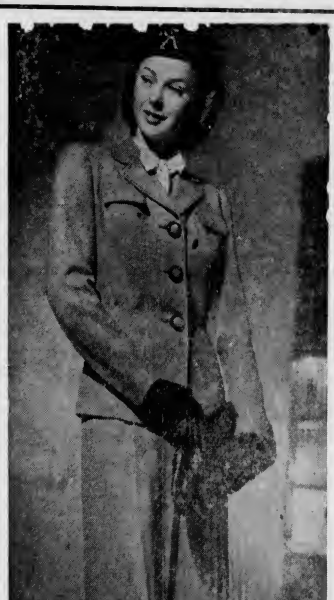
Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

MEET ME . . .
—AT—
SHANNON'S

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street



Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Fresh Flowers
For All Occasions
COLLINS FLORIST

Visit Us For . . .
BEST SODA
FOUNTAIN SERVICE!
CHAPPELL'S

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
Visit Our Fresh
Olive Kist
Nut Department
COOKED DAILY

YOUR DREAM SUIT!
Float into the future in the clouds of heavenly colors and inspired touches that distinguish this down-to-earth classic. It's a Davis masterpiece whipped up in a Farnsworth 100% all-wool Shetland weave original. Master tailoring . . . quality details . . . behind-the-seams perfection . . . an endless range of high shades.
Sizes for Juniors and Misses. $29
BALDWIN'S

For Information On
WACs, WAVES, SPARs, Marines,
See Page 2, Col. 1

The Rotunda

Hand In Questions
For Use On the Quiz Program

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1944 | No. 21

Ann Snyder Wins First Place in Poetry Contest

Viccellio's Lyric Takes Second Honor

Ann Snyder, senior from Newport News, placed first in the annual Colonnade poetry contest which ended last week, Lois Alphin, poetry editor of the magazine and chairman of the contest, revealed this week. Her prize winning poem is a sonnet, "To My Brother, A Navy Pilot". Ann has been a regular contributor to the poetry columns of the Colonnade, and she won first place in the contest last year.

Second place was taken by Mary Parrish Viccellio for her lyric, "I Looked Into the Sky". Mary Parrish is a junior from Chatham, and is one of the literary editors on the Colonnade.

"My Star", a lyric in three stanzas, by Betty Deuel Cock, was placed third in the contest. Betty, a sophomore from Hampton, is on the Contributors Board of the Colonnade and is feature editor of the Rotunda.

Honorable mention went to Gussie Himes, senior from Roanoke, for her poem, "Prayer and Thought"; to Melinda Fox, freshman from Eastville, for "You Made Me Care", and to Ann Gregory, freshman from Roanoke, for "It's Spring."

The three prize winning poems will appear in the Spring Issue of the Colonnade and the honorable mentions will be published in the Senior issue later in the spring quarter. Prizes awarded were $5.00, $3.00, and $1.00, in war stamps, for first, second and third places respectively.

Judges for the contest included James M. Grainger, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, and Miss Lucille Jennings of the English department, M. B. Coyner, adviser to the Colonnade staff, Lois Alphin, poetry editor, and Sara Daily Moling, representing the student body at large.

ANNE SNYDER

AKC Gives Quiz Contest on April 19

STC, HSC V-12 Unit Will Vie for Title

April 19 has been named as the date for the annual quiz team contest sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma, national fraternity in leadership, Ella Banks Weathers, chairman, announced this week.

S. T. C. students and boys from the Navy V-12 unit at Hampden-Sydney College will participate in the quiz. The faculties of the two colleges have contributed questions, and there will be two oral preliminaries and one written preliminary test after Easter.

Mary Moore McCorkle has been named chairman of the question committee, and Sara Byrd Williams was named chairman of the stage committee. Other committees will be announced later.

Last year the contest was won by Hampden-Sydney boys, and the year before by the S. T. C. students.

The proceeds of the contest will go to the American Red Cross.

Professional Work In Physical Therapy Offers Many Places

One field of work open to physical education majors after graduation is in physical therapy.

The physical therapy profession which won recognition during World War I is expanding rapidly in the present war. Physical therapy, including massage, exercise, and treatment with the use of heat, water, and electricity, is instrumental in returning our war-wounded to duty or fitting them for a useful civilian life.

Women who are educated in the basic sciences of physical education are among the few qualified for training in the field of physical therapy. These women are being offered an unusual professional opportunity to participate in the rehabilitation program for the war-wounded through the Army's Physical Training Program.

Student Physical Therapy Aides will be appointed by the Surgeon General of the War Department from graduates of physical education schools or college graduates who majored in physical education, and who receive civil-service eligibility. They will be paid $420 a year plus $105 overtime pay, with deductions for quarters and subsistence.

Apprentice Physical Therapy Aide positions will be filled through the promotion of Student Aides who have successfully completed 6 months' training in an Army hospital. Considered also for appointment will be persons who have completed a civilian emergency course in physical therapy approved by the American Medical Association; if eligible, their names will be certified by the U. S. Civil Service Commission to the Surgeon General for assignment to Army hospitals. Apprentices are paid $1,440 a year

Continued on Page 3

STC Alumna Works With RC In Australia

Arriving in the college library too late to be inducted in the Founder's Day display of alumnae in the service was the information about and picture of Etta Leah Marshall. She was a member of the class of 1930 and recently arrived in Australia as Red Cross Recreational worker.

After her graduation from STC, Miss Marshall attended Columbia

Continued on Page 3

Amorous Pin-Ups Paper Dorm Walls; Frankie Found Favored

By BETTY COCK

"Back Home for Keeps". That's not a particularly unusual phrase to hear around a college. In this one we even find it posted about on the walls. But in this case, it's not so much the motto itself as the picture it accompanies . . . and a familiar picture it has become.

Originally printed as a silverware advertisement, it is a masterpiece in expression . . and has become a favorite among the many similar pin-ups so recently popular. The couple involved are obviously sprawled on a floor in front of a fireplace in what writers would call a tender embrace . . . he with his head in her lap and she with her head on his shoulder! See? It sounds complicated, and it looked so to a few future old maids, too, until the veterans undertook to demonstrate its simplicity. Oh, yes—the He of the picture wears a uniform boasting the insignia of the Army Air Corps—and even without the effective lettering, the supremely happy looks on the faces of the twosome would be quite enough to convince anyone at even a first glance that he is "back home for keeps."

Now, we've used this an an extensive illustration, but we've also stated it has merely become a favorite among similar pin-ups. Would we had time to delve into the delights of the myriads of snapshots and enlargements and studio photos that grace a gals' dormitory, but they need space of their own, so we'll stick to hero worship.

Movie magazines enter S. T. C.

Continued on Page 3

Whittle, Jarratt, Robertson, And Scott Are Elected Vice-Heads of Major Offices

Wade, Johnson, Watts, and Robertson Named Officers of '45 Senior Class

Eleanor Wade, from Charlottesville, was reelected president of the class of 1945 at a class meeting last night. Eleanor was selected vresident of the present junior class last fall to replace Myrtle Lee Hoit who did not return to school. She served as treasurer of the class as a sophomore and at present is a member of the honorary varsity basketball team. In addition, she played on the class volleyball team and is in charge of badminton on the A. A. Council.

Other officers elected for next year's senior class are Marilyn Johnson, Roanoke, vice-president; Mary Walker Watts, Amherst, secretary; and Sally Robertson, Lynchburg, treasurer. Student government representatives will be Betsy Fox, Danville; and Bobbie Scott, Franklin.

Marilyn Johnson tok part in the fall Dramatic Club production, "The Ivory Door'. Mary Walker Watts has served as secretary of the class this year and was recently elected treasurer of the Athletic Association. Sally Robertson was recently elected vice-president of the House Council, Betsy Fox, a transfer this year from Averrett College in Danville, is chairman of the point system of Student Standards and is a member of the College Choir and the Madrigal Singers. Bobbie Scott represented the class on government this year and was recently elected vice-president of the Athletic Association.

Bisese Reelected

Eleanor Bisese, of Norfolk, was re-elected president of the class of 1946. Margie Hewlett from Richmond, was re-elected vice-president of the class, and Lillian Elliott, of Farmville, was chosen to serve as secretary again. Shirley Cruser, of Norfolk, will serve as treasurer again next year and Student Government representatives will be Betty Brothers, Suffolk, and Jackie Parden, Norfolk.

Eleanor Bisese was an officer in her class as a freshman; Margie Hewlett has recently been elected secretary of the House Council; Lillian Elliott is an active member of the Dramatic Club, working as assistant in the lighting group; Betty Brothers represented the class on government this year, and Jackie Parden is a member of the college USO committee.

Perry's Vagabonds Will Open Dance March 25 at 8:30

Angelo Perry and his Vagabonds from Lynchburg will play for the annual Pan-Hellenic dance to be held in the S. T. C. gymnasium Saturday night, March 25, from 8:30 o'clock until midnight. This orchestra has furnished music for dances on the campus before.

Vivian Gwaltney and Catherine Trower are co-chairmen for the dance. Other committees are floor, Carol Diggs, chairman, Jane Smith, Patricia Maddox, Elsie Thompson, Nancy Langhorne, Nancy Wilkinson, Alice Nichols, and Alice Green; tickets, Evelyn Faw, chairman, Gussie Himes, Barbara Dickinson, and Mary Parrish Viccellio; decorations, Eleanor Wade, chairman, Betty Overcash, and Margaret McIntyre; and music, Lucille Cheatham, chairman, and Mary Lee Pittard.

Each chapter is responsible for making a large copy of its coat of arms to be used as a part of the decorations. These coats of arms are to be permanent and are to be used in the years to come

In the receiving line for the dance will be Jane Ford, president of the Pan-Hellenic Association, and the faculty adviser of each sorority.

Members from the faculty and home department in addition to the chapter advisers will be chaperones for the dance.

Ellett Leads '47 Class

Officers of next year's sophomore class are president, Margaret Ellett; vice-president, Grace Loyd; secretary, Betty Bibb; and treasurer, Betty Minetree. Student Government representatives for the class will be Martha Russell East and Margaret Lohr.

Margaret Ellett, from Jennings Ordinary, served as president of this year's freshman class and plays on the class basketball team. Grace Loyd, Lynchburg, is a member of the Dramatic Club and had a part in the fall play, and is manager of swimming. Betty Bibb, Lynchburg, is member of the Rotunda staff and Betty Minetree, Petersburg, was treasurer of the class this year. Martha Russell East from South Boston, was secretary of the freshman class and Margaret Lohr, of Culpepper, served as captain of the class basketball team.

Also elected last night were Student Standards representatives from the classe of 1945. Senior representatives next year will be Fay Byrd Johnson, Vinton; Catherine Trower, Eastville, and Virginia M. Terrell, Richmond. The head of the organization will be chosen from the senior members by those representing the classes.

100 Health Movies Offered To Schools

The State Board of Education and the State Department of Health are cooperating to make available to all local health departments and interested organizations throughout Virginia more than 100 motion pictures on health and physical fitness.

Under a plan approved by the respective department heads, films owned by the State Health Department have been placed with the Bureau of Teaching Materials of the State Board of Edu-

Continued on Page 4

Knapton Appoints Colonnade Staff For Next Year

Recently elected editor of the college magazine, The Colonnade, Jane Knapton has appointed her staff for next year.

Literary editors include Jane Waring Ruffin, Mary William Calvert, and Mary Parrish Vicellio, juniors, who were literary editors this year. Mary Watkins, also a junior, is a newcomer to the staff. Sophomores and new staff members are Connie Oslin and Margaret Harris, and a freshman, Evelyn Hair.

Sara Moling, a junior, has been elected Poetry Editor. She is a new member of the group.

Holding the same position as of this year will be Carolyn Bobbit, book review editor.

Juniors who have worked on the staff this year and will act as art editors are Mary Lou Dondley, Virginia Terrell, and Bette Wood. New members holding position of art editors are Lucille Winston, junior, Nancy Whitehead and Carmen Lowe, freshmen.

On the board of contributors will be Fay Johnson, a junior, and Betty Deuel Cock, sophomore, who held this same position this past year. New workers in this position include Alice Nichols, junior; Helen Savage, junior; Julia Braga, freshman, and Martha Wells, freshman.

Members of the typing staff who will continue their work next year are Katherine Prebble, sophomore; Margaret Bear, junior; Ann Mapp, junior, and Martha Ann Upshur, junior. New typists include Pat Ames, sophomore, and Lucille Upshur, freshman.

Writing "Mac's Cracks" for the second year will be Helen McGuire.

Business assistants will be Ann Blair, junior; Mary Ann Loving, freshman; Emily Carper, sophomore; Minnie Lee Crumpler, sophomore, and Catherine Lynch, sophomore.

Time Schedule Goes Back to 8:05 Start

Beginning Monday morning, March 20, the College will resume the time schedule of the fall quarter, with first period classes beginning at 8:05 a. m.

Breakfast will be served at 7:15 a. m., lunch at 12:45, and dinner at 6 p. m.

First period examinations will begin Monday morning at 8:05.

East Selected Dining Hall Head

As a result of the minor officer election held last Thursday, Ophelia Whittle, junior from Petersburg, was elected vice-president of the Student Government Association to succeed Hannah Lee Crawford. Other officers elected were Virginia Shackleford, sophomore from Gloucester Point, secretary to succeed Harriette Moore; Carolyn Bobbitt, sophomore from Ronceverte, W. Va., to succeed Lucy Messick as treasurer; and Martha Droste, freshman from Ronceverte, W. Va.,, to succeed Glenn Anne Patterson as campus league chairman.

Y. W. C. A.

Mary Anne Jarratt, junior from Jarratt, was elected vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. to succeed Louise Bell; Anne Martin, sophomore from Suffolk, was re-elected; Minnie Lee Crumpler, sophomore from Suffolk, was elected treasurer to succeed Sara Byrd Williams; and Agnes Stokes, sophomore from Kenbridge, was elected freshman counselor, to succeed Minnie Lee Crumpler.

Athletic Association

Minor officers of the House Council are Sally Robertson, junior from Lynchburg, vice-president to succeed Mildred Droste; Margie Hewlett, sophomore from Richmond, secretary to succeed Martha Higgins; and Freddie Anne Butt, sophomore from Portsmouth, treasurer to succeed Sally Robertson.

House Council

Barbara Scott, junior from Franklin, was elected vice-president of the Athletic Association, succeeding Shirley Pierce. Other A. A. officers are Mary Walker Watts, junior from Amherst, secretary, succeeding Sara Jeffries; and Frances Lee, sophomore from Richmond, treasurer, succeeding Helen Wilson.

Sarah Lee East, junior from South Boston, was elected head dining room hostess to replace Jean Arington.

Presidents of the organizations, as previously announced, are Harriette Moore, Gastonia, North Carolina, president of Student Government, succeeding Mary Evelyn Pearsall; Sara Byrd Williams, Woodstock, president of the Y. W. C. A., succeeding Frances Lee Hawthorne; Martha Higgins, Portsmouth, president of House Council, succeeding Judy Eason, and Helen Wilson, Petersburg, president of the Athletic Association, succeeding Patsy Conneliey.

Want to Help in War Effort? Don Kerchief, Apron; Help Roll

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

What's behind the announcement that 1503 bandages have been rolled in the college during the week of March 15?

If you really want to know, and we're sure you do, just jump into a clean cotton dress, tie all your hair securely under a scarf and stroll up to the Art Lab some Thursday evening. A white uniformed sister of the Red Cross will greet you with the inquiry—"Do you know how to roll them?" Of course the question is merely a matter of course, and you're not expected to answer in the affirmative, anyhow. There's not loss of time in this business; instructors take things well into their own hands and you're signed up to do this on your own hook, but the way you do it will be their way. Before you know it, you'll be seated at a table with a group of girls wearing the same uniform you appeared in. Their hands will be busy folding the gauze bandages while they keep up an incessant chatter on matters of great importance—Who's getting married, and what we have for supper, and the current accounting test—to which someone remarks that the only time she goes to class up pops a test. And who went home last week end and when she's going home and wasn't "Madame Curie" wonderful—and on—

Are you still here? All this time you're learning how to roll, how to fold the corners just right so they'll come out even and so the bandage will be a neat four by four square with no ragged edges sticking out. You've signed

Continued on Page 3

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Tallaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1944

Women Students and War
It's A Challenge to Us All

Although we look upon teaching as one of the most patriotic pursuits, and consider the teacher a real contribution to her country's welfare, we realize that there are other fields in which some girls might be interested. The Associated Collegiate Press has sent us a feature concerning various fields open to women now.

More than a year ago, the government said it needed immediate training of college women to meet the demands of war. As more men go into the armed forces, the need grows for women in various types of war service. Here is the up-to-date stories of important vacancies for women today—vacancies which the government is trying hard to fill.

In time of war, the armed forces have the first claim upon men and women alike. But the response of American women to the call of the armed forces has been, on the whole, a somewhat sad one. Thousands of additional recruits are needed, and some of them, in terms of the womanpower supply and demand, must come from our colleges.

The WAC has reported that on January 1, 1944, its strength was 62,859 officers and enlisted women. Line that up against the authorized strength of the WAC—200,000 women, many of whom are required for overseas' service.

If you don't want to go overseas, you can still release another person for it. Recently the WAC has been recruiting for specific station assignments within this country. It is now also permitting candidates to apply for a specific job on the basis of their previous experience. Qualified college women who enlist in the WAC have a good chance to become officers and to continue working in their major field at a place of their own choosing.

The WAVES still need additional officer candidates, who will be recruited from civilian life. WAVE present strength is nearly 50,000 women. It's expected to reach 100,000 by the end of this year.

The Navy is now selecting college graduates more on the basis of their ability to do certain jobs for which personnel is needed varies from time to time, you have a good chance of finding a spot where you can use your college major.

At present the WAVES greatest needs are for aerologists, mathematicians, physicists, instructors in air navigation, supply corps officers and officers for medical research.

The SPARS prefer college graduates with at least three years of work experienc. College women who worked before entering school and during summer vacations can help to fill SPAR openings for lawyers, pay and supply officers, communications, ordnance and personnel officers.

Maybe you want to be a MARINE. That branch of the service is recruiting officer candidates to work as specialists in various fields or as general duty officers.

War is what you make of it. It can be a simple, relaxed process of sitting back and waiting until it's over. Or it can be a challenge to our toughness, to our persistence in building a better way of life for all.

College women can make their choice of the role they will play in these war years. The record so far shows that they are not just watching the war go by.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

On all the sections of the Russian front, the Germans have been forced back. The greatest advances were made in th southeast and the extreme west. The Reds have gained 22 miles in a drive down the Dnieper River, nearing the German-held Black Sea port of Kherson, and the Nazis and the Soviets are figthing in the streets of Tarnopol, a five-way Polish railroad junction.

* * * *

Toulon, a submarine base in southern France, and Padua, a railway center in northeastern Italy, were bombed again this past week by the Allies from Italian bases. For the first time however, Florence was bombed by Allied flyers. The communication lines outside of the city had been bombed, but Florence itself, had been spared because of its historic value. The enemy was taking advantage of this so that the Allies felt it was necessary to make the attack. The Pope has just recently made a plea to the German and Allied leaders to spare Rome.

As the weather improved in Italy, the ground forces of both sides were becoming more active. Two German patrols on the Fifth Army front near Cassino were pushed back.

* * * *

In an attempt to stop any possibilities of military supplies or information of the Allies from going into neutral Eire, Great Britain has restricted the traveling between Britain and Ireland. This was done after the Prime Minister of Eire refused to force the Axis diplomatc representatives out of this country, and it may be only the first step in a move by the Allies to stop more forcibly the German spy ring.

* * * *

The American and the Chinese forces have moved down the Hukawany Valley of North Burma, cutting the main Japanese escape routes to the south and southwest, and are only 11 miles from the southern end of the valley. There is every reason to believe the Americans and Chinese will have full control of the Hukawang Valley very soon.

Wotho, a Marshall atoll between Kwajalein and Eniwetok atolls, has been taken by the Americans without resistance. In fact, the native population is reported to have given the invaders gifts of food. At the same time, four enemy bases in the Eastern Marshalls were bombed. All the American planes returned safely. However, the Japanese still control the four most important atolls.

Scuttlebutt

With exams in the offing, and the close offing, STC girls seem to be settling down to more work than play. However, there are those few who are getting in their last-minute flings and fun before it's too late.

There was Faith Weeks with her Bing (not Crosby) around campus this week-end.

The fi kle lad David Noel with another femme this week-end—this time Martha Russell East. Could it possibly be due to Ellen's trip to Richmond?

Wasn't that the good Lashley on campus last week, now known as Ensign? As usual he was surrounded by the girls, not too much to one young lady's satisfaction. How about it, Dody?

To the interest of their friends and perhaps otherwise all the girls got back safely from their trip to the asylum!!!

The frustrated, yet pleasingly excited expression on Ruth Fleming's face might be due to Don's unexpected return!

The beautiful bouquet of red roses sent to Ginny Cavinessy could mean only one thing; and how about the horse earrings?

Who could the charming naval officers be seen with Joe Eades and Lou Baker Thursday night?

Poaguey Massie now may be heard singing "The Army Air Corps Song". You're right—Neill has gone. He'll be missed.

For some good information about week-end blind dates ask Anne Jacob. She prefers the type —you go your way—I'll go mine!!

Seen around campus, for a change, was Jane Danby's Joe. Looks like old times. Good old times, too, Jane says.

No place like Richmond to have a really good time, eh Twitch?

Speaking of Richmond, we hear that "Long-A-Ling's" trip there was postponed. Is that right, Jerry?"

Hey Bev, what does Phil have to say about "the shiek, Ben"?

Anne, we all agree that Lee's picture does not flatter him in the least. Truly, a tall, blonde and handsome!

We like the way Pappy left someone to take care of Elam when he had to leave. And Chris seems to be doing a thorough job of it, too.

New arrival on Annex: a picture of one Charlie. Recipient? iKtty Rennecker, of course.

Letter to Editor:

Dear Editor,

We've all been hearing a lot about giving blood to the blood bank, and many of us who would like to give have been wondering how to go about it here in Farmville. Could arrangements be made in the local hospital, or what?

We feel that there would be enough girls here at S. T. C. willing to give blood to make it worth while for facilities to be made available.

How about it? Is there a way?

Some healthy red-blooded Sophomores

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

Congratulations to the new officers. We're very proud and feel very confident that you will do your jobs well.

March is "Go - to - Church" month. We can go every Sunday this month if we try.

The sing contest is well under way. A great deal of work is being put on the sing programs and the student body is cooperating in a fine way.

The Presbyterians are meeting after the preaching services on Sunday nights this month for discussions. These discussions take the place of the regular Young People's meetings on Sunday evening.

The Baptists are giving Examination Teas at the Student Center Thursday, Friday and Monday afternoons from 4 to 6.

Speaking of examinations. Prayers wil chase away anxiety, and give you calmness.

"Flossie Freshman" Triumphs Over Long Distance Obstacles

Dear Pvt. Jones,

It was wonderful to talk to you last night! You just don't know what I went through — to talk those precious 5 minutes.

When they say the lines are hot and heavy with calls, they aren't just kidding. Let me tell you the grueling procedure. (Of course—IT WAS WORTH IT!)

First, Mrs. McCoy (I told you about HER) called though the upstairs phone to get me. After about 20 minutes of clamorous ringing some energetic soul decided to answer the phone. She screamed in a bored, nasal tone— "Flossie, Fl-o-o-see Freshman!!!," from the phone on Main, hoping I'd hear her on Gym or wherever I was. My ever faithful, ever alert (????) roommate heard the voices and rushed into the hall. "Flossie's over in Student — I'll get her"

Naturally, I was fully dressed, according to my notions, but not to Mrs. McCoy's, so . . . I went home, donned a skirt over my P. J.'s, grabbed a trench coat, and fell down the steps. I closed my eyes and stalked into the Home Office. It didn't work . . . the line of eight people didn't dissolve. They just stood there grinning, and saying, "I guess you're gonna' make a phone call tonight. Well, so are we".

Mrs. McCoy suspiciously looked at my blue and white, "blouse" (why do Fathers always give you their old Striped Pajamas?) and handed me the slip of paper with the call on it. To her it's routine . . . to me it's a thrill and news for the rest of my hall.

Quite a drama goes on in that one little room. One girl is having conniptions to go to some dance at some college, while another is doing get best to get her man down to Farmville. Then a third girl is trying to get a party line. She tried after every person and finally went to her room and wrote her folks a letter, telling them the news.

There's a college near here (Hampden-Sydney) that is training V-12's (Now, I never even look at them!) If they ever get their "Woman of this port" on the line you might as well go write your term paper, wring the girl's neck, or cut the wire. See, they don't have to pay but a nickel.

When I finally got in the booth I got so excited I gave the wrong operator. It didn't take but 6 minutes to straighten that out, though, so in half an hour I was actually trying to hear you say "Hello". The next time you call, don't say "hello" every time I do 'cause I spent 2 minutes trying to figure if that was my echo or you.

Oh, you said such sweet things but I was so embarrassed. Talking in that phone booth is just about as private as saying "good night" in the Rotunda.

Next time I'm going to write my speech down so I won't spend all my time giggling. I promise I won't.

When I hung up I prissed out, gave a superior, smug grimace to the rest of the waiting mob, and walked down the hall, trying not to look so important.

Every time I told our little conversation it got longer and better 'til my room mate thought I

Continued on Page 3

Question of the Week

What are you going to buy when your War Bonds mature?

Sara Trigg: Make the first down payment on the bungalow.

Catherine Trower: Pay up my income tax—I hope to have a job by then.

Mildred Corvin: Put it in a bank.

Ruthie Dugger: I'm going to buy some new clothes, 'cause by that time I'll just be getting out of the WAVES and will need some. And also a score board for the STC student body so they'll know what the score is.

Betty Edwards: Buy a good looking car and see the world.

Nell Holloway: Buy flat silver.

Virginia Abernathy: Start a hope(less) chest.

Jean Prosise: Get married!—if the Air Corps comes through.

Caroline Huddle: Educate my children (all 15 of them).

M. K. Ingham: Buy my baby a new pair of shoes.

"Liz" Goodwin: How 'bout some steaks? And I'd also like to have a Taylor Cub.

Margaret Thomas: I'd like to have a home by then, and use it there.

Alice Nichols: I'd buy a train ticket back to Farmville from Nebraska so's I can come to Founders Day.

"Liz" Tennent: Buy a few more cats—if that's O. K. with the freshmen.

Barbara Surface: I'll have to wait and ask my husband.

Martha Lee: I would spend it all on clothes with pleats in the front and back.

Droste: Buy a few more dogs to keep the seniors awake at night when they need their beauty sleep. The barking of dogs breaks the monotony of life.

Unknown: Buy Miss Wheeler 50 slaves.

Jane Paulette: Buy my trousseau.

Florence Smith: Buy all the kids a new pair of shoes.

Mary Jo McClung: I imagine I'll have to cash mine in pretty soon for school expenses.

Swimming Meet Between Classes Slated for Thursday, March 4

8 Swim Practices Required for Team

Thursday, March 24, has been set as the date of the interclass swimming meet, an annual tournament between the classes for color cup points. Red and White swimmers will meet the Green and White team in the scheduled event which will include the 40 yard breast stroke, 40 yard free-style, 40 yard back stroke, 75 yard medley, 10 yard relay, and diving events.

Swimmers from all classes may begin practicing and enter the class teams. Eight practices are required in order to qualify for the teams and these may be obtained during recreational swimming period this week.

Grace Loyd, manager of the meet, will have special practices next Tuesday and Wednesday nights, March 22 and 23. Class teams will meet and elect class captains at these times.

Ten points are awarded to the winning color in the meet fof color cup points.

Varsity team members will be selected from those who swim in the interclass meet and the inter-collegiate telegraphic meet. The Telegraphic meet will be completed by Wednesday, March 15 and results sent in to headquarters for region three which is located at Florida State College. Swimmers in the telegraphic included representatives from each of the four classes.

Amorous Pinups

Continued from Page 1

in great numbers, only to leave sadly mutilated. The walls are literally papered with Gig Young, Paul Henri, Charles Boyer, and the more standard Ronald Coleman, Walter Pidgeon, Lieut. James Stewart, and without fail Frank Sinatra.

Frankie could call for a feature all his own, but we won't go into that. Suffice it to say we find Frankie smiling at us, grinning at us, laughing at us, or singing soulfully into a microphone, and that we have to pause before him a second before we can go back to the more every-day-ness of Cary Grant or Clark Gable.

And then come the clinches, the semi-clinches, and the near-clinches such as the one we described at the beginning. We gasp —literally gasp—at the Varga Bride and Groom who are in the near clinch, and then we worry over a detail the artist forgot. The groom will never get that kiss—his nose is in the way! We go weak, too, at the sight of the amorous civilian whose fingers grip the shoulders of his youthful brunette; and we envy the tawny-haired tigress who has completely captivated that good-looking man with the "Look in his Eye."

They're al wishful thinking, of course. We find glamour surrounding us on paper, if not in reality—but believe you me, 9-10ths of the gals at STC can really put the artists to shame when it comes to the time when HE's back home for keeps!

STC Alumna

Continued from Page 1

University, University of Colorado, and the Irvine Theater Studio. She taught in Portsmouth Public Schools and was a member of the Motor Corps of the Portsmouth chapter of the American Red Cross.

Rytex Stationery
$1.00 A BOX
Blue—Yellow—White
Martin the Jeweler

The beauty of our business is—
Flowers
COLLINS FLORIST

Swim Schedule Full this Week

Top Swimmers Offered Life Saving

The Spring Quarter Swimming Schedule has been completed and freshman classes of instruction and special classes will be taught. Freshmen who have not passed the American Red Cross Beginner's test in swimming must begin classes in freshmen swimming which are scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday at 3:00 P. M. and 4:00 P. M. This test must be completed by the end of Spring quarter as a requirement of the Physical Education department.

Freshman who can already pass this required test, but have not done so, may complete the requirements on Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 5:00 P. M. during the recreational swimming period.

A class of Intermediate swimming will be taught, to any who wish to enter, on Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 3 o'clock. This class of instruction is especially beneficial to freshmen who have completed beginner's swimming and should continue their progress. Senior Life Saving will be offered on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights at 9:00 P. M. and is open to advanced swimmers who wish to pass the life saving course. This will include a pre-course to the Instructors course for teachers which will possibly be given the latter part of the term.

Recreational swimming is scheduled each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons at 4:00 P. M. and open to all.

Physical Therapy

Continued from Page 1

plus $312 overtime pay, with deductions for quarters and subsistence.

Medical Department Physical Therapy Aide appointments may be made after completion of 6 months' training as an Apprentice Aide in an Army hospital. Appointees receive $1,800 a year with quarters furnished and $21 per month allowed toward subsistence. These Aides will serve in this country or overseas for the duration of the war and six months thereafter. A Medical Department Physical Therapy Aide holds the relative rank of Second Lieutenant in the Army of the United States.

War Effort

Continued from Page 1

your names to the journal. And your little pile of bandages is getting bigger and bigger. Then along comes Treakle or Miss Hall and you have to surrender your hoard, to start all over again.

And so it goes. You've been there an hour and those Spanish verbs call you home, but you have the warm feeling that at least, for that hour, those sixty minutes you've done something.

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Olive-Kist Salted Nuts
Always Fresh—Cooked aDily
ROSE'S 5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

Program of Physical Postwar Training Advocated by Kranz

A rigid postwar physical training program for the nation's youth designed to provide mass participation and patterned on present army-navy standards is advocated by Prof. Leon Kranz, head of Northwestern university's physical education program. "We have become too soft," said Prof. Kranz in referring to the high percentage of physical rejections in selective service.

He outlined a tentative peacetime program which would (1) set aside one hour a day, five hours a week for physical education; (2) establish standards of body condition and (3) institute health instruction in elementary schools and high schools.

"We should have learned our lesson as a nation after World War I," Prof. Kranz said. "Instead we returned to a life of ease and luxury almost immediately following the armistice. We were wide awake to the necessity for conditioning during the war, but that awareness was lost with the return of peace.

"Postwar training will be a challenge to American educators," he declared. "Years ago our youth developed stamina by doing chores on the farm and walking miles to school. Today, they've lost that opportunity. Children are coddled by riding to school in automobiles and performing chores by pressing buttons."

Far from producing a physically fit people, our sports program is in a large way responsible for the physical shortcomings indicated by the high percentage of draft rejections, he said; we have not provided our youth with the opportunity to develop themselves effectively.

He asserted too much emphasis has been placed on competitive sports at the expense of mass training. Instead of a program of athletics for the few and spectatorship of many, we should substitute a program that would provide training for everyone, Kranz said.

The standards set by the army and navy physical training programs in colleges and camps during the war should form the basis of peacetime plans," he said. "We have seen the beneficial results of these programs and it would be regretful if we did not retain them in some form after the war."

Under the program proposed by Professor Kranz, pupils would be required to maintain certain standards of physical efficiency from the time they enter school until they were graduated. Tests would be given at specified intervals to measure progress and make the child aware of his physical accomplishments. Such a program, he pointed out, would form health habits that would continue into adult years and make for a stronger and more virile nation.

"Flossie Freshman"

Continued from Page 2

had another call from an entirely different guy (You're the only one, though).

Well, Johnny, I've gotta' go find my room mate . . . She's got a call all the way from California. That sorta makes my call from

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest 5-10-25c Store
See Our Early Showing of Easter Cards for Service Men
A large selection to choose from 5-10-25c

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed 25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Left Lead

At long last, the weather (though still a touchy subject) cooperated for several days, and Ol' Man Sol shone forth in all his glory, and the winds blew and dried off the riding ring . . . and classes went on as usual.

For example . . . last week it was riding threesomes . . . this week it was jumping double. Two jumps in the center of the ring, side by each, and Flash and Flicka as a pair and Winnie and Lindy as a pair, going over in perfect coordination . . . once or twice anyhow. They were in the mood, though, and good form, and Flicka didn't even run out at all. Maybe she's tired of having crops broken over her back.

Another oddity included the twosome who mistook bicycles for quadrupeds and went puffing up and down the hills of Farmville. One rattly steed was christened "My Friend Fickle" . . . ask Eloise about the other one.

"Lightnin' " Hume is just comin' along! Every afternoon one day last week found her gallopin' around in a merry mood, and even the cold weather didn't slow her down. In fact, she stuck it out for a good two hours . . . and then walked her mount back to the stables.

Winnie has been the chief jerk and cut-up lately. Her sudden spurts of energy are enough to startle anyone . . . especially when the rider is a newcomer to the class . . . and only ten years old. Young Maureen did some nice stickin' there, but we're a little inclined to believe she envied her nine year old sister Jerry Ann and the peaceful Lindy just a bit before the hour was up.

The three males, any of whom answer to "Airport Sam", who have been livening up the trail and ringside lately are sure causing excitement. Jacques and Joyce got thoroughly last Saturday afternoon, but Lucille was in charge of the ride, anywhow, so no one missed them. Highlights on the trail recently have been another of Winnie's runaways, with Jane Conson up; Sara Graham's success in racking MacArthur on the Grainger's Road; and Midnight's smooth canter when he's really let out along the dirt road that makes our favorite stretch. They fly through the air with the greatest of ease!

Regular classes won't be held during exams, but the hours will be open 'most any time for make-up rides and pleasure trips. Just be sure you contact Joyce . . . and stay on the bit!

Pegasus

Camp Pickett look sick but
I love ya' good,
Flossie

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

The sports schedule is up to date today with both basketball and volleyball behind us, but next quarters schedule should be even more interesting. Softball will be the main event, and practices begin as soon as examinations are over. All you Green and Whites and Red and Whites, come out for practices and let's make this plenty of competition for the color cup.

Fresh Air

With exams coming this week, getting outside in the fresn air is the best way to clear a tired brain. Not that walking in the rain is the best health habit to have, it won't hurt you to bundle up and take a turn around the block. This is advice in case the weather is as bad as it has been. But if the sun should finally decide to come out from behind those dark clouds, take a long walk before supper each night. It not only will improve your appetite but it will make it easier to get back to the studies.

Along with this fresh air advice goes the suggestion that you get plenty of sleep. Plan your schedule so that you won't have to study into the wee hours each night. For that extra hour's sleep will help lots more than another hour of hard cramming to pass the examination. These health aids should go for all times also, because a healthy mind is a brighter mind.

Swim Fish

The telegraphic meet among the southern colleges has started and last Thursday found our STC team swimming with all their might. This years hostesses are the girls from Florida State Teachers College in Tallahassee After each race a telegram is sent in to headquarters where they total the scores from all the colleges, and send out announcements to each college as to who the winner is.

This idea of a telegraphic meet started when the war caused the rationing of gas, tires and seats on the railroad. Through this communication the girls who are interested in swimming have had their chance to keep on competing with other colleges.

Social Whirl

Spring quarter there will be a social dance class open to upperclassmen who have to have physical education. If you want to lose that wallflower angle at a dance don't forget to enroll. Everything from waltzing to the lindy hop will be included on the schedule. There's even a rumor around that the Hampden-Sydney navy men will participate in some of the courses.

Dancing is a way of social communication and always proves fun. It is really surprising to know how many girls cannot dance. Here's your chance to learn to be a Ginger Rogers.. Maybe you have hidden terpischorean talents, let's try to uncover them.

Good luck on those forthcoming exams. Don't forget to stay in the game.

Have Your Clothes Cleaned
Cleaned Early for Pan-Hellenic dances
at
DeLuxe Cleaners

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink (High Street)
BUTCHER'S

EARLY BIRDS-EYE VIEW OF SPRING FROM
DAVIDSON'S

COATS	12.95 up
SUITS	5.95 up
DRESSES	2.95 up
SKIRTS	1.98 up
BLOUSES	79c up
SWEATERS	3.49 up
HATS	1.00 up
SHOES	2.95 up

Basement Main Floor
2nd Floor
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Newest Hats Include Ribbon, Gay Flowers, Feathers, Frills

By JANE SMITH

"Goofy" describes the hats for this year for they are concocted from flowers, feathers, and frills in a great variety of amazing ways. The first and most surprising are the "hug the head" kind. They vary from the true Dutch cap to a mere band around the head.

The oriental influence on fashions this year has been applied in some by adding two bouquets or pom poms over milady's ears. A veil is then added to break the harsh lines and create an illusion of mistiness. Their best characteristic is that they are the easiest kind of hat to make. For a foundation, a piece of ribbon or a long slice of last years straw will suffice. To that beginning add on each side, a bunch of violets, bows to match your dress or ruffles twirled in a flat pincushion effect. If you are very industrious buy a pattern and make a Dutch cap, then line the sides that turn back with your favorite color.

Another variety that is always popular is the "sixty degree angle hat", so called because it sits at a precarious angle on your forehead, giving you a wicked gleam in your eye. These require two things, a fine sense of balance and hat pins. They too can be easily made but should be tried on frequently in the process of making them, for you must hit the right amount of flowers, etc., to make it comfortable.

Baby bonnets are once more taking their place in springtime headwear, as are tams and turbans. Magazines are full of ideas and patterns for making your own. Try some of them. The results will surprise you.

Offer Movies

Continued from Page 1

cation, for housing, conditioning, and circulation. That bureau has developed a comprehensive service, having in addition to hundreds of other subjects, many motion pictures on health and closely related subjects. These films have been placed on the State Health Department's list and are available, upon request to the State Health Department, in the same manner as those owned by it.

The use of these motion pictures depends largely upon accessibility to necessary equipment. Nearly 300 schools in Virginia now possess projection machines, as well as trained operators. These schools are being encouraged to make their facilities locally available for the showing of films not only to non-school groups but to local organization.

WAVE Considers Work Vocation, Fun; Cites Need for More

"Maybe I'm just a fanatic on the subject, but the Wave is both my vocation and hobby."

We were immediately impressed by Lt. Mode's intense feeling on the value of her organization. We listened intently while she explained the procedure to follow if we were interested in joining the Wave—how to get a commission, and all the fascinating branches of the service. No matter what you have done or studied the Waves can use your ability.

Lt. Mode stressed repeatedly the are needed.

"There are fifty thousand men at shore stations doing work which women could do as capably—every Wave will release a man for sea duty—and help to bring back all the men sooner—and in one piece.

fact that fifty thousand Waves

A perfect model for a Wave Recruiting Poster, Lt. Helen Mode is from Michigan, and is one of the original Waves—She was recruited back in 1942 when the unit was formed. She brought with her a degree from the University of Michigan and four years of experience as worker in industrial personnel at the Ford Motor Company in Detroit.

Now Senior Recruiting Officer for Virginia she has worked exclusively in Virginia since her induction.

"Do you think the men actually in the service appreciate what the Waves are doing, or do they resent them? We've heard so many stories."

The Lt. replied to this with vigor. Her own family was all Navy, two Naval Officer brothers serving in the South Pacific. They were enthusiastic about her active participation in the War. She told us of a Marine officer who had been on Guadalcanal. He was quietly intense in his feeling and comments about the support our fighters are receiving from the home front. Particularly he urged her to try to recruit Waves as they are vital to the War.

We, having our frivolous moods, won't forget to add that.

"I've had a wonderful time—meeting people, dates, and so on. No wallflowers in the Waves."

Editor's Note—In case this pep talk has inspired any readers—further information on the Waves can be obtained from the Office of Naval Officer Procurement Richmond, Virginia.

★ PERSONALITY ★ SENIOR ★

FRANCES CRADDOCK

Secretary of Senior Class

"War Stamps! Buy a War Stamp!" calls a most attractive senior personality. It's Frances Craddock sitting behind the table in the hall doing her bit for the war effort. As usual, she's doing just what she should be doing—what the others of us just can't find time for!

Even Fancy's devotion to Polly was rivaled by her devotion to her work as president of Pi Gamma Mu and as chairman of the War Finance committee. Most any time, she would be found seated calmly in her room making war stamp corsages—that is, any time except on week-ends, when she had to journey home to receive a caller from Danville.

Characterized by a petal-like (don't laugh, it's the truth—she looks like a flower) loveliness, she likewise has a charming, easy, very, very, Southern manner and like manner of speaking. She's especially partial to Andre Kostalanetz's music, to olive sandwiches, to Dr. Walmsley—and to plenty of sleep.

She's a happy, good-natured girl, but she does have ambitions, such as she wishes to gain weight, and to teach in Danville—Well, to be in Danville, anyhow.

Bedford Gives Party; ASA's Have Banquet

Miss Virginia Bedford entertained Gamma Psi, honorary art society with an informal party at her apartment last Thursday.

Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority held their annual banquet in the College Tea Room last Saturday night, March 11. Guests at the banquet included the pledges of winter quarter, Miss Mary Sprunt Hall, adviser for the chapter, and Dr. James Elliott Walmsley.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

The week-end before exams seems to be the time to get in that last minute visit with the folks, or to do some spring shopping.

Visiting Mary Evelyn Pearsall in Roanoke were Frances Lee Hawthorne, Julia Eason, Freddie Ann Butt and Eleanor Wade. Also visiting their parents or friends in Roanoke were Elizabeth Driscoll, Marilyn Johnson, Helen Cobbs, Rachel Burge and Earlene Kimmerling.

Lib West visited Catherine Williams in Victoria and Ruth Dugger and Mildred Droste visited Frances Rainey in Curdsville, Virginia. Ann Summers visited Betty Overcash at Hampden-Sydney and Peggy T. Ross visited Carlotta Norfleet in Virginia Beach.

Richmond is a good place to shop so there went Susan Durrett, Catherine Christian, Bernice Copenhaver, Irma Ruth Cummins, Page Cook, Frances Cleanton, Kitty Renneker, Ellen Moore, Nancy Almond, Lucy Harvie, Virginia Lee Abernathy, and Joscelyn Gillum. Ann Jacobs visited Frances Satterfield in Richmond.

To Crewe went Joyce Cheatwood, Mildred Corvin, Rose Bland Jenkins, and Gloria Rodgers. Lynchburg drew Betty Bibb, Nancy Hutter, Lynn Spry e, and Elizabeth Meeks.

To be found in Kenbridge were Agnes Stokes and Minnie Rose Hawthorne, and in Norfolk, were Nell Richards and Ann Brushwood. The lure of home drew Jane Danby, Anna Lee Blanton, and Fredrika Hubard to Cumberland.

Elizabeth Tennent and Sara Trigg week-ended at the Trigg home in Hopewell.

Elizabeth Ann Jordan went to Waynesboro, Louise Blane to Alton, Evelyn Stovall to Baskerville, Sara Wayne France to Charlottesville, and Mary Ann Jarratt to Jarratt.

Louise Harrell went to Chatham and Carolyn Beard to Newport News to see about summer jobs.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Thursday, March 16

9:05-11:05 ..... Classes meeting 10:05 M W F
11:30- 1:30 ..... Classes meeting 11:40 M W F

Friday, March 17

9:05-11:05 ..... Classes meeting 8:05 T TS
11:30- 1:30 ..... Classes meeting 9:05 T T S
2:50- 4:50 ..... Classes meeting 2:50 M W F

Saturday, March 18

9:05-11:05 ..... Classes meeting 10:50 T T S
11:30- 1:30 ..... Classes meeting 11:40 T T S

Monday, March 20

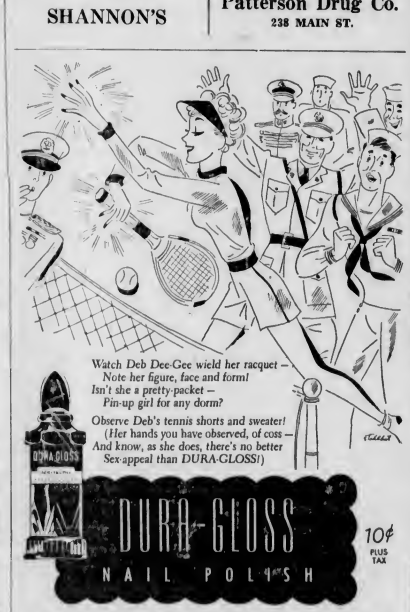
8:05-10:05 ..... Classes meeting 8:05 M W F
10:30-12:30 ..... Classes meeting 9:05 M W F

Tuesday, March 21

8:05- 9:05 ..... Classes meeting 1:50 T T
10:30-12:30 ..... Classes meeting 1:50 M W F

KEEP ON Backing the Attack WITH WAR BONDS

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS



MEET ME . . .
—At—
SHANNON'S

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Write or go to nearest Navy Recruiting Station or Officer's Naval Officer Procurement for copy of new WAVES booklet.

The people who make it put a special "clinging agent," Chrystallyne, in the polish to make it hold well to the fingernail, and thus resist chipping longer. Try Dura-Gloss today.

LORR LABORATORIES • PATERSON, NEW JERSEY • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

Take a Bow!

Be flirtatiously frank in your "Beau Catching" while wearing this deliciously cool pretty Rayon Bemberg. You'll look coolest in those sunny days ahead.

Sizes 12-20 in Blue, Green, Luggage and Red.

BALDWIN'S

HAVE YOU TRIED OUT FOR THE QUIZ CONTEST?

The Rotunda

AS WE BOW OUT, WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR HELP!

VOLUME XXIII — FARMVILE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 1944 — No. 22

Dramatic Club Selects Robertson President For Coming Year's Term

Shackleford, Diggs Become Vice-Heads

At a recent meeting of the Dramatic Club, Sally Robertson, junior from Lynchburg, was elected president to succeed Lucy Manson. Other officers elected were first vice - president, Virginia Shackleford from Gloucester Point succeeding Patricia Garth; second vice-president, Carol Diggs, Farmville; secretary, Lucy Manson, Virginia Beach, succeeding Virginia Shackleford. Fay Byrd Johnson from Vinton, was reelected business manager.

SALLY ROBERTSON

The newly elected heads of the groups are acting group, Grace Loyd, Lynchburg, to succeed Olive Bradshaw; make-up group, Katherine Lynch, Lynchburg, to succeed Lucille Lewis; costume group, Jane Glenn, Farmville, to succeed Frances Shackleford; staging group, Ann Blair, Portsmouth, to succeed Carol Diggs; properties group, Carolyn Haziett, Clifton Forge, to succeed Sally Robertson; and lighting group, Lillian Elliott, Farmville, to succeed Mary St. Clair Bugg.

Patricia Garth was elected town girls secretary to succeed Ruth Brooks; Dorothy Overcash, Hampden-Sydney is the new social chairman to succeed Katherine Ruffin; Earline Kimmerling will head publicity to succed Jane Lynch; Betty Cock, Hampton, will have charge of music to succeed Ann Blair; Doris Harper will have charge of the scrapbook; and Virginia Terrell will act as parliamentarian to succeed Marion Orange.

STC Debaters Meet Lynchburg Team

Marilyn Bell, junior from Richmond; Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice; Jane Ruffin, junior from Charles City County; and Faith Weeks, sophomore from Purdy, represented Farmville State Teachers College in the debate against the Lynchburg College debating team held at STC on Thursday, March 23.

In the debate, which was non-decision, Olive Bradshaw and Faith Weeks took the affirmative side against George Williams and Jack Johnson on the negative side of the Lynchburg team, while Jane Ruffin and Marilyn Bell upheld the Farmville negative side against Dick Nils and Ed Pugh on the Lynchburg affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, that the United States should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an international police force upon the defeat of the Axis."

Plans are being made to send several representatives to Charlotte, N. C., for the Grand Eastern Tournament during the Easter holidays. In addition, an invitation has been received by the Debate Club to send representatives to the regional tournament at Lynchburg College on April 21.

Williams Names New "Y" Cabinet

3 Juniors, 6 Sophs, 2 Freshmen Chosen

Committee chairmen of the Y. W. C. A. were selected this week, according to an announcement made by Sara Byrd Williams, recently elected president.

Margie Hewlett, sophomore, of Richmond, will serve as chairman of the Church Cooperative Committee, succeeding Anne Snyder, and Jane Anderson, sophomore from Farmville, will serve as chairman of the Library Committee, succeeding Sara Moling.

The Membership Committee will be led by Virginia Treakle, sophomore from Farmville, who will succeed Hanna Lee Crawford. Connie Ozlin, sophomore from Chase City, will serve as chairman of the Music Committee again this year.

Margaret Sheffeld, freshman from Suffolk, will lead the Prayers Committee this year to succeed Agnes Stokes, and Shirley Cruser, sophomore from Norfolk, will serve as chairman of the Public Affairs Committees, succeeding Mary Anne Jarratt. The Publicity Committee will be headed by Sara Moling, junior from Winchester, who will succeed Eleanor Correll, and Pat Garth, junior from Farmville, will serve as chairman of the Service Committee, succeeding Virginia Treakle.

Betsy Fox, junior from Danville, will lead the Sing Committee to succeed Isabel Sampson, and Judy Reick, junior from West Point, will lead the Social Committee to sucedd Vivian Edmunds.

Virginia Lee Price, sophomore from Farmville, wil represent the Town Girls Club on the Y. W. C. A. this year, succeeding Pat Garth.

Officers of the Y. W. C. A. recently elected are Sara Byrd Williams, president; Mary Anne Jarratt, vice-president; Anne Martin, secretary; Minnie Lee Crumpler, treasurer, and Agnes Stoakes, freshman counselor.

Methodist Class Elects Thomas Head

Lorene Thomas, sophomore from Lawrenceville, was elected president of the Methodist Sunday School class Sunday, March 26.

Other officers elected were Florence Godwin, freshman from Smithfield, vice-president; Carolyn Alphin, sophomore from Amherst, secretary; and Evelyn Grizzard, sophomore from Drewryville, treasurer.

Hopkins To Address Student Body Friday

Dr. Thomas Hopkins, professor of education, Columbia University, will talk to the student body at Chapel and to some of the Philosophy classes earlier on Friday, March 31.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Kappa Delta Pi is giving a tea in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Hopkins in the Student Building Lounge. The faculty of the college, the faculty of the high school and the faculty of the elementary school are invited to the tea.

At this time Dr. Hopkins under the direction of the planning committee of the college will address the group on some of the important problems in teacher education.

Dr. Hopkins is a pioneer in the field of curriculum making in the public schools, having directed the curriculum programs in Denver, Colorado which preceded by several years the more familiar various city and state programs. At

Continued on Page 4

Fox Selected Pi Gamma Mu Head; Group Plans Trip

Huddle Read Paper On Vatican City's Foreign Policy Now

Betsy Fox, junior from Danville was elected last night to become president of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary fraternity in Social Science, to succeed Frances Craddock. Nancy Harrell, junior of Emporia, was chosen vice-president to succeed Sarah Trigg. Taking Bernice Copenhaver's place as secretary will be Alice Feitig, of Richmond. As treasurer, Caroline Huddle, of Farmville, was elected to succeed Sara Wayne France. Jane Waring Ruffin will act as reporter of the society to replace Betty Overcash. Miss Mary Nichols will replace Dr. Francis R. Simkins as adviser.

Betsy Fox transferred this year from Averett College, in Danville. She has recently been elected class representative on Student government. All the officers have been active in Pi Gamma Mu this year, and Jane Ruffin is editor of the Rotunda for next year.

Caraline Huddle read a paper on the foreign policy of the Vatican in the world today, and the group discussed this question topic at the meeting.

The members decided to visit the home of Thomas Jefferson, near Lynchburg next week, and about 20 girls will make the trip on Tuesday.

Initiation of new officers will take place on Tuesday night, April 11.

Former STC Student Receives Commission

Among the Spar officers commissioned at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., Wednesday, March 22, 1944, was Ensign Virginia Francis Alexander, daughter of R. P. Alexander, of Chicago, Illinois, and of the late Ellen Francis Alexander, of Roanoke. She attended Jefferson High School in that city from which she was graduated in the Class of 1938 and State Teachers College, Farmville, from which she earned an AB degree with the class of 1942.

At Farmville, she was active in the Cotillion and Spanish clubs and the Y. W. C. A. and was a member of the Athletic Association and the House Council. After studying at Cornett Business College, she was associated for a year with the Air Transport Command's cryptographic staff, being one of a selected 300 engaged in code and cipher work.

'Cinco De Mayo' Will Be Good Will Day As Festival Takes on Mexican Setting

May Day this year is to be a day of good will, or good neighbor policy with a Mexican setting, Virginia Mae Ellett, chairman, revealed last week, concerning the annual festival scheduled this year for May 5. Cinco de Mayo (Spanish for May 5) is a national holiday in all Mexico. Almost every town, village and hamlet in Mexico has a street named the Fifth of May in honor of General Ignaico Zaragon, the hero of the Battle of Puebio on May 5, '862.

It is to be made up in three scenes. The first is entitled Prelude and opens with the Hymno National Mexican, to be followed by the Lorgo movement, which shows the Indian as that fellow of this strange, exotic land, a primitive who stands immovable by time and centuries. By contrast the next section shows the Mexican as the andante movement. Both of these will be group dances by Orchesis, their apprentices and girls from the modern dance fundamentals class.

The second scene is laid in a market square. It is filled with color, gayety, and the poking of honest clean fun at ourselves, the "los Americanos". When the scene first opens, the Indians are seen on their way to market. To Miss Barksdale of the Spanish department, they always run with their wares piled high atop their heads. Then the Mexicans leisurely stroll in to their stalls in the market. They have come from the provinces of Jolisco, Micoacan, Yucatan and Mexico. Some sell, some sing, some just sit in the sun waiting until the American tourists come. They vie with another to outbid their competitor for the lavish money which flows from the tourists' pockets.

Scene three is a fiesta. Gayety color, song and dance reign. The Mexicans gather from near and far provinces to show their representative dances from each of the principal states.

The Jarabe is the national

Continued on Page 4

College Choir Journeys to Duke . . . Pedigo To Conduct Quiz Contest

V-12 Unit, S. T. C. To Vie April 19

Preliminary Tests Given This Week

Phyllis Pedigo, of the American Red Cross, and a former S. T. C. student will serve as mistress of ceremonies at the Hampden-Sydney-S. T. C. quiz program on April 19 in the S. T. C. auditorium. This will mark Miss Pedigo's second return to her Alma Mater. As one of the principle speakers here on Founders Day, she related to alumnae and students many of her experiences in Australia and the South Pacific Islands, where she has done outstanding work.

As mistress of ceremonies, it will be her part to ask the questions and keep the spirit of vitality high with spicy remarks concerning the questions.

Five students of S. T. C. will battle their wits against five representatives of the V-12 unit of Hampden-Sydney. This is the fourth year of the contest that was originally given its boost by the ODK chapter at Hampden-Sydney, and that has been taken over by the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Every member of the student body of S. T. C. has been given an opportunity to participate in a written preliminary test for choosing contestants, and oral tests will be given later on this week to select the final participants. Members of the faculty and

Continued on Page 4

Dale Chosen Prexy Of Alpha Phi Sigma

Patsy Dale, of Homeville, Virginia, was elected president of Alpha Phi Sigma, freshman-sophomore honorary society to succeed Carolyn Bobbit, of South Hill. Succeeding Connie Ozlin in the position of vice-president will be Mary Stuart Buford, of Lawrenceville.

Other officers elected were Ann Carter, of Cumberland, recording secretary, to succeed Lucy Bowling; Rachel Brugh, Roanoke, corresponding secretary, succeeding Rosa Hill; Page Cooke, LaCrosse, treasurer, to succeed Dorothy Overcash; reporter, Dot Turley, Wytheville, to succeed Lelia Holloway; and Anna Headlee, Norfolk, chaplin to succeed Margaret Park.

PHYLLIS PAYNE PEDIGO

Prize - Winning Poem Featured In New Colonnade

Ann Snyder's prize - winning poem, "To My Brother, A Navy Flyer" will be featured in the March issue of the Colonnade, which will be distributed this week. Other poems entered in the Colonnade Poetry Contest will appear in this issue of the Colonnade, also.

Three stories will be in this issue, among which is a mystery story 'Cross Currents" written by Marylin Bell. This is one of the first murder mysteries ever written by an STC student.

One of the new features of the magazine will be a quiz, composed by Jane Knapton, to test the knowledge of the students on well known authors.

As a special feature, there will be an interview with Phyllis Pedigo, STC alumna, now connected with the Red Cross. Miss Pedigo spoke to the alumnae and students on Founder's Day on her experiences with the Red Cross in Australia.

This issue of the Colonnade is the final issue by the present staff.

Hallisy Appointed Association Head

Mr. Richard G. Hallisy, head of the commercial Department, has recently been appointed Chairman of the typewriting section of the Eastern Commercial Teachers Association.

The 47th Annual Convention of the E.C.T.A. will be held in the Hotel Franklin in Philadelphia from April 5 through April 8. The program will be centered around Post - War Planning in Typewriting, and Mr. Hallisy is chairman of the program to be held Friday morning, April 7.

Final pledges for the War Chest Drive have been received, raising the total amount to $1,542.20 topping the set goal, Mary Anne Jarrett, Chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA, announced this week.

Of the total amount, $500 was given to the World Student Service Fund, and the remainder was turned over to the Red Cross.

Dr. George W. Jeffers served as Chairman of the Faculty Drive in Cooperation with the Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA.

The War Chest Drive was opened on the Campus January 12 and terminates with the final contributions made by the faculty this week.

Combined Choirs To Sing Requiem

2,000 People Will Attend Concert

Sixty-two members of the College Choir will attend the annual oratoria event to be held at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina, April 2. Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department, has announced.

Leaving Farmville at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning, the group will rehearse at 12 noon with the Duke University Choir at the Duke chapel, after which the servicemen stationed there will take the girls out to dinner. At 4 o'clock there will be the presentation of Brahm's Requiem in the chapel by the combined choirs. Mr. Broadhurst, organist at Duke University, will accompany the group, and Mr. J. Foster Barnes will direct.

Lucy Messick, president of the College Choir, will be presented to the Duke group and will give a response to the welcome given by one of the Duke choir members.

Following the presentation of the Requiem, the girls will be entertained at tea by the Duke officials. Sunday evening a miscellaneous program will be presented at which time Farmville will feature the Madrigal Singers and the Senior A'Capella in four numbers.

The group will be accompanied by Dr. J. E. Waimsley and Mr. Alfred H. Strick and will make the trip in station wagons. Anne Blair is in charge of transportation, assisted by Julia Messick, Jean Prosise, and Margaret Thomas.

Word has reached Farmville from Duke that 2000 persons will be in attendance at this annual concert.

Moore Elected Head Of Baptist Students

Gertrude Moore, junior from Danville, was recently elected president of the Baptist Student Union to succeed Ella Pool. Miss Frances Copenhaver, Baptist Student Secretary, announced this week.

Louise Putney, sophomore from Guinea Mills, was elected first vice-president to succeed Virginia Treakle and Georgia Knight, junior from Appalachin was elected to succeed Mary Elizabeth Fuqua. The third vice-president for next year is Alice Lee Davis, junior from Wholeyville, suceeding Mary Ellen Petty.

Jo Bailey, freshman from Brookneal was elected recording secretary to succeed Alice Buck, and Alice Buck, sophomore from Baltimore, Maryland, was selected statistical secretary to succeed Rachel Joyner. Lois Lloyd Sheppard, sophomore from Stuart, was elected treasurer to succeed Louise Putney. The publicity director will be Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, sophomore from Cape Charles, who succeeds Lois Lloyd Sheppard.

Eleanor Corell, junior from Portsmouth, was elected Chorister, and Ellen Bailey, sophomore from Brookneal, was elected pianist, to succeed Eileen Bowles, musical director.

Evelyn Hair, freshman from Danville, will succeed Eleanor Corell as reporter.

Mary Ellen Petty, sophomore from Wren, was elected Sunday School president to succeed Mae Dunnavant; Virginia Treakle, sophomore from Farmville, was elected Training Union president to succeed Anne Snyder; and Neil

Continued on Page 3

We Are Going---But We Do Look Back

As this issue of the Rotunda goes to press, our term as editors expire. This has been a good year and we have been fortunate, so fortunate that we are loathe to sing our Swan Song, even though we realize our time for doing so has arrived.

There is much to be learned from working on a college weekly, and we feel benefiettd in many ways by our year's work (or should we call it play?) As we turn our doll house over to the new staff to play with, work with,and love for a year, we look with grateful hearts to the fate that made our own such year possible. We breathe a sigh of relief even as we shed a tear of regret—We have had our chance, we have done our best, and now it is over. But the experiences which have set this year apart as golden are marked indelibly on our memories.

To think back on it will be to think back on a loyal and fun-loving staff. (It requires love of fun and the finding of fun in putting out a paper to make a successful staff.) It will be remembering the hopeless feeling of "not enough copy", the despair that reigns when columns are not in, the delight that accompanies all copy being in on time. A feeling of thanks and admiration to our advisor, Mr. Holton, and to Mr. Harry Lancaster, without whom we would have been at a loss from the time we put out our first issue, will temper our reminiscence. It will be mingled with appreciation to the faculty, to the administration and to the students for inspiration and help.

We envy the new staff, and we wish them the best of cooperation and the same keen sense of enjoyment we have known. They have before them an opportunity to serve—and they have in themselves the qualities to meet to the fullest these opportunities.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1926

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 1944

Leading Means Serving, Growing, Learning

As the spring quarter gathers speed and student offices change hands, the question of leadership qualities again looms into view. There are those "leaders" who feel that their goal is attained when they become elected.

But their test of true service and of real leadership is just beginning. For those who go into offices humbly, realizing their task, and resolving to give it their be st effort, and, with the aid of every member, to make something worthwhile of the organization, there is much to be reaped as she grows in character, poise, and ability, with her job.

As a leader here, she will gain the invaluable experience of working with others. If she realizes that she has been given the opportunity to serve rather than an honor in which to revel, she has gained her first step. If she can go through the year in the knowledge that she doesn't know everything, but that she wants to learn and that she wants to help others to learn, she will be a better leader.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The only thing which can be said about the Cassino campaign is that it has been a better disappointment. The ability of the Germans to reorganize and make a stand in the ruins of Cassino was surprising, and so effective that the Allies have even stopped their assault. This battle may indeed be called a failure, and this experience will make a definite imprint on the Allied soldiers.

* * * *

The news from the Russian front seems even more cheerful after reading about the Italian campaign. For the first time, the Soviets have driven the Germans from Russian soil. They are within four miles of Cernanti, the gateway city of the Balkans. The First Army of Russia has been able to drive into the enemy's communication lines to the south with outstanding success, and there seems little reason to doubt the continued success of the Reds.

* * * *

Changing their attack on Rabaul slightly, the Allies bombed buildings, all types and sizes, destroying 145, in a new attempt to crush the Japanese base.

Paramushiro and Annekotan Islands in the Kuriles have been bombed for the sixth time this month. Only one plane was lost by the Allies.

The Japanese attempted to capture Torokina on Bougainville Island, but they were hurled back and suffered a heavy loss of lives. This attack was made during daylight which is very unusual.

The Americans and Chinese are closing in on the Japanese in the Mogaung Valley of Northern Burma. The Allied life lines are still threatened by the invasion from India by the Japanese, but on the whoel, the enemy has sueffred heavy loss of life and the attacks have not been successful.

* * * *

Probably of greatest national interest today is the battle beween Walter Winchell and the Dies Committeee. This has been going on for some time, but now a congressional investigation of Winchell's broadcasts and articles is being held, although he has not bee ncalled to defend himself. The outcome will be of great interest to the people.

Scuttlebutt

With exams quietly a part of the past, activities have revived as usual. Anway, it's spring and in the spring a young lady's fancy lightly turns to what she's been thinking about all winter—love!

If you don't believe it ask Shirley Cruser. After all, didn't "Lulu" come all the way from the far corners for only 10 hours in Farmville? That's bound to mean something!!

The funniest short, short story of the week comes from Betty Bibb's Tech man, who, when arriving at S. T. C. Saturday was seen wearing a regular pair of glasses. However, before he left he had changed over to dark glasses—could it be he was so dazzled by the sights?!

Martha Russell was seen this week end—this time with the young Hardy lad. How that gal does get around!

Terrell, how did you find your blind date? You looked interested—to say the least.

Our sympathy goes to Mildred Droste who left town and missed her tall and good-looking. Dugger didn't do too bad a job of trying to keep him entertained, however.

And didn't our mouth all fly wide open when Rennecker and none other than Bobby Dixon walked into the dance!!

The face of one Madelyn Ayers never stopped beaming after her O. and O arrived Saturday. Can't much blame her, either.

If you don't believe there's such a thing as a cardboard image of your man, just go to Lou Baker and she'll show you. Quite novel!

It's hardly possible that Sara Jefferies' man can be over-looked especially since he stayed surrounded by girls the entire week end.

Elsie's brother, "Stumpy" made it again this week end. This time with Marilyn B.

Cutest couple on the dance floor Saturday nite was Betty Harville and her twin brother.

Another funny story: Olive Bradshaw had a blind date and he turned out to be her cousin—not a distant one either. Not much thrill involved there, eh Olive?!

Aline Boss's heart is still fluttering from Bill's visit last week.

Who was that seen in Shannon's Monday afternoon? None other than the Philhower and Tynes. Variety is definitely the spice of life!

Mildred Corvin isn't doing so bad with her latest—the Lt. from Pickett. It seems to have become an every night affair.

If the student body wasn't mistaken, that looked like Fanny Craddock's Felly drifting around campus Saturday and Sunday.

Another "noticed" on the campus Saturday was Gwen Ackiss and the Romeo from Tennessee!

Margie Hewlett certainly knows the secret of how to handle a midshipman 4 straight days!! Whew!

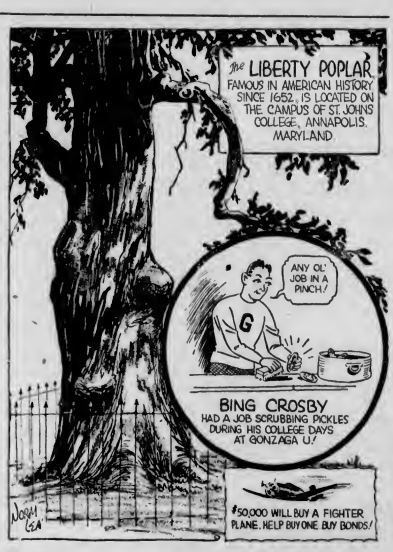
An orchid or two here goes to Eleanor Wade and her committee for the novel ideas about the gym decorations.

(PAID ADVERTISEMENT)

Girls—Enroll now—don't delay! Become a member of the Du Trigg and the Du Vaughan Success School, rivaled only by the Du Barry Success Course but that's in N Y and this is HERE! Make the most of your assets—and do it the Du Trigg and Du Vaughan Way. You will emerge completely rejuvenated and revived and reincarnated. When He proposes, you can sigh gratefully, "I'm go glad I took that Du Trigg and Du Vaughan Success Course. I owe it all to them!" Rates according to amount of overhauling to be done. For further info apply at CH 97.

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER



Tonight the new YWCA Cabinet will be installed in prayers. We are proud of them and know they will do a good job. This has been a good year for the Y. Let's make this next one even better.

Don't forget bandage rolling Thursday night.

Sing Contest is over. The discussion will be made and the winner will be announced next week.

We have had some very good sings this year, but there could have been more if we had cooperated better with those in charge.

Don't forget to go to Prayers.

Question of the Week

What does spring mean to you this year?

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

HACKY MOORE: A lot!

BETTY BRIDGFORTH: If it did mean anything, it wouldn't do me any good right at this point.

PHYLLIS WATTS: Everyone lives again. Great time! I love it!

MARY PRESTON SHEFFEY: Wobins!

ELEANOR WADE: Means summer's on the way.

DODIE JONES: I don't know, I 'clare I don't know.

POLLY MOORE: It means Nelson is coming home, commission, wings and ALL!

BETSY CALDWELL: Spring? Lots of time to play.

OLIVE BRADSHAW: Means I don't have to wear socks.

BETTY LOU HAYWARD: It means I'm gonna get spring fever and sunburn.

MARILYN BELL: Another season to continue my man hunt.

JO McCLUNG: Onions in the milk.

CATHERINE STONER: Means that home's sweeter than ever.

ROSALIE JONES: Last quarter before I get a job.

"KIT" JOHNSON: The blooming of love.

SHIRLEY GIBSON: Eight more weeks of school.

RACHEL BOURNE: Who, me? Ha!

DORIS HARPER: Easter vacation.

HELEN G. McINDOE: Birth of the trees, tra la, tra la!

CARLOTTA NORFLEET: Not a whole lot!

MARIAN ATKINSON: Spring fever.

KITTY WRIGHT: Spring brings Chock to me!

MINNIE LEE CRUMPLER: Ah - - - -!!

Confused Contest-ers Drag On Through Difficulty; Gulp Aspirin

The hour is late . . . very, very late, and the weary would-be contestants in the Quiz Contest finally sigh, straighten out the three long, mimeographed sheets of blanks, preceded by questions, sign the pledge with a much-chewed stub of a pencil, and agree that now that they're through they can at last become conversational again, and compare a couple of innocent notes.

"Whatta they think we are, geographers 'At its nearest point, how far is Alaska from Siberia?' My cow . . . I never even thought of the two in connection with each other before."

"No, we hafta be romanticists . . . 'Whose dark beauty won the love of two noble Romans?'"

"Well, it sure wasn't Hedy Lamar . . . how 'bout 'Give the names of the husbands of the Soong sisters'! Frankly, who were the Soong sisters?"

"Could any of y'all 'name two distinguished educational philosophers over seventy years old who are living now'? Me, either. I couldn't even name any dead!"

One speech student smiled knowingly. "Thanks to Miss Wheeler I at least knew 'which current play had the longest New York run', but this thing on 'What's the North Atlantic Ocean got that the North Pacific hasn't' sounds like 'What's Camp Pickett got that Hampden - Sydney hasn't?' and one makes as much sense as the other."

"Aw, g'wan . . . you know the North Atlantic has a Marine the North Pacific hasn't" . . . and she ducked a well aimed pillow!

"'Does the sun move?'?"

"Be original! 'Are all evergreens cone-bearing'?"

"Gosh, I'm hungry . . . can't you offer anything besides aspirin around here?"

"Questions, questions, questions!! The aspirin suited you fine half an hour ago! If it's this complicated in the preliminary tryouts, think of the actual contest. I just don't think I can hand this in. Hey . . . I'm hungry, too."

"'How tall was Napoleon?'?"

"That's beside the point . . . the subject was food . . . 'What product does Betty Crocker advertise?'?"

"Yeah . . . and you ol' Home Ec Majors, 'In what country is it against the law to peel potatoes before cooking?'?"

"And what, for Pete's sake, is tapioca made out of? I'm a math major myself."

"Well you all, look . . . there are more darned animals and birds and what-have-you around Farmville than anywhere in Virginia, but this one stumped me: 'Which of these animals can crow? Hackney, Doberman, Angus, Andulasian, Brahma.' Ye gods . . . I thought only roosters and men could crow . . . and babies."

"I felt like a baby doing this one . . . 'Give the full names of the cat, turtle, and hare in "Alice and in Wonderland"', but I could not crow over it."

"Don't y'all laugh, but the Bible ones were the easiest ones of all, and I saw Jane sweating like a heathen 'cause they were the ones she couldn't do!"

"Doggone right I couldn't do 'em. I knew who printed the first Bible, but when it asks 'What two chapters in the Bible are exactly alike, 'I was forced to believe Mr. Gutenburg had made a vital printers' typographical error or something."

"And 'who was the first monk to become a Pope'! Maybe the person who submitted that ques-

Continued on Page 3

Dance Group Elects Ellis President, Lovins, Secretary

Succeeding Ruth Dugger from Denbigh, Va., to presidency of Orchesis is Betty Ellis, sophomore from Coral Gables, Florida.

In the position of secretary is Edith Lovins, Cumberland, taking the place of Lillian Goddin from Richmond. The new treasurer, Betsy Caldwell from Sweet Briar, succeeds Gloria Pollard from Richmond. As new costume chairman Pat Garth, Farmville, takes the place of Virginia Mae Ellett from Crewe. Assuming the position of historian is Mary Crank, from Richmond.

BETTY ELLIS

At the present time Orchesis is working on dances for May Day.

STC Basketeers Defeat Pickett Wac's

Farmville STC cagers defeated the Medic division of the Wac's at Camp Pickett last Friday, March 24 with a score of 47 to 7. The game was played in the field house at Pickett with a large body of spectators cheering both teams.

Making the trip were the honorary squad with Patsy Connelly, captain, Dottie Sue Simmons, Eleanor Wade, Billy Wald, Helen Wilson, Rosa Hill, Louise Blaine, Rebecca Tomlinson, Betty Parrish, Mary Walker Watts, Margaret Lohr, and Lillian Ellett. Chaperones were Miss Olive Iler, coach and Miss Barlow, and Shirley Pierce, score keeper.

Captain Shuttleworth, captain of the Was team will bring the team to Farmville Friday night, March 31 for a return game. The game will be played in the college gym at 8 p. m., and afterward the team will swim in the college pool. This schedule has been the only game for this season varsity squad because of difficulty in securing games due to the war.

Waste Paper in Britain

About 3,500,000 long tons (3,920,000 American tons) of waste paper have been collected in Great Britain since the start of the war. Some 75,000,000 books were collected in 1943 and those badly damaged were converted into pulp.

WANTED! Twenty-six S. T. C.-'ers to volunteer to be in two of the May Day dances. Five couples are needed for the Jarana to be taught by Gloria Pollard and Lucy Harvie, and eight couples for the Sandunga to be taught by Betty Ellis and Lillian Goddin. Don't miss this chance to help participate in May Day. See Virginia Mae Ellett if you want to be in the dances.

Peoples National Bank

Farmville, Virgiina

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE

Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Reds Triumph Over Greens 34-22 In Interclass Swimming Tourney

Points Count Five Toward Color Cup

Red and White triumphed over Green and White 34 to 22 in the annual interclass swimming meet in the pool Monday night, March 27. The meet was witnessed by a large body of spectators who were there cheering for their colors and swimmers for color cup points.

Entered in the meet were swimmers from all four classes swimming in the events scheduled to take place. The first event was the 40 yard crawl free-style with Ruth Dugger, red and white, placing first place. In the 40 yard back crawl, Gloria Pollard placed first, Isabel Sampson, second from the red and white team, and Kit Kersley, third, from the green and white. For the 40 yard breast Frances Lee placed first and Jean Smith, second from the red and green team respectively.

A 75 yard medley was placed first by the green and white team composed of Betty Lou Hayword, breast stroke; Kit Kersley, back crawl; and Robin Lear, front crawl. The red and white team was made up of Gloria Pollard, back crawl; Frances Lee, breast stroke; and Ruth Dugger, front crawl. In the 100 yard relay Isabel Sampson, Phyllis Watts, Gloria Pollard, and the green and white team a second with Dot Owen, Robin Lear, Lucy Barger, and Betty Lou Hayward.

Diving events were competed by Gloria Pollard, Robin Lear and Jean Smith. Each diver was required three dives, the front or swan, back, and front pack-knife. Two optional were required: Pollard using the front one and a half tuck and back sommersault, Lear, the forward sommersault, and back sommersault tuck, and Smith the front jack and one-half twist and hand stand. Pollard placed first, Lear placed second, and Smith, third.

The swimming meet was under the management of Grace Loyd. Judges, time, and score were Miss Elizabeth Burger, Miss Olive Iler, and Miss Mary Barlow. Shirley Pierce, Patsy Connelly, and Mildred Droste.

STC Places Fourth In Telegraphic Meet

State Teachers College placed fourth in the southern region final results of the 1944 Southern Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming meet. Others placed in the reglon were Mary Washington College, first; Florida State College for Women, second; Duke University, third; Sophie Newcomb College, fifth; and Mary Baldwin, sixth place.

Every year the colleges of the various regions enter the telegraphic meet and results are sent in to headquarters of the meet and time compared between different events in the colleges. Farmville is located in the southern region of which six colleges enterel. In the 40 yard crawl Ruth Dugger placed tenth and Lucy Barger eleventh from S. T. C. Gloria Pollard placed eighth in the 40 yard back crawl. In the 40 yard breast Frances Lee was ninth place.

Placing third in the 75 yard medley relay were Gloria Pollard, Frances Lee, and Ruth Dugger, and in the 100 yard free style relay on teams placed second with Lucy Barger, Katherine Parker, Robin Lear, and Ruth Dugger swimming.

The STC team did not place in the major results of which Mary Washington College and Florida State College for Women placed first and second respectively. In the minor results we ranked second along with Duke University, first, Sophie Newcomb third, and Mary Baldwin, fourth. In this group we placed in the 40 yard crawl, 40 yard back crawl, 40 yard breast, 75 yard relay, and 100 yard relay.

Confused Contest-ers

Continued from Page 2

tion can remember back that far, but blamed if I can!"

"Well, did you know "What's the youngest religion in the world?'?"

"Not 'less it's Narism".

"Hey, you navy gals . . . 'what's the dif between a mile on land and a mice on sea ?'?"

"They're twice as far when his ship's at sea!"

"Is this a Biblical one . . . 'Who was it saw four young men on a firey furnace'?"

Whoever it was must have been a drunk . . .

"Good grief . . . if I saw four young men I wouldn't want 'em in a firey furnace, 'Give the boiling points on Farenheit and Centigrade scales.''

"Confidentially, I've boiled enough over these . . . let's open the window and get some sleep."

"Yeah . . . I've gotta go study psychology . . . and look up some history. It might not be a bad idea to memorize the encyclopedia, too, before this contest comes up. Thanks for the moral support . . . y'all study up on those questions and character-studies and all before the contest, hear? G'nite . . ."

"Good night . . . I'll see ya in class . . . and hey, Patsy, bring the encyclopedia along, will ya?"

SPRING SPORTS SCHEDULE

ARCHERY—2:50 p. m.	Monday, Wednesday, Thursday
BADMINTON—3:50 p. m.	Monday, Tuesday, Thursday
GOLF—3:50	Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
SOFTBALL—4:50	Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
SWIMMING—2:50	Monday, Wednesday
Freshman—3:00	Tuesday, Thursday
Beginners class—4:00	Tuesday, Thursday
GYMNASTICS No. 318—4:50 p. m.	Tuesday, Wednes., Thurs.
TENNIS—1:50	Tuesday, Thursday
3:50	Monday, Wednesday

S. T. C. Students

Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA

Wilson's

Firestone Store

311 West Third Street

Rytex Stationery

$1.00 A BOX
Blue—Yellow—White

Martin the Jeweler

The beauty of our business is—

Flowers

COLLINS FLORIST

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES

College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
(High Street)

BUTCHER'S

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films

Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll

Southside Drug Store

Left Lead

"Shoulders back, chest up, keep your heels down, thighs high, up, up, up . . ." Keep 'em goin' round this corner now . . . don't let him stop behind MacArthur . . ." And all the other details that make up the same old cry are tirelessly repeated by Joyce, but to new classes this time . . . she hasn't even had time to count the vast number of newcomers to the riding squad this quarter. All we know is that it's an even larger number than were signed up fall quarter, and that the schedules are full and confusing, and the horses will be kept busier than somewhat.

Despite a week of inactivity, they've been pretty well behaved, though, and willing to work. Tuesday afternoon found beginner McGuire getting a good start on Lindy, and with moral support from Princess, Midnight, MacArthur, and Winnie, but Winine was mostly taking it easy in the center, and Princess found the yellow forsythia across the street and the green sprouts of new grass more alluring than the mud of the ring

It was quite a class.

One of the most spectacular lessons of the afternoon involved unexpected assistance for Joyce from an unexpected source. One of the beginners was prodding her mount along with an energetic heel, and Joyce found it necessary to explain the art of kicking with the outside heel. That's so the judges (if any) won't see too much of it, as well as to help the horse take the right lead for a canter. At any rate, right in the middle of the explanation, MacArthur took it upon himself to offer visual aid in the form of a direct demonstration . . . He "hauled off 'n' kicked" Midnight . . . and he kicked with his outside hoof!!

Says Beginner McGuire . . . "I'm scared of Mac" . . . and she was riding LINDY!!

Our old friend Jim, the horse-sized dog, was pretty much in evidence too. He stuck to the center with Winnie and various and sundry spectators, and the whole crowd became quite well acquainted. He'll find himself saddled yet if he doesn't stay 'way from the stables.

'Clie Jones showed up with some fairly good pictures of Princess at a rack, and one or two other shots around the ring. If you want to try for action shots, there'll be plenty of willing subjects in the jumpers later on. IF the ground ever dries out.

Plans are still coming along for the Horse Show. In case you had not heard by now, the date as announced (May 21st) was a slight slip of the calendar. The show will be the 20th . . . the 21st is on Sunday . .

Yup, any day now will probably find the girls treking off to Longwood to start repair on the rail fence around the ring out there, and when they start totin' white-wash, you'll know the time is near. And plans are in line for participants (riding club members) to spend the night at the cabin afterward, so who knows? Anything can happen and probably will.

In the meantime, there's plenty to do right in town, so brush off your boots and make up those classes you've missed!

Stay on the blt.

Pegasus

EASTER IS HERE!

Get your Permanent now. Avoid the rush and hurry of Easter week

Dozens of fine permanents to choose from

As low as 4.95
As high as 20.00

We are Experts in Cold Waving

The World's Finest Cold Waves
$10.00 $15.00 $20.00

BALDWIN'S

Phone 159

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Exams are over, and the new quarter has started with the turning over of new leaves to make this the best quarter of all. In athletics, swimming, tennis, archery and softball will take the lead on the sports schedule. Spring is here, and it is only natural for you to want to get out in the open, so come on all you athletes, go out for sports, it will make you want to try it again next year.

GYMNASTICS

Offered to the upperclassmen three times a week, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday is a gymnastics class under the direction of Miss Olive Iler. This is the first quarter this class has been offered, and it should prove to be a popular one. Tests of skill, strength and balance will be offered throughout the quarter and it should be interesting for all concerned.

If you can't get it on your schedule this last quarter of the year, try it next year when you can find the time. See Miss Iler about it, maybe there is a chance you can still get in to it.

SWIMMING

Interclass swimming starts this week so support your colors by coming to the meets, and cheering your favorite mermaid on to victory. This year's meet is under the direction of freshman Grace Loyd. It's too late to get your practices in now, but think about them for next year, when again the long struggle for points for the color cup will begin again.

Recreational swimming is being held during the afternoons this quarter, and it has proved already to be fun. Gather up the gang and come down to the ole swimmin' hole some afternoon, you'll find it fun and certainly refreshing. Those of you who have been spending the time on the roof getting that tan, come down and swim awhile to get in practice for the summer at the beach.

SOFTBALL

Softball practices are to be held each afternoon the hour before supper, so those of you who plan to come out for the team be sure to start this week in getting in your eight practices. This is the last major sport for this year, and the competition should be keen the final day of the game between the green and whites, and red and whites.

Informal get-to-gethers will probably be held just after supper while it is still quite bright, to practice up on pitching and catching. Practice makes perfect, and both teams are going to try hard, as they have tried in all the other athletic events of this year. Don't you want to be a part in this?

Until next week, adieu. Don't get your noses too red, and don't let your back peel from too much of ole man Sol.

Moore Elected

Continued from Page 1

Scott, sophomore from Stuart, was elected Y.W.A. president to succeed Gertrude Moore. Marion Addleman, freshman from Farmville, was elected as the town girl representative, succeeding Margaret Smith.

Frances Lee Hawthorne, senior from South Boston and retiring president of the YWCA, was an ex-officio member of the Council during this year.

Installation of the new officers was held at the Baptist Church last Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

EASTER FRESHNESS
FOR EVERY COSTUME

Marvelous accessories for every Easter costume! Stunning new bags, fresh gloves—and the prettiest hats imaginable! Come pick your Easter spice here—at tiny, tiny prices.

BAGS from $1.98
GLOVES from $1.98
HATS from $1.98

DAVIDSON'S

Pastels Awaken to Greet Spring With Startling Combinations

By JANE SMITH

On the bulletin board on first floor Library building Gamma Psi presents an exhibit of spring color combinations. Some combine two shades of the same color and others are composed of two opposing colors. In fall and winter most startling effects are made with black and some shade of a light color. But come spring, the pastels come out of hibernation and await new and better combination.

A few months ago a fashion magazine described a room done completely in green and blue. To most people, that would be unheard of. Yet, by carefully choosing tints and shades of each, you may create a startling effect without causing a clash between the colors or between you and your friends.

Three color effects are smart if skilfully blended. Since shoes are limited to conservative colors, accessory color depends on hats, scarves, gloves or bags. Tri-color combinations can be worked out using a simple solid pastel suit, a hat with two colors and a bag and gloves to match either or both of those colors.

Favorite colors this year seem to be purple and its correspondents, lavender, lilac and periwinkle and a rosy red, called cherry. Both of these combine excellently with shades of yellow. Some shades of blue will harmonize with purple and some are very good with cherry-green, which is the true spring time color which can be used to blend suitably with most pale pastels.

Color combinations are endless. Take your imagination out of storage with your spring clothes and dream up something new under the sun.

Senior AST Members Entertained at Tea

Alpha Sigma Tau sorority entertained senior members of the chapter with a tea last Sunday afternoon in the chapter room. The girls brought their dates and other guests included Miss Virginia Bedford and Miss Mary Nichols.

Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority held their annual banquet last Friday night in the College Tea Room. The chapter colors were carried out on the place card designed by Pat Maddox. Guests included Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Ruth Gleaves, and Miss Rachel Royall.

May Day

Continued from Page 1

dance of all Mexico danced alike by the young and small to those still agile on their feet. The authentic costumes the China Poblana worn by the women and the Charro worn by the men is always worn for the fiesta. The Sandunga a native Tehuana dance from Tehuantepec, comes from the eastern coast of Mexico. There is a legend about the headpiece worn by the women. It seems that a ship was wrecked near this coast and numerous baby dresses of wide flounces were washed ashore. The Tehuanas salvaged them by using them as a head covering for all occasions.

The Jarana is a native dance of Jucatan. The women dance in a very straight, dignified fashion, arms held up, elbows to the side, the hips never moving and the head held high. In contests they vie with one another to see how many men's hats they can pile on their heads without dropping them. The dance of the old men, or Los Viejuitas is a religious dance of Michoacan, in which the characters portray pantomimically the gesture of very aged men, who as the dance progresses become younger, until they are agile, virile youth who only until the end realize they are at heart old men.

The Jicara, a tray dance, in Tarascan Indian costume is another fiesta type. The object is to show the beauty of the trays which are loaded with fruits and flowers which are presented to the visitors or guest, the Americanos.

May Day Committee Proves Cooperation Makes Fete Possible

"In getting our supplies and decorations for May Day this year, we have begged, borrowed, but have not yet stolen anything," quoted Miss Emily Kauzlarich at the first meeting last Thursday night of this year's May Day participants. Everything obtained for "Cinco de Mayo" has been obtained so far by these most devious means.

Alpha Kappa Gamma has donated the circus booths as the background of market stalls. Cotillion Club has given the platform used for all the dance bands, as one of the platforms on which the dancers will dance. Crepe paper has been asked for from each organization which has had to use it at all this year for any activity. From the home department are to come the trays which will be used in the Jicara or tray dance done by one of the groups. The laundry has volunteered its services in dying the material for costumes.

The vendors or merchants are asking for any old shoes, boots, trinkets, broken chairs and even live animals like a chicken to give their market scene a colorful aspect. Those taking Spanish are to participate in the street scenes, by taking parts of street criers or singers. They will combine their linguistic accomplishments to give this all in Spanish. The faculty has been asked to donate blankets, serapes, pottery, gourds and trays. If any of the student body wants to contribute something to help make May Day authentic, see Mary Moore McCorkle who is chairman of the staging and property committee.

And the costuming!

Headache, insomnia, harass! Before Christmas the costume committee for May Day was assured of all its materials. So far only half of it is obtainable, so they have resorted to contriving, reviewing and surmising all sorts of articles. All groups will be costumed in something old, something new, something borrowed, and even something blue.

Fortunately every scrap of extra material from last year's May Day has been saved. Eighty-six yards of muslin from last year will outfit one group, and thanks to Mr. Padgett from Davidson's, one hundred yards will outfit another group. Another group will be outfitted by the resurrection of dyeing old skirts of Orchesis, unless the materials arrive before April 1.

Even the Court has had its ups and downs. Two alternates have been placed before them. Either an all white court, or a chartreuse green with the maid of honor in cerise and the queen in white. To date the gremlins are still taunting the maidens as to the best choice.

Hopkins to Address

Continued from Page 1

that time he was professor of education at the University of Colorado and in consequence of his outstanding achievement in the field, he was elected professor of education at Teachers College, Columbia, the position which he now holds.

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

★ PERSONALITY ★ SENIOR ★

RUTH DUGGER
President of Orchesis

Can your turkle? Do you know that May 13 is officially Happie Turkle Day? Well, if you are blissfully unaware of the solemn ceremony of turkle, then life has passed you by, my friend. The authority on the subject is none other than the object of this column—one Ruth Dugger, christened Ruth by the minister, dubbed Dugger by her classmates. Of course being able to turkle is only one side of Dugger's many sided personality. Everyone has a personality, we're told, and it can be either positive or negative. Dugger's is positive. Even her devotion to turkling has not prevented her from assuming the duties of president of Orchesis, treasurer of the class, class giftorian and dance chairman of May Day. Not only is she manager of tennis but she has held the title of champion for the past two years.

On the lighter side, Dugger firmly believes in a laugh a day, etc., etc., and is possessed of a dry wit which is bound to crop up at the most unexpected times. On the more serious side we can safely say that Dugger had rather have a tooth pulled than go to class with a lesson unprepared. In spite of the fact that she loves to play, she takes her work seriously and makes a sharp distinction between the two. A more loyal friend couldn't be found—for Dugger is always ready to listen to any tale of woe, to offer advice, and to help others when the going is tough. She has worked hard for Red and White, winning points for the color cup by swimming and playing tennis. In other words, she's got the "spirit."

She's especially partial to fig newtons, a good joke, and the Reader's Digest; and she violently dislikes to roll up her hair, war marriages, and rainy days (because she can't get a sun tan then!) We haven't time or space to go into the subject of Dugger and Men but at this point she says there's safety in numbers!

Food Packages to Holland

All Netherlanders living in the United States may now send food packages to occupied Holland. Previously, packages were allowed to be sent only to members of the armed forces and the merchant marine.

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.
The basic entrance requirements are intelligence, aptitude for nursing, and character. During the War, high school graduates who have not had college work, including chemistry, should enroll in the special Pre-Nursing Course offered in this School, which will begin July 3, 1944. Those who successfully complete this pre-nursing course, and other students with acceptable college work will begin September 29, 1944. Tuition for the pre-nursing course is $100.00 and $100.00 per year for the nursing. This covers the cost of instruction and maintenance. Students joining the United States Nurse Cadet Corps will have no tuition to pay and will receive uniforms and stipends. Kellogg Loan Funds for tuition are also available. Catalogue and application forms should be obtained from: The Dean of the School of Nursing, Nurham, North Carolina.

Many Clerks Needed For Federal Service

The Civil Service Commission has just announced an examination for arithmetical clerk to fill positions in Washington, D. C., only. The salaries are $1,970 and $2,190 a year, including overtime pay. The Commission expects that it will be necessary to fill several thousands such positions this year.

Applications should be filed with the Civil Service Commission, at Washington, D. C. Further information forms may be obtained at first- and second-class post offices, or from the commissions regional or Washington offices.

Quiz Contest

Continued from Page 1

students of both colleges and prominent citizens of Farmville have entered questions for use in the contest. Miss Elizabeth Burger and Mr. M. B. Coyner have assisted the student chairmen in selecting the questions to be used both for the preliminary quizzes and for the actual contest.

Members of Alpha Kappa Gamma comprise the committees in charge of this program, with Ella Banks Weathers serving as general chairman. Chairman of the publicity committees is Mary St. Clair Bugg with Lucy Manson and Jane Ruffin assisting. In charge of the staging is Sara Byrd Williams, aided by Frances Craddock, Judy Eason, and Faye Nimmo.

The ticket committee is composed of Harriette Moore, chairman, Patsy Connelly and Frances Lee Hawthorne. Serving on the questions committee are Mary Moore McCorkle, chairman, Louise Bell, and Mary Evelyn Pearsall. Virginia Mae Ellett is head of the entertainment committee, assisted by Marilyn Bell and Sara Wayne France.

Smart This Season
COSTUME EARRINGS
10c
You'll find a large selection in simulated gold, pearl, and novelty stones. Charming motifs. Choose several pairs.
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

The lure of spring calls many to parts far and wide. Even the Pan-Hellenic dance could not keep some people at S. T. C.

So, to Richmond went Mary Crank, Margaret Aebersold, Marie Kelly, Pauline Barnes, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Hilda Bennett, Harriette Dowdy, Jo Beatty, Florence Smith, Eloise Fitch, Mary Cameron Butt, Dodie Jones, Nancy Blair, Mary Glass, Betty Van Arsdale, Betty Cock, and Theresa Hutt.

The travel bug really bit Ruth Rowe and Dot Turley, who went to Arlington to visit.

Barbara Montgomery went to Alberta, Margaret Simmons went to Sebrell, and Virginia Wells visited in Forest, Virginia.

Eleanor Bisese visited Sara Wayne France in Charlottesville, Margaret Orange visited Margaret Ellett in Jennings Ordinary, and Emily Humphries and Martha Watkins were the guests of Mary Jane Richards in Toano, Virginia. Dot Cummings visited Rosa Lee and Lucille Bell in Kenbridge. Also, Jean Camper, Patsy Dale and Ann Johnson visited in Kenbridge.

The attraction of home drew Rosa Bland Jenkins, Mildred Corvin, Virginia Ellett, and Virginia Thompson to Crewe. It also drew Janice Halstead to Norfolk, Martha Hite to Blackstone, and Lucille Cheatham to Midlothian.

To Roanoke went Jeanne Button, Dot Bennett, Beatrice Bruch, Jean Daniels, Cary Beard, Elizabeth Driscow, and Gussie Himes. To Lynchburg went Margaret Alvis, Ann Grey Bell, Grace Loyd, and Kitty Mattox.

'And last, but by no means the least, Margaret Lawrence went to Windsor to see her brother.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS
MEET ME . . .
—At—
SHANNON'S

Standard To Replace Gelatine Duplicator

A new Standard Direct Process Duplicator will replace the old Gelatine Duplicator which has been used in the Commercial Department, Mr. R. G. Hallisy, head of the department, announced this week.

The Gelatine Duplicator will be turned over to the English Department to be used there.

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Easter Gifts
Cards, Novelties
and Candies
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

EASTER HOLIDAY BEGINS TOMORROW AT 11

The Rotunda

ALL CLASSES RESUMED TUESDAY, APRIL 11

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5, 1944 | No. 23

T. Tertius Noble To Direct Oratorio at S. T. C.

USO Names Parden General Chairman; Adds New Members

Manson Selected Recreation Head

Jackie Parden, sophomore from Portsmouth, was elected to succeed Marilyn Bell as general chairman of the College USO committee at a meeting on Monday of this week. Lucy Manson, junior from Virginia Beach, was selected to replace Jackie Parden and Lucy Harvie in charge of the college work at the Town Recreation Center. To date the assistant head and the Recreation assistant have not been chosen. Succeeding Sara Jeffreys as secretary-treasurer of the group will be

JACKIE PARDEN

Ophelia Whittle, junior from Petersburg.

New members elected to the committee are Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, sophomore from Cape Charles; Lucie McKenry, sophomore from Manassas; Ann Shufflebarger, freshman from Bluefield, Virginia; Mabbot Perkins, freshman from Petersburg; Nancy Almand, freshman from Kenbridge; and Shirley Gibson, freshman from Falls Church.

The USO committee has as its work all College activities connected with dances sponsored by the USO at Camp Pickett and elsewhere and college work at the Farmville Recreation Center for Servicemen.

Other girls who will continue to work on the committee are Marilyn Bell, Pat Garth, and Jane Waring Ruffin.

Bell, Moling, Ruffin, Sheffey, Tennent Selected Quizettes

Marilyn Bell, junior from Richmond; Sara Moling, junior from Winchester; Jane Waring Ruffin, junior from Charles City County; Mary Preston Sheffey, junior from Marion; and Elizabeth Tennent, senior from Hopewell, were selected to compete against the five contestants from Hampden-Sydney Naval V-12 in the fourth annual Quiz contest between the two colleges to be held here at 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, April 19. The team was selected as a result of a written and several oral tests this week.

Others who were outanswered by the selected team, but who withstood the firing line of questions till the last round were Fay Byrd Johnson, Nell Holloway, Kathryn Hutchinson, Pat Maddox and Bernice Copenhaver.

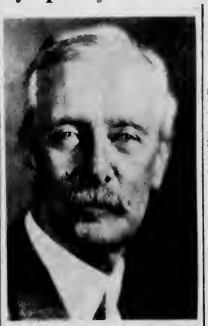
This year the proceeds from the Quiz-a-roo, sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma, will be contributed to the Red Cross. Miss Phyllis Payne Pedigo, of the American Red Cross, who spoke here on Founders' Day, will be Quiz Mistress for the occasion.

Judges for the contest, who have not yet been announced, will be two representatives from each of the colleges and a representative from the town. Questions for the eliminations and for the program have been contributed by the faculties of S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney and by prominent citizens in town.

In addition to the actual Quiz-a-roo, plans are being made for an intermission entertainment under the direction of Virginia Mae Ellett. Other AKG committee chairmen are Ella Banks Weathers, general chairman; Harriette Moore, tickets; Mary St. Clair Bugg, publicity; Mary Moore McCorkle, questions; and Sara Bird Williams, staging.

3 Girls to Attend Forensic Tourney In Charlotte, N. C.

Contests Include Debating, Speaking



Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice; Faith Weeks, junior from Purdy; and Jane Waring Ruffin, junior from Charles City County, left today for Charlotte, N. C., where they will enter the Grand Easter Dixie Forensic Tournament.

Chief of the activities the students will enter there will be debating, but other phases of public speaking and reading will also be part of the tournament. The question for debate is the national intercollegiate question for the year, "Resolved, that the United States should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an International Police Force upon the defeat of the Axis". The Farmville representatives will debate both sides of the question, relieving each other as the occasion demands.

All three of the girls who will participate in the tournament entered the fall tournament at Charlotte and have debated here with several state colleges including Randolph Macon Woman's College, Radford State Teachers College, and Lynchburg College.

Plans for the regional tournament to be held in Lynchburg later in the spring have been postponed indefinitely, Alice Nichols, president of the Debate Club reported this week.

Manning, Nicholson, Duke Choir, Symphony Orchestras to Participate

DR. T. TERTIUS NOBLE

Organist Presents Recital In Church

Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist and choir master emeritus of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, New York City, will be on this campus April 16 at 4 o'clock to direct a major oratorio, Brahm's Requiem, Mr. Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department, has revealed.

Coming to Farmville with Dr. Noble will be Miss Florence Manning, who sang with the choir in New York last spring and who was here last Christmas as a soprano soloist, and Robert Nicholson, baritone.

The combined choirs from Duke University and Farmville will participate, and there will be on the campus at this time, also, parts of the the Washington and Richmond Symphony orchestras.

"We hope to be able to broadcast this concert" Mr. Strick said, "but definite arrangements have not been made as yet whereby the concert will be on the air.

At 8 o'clock Sunday night, Dr. Noble will present an organ recital at the Farmville Methodist church.

Dr. Noble, a former organist of the New Minister Cathedral in Yorkshire, England, is known internationally, and is the recently retired director of the St. Thomas choir school, the members of which probably form the largest church choir in the country. Dr. Noble directed the nationwide broadcast of the "Requiem" by the Duke and S. T. C. choirs last spring in New York.

Dr. Jarman has arranged for 500 seats to be reserved for faculty members and students free of charge. The other seats will be for parents of the girls, friends of the college, and others desiring to attend.

This concert will take place of the annual New York trip made by the College Choir and of the Canada trip which had been anticipated but was postponed because of war conditions.

BET, PGM Invite Chinese Dramatics

Li Ling-Ai Speaks Friday, April 21

Sponsored by Beorc Eh Thorn, honorary English society, and Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, Li Ling-Ai, Chinese dramatist, will speak here on April 21, Jeanne Strick, program chairman of Beorc Eh Tohrn, revealed this week.

An actress, dancer, lecturer, writer, designer, and aviatrix, Miss Li was born in Honolulu and received her education at Pinanoe Academy and at the University of Hawaii. In 1929 she went to Peking where she did research work in ancient Chinese drama and taught in the Fine Arts Institute of Peking.

Miss Li is co-producer of the color film, "Kukan," which portrays the real China, hard working and courageous, and which received the Hollywood Academy award of 1941 as the best documentary of the year.

Li Ling-Ai has been featured in Vogue and Harpers Bazaar; she was program director of the Chinese Pavilion at the New York's World Fair, and she has lectured on China and Chinese drama in leading cities throughout the United States. She has given over a hundred broadcasts for China and

Continued on Page 4

Dean's List Cites 89 Upperclassmen

Citation Requires A's, B's on Classes

Eighty-nine juniors and seniors have been listed on the Dean's list for spring quarter, Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar, revealed this week. Included on the list are:

Abernathy, Virginia Lee, Goshran; Alphin, Lois, Lexington; Barksdale, Margaret, Java; Beard, Carolyn, Newport News; Beckner, Geraldine, Troutville; Bell, Marilyn, Richmond; Boss, Aline, Hadlock; Bowles, Mary Eileen, Danville, Bradshaw, Olive, Rice; Bugg, Mary St. Clair, Farmville; Calvert, Mary William, Lynchburg; Cheatham, Mary Lucille, Midlothian; Chenault, Evelyn, Aylett; Claiborne, Lena, Skipwith; Connelly, Patsy, Lebanon; Copenhaver, Frances, Farmville; Corvin, Mildred, Crewe; Craddock, Frances, Blackstone; Davis, Alice Lee, Whaleyville, and Dickerson, Nancy, Spout Spring.

Also, Dugger, Ruth, Denbigh; Eason, Julia, Richmond; East, Sarah Lee, South Boston; Feitig, Alice Ruth, Richmond; Frances, Sara Wayne, Charlottesville; Goodwyn, Julia Frances, Branchville; Gregory, Delia, South Boston; Grizzard, Mary Elizabeth, Drewryville; Harrell, Nancy, Emporia; Harvie, Lucy, Richmond; Hawthorne, Frances Lee, South Boston; Higgins, Martha, Portsmouth; Holloway, Lelia, Purdy; Holloway, Nell, Purdy; Hutter, Nancy, Rt. 1, Lynchburg; Jarratt, Mary Anne, Jarratt; Johnson, Katherine, Dolphin; Jones, Dora Walker, Radford; Jordan, Elizabeth Ann, Waynesboro; Kelly, Marie, Portsmouth; Lewis, Lucille, Culpeper; Lindley, Norma Jeanne, Ashland, W. Va., and McCorkle, Mary Moore, Lexington.

Also, Manson, Lucy, Virginia Beach; Masloff, Margaret Ann, Danville; Moling, Sara, Winchester; Moore, Gertrude, Danville; Moore, Harriette Sumter, Gastonia, N. C.; Morgan, Mary Ernestine, Andersonville; Nichols, Alice, Lynchburg; Nimmo, Faye, Suf-

Continued on Page 4

Freshmen Complete Elections For Year

Newly elected to the Student Standards Committee from the freshman class are Barbara Lee Myers, from Danville, and Betty Parrish from Manassas. They are replacing Sue Hundley, Suffolk and Judy Connelly from Lebanon.

Miss Olive Iler was re-elected sponsor of class of 1947.

Library Displays Virginia Artists

AAUW, Woman's Club Are Sponsors

In conjunction with the American Association of University Women the Farmville Woman's Club has arranged an exhibit of paintings, "Recent Water Colors by Virginia's Outstanding Artists" to be shown in the STC Library Browsing room during the period of April 1-12.

The exhibit represents a cross section of the art of the young southern artists who have chosen the medium of water colors for a spontaneous expression of his view of Virginia landscape, her people, and her life.

Many of the artists whose works are exhibited are nationally known and all are well known in the south and the state.

Included among those represented are Julian Binford, graphic correspondent for Life Magazine in the army service; Theresa Pollack of the Richmond School of Art staff; Richmond Lackey, director of the Corcoran School of Art in Washington, D. C.; Marion Jenkin, formerly of the Richmond School of Art staff and now in the armed service.

Also Horace Day, formerly of

Continued on Page 4

Barksdale Speaks To Kappa Delta Pi

Miss Emily Barksdale, of the Modern Language department, spoke to Beta Episolon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi here last night on "Some Outstanding Literary Figures of Mexico". The lecture is part of the year's program, entitled, "Understanding out Southern Neighbors."

Miss Barksdale, who teaches Spanish here, studied in Mexico, and is helping with May Day this year, which has a Mexican setting.

Recently Miss Virginia Bedford, of the Art department, spoke on the Art of the South American countries and Mexico.

Campus Cuties? Step Out And Tour STC Hot Spots--First

Have you ever been on Campus? It's amazing to find that even though you've been restricted to the tiny campus at S.T.C., you seldom realize just what makes the school "tick".

This reporter had a big time exploring, using the backdoor approach. We sallied forth as if we were going down town; instead we "just walked" to our right, down Venable Street. We passed what used to be Mrs. Laing's garden, but there was nothing growing there. However, as we sauntered by the hockey field we noticed the grass??? was getting green.

The door to the heating plant was invitingly open, but an old man, lazy and lethargic, guarded it. I gulped a couple of times and strode up to him.

"Can we look through there?"

He looked me up and down and shifted his tobacco.

"Sure, go through to the other side if you want to".

The roommate was hesitant, as the noise from the boilers was deafening, but she succumbed to my excitement over finding all that enormous equipment. A man opportunely walked up and explained some of it—there were three boilers with a pipe connecting all three. We saw with open mouth What? No eyes?) where the heat was sent to all the building. Over the roar and knocking we shouted questions to the man. (The noise from your radiators early in the morning must be the echo). He showed us the little room where they used to test the water every week, but now they have chemicals and it saves a lot of time and trouble.

We blinked ourselves out into the cool, fresh air and found that we were now approaching the side

Continued on Page 4

All Fools' Day Brings Usual Round of Pranks To Campus

"There's no fool like an April-fool", as Saturday plainly proved. The new angles on the old gags were quite up to par, and fur flew.

"Your shoe's untied", was still enough to trip even the veterans. "Did you get your phone call?" sent gullible bystanders scurrying to the home office - - and "Miss Bugg wants to see you" caused many a quirk in a restless conscience before the truth was out.

The orchesis trip to Sweet Briar was ample background for many a good tale, and the school was alive with rumors of a terrible accident that had left Miss K stranded in a hospital in Lynchburg, and all the girls unable to go to Duke the following day. The rumor was different than most rumors in that no matter how the story grew with gossip, the ending was always the same: April Fool!

Little things were favorites. Surprises of all kinds came in the mail; notes of all kinds appeared on the mantel; yells of all kinds echoed down the hall; and questions of all kinds were fired at bewildered students.

Virginia Terrell though, fooled the April Foolers—and not once, but twice! First they told her she had a letter from Male No. 1. She got the letter. They tried again. "So and so's coming to see ya, Terrell!! Terrell remained calm and unemotional - - until So and So came! April Fool!

Class-rooms were hit hard, too. The old familiar tune of "Did you hear? NO class today" broke many a heart as it heard the tell-tale ring at the end of it. And the teachers got their share, too. One Professor, coming in a wee bit tardy, found a fully-signed roll-call, captioned "April Fool" from behind, and turned about to face her entire grinning class peeking over the bannister at her from where they were congregated on the stairs.

There are tricks to all trades, but it's how the trick's accepted that counts. "Old" as we are, we took it in our stride, and April Fool's day was lots of fun - - no foolin'!

May Day Practices Continue Each Day For Annual Festival

May Day practices have gotten under way in the past two weeks, and plans are well on the way toward a successful May Day. General committee members are Virginia Mae Ellett, chairman; Ruth Dugger, dance chairman; Sandunga, Betty Ellis and Lillian Goddin; Jicara, Ann Jones and Edith Lovins; Jarana, Lucy Harvey and Gloria Pollard. Costume chairmen, Dodey Jones and Margaret Lawrence. Committees in charge of costuming the dances are Chino Pablano, Alice Lee Davis, Mary Frances Moon, Elsie Thompson, Nell Ray Fleming; Jicara, Virginia Caviness, Janet Sollenburger, Margaret Parks, Elia Pool; Jarana, Nannie Webb, Lorraine Raiford, Eleanor Hall; Sandunga, Martha Hite, Lucille Cheatham, Lucille Winston, Mary Lee Pittard.

Chairman of music is Libby Ann Jordan and her committee is Connie Oslin, Margie Hewlett, Jeanne Button, Hilda Bennett and Carolyn Bobbitt. Mary Moore McCorkie is in charge of staging and properties, and Mildred Corvin and Patsy Connelly are in charge of the business end and transportation respectively.

The May Day is divided into three parts, prelude, market scene and fiesta. Girls dancing in the prelude are Indian Dance, Betsy Caldwell, Mildred Corvin, Mary Crank, Louisa Dawson, Barbara Dickerson, Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Pat Garth, Earlene Kim-

Continued on Page 3

It's Your Paper— What Do You Want?

With this issue, the Rotunda is in the hands of a new staff. We, on the new staff, accepting the challenge of the high standard of this paper in the past, pledge ourselves in this our initial issue, to maintain that standard.

However, the success of any weekly college paper depends largely upon the backing and cooperation of the student body. This is your paper. We, on the staff, are merely serving as your representatives in compiling and organizing and printing what you want to read. The paper cannot print the activities of any organization without the cooperation of the members of that organization in getting the story correct and on time.

We emphasize the "on time". A newspaper is not something that can be gotten together an hour or two before publication. It is something that must be planned and organized in advance.

This is an appeal to you of the student body and faculty for cooperation in getting what you want; in making the paper what you want it to be.

Musical Program Offers Cultural Opportunities

One of the oustanding opportunities of this year's calendar will be the concert presented Sunday afternoon, April 16, under the auspices of the College Choir.

On our campus at this time will be several well-known celebrities among whom are Dr. T. Tertius Noble, Miss Florence Manning, and Mr. Robert Nicholson, as well as members of the Richmond and Washington Symphony Orchestras and the Duke Choir.. Yes, our campus will be a scene of much activity on that day.

Every college student needs to have an appreciation of the finer and better things of life, and we certainly do need to appreciate and enjoy music, the foundations of which were laid by medieval man.

John Logan put it well when he said, "Music is the medicine of the mind". Music takes us out of the thoughts and actions of the daily course of events and lifhts us to the higher and nobler aspects of life.

Our sincere thanks go to the College Choir, Mr. Strick, and all others who are making it possible for us, the students of Farmville, to enjoy a period of the highest and best type of music as Brahm's Requiem is presented.

The number of seats for students is limited, and so come on students, get your tickets early. Remember, "the early bird gets the worm."

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Margaret Sheffield ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullien ..... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Kathryn Hutchinson, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Ann Buck, Catherine Trower, Margie Hewlett, Lelia Holleway, Nell Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Sarah Taliaferro, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee, Rachel Bourne.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5, 1944

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The advancement of a mile by the Allies is the best record made in the Cassino area for weeks. This included the capture of Mt. Marrowe which is northeast of Rome. However, the battle at Cassino continues to be a "toss up" between the Axis and the Allies.

* * * *

The Russians have pushed onward to within 24 miles northeast of Odessa, the Black Sea port. The Germans reported that the Reds were at the Tartar Pass ,gateway to Czechoslovakia, but this was not confirmed by the Moscow report. A part of the Russian Second Army is smashing down the Dniester River toward Odessa in an attempt to cut off the retreat of the Germans.

* * * *

Truk in the Caroline Islands received five aerial attacks by the Allies in less than 72 hours. These attacks have been made by Allied land-based planes. During the night raid, the enemy sent up opposition which showed that they do realize something must be done about the situation. However, the Allies did not lose any planes.

During the week an attack was made on Palau," Japan's strongest guardian of the road to the Philippines. The results of this attack have not been announced.

The Allies have been pushing toward Bogadjim in New Guinea with increasing fury and are within a short distance of the stronghold. Just beyond Bogadjim in Mondang, the main enemy base of this area.

It is reported that "the Japs have had about enough" in the Solomons after losing 8,000 men on Bougainville.

The fighting in the Burma area has been fierce, but the enemy has been stopped at all points except at Imphas where it is not definite to what extent the Japanese drive has been successful. Any movement of the Japs has been made at a severe cost of men.

* * * *

In an effort to meet the demand of 1,008,000 additional men for the armed service by July 1, occupationally deferred men physically fit between the ages of 18 and 26 will be drafted where possible without wrecking war production. The recommendation has been made by the House for the immediate induction of 4-F's for a special army work corps. This would also be an attempt to relieve the strain of supplying so many men to the armed service.

A powerful anti-bacterial substance which researchers believe will rival pencillin has been developed in the laboratories of Vanderbilt university school of medicine and is now the subject of extensive study there.

This non-toxic drug, called flavicin, was first produced about a year ago, a few months after research was begun on production of pencillin according to Dr. Milton T. Bush, assistant professor of pharmacology, and Dr. Andres Goth, research assistant who developed the drug. Dr. Leo Dickinson, another research assistant, has worked several months on the drug's purification.—ACP.

TIDBITS

With the holiday so close we can thing of little else except perhaps the few spectacular "tidbits" around campus.

One of the main ones was the arrival of Ensign Watt Shields this week end. A brand new Seabee officer! Kindon says she's waited a long time for this week end, but it was worth it.

Another arrival this week end was Margaret Lohr's Lieutenant. Her smile probably won't fade for weeks to come!

Little Moonie seemed to be doing okay with the known "Texas". Better watch the "spots" around school, Moonie!

A strange combination: Moffatt and Kitty Sue!

Never let it be said that Joan Davis doesn't believe that variety is the spice of life! This time it's Hugh Wrenn.

Betty Albricht's heard saying, "I knew it". Could it be because of her date at Duke this past week end?

After numerous complications, it looks as if Betty Deuel is going to get to see Ned after all at Easter. She certainly has the best wishes of everybody.

Numerous inquiries reveal nothing. He must be a secret. We're talking about Kitty Vaughan's date Sunday. Wto is he?!!

Joan Prosise certainly met her match at Duke. He loves to talk!

It simply wouldn't be right not to devote a hugh paragraph to Nell Holloway's whopper of a diamond. The funny part of it was, she didn't even know he was within a thousand miles! Braxton's full of surprises, huh Nell?

Continued on Page 3

The "Y"

By MARGIE HEWLETT

This week the theme for prayers will be an Easter one. The crucifixion, the resurrection, and the Ascention will be the daily subjects.

The Sunday vesper services will be discontinued for this year.

We hope the Easter holidays will be pleasant and meaningful for everybody.

"Easter Day above all else stands for Hope, but not a wistful dreamy hope. It is the Day of fact —the assertion of blazing and glorious fact. The flowers and lilies on our altars are the triumphant banners of the eternally living— living with Christ our Lord and our Savior."

Inquiring Reporter

What are you going to do Easter?

ANN HAUSED: Hatch an Easter egg.

BETTY HARVILLE: You'd be surprised.

CLAIRE WAILES: Go home and not wink at a man under 18.

CAB OVERBEY: Eat fried Easter eggs.

GRACE LOYD: Celebrate passing Miss Tucker's History.

MAE KENT STEVENS: Hunt Easter eggs.

MARY WATKINS: Pitch a little woo.

BETTY MINETREE: Find out the bunny is an available man.

MARTHA HIGGINS: Catch up on much needed sleep (Oh, yeah!)

GETIE CROUCH: Try to find an outfit to go with danedellons.

MARTHA WELLS: Pinky won't be home, so I'm going to the officers' club.

KITTY SUE BRIDGFORTH: Hope Ashley will thumb to Kenbridge.

ROSE MARY ELAM: Wear my flowers and dream.

LUCY HARVIE: Try to go to all the Easter egg hunts.

LEE CLARK: Introduce onion ice cream to the family.

DIDDY FORD: Take a hot bath.

LAVERNE MORRISON: Miss Linwood and pray for a corsage.

NANCY WHITEHEAD: Break campus.

MABBOT PEEKINS: Attend all the USO dances I can.

LOUISE HALBORT: Have B— — — g good time.

BETTY LEE: Go to church and Sunday school.

MARTHA EAST: Have a knocked out good time.

FRANCES SATTERFIELD: Sadie is home and we are gonna paint Richmond, Red, White and Blue.

Letters to the Editor:

Dear Editor,

"Brickbats to some students in this institution of learning who take books out of the library and especially out of the Reserve Book Room without permission" is the feeling of many students who sometimes would like to find books which are supposed to be on reserve in their places. Especially now do we refer to speech books!

It seems to us that it is only common courtesy and decency for students to put books back where they found them. On entering this college, every student signed the Honor Code saying that she would always uphold the honor system of this institution. Certainly, when the librarian places books on reserve, she expects each student to use them honestly.

We can think of nothing worse than to have a library in which the books were out of the reach of the students and in which a book could be got only through a librarian or assistant librarian. This will never have to happen if we, the students, use the books as we are supposed to use them.

Here at Farmville, we have a splendid library, and it seems that we, as students, could show our appreciation of this opportunity by not violating any library rules.

Come on, girls, let's begin today to "do unto others as we would have them do unto us."

Two Sophs

Dear Editor:

I read your publication with avid interest and would like to take this occasion to say so. Would also like to point out a slight error in that story on the Quiz Contest in the March 15 issue.

As it reads, the story is that "Last year the contest was won by the Hampden-Sydney boys, and the year before by the S. T. C. students" The contest, I thought, began in 1941. S. T. C. won that contest and H.-S. has won the two others.

The quiz cup, which is supposed to go to the team winning the contest three times in a row, disappeared last year after serving as a tooth paste cup. That may have had something to do with it. So last year a Chi Phi intramural cup was used as a token reward. This year quien sabe? A pickle jar?

Hate to seem to gloat, but I am incurably journalistic-minded. For verification, I suggest you call up Dr. Graves Thompson, unofficial Clifton Fadiman for the intercollegiate information please. Good luck in the contest! (Tongue in cheek.)

Sincerely,
John A. Owen, Jr.

(Ed. Note: Mr. Owen is right— this marks the fourth year of the contest. S. T. C. won the first contest, Hampden-Sydney the next two.)

Former Art Teacher Finds Red Cross Work in Ireland Interesting

"Although the floors of Dunluce Castle are now green fields and only part of the wells are still there, with a little imagination you can still see the castle as a whole," Miss Marjorie Booten, former member of the Art department here and now serving with the Red Cross in Britain wrote recently. Miss Booten was granted leave of absence last summer to do this work and at present she is a recreation worker in an Evacuation Hospital in Northern Ireland and is doing special work in avocational crafts.

"I had three days of this week end and so I decided to start out on my own to see Northern Ireland, "the former STC teacher explained. She wrote of the people she saw, the places she visited, and of her work with great enthusiasm.

"The hotel where I stayed was quite picturesque and homey," she described. "Last evening I sat by the fire and played games with four American civilians who are airplane builders. They had been stationed in Persia, India, and Africa before coming to Ireland. It seemed strange, but grand to see American men in civilian clothes."

"The scenery at Dunluce was most beautiful," she continued in her letter. "The dungeons are still there and a cave that goes out to the sea. The castle is on a cliff that was originally surrounded by water. The cliffs all around are of white stone and Scotland can be seen in the distance."

The Glants Causeway and the Wishing Chair of Irish legend were among the places Miss Booten visited on her tour. The Glants Causeway is, in her words, "a most unusual stone formation right by the sea." And like all Americans who go there, she sat in the Wishing Chair and made her three wishes. To inaure their materializing she also drank from the Wishing Well nearby.

Her work with the crafts includes all sorts of handiwork for both men and women. And the trip "to see the sights" even profited her another method of craft work for her program. "I learned to hook rugs from the owner of the hotel where I stopped so now I can go back to camp and start a new project. Some of the soldiers have been asking to make them but I didn't know how till now," the recreational worker stated. That's the kind of things the boys want to do!

The type of work that Miss Booten is doing is a field open to those in Art and several of the

Continued on Page 3

STC Cagers Defeat WAC's March 31; Entertain in Pool

Farmville blue and white was again victorious when they defeated Camp Pickett's WACs in basketball Friday, March 31, in the gym. Final score for the game was 43-13.

Immediately after the game the college pool was opened for swimming for the WACs and the varsity team. At 9:45 refreshments were served in the Y Lounge for all old and new members of the A. A. Council, varsity and subvarsity teams, and the WACc. Lucy Manson was in charge of refreshments, which consisted of hot coffee, sandwiches of various and colorful pastel shades, peanuts, and cookies.

Captain Shuttleworth of the WACs, also captain of the team, was in charge of the lineup and substitution for the WAC team, which consisted of fifteen players. Miss Olive T. Iler coached this year's varsity team. The line-up for the team was: guards, Patsy Conenlly captain, Eleanor Wade, Billy Wald, Margaret Orange, Margaret Lohr, Helen Wilson; forwards: Lillian Elliott, Rosa Hill, Dottie Sue Simmons, Ann Hauser, Betty Parrish, Mary Walker Watts, Rebecca Tomlinson, and Louise Blane. The officials of the game were Miss Dabney of Lynchburg, Virginia, referee, and Shirley Pierce, senior, umpire.

May Day

Continued from Page 1

merling, Frances Lee, Edith Lovins, Jeanne Parry, Gloria Pollard, Frances Satterfield, Esther Shevick, Jean Smith and Nancy Whitehead. Jarabe Pauline Barnes, Marilyn Bell, Rosa Lee Bell, Eleanor Bisese, Caroline Caldwell, Norma Chandler, Jo Cooper, Shirley Cruiser, Vivian Edmunds, Laura Farmer, Evelyn Faw, Elizabeth Gates, Margie Hewlett, Mary Ellen Hoge, Helen Lacey, Grace Loyd, Lucy McKenrie, Doris Lee Murray, Dorothy Owen, Isabel Sampson, Nell Scott, Emma Swann, Frances Timmons, Helen Thompson, Rebecca Tomlinson, Ann Tucker, Nancy Weeks, Ruth Whitter, Betty Ellis, Lillian Goddin, Lucy Harvie, Ann Jones, and Lucille Jones.

The market scene consists of Indians, Ruth Dugger, Gloria Pollard, Mildred Droste, Edith Lovins and Jean Smith. Americans, Evelyn Grizzard, Virginia Treakle, Isabel Sampson, Eileen Bowles, Dana McClellan. Mexicans from folk dance groups are Sandunga, Spotswood Hunnicutt, Mary Ann Loving, Nancy Barrett, Beverly Boone, Jean Daniels, Betsy Fox, Evelyn Goodman, Helen McQuire, Nannie Sours; Jarana, Margaret Ellett, Carmen Low, Eloise Stancell, Lela Manner, Gussie Himes, Nancy Parrish, Betty Parrish, Catherine Stoner, Annie Wood, Ruth Jones, Lucy Bowling, Beverly Boone; Jicara, Aloise Boswell, Shirley Reaves, Mary Wyatt, Betty Bibb, Jane Conson and Thelma Diggs.

Singers, leaders, Alice Parkhaust, director, Rachael Brugh, Betty Bibb, Page Cook, Margaret Ellett, Elizabeth Meeks. Mexican Singers, Agnes Cook, Virginia Shackleford, Virginia Bland, Rachel Brugh, Mary Buford, Doris Burks, Eleanor Correll, Elizabeth Croutch, Sue Hundley, Marion Lotts, Mary Williams, Freddie Butt, Ann Hamlin, Ann Martin, Alice Parkhurst, Gladys Wilson. Special Mexicans, Esther Carbonell, Carmen Flores, street crier, Edith Garcia, Maria Irizarry, Isabelita Malldonado, Julia Broga.

Fiesta scene is opened with the entrance of the queen and her court. The Sanduna is next with Nancy Barrett, Louise Blane, Margaret Brace, Spotswood Hunnicutt, Jean Daniels, Peggy Fink, Betsy Fox, Evelyn Goodman, Dot Haile, Jean Harrison, Bea Jones, Ann Kingdon, Mary Ann Loving, Elizabeth McLean, Helen McQuire, Betty Moses, Lynn Page, Jackie Parden, Nannie Sours, Christine Shifflett, Virginia Terrell, Theresa Tucker, Billie Waid, Frances Wertzel, Kitty Wright and Lucille Winston. Jarana, Jean Anderson, Betty Adams, Beverly Boone, Carolyn Bobbitt, Coriane Boland, Lucy Bowling, Mae Cardwell, Evelyn Cole, Judy Connelly, Ann Curley, Janet Davis, Martha Droste, Margaret Ellett, Annie Ellis, Shirley Gibson, Gussie Himes, Ruth Jones, Carmen Low, Lela Manner, Betty Minetree, Margaret Nevins, Cabell Overbey, Evelyn Perry, Nancy Parrish, Betty Parrish, Mary Robertson, Patsy Saunders, Ann Saage, Catherine Stoner, Grace Shriner, Eloise Stancell, Gene Tucker, Mary Jane Vanderlehr, Martha Watkins, Rose Marie Wagginer, Harriet Weger, Annie Wood. Los Viejetos (old men) Mary Crank, Ruth Dugger, Margaret Harvie, Edith Lovins, Frances Satterfield, Jean Smith, Jean Strick, Gloria Pollard, Jicara, Jo Beatty, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Betty Bibb, Ann Dickerson, Carol Diggs, Harriet Dowdy, Ruby Huddle, Betty Lee, Aloise Boswell, Barbara Montgomery, Betty Mullens, Margaret Massey, Shirley Reaves, Shirley Stonnell, Frances Tobar, Elizabeth Meeks, Mary Wyatt, Jane Conson and Thelma Diggs. The finale will include the entire cast in a glorious array of color bringing to an end a program of good will toward Mexican neighbors.

Left Lead

Who said times doesn't fly? Who said "It's awful early to start talking about the Horse Show already, isn't it?" No! It's not too early! Entry blanks have already been run off on the mimeograph machine, gratis the commercial department of S. T. C., and will no doubt be well into circulation before this week is up. Remember, the classes are open not only to girls who are taking riding this quarter, but to anyone who rides and wishes to take part in the competition. Town people as well as students are expected to be participating this year as in the past, and riders from the whole countryside will be bringing the champs of the stables to vie against the favorites of our home here, and it should prove interesting.

Phyllis Watts got into some kind of an argument with Midnight, we noticed last week. She walked him home before the hour was up, but we never found out exactly what went wrong. Could have been the muddy ring . . . or could have been pessimistic foresight on P. Watt's part.

Camp Pickett took over Sunday afternoon, according to reports from the window. Jumping and everything . . . and we do mean everything!

Monday afternoon found the ring too muddy still, so off went the pioneer-minded ones out past the hospital, over the bridge, and down again the little dirt road that leads up to an anonymous farmhouse. This time they were greeted not only by the riotious dogs who were feeling more vicious than ever, but by beautiful tree-fuls of pear blossoms and nice young grass to tempt the horses. Everyone concerned took advantage of the situation, and we're still wondering why there's never anyone around to chase us but the dogs.

Beginner of the day was Beedee Manner, who started out (as could be expected) on Lindy, and who amazingly (as could not be expected) posted right off like an old-timer. Even though the water on each side of the road was more than tempting looking, Beedee stuck to the saddle the whole trip, and a good time was had by all. The whole gang stayed on . . . up hill and down Oak Street, and no surprise followed another. They all got back accounted for though, so all's well that ends well!

See ya in the saddle!

PEGASUS

4 to Represent STC At PE Conference

Trip Date Set For April 23

Miss Olive T. Iler, Patsy Connelly, Helen Wilson, and Shirley Pierce, will attend the National Physical Education convention which is to be held in New York on April 23. Representatives from all parts of the United States will be present at the convention to discuss and carry away with them new ideas of physical education to be introduced in the various colleges and schools.

As representative of S. T. C., Miss Iler, and the girls will bring back new ideas for the physical education department, which will make athletics play a larger and more important part in our school life.

S. T. C.'s representatives plan to make this trip one that will be beneficial to themselves as well as to the college. Besides attending the convention, they hope to get a hurried glance at the skyscrapers, Times Square, Fifth Avenue, Chinatown, do a little window shopping, and numerous other wonderful sights which contribute to the magnetic power of New York. They will be gone a week, but the experiences they will relate upon their return will be thrilling to their envious audiences for many months.

Chick Elected Head Of Town Girls Club

Rae Chick, junior from Prospect, was elected president of the Town Girls' Club at the meeting held last Friday. Rae will succeed Elizabeth Gates in this position.

Serving as vice-president of the club will be Virginia Lee Price, sophomore from Farmville, succeeding Rae Chick. Loreen Agee, junior from Farmville was elected secretary, succeeeding Mary Wood House, and Virginia Farrier, freshman from Farmville, was elected treasurer, succeeding Virginia Lee Price.

May Day Practices Schedule

Tuesday, April 11

4:00—Jarana ..... Rec
7:00—Market Scene ..... Gym
8:00—Sandunga ..... Rec
—Jicara ..... Gym
9:00—Orchesis ..... Gym

Wednesday, April 12

4:00—Court ..... Gym
7:00—Orchesis ..... Gym

Thursday, April 13

7:00—Jarana, Jicara ..... Gym
—Sandunga
8:00—Court ..... Gym
9:00—Market Scene ..... Gym

18 Attended Dance Recital Last Week

Sweetbriar, R-M Perform

Modern dance enthusiasts found an answer to everything in dance when they attended the Sweetbriar and Randolph-Macon dance recitals last Friday and Saturday night respectively. Making the trips by automobile, they left early in the evening and returned the same night to the school

Those attending Sweetbriar on Friday night were Miss Emily Kauzlarich, Barbara Dickerson, Betty Ellis, Jean Parry, Gloria Pollard, Kitty Rennecker and Esther Shevick. Under the direction of Miss Frances Davies, Sweetbriar presented five numbers. Their last number showed the sides of life which so few of the people of today realize. It was a deep thing, and the composition was excellent.

Randolph - Macon presented Joan of Arc, A Chronicle, under the direction of Miss Eleanor Struppa. Miss Struppa has been doing research on this dance for many years and it has always been her ambition to portray in dance with her students. Those S. T. Cers who attended this program were Miss Emily Kauziarich, Miss Barksdale, Miss Draper, Mr. Graham, Eleanor Bisese, Shirley Cruiser, Mary Crank, Lucille Jones, Frances Lee, Gloria Pollard and Phyllis Watts. Plans are being made to attend these recitals next year through the dance department already. Experience is always helpful, and the girls who attend these programs find this true.

Tidbits

Continued from Page 2

Mary Walker Watts says she certainly didn't get stuck even if the guy's name was Stickler. The girl's doing all right!

Fay Byrd's excitement is reported as due to the anticipation to Thursday and what the holidays hold in store for her! Can't blame her either.

Our congrats go to Mrs. Jack Webb the ex-Nimmo — our own Nimmo until last Saturday! We hear it was very lovely and with you and Jack go the entire school's very best wishes for a long happy life.

They weren't such tidbits after all!

Red Cross

Continued from Page 2

Farmville alumnae who have been accepted by the Red Cross are already overseas as Recreational workers.

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Rainy and cold weather kept all sports events inside last week, but here's hoping good weather will give us a chance to get out-of-doors before Easter vacation begins. This past week has been a busy one for the physical education department getting the different classes straightened, and with swimming, tennis, golf, archery, badminton, softball, social dancing, gymnastics and modern dance to crowd in, no wonder. All classe have been arranged now, so let's make this spring quarter a well-rounded one in athletics.

TENNIS

The courts have been rolled and lined, and now we are waiting for the girls to spend their leisure afternoons on them. Most of the classes have been scheduled for the morning, so that should leave the courts open in the afternoons for those who want to make tennis engagements. A good brisk game of tennis helps you both physically and mentally. You have to be on your toes, and coordination and rhythm of the body are a big help.

Don't forget that there is another tennis tournament to be played off later in the quarter, and those points go toward the color cup. Get in your practices now while you still have plenty of time, so there won't be a mad rush just before the tournament. We want to see new names on the tournament list, and the more players the better the games will be. This should provide plenty of competition for both the green and white and red whites.

LONGWOOD

The past Sunday found Longwood a popular place, and although it looked like rain there were many hikers. Longwood in the spring is really lovely, and many camera fiends were seen on the lawn snapping shots of friends and scenery. A Sunday afternoon walk to Longwood always proves interesting, so try it when you find it awfully boring to just sit in your room.

Each Sunday that Longwood is open, finds it under the sponsorship of some organization in school. Each club has had its turn of furnishing waitresses, dishwashers and a cashier. The Longwood Association is in charge of the food, and after the food bills have been paid, and money given to the Longwood sinking fund, the remainder of the profit goes to the organization which was in charge. Help to make Longwood popular, by bringing your friends out.

TRACK

There have been ruomrs around that there might be some track and an obstacle course added to our athletic schedule. This will be something new in the department, and we hope there will be lots of participants. If you want to make this a success don't forget to back it all the way.

Tomorrow brings vacation time. Enjoy the Easter holidays, but don't forget to stay in the game.

Gamma Psi Selects Dondley President

Mary Lou Dondley, junior from Covington, was recently elected president of Gamma Psi, honorary society in art, to succeed Jean Arington.

Other officers elected were Virginia Terrell, junior from Front Royal, vice-president, succeeding Mary Moore McCorkle; and Lucille Winston, junior from Richmond, treasurer, succeeding Mary Lou Dondley. Jane Knapton, junior from Covington, was re-elected secretary.

Eleanor Corell, junior from Portsmouth, was elected poster chairman to succeed Sara Byrd Williams.

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgilna
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
(High Street)
BUTCHER'S

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Try Our New
COSTUME JEWELRY
For your Easter Outfits
Martin the Jeweler

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

Place your order now for
YOUR EASTER FLOWERS
COLLINS FLORIST

Visit Us For . . .
BEST SODA
FOUNTAIN SERVICE!
CHAPPELL'S

EASTER GREETING
—from—
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store

ANOTHER
VALUE EVENT
Pre-Easter Sale!
—One Group—
Spring Coats
And Suits
All from regular stock
Broken sizes
Values up to $29.50
NOW 20% OFF
MARKED PRICES

Second Floor
Elevator Service
Our store will be closed all day Easter Monday, April 10th.
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Jones, Brooks, Robertson, Higgins, Diggs, Cruser, Abernathy, Sterrett Head Sororities Here For Next Year

At recent meetings the eight sororities on the campus elected officers for the coming year.

The new president of Sigma Sigma is Dora Walker Jones, replacing Louise McCorkle. Nancy Harrell will be vice-president, and Emily Carper, secretary. Carlotta Norfleet is the new corresponding secretary, with Helen Stites as treasurer. Marilyn Johnson is Pan-Hellenic representative and Kitty Maddox, alternate.

Alpha Sigma Alpha members elected Ruth Brooks president, to succeed Mary St. Clair Bugg. Lillian Elliott was elected vice-president, and Lucy Bawley, secretary. Jean Riddick will be treasurer and Jackie Rickie, Pan-Hellenic representative, with Mary Walker Watts as alternate. Kitty East was elected chaplain; Elsie Thompson, registrar; and Barbara Surface, social chairman.

New officers of Alpha Sigma Tau for the coming year are president, Sally Robertson, replacing Jean Arington; vice - president, Lucie McKenry; treasurer, Anna Lee Blanton; secretary, Elizabeth McLean; corresponding secretary, Dorothy Galston; and Pan-Hellenic representative, Jane Danby.

For Gamma Theta, Carol Diggs was elected president to succeed Hannah Lee Crawford, vice-president, Ann Blair; secretary, Ophelia Whittle, treasurer, Pogue Massey; Pan-Hellenic representative, Betty Brothers; and alternate, Betsy Baidwin.

Heading Pi Kappa Sigma will be Martha Higgins, replacing Virginia Mae Elliett; vice-president, Catherine Lynch; secretary, Catherine Trower; treasurer, Hersey Hutt; Pan-Hellenic representative, Jean Smith; and alternate, Margaret McIntyre. Sarah Lee East will be social chairman.

Virginia Lee Abernathy, president; replacing Jane Hobson Chappell; Margaret Vereil, vice-president; Naomi Major Shipp, secretary; Jean Akers, treasurer; and Jean Prosise, Pan-Hellenic representative, with Caroline Huddle, alternate, will be the Theta Sigma Upsilon officers.

Phi Zeta Sigma elected Mary Sterrett president, succeeding Lucile Cheatham; Roberta Davis, vice-president; Alice Nichols, secretary; Mary Walton Rucker, treasurer; Evelyn Grizzard, Pan-Hellenic representative; and Caroline Marshall and Katherine Tindell, social chairmen.

Shirley Cruser was elected head of Mu Omega to succeed Eleanor Wade. Jackie Parden will serve as vice head, and Helen Cobbs was chosen Recording Secretary. Alumni secretary for next year is Fay Byrd Johnson, with Sara Moling as assistant. Mary Preston Sheffey was elected treasurer; Sara Bird Williams, chaplain; Doris Lee Murray, housekeeper; Eriene Kimmerling, Music chairman; Rosemarie Waggner, properties; Joan Davis, historian, and Eleanor Bisese, panhei representative with Helen Apperson as alternate.

Mary Muffet's "JULIA" is the perfect 'mate' for furlough fun and fancy... designed to give you (and him) day-long delight. Royon gobardine in china cupboard colors. Sizes 9-15.

BALDWIN'S

T. S. U. Entertains For National Editor

In honor of Mrs. Koeig, national editor of the Torch, official publication of the group, Theta Sigma Epsilon sorority entertained with a tea in the chapter room last Sunday afternoon.

Guests at the tea included Miss Ruth Gleaves, Miss Helen Draper, and Miss Lucilie Jennings.

High Goal Exceeded In War Chest Drive

Final pledges for the War Chest Drive have been received, raising the total amount to $1,542.20 topping the set goal, Mary Anne Jarratt, former chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the W. W. C. A., announced this week.

Of the total amount, $500 was given to the World Student Service Fund, and the remainder was turned over to the Red Cross.

Dr. George W. Jeffers served as chairman of the faculty drive in cooperation with the Public Affairs committee of the Y. W. C. A.

The War Chest drive was opened on the campus January 12 and terminates with the final contributions made by the faculty this week.

Nichols Made Head Of Pi Kappa Delta

Alice Nichols, junior from Lynchburg, has recently been elected president of the Farmville Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta to succeed Marilyn Bell. Pi Kappa Delta is the national honorary debate society.

Betty Adams, sophomore from Richmond, was elected president of the Debate Club to succeed Alice Nichols. Virginia Terrell, junior from Front Royal, replaces eBtty Cock as vice-president. Secretary and treasurer for the ensuing year will be Faith Weeks, sophomore from Purdy, who succeeds Betty Adams.

The activities of the Debate Club include not only debating, but also public speaking and other related fields.

Notice

Anyone interested in trying out for the position of photographic manager of the Rotunda, see Virginia Treakle as soon as possible.

Tryouts will be held for positions on the proofing and typing staffs immediately after Easter.

Easter Gifts
Cards, Novelties
and Candies
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

Do you feel blue or slightly under the weather ever? We recommend "Laugh with life" Jane Ford as your prescription. Never a dull moment when Jane is in the crowd, and it seems to be part of her philosophy of life to make other people happy. Martinsville, Virginia, is her native town, and she won't have any and's, if's or but's about the place. Its tops with her, and like everything that is tops with Jane it means sticking up for it through thick and thin. Even when sad moments enter Jane's life, she can find the time to listen to others' troubles and help them find a solution to their problem. Called "Queenie" for several weeks by her friends was a result of being crowned this year's Circus Queen. As Penhellenic president, she helped to make this year's dance one of the best.

JANE FORD

When things got tough for Red and White, it was Jane, who really tried the hardest, for she took over the job of goalie for the hockey team. This was something new for our feminine Miss Ford, but she took it like a trouper, and very few balls went past her into the goal. We will never forget Jane in last year's May Day when she enacted the part of master of ceremonies in a tall black hat and tails. Teaching was a big problem in Jane's life, but she took it in her stride. Although she counted the days by marking them on her calendar, she was really partial to her young pupils.

A good serious game of bridge, builing with the gang and finding crazy and exciting things to do at the right time are but a few of the things that Jane finds to do in her spare time. She hates to borrow clothes, but would lend you the shirt off her back, if she thought you needed it. Full of the three v's, vim, vigor, and vitality, Jane who dotes on vitamin pills has an overanbundance of energy, and can keep on the go, whether playing or working. "She loves them all," says Jane about men, and although she professes to loving them one at a time, there always seems to be just an extra few. We call her the personification of good fun and a merry time.

Granddaughters Club Elects Webb Prexy

At a regular meeting of the Granddaughters Club on March 29, Nannie Webb, a junior from Gloucester, was elected president to succeed Mary Elizabeth Grizzard.

Other officers elected were Virginia Lee Abernathy, junior from Cochran, vice-president, to succeed Mary Anne Jarratt; Mary Franklin Woodward, junior from Barnhamsville, secretary, to succeed Lucie McKenry; and Dorothy Bennett, freshman from Roanoke, treasurer, to succeed Nannie Webb.

Evelyn Grizzard, sophomore from Drewryville, was elected reporter of the Granddaughters Club.

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Frills, Furbelows On Navy Blue Basis Are Spring 'Musts'

By ANN BUCK

As spring draws its curtains, woman's fancy changes to men and other things. The other things refer to frills and furbelows in most cases.

War or no war, women must dress—and how! There are no WAVEs at STC, but that doesn't deter the rank and file of her girls from being fond of Navy blue. Navy blue is always good, but especially this season as frivolous Jean makes her debut in a Navy blue dress with the neck cut low, trimmed in white ruffles.

The sleeves are three quarter length, gathered at the elbow, and edged in white ruffling. To accompany this ensemble she wears an invisible navy blue hat, with a sheer veil just scratching the tip of her nose. Her arms are neatly gloved in red or white. For protection against earth worms she wears navy blue shoes, which consist of a strap across the toe and around the ankle—period. Along with her apparel she swings a bright red or white bag. It has a shoe string effect gathering for an opening, since zippers have gone to war.

"Jackie" the sportie type makes her pace in a red and white gingham checked suit. As her crowning glory she wears a red dutch boy hat; white gloves; and low wedge heel pumps, buckled around the ankle.

And so they go—all in Easter finery.

If you don't know the latest fashion hang out the upstairs "Rotunda window, and watch the pre-Easter parade march by. It's equal to turning the pages of Vogue or Mademoiselle!

Deans List

Continued from Page 1

folk; Overcash, Alice Elizabeth, Hampden-Sydney; Pearsall, Mary Evelyn, Roanoke; Phillips, Lillian Alleyne, Baskerville; Pittard, Mary Lee, Buffalo Junction; Pollard, Gloria, Richmond; Prosise, Jean, Wilson; Radogna, Virginia, Purdy; Ranson, Louise, Farmville; Robertson, Sally, Lynchburg; Ruffin, Jane Waring, Holdcroft; Sanford, Edith, Richmond; Scott, Barbara Ann, Franklin; Seward, Mary Virginia, Elberson, and Shaffner, Josephine, Hampton.

Also, Sheffey, Mary Preston, Marion; Sheppard, Gloria, Walkerton; Smith, Jane, Franklin; Stewart, Margaret, Clinch Port; Strick, Jeanne, Farmville; Strochecker, Frances, Boydton; Tennent, Elizabeth, Hopewell; Thompson, Lyde, Tazewell; Trigg, Sarah, Hopewell; Wade, Eleanor, Charlottesville; Watts, Betty, Portsmouth; Webb, Nannie, Ordinary; Weeks, Faith, Purdy; Whittle, Ophelia, Petersburg; Wilkinson, Nancy, Kenbridge; Williams, Mrs. Ann Hardy, Farmville; Williams, Sara Bird, Woodstock; Willson, Mildred, Amelia; Wilson, Helen, Petersburg; Wilson, Mary Gladys, Bremo Bluff, and Woodward, Mary Franklin, Barhamsville.

The requirement for the Dean's List are that, a student must make A or B on all subjects with the exception of floor work in Physical Education which grade must be as high as C; average for the previous three quarters cannot be lower than C.

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

The church conference in South Boston claimed Agnes Stokes, Sarah Lee East, and Martha Russell East last week-end.

Faye Nimmo's wedding was the event of the week, so to Suffolk, to witness it went Ella Bank Weathers, Sara Jeffreys, Elizabeth Ann Jordan, Hannah Lee Crawford, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Caroline Caldwell, Jane Ford, Ruth Dugger, Mildred Droste, Vivian Gwaltney and Rosemary Elam.

Ann Martin visited Louise Dawson in Lynchburg. Nancy Lee Weeks and Dora Walter Jones also visited in Lynchburg.

To Richmond went Mae Derieux, Jane Danby, Shirley Easterly, Eula Belle Doggett, Kitty Rennecker, Caroline Huddle, Nell Holloway, Mildred Shiflett, Ellen Higginbotham, Sarah Leech and Ann Mosloff.

Mary Kent Stevens visited Kitty Parham in Petersburg, and Jane Crump journeyed to Fredericksburg to visit her sister at Mary Washington College.

To Albert went Barbara Montgomery, to Winchester went Betty Nixon and to Victoria went Doris Smith and Mary Agnes Sheffield.

Jane Paulette went home to see her brother in South Hill, Ann Snyder went to Charleston, South Carolina to see her brother, and Roberta Davis went home to Mathews to see her cousin.

Lynwell Bradshaw visited in Red Oak, Virginia, Joyce Collins in Scottsville, Patsy Connelly in Lawrenceville, Ann Bruce in Fork Union, Carmen Low in Hopewell, Frances Craddock in Amelia and Betsy Moses in Roanoke.

Happy traveling during Easter!

Library Displays

Continued from Page 1

the Art staff of Mary Baldwin College; and Sara Joyner, director of public school art in Richmond.

The exhibit is arranged through the chairman of the Art Committee of the Club, Miss Virginia Bedford of the S. T. C. art department.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

MEET ME . . .
—At—
SHANNON'S

Campus Cuties

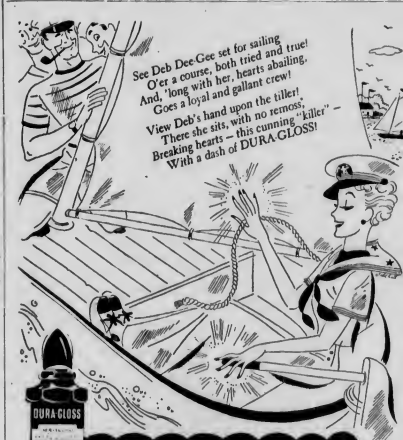
Continued from Page 1

door of the laundry. After peeking through the screen door a moment, we asked permission to "just look around." It was graciously granted, so we gave everything a once-over.

The clothes are washed in various sized machines, and are dried in a big box-like structure that is hot as fire, almost. There are big rollers to iron flat work on, and big pressing machines at a time. There were several ironing boards where the girls were hard at work. We were amazed astonished, DUMBFOUNDED to find that they were ironing with—yes, I mean it—FLAT-IRONS!!! Little gas plates at the end of each board kept them at the right temperature. Electric irons are unavailable. After this shock we went on; we told the friendly girls good-bye.

The next building that loomed before us was the repair shop. We brazenly walked in and found a deserted room. There were tools of every sort; a lathe, an acetylene torch, and hundreds of other unconceivable things. Also there was a forbidden door! It said "DANGER! 2400 volts!" After poking around into every thing we left. By this time, pangs of hunger were overcoming us, so we decided to explore the dining room—"Food around the corner."

One of these days somebody should organize a tour, hook up some little red wagons, and put up the sign, "See S. T. C. now, and don't say 'there's nothing to do while you're on campus.'"



Chinese Dramatist

Continued from Page 1

the Allied cause, contributed to USO on Believe-It-or-Not program, and is a member of the Chinese Participation Committee of United China Relief.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

The people who make it put a special "clinging agent," Chrystallyne, in the polish to make it hold well to the fingernail, and thus resist chipping longer. Try Dura-Gloss today.

LORR LABORATORIES • PATERSON, NEW JERSEY • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

CONGRATULATIONS TO HONOR GRADUATES

The Rotunda

DON'T MISS THE QUIZ TONIGHT

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1944 | No. 24

AKG Sponsers Fourth Annual Quiz Tonight

McCorkle, Hawthorne Named Honor Graduates, Class of '44

Chinese Dramatist To Speak Under BET, PGM Auspices

Li Ling-Ai, who will be heard on STC campus Friday, April 21, at 8 p. m., is the most versatile daughter of China, and is the only Chinese woman producer in the world of the theater, an actress, dancer, lecturer, writer, designer, aviatrix, and doctor.

Miss Li, sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, and Beorc Eh Thorn, honorary English society, will speak on "China Tomorrow". The tickets will go on reserve at Patterson's Drug Store Thursday.

MISS LI LING-AI

Born of prominent Chinese physicians and scholars of distinction in Honolulu, Li Ling-Ai was educated at Punahoe Academy and at the University of Hawaii. She became interested in the traditions of the Chinese theatre and in 1929 went to Peking where she did a great deal of research work in ancient Chinese drama and taught in the Fine Arts Institute of Peking.

Miss Li is co-producer of the color film, "Kukan", which portrays the real China, hard working and courageous, and which received the Hollywood Academy award of 1941 as the best documentary of the year.

She has been featured in Vogue and Harpers Bazaar; she was program director of the Chinese Pavilion at the New York World's Fair, and she has lectured on China and Chinese drama in leading cities throughout the United States. Miss Li has given over one hundred broadcasts for China and the Allied cause, contributed to U. S. O. on Believe-It-or-Not Robert Ripley's program, and is a member of the Chinese Participation Committee of United China Relief. She is an exceptionally effective speaker, with a gift of wit and fine diction.

Sophomores:

Don't forget the deadline, midnight, May 2 for the Pi Gamma Mu essay contest, on the subject "What the War Has Meant to Me?"

The entry must be typed on only one side of the paper; it must be an original piece of work, not having been entered in any other contest, not ever having been published before.

Prizes will be $5 in War Stamps and for the second best $2 50 in War Stamps. The winning essays will be published in both the local paper and the college publication.

Essays should be submitted to Mary Moore McCorkle or Jane Waring Ruffin.

Weeks Places First In Poetry Reading

G. E. Tournament Held In Charlotte

Faith Weeks, junior from Purdy, placed first in poetry reading at the Grand Eastern Forensic Tournament held in Charlotte, N. C., during the Easter holidays. The first place was won last year by Marilyn Bell, junior at Farmville also.

The debate team, alternating affirmative and negative, triumphed over the teams from Eastern Carolina Teachers College, Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, and Carson Newman College. The team composed of Faith Weeks, Olive Bradshaw, senior from Rice, and Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City County, met teams composed almost entirely of Pi Kappa Delta members, since the regional convention of the honorary forensic fraternity was held simultaneously with the Grand Eastern Tournament. The Farmville team bowed in defeat before other Tennessee Tech teams, Alabama College, and another team from Carson Newman College.

In addition to debate, the Farmville representatives entered several other phases of the tournamnt. All three girls took part in the poetry reading contest, with Faith Weeks coming out on top. Olive Bradshaw entered several rounds of address reading, and Jane Ruffin participated in after dinner speaking and impromptu speaking.

Fourteen colleges from all over the south were represented at the tournament which had its headquarters in the Selwyn Hotel in Charlotte. Those colleges sending representatives included Mitchell College, Statesville, N. C.; Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.; Carson-Newman College, Jefferson City, Tenn.; Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Cookeville, Tenn.; Alaba-

Continued on Page 4

AKG Elects Manson Head For 1944-45

Williams, Moore, Ruffin Chosen

Lucy Manson, Virginia Beach, was recently elected president of Alpha Kappa Gamma to succeed Hanah Lee Crawford.

Sara Williams, Woodstock, will serve as vice-president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, replacing Frances Hawthorne. Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City County, will succeed Ella Banks Weathers in the position of secretary, and Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C., will act as treasurer, succeeding Patsy Connelly. Miss Ruth Gleaves and Miss Elizabeth Burger will continue as advisers for AKG for the coming year.

N. Myers Granted Leave of Absence For Military Duty

Norman O. Myers, assistant professor of business education, has received a leave of absence to join the armed forces. He reported to Richmond on Monday.

Mr. Myers, who has been a member of the faculty for three years, received his B. S. degree from Grove City College, Grove City, Pennsylvania, and his Ed. M. from the University of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Myers has taken over his classes and will finish out this session.

16 Receive All A's For Winter Quarter

Receiving all A's for the fall and winter quarters are Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hinman, Mary Moore McCorkle, Sara Dailey Moling, Jeanne Strick, and Eleanor Wade.

Others who attained all A's for the winter quarter are Lois Alphin, Anna Lee Blanton, Geraldine Beckner, Sarah Wayne France, Nell G. Holloway, Mary Anne Jarratt, Marie Kelly, Nancy L. Ranson, Frances Strohecker, Mildred Wilson, and Nancy Harrell.

Cahill, Hales, Smythe, Tidler, Worden Form H-S Team; Honor Students To Deliver Valedictory, Salutatory

Students Active In Varied Fields

Mary Moore McCorkle, of Lexington, was named first honor graduate of the class of 1944, according to an anonuncement made recently by Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college. Mary Moore will deliver the valedictory address at commencement in June.

Frances Lee Hawthorne, of South Boston, named second honor graduate, will deliver the salutatory address.

Mary Moore has been prominent in extra curricular activities during her four years at Farmville. She was president of Kappa Delta Pi this year, and vice-president of Gamma Psi, also. She is a member of Pi Gama Mu, Beorc Eh Thorn and Alpha Kappa Gamma. Mary Moore has been a member of the college choir for two years and also of the Junior A'Cappella Choir. She has worked for three years on the Virginian staff and was business manager this year. Mary Moore has been cited in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

Frances Lee was president of the Y. W. C. A. this year, president of Sigma Pi Rho, vice-president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, and holds membership in Beorc Eh Thorn. She has been a member of the college choir for three years and a member of the Junior A'Cappella choir for two years. Frances Lee has also worked for three years on the B. S. U. Council.

Supervisor of WLA To Speak Tomorrow

Miss Nancy Tyree, assisant state supervisor of the Women's Land Army, will speak to the student body tomorrow, April 20 at 11 o'clock. The WLA is a new phase of the Emergency Farm Labor Program in Virginia which will work in harvesting crops that are vitally needed.

While speaking to the students, Miss Tyree will present opportunities and needs for college girls during the summer to help harvest the crops of Virginia.

JEAN ARINGTON

Arington To Lead Figure At Spring Cotillion Dance

Jean Arington, senior from Lynchburg, will lead the figure at the second dance of the Spring Cotillion set, this Saturday, April 22. Jean was elected Cotillion leader by the club last spring.

Glen Williams and his orchestra from Louisville, Kentucky, will furnish the music for the spring Cotillion. The orchestra is en route on an Easter tour. From four until six o'clock the orchestra will play for a tea dance, and the second dance will be held from 8:30-12:00 in the college gymnasium.

In the receiving line will be Mr. and Mrs. M. Boyd Coyner, Miss Rachel Royal, and the officers of the Cotillion Club, Virginia Mae Ellett, president; Jean Arington, leader of Cotillion, Betty Bridgeforth, secretary, and Shirley Pierce, business manager.

Committees for the dance are, decorations, Lillian Elliott, chairman, Eleanor Bisese, Elizabeth Tennent, and Catherine Trower, and floor committee, Sara Jeffreys, chairman, Marilyn Johnson, Eleanor Bisese, Martha Higgins, Jane McFall, Elizabeth Ann Jordan, and Margie Hewlett.

New BSU President Speaks At Retreat

Gertrude Moore, junior from Danville, will open the Saturday morning worship of the State Baptist Student Union spring retreat in Richmond on April 22. Gertrude was recently elected president of the B. S. U. on this campus.

Speaking also on the Saturday morning program will be Miss Frances Copenhaver, Farmville Student Secretary, who will discuss the topic "Can You Top This?" which is a discussion of new ways of doing old things and best ways for doing new things in Baptist Student Union works.

Principal speakers for the program will include Dr. J. W. Marshall, personnel secretary for the foreign mission board, and Dr. Claude Broach, southwide Baptist secretary.

Approximately 15 Baptist students from S. T. C. are planning to attend this retreat.

Proceeds To Go To Red Cross

Tonigst at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium, Miss Phyllis Payne Pedigo, American Red Cross, will start the questions for the fourth annual quiz-a-roo between Hampden-Sydney and S. T. C. Five students from each of the colleges have been selected to uphold the names of their schools by withstanding the blitz of questions which have come from the faculties and friends.

The Hampden - Sydney brain trust is in the hands of five members of the V-12 unit, Robert Cahill, Washington, D. C.; Henry Hales, Washington, D. C.; William S. Smythe, Jr., Milton, W. Va.; Horaid Stanley Tidler, Arlington; and Robert F. Worden, Bridgeport, Conn.

Those representing S. T. C. are Marilyn Bell, Richmond; Sara Moling, Winchester; Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City County; Mary Preston Sheffey, Marion; and Elizabeth Tennent, Hopewell. Jane Ruffin is the single veteran from last year's quiz on either team.

The quiz, which was initiated in 1941, is this year for the benefit of the American Red Cross, and is under the auspices of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Judges for the occasion are Lt. (jg) R. J. Fisher and Dr. Graves Thompson. Miss Emily Barksdale and Mr. Willard Hart.

4 To Attend Y Meet In Richmond April 29

Mary Ann Jarratt, of Jarratt, Agnes Stokes, Kenbridge, Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston, and Ann Martin from Suffolk, will attend the Virginia-North Carolina area meeting of Student Y. W. C. A.'s in Richmond on April 29.

The two alternates are Sara Dailey Moling, Winchester, and Connie Ozlin from Chase City. Miss Winnie Hiner, facuity advisor, will accompany them.

The conference begins at 9:30 a. m., and will continue through the day. The representatives will discuss student problems and needs of today's war time campus. They will also discuss the part Christianity and students will play in the post-war world.

All the colleges in Virginia and North Carolina will be represented.

Pickens Spoke Today In Chapel on WSCF

The Reverend Charles L. Pickens, representative of the Student Volunteer Movemnt, which is affiliated with the World's Student Christian Federation, spoke today in chapel and at an open meeting of the entire Y. W. C. A.

The continuing purpose of the Student Volunteer Movement is two-fold; namely, to secure the commitment of individual students to life service as missionaries, and to create and maintain among the greater number who will not engage professionaly in this work in interest which will result in the increasing spiritual and financial support of the total missionary enterprise, at home and abroad.

The method of the Student Volunteer Movement is to stimulate within existing organization—the student Y. M. C. A. and agncies, the interseminary movement and

Continued on Page 4

Quiet Garden Conducive to Music Writing, Noted Composer Confides In Interview Here

Church Music Finds Competition in Jazz

"In a garden or a quiet room, with nothing to disturb you, writing music becomes easy," Dr. T. Tertium Noble, organist, composer, conductor, and choir master emeritus of St. Thomas Church in New York, commented in a press interview when the famed musician was on campus last week. This remark came close on the heels of the fact that Dr. Noble composed his great hymn, "Come Labor On", in a matter of ten minutes.

"It is a great joy to me that a hymn like that became popular", Dr. Noble said of the composition, which first appeared in the 1917 edition of the Episcopal hymnal.

"But meager are the returns on church music. The only way to make big money in composing music is to write jazz," the diminutive conductor said, his deepset blue eyes twinkling. And he has devoted his composing almost entirely to church music, though he has done some orchestra work.

"For my first organ number, 'Theme and Variations in D Flat', I was offered two dozen copies free and a two volume set of Handel's works. I accepted it," Dr. Noble told us, but went on to say that from them on, all his work has been published on a royalty basis.

We touched a subject near the heart of the great conductor when we mentioned the St. Thomas Choir School, of which he is the founder and father.

"Its establishment was sort of a promise to me when I accepted the position as organist and choir master in St. Thomas in 1913," Dr. Noble said. "But the war came in 1914, and it wasn't until 1918 that any move was made toward it." At that time the proposition was put before the congregation that some of the members support the boys in order to begin the school.

Enjoyment Reigns In All Noble Work

'So in February, 1919, we opened the school with 20 boys in a quiet cramped way." In time the school grew beyond its original boundaries and increased to its present size of 40 boys.

"The boys win scholarships to the school," its founder explained. "We select boys with promising voices from the age of nine years to twelve. And they remian in the school until their voice breaks. They have to have good minds and good voices. Yes, all 40 sing in the church choir at all times.

"What do I enjoy most? Why I enjoy it all so much!" Dr. Noble answered when asked which phase of his work he received the most pleasure from.

"But", he added, "I guess I'd have to place conducting a symphony and choral group near the

Continued on Page 3

A Neglected Problem Brought To Light

In recent issues of Life and Readers Digest have appeared articles concerning the treatment of the returned war wounded. The problem has been presented to business men throughout the country, and the question is in the hearts of all those who recognize the position of those who return to us having been wounded in battle.

What can we, as college students, do for those men who have given of their life's blood that we may be safe in our way of life, who have given of their physical or mental integrity that the four freedoms may be preserved throughout the world? Should they merely be received back into the social and business world with no recognition of their sacrifice? Because they have not made the headlines for daring, can we ignore the part they have played? Can we afford to, knowing that when the end comes at last to this diabolical war those who have been unharmed to the end will be received with grand and glorious celebrations? What can we do to waylay the bitterness that will follow when these first veterans witness such celebrations?

The attitude of their peers—those of us in college today—toward these men who are returned home now because of wounds, will do much in preventing this bitterness. The problems of the reception of these heroes—they are heroes—has long been overlooked. Now is the time to do something about it.

Post War Planning And College Students

Much is being said currently in national and international diplomatic circles about postwar planning now. And rightly so, for it is recognized that winning the peace is as important as winning the war, though at the time it may not seem so.

Much has been said on college campuses, too, about post war planning, but often the real significance of this has been overlooked by those fortunate enough to be able to remain in school. It seems a little difficult for those of us who can really know comparatively little about the real situation to realize that when we talk about post war planning that we are not attempting to solve problems that "Washington" and "Moscow" and "Teheran" couldn't solve; it seems a little difficult for us to find our place in the planning of the post war world. And yet, that world is to be our world—the world tomorrow belongs to the youth of today and it is up to that youth to become aware of it and its problems.

It is not up to any college student to work out any detailed plan for the aftermath of the war. But it is up to us to know the problems, their possible solutions, and the consequences thereof. It is up to us now to decide what kind of a world will be acceptable to us, for on our shoulders will fall the burden of shaping the world which will be ours—tomorrow's world, the postwar world.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager
Margaret Sheffield ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Kathryn Hutchinson, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Ann Buck, Catherine Trower, Margie Hewlett, Lelia Holloway, Nell Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Sarah Taliaferro, Lynn Spry, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee, Rachel Bourne.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1944

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

In a whirlwind in the Crimean area, the Russians have pushed to the suburbs of Sevastopol, the last German-held port on the Black Sea. This is the second battle opened on Sevastopol in this war. The Germans have been forced into a 300-square pocket on the southern tip of the Crimea and are being pounded by the Reds night and day.

* * * *

The United Nations have opened an attack on the Nazi supply route into the Balkans. Belgrade, Brasov, and Nis are on the three rail routes which make up the only supply line the Germans have to the Southern Rusian front, and they have been bombed by Italian based planes. The cutting of this supply line is of utmost importance to the Ukraine campaign.

* * * *

The Italian front is still very quiet. There have been some slight flareups of action which have been mostly at night, but no large-scale fighting.

* * *

Unescorted allied bombers made the tenth attack at the Truk atoll. At the same time this bombing was made, Aitapo, 90 miles northwest of Wewak in New Guinea was blasted by the Americans. Attacks were also made on Eten and Param Islands, Timor and Alet Islands.

* * *

In the Central Pacific, the Ponape Island airfields were bombed despite heavy antiaircraft fire. Matsueva in the Kuriles and Nauru also suffered severe attacks.

* * *

A confident announcement that the plain of Imphal, in Northeastern India, is in Allied hands has been made. A serious situation for the Japanese has been caused by the Allies' use of Chindits, troops carried to the battle front by gliders. This is an attempt to cut all communications of the Japanese in this area, and has encouraged the Allies so that they feel that the Japanese invasion of India is doomed. It is also reported that the Allies have made "satisfactory progress" in clearing the Japanese from the road between Kohimo and Dinapur.

Information Please

Since the Quizettes are coming out tonight with "see the answers" there are a few questions we'd like the experts to help us with.

How did Lucy Messick manage to get the best-looking date from Duke? Also, how did she manage to conquer the only man on a bus loaded to capacity with STC girls.

How does Anne Marie Ulmstead rate a soldier in the afternoon and a sailor at night?

Why is it Betty Blackwell adores only Lamda Chi's?

How and why did Satterfield look so extremely tired Monday again?

Why did Bobby Graham wait till after Easter to wear her corsage?

Just exactly why Mary Ellen Hoge doesn't think to "pull down the shade"—in the rec?

What makes Fate send Mangey Fox all the way to New York?

Why doesn't Houston write?

Why did Johnny get so excited over the letter from Annapolis?

How was it that Jane Knapton got the tallest Duke man?

Why was it Jo Eades was so completely out of this world last week-end? Oh! Even we can answer that—Clay was here!!

What's this we hear about the Massey's addition to the portrait gallery?

Where did Droste's mysterious Easter egg come from?

Just for curiosity, we'd like to know what Fay Johnson found in Washington to keep her there so long?

the "Y"

By MARGIE HEWLETT

We appreciate the spiritual uplift offered by the presentation of Brahm's Requiem last Sunday afternoon.

Personal Inspiration is the theme for Prayers this week. The daily topics for the remainder of the week are Ye Are the Branches, Live Courageously, and Give Us Our Daily Bread. Let's not forget to pause these few minutes every day for a bit of inspiration.

Bandage rolling is on Thursday night. Remember it is one of the small ways in which we can do our part here at school.

My Fourfold Prayer

For the gift of strength and health
And for friendship's bounteous wealth,
For the power to think aright,
And for religion's guiding light—
We give Thee thanks.

—Anonymous

Attention, Please

Renew your membership in the "Y"! The table in the hall will be open Thursday afternoon for you to sign up for a new committee. Since freshmen signed for committees last quarter, only upperclassmen will sign at this time. All committees will meet with the new chairmen next Wednesday night at 9 o'clock.

Sunburned? Match Your Clothes To It

By ANN BUCK

Old man sun is on the beam as he looks down on the college roof with his bright red eyes. This Mr. Sun causes dorm fashions to go from one extreme to another. Jeans and plaid flannel skirts, tops for last quarter, are quickly changed to shorts and halters. It is said by scientists that the ivy tans quicker and smoother if you wear white and are surrounded by whity; therefore white shorts are the favorites for sun bathing.

For browsing around the dorm, full sized men's cotton shirts are worn with skirts, shorts, slacks, and pajamas. To go with the informality of this dress are moccasins, flat heeled sandies, floppy bed-room slippers or no shoes at all. There are no socks covering the dark feet of these vivacious but care-free girls. Their hair is usually coiled around a program ribbon, tied up in a red bandana or plaited in pig tails.

Trotting from class to class the glamorless girl still wears the same old gym suit covered with a wool skirt and sometimes a trench coat. On her foot she is still clopping around in white socks and tennis shoes or no socks and sneakers.

Continued on Page 4

Mexican May Day Provides Novelty In Costume, Dance

Any old pajamas, pants, trays, flowers? Not strange sounds but strange sights meet the eye of onlookers at May Day practices. The costumes are all typically Mexican, and they do seem strange to the onlooker. Some dances are done with trays, some with flowers, but all of them are done with smiles.

Being a Mexican Indian doesn't allow for plenty of "war whooping it up". The Mexican Indian is a silent chap and very intense in his dance. It was a surprise to the girls in the dance to find that not only the men, but the women wear pants. Leaps and runs are plentiful, and this is the only dance in May Day this year to be done in bare feet.

Dancing with shoes on is more than a novelty. The three folk groups vie with one another on their stamping. At first the dances looked like tap dancing, but the participants soon found them to be much different. The Mexicans are very light on their feet, and dance with a very straight posture.

Learning to call wares as well as to sing in Spanish fell to the lot of the Spanish students. Sixty voices will be blended together in song for the market scene. It will be worth the trip to Longwood just to hear the vendors and watch the eager tourists as they run from booth to booth buying the peasants' wares.

Mass rehearsals have been started one week earlier, to make it easier for the long trek to Longwood the final week of rehearsals. This may be the last costumed May Day for the duration, for costume materials have been very hard to get this year. The participants elected to have May Day at Longwood this year rather than on the campus.

Question of the Week

What do you think would make S. T. C. more beautiful?

Doris Ramsey: Paint the rooms different colors.

Margaret Ellett: More Gertie Crouch's and better-looking steps in the Rotunda.

Rachael Brugh: Bigger campus.

"Monk" Meeks: Make the little campus that we do have pretty—in other words—"no trespassing!"

Sally Robertson: Get William here right quick and the whole school will be beautiful!

Martha Wells: For one thing—change the name from State Teachers College to something like "Longwood" or "Jarman" College.

Olive Bradshaw: I could say something but I don't want to put it in print.

"Kakie" Stoner: More windows in my room.

Nan Sours: Jimmy!

Joy Wilkerson: Better facilities in the Rec.

Sue Hundley: New backdrops and curtains on the stage.

Ruth Jones: I can't think of a thing!

Nancy Langhorne: Some grass.

"Gertie" Crouch: More Duke University week - ends.

Doris Harper: Move the campus to Longwood.

Jerry Timms: New fixtures, rugs etc., in the Rotunda.

Lynn Spry: Some Marines would make it awfully pretty.

Anne Christian: Fewer restrictions.

Mary Wyatt: Paint my room.

Mrs. Hutter: I wouldn't change the girls or the grounds, but I would like to see more men around all the time.

Anonymous: Less complaining about what it is like.

Lucy Bowling: Make the campus bigger.

Sue McCorkle: Three seasons of spring.

Margie Cully: Make it co-ed.

Carol Diggs: Paint the auditorium, especially the stage.

M. K. Ingram: Me.

Shirley Gibson: Hard to tell.

Mary Walker Watts: I like it just like it is!

To the Editor:

To the Editor,

May I say a word of appreciation for the Choir and its management in giving to the College and its friends an outstanding presentation of a great musical masterpiece? An appreciation of Brahms is one of the high points in an artistic education; the training necessary to weld into a magnificent unity the varied motives and the different voices in the great Requiem is a test of craftsmanship; and the pride of a college in what is probably its greatest event in a score of years is only part of the reward for a fine production nobly planned and beautifully executed. By no means the least of the permanent contributions is the abiding memory of an eternally young conductor who held units trained under at least five different musicians at his finger tips with gentle firmness. From now on to have sung in the Farmville Choir of 1944 is a badge of distinction.

James Elliott Walmsley

Wade Elected Head Of Monogram Club

Scott, Whittle Made Officers

Eleanor Wade, junior from Charlottesville, has been elected president of the Monogram Club to replace Sara Jeffries, outgoing president. Bobbie Scott of Franklin, and Ophelia Whittle of Petersburg, were elected as vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively to replace Edith Lovins and Eleanor Wade. Miss Olive T. Iler was re-elected as the club's adviser.

Plans are being made by the club to fix up the cabin at Longwood with extra supplies, and it will be prepared over the summer for long sessions in it next year. Each week-end it will be used by some club or organization for a week-end party.

Noted Conductor

Continued from Page 1

top. It's the sort of thing you can play with and get results. But there must be perfect sympathy among the whole group." And we saw what he meant on Sunday when we watched him direct the Duke and STC choirs in Brahms "Requiem", accompanied by part of the Washington Symphony Orchestra, when we watched him have complete control over every member of each group, watched him mould the singing and the playing with a slight movement of his head as he stood on the raised platform before the groups.

"My three masters were all giants," the Englishman commented when questioned about his musical training. "Sir Walter Parratt, of St. George Chapel, in Windsor, taught me organ; I had my composition under Sir George Villiers Standford, and harmany and counterpoint under Sir Frederick Birdge, organist at Westminster Abbey."

"But it was the head master at the Royal College of Music, Sir George Grove, who took me to hear the first performance of Brahms. It was the Fourth Symphony, in E Minor at the Crystal Palace outside London," Dr. Noble told us.

"One of these days, perhaps this summer, I'm going to sit down in my garden and jot down all the interesting things in my life," Dr. Noble concluded the interview. "My has been a curious one, filled with chance and good luck that came along at just the right moment."

And we considered it a piece of good luck for us that we had the opportunity to talk with Dr. T. Tertius Noble, Dr. Noble with the sparkling blue eyes, vivacious in spite of his years, which as he put it are "35 and 41". Dr. Noble, composer, organist, conductor, choir master emeritus, and founder of the St. Thomas Choir School.

KEEP ON Backing the Attack! WITH WAR BONDS

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.

The basic entrance requirements are intelligence, aptitude for nursing, and character. During the War, high school graduates who have not had college work, including chemistry, should enroll in the special Pre-Nursing Course offered in this School, which will begin July 3, 1944. Those who successfully complete this pre-nursing course, and other students with acceptable college work will begin September 29, 1944. Tuition for the pre-nursing course is $100.00 and $100.00 per year for the nursing. This covers the cost of instruction and maintenance. Students joining the United States Nurse Cadet Corps will have no tuition to pay and will receive uniforms and stipends. Kellogg Loan Funds for tuition are also available. Catalogue and application forms should be obtained from: The Dean of the School of Nursing, Nurham, North Carolina.

Left Lead

"When it rains, it pours," they say.

But must it pour down every day?

So seems to run the lament of the Riding Club members as they gaze wistfully out into a hazy day, or read on the mantle that there will be "no ring work until the mud dries out some." There's just no end to the rainy weather, and it could be so nice for riding.

There's been enough excitement going on around here in the last week to merit our asking for a double column, but if you can stick with us, we'll try to get it all in here. One of the first things is that Riding Club meeting the other night with all those new faces! The clubroom was filled and then some . . . and all of them "active" members. Things are happening, though. It was explained that the Horse Show will have only thirteen classes this year instead of the customary fourteen; explained about how the classe are announced and we draw names to see who rides who, just two or three nights before the show; and a few more simple rules announced about the few cents differences in entry fees this year. Reports from committees proved that the ribbons are well on their way down the assembly line, with a lot of wishful thinking being stitched in with the gathers. A Big Day lies ahead, and excitement vies with expectancy for top honors.

As we looked out of the window last week, we were first struck by the smoothness of the ring, and the fact that it looked almost too pretty to ride one. That was the point . . . we looked out of another window and beheld the brand-new rings directly behind Junior building. It's long and narrow, and exceptionally good for jumping, but none too popular on the curves until it's widened some.

At any rate, it was the scene of immense activity last Friday afternoon when the three new members of the Dusty Boots were initiated. With a vast audience that gazed from anywhere and everywhere from the dorm windows to ringside seats on upturned stumps, Mary Sterrett, Betty Ellis, and Lucille Jones were given a work-out-and-a-half by Dusty Booters Cheatwood and Smith. They did everything except change horses in the middle of a stream . . . and that was lacking simply because there was no stream handy enough to change in! They jumped brush jumps and ordinary jumps . . they raced Midnight and McArthur, and they tore saddles apart just to see who could be the first to get 'em back together again. B. Ellis pulled the prize boner . . . she was first through alsa, but she left Midnight's martingale dangling between his knees . . . and had to start all over. It didn't worry her, though . . . nobody else had their stirrups on the wrong straps! To make a long initiation short, however, it was an hour of great fun, and congratulations to all three of them, and to the Master Minds who jollied up the ordeals.

Unofficial and unplanned, the other big day was early last week, on the first trail ride after Easter, when the horses were on the go, and the Wind was in its fatal glory. There was a runaway deluxe on the way to the Grainger's Road, and only a well grassed lawn . . . or a sharp swerve into it . . . stopped what might have become a serious situation. Sure, some of the gals got tossed to the winds, and one shaken individual worked off her stiffness in an infirmary bed, but what the heck? It was great exercise, and something to talk about when it was over. Too bad some people had to talk too much.

The main worry of our stiffest heroine was that she wouldn't be limbered up enough in time to take her next ride!

So there you have it, folks, the news up till next week at the same time. If the weather man will let us, there are big plans for this Spring, so keep listenin' for it . . . and

Keep on the Bit!

Pegasus

JOYCE CHEATWOOD

Cheatwood Elected Pegasus President

Joyce Cheatwood, junior from Richmond, was re-elected as president of Pegasus Riding Club. To the offices of vice-president and secretary were re-elected Jean Carter Smith and Mary Sterrett.

Margaret Lohr, freshman, was elected to replace Betty Little as next year's treasurer. Betty Cock was re-elected as publicity chairman and historian of the scrapbook.

"Spring is spring;
The grass is riz"
Do you wonder how
Your spring clothes is?

Maybe they need cleaning at

DE LUXE CLEANERS

Farmville's Most Popular Store

ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
(High Street)
BUTCHER'S

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

After a nice Easter vacation, it is going to be much easier to settle down to plenty of good hard work in athletics. Not that athletics are hard work, for those who enjoy sports can't help but have a good time in the games they play. A definite schedule has finally been worked out, and the physical education department is straightened out at last. Those of you who aren't quite sure what your schedule is for seasonal sports activities, will find a schedule on the bulletin board in the hall on the way to the post office. Keep your eye on it when you pass by, so that you will know definitely when your class has been scheduled.

Tennis

The courts have been rolled and lined, and are in good shape for plenty exciting games for the spring sessions, but the first rule for all participants to remember, is not to use the courts unless you are wearing regulation tennis shoes. You wouldn't like it very much, if you had just had your face lifted, and someone came along and walked all over it. Well, that's the way we feel about the tennie courts. If they are to be kept in good shape, they have to be as well cared for as possible, and this goes for those of you especially, who might be using the courts as a short-cut to the athletic field. Take the long way around, and it will help to make our tennis courts the best to be found on any campus.

Old man weather has decided to cooperate for a while, and now it is going to be a lovely spring we have looked forward to all year, the courts should be kept fairly busy. If you don't have a first period class, find someone else who is interested in tennis, and try a snappy game before class in the early morning, or if you have lots of endurance, you might even get up before breakfast, and play a couple of sets. It will give you a terrific appetite, and make you feel simply swell the rest of the day. But the best time of all is just before or just after dinner when it is cool and still light enough to play. It might be rather hard to get the courts at this time, because it is the most popular, but keep trying. Although you might play just for fun, if you practice hard enough you might be able to make the tournament finals this quarter so get in there and practice.

Ole Man Sol

A word to the wise is sufficient, so here's hoping that you wise ones will pass this advice on to those who don't read this column. There is nothing worse than a bad case of sunburn, so be sun wise, and don't get too much at one time. If you really want to do it right, take it in small doses at first, and then you will find it much easier to spend the whole afternoon on the roof without coming back looking like a boiled lobster. Take an alarm clock with you, and set it for 15 minute intervals.

Sun glasses and sun tan oil are also helpful hints .The glasses are helpful because the glare of the sun is bad for your eyes. If you wear glasses, it will provide a chance for you to do your homework on the roof without getting a headache. Sun tan oil eases the rays from the sun, and gives you a nice smooth brown. Be wise about your journeys to the roof, and you won't have to spend painful moments in the infirmary.

In the Spring

In the spring, you can't help but want to be outside as much as possible. After supper walks are one of the nicest things you can possibly do. It isn't too warm or too cool at this time, and you can slowly stroll around the campus just enjoying the feeling of being outside, and away from your room for a while.

Roller skates are coming out of closets and attics now, and even seniors have been seen skating away to their heart's content. This brings back memories of a long lost childhood but if you want to feel young, this is one of the quickest ways. On the front campus the other day, yours truly, even spotted some freshmen playing that old game "Statue" in their bare feet. Let's all get down our hair and get out-of-doors in the good spring air.

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
Visit our fresh
Olive Kist Nut Department
COOKED DAILY

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Tennis Tournament Set For Next Week

April 26 has been set as the date for the all-day tennis tournament, beginning at 4 p. m., sponsored by the A. A. Council. This tournament does not give points toward the color cup, but is for the purpose of creating interest in tennis.

A tentative date for the week of May 8 has been set for the class tournaments in archery, softball and tennis, which will give points toward the color cup. All persons who expect to participate in any class game must have their eight class practices in before this time.

The field house will be open after dinner during the week for those who wish to use the softball equipment for practices. These practices will not be counted towards the eight class practices required, but will help immensely in perfecting your softball game.

Please observe the rule of refraining from the use of the tennis courts without tennis shoes. Non-observance of this rule is destructive to the tennis courts and makes much more work for those who struggle to keep the tennis courts in good condition for playing.

Place your order for flowers for the Cotillion Club Dance at
COLLINS FLORIST

Gifts for every Occasion
Martin the Jeweler

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

COSTUME Brighteners
HAND BAGS
1.39 to 7.95
Plus tax

COSTUME JEWELRY
59c to 6.95
Colorful
Plus tax
Springtime magic from our main floor. Wonderful new accessories to highlight your every costume—to lift your spirits too. Find everything here from hankies to handbags.

DAINTY HANKIES
10c to 1.00

BOW TIE DICKIES
1.00 to 2.98
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Cotillion Members To Heckle Goats Next Monday, Tuesday

Traditional Goat Week for the Cotillion goats, will take place on April 24 and 25.

Rules to be followed by the goats both days are:

1.—They must attend all meals.

2.—They must wear one green and one yellow stocking which may be purchased already dyed at Newberry's.

3.—They must meet on campus in front of the Colonnade before and after lunch.

4.—They must wear no make-up.

5.—They must wear a sign in front bearing their names preceded by the word "Goat".

6.—They must address all old Cotillion members as Miss and are required to know each old member's last name.

The first day has been designated as Founder's Day 1917 on which day the costumes are to be left up to the individual goats, but they must be in keeping with their status quo at that time .

1.—They must wear gloves and hat.

2.—They must carry in a suitcase ten visiting cards (date 1970), matches for old Cotillion members all necessary textbooks for that day's classes, one joke book and one small gift to be presented to the school.

3.—They must have an original four-lined song to the tune of "Marizy Doats." This song is to begin, "I am," and must explain their identity of 1970.

The second day is to be celebrated as First Grade Music Festival Day.

1.—The goats must wear print dresses above their knees, stockings rolled just below the knees, and tennis shoes.

2.—The hair must be plaited, and they must wear 13 freckles.

3.—Goats must sing everything they say to one tune of their own choice, giggle when spoken to by Cotillion members, carry a piece of sheet music of which they know the rules and tune, carry this music with matches in a laundry bag pinned at the waist.

4.—They must be able to imitate one musical instrument.

Notice

Gamma Psi, honorary art society, has set forth two requests for students and organizations having posters made.

The organization has asked that a week's notice be given on all posters and that posters be paid for when they are delivered.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

MEET ME . . .

—AT—

SHANNON'S

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to Kleanwell Cleaners

Opposite Postoffice

See Betty Bridgeforth

Our Representative

Sororities Entertain At Parties, Banquet

Mu Omega sorority entertained with an annual banquet Saturday night in the tea room. Guests included Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Ruth Gleaves, Miss Leola Wheeler and returning alumnae Adelle Watkins, Lillian Wahab, Virginia Hill Chapman, Anne Benton Walker, Brookie Benton, Betty Reid, Margaret Hubbard Seeley, Kitty Hatch Whitfield, Sara Eschan, and Ensign Martha Roberts.

Lucille Cheatham and Mary Walton Rucker entertained the Phi Zeta Sigs at a weiner party Saturday night.

Theta Sigma Upsilon had a coke and nab party Saturday night in the chapter room.

Sunburned?

Continued from Page 2

But when May comes, she must be a little more glamor conscious, and show off her brilliant sun tan in a peppermint candy striped dress with a low neck and short sleeves.

Comb the hair out of your eyes, peek in the mirror and see your self as others see you!

Pickens

Continued from Page 1

Student Volunteer hands — that commitment to the World Mission of the Church which will contribute to the increased stability of the total Christian Student Movement an dto the T90$...AOIN ment and to the part of that movement in the entire missionary enterprise.

Poetry

Continued from Page 1

ma College for Women, Montevallo, Ala.; Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky.; Pfeifer Junior College, Misenheimer, N. C.; Lynchburg College, Lynchburg; Mars Hill Junior College; Mars Hill, N. C.; University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.; University of Richmond, Richmond; Winthrop College, Rock Hill, N. C.; and Farmville S. T. C., Farmville.

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

FRANCES LEE HAWTHORNE

This week the senior spotlight turns on Frances Lee Hawthorne, past president of the Y. W. C. A.

Not only to her close friends, but to the entire student body, this petite and vivacious student is known as Flee (no relation to the Biological specimen.)

In working with the Y, Flee has made work time pleasure time by putting her whole self into what she was doing because her inspiration came from inside as well as from outside. Those who have had the privilege of working with her in the Y and elsewhere have found her a capable, quiet leader, who of herself is an inspiration to her fellow-workers.

In the records, Flee will go down as second honor graduate of the class of 1944, as president of the Y, as president of Sigma Pi Rho, as a member of half a dozen organizations, but she will go down in our personal records for her cheerfulness at all hours, for her finger shooting, for her annex acquired habit of drinking—coffee, and for having such a large personality in such a small body.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

After the rush and crowds of Easter traveling, fewer people were tempted to brave it again this week-end.

But nevertheless, to Petersburg went Faith Weeks to visit Frances Shackleford, and to Franklin went Harriette Moore and Cornelia Smith to visit Bobbie Scott. To the Methodist Conference in Blacksburg went Virginia Lee Price, Ann Buck, Blanche Steel, Virginia Farrier, Elizabeth Gates, and Betty Watts.

The Easter dances at the University of Virginia lured Viola Turner, Ann Jones, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Ann Martin, Carmen Low, Betty Wright, Jane Crump, and Betty Minetree. Virginia Terrell took in the dances at Annapolis and Frances Satterfield at Chapel Hill, North Carolina over the week-end.

The opera "Carmen" drew many music lovers to Richmond. Among these were Margaret Pattie, Katherine Kearsley, Betty Wood, Dorothy Cox, Bernice Copenhaver, Mary Preston Sheffey, Mary Crank, Elizabeth Mathews, Gloria Pollard, Kitty Renneker, and Rachel Ranum.

Frances Lee Hawthorne and Sara Bird Williams attended the Y. W. C. A. conference in Little Rock, Arkansas

To Beaver Dam to be in her sister's wedding went Edith Apperson, Ann Grey Bell went home to Chatham to visit friends and Rose Marie Waggner visited in Johnson City, Tenn., and Nancy Watts in Lynchburg. Jane McFall visited her parents in Danville. Ann Hamilton went home to Burkeville, and Margaret Hickman to Clifton Forge; Eloise Golloday motored to Scottsville.

Ellen Higginbottom and Jane Crump visited Betty Wright in Waynesboro during the week-end.

Betty Tom Andrews, Beatrice Bruch, Gussie Himes, Betty Little, Betty Moses, and Monterey Twiford were to be found in Roanoke over the week-end.

Betty Bridgeforth, Patsy Connelly and Shirley Skinner went to Kenbridge, and Faye Nimmo Webb made the most exciting trip of all. She went to Suffolk to see her newly-acquired husband.

KEEP ON Backing the Attack WITH WAR BONDS

Two Mary Muffet CLASSICS, [illegible] activities... today and tomorrow. Left: "LUCINDA", 100% featherweight wool in soft winter pastels. Right: "INVINCIBLE LOUISA", Fan Tan jersey in warm fall hues.

BALDWIN'S

You can bet it all that "TS" is the Guy-Popular at mail-call. Those folks of his never slip on sending plenty Chesterfields . . . and of course being Aces himself, this makes a handsome combination.

Sure, you've got it... Combination is what we're leading up to ...Chesterfield's

RIGHT COMBINATION

WORLD'S BEST TOBACCOS

5 Key-words for the milder, better-tasting smoke that satisfies

Ask for

CHESTERFIELD

They Satisfy

Copyright 1944, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Terrific FRED WARING'S VICTORY TUNES Five Nights a Week all NBC Stations

Sensational JOHN NESBITT'S PASSING PARADE Tues.Wed.Thurs. Nights all CBS Stations

UPPERCLASSMEN
SIGN UP TOMORROW FOR "Y" COMMITTEES

The Rotunda

AVOID BREAKING
LIBRARY REGULATIONS
SEE EDITORIAL, PAGE 2

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1944 | No .25

Portsmouth Junior Elected President Of College Choir

Maddox, Messick, Prosise Chosen

Anne Blair, junior from Portsmouth, was elected president of the College Choir Tuesday night to succeed Lucy Messick.

Pat Maddox, junior from Roanoke, was elected vice-president, succeeding Anne Blair, and Julia Messick, sophomore from Front Royal, was elected treasurer, succeeding Caroline Beard. Jean Prosise, junior from Wilson, was re-elected secretary.

ANNE BLAIR

The College Choir sponsored the Christmas concert on the campus with Miss Florence Manning as guest soloist and Brahm's Requiem on April 16 with Dr. T. Tertius Noble conducting. The oratorio was sung by members of the College Choir and Duke University Glee Club with Miss Helen Wood and Robert Nicholson as guest soloist. The Washington Symphony Orchestra was also present for this occasion.

Other choir officers and the officers for the other music organizations will be elected later.

Dramatist Compares Chinese, Virginian Codes In Interview

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

"There's nothing like getting married, but be sure it's to the right man." Miss Li Ling Ai, the petite lecturer of last Friday night gave us this piece of advice as we started our interview.

"And," she continued with a sparkle in her dark eyes, "Dont marry just for a meal ticket. You might be surprised to find you've gotten a liability. Marriage has to be a fifty-fifty affair with the woman contributing her part—not only homemaking, but also outside support. And that works both ways—husband should be a help around the house, too."

We just managed to keep up with this vivacious representative of our great ally, China, long enough to ask what she thought of equal rights for women.

"Of course there should be equal rights for women. Being born in Honolulu and raised among all kinds of people, I have come to realize that it is not sex, race, nor age that count in how one should judge a person, but pure quality of achievement."

We watched the green jade earrings bob up and down expressively as she shook her head accentuating a point. But then in a Horatio Algerish mood we said:

"To what do you attribute your success, Miss Li?"

"My, what a question. It's simply a matter of carrying out your convictions. I have very strong ones and cling to them. You must discipline yourself. I have been very free in that I have been allowed to let my convictions discipline me, so I got the natural result. That is real freedom, doing what you wish, but controlled by

Continued on Page 4

VEA Conference Meets April 29-30

Meeting on the campus of S. T. C., on April 29 and 30 will be the Spring Conferences of the Virginia Education Association. The theme of the convention will be "Planning for Post-War Teacher Education in Virginia."

Officers of the Association are Dr. M'Ledge Moffett, S. T. C., Radford, president; Harry Sanders, V. P. I., Blacksburg, vice-president; Miss Jonnie Gore, S. T .C., Radford, secretary; and Miss Alice Carter, S. T. C., Farmville, treasurer.

Speakers at the meeting will be Dr. Kenneth L. Heaton, Chief Training Officer Protective Branch; Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, State Superintendent of Education; Mr. Francis Chase; Miss Ethel Spilman; Mr. Harry Sanders, Dr. Edward Alvey, Jr.; Dr. O. W. Wake; and Mr. W. E. Gilbert.

Group leaders for discussions will be Mr. Boyd Graves, Dr. Ingar Heiseth, and Mr. W. J. Gifford.

35 Students Pledge Campus Sororities

Thirty-five girls pledged the eight sororities on the campus as a result of spring rushing which ended last night. Pledging Sigma Sigma Sigma are Judy Connelly, Betsy Dillard, Kitty Parham, Martha Wells, and Connie Young. The new pledges of Alpha Sigma Alpha are May Derieux, Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Betty Parrish, Nancy Parrish, Vidilia Waller and Margaret Wilson.

Alpha Sigma Tau pledged Anna Headlee, Ruth Rowe, and Kitty Wright; Gamma Theta, Jane Page; Mu Omega, Lois Boone and Grace Loyd. Gene Tucker, Ann Mapp, Kitty Saunders and Betty Jane Austin pledged Pi Kappa Sigma.

The following pledged Theta Sigma Upsilon, Rosa Lee Bell, Mary Franklin Woodward, Margaret Stewart, Beverly Boone, Reba Conner, Martha Watkins, Marion Lotts, Jean Anderson, Margaret Smith, Mabel Waddell, Nancy Adams and Charlotte West. Doris Jones and Virginia Treakle pledged Phi Zeta Sigma.

Women's Education Changes Advocated

Professional and vocational college courses may continue at their accelerated pace after the war, but the "liberal" type of education, stressing academic curriculum, probably will revert to its slower pace, in opinion of Dr. Lynn White, Jr., new president of Mills College.

Through conferences with other college heads, Dr. White currently is attempting to ascertain what is likely to happen to women's education in the years after the war.

"It is certain there will be changes," he said. "But although many more women may be going into the professions, it seems certain an increasing number will be demanding the fundamental academic education on which to build. There will be room for all types of colleges, large and small, co-educational and segregated." — ACP.

Singers To Appear Before Music Clubs

Miss Constance Wardle, director of the choral group at Hollins and professor of voice, has invited the Madrigal Singers to appear before the music clubs of Virginia in Charlottesville, May 22.

Members of the group making the trip will be Carolyn Beard, Anne Blair, Dorothy Cummings, Pat Maddox, director; Lucy Messick, Jean Prosise, Jo Shaffner, Esther Shevick, and Jerry Titmus.

Also, the Madrigal Group has been invited to give a service of song at Buckingham, Virginia, on May 7.

Mail Time At S. T. C. Brings Many Surprises in Boxes, Letters

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

"Hi, hon . . . is the mail up yet?" . . . traditional early morning greeting . . . and its follow up . . . "Well, mine was!" are part of the daily set-up at S. T. C., and the briskness with which they fly at each other are typically true of the average American school girl. And so to the P. O. . . . and the new query, "Whatta ya hear from the mob?'

What DO you hear from the mob? Did you ever take a good long look at the variety of mail that comes and goes in our tiny little post office on First Floor Gym? Look again, sister, you may get the surprise of a lifetime!

Ordinarily, full boxes may be expected to contain a letter from home. That is if you have the communicative type of family which the writer is not blessed with. News of the ol' home town, the kids back there, and what's up with who as far as the relations are concerned. Everyday news of the family pets and the family scraps, and the ever-present promises of "a cake or something" before too very long. And then there's the faithful scrawl of the Man in your Life . . . gaily welcomed regardless of length or brevity. Telling you the "old Melody", ever new as you read it with your eyes and your heart.

Uncle Sam's boys love to have you boost their morale, but the trick works bot hways, and many a grin is afforded us by the fanciful phrases behind that fatal "Free". V-Mail, too, brings new wonder to our minds . . . mostly wonder of whether he has finally broken over the traces and at last sketched the threatened sketch of the long-suffering Censor, to "see if he'll photograph well!"

And speaking of Censors . . . don't you wish you had the power to look inside of every envelope and every package that graces a box at S. T. C.? Can't you imagine the romance behind it all? The plans that are made on paper . . . the plans that are broken . . . the news that comes . . . news of births and deaths and marriages. A letter that in one paragraph can describe a scene of bloody horror o nthe battle front, and in the next, the bea uty and spiendor . . . and loneliness . . . or a sunset overseas. A letter from a boy you used to go to the kindergarten with and who is now beginning schooling again in "primary flight instruction." A hurried note from the sailor you met at your last U. S. O. dance at home . . . "An on shore for half an hour . . . wish you were here to join me in a hamburger" . . . or a pert note from the local navy at H.-S. C. . . . "May I come in this week-end if the C. O. doesn't find out I'm the guy who threw the light switch in Cushing?" It's the variety that gets us.

Packages are another matter entirely, but none the less interesting. Everything from laundry to eats. Huge, unmanageable boxes of food for the hall, or more compact, ready-prepared trim delicacies for more private consump-

Continued on Page 3

State Senator Neff To Speak At Commencement Exercises

Harvey Appointed Business Manager Of 1945 Virginian

Staff Members Named by Editor

Mary Elizabeth Harvey, junior from Roseland, will be the new editor-in-chief of the Virginian Marilyn Bell, newly appointed editor in chief of the Virginian for the next year, announced this week. Mary Elizabeth is a member of Beore Eh Thorn and is active in many other college activities.

On the new business staff will be Shirley Cruser, sophomore from Norfolk. Lillian Elliott, sophomore from Farmville, and Margaret Ellett, freshman from Jennings Ordinary.

Typists will be Carol Diggs, junior from Farmville and Sue McCorkle, freshman from Lexington.

Working on the literary staff, and doing general work on the annual will be Betsy Fox, junior from Danville; Kitty Maddox, sophomore from Lynchburg; Pat McLear, freshman from Richmond; Sara Moling, junior from Winchester, Barbara Montgomery, freshman from Alberta; Dorothy Overcash, sophomore from Hampden-Sydney. Ann Shufflebarger, freshman from Portsmouth, Elsie Thompson, junior from Boydton, and Ophelia Whittle, junior from Petersburg.

Plans for the 1945 annual are already under way.

Former Professor Stationed at Peary

Mr. Norman O. Myers, who, for the past several years has taught in the Business Education Department here at Farmville, and left for the Navy this month, is now stationed at Camp Peary. Williamsburg, Virginia, and has been given the title of head yeoman.

He is engaged in setting a file system to accommodate 100,000 men. His work also includes the daily mustering and personnel distribution, leave cancellations and extensions of liberties.

Mr. Myers will have approximately six yeomen under him when the office is organized.

REV. D. D. HOLT

AKG Makes Pedigo Honorary Member

RC Worker Allowed To Wear Pin Always

Miss Phyllis Payne Pedigo, of the American Red Cross, was made an honorary member of the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma while she was on campus last week to serve as mistress of ceremonies at the fourth annual quiz between Hampden-Sydney College and S. T. C. The announcement was made by Hannah Lee Crawford, president, during the intermission of the program last Wednesday night.

Honorary members of Alpha Kappa Gamma are elected on the basis of service and contributions to leadership in womanly service. Other honorary members of the Joan Circle include Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Ellen Glasgow, and Mr. and Mrs. Archer Huntington.

Miss Pedigo, an alumna of S. T. C., was field director of the Red Cross in Northern Australia for 16 months and was returned to this country only after having been wounded in line of duty. She spoke at Farmville on Founders Day in March, and at present is on tour for the American Red Cross.

After receiving her bid to the regional honorary society for leadership in womanly service, Miss

Continued on Page 4

Practice For "Cinco de Mayo" Here Provides Work, Fun, Headaches

By BETTY BIBB

May Day? What's that? It usually means music, dancing, festivity, fun and a thousand other little pleasures. I really have no idea what May Day is, so I'm going to use the common definition of this day in May, and not tax my teeming clockworks by going into how it originates, developed, expanded, etc. I definitely am going to dwell on how this particular "Cinco de Mayo", 1944, originated, grew (and is still growing) into the best production yet.

The idea was brewing several years ago, when everything was going "Spanish" and the Good Neighbor Policy was being advocated far and wide. Last summer Miss "K" did the necessary research work (which, I assure you innocent people, was a task) and plans shaped up for "Cinco de Mayo." Now is where "We, the Students" come in.

The Spanish students were drafted for the vocal background. This meant either giving up an hour studying or a food or bridge party to practice. Which was given up? You guess . . . Anyway, the favorite song rings out, even in Shannon's. It's something about a cockroach, so instead of some American jive now, it's 'La Cucuracha.' How 'bout that?

Of course, the "Court" must be nigh perfect. For the eyes that scrutinize the final product don't miss a Miss. A misiaid hair, an awkward carriage, or a girl out of step furnish gossip material for clacking tongues. Day and night they step out in the gym, so they can present a lovely picture for the expectant crowd.

The strain begins at the routines of dance rehearsals. "Where's that end girl? Isn't she your partner? Well, go get her right now!" Naturally, when the girl in question as a "last date before he ships" date, who could be so heartless as to break it up? So everybody looks everywhere, but nobody can find her. The dance goes on, without the caboose girl, with the straggling line swinging toward the middle of the gym. "1-2-3-4—

Continued on Page 4

Holt Will Deliver Baccalaureate Talk

The Honorable William N. Neff, of Abingdon, will deliver the address at the 60th Commencement exercises on Tuesday, June 6, T. A. McCorkle, chairman of the program announced this week.

The baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, June 4, will be delivered by Rev. D. D. Holt, of Lynchburg. Dr. Holt has been a speaker on this campus at various times and is pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church in Lynchburg.

Mr. Neff is a member of the State Board of Education and is State Senator from the 15th Virginia Senatorial district. He attended Emory and Henry University and the University of Virginia, and at present is a director of the Washington County National Bank and General Manager of Vance Company, Inc. Before becoming Senator in 1943, Mr. Neff served in the General Assembly in the House of Delegates from 1932 till 1943.

As announced last week, Frances Lee Hawthorne, second honor graduate in the Class of 1944, will present the salutatory address at the commencement exercises. The valedictory will be delivered by Mary Moore McCorkle, first honor graduate.

Other details of the commencement program, which includes Class Day exercises, the Senior Prom, and the traditional Lantern Parade, will be announced later.

Green, Price, Stokes Head Church Groups

Alice Green, Farmville, was elected president of the Canterbury Club to succeed Mary Rucker. Filling the position of vice-president will be Betty Cock from Hampton, succeeding Mary Lou Dondley.

Acting as secretary for the next year will be Anne Taylor from Hague, who will succeed Mary Sterrett, Mary Sterrett of Raphine will succeed Marie Green in the position of treasurer.

Virginia Lee Price, of Farmville, has been elected president of the Wesley Foundation for the coming year and Dorothy Cummings of Charlottesville will serve as vice-president.

Elected secretary was Betty Blackwell, Roanoke, treasurer; Elizabeth Mast, Lynnhaven; worship chairman; Anne Hamlin of Surry; social chairman, Lorraine Raiford, Ivor; world friendship, Betty Adams, of Richmond; chairman of community service, Ann Buck of Farmville; and chairman of membership, Louise Harrell of Suffolk.

Succeeding Lois Alphin in the position of the Westminster Fellowship, young people's group of the Presbyterian Church, is Agnes Stokes of Kenbridge. Serving as vice-president to succeed Agnes Stokes will be Sara Moling of Winchester.

Sara Lee East of South Boston will act as secretary to succeed Sarah Byrd Williams. Margie Hewlett of Richmond will serve in the position of treasurer, a new

Continued on Page 3

Boss Recently Made President A. C. E.

The Association of Childhood Education elected officers last week with Aline Boss of Hadlock serving as president and Rachel Joyner, of Zuni, as vice-president.

Elizabeth Ann Jones of Berryville, will act as secretary; Alyn Phillips of Baskerville, treasurer; and Ann Shaw of South Hill as chairman of the ways and means committee.

Views on Spring Fever

Spring is in the air. Yes, in spite of the sudden changes to cold every now and then, in spite of the winter-like rains, spring has definitely arrived.

And with spring comes the usual spring fever. A sort of lethargy has crept over all of us, caused partly by the coming of spring and partly by our own weariness.

However, despite these seemingly justifiable reasons, we can't afford to let up for one minute. We can't afford to waste any of the precious time allotted us to prepare ourselves for the aftermath of war. And our preparation lies in making the most of our college days.

And making the most of our college days means more than religiously going to classes though that is an important part. It means taking advantage of every single possible opportunity in classes and in extra curricular activities to broaden our experience and our minds that we may be ready when the times comes for us to take a larger part in the shaping of our world.

No, we can't afford, in the face of things to let up for a single minute, any more than than our boys overseas can afford to let up in their efforts to win the war for some petty personal reason. We can't afford to let up, because on the basis of our preparation now will develop the post war world, our world, the world of tomorrow.

The Library Problem Again

Again and again the problem has cropped up, and almost as often it has been mentioned in these columns. And still the students refuse to abide by the few regulations of the College Library.

It certainly isn't unreasonable that Reference material and magazines should remain in the Library and be accessible to all students at all times. And it certainly is unreasonable that new issues of magazines "walk off" almost as soon as they are put on the shelves, that the best article for geography papers are hogged by some students in their rooms, that encyclopedia sets and bound magazines are incomplete, because some student has taken a volume.

All the books and other material in the library is open at all times to the students. Only in this way can the maximum use be made of the materials by the students. Stacks could be closed, and certainly this would eliminate some of the "mysterious disappearances", but this should not be necessary. The Library Staff does not at any time wish to limit the use of the library in any way, and the only limits are those imposed by ourselves when we tolerate the removal of reference and magazine material by our classmates.

Girls, the next time you feel tempted to take that new magazine back to your room, stop a minute and think of the other eight hundred girls in school. There may be several more who want to finish that serial too, and remember how furious you were when a third instalment was missing. The next time you start out of the library with a wonderful article for your geography or philosophy paper, stop a minute to think of the rest of your class. And remember the mediocre material you had to be satisfied with last time papers were due because someone just like you had taken the best material before you got there.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager
Margaret Sheffield ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Kathryn Hutchinson, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Ann Buck, Catherine Trower, Margie Hewlett, Lelia Holloway, Nell Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Sarah Taliaferro, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee, Rachel Bourne.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1944

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

There is every indication on the European battlefronts that the invasion day is not far off. Already there has been a week of record-breaking Allied aerial offensive against German anti-invasion communications and coastal defenses. All types of both English and Italian based planes have been used in the attack, and the Germans have not let them go unchallenged. The number of Allied loses is not known however. Although the offensive has been announced to have been a success, it is not yet completed. These bombings will doubtless make the Alied conquest easier but will not lighten the task of invasion to any great extent.

* * * *

The silence from the Russian front is another indication that the invasion day may not be so far off. There has been only slight activity in Estonia and in Southeastern Polland, and no reports have been received from the Sevastopol area. The Russian communique announced there have been "no essential changes" on the entire eastern front. It is believed that the Reds may be massing to launch an attack at the same time the Alied invasion comes from the west.

* * * *

In a surprise movement directed personally by General MacArthur, the Allies landed at Hollandia, Aitape, Humbolt Bay, and Tanahmeran Bay all in New Guinea. The landing at Hollandia marked the first allied invasion of The Netherlands East Indies. The greatest number of troops ever used in any operation in the Southwest Pacific were used in this attack, but they met little resistance by the enemy. This movement cut off the Japanese Eighteenth Army, and showed that the Allies have more strength in the Southwest Pacific.

* * *

An optimistic report has been received from East India in that the Japanese have been stopped in the Imphal-Kohima area. The present and future threat to the Dimapur lines of communication is said to be removed, but the Indian papers do not feel so sure of the Allies' position. There has been fierce fighting southwest of Imphal. However, the Japanese have not been able to advance.

BITS O'
THIS 'N' THAT

At last, the time has come when we can look back and smile (?) on it all—Goat week is part of the dreary past. However, we can't let it go down as history without mentioning a few highlights. First of all, may we extend to Beverley Peebles our deepest sympathy and regrets for having to have teeth pulled during goat-court session. There is room for argument as to which would be the more severe punishment.

We give Aggie credit for trying anyway!

The latest report goes that girls are signing up with Sue Hundley for flying lessons and lessons in crash landings!!!

Marion "Moitie" Orange also is signing up girls for her personally instructed course in "perz and poisonality".

A little bit of everything was presented to the school in the manner of a "goat gift". In fact, everything from electric light bulbs to rat traps!

Probably Mar Kent Steven's imitation of a post mistress brought the most laughs!

Laughing Minetree's sides still hurt so she complains! Excess laughter!

Preceding the rare goat week came the big dance—Cotillion. May we extend congrets to the Mu members — Shirlo Pierce, Mep, and E. Banks.

Definitely slated as about the loveliest girl on the floor was: Mildred Corvin.

Beanie and T. A. seen at the dance—seems to be becoming pretty regular these days—these two.

As for Tynes—we give up! That man and his variety!! Unpredictable!

A new twosome: Jane Smith and "Bobby Dick".

What we want to know is: What was Jeanne Richardson's date's real name?

Helen Wilson's orders to Brother Dick not to jitterbug certainly did put girls up in arms! Why, Helen, WHY?

Who should we thank for making it possible for the Death Valley Sailors to make it to the dance Saturday nite?

Pagie Cook journeyed to Duke this week end in search of further fun with the choir lad. Even if she spent the best part of the time travelling, she says, "it was worth it."

Never let it be said that Nell Richard's brother doesn't like the fairer sex in numbers! He only took six out to dinner with him!

Winnie Fox received her Easter flowers a bit late, but three lovely orchids arrived—see the way from the South Pacific. "Say it with flowers". (Often they do speak volumes.

At this point, we would like to hurl several dozen brickbats to girls who so publicly display their affections in the Rotunda.

Whew! What a week!

the "Y"

By MARGIE HEWLETT

As this Sunday is the fifth Sunday in April, there will be a union Sunday school class meeting at the Presbyterian Church. The Methodist girls will have charge of the devotional. There will be an outside speaker to teach the lesson.

The Wesley Foundation will have a supper meeting this Sunday night and will install the officers at the church service.

Tomorrow the upperclassmen wil sign up for membership on Y committees. We hope that they will all work to make the committees a success next year.

The Presbyterians have had their election of officers, and the council members have been appointed.

There will be an area meeting of college students and advisers from Virginia and North Carolina on April 29 in Richmond. Four student representatives and two faculty adviser will represent S. T. C. at that meeting.

The Episcopalian girls have just completed a series of discussions on different phases of belief. Last Sunday Dr. Jeffers concluded this series with a talk on "Science and Religion." They will have a

Continued on Page 3

Foley's Home Bakery Substitutes For Our S. T. C. Delicatessen

Ten years ago, this coming July, a little bakery was established on Third Street. Ever since then S. T. C'ers have been feeding on the "honey and nectar of "Foley's Home Bakery". It's a delightful little shop filled with delightful things to eat. There's no glamour, no shiny fitxtures, and no glaring signs, for their reputation serves as their best advertisement.

The staff consists of Mr. Foley, Mrs. Foley, Bobby Foley and "Teddy" Foley. Might I explain that "Teddy" is a great big cat . . And she's just celebrated with quintuplet kittens: three gray, one yellow and one maltese. These cut little creatures are as yet unnamed, so any suggestions will be appreciated. Mrs. Foley has a regular cat vistior, too. He's a big black Persian that never crys or meows. She says he makes his rounds there, as at Shannon's, Southside. Ever notice him?

In fact, Foley's have quite a cat history, for they had another odd feline, "Jerry," who was ten years old. When Mr. Foley left to go to the Veterans Hospital for an operation, Jerry left too. his was on January 1, 1943, and to date he hasn't been seen any more. The family was very fond of "Jerry", and after earing for something for 10 years, who wouldn't be? They say "Jerry" was very intelligent, so perhaps he'll get wise to the good home he's missing and will come back.

Another member of the family who has "left the nest" is James Edward Foley, in the Navy at Lake City, Florida. We know he won't forget to return!

Forgetting cart for a while, let's see how those delicious pastries "go to be that way." The workroom of Foley's bakery is a cross between a small city bakery and an extra large kitchen. Three small electric bulbs illuminate the room. A pungent inviting odor that fairly makes you drool permeates the atmosphere.

First, there is a huge mixing bowl with a gadget resembling a rug-beater attached to make the cak batter light and frothy. A scythe-like apparatus mixes up bread doughs. Then you turn to see an enlargement of your mother's bread board where they cut out doughnuts. These are put in a "proof box", where they rise. Teh food is cooked in a wood-fired oven, with four compart-

Continued on Page 3

H-S Brain Trust Triumphs Again Over STC Quiz Queens

For the third consecutive year the Brain Trust from Hampden-Sydney withstood the barrage of questions, fired by Mistress of Ceremonies Phyllis Pedigo, to defeat the quiz queens of S. T. C. in the fourth annual Witz Biltz last Wednesday night to the tune of 332-283.

The former field director of Red Cross work in Northern Australia started the ball rolling and the questions flowing promptly at 8 and kept the audience and the quizettes on their toes for three rounds of baffling queries about everything from the author of "Lassie Come Home" to the velocity of light.

In the first round, questions were asked to the team and the members thereof volunteered to answer. Quizette Marilyn Bell distinguished herself by claiming to be Kate Smith—and missed the question after all, and the brain storms from the Hampden-Sydney Navy V-12 Unit took the lead in score. All the members of both teams showed their lack of logic—or something—when none even vntured to name the racket used in LaCross. (Ed. note: it's a cross).

In the second round the individual members of the teams were called up to display their long suit, and were asked questions in a category of their choice, with categories including History,—(which stumped 'em), Literature, definitions (What's an "izzard"?), music, geography, Bible, and sports, (which category was carefully shunned by both teams.)

But it was after the intermission, when the team let up and had a coke and the audience was relieved with music, that the fun began. The questions were asked to the group as a whole and the members of the team could confer before answering. The boys caught the spirit of the thing immediately and the huddle they formed before venturing a guess on the answers could be equaled only in a crap game—and we thought it had degenerated to that when we saw a coin being tossed about the identity of Father Divine. The girls, not being so limbered by obstacle courses, managed to get together enough to decide the relationship of Jack to Jane's mother if Jack's father was Jane's brother, and to hit somewhere close to the use of a hygrometer. The one that took the most wind was the OPA's definition of a minister, and the girls used all their powers of concentration to locate the ozone layer.

It was in the third round that the boys quickly replied that in the eyes of the law an infant is anyone under 21, to which the quick witted quiz mistress retorted

Continued on Page 3

Local Monogram Club Bids, Initiates, Lee, Orange, Watts to Membership

Longwood Cabin Open To Students

Frances Lee, Margaret Orange and Mary Walker Watts were initiated last week in the Monogram Club. The girls receved their bids last week, and were initiated immediately. With the installation came in installation of the new officers who have taken on the work already from last years officers.

Pi Kappa Sigma sorority is first on the list of those schedules for the Longwood cabin, and further notices will be given as to who will have the cabin this spring. At a meeting after supper last week, with a representative from each club in school, plans were made to give those who came first a chance at the cabin. Next year it will not be as hard to get the cabin, because it will be open each week throughout the school year. Each organization and even groups of girls who get together will have their chance to spend the night in the Longwood cabin.

While Miss Olive T. Ier, the club's adviser, is in New York this week, she is going to try to get supplies for the cabin, as it has been very hard for the members to find things in Farmville. The cabin is to be fitted out with everything in two dozens, and a list is to be kept posted in the cabin. If anything should happen to an article the organization in the cabin that week must replace it. In this way the cabin can be kept in splendid shape for all those who use it.

Patsy Connelley, Shirley Pierce and Helen Wilson.

S. T. C. Delegates Attend Convention

In New York this week to attend the National Physical Education Convention are Miss Olive T. Ier, Patsy Connelly, Shirley Pierce and Helen Wilson as representatives of Farmville. They will have the chance to learn the different methods used in physical education all over the United States, and will bring back many new ideas for the department here.

Miss Emily Kauzlarich also is in New York this week, and as teacher of the different forms of dance, will bring back from the north many new ideas to be used in teachig.

Right Method Taught In Life-Saving Class

The life-saving class in swimming, taught by Shirley Pierce, which meets on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights is profession. Such tactics as speed, strength, calmness, and quick working minds are being stressed by the instructor.

The correct method of giving artificial respiration, which is important in most accidents involving the water front, is one of the important things learned in life-saving. Positions used in towing the victim to shore, ways of caring for an excited drowning person, and other such details are being mastered by those taking this course.

A senior life-saving course is required of physical education majors. They must have this course before they can take the instructor's course which if offered every other year. Knowing how to swim is one of the most important things in athletics today. It has been proved valuable in both work and play.

Quiz Queens

Continued from Page 2

"Right, Infant"—and she hit the nail on the head, too! What went on in those huddles is not all for publication, but according to the mistress of ceremonies who tried to eavesdrop on each "get together" some rare remarks wer passd.

When the judges decision was read the boys graciously—and triumphantly — received the cup which had been purchased to replace the one lost in the Chi Phi house at Hampden-Sydney after reputedly being used as a tooth paste cup.

We, of S. T. C., stand defeated. But there's next year's quiz yet to come—and already the girls are pages deep in the Encyclopedia Britannica, so Death Valley, look out for next year's quiz queens.

The "Y"

Continued from Page 2

new series of programs on missionary work which will start next Sunday.

The topic for the week at Prayers is "I Believe—A Symposium". For the remainder of the week girls will talk on the following topics: "On This I Take My Stand", "Of This Much I Am Certain", and "Toward This Goal".

Mail Time

Continued from Page 1

tion. New dresses shipped for approval or rejection . . . costumes for Mardi Gras . . . big sister's evening dress for the Big Occasion . . . surprise packages of cologne or candy" . . . customed wooden boxes containing souvenirs from Over There . . . a box of stationery from a neglected admirer . . . hard-to-get bobbie pins from a thoughtful aunt . . . inevitable Army camp pillow slips . . . birthday gifts . . . practical jokes . . . even engagement rings . . . they all travel by some-class mail, and are more than welcomed by the mail hungry gals on this end of their line.

Yup, they're all there, folkss . . . all those things and a thousand more. There's no one privileged to know all of everything that goess on under cover of the U. S. Postal system, but one can find out a lot . . . and without being an eavesdropper, too, if she'll just keep her eyes and ears open at mail time. Watch those facial expressions and lend a sympathetic ear to the offer of a story. Some day you may have to write a theme or a poem, or even, long rest your soul, an article for a paper, on the varieties and views of a mail-box . . . and believe you me, it's well to be informed!

Pearson Says FDR Wants No 4th Term

Speaking in Richmond last week, Drew Pearson, writer of a well-known Washington column stated that, "President Roosevelt will not be a candidate for a fourth term unless the Republican party nominates a strong reactionist."

Pearson went on to say that the President is tired physically and is bored with domestic problems in this country. "He wants to win the war and write a permanent peace and would cooperate with anyone in the White House to accomplish this end," the columnist said.

KEEP ON Backing the Attack! WITH WAR BONDS

Left Lead

Tally-Ho! How would you like to be one of the lucky fourteen to ride an undecorated Horsie into the ring at Longwood on May the 20th and ride a be-ribboned Champion out? Or even should you miss the blue don't sneer at the red, white, or yellow. Your mount won't, should he be fortunate enough to be sporting a satiny rosette behind one ear on his last swift canter around the white-washed rail! For the ribbons DO glisten, with newness and glory, and from the blue down to the white, there's no prettier sight when they're all piled up together, luxurious in their gathered lustre, awaiting the happy day of distribution.

Yes, sir . . . fourteen classes, and a full afternoon's program. Programs? Sure . . . bigger and better than ever . . . and well on their way to completion, too, as the days go by. The advertisers have been more than cooperative, as has the business-branch committee, and we're proud of every ad that'll grace the mimeographed pages.

Not too familiar is the back trail to Longwood, but too, too well-remembered is the work in the ring out there with the wind that sweeps across the golf-course ruffling Midnight's mane, and the slight downward slant speeding up Flicka's already gallopin' gaits, and the white fence just one more thing for Lindy to veer away from. Refreshingly vital become the everyday commands . . . "Watch your hands . . . heels down . . . walk 'em up good on that bit . . . keep 'em walking up good . . . let's spread out a little . . . that's it! Now EVERYBODY canter!!" This time it means real work, and work with a taste of seriousness to it. As the wind spurs them on around the ring, it isn't hard to vistualize the crowds that were there last Spring, surrounding that white-washed rail and cheering the winners on. Eventful time of the year, Horse-show season. When theres a more exciting atmosphere at any time, tell it to the Cavalry!

Space is a minimum obstruction when it comes to news of the trail and stables, but other circumstances curb our would-be enthusiasm at passing it on to you who faithfully follow our episodes in the column. We dislike being subtle to the point of concealing things, so we'll be forced to leave part of the excitement out. Or else refrain from using names and tales together.

But still we deem it safe to state —Helen Shaw is available at any time for special instructions on How to Mount a Horse. And Margaret Lohr can be siated any day now for a talk on When Not to Feed Hogs. And Mary Wyatt can write a series of articles for us on the Whys and Wherefores of Winnie . . . or, Seen from the Green of the Golf Course.

Away from the stables for a brief bit of gossip . . . Jacques and "Heavy" keep in regular touch with Joyce; Jacques from the Air Corps and Heavy from the Beach, and while we miss them mightily around these parts, still we wish them both the best of luck, and we'll be seeing them in the saddle again when the War is over.

"Late Flashes", though . . . Heavy was here this week-end . . . Jean Carter jumped Cindy four feet on Saturday . . . and head for the stables, gals, there's a new horse in the stall!

Temptations of the trail are not half as much to think about a s those glossy ribbons, though, so don't frown when Joyce calls ring work or road work. Heave to and start practicing, and fill out your entry blanks but soon!

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgilna
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Committee Heads Named for May Day

Committee heads for May Day are general chairman, Virginia Mae Ellett; dance chairman, Ruth Dugger; music chairman, Libby Jordan; costume chairman, Dody Jones and Margaret Lawrence; staging and properties, Mary Moore McCorkle; transportation, Patsy Connelly; business manager, Mildred Corvin; assistant business manager, Catherine Trower.

Heading dance committees are the Sandunga, Betty - Ellis and Lillian Goddin, Jarana, Gloria Polard and Lucy Harvie, Jicara, Ann Jones and Edith Lovins, aJrabe, Betty Ellis and Ann Jones, Los Viejitos, Ruth Dugger, Indian, Ruth Dugger, Court, Virginia Mae Ellett and Ruth Dugger.

Those in charge of music for the dances are Sandunga, Hilda Bennett, Jarana, Hilda Bennett, Jicara, Jeanne Button, Los Viejitos, Libby Jordan, Jarabe, Libby Jordan, Indian, Libby Jordan, Court, Connie Ozlin, and Market Scene, Emily Carper.

In charge of arranging for costumes are Sandunga, Martha Hite, Mary Lee Pittard, Lucille Cheatham, Betty Cock, Jarana, Nannie Webb, Larraine Raiford, Eleanor Hall, Lois Sheppard, Jarabe, Alice Lee Davis, Evelyn Stovell, Nell Fleming, Mary Frances Moon, Elsie Thompson, Jicara, Virginia Caviness, Margaret Parks, Ella Pool. Indian, Pat Garth and Los Viejitos, Gloria Pollard.

For staging and properties Aline Boss, Susan Durrett, Alice Feitig, Beanie Dudley, Mary Lou Dondley, Pat Ames, Carolyn Beard and Margaret Orange are on the committee.

Bakery

Continued from Page 2

ments.

And boy! What comes out of those four little doors! For the bare necessity line there are light brown rolls, big, round Italian loaf-bread, French twists, and regular loaves. Along the luxury line (which is our favorite, but definitely!) we gaze on the most tender, temptacious assortment of all. Our choice (if we can ever make up our minds) is usually a nickel's worth of doughntus, two buns, and a chocolate pie. We hate to leave those cream-filled doughnuts, coconut, lemon, raisin, and butetrscotch pies, with meringue standing high and foamy, though —they look so good.

Of course thye have their troubles with the rationing, as do we all. They alternate their goods and try to make sugar and shortening go as far as posible. From around five in the morning 'til six-thirty at night there's some one there, keeping the bakery fires burning. Mr. Foley dons his little white cap (to keep the flour out of his hair), white shirt, and apron. Bobby wears a hat, too, but Mrs. Foley doesn't. Anyway, they're all there with a smile to try to suit the fickle public's whims.

Yes, we'll come again and again to your spicy, homey shop, as long as there is one nickel to spend. Thanks, Mr. Foley, for the delicatessen shop of S. T. C.!

Good luck, Pegasus

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES
College Shoppe
The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink (High Street)
BUTCHER'S
Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service
Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Last week proved to be a wonderful week for athletics, and it certainly was grand to walk past the athletic field, and see it well in us by softball enthusiasts, the tennis courts by tennis fiends, and even badminton players running across the grass chasing the bird (which, of course, you all know is the ball used in badminton.) The sunshine was very bright, and everyone seemed to be having a wonderful time just being out-of-doors.

Cooperation

This is the week for cooperation in the physical education department, because two of our teachers Miss Olive T. Ier and Miss Emily Kauzlarich have gone to New York for a National Physical Education Convention, and student teachers are taking their places. It's rather hard to go into someone else's class, and try to teach. If you who are in these classes will do what you can to help the girls who are teaching, there will be more peace in the gym. Remember, that one day you might be asked to do the same thing, and you know perfectly well that will want cooperation more than anything in the world.

And while we are on the subject of cooperation, let's always remember, that it is cooperation that makes a team or a class a success. This week there is to be a trial tennis tournament on our campus to make more interest in tennis. Those of you who are really interested in tennis, get behind this and make it good, so that when the official tennis tournament is held later in the spring, there will be plenty of competition between the green and whites and red and whites.

Softball

The track of the ball as it hits the bat, the flying feet of the runner as she tries to make the next base, and the stinging sensation of catching the ball with your bare hand are just a few of the things that make up softball. There seems to be a spirit of good sportsmanship everywhere as the girls gather in the afternoon for the practices. Everyone is given a chance to play any position they might be particularly interested in, from pitcher to third baseman. Even those who have never played before, are finding it lots of fun, and are out these playing like veterans.

Eight practices are all that are needed to make the class team, and although the field house is to be open after supper soon for players, these games will not count toward your eight practices. Every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons at 3:30 the athletic field is taken up with only softball players, so come on out and get those practices in. If you wait until the last minute, there is always a crowd doing the same thing. Be wise and get those practices in early, so that you can help your teammates.

Archery

Aiming for the bullseye is the most important part of archery to the beginners, as they struggle along learning how to grip the bow and shoot straight. Correct form is very important in this spirt, and it isn't until you have mastered it, that you can thoroughly enjoy shooting straight for the target.

Although many people think that archery is just a minor sport, is requires just as much skill as learning to shoot a basket, or making a goal in hockey. Come on, you sports enthusiasts, get out and learn to hit the target, you might make a bullseye the first thing!

Until next week, star in the game, and don't forget to come out to practices.

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Church Groups

Continued from Page 1

office of the Foundation.

Connie Ozlin of Chase City was elected president of the Sunday School class. Jo Beatty of Ivanhoe, N. C., was named chairman of Spiritual Life; Martha East of South Boston, Visitation; Mary Preston Sheffey, Marion, Publicity; Joan Davis, Lynchburg, Social; and Lucy Bowling, Farmville, Program.

Sarah Byrd Williams, president of the Y. W. C. A., was named exofficio member of the council.

This is a family war. Put your War Bond buying through the payroll savings plan on a family plan, which means figure it out yourself.

Patronize PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

AFTER EASTER SALE
Spring Coats. Suit,s Jackets and Skirts
LESS 20%
from marked prices
SECOND FLOOR and BASEMENT
Elevator Service
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Spring Hats Resemble Circles Cones, Trapezoids, Triangles

By ANN BUCK

What is shaped like a triangle, a trapezoid, a parallelogram, a square, a rectangle, a circle or cone, and still one geometric figure? You guessed it. Some ladies call it a hat, most men don't know what to think.

One of the questions most frequently asked is "What will women wear on their heads next?" At the first breath of spring out popped a vegetable garden of carrots and radishes, right on the crown of a most attractice lady. Then fruits such as luscious bananas and grapes were worn all on a woman's head. Now you are ab'e to find most any kind of flower to suit your fancy mixed in with the veil of a woman's derby. Portrayed this spring are gardenias and violets. Also, you see any birds nest existing in the foul sepcies of life, parked on the head of a lady.

Aside from the various gardens, other styles are worn. From Christmas to Easter the most predominant campus hat was the little blue and white rat cap. eBautiful, weren't they, Freshmen?

In April the favorite is usually the peasan't kerchief, first fashioned in this country about six years ago. Also, in April a common hat is the sloppy gabardine rain hat, so dearly loved by S. T. C'ers. The month of May features the various head bands. June will portray the bridal veil of white net. Some of the campus queens, who are a little ahead of time have been seen in this fashion, namely Fay Nimmo and Rachel Bourne. The next in line to fashion her white veil will be Shirley Skinner.

This summer many S. T. C.'ers and other college girls of Virginia will be wearing big straw hats to protect them fro mthe sun of the hot fields and orchards.

There is supposed to be more in the head than on it. Sometimes this looks rather questionable, doesn't it?

Cinco de Mayo

Continued from Page 1

da—um" monotones Dugger, beating an accent with the drum. She frowns. "No STOP!—Can't you get any rhythm? It's like this." And she demonstrates the apparently simple step, but just you try it.

On the side lines, the next dancers sigh impatiently, lounging on the cold, hard gym floor. Some folks have peculiar ideas as to what is the proper thing to dance it. There is an array of blue jeans, plaid shirts, shorts, enormous, baggy "Arrow specials" (men's shirts, all you coy females without brothers), bare feet, sandals, saddles, huraches, and strange enough, dresses, too.

Somebody screams "Give me a fag, bag" while some frustrated soul tries to study in the corner, while still another group is in a heavy jam session. This goes on and on, step by step until one day we wake up and find that it's all over but the faded corsages, climpiments, old costumes, and memories of a grand (we hope) day!

KEEP ON
Backing the Attack
WITH WAR BONDS

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

MARY MOORE McCORKLE

Do you have any typing to be done? Is there a discussion on world affairs to be led? Do you have a "hard nut" to crack? If so, do as most people do and see Mary Moore McCorkle, on whom our senior spotlight this week turns.

Mary Moore could probably be called the "S. T. C. Speed Queen" because she can cover more territory in one day than most of us can in a whole week. She is always flitting off somewhere to see somebody about something, and it's so typical of her—well, she would be lost without anything to do. Her friends will always remember her for that ever-ready, ever-cheery, friendly smile and for the way she firmly but gently gives and takes orders, then sees them through. If there's a job to be done quickly and thoroughly the cry goes up, "See Mary Moore!" She can take on the rough and dirty work as easily as any—for example, she's chairman of the Property Committee for May Day, and was there ever such a job!

Mary Moore has the qualities of deep and sincere leadership. She is at all times cooperative and entirely reliable.

The school records will show that she is the first honor graduate of the class of '44, president of Kappa Delta Pi, business manager of the Virginian, and a member of practically every honor society on the campus, but the records give only the cold, bare facts and we know Mary Moore as a warm, vivacious friend to every student and faculty member at this college.

Tri Sigma Sorority Celebrates Founding

Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority celebrated the forty-sixth anniversary of its founding last Thursday with a banquet in the College Tea Room. Guests included Miss Gleaves, Mrs. Laing, Miss Camper, and Dr. Jarman.

The new members of Gamma Theta entertained the old members and Miss Stubbs, adviser at a supper party Sunday night.

Li Ling-Ai

Continued from Page 1

your own codes which you must follow to achieve what you are seeking. Am I going around in circles? I hope not. You Virginians have very much the same code we Chinese have— the old tradition of being a gentleman. In China we say, 'Never assault one's sense of delicacy'."

She took out another cigarette and observed it thoughtfully.

"Western vices. We in China have the minor vices but we don't have the major ones."

'How did you manage to get rid of them?"

At this the sparkle broke out into a merry laugh and we joined heartily.

"Why, it's all a matter of delicacy. We live by the code."

We pondered a little about asking Miss Li about her outside interests. We couldnt figure out when she'd have time to sandwich them in between acting, producing, writing, research, and so forth.

But it seems we were wrong.

"I just love to cook—and I can cook, all different kinds of food. Czechoslovakian fod is particularly interesting. But Im just like a bride. I can't make biscuits. They are bad.

Miss Li has a little bit of Yankee English accent combined with all the charm and graciousness of the cultivated woman anywhere. But her tomboyish instincts crop out, her vigorous energy and self-confidence, when she tells us about her love for flying.

"It is not the glamour of flying that appeals to me. These fashly stunts are not the real heart of flying. Its so clean and big. And so thorough. A good flyer must be sure that everything is taken care of, every exigency provided for, before he takes off.

Included in Miss Li's experiences are many appearances before our service men at the large camps and naval centers.

"They are such wonderful boys. When you give them something artistic and fine they are so appreciative. I can feel the spiritual atmosphere. They are seeking the truth even as we all are.

Suddenly it was time for her to leave—but before she left we asked about the Japanese—Why are they like they are?

"People who have a solid foundation can afford to laugh and be carefree at times—people like you; but the Japanese living on an island which may erupt any minute have no security, have never had any firm foundation, so must be grimly serious to hide their flimsy foundations."

Then she was off with a swish of the starched braid that crowns her tiny head.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

Richmond attracted the most S. T. C.'ers this week-end. Some went to attend the Baptist Convention, some to visit friends or relatives, and some to shop. Among these were Mary Walker Williams, Marion Lotts, Naomi Major Shipp, Lucilel Jones, Irma Cummings, Marcheta Cunningham, Betty Adams, Pauline Barnes, Lynell Bradshaw, Isabel Sampson, Beverly Bohon, and Eugenia Dickinson. Also, Elizabeth Anne Jordan, Martha Watson, Lillian Goddin, Elizabeth Godwin, Kitty East, Betty Johnson, Caroline Huddle, Susan Durrett, Alice Feltig, Nell Scott, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, and Virginia Treakle. Also Ella Pool, Ann Snyder, Eleanor Correll, Alice Lee Davis, Evelyn Hair, Jo Bailey, Ellen Bailey, Gertrude Moore, and Georgia Knight.

To the Athletic Convention in New York City went Patsy Connelly, Shirley Pierce and Helen Wilson. Nancy Lee Barrett attended the graduation exercises at the United States Marine Academy in Long Island, New York.

Visiting Rosa Lee and Lucille Bell in Kenbridge were Dot Cummings, Isabel Ransome, and Elizabeth Driscoll. Also, visiting in Kenbridge were Marion Orange, Nancy Wilkerson, and Agnes Stokes.

Attending college dances were Olivia Jane Meade and Betty Ruth Critz at the University in Charlottesvile, Page Cook at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina, and Cecilia Arthur and Kitty East at the University of Richmond. To Cumberland to visit went Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Evelyn Grizzard, Anna Lee Blanton, and Fredrika Hubar.

To witness weddings in the family went Margaret Simmons to Sebrell, and Faith Weeks to Emporia.

Caroline Marshall week-ended in Baltimore, Maryland; Peggy Fink in Washington, D. C., and Vivian Gwaithney in Raleigh, N. C.

Sara Lee East and Jo Shaffner visited Mary Ann Jarratt in Jarratt, and Kitty Maddox visited Dottie and Betty Overcash at Hampden-Sydney.

We welcomed back for Cotillion dance such old girls as Pagie Francis, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Jane Johnson, Jane Bently, Jeanne McChrelts, and Frances Parham.

A. K. G.

Continued from Page 1

Pedigo contacted Red Cross headquarters in Washington and received official permission to wear her recognition pin on her uniform at all times. This is the first time an exception has been made to the rule that nothing but official insignia may be worn on the Red Cross uniform.

Rainy Week-End in Big City Provides Good Adventure Set

Yes, I was one of those people who went home one of those rainy week-end. One of those fortunate, who even had an automobile ride. I tell you, it's a wonderful feeling when you climb in a car and know you're off for a nice long journey to Norfolk.

And that's the way the week-end began for me. For many It was a bus or train that carried them to their destination of gay hilarity. But bus, train, or car, the theme song was "Going Home."

I won't tell you just when we arrived or exactly what happened on the way because those things might come under the head of incidents rather than adventures—and this is a tale of adventure—pure and simple.

In all adventure stories the reader must know the background. The background, in this case was rain. Sunday morning I turned over once—and heard it falling. Several hours later I turned over again, opened one eye, and saw it falling. It fell, and fell, and fell.

Riding a Norfolk street car looking for an unknown address is always an adventure. You stand (no one ever sits on Norfolk street cars) behind the little curtain which protects the lady driver from—from what? Well, from the likes of you, I reckon. You idly wonder where you're going and where to get off. I've often wondered should you get off one block before or one block past your stop? (The street car never stops exactly where you want it to.) The question is: Should you get more ride for your money or get there quicker?

(In case you're worried we did find the right house with a maximum of wandering around in the rain.)

It was also raining on Monday morning and Tuesday morning. (I took my cats along with me). My next adventure was shopping. If one had a football suit and someone to run interference something might be accomplished. As 'twas, getting in and out of elevators with the right bag and hat was phenomenal. One time, I found when safely out of the elevator, that I had acquired someone's two year old girl-child, barely able to stagger along on her chubby round legs. The mother came back frantically a few minutes later and gave me such an accusing look I shall never steal a child again. I could go on, but I must leave room to relate in detail the last adventure—the one in which the honor and integrity of S. T. C. was threatened, the one in which the cutest man played a prominent role. This was the ride home via Norfolk and Western R. R.

I left home with one suitcase, one large box, one bag and two Spanish books (never did use them) tucked under my arm. I've gotten to be a champion bus-catcher so after waiting for each bus at least fifteen minutes I managed to get to the station on time.

This was a sleepy train. Before we were well started people were stretching out, turning off lights, and wondering where the pillows were.

Do you know Billy Dillon? Well, Billy's the porter on the 10:00 o'clock special and if you've never heard him call stations you haven't really lived. He stands at one end of the car and in a slow, Sinatrish voice tells you, "This is the west bound section of the N. and W. and making connections with Atlantic Coast Line, Southern Railway in Petersburg for Washington . . . and points west . . . Train arrives Suffolk 10:25 p. m. . . . Farmville 1:55 a. m. . . . Cincinnati . . ."

This is really a complete adventure story because we have a villain as well as a hero. This villain was the conductor who refused S. T. C. girls access to the cool coach (plenty of room) and drove us back to one of those resurrected antiques, which smelled like Flit. His very weak argument that we wouldn't get off at Farmville unless we were together was obviously a slur on Farmville intelligence. It seemed they had done a delousing job recently. So there we rode in isolated squalor—until two young bearded Merchant Marine officers came back to cheer us up. We acquired from one of these bearded sheiks, a mustached youngster, an Italian coin which will be among our proudest possession.

And we acquired, too, the only taxi at the station when the train arrived at Farmville—1:55 a. m.

Some American Men Unfit, Says Cureton

CHICAGO—(ACP)—"Motor unfitness" among American young men is at an appalling proportion, Dr. Thomas K. Cureton, of Urbana, Ill., declares in an article in the Journal of the American Medical association.

"Motor unfitness," Dr. Cureton explained, means the capacity to run, jump, dodge, fall, climb, swim, ride, lift and carry loads and to endure long hours of continuous work.

"Large numbers of young men are entering adult life unconditioned and unmotivated to maintain physical fitness," Dr. Cureton concluded from a study of 2,628 young men who entered the University of Illinois last September.

"This trend may contribute greatly to high accident rates, rapid loss of health after the age of 30 and widespread chronic disease because of the lack of preventive hygiene and conditioning work for the body."

He reported 79 per cent of Illinois freshmen could not lift their legs from the floor 20 times while lying on the back and then do 20 situps in succession.

Some 78.8 per cent could not not jog a mile in seven minutes.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

MEET ME . . .
—At—
SHANNON'S

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

WHEN YOU FEEL . . .
IN THE DUMPS . . .
GET YOUR CLOTHES
Cleaned and Freshened
at
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Fix Up Your Room With
What-nots 10c & 29c
Magazine Racks 59c
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

FOR THE BEST SODAS AND FOUNTAIN SERVICE VISIT
CHAPPELL'S

FRESH FLOWERS FOR EVERY OCCASION
COLLINS FLORIST

For Your MOTHER'S DAY GIFTS —Visit—
Martin the Jeweler

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
A Large Selection of
for
Cards and Gifts
Mother's Day

MAKE YOUR SUMMER PLANS
EARLY

The Rotunda

ATTEND
MAY DAY EXERCISES
SATURDAY

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1944 | No. 26

S.T.C. Presents May Day at Longwood Saturday

Student Standards Select Johnson, Terrell, Lee, Trower As Officers

Fay Johnson, junior from Vinton, was recently elected new head of Student Standards to succeed Mildred Corvin, and Virginia Terrell, junior from Front Royal, was elected secretary to succeed Betty Watts.

Frances Lee, sophomore from Richmond, was elected chairman of the Calendar to succeed Fay Johnson, and Catherine Trower, junior from Eastville was elected chairman of the Point System to succeed Betsy Fox. Miss Barksdale is the new faculty member.

The in-coming senior representatives are Virginia Terrell, from Front Royal, Catherine Trower from Eastville, and Fay Johnson from Vinton. The incoming junior representatives are Frances Lee from Richmond, and Ruth Brooks from Farmville. Barbara Lee Myers from Danville, and Martha Droste from Ronceverte, West Virginia, are the in-coming sophomore representatives.

Fox Announces New Pi Gamma Mu Bids

Five bids were issued to juniors and seniors this week to membership in Pi Gamma Mu, honorary society in social science, Betsy Fox, president, announced.

Students receiving bids were Mary St. Clair Bugg, senior from Farmville; Frances Lee Hawthorne, senior from South Boston; Mary Anne Jarratt, junior from Jarratt; Gloria Sheppard, junior from Walkerton; and Elizabeth Tennent, senior from Hopewell.

Nimmo Names May 19 Senior Chapel Day

May 19 has been named as Senior Chapel day, Faye Nimmo president of the senior class, announced this week.

An opening talk will be given by the senior class president and a response will be given by Eleanor Wade, president of the junior class. There will also be the traditional arch after which the present junior class will become seniors.

As a conclusion for the program, the student body will sing favorite college, modern, and patriotic songs.

No Pure Blood Race Says Prof. Kragman

Disentanglement of European blood streams, Nazis to the contrary, is well-nigh impossible, Dr. W. M. Krogman, professor of anatomy and physical anthropology at the University of Chicago, points out.

"Peoples of Europe in their march from east to west mingled their blood streams so completely that 'pure blood' is a misnomer and even isolated, inbred exceptions are few and far between," Dr. Krogman says.

"During the past 15 years I have made an intensive study in physical anthropology of 75 per cent of all skeletons excavated in the Near East and positively have been able to demonstrate that 6,000 years ago there was such a thorough race mixture that any claim of 'purity' today is not founded upon historical fact and common knowledge.

"If races are to get along with one another none can afford to have a chip on the shoulder.

"They must always be prepared to understand the viewpoint of the other. Doubt and suspicion are destructive no matter who kindles the flame.

"Progress of racial interfusion

Continued on Page 3

Wade Elected KDP President for '45

Jarratt, Nichols, Woodward Chosen

Eleanor Wade, junior from Charlottesville, was recently elected president of Kappa Delta Pi to succeed Mary Moore McCorkie.

Alice Nichols, junior from Lynchburg, was elected vice-president to succeed Jane Smith, and Mary Franklin Woodward, junior from Barhamsville, was elected secretary to succeed Betty Watts. Mary Anne Jarratt, junior from Jarratt, was elected treasurer to succeed Caroline Caldwell.

Students invited to membership in Kappa Delta Pi are Aline Boss, junior from Hadlock; Lucille Lewis, senior from Culpeper; Anne Masloff, junior from Danville; Katherine Prebble, junior from Lynchburg; and Margaret Stewart, junior from Clinchport. Miss Pauline Camper is adviser for the group.

The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi is to encourage high intellectual and scholastic standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education. To this end the society invites to membership such persons as exhibit commendable personal qualities, worthy educational ideals, and sound scholarship. Only juniors and seniors from the upper quartile in scholarship are admitted to Kappa Delta Pi, their entire record being considered.

Bridgforth Elected Head of Commission

Elected as president of the Freshman Commission at a recent meeting was Kitty Sue Bridgforth, of Kenbridge, to succeed Margaret Sheffield.

A committee to begin working on the diaries which will be sent to the in-coming freshman was appointed. Carmen Lowe will serve as chairman, with Anne Curley and Eloise Stancel as assistants.

Jean Arington Will Reign Over Mexican Festival; Sophomores To Conclude Day With Gym Dance

Vagabonds Return For Soph's Ball

Angelo Perry and the Vagabonds will furnish the music for the May Day dance to be held in the S. T. C. gymnasium May 6 at 8:30, Lucy Harvie, dance chairman, has announced. Intermission will be held from 10:30 until 11 o'clock.

Committees for the dance include decorations, Jo Eades, Eleanor Bisese; publicity, Rosalie Jones; tickets, Lillian Elliott; floor Jane Philhower; and music, Katherine Prebble.

Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Eleanor Bisese, president of the sophomore class; Margie Hewlett, vice-president; Lillian Elliott, secretary; Shirley Cruser, treasurer; Miss Rachel Royal, Miss Elizabeth Burger, and Lucy Harvie, dance chairman will be in the receiving line for the dance.

Chaperones for the dance include Miss Olive Iler, Miss Emily Kauzlarich, Mrs. Hallie Laing, Mrs. Mable McCoy, Miss Grace Moran, Miss Leola Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. M. Boyd Coyner, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Graham, and Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Jeffers.

The dance, which is being sponsored by the sophomore class, is not a closed dance.

Calvert Named Head Of Teachers Group

Mary William Calvert, junior from Lynchburg, was elected president of the Future Teachers of America group at a meeting held last week. She will succeed Mary Franklin Woodward as head of this group.

Succeeding Olive Bradshaw as vice-president of the group will be Katherine Prebble, junior from Lynchburg. Gloria Sheppard, junior from Walkerton, was re-elected secretary, and Alice Lee Davis, junior from Whaleyville, was elected treasurer to succeed Frances Griffin.

The Future Teachers of America is a national organization of prospective teachers enrolled in colleges and universities.

Continued on Page 4

JEAN ARINGTON

MILDRED CORVIN

Cinco de Mayo Provides Theme

Jean Arington will reign over the Mexican May Day festival, slated to begin in the Longwood amphitheatre at 5:00 p. m. this Saturday, May 6. Attending her as maid of honor in the "Cinco de Mayo" celebration will be Mildred Corvin.

The festivities will be centered this year around the Mexican holiday, the "Cinco de Mayo", which commemorates for the Mexicans a great military victory in their history. The first of three scenes will picture the Indian as the stolid primitive who has survived the ages, and the more modern Mexican in contrast. These dances will be done by members of Orchesis, the apprentice groups, and by the girls in fundamentals classes.

The second scene is laid in the market and is filled with the gaity that goes with such a scene. The dances portray the Indians on their way to market, the Mexican shoppers, and the American tourists. Dressed in brightly colored costumes, the Mexicans will sing and dance. Under the direction of Miss Emily Barksdale, the Spanish students are participating in the May Day festival and singing several songs in Spanish. The natives will vie in a rapid colorful scene for the money of the extravagant American tourists.

Amid all the lightness of the market scene the queen of the May will appear. Attended by Mildred Corvin, maid of honor, and the 18 members of the court, the queen will reign over a great festival, a Mexican fiesta. The Mexicans will come from all sections of the country, from provinces far and wide to portray their native dances.

The Jarabe is the national dance of all Mexico danced alike by the young and small to those still agile on their feet. The authentic costumes the China Poblana worn by the women and the Carro worn by the men is always worn for the fiesta. The Sandunga a native Tehuana dance from Tehuantepec, comes from the eastern coast of Mexico. There is a legend about the headpiece worn by the women. It seems that a ship was wrecked near this coast and numerous baby dresses of

Continued on Page 4

120 Upperclassmen Sign Up For Work

One hundred twenty sophomores and juniors signed last week for active "Y" work, Sara Bird Williams, president of the Y. W. C. A. announced this week.

Girls working on the Church Cooperative Committee are Jo Beatty, Lucy Bralley, Freddie Butt, Dorothy Cummings, Kitty East, Sarah East, Margaret C. Harvie, Frances Lee, and Gertrude Moore, Margie Hewlett is chairman of the committee.

Jean Anderson, Lucy Bowling, Evelyn Hair, Martha Holman, Betty Manson, and Annie Gay Wood will work on the Library Committee with Jane Anderson as chairman.

Working on the Membership Committee will be Carolyn Alphin, Rosa Lee Bell, Anne Blair, Edith Bryant, Jo Cooper, Nancy Crymes, Roberta Davis, Alice Green, Evelyn Grizzard, Sara Hodges, Lelia Holloway, Spot Hunnicutt, Beatrice Jones, Rachel Joyner, Isabel Key, Polly Moore, Libby Mountcastle, Lucie McKenry, Eli-

Continued on Page 4

May 10 Marks End Of Library Contest

Kappa Delta Pi's Personal Library contest will come to a close next Wednesday, May 10, Chairman Gerry Beckner announced this week. The contest will be concluded for this year with a display of the individual collections in the Browsing Room of the college library from 4 to 6 p. m.

The Personal Library contest, begun on this campus last year, is designed to serve as an incentive to college students to build for themselves a library of books that will be useful and enjoyable in later life.

Those who have not already done so, but who are interested in entering their collection of books, should contact Gerry Beckner at once. There is no limit to the type of books in the collection; however, they must be the property of the contestant and must have been collected during time limits set for the contest. The books as explained by those who are sponsoring the contest, should mean something to the owner and not be a mere amassment of books.

The contest started last year for the collection of books over a one year period, but it is designed to later on cover the collections of the four year college period.

The faculty and students are invited to visit the display in the library next Wednesday. Winners in the contest will be announced in a later issue of the Rotunda.

CORRECTION

Examinations for the spring quarter will begin Tuesday, May 30, and end Friday, June 2, T. A. McCorkle, chairman of the schedule committee announced this week in correcting the dates as published in the college catalogue.

Bradshaw, Nichols To Debate Thursday

Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice, and Alice Nichols, junior from Lynchburg, will debate at Lynchburg College on Thursday night, May 4, Betty Adams, recently elected president has announced.

They will uphold the negative side of the statement, "Resolved that the U. S. should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an

Continued on Page 3

N. Y. Children Help To Edit Music Books

A unique experiment in music education, in which children from 7 to 9 years old, living in Evanston, Wichita, Rochester, N. Y., and other cities are helping to edit nine books on basic music instruction for children, is under way at Northwestern University under direction of John W. Beattie, dean of the school of music.

First volume of the series has come off the press, two additional volumes will be published within 60 days, and the remaining volumes will be completed in the spring of 1945. The series is called "The American Singer."

The books contain collections of folk songs, folk dances, games, and music composed to meet the needs of children from the kindegarten through the sixth grade.

Although Dean Beattie is editor-in-chief of the series, he points out that the real editors are the children participating.

"Each song in the various collections," said Dean Beattie, "is tried out on the youngsters, and it is they who, in the final analysis, are the editors."

"Our system scraps the math-

Continued on Page 4

Summer Vacation Days of STC Girls Slated To Be Filled With More Work Than Play

War Work, Beaches Beckon To Girls

It won't be long now, girls. With the whole school on the roof (even the timid souls who wouldn't brave the February winds), it won't be long now till summer is here. What are your summer plans? Well, personally, we'd like to sit in the cool shade and have someone (it doesn't much matter who!) bring us tall, cold drinks at frequent intervals.

But upon investigating, we find that many more interesting ideas are being hatched up by STC'ers.

Two of the talented freshmen have secured jobs as bell-girls—or something — in a Virginia Beach hotel. We can see that they know where to go to make good use of their leisure time! To get a lovely tan and perhaps a man or so and a little pin money in the bargain is not to be sniffed at—it's really genius—(or ingenuous, even after freshman English we get those words confused).

And there's a lot of activity going on down in the Business department. Rosy visions of Miss OPA and Tennessee millionaires float around the heads of the commercial students. Their summer seems slated to be spent in vital war work—and many are planning to take the government civil service job for the three months interlude between schools.

But summer is the time for out of doors for many. What about places as camp counsellors? The mountain camps look good. Sparkling water (the unbottled kind), horseback riding, tennis, play. The physical education majors look with glee in this direction. And some are planning to spend the summer in mountain missions. There seems to be lots of interesting work to be done in the summer.

And after our chapel speaker last week, some of the girls are seriously considering joining the Woman's Land Army for the summer. Long days spent in interesting work, the promise of plenty of really good food, and lots of old man Sol are what these places offer.

Pity the Summer Play Girl, Loafer

No, we haven't forgotten summer school. Many ambitious lasses are hoping to escape with a degree in three years by the judicious use of the balmy summer days. They tell me that summer school right here in ye old institution has its points.

Summer jobs — everywhere! Good fun, good money and something to talk about when you come back in the fall. Well, we just want to say that we don't belong in the group who wants to sit around home this summer. The spineless lass who does is going to miss out on a lot of fun!

And, of couse, there are always temporary summer time jobs in every big city, jobs in a newspaper office (heaven save us from it!), in all sorts of business offices, and in department stores.

We could say that there are things that can be done at home—victory gardening, canning, and so on into the night.

Suggestion to Students; Check Up On Campus Habits

We don't like to keep harping on the same things, week after week, and month after month, but there are a lot of little things that we do here at school that if we thought, we wouldn't do, a lot of little petty rules that the breaking of which makes things harder for those with whom we have to live and work.

There really isn't any good reason why we have to cut across the lawn when there are perfectly good sidewalks to walk on. Yes, we know the benches are on the middle of the lawn, but it isn't walking to and from the benches that we are talking about; it's the eternal and everlasting cutting corners that leaves a barren pathway very like the cow paths in more rural districts.

And the problem of going in the right door at the post office arises again. The mob that forms there before the mail is up reminds one of crowd watching a brawl of some kind, but when the doors are opened we can only be compared with an unruly group dashing to a bargain counter at the last minute. The post office itself is narrow, but we can't do anything about that. What we can do, however, is to go in the right door, to keep the tide going the same way. It isn't the number of people that causes the trouble, nor yet the amount of mail that is or isn't received; it's the clash between those who go in the right door and the who go in the wrong door. Suppose your box is on the left side and you can get to it more quickly if you go in the left door? So what? It is worth having your arms pulled from their sockets, it is worth the struggle getting in and out the post office to get that letter that much sooner? And do you get it any sooner than if you went in the right door in the first place?

There hasn't been a lot said about it recently, but that doesn't mean there's any decrease in the number of people hanging over the Rotunda rail to get a close-up view of all the dates. If those same people could see the picture from the downstairs view, next time they wouldn't be so curious. So we suggest that some time you try it, that some time you stand downstairs and look up.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager
Margaret Sheffield ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Kathryn Hutchinson, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Ann Buck, Catherine Trower, Margie Hewlett, Leila Holloway, Nell Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overeash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overeash, Theresa Hutt, Sarah Taliaferro, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee, Rachel Bourne.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1944

With the coming of spring it's a great temptation to sit in your room and call to your roommate who is out on the lawn or passing on the street. But temptation or no temptation, it doesn't look nice and really we should be more considerate of those who have spent years building up a good reputation for Farmville girls.

We aren't just trying to find fault with the behavior of the girls here. We are just suggesting a general spring cleaning to rid ourselves of all the little things that we should not do.

Newspapers and People

Newspapers are like people. They are conservative and dependable, flashy and capricious, radical and crusading. Timid, little Mr. Milquetoast home editions, and bold, extroverted Huey Long tabloids rub pages on the n ews-stands every day.

Like people, newspapers have been reared in adherence to certain principles. That's why American newspapers believe in freedom of speech and the press.

Newspapers, like people, are not always right. Intentionally and otherwise, they commit grave errors. A few gangster-like publications undertake a life of crime, but their career is usually put to an end with speedy force by respectable fellow-newspapers.

Newspapers are usually cynical, hard-bitten, old rues with the most sentime interiors you ever saw. With relentless, brutal thrusts they will jab at the sand-bagged protection of hypocrisy and pretense and sneer at the devious workings of polit In the next breath, they will dig into their pockets for handkerchiefs with one hand, while the other reaches out across the country to find a rare medicine for a dying child. —from the University Daily Kansan.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

There is a quietness on all the European fronts which can only be a prelude to the Invasion Day. The action over the continent in also a definite indication that the Day must not be far away. There is one continuous Allied aerial offensive against enemy aidromes, coastal defenses, and transportation. Berlin suffered a devastating attack lately. In this attack, the Allied loss was more severe than it had been in other operations.

* * *

A temporary inactiveness is still seen on all parts of the Russian fronts. It has been over a week since any important announcement of victory has come from Moscow. The Reds are holding their positions, but they are not making any effort to advance. No doubt they too are waiting for the opening of the Second Front.

* * *

In Burma, there is an enemy movement to take the offensive again in an attempt to prevent the breakdown of the invasion of India. The Allies have been successful in holding their positions in Burma, but the Japanese will probably attack Imphal in a desperate attempt to break through. Their troops and supplies are decreasing steadily, and they must take some decisive action.

* * *

Wadhe, enemy base west of Hollandia, has been sounded heavily from the sea and air by the Allies. An air blockade against the isolated Japanese troops on the eastern part of New Guinea has been launched to keep supplies from reaching them and to keep them from evacuating.

* * * *

This past week, Secretary of the Navy Knox died in Washington from a heart attack. The flags of the American fleet all over the world went to half-staff in his honor. There is a great deal of speculation as to whom his successor will be, but there has been no hint as to whom Roosevelt has in mind.

BITS O' THIS 'N' THAT

We couldn't resist traveling to Randolph-Macon to pick up a few bits this week, since the K. A. reunion there claimed so many of our girls.

It is understood that Martha Wells' "Pinky" was the most talkative man of all those present and accounted for.

Best time of all was claimed by our own Joan Davis.

And the Connelly and the Gagley were together once again at the memorable R.-M. reunion.

After seven and a half months of "long-time-no-see", Frances Seward went home last week end to see her "guy named Joe."

Frances Wentzel's interest in Henry certainly doesn't seem to be waning. What can John think of it?

Funny story of the w eek: It's all about a freshman who went down to meet her date in the traditional freshman outfit of p. j.'s under a coat. But it seems that this freshman didn't quite know the technique of keeping the pajama legs rolled up. Embarrassing moment? Ask the Lowe girl—guess she felt more than ever like her name.

There's a certain group of girls on the campus who seem to be quite excited about the prospects of this week-end. Yes, the Duke boys are coming back for more!

What's the big rumpus about one Charlie Fox Graham sending one Mingea a box which included everything from a shirt to an onion and things in between such as a potato, sunburn lotion, and a BC headache powder? Well, we didn't hear all of the story.

Nobdy can ever call Hun Carper a flirt. One of her "old friends from home" rode by her the other day, blew the horn, then stopped and called. It took a good five minutes for her to reconcile herself to their identity and have a reunion.

Martha Cole, are you neglecting Bill, or is Rickett just momentary?

After so long a "wait between letters," Corvin heard from Thomas again. Yes, the one and only Thomas Graham. That, dear readers, accounts for the n ew gleam in her eye and the "irremoveable" smile on her face. And when does the young Naval officer return from the Pacific, Corvin?

Oh yes, that man from Stuart that we have been waiting so long to see may be seen on our campus Sunday. Is that correct, Lois Lloyd?

We picked this little tidbit out of one of the national papers—the distinguished Chinese speaker on our campus last week could not get a taxi, and so she rode in an ice truck to the place in which she was to lecture.

the "Y"

By MARGIE HEWLETT

We enjoyed hearing the inspirational talk by Rev. Bouldin, retired Methodist minister from Hampden-Sydney, at the union Sunday school class.

The Canterbury Club will have the installation of their officers at the meeting this Sunday.

All Presbyterian students are invited to go to Longwood on a hayride May 8.

In a series of exchange programs the Westminister Fellowship will present a vesper program to Hampden-Sydney this Sunday.

This week the topic in prayers is "These Will Remain." The girls will talk on the following topics for the remainder of the week, "Hope Will Remain," "Love Will Remain," and "Life Will Remain."

Thou art, O God, the life and light
Of all this wondrous world we see;;
Its glow by day, its smile by night
Are but reflections caught from Thee.
Wher'er we turn, Thy glories shine,
And all things fair and bright are Thine.
—Thomas Moore

Question of the Week

What have you always envied other people for doing and never got nerve enough to do yourself?

Betsy Dillard: A back dive.

Charles Anna Price: Dress in the latest fashion.

Helen Wilson: Speak before an audience.

Liz Goodwin: Win the advanced horsemanship class in S. T. C. horse show.

Vivian Gwaltney: Getting married.

Judy Eason: Make a speech without getting scared.

Sara Wayne France: Take an airplane ride.

Nell Richard: Make 'up' my mind.

Lucille Jones: Nothing; I think I'm pretty good (everybody knows I'm conceited anyway.)

Frances Lee Hawthorne: Since I'm off government, I have nerve enough to do almost anything now.

Nancy Langhorne: Get an "A" on teaching.

Louise Andrews: Get suntanned without blistering.

Lelia Holloway: Reduce—I try every day but no soap.

Libby Mountcastle: Snake somebody's man.

Kitty Wright: Stay off the campus for week-ends and such.

Betty Ellis: Study.

Virginia T. Pullen: Clean my room.

Mary Parrish Viccellio: Bop somebody on the chin and then throw him out on his left ear. (Don't I sound vicious?)

Bluffer: Bluff.

Fay B. Johnson: To wear a two-piece bathing suit.

Alice Nichols: Peroxide my hair.

Catherine Trower: Eat raw onions.

Student Discovers Library Full of Interesting Things

The library's so full of a number of things . . . That's a painful paraphrase, we'll admit, but it is nonetheless true. Without clicking our teeth we could add that it's a hub of activity and all-inclusive congregation, even on these spring days.

The upper strata of the building is dedicated to pinpoint concentration and the intenser form of study. There one can duck into a corner, stack-books sky-high for inspiration or protection, and memorize Latin verbs and the human skeleton system. These little desks are likewise ideal for the hasty composition of a term paper sans the distractions of life in the so-called privacy of one's domicile. Raré masterpieces in the form of letters have also been produced in the I-want-to-be-alone cubby holes.

Amid the quiet turmoil of first floor numerous practices are constantly pursued. Of course, we're included in the hordes of puzzled knowledge-seekers who stampede the desk as an information bureau. Sometimes we become nostalgia-addicts faithfully reading every inch of type in home-town newspapers, sometimes we wander about,half-heartedly taking advantage of the striking displays and disarranging books in the stacks (at such moments the alphabet invariably fails us, and we never could understand the Dewey Decimal System.)

The periodical room spills humanity in various forms, shades and conditions. Many slouch over tables, scribbling furiously or staring into space, unconsciously kick their neighbor's pet socks Some thumb The Reader's Guide copying lists of references, half of which are destined to be ignored. Others merge into the easy chairs to absorb the latest mazazines. All of us have discovered that this room and its companion, the Reserve Book Room, are dependable localities in which to stumble upon those elusive creatures we've long been trying to contact—for an exchange of gossip or for more significant transactions. Too, the general atmosphere inspires such juvenile performances as shoe swiping and superfluous snoozing.

The audio-visual room entraps almost everyone at some time or another. Here an attempt is made to enlighten us by means of educational movies or slides. Occasionally town groups, from high school students to men's service clubs, are similarly exposed to worthwhile entertainment.

Being precisely what its name implies, the Browsing Room is our love. Even the shade of the walls and furnishings is restful and conductive to thorough relaxation. We like to sprawl on the rug or snuggle down in the depths of the sofas and smirk at the NEW YORKER. We may enter the libe with noble intentions, but before we leave we are usually lured to play in the Browsing Room; keeping up with serial novels is one of our favorite passive indulgencies. Then there's a fine collection of "The World's Greatest Books" which is not nearly so grueling as a first glance might convey. And naturally there are shelves, and shelves of fascinating volumes and files of oldish periodicals upstairs . . . But this description was originally planned to conclude on the ground floor—besides, it's already 10 p. m., and the library's closing.

Tennis, Softball, Archery Tourneys Begin May 12, 15

The all-day tennis tournament, which will not count for points toward the color cup, will be played May 12. The archery tournament, which does give points for the color cup, will be played the same date.

Plans are being made to play Randolph-Macon in tennis, and the WAC's at Camp Pickett in softball and tennis.

Captains for the softball teams will be elected Tuesday, May 9, and games have been scheduled to begin May 15. Sue Hundley, softball manager, has announced that eight practices qualify a girl for the class teams.

5 "Ideal Criteria" Set Up by Willard

Heralded by some observers as an educational "block-buster" is a statement by Arthur Cutts Willard, president of the University of Illinois: "Merely completing the study of a collection of college courses for which a degree is awarded as a prerequisite to enter some professional field is not an education, nor is it likely to produce a broadly educated man."

Other educators have said that. President Willard has said it before—but never so bluntly. And Willard is an engineer—internationally known in his field.

President Willard is seeking the solution to a dual problem: Producing graduates who are "educated," not just "trained" in a specialty, and providing educational benefits to students who drop out of college after one or two years with little benefit from an uncompleted professional course.

Declaring too much emphasis has been given to professional competence—"training"—and too little emphasis to developing ability to think and acquire information about men and affairs—"knowledge"—President Willard set up five "ideal criteria for identifying an educated man." They are:

1. Ability to use and understand his native tongue in speech and writing, in order to convey his ideas and thoughts clearly and effectively to others. Of course this implies that he has ideas and thoughts and wishes to transmit them.

2. Ability to judge, compare, evaluate, in short to criticize objectively, the ideas, thoughts, and conceptions of other men, and to engage in creative thinking for himself. Men express themselves in speech, the press, books, movies, works of art, laws, and religious beliefs. The educated man should have acquired standards and perspectives on which to base critical appraisals of such expressions. He should also be able to recognize the true and detect the false, including the moral values and purposes which inspire the lives of men.

3. Knowledge of man and their affairs. Such knowledge is secured through study of our own and other people's cultures, their languages, customs, laws, religions, and history. Travel by land, sea, and air promotes and complements such study in endless ways.

4. Knowledge of the physical world and the universe in which he lives, meaning, of course, some understanding of the laws and forces of nature. Such knowledge ranges from astronomy to bacteriology, from the very great to the very small. It includes all fields of natural science.

5. Knowledge of a profession or a vocation for the purpose of earning a living and serving God and society as a competent and morally responsible individual.

"We train men for all the professions and vocations, but we often fail to educate even those who receive collegiate degrees," President Willard said. —ACP international police force upon the defeat of the Axis powers."

Debate

Continued from Page 1

Two teams from Lynchburg College were guests on this campus before Easter to debate the same question.

HELEN WILSON

Athletic Council To Have Banquet

A banquet for the new Athletic Council will be given in the College Tea Room on May 3 by the outgoing Council.

Outgoing members of the A. A. Council are: president, Patsy Connelly; vice - president, Shirley Pierce; secretary, Sara Jeffreys; Dottie Sue Simmons, manager of general basketball; Ruth Dugger, manager of tennis; Eleanor Wade, manager of badminton; and Grace Lloyd, manager of swimming.

Incoming members of the Council are, president, Helen Wilson; vice-president, Bobbie Scott; secretary, Mary Walker Watts, treasurer, Frances Lee; manager of hockey, Ophelia Whittle; assistant manager of hockey, Beanie Dudley; basketball manager, Margaret Orange; volleyball manager, Heidi Lacy; tennis, Phyllis Watts; archery, Mildred Shifflett; softball, Sue Hundley; badminton, Margart Lohr; swimming, Robin Lear; and social chairman, Lucy Manson.

Other guests who will attend this banquet are: Dr. Jarman, Mr. Graham, Dr. Stephens, Miss Hiner, Miss Bugg, Miss Barlow, and Miss Iler.

No Pure Blood Race

Continued from Page 1

is a gradual and slow process. It is so slow, in fact, that progress made overnight may be undone the next day. Demands made and granted in the present war emergency may not hold after this period. This means that majority and minority groups must understand one another's problems and viewpoints.

"Therefore the process of adjustment is one of reciprocal 'give and take.' Advancement is not made by either exorbitant demands or by equally extravagant denials," he concludes.

Dr. Krogman believes social structures of the postwar world must assume—since all men are created biologically equal—social equality.

There is no valid reason why we should deny any group—racial or religious—opportunity to participate on even terms in social, economic and political life of the nation, he holds.

Smoking Stands For Army Made By Industrial Dept.

The Industrial Arts Department of the Farmville High School has made two dozen smoking stands for the Camp Pickett Station Hospital recently. Also the Home Ec. girls and the Girl Scouts made thirty khaki utility bags for the hospital. Both of these are made under the auspices of the Junior Red Cross.

Say it with Flowers
Say it with Ours
COLLINS FLORIST

NEW SHIPMENT OF
Rytex Stationery
Martin the Jeweler

Left Lead

Gone are the days . . . when we bundled up to our necks in wooly winter-wear including everything from red flannels to fur mittens, and left the stables wondering whether we'd be too frozen to return or not. Gone are the days of weather threatening snow or sleet, or of cold frosty winds. Back to Longwood come the "balmy breezes" and the smell of lilac, and back into circulation come the blue jeans and cotton shirts and pigtails. Great is the relief, too; for better to have Lindy refusing to move than to have the zip in the air put the kick in his constitution! Nor do Midnight and MacArthur feel as frisky as usual under that brightening sunshine. Ah, peace!

In fact, it's been so hot, that wearing apparel decreases more and more as the days go by . . . Midnight doffed his martingale . . . and ask "Silent Yokum" 'bout the rest.

WANTED: Have you a Spotted Horse in your closet? We don't have but one . . . and MacArthur needs a partner for the pair class! Why a painted horse is so unusual, we cannot comprehend, but having thoroughly checked all possible (and impossible) sources, we find there's not another spotted hoss within one hundred miles of Farmville . . . except Beauty . . . and we just can't picture pairing Beauty with Mac. Not that Mr. Reid would object, but we just don't see our way through. But there are logical complications! The only possible solution that can be thought up is to smear the white parts of MacArthur with brown shoe polish for the day of the show and let the rain clean him up later.

But then . . . that would interfere with Nancy Ingle's plans for the costume class . . . and have you done any thinking about that? Don't forget . . . the pair costume class is open to any and everybody, and you can dress to represent any and everything . . . within reason. Last year we had everything from Spanish Cavaliers to "Night Riders," and a wild class it was.

Winnie and Mac must have made up since the fight not too long ago. Mary Ann Loving and "Weedy" Rowe took them on an all-day tour last Friday, rain and all, and with pleasant enough reactions from both. We hope Flicka and Flash get along as well as a pair in the show.

Other news of interest created by the pair class is the fact that Harry may be back for the show, and will be doubled with Princess . . . if Princess is still here.. (Definiteness is not one of our best characteristics.) Also, Mr. Padgett is bringing Clairport down, and the town horses can already be seen practicing up for their various shares in the exhibtion. Mrs. Withers' Black Diamond has learned how to trot by this year, and will be on hand for our use.

It seems the airplanes around here get pleasure out of swooping down over more than the roof these days. Joyce had quite a fright when one zoomed above a cantering gang in the Longwood Ring last week Monday . . . but she was probably just excited because it might have been a plane like Jacquer's!

Next week we'll have things in better shape to announce a few of the intricate details involved in planning a Horse Show, but instead of just waiting around to hear, why don't you ask a few questions? You may find a class you'd like to enter . . . and you may run off with one of those ribbons.

And while you're asking questions, ask Helen Shaw where the cow kicked Nellie?

Pegasus

Cards and Gifts
—for—
Mother's Day
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Stuffed Animals, Living Pets Fill STC Days, Nights

By BETTY BIBB

"Animals? I've never seen any animals but the calico cat, the riding horses, and a mangy old dog around S. T. C." quoth the insipid, non-observant S. T. C. student. But there are hundreds of things that are called "animals" scattered all over school. No, it's not rats, termites, flies, thousand-leg worms, ants or other insufferable insects, but the attractive little creations the girls sleep with at night. You know, they're the dear little objects your roommate collects—fuzzy-wuzzies, pandas, lil' pink bunnies, cats, monkeys, men, dogs, elephants, baby dolls — in fact, everything but skunks, (unless some include men in that category.)

Some girls have a regular nightly ritual of sweeping the menagarie from the bed, depositing all but one in the chairs, and climbing into bed with the favorite in her arms. Poor things, it's usually unceremoniously dumped into the floor before morning.

Most of these pets bring back vivid memories of Men, for they're usually the suckers that pay $7 per stuffed doll. Girls are far too wise for that.

Some, however, are souvenirs of dances, vacations, distant lands (which you have never even heard of before your man was sent there) conferences, and many other schools, towns, and countries.

Switching back to live animals—who hasn't stepped on the calico cat at least once a day? And what upperclassman hasn't shuddered at the sight of a big old dog, "Jim" but then warmed to his friendly advances? One girl has a white rabbit as an Easter remembrance. To see him hopping through the brightly colored tulips in a really "technicolor dream".

Incidentally, to those that never notice animals, aren't we all?

Mother's Day
—for—
Gifts and Cards
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
(High Street)
BUTCHER'S

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Greetings sports fans! The big thing this week is May Day. Time out is even being caled on athletics during the afternoons, so that the girls may journey to Longwood for practices. It will be a colorful gala affair so put on your walking shoes and journey out to Longwood Saturday afternoon. A big time is definitely in store for you.

New York Trip

Our representatives have returned from the New York physical education convention, and with lots of tales to tell. Not only did they attend the convention, but they saw the sights of New York and thoroughly enjoyed them.

Conventions like these are a great asset in any field, for they give all who are interested a better understanding of the subject talked about. They not only have a chance to give their own ideas, but can get ample information as to how other schools are run on the athletic program.

New ideas and plans in a program always make the course more interesting and we are looking forward to lots of these new things in our physical education department.

Insideitis

Do you have insideitis? This disease is something that grips you when you don't realize it, but there is a definite way of getting rid of it, and that's by going outside in the fresh spring air. Too many of us stay inside and although it's mighty hard to do with the sunshine calling to us, we very seldom do anything about it.

So you aren't an athlete! You don't have to be one, for all you have to do is just take a walk and that will give you plenty of exercise. A stroll through the residential section of the town is always lots of fun, for you can take a peek at all the lovely gardens around the many homes, or you can just enjoy walking among the shady treess.

If you are feeling energetic, try tennis or some other sport you have never tried before. After you catch on to the fundamentals of the game, you might find that you can become a fairly good player and that always makes the sport more interesting. Try getting outside for the fun and health of it.

Swimming

Many times before yours truly has recommended the ole swimming hole here on campus for a good time. Have you tried it yet? Recreational swimming is to be had in the afternoons now, so take advantage of this and come down and swim awhile. Swimming has been found to be the best sport of all in exercising all those tired muscles, and a cool dip in the afternoon will refresh you both in mind and body.

If you aren't too good a swimmer, you needn't fear coming down to the pool for there is always a capable life guard on duty who will be willing to help you at all times. There's always the shallow end of the pool to console yourself with, and just sitting on the edge and sticking your toes in, always helps, too. Gather your gang and journey poolward for an afternoon of fun.

Come on out and make this year's May Day a success. The walk to Longwood will be just fine for you. Until next week stay in the game.

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of
records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.

The basic entrance requirements are intelligence, aptitude for nursing, and character. During the War, high school graduates who have not had college work, including chemistry, should enroll in the special Pre-Nursing Course offered in this School, which will begin July 3, 1944. Those who successfully compiete this pre-nursing course, and other students with acceptable college work will begin September 29, 1944. Tuition for the pre-nursing course is $100.00 and $100.00 per year for the nursing. This covers the cost of instruction and maintenance. Students joining the United States Nurse Cadet Corps will have no tuition to pay and will receive uniforms and stipends. Kellogg Loan Funds for tuition are also available. Catalogue and application forms should be obtained from: The Dean of the School of Nursing, Nurham, North Carolina.

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

AFTER EASTER SALE
SPRING COAT—SUITS
JACKETS AND SKIRTS
LESS 20%
from marked prices
Elevator Service
Second Floor and Basement
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Spring at STC Finds Plaids, Candy Stripes "On Parade"

Red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet flood the campus, as the debutantes step out in their polka-dot, candy striped and gingham plaid cotton dresses. Cotton is "on parade" this season ranking above silk, rayon and other top fabrics.

Since the shortage of material most of the favorite cotton dresses are made within the limits of three yards. The low portrait neck line pictures the face more beautifully and shows off the well burned sun tan. The slenderizing lines are due to the short straight narrow skirts which have to be made within the bounds of the limited material. Sleeves are just a puff over the shoulder. In fact, there is so little to the new cotton dress, if you take a huff and a puff you will blow it away.

"V" doesn't only stand for victory, vegetable, and vitality but for a new glamour in neck lines. Once you pictured the "V" neck line set off by a purple shawl on an old, almost dilapidated lady. Now since women are susceptible to change, the V neck is the most youthful and glamorous style of our time.

Because of the fact the campus motto is "Keep cool," there are no accessories such as socks and hair ribbons worn to set off the cotton prints.

Don't let iris, tulips, jonquils and dandelions be the only blossoming thing this season. Step out in your favorite cotton print and bloom with the rest of nature.

May Day

Continued from Page 1

wide founces were washed ashore. The Tehuanas salvaged them by using them as a head covering for all occasions.

The Jarana is a native dance of Jucatan. The women dance in a very straight, dignified fashion, arms held up, elbows to the side, the hips never moving and the head held high. In contests they vie with one another to see how many men's hats they can pile on their heads without dropping them. The dance of the old men, or Los Viejuitas is a religious dance of Michoacan, in which the characters portray pantomimically the gesture of very aged men, who as the dance progresses become younger, until they are agile, virile youth who only until the end realize they are at heart old men.

The Jicara, a tray dance, in Tarascan Indian costume is another fiesta type. The object is to show the beauty of the trays which are loaded with fruits and flowers which are presented to the visitors or guests, the Americanos.

Virginia Mae Ellett has served as general chairman for May Day, assisted by Mildred Corvin as business manager. The entire program is under the direction of Miss Emily Kauzlarich, who has been assisted by Miss Leola Wheeler and Miss Emily Barksdale.

Due to the difficulty in getting materials for the costumes, much substitution has been done, and the dance groups will appear in everything from men's pajamas to dyed and redyed and remade costumes.

Members of the court include Frances Craddock, Virginia Mae Ellett, Jane McFall, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Ann Blair, Betsy Caldwell, Martha Higgins, Marilyn Johnson, Lucy Manson, Jane Crump, Frances Lee, Mary Cameron Butt, Ann Carter, Joan Davis, Mary Agnes Sheffield, and Nancy Whitehead.

Committee heads for May Day are dance chairman, Ruth Dugger; music chairman, Libby Jordan; costume chairman, Dody Jones and Margaret Lawrence; staging and properties, Mary Moore McCorkle; transportation, Patsy Connelly; assistant business manager, Catherine Trower.

Pi Kaps Spend Night In Longwood Cabin

Eighteen members of the Pi Kappa Sigma sorority spent Saturday night at the cabin at Longwood. Miss Ruth Gleaves chaperoned the party.

The Tri-Sigmas were entertained by the pledges at a picnic at Longwood Friday.

120 Upperclassmen

Continued from Page 1

zabeth McLean, and Virginia Parson. Also Jane Paulette, Irene Pomeroy, Katherine Prebble, Louise Putney, Virginia Radogna, Jean Riddick, Jacqueline Ritchie, Sally Robertson, Mary Walton Rucker, Edith Sanford, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Mary Spradlin, Lorene Thomas, Mary Virginia Walker and Betty Woodward. Virginia Treakle is chairman of the Membership Committee.

Serving on the Music Committee with Connie Ozlin as chairman are Mildred Altice, Ellen Bailey, Betty Blackwell, Nancy Blair, Martha Ellen Jones, Georgia Knight, Julia Messick, Alice Parkhurst, Virginia T. Pullen, Nell Scott, Margaret V. Verrell, and Martha Watkins.

Louise Blane, Anna Crittenden, Eugenia Dickerson, Shirley Easterly, Peggy T. Ross, and Virginia Via will work with Margaret Sheffield, chairman of the Prayers Committee.

Helping Shirley Cruser on the Public Affairs Committee will be Jean Akers, Eleanor Bisese, Alice Buck, Nancy Dickerson, Caroline Huddle, Earlene Kimmerling, Kitty Maddox, Dorothy Overcash, Dorothy Overstreet, Glenn Anne Patterson, Margaret Stewart, Catherine Trower, and Phyllis Watts.

Aline Boss and Caroline Marshall will assist Sara Moling on the Publicity Committee, while Margaret Barksdale, Betsy Dillard, Betty Ellis, Anne Hamlin, Nancy Harrell, Lucille Jones, Elizabeth Mast, Carolyn Moon, Helen Mundy, Carlotta Norfleet, Lorraine Raiford, Bobbie Scott, Gwen Slaight, and Mary Watkins will work on the Service Committee of which Pat Garth is chairman.

Assisting Betsy Fox, head of the Sing Committee, are Betsy Caldwell, Martha Higgins, Anne Masloff, Margaret Massey, Alice Nichols, Jane Philhower, Martha Watson, and Ophelia Whitle.

Betty Adams, Peggy Aiphin, Pauline Barnes, Carolyn Bobbitt, Katherine Burford, Vivian Edmunds, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Eleanor Hall, Edith Jones, Margaret McIntyre, Marion Orange, Virginia Shackelford, Anne Summers, Dorothy Southall will serve on the Social Committee. Judy Reick is chairman of this committee.

Freshmen will continue to work on the same committees which they signed for in the winter quarter.

"Y" committees meet on the second and fourth Wednesday nights of each month in designated rooms throughout the buildings.

Officers of the Y. W. C. A. include Sara Bird Williams, president; Mary Anne Jarratt, vice-president; Anne Martin, secretary; Minnie Lee Crumpler, treasurer; and Agnes Stoakes, freshman counselor. Miss Winnie Hiner is chairman of the advisory board.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

FAY NIMMO

"There'll never be another like her", is a common phrase used in speaking of this week's senior personality—and we do mean personality. To say that she is president of the senior class includes every meaning of the word president. She is a true leader in spirit and in fact, as well as in formality, of the class of '44.

Always ready to give a new idea a try, Nimmo has done many unusual things during the course of her college. In fact, she even managed to get married this spring! For four years it has been "Faye 'n' Jack" to us all, and now it is truly "Faye and Jack Webb"—and at the moment she is with him in Georgia.

Her carefree manner and her gay regard might not give evidence of her high scholastic attainment, but plus her personality, she has a keen mind that has brought her a high average in her studies.

Her personal integrity, her true leadership, her delightful laugh, her craziness, her fun and frolicking—all that goes to make up Faye will long be associated in our minds with our beloved class president, Faye Nimmo Webb.

Edit Music Books

Continued from Page 1

matical concept of note values based upon number of beats. Children know nothing about fractions, and it is difficult for them to understand the meaning of an eighth note or a quarter note. So we express the note in terms of a word which, when chanted, approximates in duration the note it represents."

"Thus an eighth note is called a running note. When the class chants this word, the duration or length of the note is the same as an eighth note, for the word, itself, must be uttered quickly."

"The quarter note, similarly, is called a walking note, the half note is slow, and the whole note is held."

"The children take to these designations very readily, and by means of rhythmic chants soon develop a remarkable sensitivity to these note values."

—ACP

KEEP ON Backing the Attack WITH WAR BONDS

MEET ME . . .
—At—
SHANNON'S

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to Kleanwell Cleaners

Opposite Postoffice

See Betty Bridgeforth

Our Representative

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

It's not too hot to travel yet, and so the horde still migrates on week ends. The destinations were many and distant this week end.

To Arlington went Betsy Dillard and to Washington, D. C., went Ruth Jones. To Raleigh went Jane Ford and to Bluefield went Ann Kingdon. Pat Buckler visited in Chapel Hill and Betsy Corr attended the dances at Annapolis.

Also the following cute girls attended the dance at Randolph-Macon College in Ashland: Lou Baker, Betsey Caldwell, Jeraldine Payne, Rose Marie Waggner, Joan Davis, Lucy Messick, Mary Frances Moon, and Ann Tucker.

In Richmond visiting Margie Hewlett were Ann Jones, Nancy Pitts, and Minnie Lee Crumpler. To be found in Richmond for other various and sundry reasons, were Mary Sterrett, Nancy Adams, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Margaret Abersold, Betty Bridgeforth, Gerry Beckner, Sue Harper, Joscelyn Gillum, Betty Lee, Frances Lee, Lucy Harvie and Ann Martin.

Visiting Jerry Titmus in Petersburg was Jean Arrington and visiting Kitty Parham was Kitty Sue Bridgeforth.

Home to Suffolk went Betty Jones, Margaret Sheffield and Viola Surring. To Emporia went Nancy Harrell, Dora Jones, Lucy Manson, Harriette Moore, Mary Watkins, Eloise Stancell, Katherine Parker, and Bobbie Scott. In Norfolk, were Nell Richards and Vivian Edmunds.

Ginny Woodward, Olivia Jane Meade and Ann Carter visited in Cumberland. Judy Connelly visited Barbara Montgomery in Algerta and Virginia Via visited Betty Tom Andrews in Roanoke. Also visiting in Roanoke were Betty Jane Austin, Beatrice Bruch, Laura Dance, Susan Leftwich and Helen McGuire.

Minnie Rose Hawthrone visited Aloise Boswell in Chase City. Betty Albright, Evelyn Cole, and Margie Pierce also spent the week end in Chase City.

Henry Will Speak To Church Group

Miss Virginia Henry, state director of Methodist Young People's work, will speak at the Farmville Methodist Church, Sunday night, May 7 at 7:15 o'clock.

This meeting will take the place of the weekly Wesley Foundation service.

Library
Teachers College
rmville, Virginia

GOING TO PICKETT SATURDAY?

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS NEW AKG MEMBERS

VOLUME XXIII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1944 No. 27

Students, Faculty To Visit Pickett On Saturday

AKG Makes Royall Honorary Member; Taps Jarratt, Wade, Wilson, Whittle

Society Recognizes Leadership Ability Each Quarter

Miss Rachel Royall, secretary to the Head of the Home and a Farmville alumna, has been elected to honorary membership in Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity, Lucy Manson, president of the Farmville chapter, announced this at the tapping service last Friday morning

Mary Anne Jarratt, junior from Jarrait; Eleanor Wade, junior from Charlottesville; Ophelia Whittle, junior from Petersburg; and Helen Wilson, junior from Petersburg were tapped as members at this service.

Mary Anne is vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., and newly-elected treasurer of Kappa Delta Pi, and the Monogram Club. Ophelia is the vice-president of the Student Government Association while Helen is the president of the Athletic Association.

Alpha Kappa Gamma taps girls each quarter for leadership, scholarship, and character. Newly-elected officers are Lucy Manson, president; Sara Bird Williams, vice-president; Jane Waring Ruffin, secretary; and Harriette Moore, treasurer.

Misses Elizabeth Burger and Ruth Gleaves are the faculty advisers.

Soph, 3 Seniors Assist at Pickett

Patricia Ames, sophomore from Birds Nest; Evelyn Faw, senior from Roanoke; Gussie Himes, senia from Roanoke, and Helen Savage, senior from Exmore, of the War Service Office of the Business Education department are assisting with the "long distance" telephone work at Camp Pickett on week-ends.

The work involves taking the calls, recording, rating and roution. The girls are extremely enjing of calls, and giving informathusiastic over the work, Mr. Hallisy stated, and are receiving excellent business training.

Johnson To Head Cotillion Club

Trower, Massey, Caldwell Chosen

Marilyn Johnson, junior from Roanoke, was elected president of the Cotillion Club last night. She will succeed Virginia Mae Eliett in this position.

Betsy Caldwell, junior from Sweet Briar, was elected vice-president to suceed Jean Arington. The vice-president is the leader for the Spring Cotillion.

Elected as secretary - treasurer of the club was Margaret Poque Massey, junior from Hampden-Sydney, succeeding Betty Bridgforth; Katherine Trower, junior from Eastville, was elected business manager, succeeding Shirley Pierce. Mr. M. Boyd Coyner was re-elected as adviser for the Cotillion Club.

The Club is an organization with a membership of two hundred and fifty students whose primary aim is the promotion of good dancing. The club sponsors two major dances each year, one in the fall and one in the spring. These dances have come to be regarded as important events in the social life of the college year.

Spring Cotillion set was held on this campus on Saturday, April 22, at which time Jean Arington led the figure. Following the dance the traditional Goat Week was held for initiation of new Cotillion members.

Notice—Heads Of Organizations

Heads of all organizations, please turn in to the calendar chairman the names of all officers, members of your organization, and first and second choice for meeting time.

Civil Service Test Given To Students

51 College Girls Complete Work

Civil Service Representative Z. M. K. Fulton conducted the regional Civil Service examination for junior stenographers and typists in Business Education department last Friday, May 3. Fifty-one college girls and 18 high school students completed the test, Richard Hallisy, head of the Business Education department, reported.

Students Show Shorthand Skill

As far as can be judged from the reactions of those who took the examination and from a cursory examination of the papers, nearly all of the college girls passed with little difficulty, Mr. Hallisy revealed to the press. Mr. Fulton, in his official report stated, "I have been particularly impressed by the degree of shorthand skill shown by most of the college girls. A more complete report of the results of the test can not be given to date."

Those girls who took the test are, Patricia G. Ames, Ruth D. Brooks, Betty R. Critz, Sarah J. Danby, Laura E. Dance, Virginia Pulcher, Kathryn H. Hutchinson, Margie Lee Hyatt, Lillian Johnson, Evelyn M. Moore, Frances M. Orange, Katharine R. Parker, Margaret I. Perry, Isabell W. Ransone, Rachel B. Ranum, and Wilma G. Rawlinson.

Also Marguerite Reid, Jeanne A. Richardson, Gloria L. Rodgers, M. Urcil Shepard, Florence L. Smith, Shirley W. Stonnell, Nancy L. Taylor, Annie Belle Vaughan, Rosemarie D. Waggner, Virginia E. Wells, Betty Moss, Mamie N. Noel, Emily F. Humphries, Betty W. Wright, and Betty W. Woodward.

Also Betty Ann Wimbish, Vidilia M. Waller, Dorothy L. Turley, Mary Hardy Taylor, Clie S. Sarver, Ethel H. Robertson, Marjorie H. Pierce, Virginia Mae Packett, LaVerne Morrison, Olivia J. Meade, Mary C. Lynch, Frances H. Lee, Rosalie F. Jones, Betty J. Jones, Anne H. Jacob, Harriette C. Dowdy, Jane D. Crump, Margaret W. Claiborne, Cecelia G. Arthur, and Virginia E. Treakle.

No First-Sight Love Say Montana Coeds

Co-eds at Montana university don't believe in love at first sight. And despite the wartime trend, they're in no big rush to get married. These facts are revealed in a campus survey of attitudes toward engagement and marriage in a sociology class titled, "The Family."

The conclusions were based on the answers of 95 university women proportionately allocated among the four college classes. The average age of the group was 19.

A romantic 18 per cent of those questioned looked upon "love at first sight" as a requisite to a happy marriage, but an impressive 82 per cent thought there's nothing to it.

Correction

Lucy Bowling, sophomore from Farmville, is the new president of F. T. A. for the coming year rather than Mary William Calvert. Mary William could not accept the position due to a heavy schedule next year.

Woodward Elected President of BET For Coming Year

6 Students Receive Bids

Mary Franklin Woodward, junior from Barhamsville, was elected President of Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor society, at a recent meeting. She will succeed Jane Smith.

Mary Franklin is a member of Kappa Delta Pi and newly-elected secretary for the coming year, past president of Future Teachers of America, secretary of the Granddaughters club for 1944-45, and is a member of the editorial staff of the Rotunda.

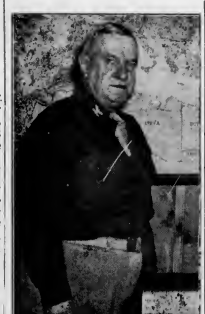
Other newly-elected officers include Sara Moling, junior from Winchester, vice-president to succeed Jeanne Strick; Ann Martin, sophomore from Suffolk, recording secretary, to succeed Lucille Lewis; Jean Prosise, junior from Wilson, corresponding secretary; Virginia Lee Abernathy, junior from Cochran, treasurer to succeed Mary Franklin Woodward; and Catherine Lynch, sophomore from Lebanon, historian, to succeed Virginia Lee Abernathy.

Pulitzer Prize Winners Presented

At the meeting the Pulitzer prize winners were announced and a few were discussed by Jean Prosise.

The purpose of Beorc Eh Thorn is to encourage creative writing and the study of literature.

Members include girls who have had as much as 18 hours of English with an average of B or above.



Boerc Eh Thorn recently issued bids to 3 juniors and 3 sophomore to become members. Juniors receiving bids are Patricia Garth, Farmville; Nancy Harrell, Emporia; and Josephine Shaffner, Hampton. Katherine Allen, Enonville; Connie Ozlin, Chase City; and Virginia Treakle, Farmville, are the sophomores who received bids.

Leeper Will Speak In Lounge Tonight

Miss Mary E. Leeper, executive secretary of the Association of Childhood Education in Washington, D. C., will speak at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Student Building Lounge, Betty Watts, president, has announced.

Invitations have been issued to all elementary majors, members of the Education Department and the Training School faculty to attend the lecture and reception.

S.T.C. Guests To Tour Camp in Jeeps, Will Have Dinner In Post Messes

Col. Frank B. Lammons, commanding officer of Camp Pickett.—Cut courtesy the Camp Pickett News.

Y Cabinet To Hold Set-Up Conference

Beginning at 4 o'clock Thursday, May 11, the old and new Y. W. C. A. cabinet members and faculty advisers will meet at Longwood for the annual set-up conference. At this time, plans and aims for the year 1944-45 will be discussed.

Agnes Stokes, freshman counsellor for the Y will lead the devotions at the conference.

An open association meeting, to which the student body is invited to attend, will be held at 5 o'clock. Co.a-Colas and buns will be served by the social committee.

APS Promotion Day Slated for May 26

Alpha Phi Sigma Promotion Day, at which time those members who have attained a B plus average for the fall and winter quarter will receive their Master's Degrees, will be held at chapel on Friday, May 26. Alpha Phi Sigma is an honorary fraternity in scholarship for freshmen and sophomores.

Several prospective students of S. T. C. were entertained in the school dormitory this week-end by Alpha Phi Sigma. Prospective students visit S. T. C. each year during the spring quarter and are usually entertained by Alpha Phi Sigma.

WACs To Present Retreat Ceremony

Approximately 600 students and faculty have signed up to go to Camp Pickett for the afternoon and evening on Saturday, May 13, in answer to the invitation to the entire personnel of the college from the Camp Pickett officials, the 78th division, and from the two WAC detachments stationed there.

Announced In Chapel

Those going to Camp Pickett will be transported to the camp in buses, Dr. Jarman said when he announced the invitation to the student body in Chapel last Friday. While at the camp they will be shown as much of interest as is possible, and the men will give several military demonstrations. A tour of the camp in jeeps is included as part of the special program for the college in order to show something of the life and work of the WACs and the men.

Dinner On Post

For the benefit of the guests there will be an all WAC Retreat Ceremony preceeding dinner, Col. Frank B. Lammons, Post Commander revealed. The entire personnel of the school will have dinner on the Post in the mess halls with those stationed there as part of the program.

Following dinner a dance will be given for the guests in the Field House with a special orchestra for the occasion, Col. Lammons said. The Field House has seating capacity of 4000.

U. S. O. Organizes

Organization for the trip will be under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler and the U.S.O. Committee, Dr. Jarman reported yesterday.

Those faculty and administration members who have signed up to make the trip are Misses Mary Nichols, Mary Clay Hiner, Winnie Hiner, Ottie Craddock, Pauline Camper, Margaret Hall, Mary Barlow, Willie London, Lila London, Grace Moran, Elizabeth Burger, Grace E. Mix, Ida Penny, Mary Haynes, Carrie Taliaferro, Emily Barksdale, Ruth Gleaves, Edith Stevens, Virginia Bedford, Olive Iler, Carmen Clark, Emily Kauzlarich, Bessie Jeter, Lucille Jennings, Alice Carter, Mr. Raymond French, Dr. F. F. Swertfeger, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Jeffers, Dr. and Mrs. F. B Simkins, Mr. and Mrs, R. G. Hallisy, and Mrs. Beazley.

To Have and To Hold Becomes Motto Roof Sun Worshippers

What is it that girls will waste precious time for, look unattractive for, smell like vinegar and baby oil for, suffer painfully at night for, and encounter countless other inconveniences for. And yet vow they enjoy? Oh, no not May Day . . . SUNBURN! Yes, whenever the sun shines warmly, a young girl's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of getting a suntan.

The methods of acquiring this most valuable beauty aid vary. Are you the vinegar or baby oil fan? The odor, if you please, gives baby oil a distinct advantage, for what professor desires the scintillating scent (note sarcasm) of vinegar wafting under his very nose? Yet vinegar presents a sure-fire way of getting rid of undesirable guests. Anyway, both are used to such an extent that it's practically impossible to walk across the Dining hall roof without stumping your toe on a bottle.

Some optimistic souls were on the roof in March (well, April, anyway). I do believe they profit by it, too, for the white-skinned girls that started late in the hot sun are peeling right now. There are some fortunate people that tan very easily and hence win the everlasting envy of their friends who lie for days in the sun and have only a beet red complexion to show for it.

A great many girls combined one hour for the purpose of two things: to skip dinner and reduce and to go on the roof and get a tan for May Day. Much to their dismay, this didn't always work. By four o'clock they'd have weakened and eaten a rich chocolate sundae and the tan was in the midst of coming off in layers by the time for the big event. So they didn't profit much by it. Some were brown, with a look of vibrancy and to me, which looked well in the May Day festival. After all, the Mexicans are dark-skinned, too!

Getting a tan can be fun, if you're not the restless type. The pilots that swoop over every afternoon enjoy it, at least since everywhere there are groups of scantily clad girls absorbing the sun's rays.

During the time, a few try to study or play bridge, most females just sleep or execute a reasonable facsimille thereof by shutting

Continued on Page 4

Week-End Affords Variety of Weather, Food, People, Activity, Life in General

There's a lot of talk lately about variety. Variety in food, in weather, in people, and in life in general. Give us your kind attention while we rave on about variety in one more aspect, and we'll try to let up on it awhile.

Next to going home, a schoolgal loves best to have company. Ask anybody! The Variety this week concerns the various and sundry types of week-end guests we had for May Day, and believe it or not, if you didn't notice it, you may hereby rate yourself as a subnormal moron and judge your lack of observation accordingly.

It isn't so bad to walk into the front hall, or the Rotunda, and be greeted by a few soldiers or sailors. They're everyday occurrences and to be expected. It's great to walk in and find one's Mother on the premises. It's just too cute to have your little sister playing around like a miniature S. T. C'er and making people wonder at the rate the younger generation has grown up. But by gawsh, it gets awkward for a respectable gal to walk out into the hall clad only in a towel or two, and hafta dash back to keep from encountering somebody else's little brother!

Yes, there we have it. May Day vistors were unlimited. There was enough interest involved to include everybody from Gran'ma to Baby Brother, and the relatives turned out in full force. Over the well beaten tracks to Longwood went autos and pedestrians; bicycles and baby-carriages; soldiers and sailors; boys and girls . . . all kinds of girls! Tall, short, lean plump. Loping along at an easy amble, or briskly marching in cadence with their uniformed dates.

The little sisters prowed interesting. Everywhere we looked we saw Jackie Purden with her "two in hand". For nearly the whole week, wee June Wimbish trailed Betty Ann to classes and meals, a minute replica, complete with curlers and housecoat; and even at the dance she followed suit with the college girls, and broke a couple of hearts from where she sat in full glory of her eleven years. Jackie Surface vied with Barbara for "getting around" . . . and she even brought along her own date. Everywhere we looked we saw little sisters . . . and we hope they'll all come back eventually . . . maybe as students.

The mothers were too numerous to name. The whole audience was generously sprinkled with fathers. Big sisters and brothers, too, were in their fraternal glory, and there were all kinds of aunts and uncies

Continued on Page 4

Is It Time To Let Up In Our War, Peace Efforts?

Last week the government announced that most meats would henceforth be ration free. Sometime ago the strict ban on pleasure driving was lifted.

Does this mean that the war is coming to a close? Does it mean that now we are on the home stretch and can ease up?

No, definitely and emphatically, no. It means only that the government, having taken the meat and gas situation in hand, has partially, at least, solved these problems and can now raise some restrictions that six months, a year ago, were necessary.

How do we dare to think that the war is nearly over? How dare we be that stupidly optimistic on the verge of the long talked-of invasion? Perhaps the invasion is at hand. Perhaps the invasion is the home stretch, but that "home stretch" is to be by far the hardest, the most tragic part of the war; the darkest hour that comes just before the dawn.

Bright dawn will follow that darkest hour of the invasion only if we who have to remain at home make truly worthwhile those things for which this war is being fought, only if we who are in college today can see clearly our part in the war and in the world to come after the war. Daylight will appear only if the peace is won as well as the war. And the winning of the peace is in our hands, beginning now, this very day.

We cannot afford to let up in our efforts to win the war. We cannot afford to let up in our efforts to win the peace.

Lest another night of brutal darkness follow the end of the war, let us now remain immovable in our purpose of spreading the four freedoms over all the earth. Let us not give an inch, or part of an inch. Let us not be overly optimistic and thus become an easy prey for that very enemy our brothers, fathers, husbands and sweethearts are giving their lives to overcome.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager
Margaret Sheffield ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Kathryn Hutchinson, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Ann Buck, Catherine Trower, Margie Hewlett, Lelia Holloway, Nell Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blaue.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Sarah Taliaferro, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee, Rachel Bourne.

In Appreciation - - - -

To Miss Kauzlarich and those on the faculty who assisted her; Miss Barksdale and Miss Wheeler; to Virginia Mae Ellett, to Mildred Corvin, to committee chairmen and members, to all who took part in the program go the thanks and appreciation of the Student Body for a May Day that was charming in its difference, beautiful in presentation.

The performance that was witnessed in the Longwood amphitheater Sunday, after having been postponed from Saturday because of inclement weather, was one that gave evidence of the long hours spent in planning and developing. The perfection of each detail in costume, in setting, in atmosphere, was worthy of a professional group and evidenced the spirit of cooperation that must have prevailed among those directing from start to finish of the Mexican May Day.

Much credit is due, too, to each and every student who took part in the program. The long hours of constant practicing made necessary by the size of such a production was, of course, wearing to the nerves, and called for no little sacrifice on the part of those participating.

But all gave unbegrudgingly of their time, of their effort, to make the "Cinco de Mayo" an unequalled success. Again, the thanks of the Student Body.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

The Chinese front looks dark this week as Japan's offensive gains momentum. Using her crack troops from Manchuria, Japan is trying to gain control of Loyang, a base from which she may try to capture Chungking, China's war-time capital. Such a move as this might knock China out of the war. It is easy to see through Japanese strategy and know the offensive is a timely one. The Allies are occupied with the European front and can offer little help to the Chinese forces at Loyang and in the mountains southwest of Chingsein.

* * *

The Japanese are also making the situation in Burma look anything but bright. British and Indian troops have withdrawn from Buthedaing which the British captured only two months ago. The purpose of the withdrawal it is stated is to "readjust our positions," which is perhaps saying in a clandestine manner that we are retreating. The fighting in the Kalapanzen Valley, however, is in our favor, attacks near Kohima having been turned. In the Mogang Valley Stilwell's forces are advancing on Japanese bases of Kamaing, Mogaung, and Myitkyina.

* * * *

The Pacific theater is centered this week on New Guinea as allied air forces bomb bases along the northern coast, still in Japanese hands. Bombing has continued on bases of Rabaul, New Britain, Kavung, New Ireland and Scouten Island. The town of Panape in the Carolines received a share of 87 tons of bombs as did other bases in the Truk atoll and Marshalls.

* * *

On the Russian front Sevastopol has undergone terrific bombing as the Russians have opened a powerful land drive toward this city. The Germans have been pushed back and their attacks repelled by the Russians.

* * *

In Europe the air assault continues, the heavieset bombing located in Berlin. Along the French coast between Calais and Dieppe and in the Bucharestian area of Romania. The results of these raids will be seen on the day of invasion.

From Here 'n' Yon

Now after many months of anticipation, we find Cinco de Mayo behind us. Orchids should go to each and every person who participated in the festival, or helped make it possible, for it was truly a lovely affair, and one that will not be forgotten, though gone.

To Marilyn Bell go apologies from the weather man for not bringing rain at the desired time; consequently the rick-shaw affair was out. So solly . . .

Last week-end certainly was a big one for Bracie. Not only did her Mother come, but Charlie and his Mother too. Practically a family reunion, eh Brace?

What's the rumor about Gwen A kiss getting rid of the civilian Sunday night for the Army Air Corps? Didn't realize men were so plentiful these days!

What we want to know is why Jane "Chubby" Crump didn't wear the cactus corsage that Trevillian Augustus Kern, Jr., sent her?

Olive Bradshaw finds herself "fascinated" again—this time it's the army!

Mildred Corvin's telegram from Earl Sunday created no mild sensation. That guy must have it bad.

What's all this Liz Tennent declares about disliking attentive men? Wonder where such creatures exist?!?

Lucille Jones certainly believes in safety in numbers. She was recently seen with five at one time. Yes, we said FIVE!

Eileen Bowles' "publicity sunt" pulled in the Weyanoke Sunday was definitely amusing. In case you haven't heard, she lost her shoe in the lobby and walked right on declaring later she didn't even miss it!!!

Lucy Messick and Dick certainly do seem to hit things off quite well. She also received a "neat note" from Moffett too, this week end.

Regrets go to "Red" Hanbury because of the dance. The corsage was a nice gesture, but it didn't work! Again, so solly!!!

STC must be slipping . . . . Sumpter Priddy chose Randolph-Macon W. C. to us this week-end.

We can't pass up a mention of "his Nibbes", Leroy. Can't understand how Betty Tom did it. Ditch him we mean. But thanks to another kind hearted Soph the T. D. and H. soldier was well surrounded with girls who even proved to him that STC girls can cook.

Where the Navy publicity man at May Day came from we haven't found out, but we know where he went! Hope he got some good shots anyway — he tried hard enough.

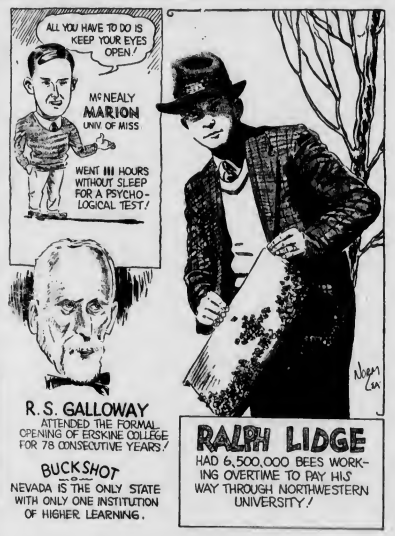
Chambers Street, running between Junior Building and the library seems to be a night center of attraction this week. First, the "picnic" (well, there was a fire) last Friday night. And then on Monday, a serenade from a group of the "old school" from Death Valley with all the old songs—event a fond "Goodnight Ladies" to conclude with, after spreading "with song and story, the fame of HSC".

E. Banks comes back from home full of wedding plans — an all-white wedding, it's to be. Don't forget "something old, something

Continued on Page 3

the "Y"

By MARGIE HEWLETT



The Y. W. C. A. will have a set-up conference on Thursday at five o'clock at Longwood. If it is raining, it will be held in the "Y" Lounge. Everybody, especially the committee members, is invited. At four o'clock the old and the new cabinet members will meet together to make plans for the coming year.

The committees will meet tonight. Be sure to come as it is the first meeting of the new year for many of the committees.

The Westminister Fellowship Sunday school class is invited to the home of their teacher, Mrs. Frank Crawford, for breakfast this Sunday.

Miss Virginia Henry, State Director of the Methodist young people's work, spoke at the Wesley Foundation on Sunday night. 'Is Life Worth Living" was her topic. She stressed the importance of serving the church in some way during the coming summer days.

Make a habit of going to Prayers daily.

Question of the Week

What's your favorite expression?

Jane Knapton: Umbriago!

Sally Robertson: See what I mean?

Oliver Bradshaw: Smooth as harmonious motion.

Helen McGuire: My mind is a perfect blank.

Margaret Orange: You lucky girl.

Frances Lee: I could die.

Bernice Copenhaver: Just plain, well!

Louise McCorkle: You hit the nail on the cuticle!

Jane McFall: Oh my granny.

Betty Bridgforth: I love it—I gotta have more of it.

Pasty Connelly: I don't have one that's printable.

Hannah Lee Crawford: I give up.

Louise Bell: Heavens, no!! .....

Betty Overcash: Give me strength.

M. K. Ingham: That's the way she wants it.

Ruth Dugger: Pull up a chair and make yourself homely.

Faye Nimmo Webb: You old goat.

Mildred Covin: Let's have a cup of coffee.

Jane Page: How 'bout that?

Betty Deuel Cock: Lord help us to get well.

Agnes Stokes: Oh, goodness.

Lillian Goddin: I wish Dickie Dickie were here.

Marilyn Bell: It's a great life if you don't week-end, but it's better if you do!

Jane Waring Ruffin: You're as welcome as the flowers in May.

Home Office Mantle Displays Messages, Telegrams And Calls

"Why does everyone always go in the Home Office?" This question from green freshmen, and visiting friends alike. "What is in the Home Office that attracts the girls like bees are pulled to nectar?"

But to any old time S. T. C. girl the answer is easy. It's the Home Office mantle. Just an ordinary looking mantle, really, over a small, but effective fireplace . . . a mantle clock on one end . . . A picture hung over it.

"And that's enough to draw those girls in there, regardless of the time of day or night, regardless of their hurry to get somewhere else?" Well, not in itself, perhaps. It's actually what's on the mantle (or what we hope will be there) that does the trick.

A clearing house for all notices, for all messages to and from students and faculty, for specials and telegrams, for phone calls and notices of meetings called and cancelled . . . that's the Home Office mantle.

Over in one corner is a special frame reserved for notices to the horse enthusiasts who have to look on the Home Office mantle to see whether or not it is too wet or cold or windy to ride. Sometimes the frame is empty, but usually there is a message of some sort in it.

Always and always there are small squares (they used always to be white, but lately they have taken on varied hues of yellow and pink too) for somebody to call Operator 105 in Richmond (that's Mother) or Operator 6 in Chapel Hill (at long last . . . it's about time HE was calling!) Those slips usually belong to our roommates or to the girls down the hall. And those that we have a special interest in usually say "All of you please come down to help decorate the gym" . . . "Where is your Rotunda article?" . . . "Call meeting tonight at 7:30" (and by jingo, there are already four places you are supposed to be at 7:30).

Now and then there are notices to come to see Miss Bugg or Mrs. Watkins or Dr. Jarman or Mr. Holton . . . And we're always glad they at least don't belong to us . . . they really look much too official to be comfortable.

Once in a while there's a sealed envelope there—sometimes with "The Virginian of 1944" in the upper left hand corner. And we always wonder what kind of secrets are inside . . . Might even be all the scoops of the annual.

Scraps of shorthand paper, yellow copy paper . . . officially printed notices from the various offices, business-like typed notes and envelopes . . . ranging in size from very large to almost minute . . . every color of the rainbow (and then some!) . . . all marked (or if not marked, plainly saying it from the angle at which it stands) "IMPORTANT" . . . notes about classes . . . about meetings . . good notes . . . bad notes . . . Rotunda stories . . Colonnade copy . . . "Please sign up her's" . . . "Meet me by Joan at 11" . . . and so on into the night and the next day.

That's the Home Office mantle . . . That's the magnet that pulls each and every S. T. C. girl in the Home Office two, three, five, ten times a day . . . That's the only sure way of ever getting in touch with some people . . . An old S. T. C. institution, almost as old as the school itself . . . and very definitely S. T. C. . . . the Home Office mantle.

"Leave me a note on the mantle."

There are 32,000,000 automobiles in operation in the United States.

Pegasus Presents Annual Horse Show At Longwood Ring Saturday, May 20

Program Includes 12 S. T. C. Classes

Joyce Cheatwood, riding instructor and president of Pegasus Riding club, has released committee heads and members among further plans for the annual Horse Show to be held May 20th. The program will begin at 2:00 p. m., and will consist of 12 classes, open to all S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney students as well as to the local horse owners.

Joyce, who serves again this year as general chairman, has announced the following as business assistants for this year's exhibition: Desk chairmen will be Betty Little and Liz Goodwin; Food committee, Betty Ellis and Lucille Jones, with volunteers assisting. Fence and Ring preparation, Betty Cock, chairman, Lynn Page, Mary Catlett, Jane Rowe, Elise Hume, Margaret Lohr, Phyliss Watts, Jody Davis, Allene Alphin, Anna Headlee, Helen Shaw, and Margaret Abersold. Parking, Phyllis Watts, chairman, Pat Buckler, Shirley Easterly, Lynn Page, Margaret Black. In charge of horses, Jean Carter Smith and Mary Sterrett.

Besides the usual competition between town riders and S. T. C. girls, in classes comprised of three-gaited and five-gaited horses, pairs of Riders, Old Virginia Riders, jumping, horsemanship, and costume event, plans are underway for outside entertainment for the spectators. Although there is a small entry fee for each class, there is no general admission for the public.

Ribbons and War-stamps will be awarded to first prize winners in each event, and ribbons to those placing second, third, and fourth.

In addition to the school stables, and the local "town-horses", it is expected that there will be numerous entries from Cumberland, Rice, and as far down as Amelia. Some post entries from Camp Pickett are anticipated.

Entry blanks and additional information can be secured at any time by contacting Joyce Cheatwood, and entry fees are requested in advance in order that the ribbons and prizes may be arranged for, and other expenses met.

High School Seniors Score Huge Success

When one enthusiastic spectator said, "It's just as good as anything I ever saw in New York," perhaps she overstated it. But at least it is doubtful that Broadway ever played to a more amused and delighted audience.

Farmville high school seniors, Mrs. C. H. Davis and Miss Virginia Conson gave the packed school auditorium audience a treat Friday night in a production of "The Leavenworth Case" which was uniformly good. The apex of praise undoubtedly goes to Peepsie Brooks' screams, these piercing yells in pitch darkness being enough to set any production in high gear. Every member of the cast, however, received and deserved, applause.

The play was a successful financial venture as well. Tickets, sold at the first door, were taken up at the inner door. When all had been sold, the entire batch was resold, $152 being taken in. Expenses ran about $30.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

AA Council Gives Blazers In Chapel

Awards Made By Presidents

Blue blazers were presented to Mildred Droste, Ronceverte, West Virginia; Ruth Dugger, Denbeigh; Sara Jeffreys, Goldsboro, North Carolina; and Dottie Sue Simmons, Fincastle, at the chapel program Friday morning. The presentations were made by Patsy Connelly, retiring president of the Athletic Association.

These blazers were awarded on the basis of game participation in a variety of sports, scholarship, contribution to the school, sport, and sportsmanship.

Patsy Connelly, Lebanon, was awarded a white blazer by Helen Wilson, newly-elected president of the Athletic Association.

Blazers are awarded each spring to a certain number of girls who have been outstanding in sports.

Smith Elected Head Of Swimming Club

Jean Smith was elected president of the H20 Club last week to succeed Mildred Droste. Frances Lee was selected secretary-treasurer succeeding Harriet Moore.

Plans are being made for a picnic on May 18 at Longwood for the members of the H20 Club, consisting of hot dogs and all the trimmings.

New interest has been created in water sports this year due to the swimming meets and demonstrations which have been put on by the H20 Club. Afternoon recreational swimming and swimming during playnight on Saturday nights is sponsored by the club.

Class Teams Elect Softball Captains

Captains for the softball teams were elected Tuesday afternoon. They are Nancy Ranson senior, Mary Watts junior, Kitty Wright sophomore, and Betty Parrish freshman. The teams have been selected and only those girls who have eight practices or more are playing in the tournament.

Sue Hundley, in charge of softball this year, announced that the Round Robin tournament would begin May 15. The tournament this spring will be played in the same way as that of the hockey tournament in the fall. Every team will have a chance to play each other. This is the last major battle for points toward the color cup.

From Here 'n Yon

Continued from Page 2

new, something borrowed" — and even in an all-white wedding, "something blue"!

Don't let us go further without thanking the Sophs for one of the

MEET ME . . .
—At—
SHANNON'S

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Say it with Flowers
Say it with Ours
COLLINS FLORIST

Left Lead

"Pegasus Presents . . . "some more about the Horse show . . . but that you'll find elsewhere in the paper, so we'll stick to our favorite occupation, and see what we can dig up about what members of the Riding Club.

That is, that concerns Horses.

Most graceful sight of the week was the double load Nellie carried in from the Longwood ring Monday afternoon, consisting of not only Elise, but Joyce, too, bouncing around behind the saddle. "Silent Yokum" procured the trusty steed that got her out there, but this particular steed had not enough fat for a one-way-trip.

Mrs. Withers' Black Diamond joined forces the first of the week and has been seen gallivanting about like an old-timer. He may spend most of his time pacing and a little of it cantering, but he has lovely ring manners . . . and he's a nice hoss. He'll be around the day of the show, too, for anyone interested in the Old Virginia Riders who as yet is not signed up for a mount.

We haven't presented Queenie via the column yet, but she's a little chestnut mare with a creamish mane and tail, and though she hasn't been ridden very much before, will probably be in the best of shape by the 20th.

Once again the proper authorities have made off with Princess, and she won't be here for the show after all. But just as an idea, Queenie would pair well with Harry; although here it is, straight from the tentative program: if you come to get technical: "Class No. 5 . . . Pairs of Riders," you know . . . .

Cindy, Joyce Cheatwood; Star, Frank Johns.

Lindy, Mary Ann Loving, Clareport, Jane Rowe.

Nellie, Helen Shaw; Midnight, Betty Cock.

Flash, Margaret Lohr; Flicka, Martha Sydnor.

Queenie, Shirley Gibson; Winnie, Nancy Ingle.

Bill, Henry Newbill; Nickotie, F. G. Baldwin.

And so it goes. What we can't prove we guess at, and vice versa. Most of the other classes have been arranged, too, but they're too indefinite to talk about, and though we could talk about the weather, you saw what happened to May Day, and should realize we're scared to think.

Students!. For your enlightenment and enjoyment, the library officials have arranged a display of books and pamphlets on riding and horses. Make tracks over to look it over, and see what you can learn that you do not know already. This has been done for your benefit; take advantage of it.

this week, and see what's up in the feed-bag for next.

Pick yourself some nice strong switches and keep 'em in shape . . . and stay on the bit!

Pegasus

nicest and loveliest dances of the year. We like the new idea for decorations, too.

At long, long last, we have seen Pat's Pell. He lived up to all expectations, too!

Cards and Gifts
—for—
Mother's Day
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

May Day is over at last, although it really looked as though old man weather was trying his best to prevent us from having it at all. But come Sunday afternoon and the sun shone through to give to the audience one of the prettiest May Days ever held at S. T. C.

Plenty of exercise was gotten by all last week, as they trudged out to Longwood to the afternoon practices. The girls volunteered for Longwood though, and the afternoon walks they took weren't as bad as they thought they would be.

Now that May Day is behind us, the athletic calendar is quite full. Plenty of competition is expected for the final bout toward the color cup. Come on out and get your practices in now, don't forget your team needs you.

Softball

This past Tuesday the captains were elected for softball steams, and competition will get under way May 15. Those practices after supper will not count toward becoming a member of the team, so if you haven't gotten your eight practices in be sure to come out either Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday afternoons for those practices you need.

This year, Sue Hundley is in charge of softball, so if you have any problems you want settled, or if you want to know how to make the team be sure to see Sue. She will be glad to help you. Read up on your rules, and know your game backwards and forwards, so that you will be able to play a clean sportsmanlike game. Take this tournament up, because it is the last major sport to be held toward this year's color cup. Good luck to both green and white and red and white.

Badminton

Do you know very much about badminton? It really isn't as minor a sport as you might think, for it takes plenty of endurance to keep up in a good swift game. Very much like tennis, although not quite as complicated, badminton is a game of skill and coordination. The net is similar to that used in volley ball, and the racquet looks like a tennis racquet, but is smaller with a longer handle. Instead of a ball, you use a bird, or a small object made of feathers to carry the weight across the net.

You who want to become more adept at badminton, come out and practice in the afternoons some time when the nets are not being used for classes. See Eleanor Wade who is in charge of badminton this year, and perhaps she can help in arranging for you who do not take it as a class to be able to play.

Riding

May 20 will find Longwood a very popular place for those interested in horses. Pegasus Riding Club is sponsoring their annual horseshow that Saturday afternoon, and with entries from the surrounding countryside and Farmville included with the S. T. C. entries it should be a very good show.

The girls are working hard now, especially with their ring work. Each afternoon find a group of them Longwood bound to practice in the large ring out there. Practice makes perfect, and these girls are trying very hard to prove it.

Next year credit is to be given in the physical education department for riding, although that means there will be certain tests to pass in saddling a horse and learning the parts of a horse, and the gaits and parts of the animal. But those who are really interested in riding should not find this too hard.

Until next week, stay in the game you athletic people, and remember above everything else, come out for your practices.

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of
records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Gifts and Cards
—for—
Mother's Day
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty
and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
(High Street)
BUTCHER'S

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Tennis Tournament Slated for May 12 Watts Announces

Next Friday, May 12, marks the date for the all-day tennis tournament. This tournament does not give points toward the color cup, but is for the purpose of creating new interest in tennis. Phyllis Watts is in charge of the tennis tournament.

Mildred Shifflett has charge of the archery tournament which will be played the same day, and which will give points for the color cup.

Come on out and back up your team by cheering them on to Victory.

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

REMEMBER MOTHER
—ON—
MOTHER'S DAY
MAY 14TH
WITH A GIFT FROM
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Girls Exchange Winter Wools For Colorful Summer Cottons

These "Southern Belles" step out in the fabric of Dixie. Cotton prints are the joy of the 900 "tomboys" on the campus. It was a relief to send all those wool sweaters and skirts home by Mom and Pop May Day.

Janice Wells, Fay Johnson, and Barbara Surface portray the typical cotton prints. The "V" neck, square neck, and round neck in the long waisted dress can be flattering on any figure with any face, and with any hair do.

Pictured above from left to right are Fay Johnson, Janice Wells, and Barbara Surface wearing spring cottons.

Pick a waffle weave print with big bunchy flowers. The back ground must be a definite contrast in color with the flowers. Madamoiselle features this print with a low neck, low back and no sleeves to set off the sun burn.

The candy striped cotton dress made shirt waist style is always attractive and conservative.

This spring cotton dresses are not only being worn in the class room but with matching accessories to church and to the most formal occasions.

In your spring wardrobe, be stylish and have plenty of pique, waffle weave, and ginghams of cotton—the fabric of the sunny south.

Week-Ends

Continued from Page 1

and cousins. Nor can we neglect to mention the girl-friends and high school chums; the last year's roommates and the next year's prospects. The ever-welcome alumnae and the people who elsewhere are considered members of the faculty.

They were all here (and more) for May Day, and with them came the rush and fun and confusion of company from home. For the poor, starving students came meals down town, or in the tea room, or the Cactus Inn. And there were all kinds of edible surprises tucked away in suitcases, too . . . enough Toll-House cookies to last for the duration! For the homesick, just the sight of the loved ones seemed enough and for those who're too broke to get home again before June, here was truly an interlude of convenience.

We wouldn't have wanted a one of them to miss being here, these school-shared families of ours. If our own folks can't be around, there's no substitute like our roommate's. We can laugh at her little sister's antics, and enjoy her mother's wit (and cookies) full near as much as we can our own. We thoroughly enjoy the teasing we take from her Dad as he drives us around in the family car, and we simply rave on and on for hours in profuse admiration of her date.

But next time . . . when we're on our way to the roof with less on than the law allows, or are trying to sleep and keep hearing weird whistles and "I betcha I c'n . . . " in a shrill tenor proclaiming feats comparable to those of Superman . . . next time let's suggest that the Little Brothers spend the week-end out at Hampden-Sydney.

Sun Worshippers

Continued from Page 1

their eyes so they won't be bothered by loquacious "blanket hoppers". I believe an appropriate motto for these girls on the roof is "to burn, to tan, to keep, and not to lose!"

★ SENIOR ★ PERSONALITY ★

MARY EVELYN PEARSALL

From early morning till late at night, keeping busy all day but cheerful about it, that's Mep! A student body president with all it takes to get things going, she has an amazing amount of energy, yet never too busy to help someone. No matter if she is head over heels in her own work she'll stop to help you fix a hem or give advice to the worried(?) Efficient in matters of school, she's versatile, too. No better cook whether you see her in the kitchen with all modern conveniences or on Annex with a hot plate and one spoon!

Always ready to have fun, be it jitterbugging, playing boogie-woogie or a game of Bridge in the wee small hours, she has that look in her eye that means there's mischief somewhere and she is enjoying the joke.

Looks and ability, too, for among her duties she adds to the grace of May Court. Scatterbrained, we call her but she gets results and though we laugh at her, not knowing what she is looking for, she always find the answer.

Memories of a student body president efficiently presiding or of meals served Annex style, or of Mep putting us to bed and stopping by for a chat; all these plus a love for her school which transcends all her efforts, these combine to make Mary Evelyn Pearsall this week's Senior personality.

Disaster May Face Small Institutions Dr. Morley States

As the challenge of wartime conditions becomes more exacting, the small college, that unique American institution, faces disaster declares Doctor Felix Morley, president of Haverford College, writing in the October 15 issue of The Saturday Evening Post. The article titled "Can The Small College Survive?" asserts that the present crisis may prove a boon to an educational system which has long been in need of a housecleaning.

The financial problems of many of the small colleges, mostly sectarian, were becoming acute before the war. The Army and Navy, in selecting colleges for their training program, chose those which were better equipped and located. This meant a strengthening of the strong colleges and a further weakening of the weak.

"In many respects, however, the Federal Government is likely to count on the continued assistance of privately endowed colleges after the war," says the Post article, "and indeed after the emergency is over. With widespread approval, the Administration is giving strong endorsement to plans for subsidized education of demobilized servicemen, continuing for as much as six years after the termination of the war.

"In addition to educational grants for qualified war veterans, some form of Federal scholarships for especially meritorious high-school graduates who could otherwise not afford college is being increasingly advocated."

While the independence of the small college is necessary to its social contribution, this contribution to society must be enlarged to extend beyond a financially exclusive minority states the Post article.

"But while heavy casualties are to be expected, the colleges as an institution will not succumb. The large majority will survive, though chastened and purged of much decoration and smugness which can well be spared," concludes Doctor Morley.

—The Saturday Evening Post

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

May Day was the big event of the week end, and few felt the urge to travel. We welcomed back many old girls, and learned all about what the last year's girls are doing and seeing. Among the visitors to our campus were Edna Brown, Bridget Gentile, Ada Clark Nuckols, Mary Hillie McCoy, Elizabeth McCoy, Carolyn Rouse, Virginia Conbin, Lulie Jones, Julia Ayers, Louise Clayton, Anne Lyons, Evelyn Pankey, Jane Lee Sink, Ella Hutchinson, Madge McFall, Gwen Sampson, Kitty Parry, Jean MacChrits, Helen Smith, Beth Johnson, and Louise Parcell Watts and her baby. Also, many mothers and little sisters were here to witness our May Day exercises.

Keeping up the S. T. C. tradition of traveling on week ends was Faye Nimmo Webb who journeyed to Columbus, Georgia. Minnie Lee Crumpler went to Harrisonburg and Gloria Sheppard went to Fredericksburg.

Betty Ruth Critz and Margaret Walton attended the dance at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina. Kitty Rennecker traveled to Chicago, Illinois, and Pacey Moore and Mary Parrish Viccellio went to Chatham to see friends.

Nancy Blair, Sarah Hodges, Gene Seymour, Glennis Moore and Alice Feitig week-ended in Richmond. Beverly Bohon and Helen Cobbs visited in Roanoke. Virginia T. Pullen and Annie Wiseman went home to Danville, and Catherine Stoner and Billy Wald went to Fincastle.

Home to Skipwith, went Lorene, Margaret, and Lena Claiborne. To South Hill to visit went Ann Shaw, and Lucille Cheatham was called to Midlothian.

Rosa Hill is at home in Windsor, visiting her brother who is home on furlough, and Jean Riddick spent the week end in Durham.

Last, to the joy of many S.T.C. girls, some of the Glee Club boys from Duke were back again.

Spanish Club Elects Sheffey President

Mary Preston Sheffey, of Marion, was recently elected president of the Spanish Club succeeding Emily Carper. Serving as vice-president will be Nancy Parrish, Manassas, succeeding Alice Parkhurst.

Betty Bibb, of Lynchburg, will act as secretary to succeed Freddie Anne Butt, and Ann Jones, of Charlottesville, will serve as treasurer to succeed Anne Martin. Program chairman will be Margaret Harvie, of Richmond, succeeding Helen McGuire.

Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
Green Front Store
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

FOR THE BEST SODAS AND FOUNTAIN SERVICE . VISIT
CHAPPELL'S

A Thoughful Gift For Mother
Go to
Martin the Jeweler

LOOK GOOD IN THE HORSE SHOW
and
Have Your Riding Clothes Cleaned
at
DE LUXE CLEANERS

SHE WANTED A PART IN WINNING THE WAR!
ANN, A REAL AMERICAN GIRL, JOINS THE WAVES

Write or go to nearest Navy Recruiting Station or Officer Procurement for copy of new WAVES booklet.

Library
Teachers College
Farmville, Virginia

OUR THANKS TO CAMP PICKETT

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS TO FRESHMEN, SOPHOMORES

VOLUME XXIII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 17,1944 No. 28

War Council Appointed; Changes Made In Set-Up

14 Students Comprise Group

Fourteen members of the War Council have been appointed, according to an announcement made this week by Harriette Moore, chairman.

Serving as chairman of the executive committee Harriette Moore junior from Gastonia, North Carolina, president of the Student Government. She succeeds Mary Evelyn Pearsall in this position Also on the executive committee are Sara Bird Williams, junior from Woodstock, who is president of the Y. W. C. A., suceeding Frances Lee Hawthorne; Eleanor Wade, junior from Charlottesville, who is the president of the next year's senior class, succeeding Faye Nimmo Webb; Martha Droste, junior from Ronceverte, West Virginia, campus league chairman, succeeding Glenn Anne Patterson; Eleanor Bisese, sophomore from Norfolk, president of the incoming junior class, succeeding Eleanor Wade; and Helen Wilson, junior from Petersburg, who is president of the Athletic Association. Originally the president of the A. A. served as chairman of the physical fitness committee of the War Council, but since this work has been taken over by the physical education department, the president of the A. A. has been made a member of the executive board. Patsy Connelley served as chairman of physical fitness.

Watts Is Air Raid Warden

Mary Walker Watts, junior from Amherst, will serve as air raid warden, succeeding Sue Harper; Jane Waring Ruffin, junior from Charles City, will serve as chairman of publicity, succeeding Ella Banks Weathers; and Mary Anne Jarratt, junior from Jarratt, will head the morale committee, succeeding Louise Bell.

Serving as chairman of First Aid will be Minnie Lee Crumpler, junior of Richmond, succeeding Nell Holloway; Pat Garth, junior from Farmville, will serve as chairman of Red Cross, succeeding Virginia Treakle. Helen McGuire, junior from Grundy, will head the war finance committee, succeeding Frances Craddock.

Replacing the consumer education committee headed this year by Frances Strohecker, will be the college conservation committee headed by Dora Walker Jones, junior from Radford. This committee will include a wider program than the original committee. The etiquette committee headed by Ophelia Whittle, junior from Petersburg, will replace the ritual committee which was headed by Hannah Lee Crawford.

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley is the faculty adviser for the college war council.

Rogers Gives Paper At Science Meeting

Rosalie Rogers, graduate of the 1943 class, was one of the speakers at the meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science which was held in Richmond on May 10. She presented a paper which she had written on "Fungus Infection of the Eggs of the Chesapeake Blue Crab".

Representing S. T. C. faculty at the meeting were Dr. G. W. Jeffers, professor of biology; Dr. F. F. Swertfeger, professor of psychology; Mr. M. Boyd Coyner professor of psychology; and Mr. Raymond French, professor of chemistry. Students attending the meeting were Olive Bradshaw, Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Betty Orcesah, Sally Robertson, and Dottie Sue Simmons.

Rosalie is now enrolled at the College of William and Mary where she is working toward her M. A. degree and is working in the Virginia Laboratory at Yorktown.

Beckner Wins Top Honors In 2-Year KDP Book Contest

Holloway Places In Year Group

Winner of the Personal Library Contest is Gerry Beckner, of Troutville, in the two year group. Winning first place in the one-year group collectors is Nell Holloway, of Purdy. The contest is sponsored by Kappa Delta Pi.

Winning second place in the group of two-year collectors is Jeanne Strick, of Farmville, and second place in the one-year group went to Phyllis Watts, of Lynchburg.

The Personal Library contest, begun on this campus last year, is designed to serve as an incentive to college students to build for themselves a library of books that will be useful and enjoyable in later life.

There is no limit to the type of books in the collection; however, they must be the property of the contestant and must have been collected during time limits set for the contest. The books as explained by those who are sponsoring the contest, should mean something to the owner and not be a mere assortment of books.

The contest started last year for the collection of books over a one year period, but it is designed later on to cover the collections of the four year college period.

2 Girls Represent Business Department

Harriet Dowdy, of Guinea Mills, and Katherine Hutchinson, of Norfolk, will leave Friday, May 19, for Oakland, Tennessee, to represent the Business Education Department, in consideration of positions with the Tennessee Eastman Kodak Company.

A representative of this company visited the school several weeks ago and talked with the girls of the Department.

M.C. Hiner Elected To Advisory Board Of Local Y.W.C.A

Massey Heads Student Chapel

Miss Mary Clay Hiner was unanimously elected at the student body meeting last week as an adviser of the Y. W. C. A. to succeed Mrs. Adele Watkins. Miss Hiner is professor of English.

Margaret Pogue Massey, junior transfer from Hampden-Sydney, has been appointed head of student-day chapel. This automatically makes her an ex-officio member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

Members of the Cabinet include Sara Bird Williams, president; Mary Anne Jarratt, vice-president; Anne Martin, secretary; Minnie Lee Crumpler, treasurer; Agnes Stoakes, freshman counselor.

Also, Jane Anderson, chairman of the Church Cooperative Committee; Shirley Cruser, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee; Betsy Fox, chairman of the Sing Committee; Pat Garth, chairman of the Service Committee; Margie Hewlett, chairman of the Church Cooperative Committee; Sara Moling, chairman of the Publicity Committee; Connie Ozlin, chairman of the Music Committee, Judy Reick, chairman of the Social Committee; Margaret Sheffield, chairman of the Prayers Committee; and Virginia Treakle, chairman of the Membership Committee are members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

Virginia Lee Price is the representative of the town girls and Harriette Moore, president of Student Government as well as Margaret Pogue Massey, head of student-day chapel, are ex-officio members.

Miss Winnie Hiner is chairman of the advisory board, and faculty advisers include Miss Grace Moran, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Dr. G. W. Jeffers, and Dr. Floyd F. Swertfeger. Miss Frances Copenhaver, Baptist Student Secretary, is an ex-officio member of the advisory board.

Notice—Heads Of Organizations

Heads of all organizations, please turn in to the calendar chairman the names of all officers, members of your organization, and first and second choice for meeting time.

Local Kappa Delta Pi Recognizes Upper Quartile of Underclasses

Eleanor Wade, newly elected president of the Beta Epsilon Chaper of Kappa Delta Pi.

Mary Moore McCorkle, retiring president of Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi.

Seventy-three freshmen and sophomores will be the guests of the Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi at the annual reception May 19 at 8 o'clock in the Student Building Lounge. This announcement was made by Eleanor Wade, recently-elected president.

Those in the receiving line for the reception will be Dr. J. L. Jarman; Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the Education Department; Miss Pauline Camper, adviser, Beta Epsilon chapter; Mary Moore McCorkle, retiring president; Eleanor Wade, newly-elected president; Jane Smith, retiring vice-president; Betty Watt, retiring secretary, and Carolyn Caldwell, retiring treasurer.

Gammon, Lancaster Invited

Invitations will be sent to Dr. Edgar Gammon, president of Hampden-Sydney College; and Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, state superintendent of public instruction; as well as to all faculty members on this campus.

Girls receiving invitations are in the upper quartile of scholarship of the two classes, and each of these students has at least a B average during her college career.

Freshmen receiving invitations are Lovice Altizer, Farmville; Lynell Bradshaw, Faber; Julia Braga, Brazil; Beatrice Bruch, Roanoke; Rachel Brugh, Roanoke; Mary Stewart Bufford, Lawrenceville; Mary Butt, Portsmouth; Elizabeth Lee Carter, Concord Depot; Mary Armistead Catlett, Wicomico; Reba Conner, Cluster Springs; Betty Ruth Critz, Critz; Patsy Dale, Homeville; Mil-

Continued on Page 4

6 Will Attend "Y" June Conferences

Theme, Speakers Announced

Six members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet will represent S. T. C. at the summer conferences of Y. W. C. A. cabinets at Blue Ridge, North Carolina, June 8-13. Those elected to attend are Jane Anderson, Farmville; Minnie Lee Crumpler, Suffolk; Shirley Cruser, Norfolk; Mary Anne Jarratt, Jarratt; Anne Martin, Suffolk; and Sara Byrd Williams, Woodstock.

Alternates selected were Margie Hewlett, Richmond; Judy Rieck, West Point; and Margaret Sheffield, Suffolk.

The theme of the conference will be "Christian Conviction, Personal Growth, and Social Action."

Speakers of the conference will be Daniel Day Williams, Associate Professor, Christian Theology, Chicago Theological Seminary; Kathleen MacArthur, chairman Religious Resources, National Y. W. C. A.; and J. W. Nicholson, Professor Hamilton and Church Administration Gammon Theological seminary.

Ford Will Install New Panhel Prexy

Ceremony Includes Chapter Heads

On May 23, Jean Prosise, of Wilson, representting Theta Sigma Upsilon, who is the newly elected president of the Pan-Hellenic Council will be installed by the returing president, Jane Ford.

Other officers to be installed, Evelyn Grizzard, of Drewryville, representative of Phi Zeta Sigma succeeding Evelyn Faw; Marilyn Johnson, of Roanoke, Sigma Sigma Sigma, secretary, succeeding Alice Ni hols, and Betty Brothers, of Suffolk. Gamma Theta, treasurer. The chairman of programs will be Jackie Ritchie, of Richmond, Alpha Sigma Alpha representative, succeeding Cafol Diggs, while Eleanor Bisese, of Norfolk, Mu Omega representative, will be installed as publicity chairman to succeed Julia Eason. The keeper of the records will be Jean Smith, from Williamson, West Virginia, Pi Kappa Sigma representative, succeeding Shirley Cruser, and rushing chairman will be Jane Danby, of Cumberland, Alpha Sigma Tau, to succeed Frances Lee Hawthorne.

At this time the heads of the eight sororities on campus will be installed. Dodie Jones will head Sigma Sigma Sigma, while Carol Diggs will head Gamma Theta. Ruth Brooks will lead Alpha Sigma Alpha. Mu Omega will be led by Shirley Cruser. Martha Higgins will be head of Pi Kappa Sigma, while Alpha Sigma Tau will have Sally Robertson as its head. Virginia Lee Abernathy will lead

Continued on Page 4

Juniors To Name Honorary Member

Friday, May 19, marks the annual Senior Chapel Day, at which time the Junior Class will announce the honorary member of the class of 1945.

Following devotions will be an opening talk by Fay Nimmo, president of the class of '44, to which a response will be given by Eleanor Wade, president of the Junior class.

The Senior class will present the class song, as well as the traditional senior songs. Juniors will march to the Alma Mater under an arch formed by the caps of the seniors. The Juniors will be given the senior privilege of going downtown at ten o'clock.

On Friday, June 2, the annual senior banquet will be at Longwood.

Reception Slated For This Friday

73 Frosh, Sophs Listed, Invited

War Bond Proceeds Will Gratify Wishes

Cincinnati has an answer to the question of what civilian and soldier students at its municipal University of Cincinnati plan to do a decade from now with proceeds from their war bonds. Cincinnati News Record, campus newspaper, made a survey and reports most of those contacted have definite plans, some on the lighter side but many of them predominantly serious.

University co-eds were found in general to look forward to the day they can marry and buy homes. These co-eds have sold more than $150,000 worth of bonds.

And the soldiers, in general, expect the bonds to finance their college educations.

There will be great numbers of shiny new convertibles, jeeps, and airplanes if the students don't change their minds in the next decade, and the car of the future will be red.

One G. I. student is thinking of the day when he can buy the biggest bathtub available and soak for a week; others want to retire and relax for the rest of their lives, and another hopes his bonds will furnish a few of the bare necessities of life, including a tennis court, swimming pool, and private beach.

Co-eds who don't want to settle down to a married career indicate a yen to travel, some planning to watch and aid reconstruction in Europe and the Orient.

"One thing is certain," the newspaper says: "At the close of this war Cincinnati students are going to gratify most of the wishes they have been storing up during the duration."

Jeep Rides, Dinner In Mess Halls Add Fun, Interest, Excitement To Pickett Excursion

Huddle, Gibson Made "Pin-Ups"

The first of the surprises came way back 'bout a week or so ago when Dr. Jarman first told us of the invitation to Pickett. And the surprises resultant therefrom have not ended yet!

Transportation to and from Pickett last Saturday was provided for one and all in huge buses seating as many as 50 (when the aisle was filled with chairs!) And while on the Post itself, in addition to foot power, we were taken from place to place in those army trucks that we see passing through town now and then filled with men. It looked a little strange to see the girls piled in the back instead of grinning khaki-clad men. The more fortunate of the girls had opportunity to scoot around camp in a jeep, and all who did have already made some sort of vow that they're going to own one when the war's over!

Upon arriving at Pickett we were greeted by the WACs and men, all eager to show us a good time. And they very well did. No one could claim a dull moment whether she went to WAC headquarters or to the WAC medical or to one of the various Infantry regiments. And each one has a different tale to tell of the day.

Some of the groups were shown through the hospital units, some were given signal demonstrations, and some were shown all kinds of U. S. and captured enemy weapons. Before the end of the day, all of the groups went into some of the barracks. When she saw none of the traditional Pinup girls plastered on the walls, one S. T. C'er got inquisitive and inquired if the men had any. Whereupon half a dozen of so of the soldiers dashed to their neatly packed trunks and pulled 'em out—Pinup girls of every kind, from the type that are picked up in Panama to the "wife". And one of our number, one Ruby Huddle, was selected as "Pin-Up Girl" of the 78th Division, with Shirley Gibson running a close second.

One of the groups who went to the part of the Post with the WACs spent part of the afternoon as green recruits and marched as well as they could (which wasn't too well since when told that the "right" was the hand she wrote with, one southpaw went wrong every time.)

Visitors Shown Barracks, Weapons

But most remembered by most will be the supper in the various mess halls. Almost every group had a different menu, but all are yet talking about how good the food was and how much there was. And about the huge no-handle mugs for drinking!

The all-WAC retreat ceremony was a new thing to us and we found it quite impressive. And we were really glad to find out that Camp Pickett isn't the "hole" we had always thought it to be from the description of the men who are stationed there. Of course, we were warned that all of Pickett had been dusted especially for us, that the food in the mess halls was not usually that good, that we were getting something special when we got chocolate milk and napkins, that the seat in the jeeps ahd been dusted especially for us. But you can't prove it by us that it's ever any different!

Continued on Page 4

Our Thanks - - - - - - To Camp Pickett

We, of the student body, and we feel sure that it goes as well for the faculty and other personnel, of S. T. C. are truly indebted to the 78th Division, to the WAC detachments, to the Special Services office and to the officials of Camp Pickett for a magnificent day on the post last Saturday.

To enter an army camp in war time on the basis on which we visited Pickett last week was a novel experience for most of us. Even those of us who had toured army camps before had never seen them in just that light.

For the first time off the screen we saw WACs in operation, we saw how they live and work, and the results of their duties. We saw how our brothers and fathers and sweethearts are living in similar camps all over the nation. We were shown many of our weapons, and some of those of the enemy which are being used against us. We rode in jeeps and in army trucks. We saw the men still in their camouflage gear returning from long hikes and drills. We saw the barracks where the men and the WACs live. We sat on their beds and ate in their mess halls.

Nothing was spared in making the afternoon and evening pleasant as well as profitable, interesting as well as educational. Why? For WAC recruiting? Perhaps that did enter in. But more important, it was an attempt on the part of one army camp to give to civilians who will form the backbone of tomorrow's world an insight among them now and a stronger bond of sympathy between them when the war ends.

Yes, it was a great day for all concerned. Those who missed the trip really missed an experience that those of us who went shall not soon forget. Perhaps we shall not remember for always the number of people we ate with or the speed and range of the weapons we saw. But the overall impression will remain.

To Miss Wheeler and her USO committee must go a word of commendation for the ease and facility with which the 500 odd people were transplanted from Farmville to Camp Pickett. And to each and every man and woman at Camp Pickett who had anything to do with making our trip so worthwhile goes our appreciation and thanks.

Which Way To Woman's Part In Winning the War?

In days like these, days of crisis and uncertainty, it is hard for us to know just what to do. There are some who emphasize the importance of finishing a college career, while others are putting the stress on military service and defense jobs.

There seems to be good points and bad points on both sides. The completion of a college course is a great pleasure is a a college course is a great pleasure to the persons who complete the course as well as a great help to the country as a whole. We need to have clear, unprejudiced minds in order to think straight, and college training develop these minds. Of course, there is the financial end which plays no small part in the lives of many college girls. Perhaps many students feel that now they can get good jobs, make the needed money, and after the war, come back to college and complete the courses .But how many of these girls will come back to college is the question which, of course, cannot at this point be answered. Therefore, it seems that for the largest possible number, the better thing to do is to try to continue our education now to completion and then be fit mentally to do whatever is demanded for us after we have sheepskins in hand.

The biggest question today it what will the girls who are graduating do to help win this World War. It is well that all girls' minds do not run in the same direction, for what would this world be like if every girl were a school teacher, a Red Cross worker, a WAC or a WAVE? There are countless opportunities ahead for girls with degrees. perhads more opportunities than ever before in the history of the world. Some girls are definitely fitted to be teachers, others secretaries, and stenographers, still others are definitely fitted to be in the military service of the country, releasing men for vital front-line duty.

Graduates, your country is demanding big things of you today, and it is up to you to enter that thing which you think you can do better than any other thing. "The most that you can be is the least that you should be for your country."

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1944

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

The brightest news of the war this week is the allied advance in Italy. Now after week of silence on the Anzio beachead, the spring offensive has again turned this section into a blazing battleground. British, Indian, French, and American troops have all joined together in smashing the Gustav line. Despite German resistance we have captured at least ten towns and villages extending from the Gulf of Gaeta inland as far as Cassino. Supporting this line drive is the 15th Air Force. Blasting railroads and the strategic Brenner Pass, their help is essential in the drive to Rome.

* * *

Together with the bombers from Italy, Allied planes have poured 130,000 tons of bombs on Europe during the past month. This does not include the added tonnage of Russian bombers. German resistance is weakening as this three way air offensive continues and prepares the way for the coming invasion.

* * *

In Yugoslavia Tito and his Partisans have broken through German lines in Macedonia and defeated German troops in Slovenia. Even the Greek parisans have been rebelling. The real offering of these fighting parisans will be fully realized when they rise in their strength on D-Day.

* * * *

Changing the scene from Europe to the northern Chinese front we find the Japanese still on the offensive. Though the Chinese have recaptured Suipingand, breaking the enemy hold on Peiping-Hankow railroad, there is still compensation for the threatened fall of Loyang. If the Japanese gain control of Loyang it is inevitable that they will soon regain the railroad too.

* * *

In North Burma General Stilwell's Chinese forces are moving toward Kamaing, Mogaung, and Myitkyina. On the Imphal and Kohina fronts we are also pushing the Japs back. Though the Bedo road and the Assam-Bengal rail lines are safe for the present, we cannot be too optimistic, for until we can aid the whole Burma area we are not completely secure.

PICKINGS FROM PICKETT

After the grand sojourn to Pickett last Saturday, there has been talk of little else since. Not only the soldiers, but the WACs, showed everyone a most delightful trip—one that will not be quickly forgotten.

Hollywood has its pin-up girls, and so does S. T. C.—this time it's our own Ruby Huddle and Shirley Gibson. The pride of the 78th.

It certainly didn't take Lynn Sprye long to get organized. She met a boy and three minutes later she has a date for finals!

Never let it be said that "Leicky" and Gin didn't capture the hearts of the Engineers. Even to such an extent that the boys packed a lunch for the girls to protect themselves against starvation on Sunday. That's what we call real hospitality!

We cannot go farther without mentioning the Lt. Holes who claimed several beasts with his joke of arranging jeep rides! Few of them materialized! Nevertheless, he has been quite the talk!

Speaking of jeeps, Ann Christian certainly managed to do her share of riding in them. Six rides, to be exact!

It is rumored that the lucky girls, Mary Walker Watts and Lucy Messick went to the airport. Some girls get all the breaks!

Jo Beatty definitely proved the advantage of mind over a broken jaw when two boys were about to come to blows over which should dance with her first. Jo suggested flipping a coin. It worked!!

What we want to know is why Phe Whittle was riding on the back seat ALONE.

Poor Betsy Fox—all those men and all those dancers, and she couldn't find a jitterbug! Poor kid—her day was ruined!

Nancy Lee Weeks captured a superman, but what tactics!

Just how many girls held the lucky numbers Saturday night, lucky enough to get a final hug at the close of the game? It's a real curiosity, the game.

Saturday didn't exactly mark the end to the whole affair between STC and Pickett. Sunday the campus was swamped with the khaki-clad gentlemen. (Tough luck, Navy, the army was one up on you this go round).

The most amusing incident Sunday was Marilyn Johnson's refusal to acknowledge an anonymous note sent to her by some "Picketteer". She later discovered the sender was one of her best friends from home. One never knows, does one, Johnnie?

This week Liz Goodwin claims the army, but not Pickett. No wonder, with two calls in one day from Arkansas.

And to get away from the immediate past, we still want to know about the young scientist from VPI that so infuriated Mary Lib Harvey on the bus recently. And there's also a question about Jeanne Richardson and her fascination for the younger members of the male sex.

the "Y"

By MARGIE HEWLETT

Be sure to sign up for little sisters on the Y bulletin board this week.

The old and new cabinets of the Y had a very successful set-up conference at Longwood last Thursday afternoon. The student body was invited out at 5 o'clock for cokes and buns.

We are sending six delegates to a Y. W. C. A. summer conference at Blueridge, North Carolina. It will be held from June 8 to June 13. We hope these girls will bring back many helpful ideas for us.

The judges of "Sing" were unable to come to a decision as to whom the prize should go, so it is a tie between the sophomores and the juniors. Congratulations!

We are very glad to welcome Miss Mary Clay Hiner back on the advisory board of the Y. W. C. A.

The B. S. U. council entertained the faculty at an open house at the Baptist Student Center last Thursday night.

Seniors are going to lead "Prayers" for the remainder of

Continued on Page 4

STARS IN SERVICE

Question of the Week

What did you like best of the Camp Pickett trip?

Catherine Christian: The WAC acrobatist.

Marlyn Bell: The Colonel who let me beat him playing dice.

Mary Elizabeth Grizzard: The thoughfulness and politeness of the boys.

Shirley Pierce: Captain Shuttleworth and the jeeps.!

Betty Critz: The way the soldiers paid back our visit.

Frances Cleaton: THE MEN!

Ann Marie Umstead: That wonderful band that played for the WACs.

Helen McGuire and Marilyn Johnson: That kidnapped jeep ride!

Margaret Walton—The good ole mechanized cavalry.

Betty Watts: The dance was the best!

"Monk" Meeks—I liked everything the same—Oh, yeah!!

Blanche Steele: That band and that parade.

Mary Lib Harvey: "Georgia Tech."

Gene Tucker: Their hair cuts!!

Betty Albright: The ride in the jeep!

Dana McClellan: Bob!

Charlie Hop: "Peroxy".

Theresa "The" Hutt: Meeting the General, even though he was in the hospital!

Harriet Cale: Dancing all night with a guy named Sam.

Betty Bridgforth: Standing in front of the electric fan!

Beverly Peebles: "Twas all perfect!

Lee Carter: Tommy—Six feet-two!

Doris Smith: Men, jeeps, and everything!

Ann Jones: Confirmed my belief that all the cute boys are in the Army.

Jean Button: The nice thick pork chops.

Connie Ozlin: It's not original, but I like the men.

Ginny Caviness: Everything!

Lucie McKenry: Standing in the chow line!

Lou Baker: Being drilled by the WACs. Oh, yeah!

Miss Camper: The lieutenant!

Joscelyn Gillum: Trip through the hospital with a WAC.

Ann Shaw: The dance.

Lucy Messick: Going out to the airport.

Miss Mix: Eating in the mess with the boys.

TeaRoom Supplies Food Wants In Breakfast, Lunch, Banquets

"Susie, one tomato juice."

Butcher's, Foley's, the laundry, the power house, and nearly every other person and place has been featured, and now the Tea Room and Mrs. Tabb must come in for a place in these columns.

The Tea Room, situated in a sort of basement like part of the labyrinth of the school, is one of the places that can always be counted on to be cool and can always be counted on to have some delectable surprise that is edible.

Mrs. Tabb, who runs the place, is one of those few people who are born with a knack and a love for good cooking. And we the students reap the benefits (and the inches on our hips).

Between classes in the morning there's always a mob scene as those fortunates who have a free period flock to get their breakfast. "Scrambled egg on toast" and coffee—'twould be interesting to know just how many times those words have been written on these small pieces of paper for orders. And it seems that the Tea Room is the termination of most of the allowances on this campus.

Breakfast is served only until 9:45, and if you're one minute later, it's just tough. Mrs. Tabb just must have time sometime in the morning to make those delicious lunches. (What can beat that lemon pie with merangue just inches deep or that ice box cake?) And they don't grow on trees.

But between breakfast and lunch, those who have to trudge to classes each period slip down to the Tea Room for a cool glass of milk or a hot cup of coffee depending on their mood. And you can always find Mr. Holton, Mr. French, and Mr. Graham there sometime in the morning for one of those snacks. The faculty as well as the students are bitten by the bug to get good food.

Officially the Tea Room day ends at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. But there's an extra bustle there once in a while and at such times you can be sure there's a banquet cooking somewhere. And oh, those banquets. In the semidarkness of the candle light no one can see how many of those rolls you eat and if you're not sitting up too near the head, it's quite easy to tuck six or seven under the belt of the evening dress.

Every now and then you hear someone griping about the Tea Room. "Why does it take so long?" "And why close at 4. We'd like supper there sometimes." But it's all part of the school girl in us to gripe and we don't mean a word of it. We couldn't possibly get along without the Tea

Continued on Page 4

Pegasus Presents Annual Horse Show At Longwood Ring Saturday, May 20

Program Chairman, Judges Named

The ring at Longwood will be the setting Saturday afternoon of the annual Farmville Horse show and riding exhibition, which promises to be one of the most outstanding events of the school year. Not only will the school stables be active in the four-hour program, but entries have come in from Amelia, Prospect, Rice, Clarksville, Cumberland, and the usual percentage of riders in Farmville.

Beginning at two p. m., the afternoon's schedule will include twelve classes. They are as follows: Class One, Beginners S. T. C.; horses to be shown at walk, and trot. Class Two, three-gaited saddle horses, open; horses to be shown at walk,trot and canter. Class Three, Senior Beginners, S. T. C.; horses to be shown at walt, trot, canter, left lead only, to be judged on horsemanship.

Class Four will be Jumpers, open; horses to start at three feet. Class Five will be an open class. Pairs of Riders, which will be judged on timing and precision as well as similarity of horses. Class Six, 5-gaited saddle horses to be shown at walk, trot, canter, pace, and rack. Open.

The Intermediate riders in Class Seven will be expected to show their mounts at a walk, trot and canter with right and left leads. Class eight, Children's horsemanship, will be open to riders sixteen and under. Horses to be shown at walk, trot, and canter. Class Nine, Advanced S. T. C., will not only show their horses at any of 5 gaits, bust must be prepared to jump, figure of 8, gallop, mount, dismount, ride bare-back or side saddle as the judges see fit.

Class Ten will be an open class, the Old Virginia Riders, in which the horse will be shown at any one gait the entire period. Class Eleven will be Students, local; and Class Twelve, the Costume event, may include any kind of costume on any kind of mount. In all classes, War stamps and blue ribbons will be awarded those placing first, and ribbons to those coming in second, third and fourth.

General chairmen for the show is riding instructor Joyce Cheatwood; judges for the occasion will be Mr. Carl Hopkins of Lynchburg, and Miss Elizabeth Burger of Farmville.

Hunnicutt, Waid Win In Tennis Tourney

Spotswood Hunnicutt and Billie Waid, sophomores, were winners of the all day tennis tournament held last week. This was just a trial tournament held to give the girls practice for the color cup tournament.

The color cup tennis tournament will begin this Thursday, May 18. These are to be double matches and no singles will be played. All entries must be in by Wednesday night so that the schedule can be posted on the A. A. bulletin board Thursday morning. See Phyllis Watts, manager of tennis for the A. A. for information.

Um - m . . . Delectable

He'll say you're his favorite dish in your Many Muffet cotton—cool, captivating for summer days and dates. 9-1

BALDWIN'S

Left Lead

"Class number One is entering the ring . . . " at exactly 2 o'clock this Saturday afternoon at the Longwood riding ring, and if you are at all equestrian minded, you'll be there for the kick-off! Time has marched steadily on and on, until at last it's time for the Big Day, and it needs only the blow of a bugle to herald its greatness.

There's been a regular Old Home Week, with Jean Carter beside herself with Joy at the dramatic appearance of Clairport, who stepped out of a truck just as the girls were leaving the stables, and Joyce kicking over the traces at the sight of Harry on Sunday. All we need is for some one to get thrown off King Cole, right at our feet, and it will seem like old times. Even Will is back . . . and so is Heavy . . . but we can't exactly include them in the horsy category. It's even a temptation to turn up the little dirt road to the old stables, since we've been using the front way to Longwood again.

But there's always a new way to get to Longwood! Between Silent Yokum and "Influential" Graham and Joyce, there's a new obstacle course on the trail, and you haven't lived unless you've kept straight up the hillside and down by the cliff and through the woods and over the creek then make up the new trail to the ring. It's all right as long as you're on something sure-footed like Mac isn't, but if you're on anything who leaps like Nellie or Midnight, may we suggest a parachute for your inevitable bound to the left!

Rusticity is all well and good, but there's nothing like the charm and freshness of limey whitewash to brighten up the fence around the ring . . . and the overalls of the weary females doing the painting. To get us started it was again "Influential" Graham (Sarah to you) who finally found the way to get out there. Even if the first shift did miss supper to get the job going, their results were well worth it.

Elise finally met what she's the namesake of. An old cart came lumbering into the stableyard on Monday to park a load of sawdust. The spirited old nag drawing the affair answers to the name of Lightnin'!

Prospects look low for Flicka. She's still lame. As is Cindy. Here's hoping they both get all right again before Saturday, because a lot depends upon both of them.

After all this time for practice, Queenie is coming into her own with the nicest little trot ever. For a two year old, she does allright, and B. Ellis has something to look forward to in riding her often in the show.

And all you beginners, don't forget you're "in" this thing, too. Riders are asked to wear white shirts and ties, and coats while they're in the ring. Also, girls who are responsible for getting the horses to and from Longwood have been notified. They will meet at the stables a 1 o'clock, ready to ride. Girls are asked not to bring a horse in unless you have been assigned one by the commit-

Continued on Page 4

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to Kleanwell Cleaners

Opposite Postoffice

See Betty Bridgeforth

Our Representative

Peoples National Bank

Farmville, Virginia

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Softball season is in full swing now, with the first game of the season having been played last Monday between the seniors and sophomores. Since this is the last major sport in gaining points toward the color cup, it is up to you all who are not on the team, to come out and yell for your side. Plenty of class spirit will help to make the game more interesting for the spectators, and will give the players the feeling that they are being well supported by their class. Since this is a round robin tournament, you still have a chance even now to come out to the athletic field to the next game. Let's see that class spirit!

GYMNASTICS

With a loud ring, the alarm clock startles you out of sound slumber, and realizing it is 6:00 a. m. you jump out of bed and into your gym suit, and you are off to gymnastics class through the early morning dew, etc. . . . Yes, we have here in S.T.C. a group of girls who three times a week can jump out of bed for a 6:30 a. m. class in the gym under the direction of Miss Olive T. Iler. It really isn't as horrible as it sounds, for once you are up and awake, the class is really interesting. Marching to formal commands, taking several different kinds of exercises, and learning to play relay games are a part of the class each morning.

What an appetite you have developed for breakfast before the quarter past seven bell has rung, and even those girls, who never get up for breakfast at all, trek toward the dining room hungry as a bunch of bears.

DANCING

So you don't think social dancing is a good exercise, or something that won't exercise your muscles for you! Well, my friend, you are very much mistaken. Have you ever been to an U.S.O. dance or to any dance where the number is twenty men to one woman? There my friend is where the exercise comes in. First you have the gilder type, who swoops across the floor knocking everything in his way aside, while you hold on for dear life. Then we have the jitterbug fanatic who insists upon making you look like an acrobatic star. And then there is the type who can't dance but insists upon trying it on your feet as well as his own. Last but not least, is the calm sort of person who makes dancing a pleasure, because he stays with the music and uses nice easy steps. Some of us have to spend the next day in bed, after such a bout, but we really wouldn't miss it for the world.

Stay in the game, and until next week good luck to our class teams in all forthcoming tournaments.

S. T. C. Students

Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA

Wilson's Firestone Store

311 West Third Street

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

College Shoppe

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
(High Street)

BUTCHER'S

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films

Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll

Southside Drug Store

Color Cup To Be Presented Friday

The annual presentation of the color cup will take place this Friday. As is the usual custom, the cup is presented on Senior Chaped Day by the ex-president of the AA Council.

This feat is always a long-awaited event each school year as both teams have worked hard to obtain the highest number of points thus enabling them to win their streamers on the cup.

The color cup is presented to the class teams who have been victorious in winning the most points in the various sports on the campus during the school year.

Patronize PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES

UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Archery Tournament Set For This Week

The archery tournament, which had to be postponed last week because of insufficient entries, will be played this Friday. This tournament gives points toward the color cup, and much competition is expected.

Mildred Shifflet is in charge of the archery tournament for this spring. Archery tournaments are played twice each school term, fall quarter and spring quarter.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.

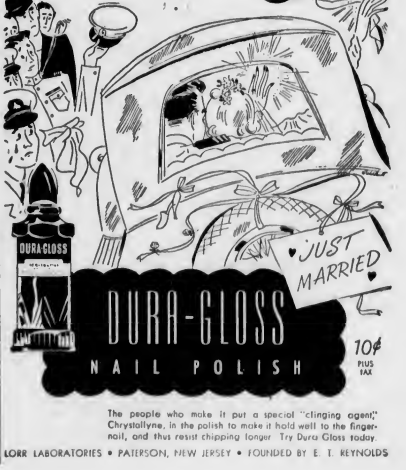
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Cosmetics

DOROTHY PERKINS
and
BOTANY—FINE COSMETICS

50c to $2.00

PLUS 20 PER CENT TAX



First Floor

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

Now the organ's strains are dimming —
Debby and her love are flown —
O'er the road of life they're skimming —
While the losers, lifeless, moan.

There goes Debby, happ'ly wedded!
(May her life be milk and moss!)
And, my dears, if you'd be headed
In her steps, try DURA-GLOSS!

The people who make it put a special "clinging agent," Chrystallyne, in the polish to make it hold well to the fingernail, and thus resist chipping longer. Try Dura Gloss today.

LORR LABORATORIES • PATERSON, NEW JERSEY • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

Girls Model Date Dresses in Chintz, Chambray, Linen

After the visit to Camp Pickett dates seem even more plentiful than before, so how 'bout a few words on date dresses? There were just all kinds on parade at Pickett last Saturday, some more elaborate than others, some just simple cottons that you can whip up yourself in less than no time.

Chambray is always neat and good looking. If you missed Mary Walker Watt's neat number, better go see it. It's a light blue-grey jumper trimmed with red embroidery. She wore with it a white silk blouse with a gathered neckline.

Gwen Ackiss modeled a beige linen with big white pearl buttons, under a brown tailored jacket. The linen was found cool and comfortable and Phi Whittle wore it in a peach suit. Her jacket had no lapels and short sleeves and was as tailored and trim as could be. Fay Johnson had something of the same sort in a darker wine.

Marilyn Bell was up-to-the-minute in a jumper with deep cut neckline and no frills, a god-send to any wardrobe.

The slick chintz is still quite the thing and Jo Beatty wore it in a two piece flowered dress with smart peplum. Frances Seward has the chintz in brown and yellow with a low cut ruffled neckline.

Olive Bradshaw is continually appearing in tiered skirts and gay thin blouses—excellent and informal for dating. And Lou Baker has one of those exquisite piques with lace insertions.

New trends this spring seem to be toward more cottons, lower and rounder necklines, long waists and "different dresses". And already the white ruffled pinafore has staged a comback—a "must" in every girl's wardrobe, it does all sorts of things for other dresses and is just the thing for daytime dating.

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

tee.

We hope Mary Sterrett can get more cooperation from Flash Saturday than she did last time she jumped him. The little black was in fine shape . . . but he came down once in the middle of the jump. Only casualty equalled a broken finger nail, and first aid was rendered immediately, so there were no further complications.

It isn't long now. The horses won't be ridden Friday; Saturday a. m. will be spent getting them ready for the afternoon. And as optimism of the riders ever grows, we're forced to think of the jockey who says he won the Kentucky Derby by whispering into his horse's ear:

"Roses are red,
Violets are blue;
Horses what lose
Are made into glue!"

Best o' luck,

Pegasus

Panhel Prexy

Continued from Page 1

Theta Sigma and Mary Sterrett will be head of Phi Zeta Sigma.

Alternates who will be installed are Kitty Maddox, from Sigma Sigma Sigma; Betsy Caldwell, from Gamma Theta; Mary Walker Watts, from Alpha Sigma Alpha; and Helen Apperson, from Mu Omega. Also, Margaret McIntyre, from Pi Kappa Sigma; Ann Carter, from Alpha Sigma Tau; Caroline Huddle, Theta Sigma Upsilon, and Roberta Davis, Phi Zeta Sigma.

OUR BIGGEST EVENT OF THE YEAR

Newberry Day

STARTS

Thursday, April 17th

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Farmville's Newest and Finest

5-10-25c Store

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

ELIZABETH TENNENT

This week the personality spotlight is turned on "der Feuhrer's face"—in case you don't recognize her, it's Liz Tennent. She's played the part in so many entertainments that the "Heil" salute and goose step have become her second nature. And a good nature it is too. Always ready for any emergency—there's never a dull moment when Liz is around. But she always insists, she has an "inner soul" which very few understand or know about. Probably that's her serious side for, strangely enough, she has one. Very appreciative of music and good books she is quite talented with the pen, both in writing and drawing. Liz was past editor of the Colonnade whi h she has dubbed the "Lemonade". Being Senior Class Historian, Liz with a wicked gleam in her eyes has promised to reveal all on the morning of June 5th.

Liz has been a true leader of the Senior class not by virtue of offices held but by her boundless creative imagination which has guided our productions, circuses, and sings. For her, all the world's a stage and she's the playwright director, and actor in most of her undertakings. But she's all this and more besides—she even wields a nifty needle and makes many of her clothes.

Our favorite "hangnail" sketch of her is; she loves Joe Cotten, Oscar Wilde's poetry, to argue, dancing, sleep, travel and big bad Irishmen! She detests the word "attitude", cauliflower, responsibility, Jimmy Durante, and bridge.

By and by, should you chance to be in New York six years from now, look Liz up in her exclusive dress shop. If you feel frowzy, she'll overhaul you for a maximum. Her dress creations are masterpieces of camouflage.

The Y

Continued from Page 2

the quarter. "Insincerities-Conscious and Unconscious" is the topic for this week. "Dualism in Ourselves", "The Mask", and "Rationalizations" are the daily themes for the rest of the week.

The Baptist Training Union is having a weiner roast at Willis Mountain Saturday night. All Baptist girls are invited, and everyone expecting to come must sign up on the Y bulletin board by 8 o'clock tonight.

For the best sandwiches in Town

SHANNON'S

Say it with Flowers
Say it with Ours

COLLINS FLORIST

Full Fashioned
Hose, 51 Gauge
79c

ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

Local Organizations Have Spring Picnics

The A. S. T. sorority had a picnic at Longwood, Friday afternoon. Miss Bedford and Miss Nichols were present.

The Spanish Club members were entertained at a picnic at Logwood Friday afternoon. Miss Barksdale and Miss Draper, faculty sponsors, were present.

Phi Zeta Sigma sorority is having a picnic this afternoon at Longwood. Miss Willa London, faculty adviser, Miss Lila London and Miss Gleaves, will atttend.

Kappa Delta Pi

Continued from Page 1

dred Daniel, Roanoke; Alice Burke Davis, Phenix; Martha Droste, Roncerverte, West Virginia; Martha Russell East, South Boston; Margaret Eliett, Jennings Ordinary; Virginia Farrier, Farmville; Eva Mae Fleming, Chula; Evelyn Hair, Danville; Ethel Halsey, Rapidan; Janice Halstead, Norfolk; Louise Harrell, Suffolk; Anna Stuart Headlee, Norfolk; Ruby Huddle, Rural Retreat; and Sue Hundley, Suffolk.

Also, Luverta Joyner, Carrollton; Elizabeth Cole Lewis, Hickory; Sue McCorkle, Lexington; Nancy Parrish, Manassas; Mabbot Perkins, Petersburg; Betty Rives, McKenny; Doris Smith, Victoria; Gertrude Stables, Wilson; Margaret Walton, Martinsville; Nancy Whitehead, Kecoughtan; Mary Walker Williams, Holcomb Rock; Frances Wood, Waynesboro; Virginia Woodward, Chuckatuck; and Connie Young, Covington.

Sophomores receiving invitations are Betty Adams, Richmond; Mildred Altice, Rocky Mount; Jane Anderson, Farmville; Eleanor Bisese, Norfolk; Anna Lee Blanton, Cumberland; Carolyn Bobbitt, South Hill; Beverly Bohon, Roanoke; Lucy Bowling, Farmville; Alice Buck, Baltimore, Maryland; Emily Carper, Rocky Mount; Shirley Cruser, Norfolk; Loulsa Dawson, Lynchburg; Eula Belle Doggett, Isle of Wight; Harriette Dowdy, Guinea Mills; Florence Godwin, Smithfield; Evelyn Grizzard, Drewryville; Margie Hewlett, Richmond; Margaret Hickman, Clifton Forge, and Kathryn Hutchinson, Norfolk.

Also Nancy Ingle, Covington; Rosalie Jones, Richmond; Catherine Lynch, Lebanon; Katherine Maddox, Lynchburg; Ann Martin, Suffolk; Dorothy Overcash, Hampden-Sydney; Connie Ozlin, Chase City; Margaret Pattie, Glasgow, Scotland; and Margaret Sheffield, Suffolk; Margaret Smith, Farmville; Agnes Stokes, Kenbridge; Virginia Treakle, Farmville; Harriet Weger, Newport News; and Betty Ann Wimbish, Rocky Mount.

Nannie Webb is chairman of the refreshment committee, and Alice Feltig, Betty Watts, and Mary Franklin Woodward are in charge of invitations.

Gifts for every occasion
At
Martin the Jeweler

Have your winter clothes cleaned
At
DE LUXE CLEANERS
before packing them

Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
Green Front Store
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

FOR THE BEST SODAS AND FOUNTAIN SERVICE VISIT
CHAPPELL'S

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

The most important trip made this week-end was the jaunt to Camp Pickett. Many and varied was the fun offered there. But in spite of this magnet to hold the girls at school this week end, many went home for a visit with the folks, or to Richmond to see the opera.

To Richmond went Margaret Aebersold, Bernice Copenhaver, Jo Eades, Peggy Fink, Shirley Easterly, Ann Dickerson, Nancy Lee Barrett, Katherine Burford, Pauline Barnes, Emma Broyles, Lucy Bralley, Nancy Blair, Geneva Coleman, Ann Curley, Sue Hildreth, Lucy Harvle, Emlly Humphries, Rosa Hill, Rosalie Jones, Sara Jeffreys, Margaret Harvie, and Margie Hewlett.

To Roanoke went Betty Jane Austin, Ann Brushwood, Helen Cobbs, Barbara Dickerson, Mary Ann Dove, Jean Daniel, Gussie Himes, Evelyn Goodman, and Vivian Edmunds.

To Lynchburg went Margaret Alvis, Jean Arington, Mary W. Calvert and Jane Conson. To Lexington went Helen Apperson, and Betty Lou Haywood.

Della Gregory went home to South Boston; Malinda Fox visited in Eastville, and Eula Bella Doggett and Florence Godwin went to Isle of Wight.

Visiting Ruthie Dugger in Denbigh, was Vivian Gwaltney. In Virginia Beach visiting Lucy Manson, were Dora Walker Jones, Mary Watkins and Nancy Harrell. Leah Jordan, Julia Eason and Freddie Butt visited Nannie Sours in Chatham.

Elizabeth Bennett visited Ruth and Lillian Stables in Wilson.

In Norfolk for the week end were Thelma Diggs and Beverly Foone.

Staff Entertains With Annual Banquet

The annual banquet for the "Rotunda" staff was held Thursday evening in the college tea room. Guests included Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. S. M. Holton, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lancaster.

Pickett Trip

Continued from Page 1

Fortunately the rain didn't start until most all of the girls and the men were safely under the protective roof of the field house. And then the dance started off with a bang. The WACs put on a fashion parade for the benefit of us, their visitors, that we might get a whole picture of the WAC's regalia, and special talent from both the WACs and the men helped entertain us during the orchestra intermissions. There were mountains of sandwiches and oceans of cokes and more men than we've ever seen at one time before.

So when we piled back in the buses, Farmville bound, we were dead tired, but full of happy memories of a lovely afternoon and evening. Camp Pickett turned up here on Sunday, but we liked the camp so much that we're going back again—sometime.

Tea Room

Continued from Page 2

Room and If we do find fault, it's just because we're made of the stuff that's going to find something wrong with the land beyond the Pearly Gates!

From Major General Hayes to the women of State Teachers College

Probably no other group of young American women has so much to offer the accomplishment of the final victory as college-trained seniors such as you.

You have the education and training for leadership, the schooled discipline of mind and body, and a background of appreciation of the responsibilities of your generation in the world of tomorrow, the world of peace.

The Army urgently needs you and the contribution you can make toward peace and final victory. I am confident that you will seriously consider this call of your country.

Philip Hayes
Major General, U. S. Army
3rd Service Command, Commanding.

Find out today about your place in the Women's Army Corps. Learn how you can use your background, your aptitude in one of 239 vital Army jobs.

Clip the coupon below, and mail it at once. You will be sent an interesting illustrated booklet explaining the opportunities the WAC offers you—the valuable experience the Army gives you, the deep satisfaction you'll feel in helping to speed America's victory.

Special deferment now offered college women!

If you want to finish your college semester before starting your Army career, you can enlist in the WAC now and arrange to be called to active duty later—any time within the next 4 months.

You must be at least 20 years old before joining the WAC.

THE ARMY NEEDS WACS...
THE WAC NEEDS YOU!
WOMEN'S ARMY CORPS

Mail this coupon for Free Booklet

U. S. ARMY RECRUITING STATION
Room 512 Parcel Post Bldg.
Richmond, Va.

I should like complete information about the WAC.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ Age _____
State _____ Phone Number _____

REMEMBER HONOR CODE
DURING EXAMS

The Rotunda

AU REVOIR
TO
MISS MARY

VOLUME XXIII — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY MAY 24, 1944 — No. 29

3 Frosh, 2 Sophs Become Members Of College Choir

13 Girls Placed On Probation

Five new members were recently elected to membership in the College Choir, Alfrd H. Strick, head of the department of music, has revealed.

Girls receiving membership were Dorothy Bennett, Jean Button, and Evelyn Goodman, freshmen from Roanoke; Nell Scott, sophomore from Stuart; and Margaret Verell, sophomore from Newport News.

Girls now on probation who are looking forward to choir membership are Louise Baker, freshman from Roanoke; Ann Carter, freshman from Cumberland; Rose Cahndler, freshman from Clover; Constance Christian, freshman from Fort Monroe, Vathryn Cregar, freshman from Tazewell; Mary Morton Fontaine, freshman from Martinsville; Louise Harrell, freshman from Suffolk; Dorothy Humbert, freshman from Troutville; and Joy Keenan, freshman from Raphine.

Also, Lucie McKenry, sophomore from Manassas; Virginia Lee Price, sophomore from Farmville; Martha Watson, sophomore from Richmond; and Constance Young, freshman from Covington.

Peck Will Present APS Scholarship Key At Chapel Exercises

Celebrating the fourteenth anniversary of the Delta Chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma, on this campus, Miss Mary E. Peck, faculty adviser, will award the scholarship key given by the National Association of Alpha Phi Sigma to the student with the highest scholastic average for the longest period of time. The presentation will be made during the chapel hour on Friday, May 26, at which time members of Alpha Phi Sigma will have entire charge of the program.

Alpha Phi Sigma recognizes three degrees of proficiency, novice, apprentice and master. The master's degree is obtained by holding an average of B plus for two consecutive years. Girls recognized at the meeting last week for having obtained the master's degree are Mary Catlett from Wicomico; Margaret Eliett, a freshman from Jennings Ordinary; Kitty Maddox, sophomore from Lynchburg; and Dorothy Overcash, sophomore from Hampden-Sydney.

In order to obtain an apprentice degree an Alpha Phi Sigma member must make an average of B for two consecutive quarters. Girls who received this degree, are Lovice Altizer, freshman from Farmville; Beverly Bohon, freshman from Roanoke; Aloise Boswell, sophomore from Chase City; Rachel Brugh, freshman from Roanoke; Mary Stuart Buford, freshman from Lawrenceville; Reba Connor, freshman from Cluster Springs, Betty Critz, freshman from Critz; Patsy Dale, freshman from Homeville; Eula Belle Doggett, freshman from Isle of Wight; Martha East, freshman from South Boston; Virginia Far-

Continued on Page 4

Mundy Elected Head Of Local Latin Club

Helen Mundy, of Chatham, is the newly-elected president of the Latin Club, succeeding Jane Anderson. Succeeding Margaret Barksdale as vice-president is Lee Carter, of Concord.

To succeed Katherine Johnson in the office of secretary and treasurer are two girls, Catherine Varner, of Farmville, as secretary and Beverly Boone, of Norfolk as treasurer.

After Years of Loyal Service To Alma Mater, Cox Resigns

The time is after lunch or dinner any day from Thursday till Saturday, any week in the year. The scene is in the office next to the Home Office. The "Dramatis Personnae" are anywhere from one-fourth to one-half of the student body, and in an upstage position, Miss Mary White Cox, Head of the Home.

MISS MARY WHITE COX

With requests for permission to go home, to go to see Bill get his wings, to go to the Ring Figure at Tech, to go to Richmond to shop, to go to Lynchburg for the day, or just to go to the movies at night, the students at Farmville have gone to Miss Mary since she was made Head of the Home here in 1915. And now Miss Mary is leaving. Official confirmtaion of the rumor "Miss Mary's not coming back" came this week.

Since she came back to Farmville in 1902, Miss Mary has seen many changes in the school she calls her Alma Mater. She has seen students come and graduate, and welcomed their daughters to the same school. She has seen new buildings added, new courses and new faculty as the school adjusted itself to meet the ends. And always she has been sympathetic with the girls, striving and succeeding in making a home instead of an institution for those who

Continued on Page 3

Students Sponsor Soldiers' Smokes

Cigs Sent Overseas At Production Cost

Beginning last week, and still in the process at the publication of this paper, a drive to raise money for smokes for the boys on the battiefronts is being sponsored by the Student Body. The drive is done in cooperation with the leading tobacco companies of the nation, and every effort will be made to get the cigarettes to those on the fighting lines far from canteens and service centers.

Collections have been made in one of the local theaters on three nights, the table in the hall has been opened and a door to door canvass of the dormitories will be made.

The goal for this college is to send 25,000 smokes to the boys overseas on the battlefronts. The cigarettes will be tax exempt and will be sent at cost from the factories.

Fuqua Made Officer Of USO Committee

14 Organizations Pledge Donations

Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, junior from Cape Charles, has been selected as vice-chairman of the College USO Committee, Jackie Parden, chairman, revealed this week. Ophelia Whittle was chosen to succeed Sara Jeffreys as secretary-treasurer of the committee, and Shirley Gibson will serve as chairman of the Recreation Center Committee, assisted by Lucie McKenry.

The vacancy left on the committee by the resignation of Mabbot Perkins has been filled by the election of Katherine Prebble to the committee.

At a recent meeting the retiring treasurer reported that 14 organizations on campus have pledged donations for the work of the committee, led by the Sophomore class which contributed $50.00.

Continued on Page 4

Job Seekers In Tennessee Find War Town New, Crowded, Hot, Experience - Packed

Girls Go Unmet At Knoxville

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

I once met a boy from Tennessee, and he had a lovely drawl and was quite cute—but more than that my information was rather sketchy. Tennessee meets Virginia at Bristol, where it's 12 o'clock on one side of the street and 1 o'clock on the other. Tennessee has hills and hillibillies. It has the TVA, the Norris dam—and it has "The Tennessean" which is very much a train.

So this trip to the wilds of Tennessee started happily enough with a bus ride to Lynchburg—and then the train. Trains may be divided into two classes—those in which you have ridden for five hours or those in which you have not. These in which you haven't are lovely and cool. They have clean comfortable seats and attractive passengers.

Wartime trains are not the same as peace time trains. They lack the ease and graciousness which they formerly reveled in. They don't say "First call to dinner—dining car in the rear"—anymore, nor do you find it possible to luxuriously occupy all of four seats while you watch the grey-green scenery sway past you

We were duty-bound to Knoxville, Tennessee to investigate the "Clinton Engineer Works mystery at Oakridge"—to investigate the advantage of working for Tennessee Eastman Company for the salary of $163 per month which is not so bad. Anyone interested? They need draftsmen, home economics majors, art enthusiasts, commercial students — in fact, they need employees.

So at last we arrived in Knoxville. Have you ever arrived in a perfectly strange city in the dead of night (8:30 EWT) and found no eager arms to welcome you—especially when you expected some and had made no plans in case these were none? No? Well, it's not a recommended experience. What to do was the question. We telephoned the Clinton Engineer Works—first I would urge Harriette—"you do it"—then she would urge me "you do it better".

Now, I'll introduce the hero. He turned out to be the most charming and helpful person we met while in Tennessee. Oh, what a thrill to hear a male voice on the phone, to hear it saying, "I've made reservations for you at the Farragut—F-A-R-R-A-G-U-T hotel. Just take a taxi. The manager will be expecting you!!" And what joy to be able to plop down on a triple soft bed in a room complete with blue bedspreads, wall paper of another shade, rugs of another, drapes of another, but all blue. The lovellest thing about that hotel was the hot water—at midnight—steaming and plenty of it.

Train Trip Affords Fun

The next day—and don't you ever forget that Tennessee is plenty south—we went out to Oak Ridge. The Oaks are still saplings, but there are plenty of ridges and a great abundancy of heat, sunlight and dust.

Oak Ridge is a war development—a year ago it wasn't. Now it definitely is. Huge and sprawling, it consists of dormitories, has a post office, a movie, a department store, drugstore, and everything else one could possibly want. The actual production area is restricted, and in spite of our honest faces we were not allowed to view the sacred precincts.

Oak Ridge is a war town, being different from other war towns only in that it is entirely new—not expanded over the beginnings of some small peace-time village. It has grown so fast it has grow-

Continued from Page 3

Perry's Vagabonds Scheduled For Final Junior-Senior Prom

Whittle Selects Orientation Heads To Teach Frosh

Seniors, Juniors Included on List

Orientation heads and assistants for next year were announced by Ophelia Whittle, vice-president of student body, this week. The leaders are Bobbie Scott, Jean Prosise, Eleanor Wade, Lucy Manson, Marilyn Bell, Betty Blackwell, Helen Wilson, Martha Higgins, Lucy Messick, Fay Johnson, Betsy Caidwell, and Patricia Maddox.

Also Marilyn Johnson, Frances Wentzel, Helen McGuire, Sally Robertson, Sarah Lee East, Ann Blair, Mary Walker Watts, Mary Ann Jarratt, Jean Smith, Dora Jones, Nancy Harrell, Mary Watkins, Betsy Fox, Ophelia Whittle, and Jane Ruffin.

Assisting these girls will be Eleanor Bisese, Carolyn Bobbitt, Betty Brothers, Freddie Ann Butt, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Shirley Cruser, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Margaret Hewlett, Rosa Hill, Frances Lee, Catherine Lynch, Ann Martin, Kitty Maddox, and Lucie McKenry.

Also Julia Messick, Margaret McIntyre, Carlotta Norfleet, Margaret Orange, Dorothy Overcash, Jane Philhower, Jacqueline Pardon, Nancy Pitts, Frances Shackelford, Virginia Shackelford, Agnes Stokes and Barbara Surface, and Martha Lee White.

1911 Bandages Made By College Students

Nineteen hundred and eleven bandages were made by the students last Thursday night from 7 until 9 o'clock, Pat Garth, chairman of the Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A., announced.

This Red Cross work in the college is sponsored weekly by the Service Committee, and this is the largest number that has ever been made in one night.

SHIRLEY PIERCE

Pierce Selected Honorary Member

Webb, Wade Give Farewell Speeches

Shirley Pierce, senior from Roanoke, was made an honorary member of the junior class in Senior Chapel, Friday, May 19. She was elected by the junior class on the basis of her interest in their class, and her wide scope of activities. As honorary member of the junior class, her official duty is to assist Eleanor Wade in leading the senior figure next year.

During the past year, Shirley has been an associate editor of the Rotunda, vice-president of the Athletic Association, college swimming instructor, and business manager of the Cotillion Club. She is in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges, a member of the Monogram Club, H20 Club, and was awarded a blue blazer by the A. A. For three years, Shirley has been the Girl Scout leader of the Farmville Elementary School. During the summer, she will be water front director at Camp Lynnhaven, Virginia Beach. In September, Shirley has a teaching position in the Roanoke City schools.

Opening senior chapel program last week Faye Nimmo Webb, president of the senior class, gave a farewell speech, and Eleanor Wade, president of the junior class, responded. Dr. J. L. Jarman sang "Keep On Hoping", after which the seniors sang their traditional farewell songs, then formed the arch with their caps, the juniors march under the arch to the "Alma Mater."

Friday night ,the juniors were given senior privileges and were allowed to go down town at 10 o'clock.

Examination Rules Begin Monday, May 29

Martha Higgins, president of House Council, has announced the rules for the examination period that will go into effect Monday night, May 29 and continue through Thursday night, June 2.

Quiet must be observed from 7 o'clock until 10 o'clock and must be resumed promptly at 10:30. No radios may be played during the study hour or after 10:30. Busy signs are good after 10:30 as well as during the study hours. Unnecessary moving in the halls is prohibited and all must abide by these regulations.

A Student Government "F" will be recorded on the report card of anyone who breaks the above rules.

Holt Will Deliver Baccalaureate Talk

Honor Graduates Close Activities

Angelo Perry and the Vagabonds will begin the commencement festivities on Saturday night, June 3, at which time the junior class will entertain with a dance for the seniors, Marilyn Bell, general dance chairman, has announced. The dance will take place in the college gymnasium from 8:30 to 12 midnight with intermission from 10:30 until 11 o'clock.

In the receiving line will be Dr. J. L. Jarman; Hannah Lee Crawford, vice-president of the senior class; Frances Craddock, secretary of the senior class; Ruth Dugger, treasurer of the senior class; Eleanor Wade, president of the junior class; Miss Elizabeth Burger, senior classman; and Mr. Raymond French, junior classman.

The traditional senior banquet will be held Friday, June 2 at 6 o'clock at Longwood. Invited guests will include Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, and Miss Rachel Royal.

Rev. D. D. Holt, pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church, Lynchburg, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday night, May 4, at 8 o'clock in the auditorium.

Senior class day exercises will begin Monday morning, June 5, at 10:30 o'clock. The class historian, Elizabeth Tennent, will review the history of the class at Farmville for four years, and the giftorian, Ruth Dugger, will present gifts to the seniors. Following this program, the seniors and their little sisters will form the traditional daisy chain.

A reception, given by Miss Mary White Cox, will be held at 8:30 p. m. Monday night, June 5, in the Student Lounge for seniors and their guests. Following this, the traditional lantern parade will form and parade through the Colonnade and around the Rotunda.

The Honorable William M. Neff, of Abingdon, will deliver the address at the 60th commencement

Continued on Page 4

Stokes Named Winner Of Essay Contest

Agnes Stokes, sophomore from Kenbridge, placed first in the Pi Gamma Mu essay contest for sophomores which closed recently, Mary Moore McCorkle, contest chairman, revealed this week. The contest, sponsored by the national honorary Social Science fraternity involved the writing of an essay entitled "What the War Has Meant to Me."

Nancy Pitts, from Norfolk, captured the second place and the essay written by Viola Turner, from Floyd was judged third.

The winning essay will be published in the final issue of Rotunda.

French Circle Names Stites President

Helen Stites, a sophomore from Richmond, has been elected president of the French Circle to replace Emily Carper. Assisting her as vice-president will be Alice Green, of Farmville.

Sara Moling, junior from Winchester, was chosen secretary, and Anne Mingea, freshman from Roanoke, will serve as treasurer. Helen Savage, junior from Richmond, will take over the duties of reporter.

The year's activities will be concluded with a picnic supper at Longwood this week.

On the Resignation Of Miss Mary White Cox

Official announcement of the resignation of Miss Mary White Cox, Head of the Home department came this week.

Miss Mary, as she is known to students, faculty, and administration, is herself a graduate of this school, and she came back to Farmville in 1902 as an assistant in the Home Department. In 1915 she was made Head of the Home, a position that can be most nearly compared to the Dean of Women in other schools.

But at Farmville the position is more than that. For nearly 30 years Miss Mary has been "Mother" to students here, granting permissions and giving counsel to all who enter the doors of Farmville.

For more than 40 years Miss Mary has stood as a stable and constant reminder that Farmville girls are ladies, and she herself is as perfect example as can be found. The spirit which has pervaded all who have become a part of Farmville finds emobdiment in this faithful and loyal alumna, and this same spirit she has passed on to many of Farmville's daughters. A true gentlewoman of the South, Miss Mary has, with a skillful hand, guided the destinies of many and kept them on the road to fuller, happier living.

And now, after having given most of her life to this school, Miss Mary has resigned. And she leaves behind memories that will be lasting and an influence that will be felt for years to come.

Remember the Honor Code During Examinations

Once more we draw near the end of a school quarter. And with the end of a quarter, we enter upon a period of examinations. For many, it will be the last of college exams, for others, it is perhaps their first experience. But whether they be first or last, the reason for examinations is the same. More than a means of determining the grade for the quarter, examinations are a help to the reorganization of material covered during the said period of time.

In spite of the groans and moans that accompany examination time, exams are more for the benefit of the student than of the teacher. Teachers have other means of determining the grade of any given student.

But what we want to say here is that the whole point of examinations is lost if the student waits until the last minute to cram a quarter's work in one night. And the whole point is lost, too, unless the student is thoroughly honest in doing her own work on examinations.

Remember that each and every one of the students here has signed an honor code. Don't forget that during exams.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Margaret Sheffield ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Kathryn Hutchinson, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Ann Buck, Catherine Trower, Margie Hewlett, Lelia Holloway, Nell Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Sarah Taliaferro, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee, Rachel Bourne.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24, 1944

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

The Allies break through the Gustov line. American and French troops smash the Adolf Hitler line. These are headlines of the week in Italy. And now our Eigth Army is within twenty-five miles of Anzio beachhead. In their wake the Germans have left us the strongholds of Pignataro, Cassino, Formia, Piedimonte, Campodemile, and Fondi. Our next objective is Terranina and Pico which connects the enemy's third line of defense. It is our purpose to destroy the German army in Italy in this new offensive and the situation as present seems to point toward that accomplishment. Moscow has praised the sudden victories and states that the Germans must know this diversion from the West makes the time ripe for invasion.

* * *

The Japanese are on the defensive in North Burma with the Allies holding a third of the Burma stronghold Myitikyina. The Allies accomplished this after marching 112 miles and taking the enemy by surprise. At the same time of this drive, Chiang Kai-Shek's forces attacked from the east. The success of the three-way offensive has given rise to the hope that we can clear northern Burma of all Japanese and join the Tedo and Burma roads. In only this connection were complete now, we could carry the much needed supplies to Chinese troops in Loyang.

* * *

Loyang, in fact, offers the only dark news of the week. "The situation remains unchanged" dispatches say. If the seige of Loyang isn't broken soon the fall of the ancient capital is inevitable. The Chinese, however, are still holding a portion of the Peiping-Hankow railway. If we could only reach this sector with supplies the entire Japanese offensive might be reversed in favor of China.

* * *

In the Pacific we are one step closer to the Philippines for we now have full occupation of Wakde Island. With the combination of Mountbatten, MacArthur, and Nimitz forces we accomplished the capture in a surprise attack. Wadde is strategically important as an air base from which we can strike at other Japanese positions. That it is only 1250 miles from the Philippines indicates the route General MacArthur is taking.

* * * *

In Yugoslavia the hope that the two guerilla fighters, Tito and Mihailovich, would reconciliate in a unison drive against Germany has been broken .Tito's offensive against the Axis was successsful till now. Whether he can fight off both the Nazis and the Chetnik troops now claimed to be united remains to be seen.

* * *

Bombs away!! The air assault continues on all fronts. In the west it has been the Brittany-Belgium area. From Italian and Russian bases it has been Minsk and Ploesti, and from the China coats it had been Petras Island. It's the U. S. who holds the 10-3 edge in the air.

Scuttlebutt

In spite of a statement recently seen in the "question of the week", "it's a great life if you don't week end", the majority of girls still week end! Any one had only to glance around campus last Saturday and Sunday for ample evidence.

There was "Ginny" Halstead with her man who had no end of compliments for "the girls"!

Then there was Margaret Black's "sensation" who caused no mild comment when he came into the Rotunda Saturday. He was early, too.

Connie Young's Pvt. has definitely become a habit! A nice habit, we might add.

The sudden and unexpected arrival of Helen Savage's man "clear from California" brought the biggest gleam seen in some time in the young lady's eye.

We are all wondering what become of the Air Corps officers that Betty Ellis "brought in out of the rain" Sunday night. The last time seen, they had quite a following"!

Since last week end, a new attraction may be seen around Sara Wayne France's neck - - - - in form of Jack's gold football. Something to proudly possess.

At this point, we pause to say "so-long" to Ring-A-Ling Bell and Hugh Wrenn. Also, good luck. They're headed for the seven seas - Well, Bainbridge anyway! What we wanta' know is if Jane Crump's and Frances Satterfield's efforts were in vain on Sunday? For the sake of pride, we hope not!

None other than the editor of this paper has been issued an invitation to June week at Johns Hopkins University by none other the editor of that paper.

The unusual entertainment in the "Rec" Sunday night sponsored by several of Xavier Cugat's former men, was definitely a treat, and enjoyed by all.

If the close observers of STC were not mistaken, Twitch's famous John Merrill was seen in this vicinity recently. He measures up to his propaganda!

After a solid week's fling, Barbara Dickinson has returned to school. The OAO Don was home and we hear bells in the offing! Yes, wedding bells!

The surprise of the week - the fleeting return of Lt. Staples! Happy, Mildred?

Again, we pause to wish Aggie Sheffield all the best wishes possible. On Saturday she becomes a Mrs.

Our most profound apologies go to Hampden - Sydney for any "slight" to the Navy there due to anything which has appeared in any of the columns of this paper.

But it was an army uniform that greeted Bobbie Graham yesterday after so many months and brought that gleam to her eyes. And the khaki still seems predominant on this campus.

We can't close this column without some mention of the recent engagement of Judy Coillns. Nice going, gal.

And to all you gals at S. T. C., watch the scuttlebutt!

the "Y"

By MARGIE HEWLETT

The Baptist, Methodist, and Episcopal girls had picnics this past week-end.

The Westminster Fellowship will give a vesper program at Hampden-Sydney next Sunday.

Be sure that you have signed up for a little sister before you leave school. The "Y" will be on hand to welcome them next fall.

We hope that you have all had a happy year and that your summer may be pleasant. There will be many opportunities for services this summer in your home churches. Assisting in Bible school or Sunday school work is a wonderful channel of service.

Last Friday night Prayers were held in Joan Court and proved very enjoyable.

"The Kingdom of God" is the topic for the week. For Wednesday "The Kingdom and the Church" is the topic. Thursday night vespers will be held in the Episcopal church. All students are urged to attend.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

While making his way back to the hospital—he was a walking hospital case—Master Gunnery Sergeant James G. Blalock spotted a group of Japs in the underbrush. Drawing his pistol, he entered the thicket and came out with nine Jap prisoners.

Marine Sergeant Blalock now wears the Silver Star, awarded him for conspicuous gallantry in that Solomon Islands action. He can be proud of such a record. Can you be equally proud of your Bond buying record during the Third War Loan?

Question of the Week

What are you going to do this summer?

BETSY FOX: Going to New York!

MARTHA WELLS: Well, they say there's a new naval air base—yeah, that's right.

ANNE SUMMERS: Work in the alumni office at Hampden-Sydney.

ANN MARTIN: Be a counselor at Camp Alleghany in West Virginia.

JO BEATTY: Bury my nose in a book (?) at Chapel Hill.

PAT MONAHAN: Sling bed pans as a nurses aide in some hospital.

FRANCES WOOD: Summer school—both quarters—my father still can't figure it out.

LIZ GOODWIN: If I don't marry Jack, I'm going to work in Newport News at a playground.

ANN JONES: Begin at U. of Virginia.

ANNE MINGEA: Go swimming with R. G.

JUDY CONELLY: Stay home and play!

JANE POWER: Come to summer school and get a tan.

MARY LIB HARVEY: Study the minerals and deposits around Nelson.

BETTY ELLIS: Work in an office in Greensboro, N. C.

VIRGINIA NAYLOR: Going home to Panama for the first time in three years, praise be!

SARAH WOOD: Work in the Richmond Public Library.

ELISE HUME: Going to Daytona Beach.

GUSSIE HIMES: War work in Knoxville, Tenn.

LIZ TENNANT: Relax.

BETTE WOOD: Raise turkeys.

Secrets of Infirmary Life Revealed by Rotunda Reporter

I was beginning to congratuinte myself on a healthy two years at Farmville, free from cold bugs and fever germs and far, far from the hospital odors of the infirmary--when—well, the wood I knocked on must have been a substitute because I soon found myself conferring with Mrs. Packer on the equipment one needs—

"Bring (1) pajamas (2) housecoat, (3) bedroom slippers, (4) Kleenex, (5) towel, (6) washcloth, (7) soap, (8) toothbrush, (9) toothpaste, (10) comb, (11) writing materials (including stamps) (12) and anything else you feel needful of."

For those of you who don't know, and I hope there are a great many vigorous specimens who have never been within said walls, the infirmary is divided into various little white rooms with little white beds. In the ward there are a great many little white beds side by side. There is a radio situated in a favorable spot and a light right above each little white bed. There is a table covered with maggazines of old and new vintage—all well worn. There is also an excellent view of the tennis courts and the swimming pool.

So now you are oriented, you climb (but literally) into your little white bed and say "What next?"—but before your words are out—and while your mouth is still open you find yourself swallowing—besides air—a vast collection of pills.

These pills really deserve a separate paragraph all their own. There are little white ones, big pink ones, oval brown ones, big white ones, round red ones, speckled ones, transparent ones—and that's just the kind I encountered. I don't know what else is chiseled out in the pill line.

And let this warning be sufficient if anyone hopes for ambrosia at mealtimes. It's no soap. With ordinary ailments all you get is dining room meals—no more, no less—oh, yes, sometimes an added felip now and then—but the long periods between eats stretch interminably.

The day starts with a thermometer for early morning morsel—at about a quarter of seven. (I thought that was right early too, specially since that's the time I sleep best.) Then breakfast. The usual procedure afer breakfast is to moan and groan and go back to sleep.

I thought—Oh, here is where I get letters written. But I was wrong. Letters don't go so good in bed with no inspiraion, but rows of blank windows and sniffy fellow creatures. Books did all right and magazines. While letters, never too many. Even more than usual mail was appealing—that wondering whether there was anything in Box.....

"For Mamie of Cedar Rocks, Sally, Johnny, Joe—". The mailbag gayly playing "I am thinking tonight of my blue eyes" or "Wilberforce, get off that horse—."

Dr. Moore comes around twice daily and prescribes more little pills—and it is to him you turn when you decide you are well enough to leave—he's the boss.

The green, and blue, and yellow water pitchers are a source of constant delight. They are filled with nice cold water frequently by the colored girl, a truly admirable person. The time all we had for lunch was turnip salad and grits she brought me some delicious preserves to keep me from quite starving to death.

Definitely, the infirmary is wonderful if you need sleep. Mrs. Packer rules with the iron hand in the velvet glove and all runs smoothly—and lights go off at ten.

At the present time 16,500,000 women are employed in industry in this country.

ColorCup Awarded To Red and White

Points Granted For Major Sports

Red and white was presented with the color cup last Friday in senior chapel. The cup was given by Faye Nimmo, president of the senior class to Eleanor Bisese, president of the sophomore class. The cup each year is presented to the class teams who have gained more points in athletics toward attaining the cup.

Points are gained through hockey, tennis, basketball, swimming, softball, ping-pong and archery. Each year the competition begins at the very beginning of the athletic season, and continues until spring.

Orchesis Bids Nine To Apprenticeship, Ellis Announces

Marilyn Bell, Norma Chandler, Louisa Dawson, Vivian Edmunds, Marjorie Hewlett, Helen Lacy, Isabel Ransone, Frances Timmons, and Nancy Lee Weeks are newly elected apprentices to Orchesis. They were issued their bids tonight.

These girls will serve a term of apprenticeship to the Orchesis and are required to participate in a number of the club's activities before they will be initaited as members. Apprentices are voted upon twice a year by the club.

Orchesis' first work for next year will be their Christmas sing program. Work with the apprentices in rhythms on the drums, and a separate meeting for the members only are but a few of the new things included in next year's plans.

Frances Lee has been elected to replace Pat Garth as costume chairman, and Jean Smith has been elected historian to replace Mary Crank. These girls will not be in the club next year, and new officers had to be elected to take their places.

Home Ec. Club Names Thompson President

Elsie Thompson, junior from Boydton, will succeed Dodie Jones as president of the Home Ec Club. Lorraine Raiford will serve as vice-president succeeding Martha Hite.

The secretary will be Ann Shuffiebarger, to replace Lucy Manson. Nannie Webb, junior from Gloucester, will serve as treasurer replacing Louise McCorkle and Joan Davis, freshman from Lynchburg, will act as reporter.

Cox Resigns

Continued from Page 1

for the week-end were Betty Doggett, Barbara Dickerson, Gussie Himes, Marilyn Johnson, Jean come to Farmville. Her influence can readily be noticed whenever an "old Farmville girl" is met; one of the inevitably first questions always is "How is Miss Mary?"

One would think that the responsibility of being Mother to so many girls would have been more than one could stand, that the continual pleas and cajoling of 900 girls would have driven anyone mad in a much shorter time than Miss Mary has been Head of the Home here. But Miss Mary has remained more sane than most through the ups and downs of the years.

And even now, Miss Mary finds it hard to go far from the school she has served so well and faithfully for over 40 years. After June, she will be found on First Avenue in Farmville, where she and her brother and sister-in-law have bought a little white house. And now we're giving her fair warning that she is not rid of us us yet—we're coming up to that little white house to see her—but often!

Kodak Films

Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll

Southside Drug Store

BLAZER WINNERS . . .

Pictured above are those seniors who were recently awarded blazers by the A. A. Council for outstanding athleticwork. From left to right, Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Patsy Connelley, Dottie Sue Simmons, Sara Jeffreys, and Shirley Pierce.

HorseShow Ribbon Winner Announced

Many Students Took Part

The horse show at Longwood on Saturday went over with big success. Prize ribbons were won by a number of girls from S. T .C. Winners from S. T. C. are as follows: Beginners Class: 1st prize, Margaret Sheffield; 2nd prize, Mary Catlett; 3rd, Ann Marie Umstead; and 4th Margaret Black. Senior Beginners: 1st prize, Alene Alphin; 2nd, Lynn Page; 3rd, Ann Searson; 4th, Rebecca Tomlinson. Jumpers: 2nd prize, Lucille Jones. Pairs of riders: 4th prize, Margaret Lohr, S. T. C., and Martha Sydnor, Farmville. Five gaited saddle horse: 4th prize, Mary Sterrett. Intermediate: 1st prize, Shirley Gibson; 2nd, Nancy Ingle; 3rd, Pat Buckler, 4th, Anna Buckler. Advanced: 1st prize, Jean Carter Smith; 2nd, Betty Ellis; 3rd, Liz Goodwin; 4th, Jane Rowe. Costume class: 1st prize, Marian Hubbard; 2nd, Phyllis Watts; 3rd, Betty Ellis, Mary Sterrett, Lucille Jones; 4th, Betty Cock.

Sophs Victorious In Softball Season

Teams Played Each Other

Softball season ended this year, with the sophomores top champions in the tournament. This gave red and white the final points for the color cup. The tournament this year was a round-robin like the one held during hockey season. Every team played every other team. The first games in which the freshmen played the juniors, and the sophomores played the seniors did not count, but were only practice games, because the teams were playing their sister classes.

Winners this year were the juniors who defeated the freshmen, and the sophomores who won over the juniors, and tied the freshmen. The seniors because they did not have quite enough players lost both of their games. Captains were senior, Louise Ranson, junior, Mary Walker Watts, sophomore, Kitty Wright, and freshman Betty Parrish.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Tuesday, May 30

8:05-10:25	classes meeting 10:05 MWF
10:30-12:30	classes meeting 11:40 MWF
1:50-3:50	classes meeting 1:50 TT

Wednesday, May 31

8:05-10:05	classes meeting 8:05 TTS
10:30-12:30	classes meeting 9:05 TTS
1:50-3:50	classes meeting 2:50 MWF

Thursday, June 1

8:05-10:05	classes meeting 10:05 TTS
10:30-12:30	classes meeting 11:40 TTS
1:50-3:50	classes meeting 1:30 MWF

Friday, June 2

8:05-10:05	classes meeting 8:05 MWF
10:30-12:30	classes meeting 9:05 MWF

Housewives Volunteer First

In work preparatory to rebuilding the Russian city of Kiev, 350 housewives were first to volunteer, according to the Soviet Information Bulletin. They were followed by factory workers, students, school children and office employees. The volunteers have sorted thousands of cubic yards of rubble and loaded it on freight cars or trucks, stacked hundreds of thousands of bricks and hundreds of tons of metal.

The Brooklyn bridge is a mile long and weighs 24,000 tons.

Foreign Women in Germany

"German women must be used for clean and light work. For dirty and exhausting labor, foreign working women should be used," declared the Frankfurter Zeitung, as reported by the Moscow radio and picked up by U. S. Government monitors.

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Left Lead

Hats off and a toast of oats to the blue ribbon winners who trotted the tur. and toppe' the hurdles in the blazin sun last Saturday afternnon. The ring at Longwood was quite the center of attraction, and even the intense heat couldn't burn up the enthusiasm with which the event was met. Yes, folks, it's all over now, even the shouting, and Saturday night, literally, nobody could kick.

Although many of the top honors in the open classes went to the out-of-towners, still S. T. C. riders shone in some of them, and the girls who place first, second, third and fourth in the closed S. T. C. events are to be congratulated upon their excellent showing. All the girls were riding with a purpose, and they all rode well.

Conspicuous by her . . . no, by HIS absence was Alice the Goon, but we found many who were willing to consider Black Diamond quite his equal. Gone, too, was Princess, who did not get back as had been hoped. Flicka and Cindy were below their average because of lameness, and Claireport was not at her best, but the day passed without any serious spills or mishaps. And there were old friends, like Junior Smith and Billy, as well as newcomers like Anderson and little Beauty. Oh . . Mr. Reed's Beatuy was there, too, and causing the same sideline riots as usual. Nickotie was back in all his golden glory, walking off with the usual standards and causing the usual exclamations over his beauty.

In the children's class, blue ribbon winner was little Mary Kent Withers, who also cantered into the spotlight by racing her pony about the ring in the Old Virginia Riders Class.

In the Jumpers Class, Lindy surprised us all by placing second, and a well-deserved second at that. In the 5-gaited, Mac stepped his way to fame, and for her first show, we think Queenie did well enough.

Much to the disappointment of all concerned, Joyce did not ride at all, but in case you missed her over the week-end, she was in Crewe recuperating, anyhow.

And in case anybody is at all interessted, there's another horse show coming up down at Amelia, on Saturday, June 3. Pack up your saddle and trot on down . . . there may be something doing.

In the meantime, take things easy in this warm weather, and stay on the bit.

Pegasus

Tennessee Trip

Continued from Page 1

ing pains that are still quite in evidence. As our guide told us,

"When the projects that are contemplated have been consummated, this will be quite a joint."

The rest of the trip was anticlimaxal. It concerns a train and the man with the box - but that's another story.

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

The athletic calendar has been completed, with an end to all sports activities scheduled for this year. Next year we have big things to look forward to with more green and white, red and white competition. The color cup this year again went to red and white, but the green and whites plan plenty of competition for it next year, alhough they handed out plenty of it this year too. It was close on both sides, and everyone was holding their breath at the last minute to find out the final decision.

Horse Show

The horse show went over with a bang last Saturday, and everyone who participated or spectated, had a good time. Although it was very warm, and the horses as well as the riders and spectators got very hot, it was one of the best shows ever sponsored by the riding club.

Competition was plentiful with so many outsiders bringing their horses in, but our girls came through with flying colors, and showed up very well in the prize winning. The most colorful class was the jumping class, and everyone had a moment of worry as to whether the horses would make it or not. Most of the jumps were cleared, although there were several unfortunates at the beginning who knocked down the bars on either the first or second jump.

A good laugh was given all when the costume class came in. Russian peasants, camouflage units, a serenading cowboy, and a headless rider were but a few of the entries, and the laughter really made the class a success. Each year the show is ended with this class, so you who plan to ride next year, put on your thinking caps and pull out your originality. You might even get the blue ribbon.

Until next year we have put our fancy boots and riding coats away but there will still be classes even during examinations. Dungarees will be the fashion note, but lots of fun will be had by all. Think about riding for next year. It is always something that provides plenty of excitement and interest.

All-Around Sports

Passing in review this year have been many different kinds of athletics. Hockey, basketball, volleyball, softball, badminton, pingpong, swimming, tennis, archery, and horseback riding have been the most prevelant on our schedule. Did you participate in any of these things? Going out for a team although you might not always make it, is always something that gives you a feeling of having done your part in helping to win for your class. Next year, think seriously about going out for a class team. Don't be shy, because you think that people don't believe you are the athletic type. That isn't a good reason at all, and you might prove to be better than you think.

This summer, you will have a chance to get out-of-dors on your vacation or on week-ends, so put out something in some sort of athletics. Swimming is always a favorite sport, and if you work really hard you can help in being a member of the swimming team next year. You don't have to excel in any sport to try out for it, and the old saying that practice makes perfect will help you as you struggle along on something you have never tried before. Come back next year with the idea that you are going to do your part for your class and its colors.

Stay in the game, and don't forget to keep up with those athletics this summer. Happy vacation!

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Monogram Seniors Entertained May 15

Graduating members of the Monogram Club were entertained with a party Monday, May 15, in senior dining hall. All members were there to feast on the potato salad, potato chips, sandwiches and coca-colas provided by the club.

The Monogram Club consists of girls who are outstanding in athletics, and have proven their ability on the athelitic field or on the gym floor in both major and minor sports.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

COTTON DRESSES AND SUITS
$1.59 TO $10.95
BARGAIN BASEMENT
and
SECOND FLOOR
ELEVATOR SERVICE
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Spring Picnics Offer Variety Of Adventure for Students

Are you one of those that gorge themselves to the utmost when surrounded by the pleasant, inviting atmosphere of Mother Nature? There seems to be quite a few of such people inhabiting S. T. C., for as soon as Spring peeked her head around the corner, everyone started having picnics. The sororities, young people's leagues, clubs, churches, and similar organizations caught the urge to walk and eat, so plans loomed up, but fast.

Most picnickers wended their way to Longwood to celebrate, but one group went high on Willis Mountain to frisk on the huge boulders and whet their appetites. Wherever one goes, however, one always has uninvited, undesirable, unsanitary and unruly guests, namely—BUGS! The world will beat a path to the man that can get rid of insects at a picnic! I don't guess we'd know how to act if we weren't continually swatting and slapping and shooing the "pesky insects" away from the food. (And off of us!).

What appeals to most people concerning picnics is—you can be unmannerly without being offensive. The pushing, dropping of hot dogs into the fire, spilling lemonade on the sandwiches, getting mustard on your suit, stuffing of a half of roll in you mouth at once, the informality and hilarity seem to be characteristic of all picnics. The exertion of carrying the food, gathering up firewood, blowing the embers and other necessary duties serve to make the crawd ravishingly hungry. The general fare for most groups is hot dogs and cokes, with variations. Some classy people served fried chicken and turn-overs so scrumptiously that you thought you were eating at the Ritz.

You can usually depend on the best of times at a picnic but a devastating sight to see a weary, wet bunch of people straggling in from a "rained out" picnic. One group calmly took the disaster of rain and made fun of it. They merely took off their shoes and gayly waded home. None have been reported with pneumonia yet.

Here's hoping picnicking never ends, for it is a custom that the whole world enjoys. Hope it doesn't rain!

Miss Hiner Elected Town Girls' Adviser

Miss Winnie Hiner was recently elected adviser for the Town Girls' Club to succeed Miss Grace Morgan who has resigned. Miss Hiner is the college treasurer.

Pat Garth was named to represent the club on Student Standards; Jo Cooper was named the chairman of the social committee; Colleen Agee, chairman of the scrapbook, and Virginia Treakle, chairman of publicity.

Officers who were elected some time ago include Rae Chick, president; Virginia Lee Price, vice-president; Loreen Agee, secretary; and Virginia Farrier, treasurer.

We wire flowers anywhere
COLLINS FLORIST

Graduation Gifts
For the Seniors of '44
at
Martin the Jeweler

Ladies Lovely
Full fashioned Hose
69c and 79c
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

Campus Sororities, Honor Groups, Clubs Have Social Events

The Granddaughter's Club was entertained by Miss Rachel Royall, adviser, after the regular meeting, May 17 in the student lounge.

The Baptist Student Union has a picnic at Willis Mountain Saturday afternoon. Miss Frances Copenhaver, Baptist Student Secretary, accompanied the group.

The Wesley Foundation of the Methodist church entertained its members with a picnic at Longwood on Sunday. Guests included Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Misses Mary Clay Hiner and Winnie Hiner, and Mr. and Mrs. Canrad Blackwell.

The Canterbury Club, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. O. Worth May, picnicked at the Wither's on Sunday afternoon.

After the initiation of the new members and the installation of the new Beorc Eh Thorn officers, the annual picnic was held at Mr. Grainger's. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Grainger, Miss Mary Nichols, and Miss Lucille Jennings.

The French Circle, with Miss Draper and Miss Barksdale, had a picnic at Longwood Friday afternoon.

Entertained by the new members of Mu Omega sorority, the group had the annual picnic at Longwood on Friday. Miss Leola Wheeler, faculty adviser, was present.

Gamma Theta sorority members had a picnic at Longwood Saturday afternoon. Miss Stubbs, faculty adviser, and Mrs. Nimmo were the invited guests.

Miss Nichols entertained the Debate Club at dinner in her apartment on Monday evening.

Pi Gamma Mu had a social hour instead of the usual business meeting last night at 8:30 o'clock.

Alpha Kappa Gamma will have the annual picnic at Mr. Graham's tomorrow afternoon.

Student Art Display Shows Work Done By Over 200 Girls

The annual college student art exhibit will be shown in the college art department May 22-27. Miss Virginia Bedford of the Art Department announced recently. The creative work of over 200 students, who have learned to understand the mediums of the artist, the history of the arts through the ages, and the creative urge of all peoples through the participation in an art activity program, will be on display.

The department work is planned with the general aim in mind that any student can better learn the arts through expression than he can through observations only. Elementary Education's students have learned the rudiments of drawing, design, color, lettering and crafts from the view-point of a prospective class room teacher, who will direct such activities in the field of art as her grade level may require. The home economics and art majors have followed a course involving studies in the arts color and composition, painting, sculpture, architecture, book making, textile design and weaving, pottery and ceramics, which include a survey of history of each art and a laboratory experience making for a broader understanding of the art.

Special art students and majors and minors have experimented in all mediums as crayon, chalk, tempera, water color, clay, textile paint, pencil, charcoal, oil, and many craft materials.

Students doing outstanding work in design and figure drawing are Eleanor Corell, Mary Lou Dondley, Virginia M. Terrell, Betty Wood, Lucille Lewis, Sallie Robertson, Edith Sanford, and Dorothy Sue Simmons. Freshman students contributing in color and design and painting are Virginia Sutton Bland, Evelyn Cole, Jane Conson, Ann Dickinson, Helen McRee, Judy Rieck and Nancy Whitehead.

Water colors of special notice are done by Mary Lou Dondley, Anne Charlton, Carmen Low, Nancy Lee Weeks, and Mary Jo McCling. Sara Trigg has done work in oil painting of especially fine modern technique. Craft work, pottery and sculpture of outstanding merit are contributed by Nancy Lee Weeks, Jane Knapton, Bernice Nichols, Mae Cardwell, Mary Robertson, Lucy Bowling, and Margaret Smith.

The State
YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER
IN FARMVILLE, VA.
Thurs., Fri., Sat.
Biggest Musical of the Year
COVER GIRL

★ SENIOR ★ PERSONALITY ★

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS

This week the tables are turned and the senior spotlight is directed on Ella Banks Weathers, former editor of the Rotunda. Better known to one and all as simply E. Banks, or even Banks, she has been an integral part of her class and school for four years, and now is looking forward to an early summer all-white wedding.

Her brains and subtle humor make an interesting combination, and made even the midnight hours required by Rotunda work "a brand new party" each week. Her active leadership in the many school organizations she has become affiliated with has assured her a permanent place in the histories and memories of these same organizations.

With a capacity for getting things done when all seems impossible, She has with it a remarkable capacity for not worrying and remaining unperturbed at all upsets. The devil has an apartment in her eyes and when there's mischief abrew, there also will be found Ella Banks.

Conversation in her room inevitably turns to rose sprigged china (her pattern), and silver ware, and red and white checked curtains and associated subjects when she isn't talking about Bill. This same Bill has been the basis of the envy of all the girls since he is able to stay over after a week-end until Monday noon.

Her dislikes are few, but definite, and include coffee, "boogie-woogie", cats (the two-legged kind), and John Dewey. And she loves Clark bars, movies, shorthand and typing, yellow, and Bill!

USO Committee

Continued from Page 1

Other organizations include the Freshman class, the Junior class, the Senior class, Alpha Kappa Gamma, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Alpha Sigma Alpha, Gamma Theta, Mu Omega, Alpha Sigma Tau, Pi Kappa Sigma, Phi Zeta Sigma, Theta Sigma Upsilon, and the Dramatic Club.

Your War Bond Investment Is Your Investment In America . . .

Prospect Of Exams Brings Memories Of Sloppy Clothes

Carry your imagination to six days from today. It is early Tuesday morning. Take a look out of the dining room window. My! What is that gruesome looking creature coming out Junior building? Now, start putting the puzzle together. There are pig tails, "p. j" collar, trench coat, bags, no, a junior is not going on a trip, they are under the eyes. Even a moron would know that this is exam day.

From Student to Library come trench coats and shorts, no socks, just bare legs and loafers. Don't get ideas. They haven't been out on the roof. This is the result of sleepless hours spent crammings and worrying.

To look around you would think lipstick, fingernail polish, and power are rationed; but when you face those fierce exams, you realize it's not make-up rationed, but brain matter. Maybe the teacher is right who said, "This school should be co-ed; then the girls might be more careful of how they look." If you really wish to impress your professor with your looks on exam day, wear a big loud kerchief over those glamorous corkscrew curls, which are tied on socks. And watch your grade move down a letter.

More power to you an your exams; don't let lack of shut-eye get you down. Start studying now, tonight, and when the crammers are hard at work next Monday night, you can grin instead of groan at the empty coke machine, roll one in your comfy bed, and sleep blissfully until breakfast. Who knows? Maybe you'll pass!

Alpha Phi Sigma

Continued from Page 1

rier, freshman from Farmville; and Florence Godwin, freshman from Smithfield.

Also, Evelyn Hair, freshman from Danville; Ethel Halsey, freshman from Rapidan; Janice Halstead, freshman from Norfolk; Louise Harrell, freshman from Suffolk; Anna Headlee, freshman from Norfolk; Nancy Ingle, sophomore from Covington; Luverta Joyner, freshman from Carrollton; Betty Lewis, freshman from Hickory; Nancy Parrish, freshman from Manassass; Margaret Sheffield, freshman from Suffolk; and Harriett Weger, freshman from Newport News.

Freshmen who received bids to Alpha Phi Sigma this week are Lynell Bradshaw, Faber; Mary Cameron Butt, Portsmouth; Jean Daniel, Roanoke; Alice Davis, Phenix; Martha Droste, Ronceverte, W. Va.; Eva Mae Fleming, Chula; Sue Hundley, Suffolk; Frances Wood, Waynesboro; and Constance Young, Covington.

Underground Warns Danes

The underground press is instructing Danes not to be lured into premature activity by German invasion alarms, says the Danish Information Service. When the invasion really begins, Danes are urged to remain at home and seek shelter, so that roads may be free for Allied attack on German communications. Because the Germans are expected to take hostages, the underground warns prominent persons to prepare hiding places.

For the best sandwiches in Town
SHANNON'S

OUR BIGGEST EVENT OF THE YEAR
Newberry Day
STARTS
Thursday, April 17th
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

"And in the spring a young girl's fancy turns to thoughts of traveling and other things."

So to Knoxville went Kathryn Hutchinson and Harriette Dowdy, and to Cape Charles went Mary Elizabeth Fuqua.

Visiting in Richmond were Kitty Rennecker, Glenn Anne Patterson, Anna Ward Peery, Page Cook, Marilyn Bell, Virginia Caviness, Eula Belle Doggett, Annie Ellis, Ellen Higginbotham, M. K. Ingham, Elizabeth McLean, Lucy Manson, Shirley Mankin, and Margaret Orange. In Lawrenceville were Mary Stewart Buford, Joyce Beazley, and Carmen Low.

Visiting Sarah Wayne France in Charlottesville were Eleanor Bisese, Pat Maddox, and Jane Smith. Anne Hamlin also visited in Charlottesville. In Roanoke Smith, and Barbara Surface.

India Joyner and Lib West visited Kitty Williams in Victoria. Carey Beard visited Margaret Verell in Newport News.

In Lynchburg the following S. T. C. girls were to be found, Nancy Whitehead, Nancy Watts, Martha Higgins, Betty O'Conner, Dana McClellian, Margaret Brace, and Betsy Fox. Sue Hundley, Betty Minetree, and Betty Brothers spent the week-end in Suffolk.

Mary Elizabeth Grizzard spent the week-end in Drewyrville; Betty Louise Hayward in Harrisonburg; Shirley Cruser in Norfolk; Helen McRee in Bon Air; Lois Boone in Carrsville; Eileen Bowles in Danville; and Margaret Ellett in Windsor.

Visiting Kitty Parham in Petersburg were Barbara Montgomery, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Lou Baker, and Judy Connelly. Frances Bell spent the week-end in Petersburg also.

In Kenbridge were Nancy Aimond, Betty Bridgforth, and Patsy Connelly, and in Natural Bridge were Irma Cummings and Marion Lotts.

Colonnade Dedicated To Seniors of 1944, Knapton Announces

To the Seniors of '44 is dedicated the fourth and last issue of the college magazine, The Colonnade, soon to be off the press, and edited by its new head, Jane Knapton.

In glancing through the stories, we find that anything is likely to pop up in the super saga of what happened to a girl who planted a victory garden, written by Betty Deuel Cock, entitled "And the Plot Thickened". Lucille Winston's clever pen did the full page illustration accompanying the story.

"Two Telegrams" by Jane Waring Ruffin is a story with an O. Henry touch—one that can't be told about or the climax will be spoiled. But we can tell you that the illustration of "Cathy" and "Jerry" was ably done by Virginia Terrell.

Miss Elizabeth Burger has written a timely article, "Decisions," which will be especially interesting to the Seniors.

Virginia Sedgley gives us an account of her life as a full-fledged school ma'am now, in her amusing sketch called "This is the Life."

Fay Johnson keeps you guessing in a quiz on the personalities of several outstanding Seniors, appropriately dubbed "Who Is It?".

For sheer enjoyment, don't miss Mary Parrish Vicellio's account of what life will be like in the near future, according to what scientists have thought up for better living.

For you poetry lovers there are four poems, three of which were given Honorable Mention in the recent poetry contest. These are, "Prayer and Thought" by Gussie Himess; "You Made Me Care" by Malinda Fox; "It's Spring" by Ann Gregory; and "End of Day" by Lois Alphin.

And then comes the night in the dining hall when there is a lull in the conversation. You guessed it! The Colonnades are here!

To the Members of the Faculty And Student Body—
We appreciate your business of '43 and '44. We wish each of you a happy vacation.
BUTCHER'S

Here's Wishing
Each of you a very Happy Holiday
We'll be seein' you next fall
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Staple and Fancy Groceries
Green Front Store
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

Graduation Program

Continued from Page 1

June 6 at 10:30 o'clock. Mary Moore McCorkie will deliver the valedictory address and Frances Lee Hawthorne will deliver the salutatory at the commencement exercises.

It's a Daisy
Mary Muffet's trim little classic—"TOWN 'N' COUNTRY." Just as versatile as the name implies—wear it anywhere, any time. In cool spun rayon . . . 9-15.
BALDWIN'S

GOOD-BYE, GOOD LUCK, ALL SENIORS

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS HONOR GRADUATES

VOLUME XXIII — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1944 — NO. 30

99 Receive Degrees at 60th Commencement Here

World Needs Big Hearts To Rebuild, Holt Declares

"You as seniors must face the situation and learn to think that you may be ready to meet the crises in your lives," the Rev. D. D. Holt told the graduation class in his Baccalaureate sermon Sunday night.

"The world is bleeding and broken as never before. The world is dying tonight and you can't escape it. It must be rebuilt and it will take strong, courageous hearts to hold to the possibilities of life and to grasp them," he went on to say.

In talking to the seniors, the Rev. Holt, pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church in Lynchburg suggested they try the Socratic method of evaluation and ask themselves penetrating questions to determine their stamina.

The Rev. Conrad Blackwell pastor of the Methodist Church in Farmville assisted Mr. Holt and delivered the Invocation and the benediction. The college choir offered "God Save Our Men" with Esther Shevick as soloist, and a selection from Brahms Requiem, "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place".

'44 Summer School Offers New Courses

Several new courses will be offered at the summer session which will open on June 19, 1944. The new courses include War Sociology, The Age of Roosevelt and Wilson, and Canadian History. The first quarter will end on July 22, 1944, and the second quarter will begin on July 24, 1944 and end on August 26, 1944. It is thought that the summer school enrollment will be approximately the same as last year.

Taking into consideration the present world crisis, the curriculum will again include many refresher courses. These special courses, which were offered for the first time two summers ago, will include Review of Mathematics, Physical Science, Pre-flight Aeronautics, intensive course in typewriting, Geography of the War, History of America in World War II, First Aid Safety, Physical Fitness courses, refresher course for elementary teachers and refresher course for secondary school teachers; and the college work shop will operate.

Regular courses will be offered in the following department: Biology, Chemistry, and Physics, Fine and Applied Arts, Education and Philosophy, Library Science, History and Social Science, Mathematics, Music, Geography, Home Economics, and Physical Education.

Provisions are made for male attendance at the summer school.

Bobbitt Wins APS Scholarship Award

Carolyn Bobbitt, sophomore from South Hill, was awarded the scholarship key given by the National Association of Alpha Phi Sigma at the chapel exercises May 26. This presentation is made annually to the girl maintaining the highest average for the longest period of time. She has an average of nearer A than B for five consecutive terms.

Besides maintaining the high scholastic average, Carolyn is the retiring president of Alpha Phi Sigma, recently elected treasurer of the Student Government Association, is a member of the College Choir and the Colonnade staff.

France Dedicates Annual to Burger

Sarah Wayne France, editor of the annual, dedicated the 1944 Virginian to Miss Elizabeth Burger, classman, on May 25. Miss Burger, who is a member of the Department of Science has been the classman of the senior class since they were freshmen.

The annual is divided into six sections this year and it includes school views, faculty, classes, organizations, athletics, and socials.

Concluding the social section, 8 seniors are featured in formal and informal snapshots. Personalities featured Patsy Connelley, Lebanon, past president of the Athletic Association; Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville, past vice-president of the Student Government Association; Judy Eason, Richmond, retiring president of the House Council; Sarah Wayne France, Charlottesville, retiring editor of the Virginian; Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston, past president of the Young Woman's Christian Association; Faye Nimmo, Suffolk, president of the class of 1944; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke, past president of the Student Government Association; and Ella Banks Weathers, Lexington, retiring editor of the Rotunda.

Assisting Sarah Wayne as editor of the Virginian were Mary Moore McCorkle, business manager, and Harriette Moore, managing editor.

4 Receive R-C Awards For 30 Hours' Service

In Chapel last week, Miss Margaret Sprunt Hale, one of the supervisors of the college unit for making surgical dressings, awarded to Betty Watts from Portsmouth; Virginia Treakle, Farmville; Margaret Pattle, Chapel Hill; and Lucille Cheatham, Midlothian, Red Cross head-dresses for thirty hours work in making surgical dressings. The head-dresses were given by the Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Pat Garth, chairman of the Y. W. C. A. Service Committee, which is in charge of bandage rolling, announced that over 1500 surgical dressings were made at the last meeting, Thursday, May 25. Pat succeeds Virginia Treakle as chairman of the committee.

War Council Plans Blood Bank Efforts For Next Year

Reports Given By Committees

Heading the list of plans for the College War Council for next year are moves toward cooperation with the Farmville Lions Club in forming a blood bank in Farmville, Harriette Moore, newly appointed Council head, announced at the meeting last week. The local Lions club has already made a start in setting up the bank in town and the college war council will endeavor to have the blood of all students typed that sufficient blood plasma may be sent to the fighting fronts.

For Editorial Comment See page 2

Reports and plans from the eight committee heads were given at the meeting. Frances Craddock, retiring War Finance head, reported that $2760 has been spent in war stamps and bonds through the committee during this session. Helen McGuire, new chairman, reported that stamps and bonds would be sold through the committee again next year, and that moves are being made to have unclaimed found articles from the Lost and Found committee sold to keep the council working.

Nell Holloway reported from the First Aid committee that first aid kits have been kept on each hall throughout the year and that a responsible group of people who have been trained in first aid have been stationed in each building in case of accidents during air raids and fire drills. Minnie Lee Crumpler will succeed Nell as chairman of this committee, through which plans for the blood bank are being worked out.

The Consumer Education committee has been enveloped in a new committee for next year, the College Conservation committee to help instruct students about wartime conservation and consummation.

Plans for next year for the Air Raid committee include more and better air raids and more instruction to students. The Etiquette Committee will continue to familiarize the students with flag and service ettiquittee, and the Morale Committee reported plans for programs for next year to keep the students informed as their part in winning the war and the peace.

Plans, too, are already underway for another War Day program for next year.

Neff, McCorkle, Hawthorne Speak In Today's Exercises

Pictured above are the first and second honor graduates who spoke on the program today, at the top, Mary Moore McCorkle, first honor graduate, and below, Frances Lee Hawthorne, who took second honors.

SENATOR WILLIAM N. NEFF

51 Graduates Sign Teaching Contracts

Teaching will claim the majority of the Seniors of 1944, but many will work in different fields.

Those who will teach are Betty Albright at Montvale; Lois Alphin at Beuna Vista; Jean Arington at Bedford; Carolyn Beard at South Norfolk; Lenore Bishop at Syringa; Eileen Bowles at South Norfolk; Emma Broyles at Bedford; Mary St. Clair Bugg at Suffolk; Caroline Caldwell in Bedford County; Lucille Cheatham at Botetourt; Jenny Clardy at Stuartsville; Mildred Corvin at Fairfax; Frances Craddock at Danville; Ruth Dugger at Marion; Mae Dunnavant at Achilles; Carolyn Early in Gloucester County; Rosemary Elam at Hopewell; Virginia Mae Ellett at Montvale; and Jane Ford at Hopewell.

Also Sara Wayne France at Charlottesville; Edith Gills in Henrico County; Joscelyn Gillum at Manassas; Elizabeth Goodwin in Spottsylvania; Delia Gregory at Cluster Springs; Mary Elizabeth Grizzard at Victoria; Vivian Gwalthney at Marion; Sue Harper at Chesterfield County; Mary Wood House in Halifax County; Katherine Johnson at Botetourt; Beth Johnson at Portsmouth; Margaret Lawrence at Holland; Lucille Lewis at Ashland; Mary Moore McCorkle at Berryville; and Betty Overcash at Chesterfield County.

Also Shirley Pierce at Roanoke, Mary Lee Pittard at Victoria; Gloria Pollard at Richmond; Ella Pool at Goochland; Nancy Powell at Aylet; Louise Ranson in Prince Edward County; Virginia

Continued on Page 4

Rock Hill Prof To Join Staff Here

Christy Snead, business education instructor from Winthrop College, Rock Hill, N. C., will be a member of the S.T.C. Commercial department next year. Previous to his position at Winthrop College, Mr. Snead was head of the Commercial department at Blackstone College.

Three instructors in the Commercial department have resigned their positions for next year. They are Richard G. Hallisy head of the department; Mrs. Mildred Y. Hallisy part - time instructor; and Mrs. Margaret S. Myers, assistant professor.

Honor Grads Announced

Ninety - nine students were awarded degrees by President J. L. Jarman at the 60th Commencement exercises at Farmville State Teachers College.

The Honorable William N. Neff, member of the State Board of Education and of the Virginia Senate, spoke to the graduation class on "A Call to Greatness".

"You are coming into no tired and static world in which, tied down by ancient usage, you must walk a predetermined path," the speaker told the class. "This is a dymanic and pulsing age, an age of opportunity, which calls for the courage and resourcefulness of youth to activate any wisdom which the elders may show themselves to possess."

"The great deeps have been broken up. The gods have become angry at the ancient wrongs and stupidities and have challenged men and women to prove their right to possess and enjoy a beautiful and bountiful world. It is a time for greatness."

The opening address was made by Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston, second honor graduate in the class, who expressed the appreciation of the class for the great opportunities they have been given in college and welcomed the guests to the 60th Commencement exercises.

Members of the Madrigal group of the College Choir presented two selections, "Come Again, Sweet Love," and "Here in Cool Grot", and the invocation was given by the Rev. P. A. Roberts.

Mary Moore McCorkle, Lexington, and first honor graduate in the class presented the valedictory, in which she, for the class, accepted the challenge offered by Senator Neff. "Alma Mater has given us of her best," she said, "for one purpose: that we may go forth to the task that is waiting for us."

Diplomas were awarded by Dr. J. L. Jarman, after which he announced the honor graduates of the class.

Those who were named as honor graduates are Lois Alphin, Geraldine Beckner, Louise Bell, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Caroline Caldwell, Lucille Cheatham, Patsy Connelly, Bernice Copenhaver, Frances Craddock, Hannah Lee Crawford, Ruth Dugger, Virginia Ellett, and Sarah Wayne France.

Continued on Page 4

Ruffin To Head Sigma Pi Rho

Jane Waring Ruffin, junior from Charles City County was selected president of Sigma Pi Rho, national honorary classicist fraternity, at an election meeting recently. She will succeed Frances Lee Hawthorne in this position.

Margaret Barksdale, junior from Java, was chosen vice-president to replace Mary St. Clair Bugg, and Mary Ann Dove, junior from Richmond, will take over the dutles of secretary and treasurer to succeed Marjorie Lee Culley.

At the meeting the spring issue of the Tributum, organ of the national organization was presented by this year's editor, Jane Waring Ruffin. Leading articles in the issue were an editorial by the editor on "The Conflict Between Science and the Humanities", and an article by Frances Lee Hawthorne, retiring president of the Virginia Alpha chapter on "Latin as a Basis for an Interlingua".

End of Freshman Year Brings Memories Of Hectic Days, Nights, Study, and Play

By BETTY BIBB

Rat Week Recalled

Now that this hectic year is over, I can start calling it "my wonderful Freshman year in COLLEGE. There were times, however, when I would hardly use that adjective to describe my days as a Rat at S. T. C. For example, my withered brain recalls:

Wandering up and down the block trying to find the building that everyone called the Rotunda . . . stuffing the contents of a trunk, two suitcases, a hatbox, and tennis racquets in half of a two-by nine closet . . trying to find the swimming pool in Junior building . . . watching the Sophs leave the dining hall to eat dinner in Southside . . . trying to get to third floor Main from second floor Annex . . . bowing reverently??? to Joan . . . . scrambling like an egg . . . dipping one cold toe into equally frigid bath water . . . standing in line at the water fountain; P. O.; to clean teeth; to get more bread; to get going home permission; to date; during Rat Week; and Cotillion week; getting phone call; getting our cherished annuals; . . . having thirty to a tub . . . telling to Higgins a different story from your roommate about a party at one o'clock . . .

Oh, when you come right down to it, those things weren't unpleadant. You can always talk about Longwood buns . . . the Hanging of the Greens; the lump in your throat during the "Y" instliation in Joan Court . . . Your first "A" on English . . . the visits to the suites in Cunningham . . . the nightly struggle to get a coke . . . your first cigarette . . . the sailors drifting alone and out with a woman . . . STC tank suits . . . "long distance holding the line" . . . the horrors of Rat Week . . . "I am a seditious, socialist . . ." . . . the 6 A .M. trek to the gym . . . long black stockings hanging from Red, Weary Ears . . . chicken fried on Sundays . . . hash on Monday . . . the first bumpety ride on Lindy . . . the Episcopal church bell . . . clearing the pool at 5:00 for the sailors . . . burning hours on the roof . . . meeting the gang at Butcher's . . . swooning over

Continued on Page 2

Dorm Life Remembered

Colonnade Sponsors Short Story Contest

The annual short story contest sponsored by the Colonnade has begun and will continue until October 15, Jane Knapton, editor, has announced.

Prizes for the contest will be five dollars, three dollars, and two dollars for the first, second, and third prizes respectively.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Margaret Sheffield ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen ... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Molling, Kathryn Hutchinson, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Ann Buck, Catherine Trower, Margie Hewlett, Lella Holloway, Nell Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Sarah Taliaferro, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee, Rachel Bourne.

TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1944

To the Seniors: Good Bye And Good Luck

This morning 99 more of Farmville's daughters went out into the world armed with four years of college life and a degree.

These students, now college graduates, go out into a world darkened by war, a world the pieces of which they must help to fit together in a lasting pattern of peace.

They have accepted the challenge given them by various speakers, by the world. They realize what lies ahead is not an easy road, but they know that dawn follows every night, that right must triumph, that a real honest effort can overcome any obstacle in the way. These things they have learned in their four years at Farmville.

These things and more.

This morning they lay waiting in the peaceful harbor of college, but now they have weighed the anchor and are setting forth on the rough and dangerous sea of life. With four years of experience in college to guide them, with the association with those more learned than they to serve as a rudder, they will take the ship to another harbor in safety.

Farmville is proud of her daughters. May good luck and smooth seas go with them.

Congratulations To the War Council

Last week at a meeting of the College War Council there were reports given by each of the eight working committees. This report is printed elsewhere in these columns. They are reports that the college can well be proud of. The work of the War Council in this school has been excellent and we take off our hats to those who have served on it.

Since its beginning here two years ago, the War Council has done much to coordinate the war efforts on this campus; it has served as a clearing house for all efforts. And more than that it has acted as a body furthering the cause of peace and democracy.

Plans for next year are already well under way. In answer to the cry from the battle fronts for more blood plasma, in answer to the students' cry for something "more" to be able to do, the War Council is taking the initiative in the college in cooperation with the local Lions Club in the formation of a blood bank in Farmville.

Plans, too, are being made for another "War Day" for next year. In the past two years this observance has been made twice. In January 1943 the War Council sponsored a program featuring the governor and other well known speakers and student discussions on physical fitness, consumer education, and much good has resulted. In January 1944 under the auspices of the War Council, an entire day was spent in student and faculty discussion groups on the various war theaters, that all might know something more about the battlefronts. And now a third program is being planned.

The War Council has done a good job on this campus. Here's to its continuation.

What This War Has Meant To Me

by AGNES STOKES

"This war can't have affected you very much. Your father is not fighting, your brothers are not in it, and you don't even have a sweetheart in the service." This statement was recently made in reference to our family. What a narrow, bias statement this is.

It is true that none of my intimate friends or members of my family are in the service, but it is no fault of theirs. Through agricultural work my father is trying to teach the farmers how to produce the best crops. My brothers are both anxious to join the air corps, but one is twelve years old and the other fifteen. Such is the situation in our family, and yet we have been much affected by the war in one way or another.

In the past few years a realization has come to me that all men can be brothers and can act as such if they choose. This is one effect the war has had upon me. If some one had told me five years ago that I would one day dance with an Indian, a Mexican, or a person of another race, I would have refused to believe them and ignored the statement. However, upon attending a U. S. O. dance and being asked to dance by an Indian, I did so without a moments hesitation and discovered that he was as interesting a person to talk with as the majority of my American friends. The American-Japanese soldier rides on the train perhaps with an American soldier. The Japanese is in the uniform of our country. He has been reared in American ways and speaks our language. The American forgets the color of the man and spends an enjoyable time conversing with him. Such a case as this more fully shows me that men can be friends regardless of color.

The United States is not all it's "cracked up" to be. How disillusioned I have been at times by incidents which have come up in my local town or in the government of our country. The war has brought out the utter selfishness of us Americans. We seem not to be able to "tighten our belts and take it on the chin." With the rationing system, which was to give each person a fair share, has come the black market because some felt they needed more and were not getting what they should. Even I find myself entering into periods of selfishness or thoughtlessness and complaining because I do not have and am unable to get the things I have been accustomed to having.

When I am here at school sometimes I can't realize that a war is being fought. At home it is more noticeable, for there the family is having to work harder. The defense work has taken many of the negroes who worked for my father and mother which means that I must contribute my share of work when I am at home. Of course I am glad to do my little bit, for it's one way of making me feel that I am a part of this great struggle.

"What feelings do you have when a report comes out that so many thousand of the enemy have been killed?" I feel very sorry that those people should have to die. It means, however, a quicker ending of the war. The statement causes no hatred to rise in my heart toward those people. I only hate their ideas and principles. My parents have taught me not to hate in that way. So, too, would our people act if put under subjection to leaders such as the Germans and Japanese have. If we would only stop to think of the great contributions our enemies have made, we would not be able to hat them so strongly.

The war has brought me in contact with many situations which have required that I act my best. This has been good for me. It has given me more poise and has helped me to develop my conversational ability. In meeting various service men it is necessary to approach each one in a different manner. At times it is quite trying to think of an appropriate remark to make; however, generally, I am able to say something which will lead the other person into talking or participating in the activities. It is quite different to carry on a conversation or be pleasant to a person who you know is not your social equal. The thought that he is fighting for me helps to breach the gap and puts me more at ease with the particular person, for I realize that there are really no levels in a society at total war.

Quite often recently I have found myself in a mood of feeling insecure. The war is responsible for this. Why should I continue my education at college? An army camp is only a few miles from my home. I could easily get a position there and make an excellent salary rather than go to school and spend my parent's money. What are we here for anyway? After the war is over there will probably be a depression which will be more severe than the one following the first world war. We college students and young people of today will have upon our shoulders the responsibility of settling right the affairs which our parents have so bungled. Such are the problems which face me and other sutdents. As yet no great challenge has been offered. Rebuilding a new world offers a certain amount of challenge, but a new world seems to distant to me. I want some stationary ideal or work, now, in which I feel that indeed I am contributing to victory. The teachers and advisers I meet tell me that the young girls are doing their part by securing an education and learning how to plan for the future. This seems very intangible. Isn't there some thing to be done while in college whi h will yield and show results?

My greatest comfort in these times of feeling insecure comes from my faith in the Eternal Father. Perhaps such times as these have been set here to try our faith and beliefs and make us stronger and more secure in them. One consolation is the knowledge that things can't continue the way they are happening at the present time.

A war is a dreadful occasion for any people. It means death, famine, desolation; and yet, as I have mentioned in the preceding paragraphs it brings good to many persons. If this war can help to cure us of our selfishness, our greed, our disregard for others and our utter complacency, perhaps our friends and loved ones shall not have died in vain.

(Ed. Note: The above essay is the first place winner in the recent Pi Gamma Mu contest for sophomores).

Question of the Week

What are you going to miss most after you leave S. T. C.?

Mary Liz Grizzard—The chapter girls.

Lucille Cheatham—The friendly spirit that makes everybody everybody else's friend.

Mary Moore McCorkle—Keeping up with the "belles".

Mary Lee Pittard—I don't know.

Nancy Watts—Next to Billy. I am going to miss my roommate.

Margaret Thomas — My suite mates and Joe.

Romella Syre—Sleeping late in the morning.

Ruthie Dugger—All the noise on the hall.

Betty Watts—All the girls.

Margie Lee Cully — My roommate.

Jane Ford—Caroline Caldwell.

Caroline Caldwell—Jane Ford.

Hannah Lee Crawford — I don't know, but I think it's going to be a pleasant miss.

Charlie Price—I'll miss the future beavers — Elise, Jean and Joyce.

"Jerry" Titmus—All my friends that sit up all night and my wee small hour prowls around.

Shirley Pierce — "The shoots" and everybody.

Joscelyn Gillum — The good times I have had while at S. T. C.

Nancy Langhorne — I don't know - there are too many things that I love.

Nancy Hutter—Playing golf and people.

Frances Lee Hawthorne — The girls.

Betty Overcash — Everybody's friendly "hello".

Louise Bell—Sleeping late in the morning.

Lucille Lewis — Uhmmmmmm, that would be telling.

Betty Albright — Bull sessions and running around to see everybody.

FRESHMAN MEMORIES

Continued from Page 1

Frankie . . . an UNPAID CHARGE ACCOUNT . . . package slips and Miss Taliaferro . . . nightly sessions of shooting the breeze . . . "Ringside Rotunda" seats . . . . dates and the Rec . . . dates and Longwood! . . . freshman class meetings . . . the hilarious triumph of our CIRCUS STUNT . . . the "duck wald" . . . Monday chapels and Miss Purdom . . . the trip to see your one and only . . . special dinners in the tea room . . . quiet prayers after supper . . . Green and White . . . the Jeep ride at Pickett . . . Charlie Hop's eternal grin . . . Monday movies . . . the chant from "the Desert Song" . . . the quiet dining room . . . the odor of food from down the hall . . . licking the fudge pan . . . suspicious bulges and missing napkins from the dining hall . . . borrowing a glass from the next table . . . May Day . . . the hot road to Longwood . . . formals fights with the roommate . . . changing sheeets . . . water battles . . . sports . . . good bock — unopened . . . EXAM-CRAM . . . empty mailboxes . . . specials . . . withered corsages . . . "Kiss" pictures . . . a new record . . . class production . . . class pride . . . Rat caps and black stockings . . . weekend trips . . . going "stag" . . . borrowed hats . . . Chapel and Chappell's . . . train schedules . . plans . . . senior tears and freshmen's solos . . . autographs and annuals . . . lost fountain pens . . . last classes . . . good-byes . . . GOING HOME.

Tidbits from Here 'n' Yon

With all the excitement of graduation piled right on top of examinations, these past few days have been rather packed full. Underclassmen have left, but mothers and sisters have taken their places in the dorms, and dates have swarmed the campus like flies.

We all welcomed Dodie's date for the dance. It seemed just like old times to have Tedo Savage back, and this time proudly wearing his wings. Hope to see a lot of you now that you are at Langley, Tedo.

Results of the Picket trip were still in evidence at the dance, but the H.-S. Navy stood on its own. The usuals were there in great numbers, Lucille Lewis and Ernest, Ellen Moore and David Noel, Pat Buckler and Frank, and just dozens more of familiar combinations and such new ones as Frances Wentzel and Andy Ney and Cora Red and John Mitchell.

Most rushed on the dance floor was undoubtedly the local gallant, Dr. Nick Dudley. He's been making the rounds since he was "drafted" as assistant golf instructor, Nice work, Hutter.

That Covington gal, Jane Knapton, had in tow one of the nicest soldiers we've met in a long time, and the friendly, almost mocking "hey" of Margaret Bear's Jimmy made quite an impression.

The general's aide with Anne Mingea made a hit, too, and Mingea practically had to employ poison to keep off snakes.

Anyway, the dance was a swell one, and thanks to the juniors for really ending the year with a bang. The gym looked lovely all done in red and white for the seniors with a "good luck" message for them.

But in spite of everything there was a little confusion somewhere. How did it happen that you had corsages to give away, Fonty?

'Twas real convenient for the "little sisters" who had dates Sunday afternoon. They took 'em out to pick diseases. "One I love, two I love, three I cast away. Do daisies ever tell?"

U. S. Treasury Department

Jarman Awards 99 Degrees At Commencement Exercises

Ninety-nine seniors were awarded degrees by Dr. J. L. Jarman at the commencement exercises this morning.

Girls receiving degrees were Sarah Elizabeth Albright, Chase City; Lois Webster Alphin, Lexington; Jean Arrington, Lynchburg; Carolyn Elizabeth Beard, Newport News; Edith Geraline Becker, Troutville; Louise Irene Bell, Berryville; Helen Lenore Bishop, LaCrosse; Mary Eileen Bowles, Danville; Betty Bridgforth, Kenbridge; Emma Wilson Broyles, Richmond; Mary St. Clair Bugg, Farmville; Margaret Caroline Caldwell, New Castle; Mary Lucille Cheatham, Midlothian; Evelyn Mae Chenault; Aylett; Jenny May Clardy, Keysville; Patsy Hargrave Connelley, Lebanon; Corena Bernice Copenhaver, Marion; Mildred J. Corvin, Crewe; Frances Allyne Craddock, Blackstone; Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville; Margie Lee Culley, Newport News; Barbara Lane Dickerson, Roanoke; Mildred Anne Droste, Roncerverte, West Virginia; Ruth Manville Dugger, Denbigh; and Leona Mae Dunnavant, Charlotte Court House.

Also, Carolyn Early, Ivanhoe; Julia Christian Eason, Richmond; Rosemary Virginia Elam, Prospect; Virginia Mae Ellett, Crewe; Evelyn Louise Faw, Roanoke; Margaret Jane Ford, Martinsville; Sara Wayne France, Charlottesville; Elizabeth Chappel Gates, Guinea Mills; Edith Goode Gills, Powhatan; Joscelyn Gillum, Manassas; Elizabeth D. Goodwin, Orange; Delia Bryan Gregory, South Boston; Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Drewryville; Vivian Warren Gwaltney, Windsor; Mary Kelso Harman, Norfolk; Sue Semple Harper, Richmond; Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston; Jane Augusta Himes, Roanoke; Elizabeth Chappel Hinman, Prospect; Mary Wood House, Prospect; Nancy Hutter, Lynchburg; Mary Katherine Ingham, Newport News; Sara Copeland Jeffreys, Goldsbro, North Carolina; Katherine Gertrude Johnson, Dolphin; Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, Franklin; Elizabeth Ann Jordan, Waynesboro; Marie Catherine Kelley, Portsmouth; Nancy Langhorne, Evington; Margaret Lee Lawrence, Windsor; Roberta Anna Leatherbury, Machipongo; Maude Lucille Lewis, Culpeper; Betty Wales Little, Ivor; Mary Moore McCorkle, Lexington, Louise McCorkle, Farmville; Jane McFall, Danville; Mildred Ernestine Morgan, Andersonville; Faye Elizabeth Nimmo, Suffolk; Alice Elizabeth Overcash, Hampden - Sydney; Josephine Bishop Paxton, Farmville; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke; Shirley Hunter Pierce, Roanoke; Mary Lee Pittard, Buffalo Junction; Gloria Urle Pollard, Richmond; Mary Ella Pool, Virginia, Nancy Joan Powell, Covington; and Charles Anna Price, Reidsville, N. C.

Also, Frances Page Rainey, Curdsville; Nancy Louise Ranson, Farmville; Nell Elizabeth Richard, Norfolk; Romelia Elizabeth Sayre, Hampton; Ellen Elizabeth Scott, Farmville; Mary Virginia Seward, Elberon; Gene Hardaway Seymour, Brodnax; Helen Virginia Shaw, Hampton; Dorothy Sue Simmons, Fincastle; Jane Elizabeth Smith, Franklin; Ann Lauretta Snyder, Newport News; Blanche Christine Steele, Winton, North Carolina; Gary Page Stone, Sweet Hall; Jeanne Clair Strick, Farmville; Frances May Strohecker, Boydton; Elizabeth Berkeley Tennent, Hopewell; Margaret Chevallie Thomas, Richmond; Lyde Spotswood Thompson, Tazewell; Jerolien Tanner Titmus, Petersburg; Virginia Ruth Trear, Farmville; Sarah Castleton Trigg, Hopewell; Betty Louise Watts, Portsmouth; Myrtle Virginia Watts, Adsit; Nancy Watts, Charleston, Wesst Virginia; Ella Banks Weathers, Lexington; Anne Carrel Williams, Richmond; Mildred Louise Willson, Amelia; and Mary Gladys Wilson, Bremo Bluff.

We wish all of you happiness and Success!

When in Farmville, come to see us

COLLINS FLORIST

Two Sororities Tie For Scholastic Record

Mu Omega and Phi Zeta Sigma sororities tied for first place in scholastic standing during the winter quarter, Miss Ruth Gleaves, Panhel adviser recently announced. The average for all the members in both of the groups was 1.93. Second place was taken by Gamma Theta with an average for all its members of 1.84.

Other sororities on campus ranked as follows, Pi Kappa Sigma, 1.77; Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1.77; Alpha Sigma Tau, 1.75; Theta Sigma Upsilon, 1.72 and Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.71.

Congratulations to the Seniors

Martin the Jeweler

To the Seniors We wish happiness and success

In All That You Do

ROSE'S 5-10-25c Stores

Farmville's Most Popular Store

Staple and Fancy Groceries

Green Front Store

W. J. Hillsman, Prop.

Phone 139

Harriette Moore, new head of the College War Council. For reports and plans of the Council, See page 1.

Senior Athletes Receive Blazers

Each year in athletics there are always found some girls who are outstanding in athletics, and these are the girls who have blazers presented by the Athletic council. Not all these girls are physical education majors, but are girls who are interested in sport activities.

Patsy Connelly, who has a white blazer, was past president of the A. A. and has played basketball and hockey while here at S. T. C. Ruth Dugger and Mildred Droste, who are blazer owners, have gone hand and hand in athletics. They have played hockey, basketball, softball, volleyball, swimming and tennis, participating in nearly all the sports. Shirley Pierce, also owner of a blue blazer, has done outstanding work in swimming, for she was instructor in swimming this past year. She has also participated in other major activities on the athletic calender.

Dottie Sue Simmons has been this past year's manager of basketball, and this is her outstanding sports activity. Sara Jefferies who has a blue blazer as does Dottie Sue, has done outstanding work in archery. She placed second in this year's archery tournament.

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

College Shoppe

S. T. C. Students

Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—

COLUMBIA VICTOR DECCA

Wilson's Firestone Store

311 West Third Street

East Announces Table Hostesses

Table hostesses for next year were announced this week by Sarah Lee East, head dining hall hostess.

Girls serving as hostesses are Betty Adams, Richmond Margaret Alvis, Lynchburg Jane Anderson, Farmville; Eleanor Bisese, Norfolk; Nancy Blair, Gloucester Point; Louise Blane, Alton; Carolyn Bobbitt, South Hill; Lucy Bowling, Farmville; Betty Brothers, Suffolk; Edith Bryant, Branchville; Freddie Anne Butt; Portsmouth; Betty Cock, Hampton; Geneva Coleman, Blackstone; Minnie Lee Crumpler, Suffolk; Shirley Cruser, Norfolk; and Dorothy Cummings, Charlottesville.

Also, Kitty East, Altavista; Betty Ellis, Coral Gables, Florida; Vivian Edmunds, Norfolk; Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Cape Charles; Dorothy Gelston, Hudson Heights; New Jersey; Evelyn Grizzard, Drewryville; Margie Hewlett, Richmond; Rosa Hill, Windsor; Lelia Holloway, Purdy; Emily Humphries, Hinton, West Virginia; Spotwood Hunnicutt, Stony Creek; Martha Ellen Jones, Buckingham; Lucille Jones, Staunton; Isabel Key, Bedford; Frances Lee, Richmond; Katherine Lynch, Lebanon; Margaret McIntyre, Marion, South Carolina; Lucy McKenry, Manassas; Anne Martin, Suffolk; Kitty Maddox, Lynchburg; Julia Messick, Front Royal; Rebecca Norfleet, Virginia Beach; Dorothy Overcash, Hampden-Sydney; Dorothy Overstreet, Bedford; Connie Ozlin, Chase City; and Jackie Parden, Norfolk.

Also Alice Parkhurst, Boydton; Virginia Parson, Stony Creek; Glenn Anne Patterson, Kenbridge; Jane Paulette, South Hill; Catherine Prebble, Lynchburg; Mary Jane Richards, Toano; Jean Riddick, Hickory; Nell Scott, Stuart; Virginia Shackleford, Gloucester Point; Marguerite Stephenson, Wakefield; and Ester Shevick, Richmond.

Also, Mildred Shiflett, Palmyra; Helen Stites, Memphis, Tennessee; Agnes Stoakes, Kenbridge; Mary Spradlin, Roanoke; Barbara Surface, Roanoke; Lorene Thomas, Lawrenceville; Katherine Tindall, Hatton; Faith Weeks, Purdy; Virginia Wells, Forest; Martha Lee White, Richmond, and Betty Woodward, Barhamsville.

Additional table hostesses will be announced next fall.

Kodak Films

Printed and Developed 25c Entire Roll

Southside Drug Store

Best Wishes and congratulations!

TO EACH OF YOU SENIORS!

A Happy Vacation to All!

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Farmville's Newest and Finest 5-10-25c Store

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to

Kleanwell Cleaners

Opposite Postoffice

See Betty Bridgeforth Our Representative

Peoples National Bank

Farmville, Virginia

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT COURTEOUS SERVICE

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

"Your help really counts when you're a WAC!"

say America's college girls

★ Corporal Margaret E. Wyant, University of California. "My family has three men in the Armed Forces, so I couldn't just wait for the war to end. In the Women's Army Corps, I'm working for victory—and I know it's work that'll help bring our boys home sooner."

★ Sergeant Anne MacIntash, New York University. "My job is one that any college girl would be proud to do—intelligence work at an Army post! With 239 different jobs to choose from, every Wac has a chance to do work she's fitted for and enjoys."

★ Private Mary E. Murray, South West Missouri Teachers' College. "Being a Wac makes me feel I'm helping my country—while I help myself, too. I'm getting valuable training and experience for a post-war career. And I'm all set to go new places."

★ Major Cara W. Bass, Mississippi State College. "As a member of the General Staff of the Second Service Command, I see daily the urgent need for more and more Wacs. To every college girl it's a chance to serve her country in a truly important way."

New WAC opportunity for college girls

If you want to finish your college work before starting your Army career, you can enlist now and arrange to be called later—any time within the next 4 months.

The ARMY needs Wacs

... The WAC needs you!

WOMEN'S ARMY CORPS

★—MAIL THIS COUPON FOR INTERESTING FREE BOOKLET—★

U. S. ARMY RECRUITING STATION

Room 512 Parcel Post Bldg.

Richmond, Va.

I should like complete information about the WAC.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ Age _____

State _____ Phone Number _____

Here's Wishing the Best Always to some grand seniors!

We will surely miss you. We'll be looking forward to the arrival of all of you other girls next year and we wish to each of you a HAPPY VACATION!

BALDWIN'S

Retiring, Resigning Staff Members Honored at Tea Room Banquet May 24

Members of the college administration and faculty not returning to college next fall were entertained at a banquet in the college tea room May 24.

The dinner honored Miss Mary White Cox, head of the home; Miss Sarah Boyd Tucker, associate professor of history and social science; Miss Lisabeth Purdom, assistant professor of music; Miss Mary Macaulay Snead, associate librarian; Miss Rachel Royall, secretary to the Head of the Home; and Miss Georgiana Stephenson, seventh grade supervisor. Also, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hallisy, head of the business education department and part-time instructor respectively; Mr. Alfred L. Wingo, state high school counselor, and Mr. C. L. Ramsey, principal of the Farmville high school.

Dr. Jarman presided at the dinner, and toasts were made to each of the honored guests. The first toast was made to Miss Mary White Cox by Miss Carrie B. Taliaferro. In her toast, Miss Taliaferro said,

"I am the voice of the Administration wherein Miss Mary has played so ably her part in formulating policies for the College, and by her unusual talents for organization and execution of plans, has carried them out so efficiently.

"I am the voice of the Home Department, which has always felt her guiding hand and deep interest in the home making phases of this large establishment.

"I am the voice of the Faculty, to whom Miss Mary has ever been the gracious hostess, the personal friend, the wise counselor when student problems have arisen.

"I am the voice of her girls, repeating the dedication of the VIRGINIAN of 1938: "With the utmost tact and poise, Miss Mary presides as the head of the home department. Patient and understanding in her relations with the student body she holds dear the standards and welfare of Alma Mater, and devotes unceasing effort to its cause. Her deep appreciation for honest effort makes pleasing her a pleasure; her sympathy for our problems and her charming manner have won our admiration and devotion."

"I am the voice of the men and women in the dining room and kitchen, on the halls, on the grounds, who in earlier times especially, brought to Miss Mary and her father their financial worries, their family troubles, and their occasions of rejoicing, sure of help and a sympathetic hearing.

"I am the voice of thousands of alumnae (or shall I say "old girls"?) whose homes are found in every section of Virginia, as far away as the borders of the United States, and across the seas. From them come letters, messages, Founders Day notes, greeting cards, wedding announcements, pictures of their children. Miss Mary to them is Alma Mater.

"I am the voice of this host of friends of the past and present, saying to you, Miss Mary, we are wishing you happiness and good fortune and the enjoyment of that leisure you have so richly earned, and we are glad you will still be near us, just around the corner. And now I propose a toast to Miss Mary, our First Lady of Farmville State Teachers College."

Summer Weddings Planned by STC-ers

Careers picked by S.T.C. girls are many and varied, but by far the most exciting are the summer weddings which are planned.

Marion Hubbard will marry Norman Tate sometime during June. Shirley Skinner will marry Benjamin Glandye in June. Marion and Shirley were freshmen at S.T.C.

Jane Danby will marry Joe Eddins in July or the latter part of the summer. Viola Surring is engaged to Donald Rahr and plans to be married sometime during the summer. Jane and Viola were sophomores at S.T.C.

Betty Blackwell is planning an early fall wedding to Beverly Felty. Lillian Goddin will be the bride of Richmond Hamilton. These two girls were juniors.

Among the senior brides-to-be are Frances Craddock, who will marry Walter Hardy in the fall; Charlotte Correll, who will be the bride of Withers Floyd on Monday; Ella Banks Weathers, who will marry Bill Boyle on July 20; and Ernestine Morgan, who plans a September wedding to Curtis Holloman.

The diamond rings flashing, around on the campus are many and when this reporter quizzed the lucky girls, "after the war," "when he gets a 15-day furlough," "on his next leave, maybe", were the tentative plans.

The Rev. D .D. Holt, who delivered the baccalaureate address Sunday night.

Camps Claim 9 Girls For Summer Months

Many of the S.T.C.'ers will be headed for camps this summer, after a short vacation at home. Some are going to camp for the first time, while some are going as experienced campers, but all are going as counselors of one form or the other.

Dottie Sue Simmons for example will go to Clifton Forge, Virginia, as recreational director and swimming instructor for the Virginia Music Camp. Shirley Pierce will be water front director at Camp Lynnhaven at Virginia Beach. Betsy Matthews will be water front director at the Roanoke Girl Scout Camp for six weeks.

51 Graduates Sign

Continued from Page 1

Seward at Windsor; Gene Seymour in Norfolk County; Jane Smith in Albemarle County; Blanche Steel in Bedford County; Margaret Thomas at Suffolk, Jerry Tilmus at Bedford; Betty Watts at Portsmouth; Virginia Watts at Courtland; Nancy Watts at Bedford; Frances Anne Wilkerson at Lawrenceville; and Mildred Wilson in Henrico County.

Gerry Beckner and Nell Richard plan to do graduate work at Columbia University while Betty Bridgeforth will study at University of North Carolina and Hannah Lee Crawford at Richmond Professional Institute.

Those planning to enter the Signal Corps are Nancy Hutter, Nancy Loughorne, Frances Rainey, and Elizabeth Ann Jordan.

Louise Bell and Patsy Connelly will work at Dupont, in Richmond.

Barbara Dickerson and Augusta Himes plan to work at the N. and W. offices in Roanoke, and Evelyn Faw will work in a bank in Roanoke, while Mary Evelyn Pearsall will work at Pearsall's Studio there.

Elizabeth Gates plans to go in training; Mary Katherine Ingham will work as a laboratory technician in Wilmington, N. C.; and Romelia Sayre plans to work at Langley Field, Va., while Ann Snyder will work in the Newport News shipyard.

Other members of the class have not decided what they will do next year.

But Vermont is claiming most of the S. T. C. campers and all at the same camp. Grace Loyd, Phylliss Watts, Pat Garth, Nancy Whitehead, Robin Lear and Dot Owen will be found in the piney woods of New England.

Honor Grads

Continued from Page 1

Also Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Mrs. Elizabeth Chappell Hinman, Katherine Johnson, Beth Johnson, Elizabeth Ann Jordan, Mary Moore McCorkle, Faye Nimmo, Betty Overcash, Helen Shaw, Jane Smith, Jeanne Strick, Elizabeth Tennent, Sarah Trigg, Betty Watts, Mildred Willson, and Gladys Wilson.

A Washingtoon-born Negro, Dr. Mercer Cook, heads the English-teaching program of Haiti. Since Dr. Cook arrived in Haiti last September, the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs says, he has worked to make English a second language in Haiti and to strengthen the ties between Haiti and the United States.

Congratulations
And Best Wishes
TO THE SENIORS
SHANNON'S

The Best Always
A Happy Summer
To a Fine Class of Graduates
TO YOU ALL
DE LUXE CLEANERS

To the Members of the Faculty And Student Body—
We appreciate your business of '43 and '44. We wish each of you a happy vacation.
BUTCHER'S

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

BEST WISHES AND LUCK TO ALL OF YOU SENIORS
We will surely miss you!
DOROTHY MAY STORE

TO THE SENIORS
we wish all of the success and happiness in the world!
To all of you others we wish a very happy vacation!
We'll be seeing you in the fall!
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Terrific FRED WARING'S VICTORY TUNES Five Nights a Week all NBC Stations
Sensational JOHN NESBITT'S PASSING PARADE Tues.Wed.Thurs.Nights all CBS Stations

DO YOU HAVE NEWSPAPER INK IN YOUR BLOOD VEINS?

The Rotunda

THEN TRY-OUT TONIGHT FOR THE ROTUNDA STAFF

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 27, 1944 | NO. 1

Smith Is Dean of Women; Took Over Duties In June

Alumna To Assist In Dean's Office

Martha Smith-Smith, a Kentuckian by birth, took up her duties as Dean of Women at STC in June. Serving as assistant to the Dean is Miss Alpha Lee Garnett, of Richmond.

Dean Smith received her AB degree from Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana; her MA from Birmingham - Southern, Birmingham, Alabama; and her Ph. D. from the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Before coming to Farmville Dean Smith was Dean of Women at the Nebraska State Teachers College, Wayne, Nebraska, for eight years. Prior to that she was correspondence instructor in etiquette and French in the Extension Division, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska. She is the author of two books which were used by the Extension Division, Correspondence Course in Etiquette and Course in French.

DEAN SMITH

A member of the American Association of University Women and the American Association of Deans of Women, Dean Smith has been cited in the current issue of Who's Who in American Education, in Who's Who Among Women; American Women, Volume III, 1939-40; International Blue Book, Cambridge Edition, 1941; and Woman's Who's Who, Vol. 1 1941-42.

Miss Garnett received her B. S. degree from Farmville and for three years taught in the Ravenscroft School, Raleigh, North Carolina. Before coming to STC, she was doing Red Cross work at the Army Air Base located near Richmond.

Phi Zeta Sorority Leads In Averages

Phi Zeta Sigma led the sororities in the scholastic average for the spring quarter with 1.94, according to an announcement made this week by Miss Ruth Gleaves, Pan-Hellenic adviser. Mu Omega and Alpha Sigma Tau were next in scholastic achievement with an average of 1.88, while Gamma Theta had an average of 1.87. Alpha Sigma Alpha had an average of 1.82; Theta Sigma Upsilon of 1.77; Sigma Sigma Sigma of 1.73; and Pi Kappa Sigma of 1.67.

Also leading the scholastic averages for the year, Phi Zeta Sigma reached an average of 1.97. Following second was Mu Omega with an average of 1.91, while Gamma Theta held 1.87 and Pi Kappa Sigma held 1.84. Alpha Sigma Tau placed fifth with an average of 1.83; Sigma Sigma Sigma sixth with an average of 1.79; Theta Sigma Upsilon seventh with an average of 1.75; and Alpha Sigma Alpha eighth with an average of 1.72.

Dean Announces Changes In College Rules, Regulations

Since her arrival here last summer, Dean Smith has found it necessary to make arrangements for stricter enforcements of some of the student regulations, and to make minor changes in the regulations as printed in the handbook and on the cards in the dormitory rooms. For the convenience of the students, these changes are printed here.

To enforce the House Council regulation that all students be in by a specified time every night, Dean Smith has arranged a system of room checks. These checks will be made by the hall presidents and a report turned in to the house mother each night.

For freshmen and sophomores in the Main Building, this room check will be at 10:30 o'clock p. m. on week nights and at 11 o'clock p .m. on Saturday and Sunday nights. In Richardson, room check will be at 10:30 o'clock p. m. every night. This means that the students must be in their own rooms at this time.

For juniors and seniors in Cunningham Hall, room check will be shortly after 10:30 o'clock p. m. on week nights. Room check for juniors will be shortly after 11 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and Sunday nights, and for seniors shortly after midnight. This does not mean that juniors and seniors must remain in their rooms after the check.

In addition to room check, Dean Smith has arranged to have the doors to the dormitories locked at a specific time each night. The doors to the Main Building will be locked at 10 o'clock p. m. on week nights and at 11 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and Sunday nights. All students who live in Cunningham Hall must be out of the Main Building by this time. The doors of Richardson will be locked at 10 o'clock p. m. every night.

Cunningham Hall will be locked at 10:30 o'clock p. m. on week nights. Junior Building will be

Continued on Page 4

Rotunda Try-Outs Will Meet Tonight

Anyone interested in trying out for positions on the Rotunda staff please meet in Publication Office next to the Little Auditorium in Student Building immediately after Capping tonight, Wednesday September 27.

There are vacancies to be filled on the news, feature, social, and sports staffs, as well as in the proofing, typing, circulation, and advertising departments.

Enrollment Statistics Show Big Increase As 842 Matriculate In First Week; College Staff Adds 10 Faculty Members

Davisson, Landrum Head Departments

Ten new faculty members have been added to various departments in College, according to an announcement made this week. Each of these will serve as an associate or an assistant professor, except in the case of Arthur Paul Davisson, who will be acting head of the department of biology during the absence of Dr. G. W. Jeffers who is on leave, and of Merle Landrum, who returns to head the commercial department.

Mr. Davisson, who is working on his doctorate at the University of Pittsburg, has an A. B. from Fairmont State College of Fairmont, West Virginia; a B. S. from the University of Kentucky, and an M. S. from the West Virginia University. He taught for several years in public schools of West Virginia and comes to Farmville from Fairmont College.

Commercial Department

New members of the business department are Miss Zita C. Bellamy, Miss Olive Parmenter, and Mr. Christy Snead. Miss Bellamy received bachelor and masters degrees at John B. Stetson University, DeLand, Florida. Having completed her course of work for a doctorate at the University of Pittsburgh, she is now working on her dissertation. She comes to Farmville from Tusculum College in Greeneville, Tenn., where she was an associate professor of business education. Prior to this, she taught in Florida and at East Carolina Teachers College in North Carolina.

Miss Olive Parmenter from Lima, Ohio, received her bachelor degree at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio, and her masters at Columbia University. At present, she is doing some graduate work at the New York University through correspondence. Having taught in Ohio public schools, she comes here from St. Lawrence University, Canton, New York, where she has been for three years. She will serve as an assistant professor of business education.

Also serving as an assistant professor of business education is Christy Snead. He received his bachelor degree from the Bowling Green College of Commerce, Bowling Green, Kentucky, and his masters from the University of Kentucky. He served as head of the commerce department and field representative of Blackstone College and comes here from Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina.

Continued on Page 4

Pictured above are the new members of the faculty. Front row, l. to r., Miss Terry, Mrs. Lemen, Mrs. Bradshaw, Miss Garnett (assistant to the Dean), Miss Dabney. Second row, l. to r., Mr. Moss, Miss Parmenter, Miss Bellamy, Mr. Snead. Back row, Mr. Landrum. Mr. Davisson was absent when the picture was taken.

Music Groups Plan Tentative Program For School Year

Tentative plans for the year's work in the department of music were revealed to the press this week by Alfred H. Strick, head of the department.

Plans are now under way for the annual Christmas concert at hich time two artists, Jean Love, an Australian soprano, and James Montgomery, a New York tenor, will be presented. Assisting the choir at the concert will be the Choral Club, the Madrigal Group, and the Junior and Senior A'Capella Choirs.

Working with a nationally known university glee club, the College Choir will sing the "Messiah" at the spring concert. Robery Crawford who was baritone soloist in the "Requiem" last spring has been enjoyed for this oratoria.

The choir has been invited to appear at Duke University again this year and to give a concert in Richmond.

Arrangements are also being made for special music programs in chapel when Dr. J. W. Walmsley, head of the history and social science department, will give annotations of great hymns which the choir sings.

Officers of the College Choir include Anne Blair, president; Pat Maddox, vice - president; Jean Prosise, secretary; and Julia Messick, treasurer.

Faculty Advisers, Students Assist In Orientation

Twenty-six faculty members and fifty-two students assisted with the freshman orientation classes, according to an announcement made this week by Ophelia Whittle, who was in charge of the program.

Those faculty members and students who served were Emily Barksdale with Barbara Scott and Freddie Ann Butt; Virginia Bedford, with Betsy Caldwell and Lucie McKenry; Elizabeth Burger, with Martha Higgins and Barbara Surface; Alice Carter, with Jean Prosise and Betty Brothers; M. B Coyner, with Marilyn Bell and Minnie Lee Crumpler; Helen Draper, with Helen Wilson and Shirley Cruser; Raymond French, with Ophelia Whittle and Minnie Rose Hawthorne, and Ruth Gleaves, with Dora Walker Jones and Virginia Shackleford.

Also Sybil Henry, with Sarah Lee East and Martha Lee White; Mary Clay Hiner, with Lucy Messick and Agnes Stokes; Olive Iler, with Mary Walker Watts and Margaret Orange; Lucille Jennings, with Mary Ann Jarratt and Dorothy Overcash; Edgar Johnson, with Helen McGuire and Jane Philhower; Emily Kauzlarich, with Sally Robertson and Frances Shackleford; T. A. McCorkle, with Patricia Mattox and Carlottta Norfleet and Grace Moran, with Ann Blair and Nancy Pitts.

Also C. C. G. Moss with Marilyn Johnson and Eleanor Bisese; Mary Nichols, with Faye Johnson and Catherine Lynch; Olive Parmenter, with Nancy Harrell and Kitty Maddox; Christia Snead

Continued on Page 3

Frosh Number 316; 130 Seniors Listed

According to figures released from the office of the registrar Monday, September 25, 842 students have matriculated for the sixty-seventh session of Farmville State Teachers College. As compared with last year's enrollment for the first week of 792, there is an increase of 50 students.

Of the total enrollment, there are approximately 316 freshmen and 27 transfers. There are approximately 130 seniors registered this year whereas there were only about 100 last year. Statistics also reveal that the sophomore class this session is larger than last year's class.

Coming from almost every county in Virginia, students also have matriculated from several other states. There are six new students from Puerto Rico, one new student from Brazil and one from the Panama Canal Zone.

Even though classes started September 22, the enrollment of 842 students is not completely accurate as yet since students are still matriculating.

Jeffers Granted Leave of Absence For Fisheries Study

On a year's leave of absence from State Teachers College, Dr. G. W. Jeffers is serving as director of the Chesapeake Bay Fisheries Study. The study is being conducted under auspices of Chesapeake Bay Commission, of which Dean Ivey Lewis of the University of Virginia is chairman. The survey is financed by the General Education Board.

During this year, Dr. Jeffers' place as head of the department of biology is being filled by Arthur Paul Davisson of Fairmont, West Virginia, who is working on this doctorate at the University of Pittsburg.

The study which Dr. Jeffers is directing this year is an extensive one intended to determine causes for the decline during the past several years of the fishing industry and its related industries. Oysters and other shell fish of the Chesapeake region are included in the investigations which will continue until next September. Consultations will be held with scientists and experts from all sections of the country; there will be in addition to surveys in the immediate territory, covering fishermen, packers, shippers, and others directly engaged in various phases of the industry.

Cooperating in the work are the Universities of Virginia and Maryland, William and Mary College, and Johns Hopkins University.

NOTICE

All girls who are interested in becoming apprentices for the Dramatic Club this season are invited to attend a meeting in the Large Auditorium tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. This will include a program introducing the various departments to those expecting to tryout for membership, as well as to bring the old girls together with those freshmen who may be interested, according to Sally Robertson, president.

Try-outs for the fall play will be held immediately after this meeting.

Jolly Junior Risks Family Connections By Frank Expose of Petty School Problems

Long Letter Home Relays Incidents

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

Dear Family,

Well, here we are back again . . . for the third time. Things change a little every year, but this year took a complete turn . . . not for better or for worse, particularly, just kinda inside-out!

At least we're living on the first floor. That is nice because there is no one under us to complain when we throw the beds at each other or do our reducing exercises. The only trouble with it so far has been the night the soldier looked in our window while we were cooking Clam Chowder, and the trouble with that was he left in such a hurry we couldn't catch him. Oh, yes . . . please send me some money for a Bear Trap which we are going to buy from the Farmville Supply Company.

The Clam Chowder was nice. The clams must have been awful deep in the mud, though; they couldn't wait to dig 'em up before they made the chowder, so it was more chowder than clam, but we ate it anyway. Whoever lived in this room last year left an Army "C" ration in the back corner of the closet so we thought we had biscuits to go with the chowder. We got the clam can open o. k. but we broke the can-opener trying to open a biscuit. I'm glad I'm at school and not in the Army. We also tried to make lemon pie, and we did, but the meringue was a little runny because our new egg-beater is the wartype and can eapart before we could beat the eggs. By the way, if you could increase my allowance a little, hope to eat two meals a day in the Tea Room and one at the Hotel or the Southside or some other place of interest here in Farmville.

The Freshmen are ever so cute, as usual. They're a bright group

Continued on Page 4

Lack of Cash Dominant Curse

Short Story Contest To End November 1

Jane Knapton, editor of the Colonnade, has set November 1 as the deadline for entries for the Short Story contest.

A short story contest is sponsored each year by the Colonnade, the college magazine, which runs throughout the summer. Anyone can make any number of entries and are requested to enter as many stories as possible. There will be three prizes and two or three honorable mentions for those stories which are judged to be the best.

Welcome to Dean Smith, Farmville's "First Lady"

We welcome to our campus this fall, in addition to some 300 freshmen and 11 new faculty members, Martha Smith-Smith in the newly created position of Dean.

And already Dean Smith has endeared herself to Farmville girls, the faculty and the administration, because of her graciousness, her understanding, her acceptance of Farmville traditions, her indefatigable energy in working to make this school an even better and happier "second home" and "institution of higher learning."

Coming to Farmville with much experience in working with girls, Dean Smith has endeavored to iron out some of the kinks in the enforcement of long-standing regulations, and in the light of her former experience and of her work here this summer, she has instituted a few minor changes, which are printed elsewhere in this paper.

May we take this opportunity to welcome Dean Smith in behalf of the Student Body and to pledge to her our cooperation in making her work here as pleasant as she has already proved her eagerness to make ours.

A Week of Orientation— And the Future Beckons

Last week the doors of Farmville were opened to begin the 57th session of this college.

For the upperclassmen, it has been a week for renewing friendships, for reviewing the summer of seperation from their classmates, gor reviving the campus organizations and setting the wheels in motion for the coming year.

For the new girls it has been a period of adjustment. They have been taught something of the traditions and the regulations of this school. They have gone through the gruelling experience of schedule making, they have suffered the pangs of homesickness, they have met new girls, made new friends. They have become adjusted to living with 900 people night and day. They have seen some of the organizations in action. And now they are a part of Farmville. Already they feel a little of what we proudly and vaguely call the "Farmville spirit."

Yes it has been a week of confusion for all. But now it is time to settle down to the task before us. It is a new year for all of us, and the beginning of it is the time to resolve that it shall be a valuable year.

To every college student is proffered the challenge of the future. And these days, these weeks, these months, these years, in college are designed to prepare us to accept that challenge and to fulfill its utmost implications. They are years on which we shall, in later years, place an inestimable value. They are years to be filled with study, with play, with people. They are years to be filled with a well rounded program of class work, athletics, extra curricula.

Freshmen, make the most of the four years ahead of you. Upperclassmen, work double time to make up for that which has been lost in the past. We must be ready when our time comes to take up the torch and we must carry it high in Farmville tradition.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Molling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margie Hewlett, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Lonise Blanc.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spry e, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1944

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

Today there is hope for the heroic airborne troops that have been trapped in Arnhem in Holland. The first contact with the encircled men was made by the Second Army. To this division fighting with bayonets, bazookas, and tommy guns against German tanks and artillery, the contact is a link with life itself. The allied position in Holland has also been improved by the reopening of the Eindhoven-Nijmegen line which had been cut by the Germans. It is anticipated that soon we will be able to launch a new offensive from Arnhem if the Second Army can make a permanent "juncture" with the airborne force.

* * * *

There have been no new developments on the remainder of the western front, but in the Gothic zone our troops have broken the entire eastern half of the Gothic line. The U. S. Fifth and British Eighth Armies, now within sight of Po Valley, have taken over 10,000 prisoners in this new offensive.

* * * *

Along the Russian front there is continual advancement, both Czechoslovakia's and Hungary's borders have been crossed and in Estonia the sea port of Paldiski has been taken. The Soviet fleet is now taking part in the offensive after years of remaining idle at Kronstadt.

* * * *

The most encouraging news from the Pacific is that the Japanese fleet has withdrawn from the Philippines and that her air force has been broken. Our air assaults have been directed mainly at the Manila Bay area, Cavite naval base, Nichols and Clark airfields, destroying in two days as many as forty ships, three hundred fifty-seven aircraft, and damaging many more. The way to the Philippines is wide open.

* * * *

In China, Japan is driving toward Kweilin from Chauhsien, sixty-seven miles north. Kweilin is a vital town which the allies cannot afford to lose. Counteracting this Japanese threat the Allies have forced the Japanese to evacuate Puigha, twenty-two miles southwest of the Burma Road.

* * * *

Of as much interest as the war news is the approaching election in our own country. Being neither politician nor crystal gazer, the writer declines to comment.

Heard—

After Bedcheck

When a new class comes in and a new year begins, there's usually lots to talk about—and plenty to hear! And this year is no exception.

The first thing that hit everybody, of course, was the marriage of Mrs. Dan Sharp, nee Miss Lucy Manson. Congratulations and very best wishes to you both.

Then there is the engagement of Aline Boss to Bill, for which we're all very happy.

Then, the big event of one Grayson calling Marion cannot be overlooked—and incidentally, isn't he arriving this week?!

After nightly calls last week "he" finally got Judy and she immediately left for Camp Lee—could it be love?!

Julie Hunt says the next time anybody tries to tell her what's right or wrong, her name had better not be Miss Alexander! How about it, Julie?!

And who, pray tell, is Jo Beatty's attractive Ensign who so idly snaps pictures of students passing on the campus ! Better watch that, Jo!

Why all the mystery surrounding your frat pin, Glenn Ann? You didn't take it from him, did you?!

It seems that nobody can quite keep up with the numerous dates of Dave Crute; they're so many, so we don't even try.

Again, Faith Weeks appears all starry-eyed; she's been out to see Sterling again. Really looks as though she puts him above college!

A mass of brickbats go here to juniors who begin the year by dating in Senior Rec and abuse their privileges.

And anybody in Fay Johnson's room could hardly overlook the dozen red roses there. And you see the same sight in Nancy Almond's room. Cute Girls!

Then there's the freshman who got such a romantic letter from her love back home, only to discover later he had copied it from one of his sister's old discarded love-notes!

Maybe we'd better shut off this Scuttlebutt, before something is really said.

The Y

By MARGIE HEWLETT

Welcome to S. T. C. and to the Y! If there is anything that we can do for you, just let us know. We started off with a bang—from the day we greeted and welcomed the freshmen through the Big-Sister, Little Sister reception, and Sunday when we had an unusually good attendance at chudch.

The Freshman Y Club will be organized soon. Be sure to get in it, and it will help you to get acquainted with the Y. W. C. A.

Today the Y Cabinet met for the first time to begin work on plans which we believe will make the year both a successful and profitable one.

Sing started off on the right foot Saturday night as the upperclassmen gave their interpretation of the highlights of the coming year. Thanks for giving the Freshmen such a good idea of what is in store for them at Sing.

As we think over last year's work, we all wish that we had given more time to bandage rolling. Now is our chance to make up for last time by rolling bandages tomorrow night. Freshmen, be sure to come out and take part in one of the most worthwhile ways in which you can help the war effort.

The various church organizations in town eagerly worked and planned for their receptions Saturday night at which they were to meet the Freshmen. They were more than repaid by the large number of girls who came and so thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

For several Sundays the old girls will continue to take the Freshmen to Sunday school and Church. They will meet in the Rotunda now instead of the various meeting places used last Sunday.

One can receive great benefit in the moments of meditations and inspiration offered at Prayers. Freshman should begin now to come to these services every night

Continued on Page 3

The biggest dollar you ever gave!

Aid to servicemen's families is among the many causes your dollars support when you give to your Community War Fund.

We can't let them down now! Give to

YOUR COMMUNITY WAR FUND

Representing the NATIONAL WAR FUND

Question of the Week

Upon Being Away from Home, What Do You Miss Most?

Betty Weatherall: Being by myself.

Ellen Ward: Eating, all day.

Celia Scott: Having a certain party call up every night and talk for an hour.

Lucy Addleman: Staying in bed in the mornings.

Bettie Elwell: Mother's food!

Margaret Brown: Mother and Dad.

Binkie Motley: FREEDOM!

Lorena Evans: My boy friend.

June Cregar: Sunday afternoon at home, and breezing around in the car.

Esther Mae George: FOOD!

Cholena Richardson: Mother combing my hair.

Augusta Hargan: Mother's dinners, guests, relatives, and friends.

Dee Smedley: Boo!

Boo Bond: Dee!

Betty Plunkett: Not being able to put my return address 303 Oakridge Blvd.

"Dew" James: Sleeping late.

Zilpha Taylor: Not doing what I want to.

Margaret Carter: MEN!!

Nancy June Snead: Nice, clean sinks.

Mary Farley Wallace: Not being able to wear kerchiefs to our meals.

Markjorie Holland: Sleep and coca colas.

Ginger House: I miss Henry!

Dot Brown: Hot water!

June Poole: My little brothers, mother, little dog, and father—AND the cows.

Bettie Jane Suthers: Making chocolate pies and fudge . . . also my little dog "Boots".

Carolyn Hardy: My "Kitty Blue", with her long tail.

Betty Lively: HOME!

Virgina Butler: Magazines and radio.

Billy Pruett: My friends.

Green Frosh Make Faux Pas During First Week at STC

Well, well, another year and another bunch of freshmen. Each year we get rid of 'em and still they come. Each year's crop is greener than the last!

It seems the idea of having freshmen in Richardson is not gonna work too well. They really shouldn't come through the Rotunda in bath robes for physical inspection!

And oh! the poor girl that sat down in the tea room waiting for somebody to bring a menu. She'll learn.

A student tried to get out of the auditorium without finishing her test. So she wandered around, thinking she was lost and wandered back in the other door of the auditorium. Mr. Holton handed her a paper and she had to begin at the beginning, and take the test all over. Ya can't win!

They believe in clealiness, at least: One freshman told us she had been cleaning her teeth for a week with shaving cream and just found out by reading directions how to get up a good lather. Oh, me!

And overheard between tests in the rush of orientation last week was the mournful query—"Wonder if I'll have time to take a bath tonight?"

A consoling mother, reading over a complicated schedule, indignantly wanted to know how her daughter was going to take all those classes in one day. If mother only knew.

The usual questions have been: "Doesn't Mr. Hop get mad when the girls call him 'Charlie' to his face?" "Doesn't Mr. Reid ever get tired of being on duty around the school instead of downtown like the other policemen?" "Do we have to line up and go in for our mail one by one?" "Why do all English teachers look so much alike?" "Why do they let us go to the Butcher's instead of the Baker's?"

And, after "Sing", "WHO was Annie?"

These and more, year after year . . . and there's always the prize ignoraums of all: the Frosh who thinks the Rotunda staff consists of the maids who stay on duty in the Rotunda!

Until next year—Remember — You come to college to learn.

To the Freshmen:

By now you think you have heard of all the important courses laid out for you this session—but I want to tell you about, or call your attention to the most important course you will take while here.

I refer to the study and practice of Health Laws with a view to the development of a Health Schedule, which will so co-ordinate all your activities, that the sum total of your accomplishments may be at a maximum.

The educational world has at least awakened to the importance of this question, and at present, health rates as objective number one in all Secondary education.

Continued on Page 4

Freshmen, New Girls Witness Sports Part of Orientation

College A. A. Sponsors Programs

Opening their schedule for the year, the physical education department gave a program for the freshmen this last Thursday afternoon. The program was sponsored by the Athletic Association. Each year this program is given for the freshmen to give an idea of what goes on in athletics at S. T. C.

Orchesis modern dance club opened the program with a few dance techniques and improvisions by the members. Basketball and volleyball were then displayed on the gym floor. From there the spectators went to the swimming pool to watch a swimming exposition by the H20 Club.

After this a short hockey game and softball game were played on the athletic field. Both participants and spectators were given refreshments of cocoa-colas and nabs at the end of the program.

Officers of the Athletic Association are Helen Wilson, president; Barbara Scott, vice-president; Mary Walker Watts, secretary; and Frances Lee treasurer.

Orientation

Continued from Page 1

McIntyre; Florence Stubbs, with with Jean Smith and Margaret Betty Blackwell and Ann Martin; F. F. Swertfeger, with Virginia Terrell and Rosa Hill; Virginia Wall, with Frances Wentzel and Margaret Hewlett, and J. P. Wynne, with Mary Watkins and Jacqueline Parden.

The classes began last Tuesday morning, September 19, and all examinations will be completed this week. Classes included a tour of the campus, a complimentary movie, individual conferences with faculty advisers, intensive study of the rules and regulations and a demonstration of the sports on campus.

The Y

Continued from Page 2

and so, form one of the best habits of college life.

Tonight there will be a special program at prayers. "How We Can Depend on God" is the topic for Thursday evening and "Ways of Serving God", for Friday's service.

Sports Schedule—Fall Quarter

Archery—1:50	Wednesday, Friday
2:50	Monday, Wednesday
Hockey—3:50	Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
Tennis—4:50	Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
Badminton—4:50	Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
Swimming—3:50	Tuesday, Thursday

These classes are open to all students who wish to participate without credit and count as practices toward class teams.

DRESS YOUR ROOM UP

UTILITY CABINETS

$3.98

Charge Accounts Available

PLENTY BED SPREADS

$2.98 to $6.95

Charge it if you like

Cretonnes ..... 35c to 98c

Curtain Rods ..... 10c & 20c

Wash Cloths ..... 10c & 15c

Tap Dance Shoes, unrationed, $2.98

CURTAINS ..... $1.98 to $4.98

Rag Rugs ..... $1.25 to $1.98

THE HUB DEPT. STORE

—S. T. C. HEADUARTERS—

Left Lead

TALLY-HO!

Howdy, friends, old and new. This is to introduce, or renew acquaintances with Pegasus, your quadruped reporter, who brings you best of wishes from everybody in the gallopin' gang and a bit of news from the stables.

Well, a whole summer has gone by since we last swapped stories, and history has been made in the meantime. On the Fourth of July, a mournful group of summer - schoolers, who had been spending all possible spare time and money riding, wended their weepy way to the stables, and watched through blurred eyes the auctioning off of all the horses. It was a bitter pill to swallow, even if one or two of the favorites were bought by local people and deemed attainable for an occasional ride. Midnight, Flicka, Flash, Cindy, Nellie and Winnie and MacArthur . . . and all the others, were paraded before the buyers and praised to the utmost . . . and praised successfully enough so that they were sold to ready customers at fair prices.

NEW ARRIVALS

But not for long! Ready to greet us when we came in were six new horses under Mr. Nolan's care, and two more came the first of this week. And true to the STC nature, we now have eight mares! Names are a bit mixed up, for the horse that Mr. Nolan calls Mary, the girls call "Darky" . . . and the one who was Jane or something is now known as "Miss Black", or, better, "Missy". Then we have the Pinto mare and colt . . daughter having already outgrown Mother by several measures. Also in the Pinto line is a small horse whose gaits are almost ponyish, and who will make a second King Cole for the beginners. There's a near-double for Cindy, too, but Lightnin' says there'll never be another just like her. One of the newest . . . she was "Kate" when she came . . . has a face shaped like Princess', but she's black instead of bay. She's very much alert, it seems, and looks like she will make a mighty nice amount.

TRAIL TALK

Thus far the try-outs have been very successful. Joyce gives colorful tales of the Colt's long leggiiness, and of her love of kicking up innocently on an otherwise uneventful trail-ride. All of them seem well-behaved and even-tempered, but it won't seem natural riding close enough on a pal's heels to talk and not risk being kicked off! Jean Carter could also impart information of how it feels to ride a flesh-and-blood Merry-go-Round, with hurdles to leap for excitement. Or we could let you find out for yourself!

CLASS SCHEDULES

Joyce, by the way, has been meeting those taking riding this fall down in the Riding Club room each night after supper. She'll be there every night this week, so whether you're riding for credit or for fun, and haven't seen about your classes yet, see her down there as soon as you can.

RIDIN' HIGH

There are great plans for those riding this fall. The classes have been changed to cover an hour and a half instead of the old hour, and there can be plenty of time for Ring-work at Longwood. But there are also plans for Breakfast rides on Sundays, and early morning rides during the week for the energetics in the crew. There'll be old trails to follow, and new trails to blaze. There'll be sun-rises and sun-sets, and the beauties of the fall, all seen from Horseback. There'll be the crackle of twigs under boots, and the ring of iron shoes along the road. The smell of eggs and bacon cooked out-of-doors, and the tang in the air to whet the appetites provided. There'll be singing from the saddle and laughter in the air, and many a jolly canter to warm you up when Jack Frost joins the party.

Get out your blue jeans and dust off your plaid shirts. We'll be seeing you at the Stables from today on!!

PEGASUS

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Greetings again to the sports fans of S. T. C., and a special welcome to the freshmen. Once again our college days have begun, and athletics always stand out in some of the important events of our school year. Hockey, basketball, softball, badminiton, ping-pong, tennis, swimming and horseback riding are but a few of the things we S. T. C.ers participate in throughout the year.

The calendar of sports will be a busy one this year with the competition for the color cup between green and white and red and white the main event. Come on, seniors, juniors, sopohomores, freshmen, support your class colors and try to make one of the teams. If you are not an athlete, then support your colors by coming out to the games and cheering them on to victory.

HOCKEY

Hockey is the first major sport of the season, and practices will begin very soon. This should interest the freshmen very much, because it is a tradition of the school that the game between the freshmen and the sophomores will determine whether the freshmen will wear their rat caps until Christmas or not.

Each girl who tries out for the team must have eight practices in before she is eligible to try out for the year. The practices this year will be every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, so that gives all girls who want to try out for the team, a chance to get their eight practices in.

Along with hockey comes the color rush which is another color cup event. Each class selects a certain number of runners who race against each other through the halls, a red and white against a green and white and the winner places her colors on the front of the building in which she is running. The colors which have the most pennants up receive the points given toward the color cup. This is one of the most exciting events in the color cup competition and we expect to see new faces among the runners this year.

TENNIS

Back and forth across the net go the tennis balls each evening, as the girls practice improving their game for in the fall a tennis tournament is held as well as in the spring to gain points for the color cup. We are very proud of our tennis courts here in S. T. C. and everyone is asked to cooperate in keeping them in good condition. The main rule applied to all players is to always wear regulation tennis shoes while on the courts, because this keeps from tearing the surface of the courts with heavy shoes. The courts are never used when it has rained and they are damp, because this also mars the surface. Remember these things, new girls, and it is also a reminder to the old girls.

Good luck to both green and write and red and white this year, and you sports enthusiasts, get out and support your colors. Until next week, don't forget to stay in the game.

Freshman Physicals Completed Tuesday By School Physician

Beginning last Wednesday night physical examinations were started for the freshmen. Dr. Ray A. Moore, the school physician, gives the physicals with the aid of the majors from the physical education department. Each girl's height and weight is recorded. She then has her eyes and ears examined.

Every girl in school is examined each year, and the upperclassmen will have their examinations soon. The freshmen examinations were completed this past Tuesday. Although each freshman is required to have a physical from her family doctor before entering college these examinations given by the school physicians are regulation and given each year.

The sight of a full box of chewing gum in the window of a Richmond confectionery was too much temptation for a passerby. Result: a broken plate glate window and one box of chewing gum stolen.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service

to

KLEANWELL CLEANERS

Opposite Postoffice

See Squeakie Trower

Our Representative

—Welcome—

S. T. C. Students

Visit our Store for Your Dime Store Needs

ROSE'S

5—10 & 25c STORE

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

Varied Assortment of Stationery

Quality—Price—Service

Welcome S. T. C.!

SHANNON'S

Chas. E. Burg

Florist

501 High St. Farmville, Va

Farmville's Finest Flowers

Telephone 296

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Virginia

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT

COURTEOUS SERVICE

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body

Good Things to Eat and Drink

Butcher's

High Street

Popular Sheet Music

LYNN'S

Jewelry Store

Welcome to S. T. C. Students

VISIT US FOR FINE

FINE

Cleaning

DeLUXE

CLEANERS

BED LAMPS, EXTENSION CORDS

HUNDREDS OF OTHER USEFUL ITEMS

ALSO LOCKS

IRON CORDS

We Repair Radios and Anything Electrical

Southern Hdwe. & Elec. Co.

321 MAIN STREET

Baldwin's

Welcomes All

S.T.C. Students

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

The lure of home was too great, even after only one week of college, so many S. T. C.'ers took off for parts known and unknown.

Margie Hewlett, Ann Hamlin, Nancy Adams, Eva Cobb, Ann Dickinson, Virginia Parson and Shirley Easterly found Richmond too enticing to stay away from.

Frances Bell, Judy Connelly, and Frances Shackelford decided that the cure for homesickness was Petersburg. Ophelia Whittle visited Betsy Caldwell in Sweet Briar and Lucy McKenry and Katherine Prebbie visited the former Jane Danby, now Mrs. Joe Eddins, in Cumberland.

To Charlottesville went Betty Gillsepie, Frances Timmins, Jewel Hunt, Sara B. Williams, and Ann Kingdon. Meade Hunter went to LaCrosse.

The sophomores entertained the freshmen on their first night of their arrival with the annual party in the Rec. Birdie Sarves and Cab Overbey did their "stuff" and the freshmen were charmed.

The Little Sister, Big Sister reception sponsored by the Y, was held Friday evening, and now all the new girls have met Dr. Jarman and various members of the faculty, and "Y" officers. Pat Maddox presented a variety of songs with special music (?) by a group of seniors, and Cab Overbey was back at the piano.

A welcome sight to upperclassmen was Jane Ford, class of '44, who visited on the campus this week-end.

Dr. Jarman pauses to chat with three clothes-wise freshmen in the midst of schedule making. Muriel Crostic, Richmond, at the left, wears a loose fitting cardigan with a dicky collar. In the center, Virginia Elliot, Richmond, wears the traditional pastel pull-over and flared skirt. Helen Brooks Lewis, News Ferry, to the right, is comfortable and "campus-correctly" clad in a pull over and Elliot, Richmond, wears tre traoff with colorful beads.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED

Continued from Page 1

locked at 11 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and Sunday nights, and Senior Building will be locked at midnight.

Seniors will be allowed to date until 11:45 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and Sunday nights, but they must be in the Senior Rec by 10 o'clock p. m. on Saturday nights and immediately after church on Sunday nights. Juniors will be allowed to date until 10:45 o'clock p. m. on Saturday and Sunday nights, but they must be in Junior Parlor by 10 o'clock p. m. on Saturday nights and immediately after church on Sunday nights.

To minimize the red tape when a student has a date, it is no longer necessary to sign up for a date in the Dean's Office after dinner. Students who expect dates should be ready when they call, and if they are dating in the building it is not necessary to sign up at all. However, if they leave the building, they must sign their names, their date's name, and their destination in the date book provided. When they return, they must sign their names and the time of their return in their own handwriting.

When a student goes to the movies on Saturday night, it is permissible to go in the drug store for a coke whether or not she has a date, provided she does not hang around and is in the building at the specified time. A senior who has a date at night may go down town to the drug store with her date by signing in the date book, provided she does not hang around and returns to the campus immediately.

All students are expected to be back on the campus by 10 o'clock p. m. on Saturday night, and immediately after the church hour on Sunday night. However, they may visit in other dormitories provided they are out before the doors are locked.

A table has been provided in Cunningham Hall for juniors and seniors and it is not necessary for them to sign out at Home Office except in the case of special permissions. Longwood permits will be issued only in the Home Office, and a student must have a permit before going to Longwood.

Before leaving the campus for a week end, a student must sign two going-away slips, both of which are left with the Dean, when the permission is granted. One of these is turned over to the house mother and the other filed in the Home Office. When returning a student should sign in only in her dormitory. When away from school, if a student finds it impossible to return by the time she is supposed to be here, she is expected to wire or phone the Dean immediately.

All other regulations remain unchanged and stand as printed in the handbook and on the cards in the dormitory rooms.

To the Freshmen

Continued from Page 2

The Student's Health Service is the Educational Institution's answer to this question, and in turn, your Student's Health Service's solution for you is apparently very simple. It consists in asking you to follow a schedule, in which first, your time is so arranged that there is a proper division between work, recreation, and sleep—(Make sleep the re-creating time). Second, you take the proper amount of food at the proper time to insure sufficient energy. Third, you guard the expenditure of your energy as carefully as you should guard the expenditure of your money, and that you so control the out-put of your energy, mental and physical as to maintain a proper reserve at all times. Fourth, in which there is no useless and purposeless and oftentimes harmful expenditure of energy.

RAY A. MOORE
School Physician

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

VISIT US FOR BEST SODA
Fountain Service!
Chappell Company

Southside Drug Store
ENTIRE ROLL FILM
Printed and Developed
25c

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD, & OKEH
Popular—Clasical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Cupid's Arrow Finds Lodging In Seven STC'ers During Summer

Proving that S. T. C. girls are really southern belles, many of our former students became brides during the summer vacation.

Among these were Judy Eason who became Mrs. Rodger (Sunny) Walker Mercer, Jr., among all the traditional white trimmings. Leah Jordon, Freddie Butt, and Lucy Frauley were bridesmaids.

Ella Marsh Pilkerton became the bride of John (Jack) Adams in Richmond on August 6, and Jane Danby became the bride of Joe Eddins in June. Both girls were lovely in white satin and veils.

Lucy Manson was married on August 13, to Lieutenant Daniel Sharpe in Norfolk. Dodie Jones, Nancy Harrell and Mary Watkins were among the bridesmaids. Lieutenant Sharpe is stationed at Camp Pickett, and Mrs. Sharpe is a senior at S. T. C. this fall.

Jean Arrington, last year's May Day queen, became the bride, soon after her graduation, of Earnest Filmore Jessie. Her dress of white satin was the same one that she wore in May Day. She is teaching in Flint, Mich., this winter.

Caroline Marshall, now Mrs. Joe Aylor, was married in July. She had an all white wedding with Polly Moore as one of the bridesmaids.

Ella Banks Weathers became Bill Boyle's bride in July and many S. T. C. girls attended. They are now living in Richmond, where Bill is a student at the Union Theological Seminary. Ella Banks was the former editor of the Rotunda.

Elva Andrews became Mrs. Thorpe Jones on Sept. 9. She is now residing in Farmville, while her husband is in the service of the United States Navy. Elva was the business manager of the 1942-43 Rotunda.

Head Departments

Continued from Page 1

Returning to Farmville after a leave of absence of two years, Merle Landrum is now head of the business department. He received his masters degree from New York University and is now working on his Ed. D. degree at Indiana University. Mr. Landrum organized the business department here five years ago; however, shorthand and typing classes had been started before that time. During his leave, he taught sailors, Waves, and marines at the United States Naval Training School, Indiana University where approximately 5000 yeomen and storekeepers were turned out.

Physical Education

Miss Mary B. Dabney, of Lynchburg, received her bachelor degree from the College of William and Mary and her masters degree from Columbia University. She was teacher and supervisor of physical education in Lynchburg schools for several years and will now be an assistant professor of physical education. She is a national basketball official, an American Red Cross lifesaving instructor and a member of the sports committee on physical education for the State.

History Department

Coming to Farmville to serve as an associate professor of history from Mary Washington, C. G. Gordon Moss received his bachelor degree at Washington and Lee University and his Ph. D. at Yale. He taught here in 1926-27, resigning for a position at Wake Forest College. He returned to Farmville for 1929-30, taking the place of a faculty member on leave. Mr. Moss is a native of Lynchburg.

Mrs. Janice Speer Lemen of Braggacocio, Missouri, who will be assistant professor of art, was graduated from the Southeast Missouri State Teachers College with a bachelor degree and from Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, with a masters degree. She has been teaching and supervising art teaching in public schools in Missouri.

Teaching in the department of music will be Mrs. Clyde W. Bradshaw of Louise, Kentucky. She received her bachelor degree in public school music from Western Teachers College, Bowling Green, Kentucky, and her master degree in musicology from Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Cincinnati, Ohio. Mrs. Bradshaw taught in Kentucky and Texas before coming to Virginia.

Miss Marion Terry, a native of Riverhead, New York, received her bachelor degree from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, and her masters degree from the School of Library Service, Columbia University. Before coming to Farmville as an assistant librarian, she held this position at State Teachers College, Millersville, Pennsylvania.

Newberry Welcomes
All S. T. C.
Students!
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

The FLOWERS of DISTINCTION
And QUALITY
Collin's Florist

The College Shoppe
Invites the S. T. C. Girls to come in!
Best Food Good Service

PEN & PENCIL SETS
Ink and all School Supplies
at
Martin the Jeweler

MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
328 MAIN STREET

Patronize
PATTERSON'S
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.

Jolly Junior

Continued from Page 1

. . . just the other day I heard one asking one of the faculty if she could arrange it with the authorities for her to take 22 hours of chemistry a week as electives. That's what you meant by ambition, isn't it? My Little Sister is very attractive. She's six feet two and has one blue eye and one brown eye. By the way, I'll need a little extra money this week, as I am taking her and her two roommates to a movie and throwing them a little party afterwards. Just a few of their friends . . . we're renting the Tea Room banquet hall for it.

Classes are fine. I sit on the back row in all of them, so you'll be hearing from me often this year. Incidentally, please send me a few books of stamps . . . all the boys overseas now, and I'm writing them Air-mail most of the time.

We can come home after classes every Saturday if we like. Can you meet me at Hoot-Owl Hollow at 4:55 this Sunday morning? If I catch the 5:19 train back that same morning, I can be here in time for Bed-Check. Please buy my ticket and have it ready for me to catch that train back, as I haven't enough cash on hand for a round trip ticket.

I stood in line the other afternoon for two hours to get the package. When it got to be my turn, I was so exhausted I fell flat on my face and had to spend the night in the Infirmary. They are a little crowded with girls living there, so I had to sleep on the operating table. They operated on me by mistake, so I'm enclosing the bill which I hope you will attend to as soon as possible. I still don't have the package. I know what it was though, as the whole school is talking about it. Thanks a lot . . . since we've turned in our ration books I have not been able to buy any limburger cheese at all.

Well, it is now time for my afternoon nap. Since my operation, I'm under the doctor's care. That would be all right except I have to pay a girl to coach me for the classes I miss by taking a nap every afternoon. Tell everyone to write to me as I do not have time to write to anyone first. I can hardly wait to see you at Hoot-Owl Hollow this week end. It's lucky I don't have any Saturday classes, isn't it? By the way, since I arranged my schedule so's I won't have any Saturday classes, it means that I'll have to come an extra year. Oh, well, when I'm teaching I can earn the money to pay you back double. It won't take but twenty-five years.

Before I go, I thought you'd like to know that Ogiethorpe has finally proposed. I'll probably be married as soon as I graduate, so you can give me silver for my next birthday. I didn't want to teach anyhow!

Do write soon, and please send me some money to buy bedspreads with. My roommate has red hair, so the orange and purple ones just won't do. Until I hear from you. I am your loving daughter,

"Sisty"

Dramatic Club Plans For Fall Program

Old members of the Dramatic Club started their fall program with an informal social get-together last night in Student Lounge. A short program, consisting mostly of group singing, was presented throughout the hour, and refreshments were served.

At a meeting of the Board of Executives last Friday afternoon at Miss Wheelers, plans were formulated for the continuation of the fall program.

PHONE
78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

CAROLE KING'S
ARE ARRIVING WEEKLY
See the new flattering fall styles and colors
SIZES 9 TO 17
$7.95 TO $16.95
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Welcome S. T. C. Girls

—TO—
FARMVILLE
—AND TO—
DAVIDSON'S

WE ARE HAPPY TO HAVE YOU HERE AND WE INVITE YOU TO VISIT US OFTEN AND MAKE OUR STORE YOUR HEADQUARTERS

DAVIDSON'S
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY
Farmville's Largest and Finest Department Store

BE SURE TO HEAR
MISS COFFIN
TOMORROW

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS
NEW AKG MEMBERS

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 4, 1944 | NO. 2

Alpha Kappa Gamma Bids Five In Chapel Today

Coffin Will Speak For "Y" Tomorrow At Chapel Services

Speaker Presents W.S.S. Fund Work

Alicia Coffin, a traveling secretary of the World Student Service Fund, will speak at the chapel exercises tomorrow, Thursday, according to an announcement made this week by Shirley Cruser, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Y. W. C. A.

In her talk, Miss Coffin will bring recent news about the work of the world student relief and will describe student life in China, the problems that refugee students face in Europe, and the needs of the prisoners of war. She comes to this campus as a representative of students all over the world.

She talked to the "Y" cabinet this afternoon and helped them make plans for the World Student Service Fund drive which will be held sometime during the school session.

Miss Coffin is a graduate of the University of Maine in the class of 1943 where she was president of the Y. W. C. A. in her senior year. Her intercollegiate experience includes conferences of the New England S. C. M. and the National Pilgrim Fellowship. She also worked on the campus newspaper, was a member of the Radio Guild, a member of the French Club, played in the college orchestra and band, and was secretary of Alpha Omicron Pi social fraternity.

Before her present position, she was at the University of Nebraska as a Danforth Fellow, participating in all the activities of the religious groups, working closely with the World Student Service Fund Committee.

Plans for Annual Underway Says Bell

Plans for this year's Virginian are well under way, according to an announcement revealed to the press this week by Marilyn Bell, editor-in-chief.

Arrangements for the printing of the annual were made in Chicago early in September by Marilyn Bell, editor, and Pat Maddox, managing editor. The John Oliver Printing Company has the contract for the Virginian, and the Pearsall Studio is going to do the pictures and will take special orders for additional prints.

Subscriptions for the Virginian should be placed as soon as possible. The regular copy costs $4.00, and the deluxe padded edition is $4.50. Reservations for the reguar copy can be made by paying $1.00 now and the rest when the annual comes back from the press in the spring. The deadline for accepting subscriptions has not been set, but it will be sometime in December.

Dining Hall Hostess Appoints Assistants

Margaret Alvis, Lynchburg; Betty Adams, Richmond; Vivian Edmunds, Norfolk; and Lucie McKenry, Arlington, have been appointed assistant dining hall hostesses by Sara Lee East, head hostess.

These girls will assist the head hostess in enforcing rules and regulations of the dining room.

Wanted: Short Story Writers For Annual Colonnade Contest

If this were a paper that ran a classified section, (and the suggestion wouldn't be a bad one) there could be one very pertinent "Wanted" in the column this issue. And it would run something like this:

"WANTED! Writers—short-story enthusiasts, try your hand. Enter your contributions in the "Colonnade" annual short-story contest. Dead-line November 1. Only one month left: hurry! Not over 2,000 words in length preferred typewritten on one side of regular typing paper, or written in ink one one side of standard sized theme paper. Can be on any subject . . . make as many entries as you like. First prize will be $5.00, second prize, $3.00, third prize, $2.00! Also Honorable mentions. Opportunity knocks but once a year . . . let him in before you graduate. Mark contributions "For contest," add your name clearly, and hand in to Betty Deuel Cock or drop in Colonnade box before midnight, November 1! Hurry!"

And so on . . . but just because we don't run want ads, don't 1st that stop you from entering the Colonnade contest. Stir up your imagination, conform It to the rules listed above, write it down, and hand it in. Good luck!

Y Retreat Planned At Longwood Cabin

Hiner Will Lead Forum on Theme

Miss Mary Clay Hiner, a member of the English Department and an adviser of the Y. W. C. A. will lead the forum on the quarterly theme, "The Living Christ", at the "Y" retreat Saturday night at Longwood.

Anne Martin, secretary of the "Y", will open the retreat Saturday afternoon with a devotional program, after which Mary Anne Jarratt, vice-president, will present the yearly theme, "Facing Today With The Living Christ."

Virginia Treakle, chairman of the membership committee, will lead the Morning Watch service Sunday morning. Minnie Lee Crumpler, treasurer, is in charge of the music.

The retreat which begins Saturday afternoon and lasts until Sunday morning is to be held at the cabin at Longwood. An annual affair of the "Y", it is a time of formulating plans for the year. The yearly theme will be divided and sub-divided into quarterly, monthly and weekly themes and will be carried out in Prayers.

Rachel Brugh, sophomore from Roanoke, has recently been elected to the "Y" cabinet as chairman of the service committee to replace Pat Garth who did not return to school this fall. Replacing Betsy Fox who also did not return to school fall quarter as chairman of the sing committee is Kitty Maddox, junior from Lynchburg; and replacing Margaret Sheffield as chairman of the prayer committee is Mary Wyatt, sophomore from South Boston.

Dean's List Cites 65 Upperclassmen

Citation Requires A's, B's on Classes

The Dean's list for the fall quarter, 1944, was announced this week by Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar. Those who were named are Virginia Lee Abernathy, Cochran; Loreen Agee, Farmville; Mildred Altice, Rocky Mount; Margaret Barksdale, Jana; Marilyn Bell, Richmond; Flora Louis Blane, Alton; Anna Lee Blanton, Cumberland; Carolyn Bobbitt, South Hill; Aline Boss, Hadlock; and Lucy Bowling, Andersonville.

Also Olive Bradshaw, Rice; Mary William Calvert, Lynchburg; Emily Carper, Rocky Mount; Frances Copenhaver, Farmville; Dorothy Cummings, Charlottesville; Alice Lee Davis, Whaleyville; Mary Louise Donley, Covington; Alice Feitig, Richmond; Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Cape Charles; and Anne Hamlin, Surry.

Also Nancy Harrell, Emporia; Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Roseland; Margaret Hewlett, Richmond; Martha Higgins, Portsmouth; Lelia Holloway, Purdy; Nancy Ingle, Covington; Mary Anne Jarratt, Jarratt; Dora Walker Jones, Radford; and Edith Jones, Holland.

Also Jane Knapton, Covington; Catherine Lynch, Lebanon; Katherine Maddox, Lynchburg; Ann Martin, Suffolk; Ann Masloff, Danville; Sara Molling, Winchester; Gertrude Moore, Whitmell; Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C.; and Virginia Naylor, Gotun, Canal Zone.

Also Dorothy Overcash, Hampden-Sydney; Constance Ozlin, Chase City; Mary Ellen Petty,

Continued on Page 4

35 Upperclassmen Receive Cotillion Club Bids Tonight

November 11 Set For Fall Cotillion

Thirty-five bids were issued tonight to upperclassmen for membership in the Cotillion Club, Marilyn Johnson, president, has announced.

Girls receiving bids are Madelyn Ayers, Frances Bell, Hilda Bennett, Virginia Sutton Bland, Mary William Calvert, Anne Carter, Patsy Dale, Kitty East, Sara Lee East, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Bobby Graham, Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Anne Houser, Hersey Hutt, Mary Anne Jarratt, Betty Johnson, Earlene Kimmerling, Margaret Lohr, and Ann Mapp.

Also Margaret McIntyre, Elizabeth McLean, Barbara Lee Myers, Anne Mingea, Mary Frances Moon, Connie Ozlin, Jane Page, Kathryn Prebble, Jackie Ritchie, Louise Rives, Jane Rowe, Jane Waring Ruffin, Anne Shaw, Jean Tucker, Margaret Wilson, Connie Young.

November 11 was set as the date for the annual fall Cotillion dance.

Catherine Trower, business manager, is in correspondence with an orchestra to play for the dance. Mary Watkins, Shirley Easterly, and Margie Hewlett will assist her on the music committee.

Massey Named Senior Government Member

Replacing Betsy Fox, who did not return to school for fall quarter, Margaret Pogue Massey, senior from Hampden-Sydney, was elected as a class representative on Student Government at the senior meeting Tuesday, September 27.

Marilyn Bell, of Richmond, was elected as class historian and will present the class history at the Class Day exercises in June.

Girls elected as senior chaperones were Jo Beatty, of Ivanhoe, North Carolina; Betsy Caldwell, Sweet Briar; Carol Diggs, Farmville, Ann Masloff, Danville; Bobbie Scott, Franklin; and Jean Carter Smith, Williamson, West Virginia.

Two Seniors, Three Juniors Recognized For Leadership

Lucy Manson Sharpe, president of A. K. G.

Burger Reelected Adviser for Group

Martha Higgins and Sally Robertson, seniors, and Frances Lee, Ann Martin, and Virginia Treakle, juniors, were tapped this morning in chapel by Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership fraternity.

Martha Higgins, from Portsmouth, is president this year of the House Council and served as secretary last year. She was a members of the College USO committee, and a member of the freshman commission. Sally Robertson, Lynchburg, is president of the Dramatic Club and vice-president of the House Council. She has served on the executive board of the Dramatic Club in the capacity of head of the properties committee for two years, and was elected class treasurer last spring.

Frances Lee, Richmond, is secretary of the Athletic Association, and was president of her class as a freshman. Ann Martin, Suffolk, has been active in the YWCA since she came to Farmville, serving as secretary for the second time this year. Virginia Treakle, Farmville, is managing editor of the Rotunda this year and chairman of the membership committee of the YWCA. Last she she served as news editor on the paper and as chairman of the service committee of the Y.

Miss Elizabeth Burger has recently been re-elected advisor for the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, which bids girls each quarter for outstanding leadership, scholarship, and character.

Ionian Male Voices To Sing on Campus

Group Has Toured States, Canada

Presented as one of the Artists Series, the Ionian Singers, ensemble of four male voices, will appear on the S. T. C. campus on Friday, October 13, at 8 p. m.

The Ionians, whose personnel is made up of Alan Adair, first tenor; Albert Barber, second tenor; Bryce Fogle, baritone and pianist; and Hildreth Martin, basso, are an all-American group established with the purpose of making available to the public the best of male-voice music. Research of the members has unearthed masterpieces which have been all but forgotten because of the long-standing preoccupation of male singing groups with the less difficult ballads and popular hits of the hour.

The concert tours of the Ionian Singers have taken them to every state in the Union and to many provinces of Canada.

October 28 Slated For Annual Circus

October 28 has been announced by Helen Wilson, general chairman, as the date for the annual circus sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Sara Bird Williams heads the committee for the selection of the queen and court. Heading the decorations committee is Eleanor Wade; animals committee, Ophella Whittle; stunts, Marilyn Bell; parade, Harriette Moore; tickets, Mary Ann Jarratt, and advertising, Jane Waring Ruffin.

Lucy Manson Sharpe, president of AKG will help on all of these committees.

APS Honor Society Requests Meeting

Freshmen who were valedictorians and salutatorians in high school are requested to meet in Junior Parlor immediately after chapel tomorrow, October 5, according to an arrangement made this week by Patsy Dale, president of Alpha Phi Sigma.

Alpha Phi Sigma is an honorary society for sophomores and freshmen confined to A-grade teachers colleges. Its membership is confined to students of high scholastic rating.

1500 Dressings Made By College Students

Fifty-five girls responded to Mrs. Sophie Packer, school nurse's plea for help in making of surgical dressings Thursday night, September 28. Miss Packer spoke to the student body in chapel on Thursday morning on the urgent need for workers.

Between 7 and 9 P. M., 1,500 dressings were made in the college art laboratory. The dressings are four inches square.

The service committee of the Young Women's Christian Association sponsors this phase of war work on campus. Every Thursday night a different organization or class volunteers to help with the bandage rolling; however, all students are urged to come.

Rachel Brugh, chairman of the service committee, requests that the students remember to wear cotton dresses and kerchiefs and bring scissors when possible next Thursday night.

In her talk in chapel Mrs. Packer called to the students' attention the fact that although the end of this war is in sight the need for bandages is very great.

Mrs. T. J. McIlwaine is the head supervisor of the work, and assisting her are Mrs. Ruth H. Coyner and Miss Sprunt Hall.

Large Group Joins College Choral Club

The Choral Club of S. T. C. has been organized under the supervision of Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department, with the largest group in its history. Over a hundred students have applied for admission out of which the Choral Club will be formed.

Plans have been made for the club to appear in the local churches and in chapel. They also plan to present an artist for the Christmas concert.

Cleanliness Before Goodliness Becomes S. T. C. Motto as Scarcity of Tubs Increase

Late Bull Sessions Meet In Bathroom

Zoom-down the hall speeds a flying figure shrouded in flapping housecoat, floating towel, and clopping bedroom slippers. No need to ask her where she is going: her long awaited tub is waiting! Take that "long-awaited", literally, for in all S. T. C. there is no more sought after place than the bath tubs. All day long numerous hordes swarm in and out the bath room in lines, lines waiting for the bath tubs and the basins.

In the morning there is a rush to wash away Mr. Sleep for that early first period class, in the afternoon to remove the dust collected from a hard day at work, and in the evening a hurry-scurry to make a favorable impression on the waiting one in the Rotunda.

And you think the bathroom doesn't have a little recreation with all its industriousness? Well, you've another thought coming. The following bits of conversation were picked up in one day recently. "Ekk, I'm using Betty's toothbrush. Hers is red and I know mine is green." "Little-pigs-with-curly-tails, that's cream perfume I'm using, not face lotion". "That's not tooth powder, Ann, that Johnson's baby powder." "Who moved my clothes? Somebody bring me a housecoat." And so the life of laughable mistakes winds itself in and out of the faucets and down the drain.

Substitute Snow Found In Soap

It's after lights. The rooms are dark. The halls are dim and all is quiet. (Wonder who we think we're fooling?) There is a squeak of the floorboard and a whisper "Meet you in the bath. Haven't finished my History yet." Or perhaps it's just another bull session collection to slaughter the recent dates. Soon after eleven every available inch of space is covered. The talk is in whispered tones, the books opened quietly.

Naturally, the night wouldn't be complete without one scare of being caught. The talk stops, but

Continued on Page 3

A College Student's Place In the Forthcoming Election

Since the opening of school three weeks ago, a number of letters have been directed to the editor from various political organizations throughout the country, urging college students to take a more active part in the forthcoming presidential election.

Though most students in this college have not yet reached the age limit to vote in Virginia, it is none the less important that we familiarize ourselves with the issues of the November election. Though we shall perhaps not have a part in selecting the candidate to set the wheels of the post-war machinery into action, it is nevertheless well that we have an understanding of customs and laws of a presidential election in our country.

More than being thoroughly desirable that we acquaint ourselves with this information now, it is our duty as the citizens of tomorrow that we do so. Voting in these United States is more than the privilege of every citizen; it is his bounden duty. Our whole system of democratic government is based on participation of the people of today to preserve this system of government by preserving the very foundations thereof.

And although no state is able to limit its voters to those who are armed with an understanding and knowledge, with an insight to "what it's all about", the voters of tomorrow would do well to prepare themselves now.

This paper is no place for editorials on partisan politics, and this is not one. It is merely a plea that all college students take advantage of the advance citizenship preparation offered in the understanding of an election at the time it takes place.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants
Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson.

Business Assistants
Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee, Dot Gelston

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1944

For the Preservation Of Our Civilization

The average college student body today is faced with a tremendous problem—that of adapting herself to the changing world in which she is living. We have been told many times "that these are momentous times we are living," that at no other time in history has civilization faced such a conflict as World War II. This, however, is not wholly true; World War I was just as bloody for 1916-18 as our present situation is for 1944.

Times have changed and most of the people with them. For the three years the United States has participated in this war, it most certainly has been made clear to us that our country was and is battling for the things written in the Declaration of Independence—right of man to remain free, with "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." These words are not living unless we make them so. A large amount of dust had collected on our volumes of famous government quotations, until we decided to brush away that dust and make use of them. The clean, new world that grows out of all this chaos will be the only answer to any perplexing problems of the future.

And so—what will be the future, what can it mean for each individual who practices the principles of democracy in her everyday life? It can mean the successful completion of four years of college, the privilege to choose the professions of teaching or nursing, countless desk jobs and many other positions open to women—and finally, it can mean contentment in family and home. The ability to live and change with the times, but remaining detached enough to look a situation openly and tolerantly, will do much in shaping the happiness for a bright future.

Ed. note: The above was written by Loline Warner, former member of the Rotunda staff, and in the Class of 1945).

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

Along the 460-mile western front of Germany, that country is battling furiously and counterattacking strongly to protect her homeland. Though it cost us around 6,000 men, military authorities do not consider this a defeat. Fighting continues at the Nijmegen corridor in Holland and also at Nancy. Canadian and allied troops have captured Calais and Rambervillers, leaving the next objective to be Belfort.

* * * *

Despite the rainy weather the British Eighth Army is also advancing, taking Savignano after a week's fighting. Here, in Italy, the Germany army is as stubborn as in the North and our men have had to fight off constant enemy attacks.

* * * *

Closing in from the East the Russians are now 23 miles inside Yugoslavia and moving up from the South to form a juncture are Tito's famous Partisans. In Hungary, new gains have also been made. As for Warsaw, Moscow has said nothing except that the situation is critical. Russia was unable to give full support to Polish defenders and here the Germans are holding out as they are in Riega.

* * * *

The Japanese side of the war remains as last week. Though they gain in China they lose in the Pacific. General Stilwell has reported the loss of our fourth air base, Tangchuk. It is evident that our B-29's from these bases were too successful, for Japan seems determined to wipe out their source. Except for a few resistant Japanese, the victory of the Palau islands is complete. We now control nine islands since our invasion two weeks ago.

* * * *

Which all adds up, experts say, that this war will last longer than 1944. Those overseas boys won't be home for Christmas. You have 69 more shopping days.

HEARD

After Bedcheck

The very biggest news on the campus this week is, of course, that flashing diamond of Elsie Thompson's. The five Cahoots, Marilyn Bell, Carol Diggs, Ann Blair, Mary Walker Watts, and Pat Maddox take great pleasure in announcing the engagement of their fellow Cahoot, Elsie, to Cpl. Robert Burger.

The very saddest news of the week concerns the many sad hearts left on campus after a recent military proclamation. The boys have been grand as a whole and it was a real pleasure to know them.

Olive Bradshaw comes next to Elsie in the nefs: she only went to Annapolis with one man and got two pictures from another.

Jean Freemen, one of the attractive new frosh, is trying for the position of the most-mentioned brunette in this column with all the phone calls—and all that goes with them—from Richmond.

It's the same old chit-chat about Kingdon and the Shields . . Martha Wells and her strawberry blond bat the fat with that look in their eyes . . . And the way those Puerto Ricans can date a date! Five girls with a GI and nobody pulling anybody's hair.

Who is this mysterious Lt. Roy Perry? The question of the week may well be whether or not "Peaches" gets a letter . . . Blackwell and Cliff (there's a history to that name) have decided to exchange dog tags permanently.

And our editor and L. Graham are together again after eight months . . . Ditto for Jean Akers and her man . . . Various new photos decorate Jane Knapton's room. The same may be said for Margaret Ellett's room. A long, low whistle is in order in both cases.

Tribute to the Huddle family from many happy week end guests: People have more fun than anybody and the Huddles have more fun than people . . . Jean Prosise says: "The Republicans are looking Dewey-eyed" . . . And then comes the comment: "Dewey is the man that I always get confused with Hitler in their pictures".

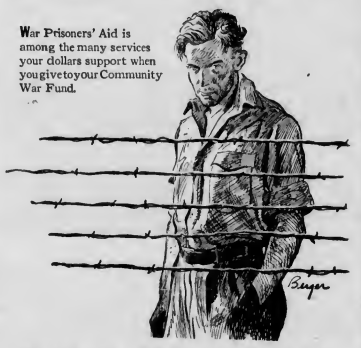
The way Gin Lee Abernathy has two dates in one night is worth more time than the time after bedcheck will allow. And it's happened more than thrice . . . Betsy Caldwell and that Something Pretty are wending their way into late at night (after bedcheck) conversations . . . And that brother of Betsy's caused no little consternation last week.

Sensations of the week: Mary Franklin Woodward's dozen roses from England. The oldest Graham boy. And as always, Bedcheck.

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

Tonight, right after supper, the installation service for freshmen and new girls will be held in Joan Court. Those participating in the service will wear white, and the traditional candle-lighting service will take the place of prayers. Thursday, the subject for prayers will be "He taught them saying judge not", and on Friday, "He taught them saying, Love your enemies."



On Saturday the annual fall "Y" Retreat will take place at Longwood. At this time, Mary Ann Jarratt, vice-president of the "Y" will present the program for the year. Members of the cabinet will spend Saturday night at Longwood in the AA cabin.

The council of the Westminster Fellowship will meet next Monday to discuss plans for the year, according to Agnes Stokes, president.

The Newman Club, composed of the Catholic girls at school, met Sunday and set Wednesday as their regular meeting day and the first Sunday of every month as communion.

The biggest dollar you ever gave!

War Prisoners' Aid is among the many services your dollars support when you give to your Community War Fund.

We can't let them down now! Give to
YOUR COMMUNITY WAR FUND
Representing the NATIONAL WAR FUND

Question of the Week

What Do You Like Best at S. T. C.?

Joyce Johnson: Oh, gosh, do I have to say?

Ollie Mae Tolbert: The very noticeable friendly spirit.

Jeanne Tolley: That cozy little court between White House and Main.

Marian Chase: The guys from Camp Pickett.

Eneida Costa: My date!!

Mary "Ginny" Williams: My tidy(??) roommates.

Azelle Caruthers Hutt: Charlie Hop!!

Milly McWilliams: The big closets—(Note sarcasm).

Irene Collins: Sailors!!

Betty Gills: Tuna fish! .....

May Yates: Having sailors under my front window.

Betty Craddock: The friendliness.

Hilda Abernathy: ..Having a Senior as a sister

Anna Kucera: My roommates!

Charlotte Grizzard: The library, especially the browsing room.

Carolyn Murphy: The variety of girls—If you get what I mean?

"Bobby" Brown: "Sing" and week-ends.

Suzanne Steele: I like the quiet and efficient way the postmistress runs the P. O.

Jane Underhill: My room and going down town.

Jean Turner: Butcher's and the drug stores.

Mae Ballard: Meeting new girls.

Lorene Haynes: These V-12's that strut around all the time.!!

Betty Jane Minton: Sports program.

Joyce Hill: Seeing uniforms running around, even if I don't know who's in them.

Jean Bentley: Trying to get the kinks out after Modern Dance!

Ruth Lawrence: The girls and H-S boys!

Virginia Elliott: I love the house and grounds at Longwood, especially the May Day dell. Also the privilege of leaving any weekend you wish.

Muriel Crostic: The friendly atmosphere and the way the Dean trusts us!

Katherine Tatterson: "Girls".

Doris Ballance: "Charlie Hop".

Iris Quillen: "The scenery."

Frances Partin: "Swiming, moder dance, hockey, and basketball".

Gertrude Driver: "Chance to sleep."

Binkley Mottley: "Crowd of girls.'

Betty Lively: "Mr. French".

Helen Brooks Lewis: "Post Office."

Lenera Perkins: "My roommates."

Frances Jennings: "Prayers after supper."

Topics For Discussion: Work, Unpacking, Greeting Friends

There's such a wealth of available material around here just now, I simply can't decide what to choose as a subject for this little discourse. I suppose I could describe the vast experience of unpacking . . . First of all, of course, there's the interminable period of waiting for one's trunk to arrive—"all this precious free time when I could be getting settled, and instead here's my room hanging by a shred, so to speak, and here am I living in a couple of defeated chambrays." Well, at least such procrastination on the part of the Railway Express does furnish an excellent opportunity for supervising everyone else's re-establishment, catching up on the latest gossip, and becoming a whiz-bang at solitaire.

Eventually, however, the trunk does appear at one's door, quite naturally, as though it had come precisely when it was due. Then begins the gargantuan task — thousands of trips from the hall to the closet, tons of energy expended in the process of squeezing all minor possessions within the shallow expanse of a single bureau drawer, and an incredible amount of repacking left-overs demurely beneath one's bed—"and to think, once I was ready to sue the express company for swiping these darn boots and was mourning the loss of these extra blouses; they absolutely don't fit in anywhere; I guess I'll be forced to wear all and sundry simultaneously."

. . . . Or I could discuss the art of greeting one's fellowmates. Enthusiasm, abandon, and a voluminous voice are essentials. It's further advisable to exercise one's flashiest grin and to declaim at length the Joys of College Life—these for their cheering effect on the we-hope-you-won't-be disillusioned new girls.

. . . Another easily-developed topic would be the gradual adjustment to work, or rather the gradual development of a sound surface impervious to anything tainted with labor—"Gosh, how did the summer evaporate so soon? I'm right back in my good li'l rut, groovey as a movie."

. . . But in second thought, I don't believe I shall go on with any of these faux pas. They're curdling. Perhaps I will be more inspired next week.

Eight Practices Are Required To Play on Class Hockey Team

Hockey practices began last Wednesday afternoon, and the classes are very large this year. The girls are now learning to dribble the ball, drive the ball, and the correct methods for holding and carryng the hockey stick. Soon they will learn the rules of the game, and what a foul or penalty means.

Girls who have played hockey before can get their eight practices required for trying out on the teams, by coming out any Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons to the practices.

Each year the competition between red and white and green and white becomes stronger, and this year the competition will be just as strong.

Pictured above are Helen Wilson and Ophelia Whittle putting in a hockey practice in preparation for the annual color clash in hockey which comes up in the near future.

Frosh Day In Town FormPandemonium In Local Stores

By HELENE GRIFFIN

Look Out! It's Thursday! One of the days S. T. C.'s Freshmen are on the loose. At five minutes past three, we shoot past Southsides' beckoning door (vowing to return before 6:00) and assuming a casual air, stroll nonchalantly into Newberry's . . . we there impress the local ladies by buying large stocks of penny post cards, a staggering number of S. T. C. stickers . . . who bought those last ones? . . . and then after digging around for our "ready cash", we get big ideas and dash for "The Hub"—it's amazing! Never before have we had to buy bedspreads and this store seems to offer a variety of colors (plug!) . . . oh, yes, draperies, too—what was our window measurement? Those darling little dresser stands were all snatched up by the "other people" here at S. T. C.

Watching these energetic souls bang in and out of Farmville's buildings, cross the street backwards still waving to a friend on the opposite side; quietly sneaking around to the - - shhh! - - Bakery, and grabbing a dozen or so of those round things with the holes, just to catch a glimpse of the Man! Then there's the rather looking group of girls when we learn that "Farmer's Supply" sells shoes as well as carrots and celery.

There was a rush day last week when all the Freshmen tried to buy out Farmville's supply of gym shoes. The luckier ones got low topped, white gym shoes, while the gals with the longer and wider bone structure had to take boys' brown high tops . . . we're a cute looking groups of girls when we show up in our sweaters 'n' skirts.

Since it takes us so long making up our mind which movie to go to, we usually make Southside our debating port, there, under the foggy lights, we gaze tenderly into our frosty cokes, finally concluding that, "It wouldn't be worth the effort and it probably isn't a good show anyway"—now it's almost 4:30 and that leaves us only an hour and a half to get back to S. T. C. safe and sound. We sigh, drop a nickel in the slot, and slowly and quietly tear our straw into shreds when Dorsey gives with "An Hour Never Passes".

All this goo makes us quite sad—quite sad!!! but aha! Where do we drop our cloak of sadness and don bright smiles of cheer? Why in the P. O. to be sure—where we all scamper to see if by chance we have some of that stuff that keeps up the Armed Man's morale (and ours)—if we keep quiet and don't push, we may have some.

Ohhh—dear — it's 5:30, we've got to hurry back to dear old S. T. C.

Upperclass Exams Begun This Week

Physical examinations for the upperclassmen were begun last Monday night. Dr. Moore, the school physician, each year examines every girl in school, soon after the fall quarter begins. The physicals given the upperclassmen will not be as thorough as those given to the freshmen. They will be examined for footitch, and have their hearts and posture checked.

Alphabetically the classes are being done in only one week. Beginning with the sophomores this last Monday, and finishing with the senors Friday week. These examinations have always been school regulatons.

Presidents of Halls For School Session Announced -- Higgins

Hall Presidents for this year were announced by Martha Higgins, president of House Council.

Ruth Garrison is Hall president for 3rd floor Library. In Main, Katherine Allen and Nancy Parrish are hall presidents for 2nd floor, and Sarah Hodges, Luverta Joyner, and Ruby Wright for 3rd floor. Hall presidents in Gym are, Heidi Lacy for 2nd floor and Mary Wyatt for 3rd floor. Gene Dare Harrison is 3rd floor White House Hall President.

On Annex, Frances Seward is Hall President for 1st floor, Barbara Lee Meyers for 2nd floor, and Katharine Kearsley for 3rd floor. Evelyn Peery is Hall President for 2nd floor Student and La Vaune Curtis for 3rd floor Student. Nancy Duncan is Hall President in Richardson.

In Junior Building, Cunningham Hall, Vivian Edmunds and Rosa Hill are Hall Presidents for 1st floor, Kay Lynch and Margie Hewlett for 2nd floor, and Agnes Stokes for 3rd floor.

Senior Building hall presidents are Margaret Barksdale for 1st floor, Mary William Calvert for 2nd floor, and Mary Elizabeth Harvey for 3rd floor.

Hall presidents for Senior Annex are Alice Nichols, 3rd floor; Sally Robertson 2nd floor, and Elizabeth Ann Jones, 1st floor.

This year room check has been added to the duties of the hall presidents. As usual the hall presidents are fire and air-raid wardens.

Officers of the House Council are Martha Higgins, president; Sally Robertson, vice-president; Freddie Anne Butt, secretary; and Margie Hewlett, treasurer.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Left Lead

Betty Ellis'

THEY'RE OFF!

Classes for new girls began with a bang Monday, with quite a few of the number signed up participating. Some, of course, bounced around in the stirrups for the first time, but some "Bridle-babies" even breezed merrily over the jumps, smooth as the saddles in which they sat.

JUMPING JEANS!

For example, some pretty leaps were executed by Jean Sauerwen and Darky, and it looks like we have news in riders as well as mounts. But, she was not to outdo Jean Carter Smith, up on Cinnamon instead of Cindy, but showing no difference in the pretty jumping. This is one time we wonder whether people stop to think to look before they leap!

MAKE A DATE

There's excitement in the air for the last of this month. On Friday, October 20th, at Longwood, there'll be a tournament put on by the town people. What's a tournament? We'll, tell you as 'twas told to us:

The horses used are usually small and swift. The riders are dubbed Knights (or Ladies) for the occasion, and ride with true gallantry in their spirits — and lances in their hands. The lances, when the knights are charging, at a gallop, are run straight ahead and through small brass rings, which are set up at the track. He who wins the largest number of rings during the tournament is king of the ball, and has the honor of crowning his date as Queen. The Ball, though a private affair, will be held in the STC gym, Friday night. Odds seem to lean toward Anderson up on Beauty—and if he were king, it wouldn't take three guesses to name the probable Queen!

Callie and Miss Black are possible entries, and it may be that Joyce will be participating. More on that later, Mr. J. E. B. Garnett, Chairman, has had the track and necessary equipment erected. Admission will be 20c plus tax for students and 35c plus tax for adults. Don't forget, that's October 20—at Longwood.

BITS!

It's fascinating to ride the new mares practically up to a plane at the airport and not have any shying. No jump nerves when dogs bark or children shriek, either. And Gypsy and Phantom Lady submitted to being shod in the most lady-like manner. Amazing!

Rained out, there were no rides Saturday, but beginning next Monday, there'll be a Junior class for high school students and younger. Among the beginners will be Martha Smith (Junior) and wee Mary K. Catlin, while riding at the same hour, but far from being beginners, will be Sarah Graham, and blue-ribbon winner, Mary Kent Withers.

We bet the hardest Lightning's ever worked in her life is the frequent ritual when she and Jean Carter pull grass for Mr. Charlie Glen's mare and colt. Keep it up —All that stooping is good for stiffened muscles!

Stay on the bit—

PEGASUS

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Postoffice
See Squeakie Trower Our Representative

Table Lamps
(Complete)
$4.09

Bed Lamps
$2.39

ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE

Come In and Try Our Delicious Sandwich & Plate Lunches
Best Food In Town
The College Shoppe

Phone 360
Vanity Beauty Shop
142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

On the Ball

Hello, all you sports enthusiasts! We promised you last week that the athletic ball would start rolling very soon, and so it has. S. T. C. seems to be more physically minded this year than any year before, although the state law requiring physical education for every girl in school might have had something to do with that.

In last week's issue of the paper, the sports calendar for this quarter was posted, and it looks like a busy season for all. Archery, tennis, hockey, badminton and swimming are being offered to you athletes, and the classes are open to all students who wish to participate without credit and count as practices toward class teams.

BADMINTON

Badminton is a sport that many of us have probably thought of as a sissy game, but that is where you are mistaken. It requires plenty of skill in learning to manipulate the racquet correctly and plenty of coordination on balance and footwork.

Although badminton is not listed with competitive sports, it is lots of fun and with your roommate or one of your buddies you can get in plenty of exercise with just one hour at it.

WALKING

Walking to Longwood has always been a favorite pasttime for S. T. C. girls, and especially at this time of the year when the leaves are changing, it's fun to go out with a group of your friends and enjoy the Longwood buns and the scenery all in one afternoon.

'Course it is always much more of a temptation to lie in bed on that long Sunday afternoon, and catch up on the much needed sleep, lost from those Saturday night prowls, but you will be surprised at how much better you will feel if you get out in the fresh air and take the short hike to Longwood. Try it some day soon, and we guarantee you'll like it.

ARCHERY

Into the target goes a bullseye! In different colored sweaters and poised like birds in flight, the girls let fly their arrows from their bows with the air of a professional. Of course this is after several weeks of taking archery, but you will be surprised as to how quickly you can catch on, and in this game that ole saying "practice makes perfect" is very true. This sport too requires skill and coordination. You will like it, so just try it once.

Until next week, stay in the game, and don't forget to come to practices.

Andrews Presents Books To Library

Miss Lula O. Andrews, former member of the S. T. C. English department has recently presented the College Library with 256 volumes. The collection consists mainly of current books and literature treatises.

Miss Andrews has given many books to the Library in the past and it was she who first began the collection in the Browsing Room.

Forestry courses may be inaugurated in Virginia's rural high schools next fall as a conservation measure, according to a recent report

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Make your . . .
Headquarters
—at—
SHANNON'S

Rytex Stationery
Special
$1.00 box
Martin the Jeweler

Marshals Selected By Head Fire Chief

Betsy Caldwell, senior from Sweet Briar; Margaret McIntyre, junior from Marion, South Carolina; and Margaret Orange, junior from Richmond, will serve as fire marshalls this year, according to an announcement made this week by Mary Walker Watts, fire chief.

The hall presidents will also serve as marshals and will work with these girls in the carrying out of fire drills.

Scarcity of Tubs

Continued from Page 1

the hearts pound away. Presently Jane, who is always late, strolls in with her pillow and book. (We almost forgot that standard equipment for after bedcheck chats in the bathroom included a pillow). A couple of hours later the crowd disperses. Once more the squeaking floorboard reveals the positions of the chatterers.

State
YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER
IN FARMVILLE, VA.

WED. thru SAT.

"GOING MY WAY"
With
Bing Crosby Rise Stevens
"SINGING YOUR FAVORITE SONGS"

Dress Up Your Room

CURTAINS $2.49 up
RUGS $1.00 up
BED SPREADS $3.98 up
PILLOWS $1.98 up
BLANKETS $5.95 up
BATH MATS $1.00 up

SECOND FLOOR—ELEVATOR SERVICE
DAVIDSON'S
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

Farmville, Pickett Dances to Continue Parden Announces

"If the plans work out as we hope, there will be a USO dance in Farmville and at Pickett on alternate Saturday nights," Jackie Parden, chairman revealed this week. The plans for them include also sending college girls to the Recreation Center in Farmville on Sunday afternoons and on Saturday nights when there is not a dance in Farmville.

"Of course, we have not yet been able to set up dates for the dances because of the uncertainty in scheduling music that far in advance," the junior from Richmond, who heads the College USO committee explained.

Miss Leola Wheeler, of the S. T. C. faculty, who works with the USO committee talked to the student body last week and explained the permissions necessary to take part in USO activities. For a girl to go to dances at Camp Pickett, it is necessary that she have permission from her parents on file in the Dean's office. However, no special permissions are required for the USO activites in Farmville.

The USO committee was set as part of the College War Council here three years ago, but as the activities increased, it became a separate group, active in summer school as well as during the regular session.

Last summer the committee was headed by Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, senior from Eastern Shore. During the ten weeks of summer school there were four dances in the Farmville Armory and a special supper and dance in the college Rec. College girls helped at the town center on Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons during the summer months. Assisting Mary Elizabeth last summer were Fay Byrd Johnson, Catherine Trower, Ann Shuffiebarger, Alice Nichols, Bev Peebles, Helen McGuire, Kay Lynch, and Jane Waring Ruffin.

College Professor Publishes Biography

Dr. Francis B. Simkins' new biography, Pitchfork Ben Tillman: South Carolinian, concerning a one-eyed farmer who, some fifty years ago led the common white men of his state in revolt against Wade Hampton and the Aristocrats, has just been published by the Louisiana State University Press.

Ben Tillman did much constructive work while governor of South Carolina. He established Clemson and Winthrop Colleges and also the ABC state liquor monopoly in Virginia. As a United States senator he waged bitter attacks on Theodore Roosevelt and also on the social and political ambitions of the negro. Tillman stirred up a political fury of a type unknown in Virginia.

In order to write this book, Dr. Simkins, a member of the Farmville faculty, has spent several summers delving into the Tillman papers at the University of South Carolina.

Dean's List

Continued from Page 1

Wren; Helen May Phillips, Melpha; Jean Prosise, Wilson; Virginia Radogna, Purdy; Mary Jane Richards, Toano; Jacqueline Ritchie, Richmond; and Sally Robertson, Lynchburg.

Also Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City County; Edith Sanford, Richmond; Mary Sheffey, Marion; Margaret Stewart, Clinchport; Agnes Stokes, Kenbridge; Anne Summers, Hampden-Sydney; Virginia Treakle, Farmville; Martha Anne Upshur, Cheriton; and Mary Parrish Vicellio, Chatham.

Also Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville; Nannie Webb, Orchinay; Faith Weeks, Purdy; Martha Lee White, Richmond; Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock; Helen Wilson, Petersburg; Mattie Winston, Rustburg; Bette Jane Wood, Hopewell; and Betty Woodward, Barhamsville.

Juniors and Seniors are eligible to be on the Dean's List when they have achieved at least "B" on all subjects for the previous quarter with the exception of floor work in physical education, which must be "C". The average for the previous three quarters cannot be lower than "C". The student on the Dean's list may be absent from classes when she can use her time in ways that seem to her more profitable.

"Y" President

Sara Bird Williams, president of the YWCA, which is sponsoring Alicia Coffin on this campus tomorrow in chapel. Miss Coffin spoke to the Y cabinet this afternoon. (For story, see page one).

35 New Girls Join Gr'daughters Club

Thirty-five new girls have been enrolled in the Granddaughters Club, according to an announcement made this week by Nannie Webb, president.

Those girls enrolling in the Club this fall are Hilda Mae Abernathy, Cochran; Lucie Addleman, Cumberland; Estaline Anderson, Andersonville; Martha Anderson, Andersonville; Jean Babb, Ivor; Dorothy Blair, Chatham; Mary Jane Bond, Alexandria; Betty Bondurant, Farmville; and Dorothy Bowman, Rice.

Also Louise Brooks, Farmville; Virginia Butler, Bluefield, W. Va.; Ann Cardwell, Farmville; Sue Castle, Willis; Virginia Dale, Homeville; Audrey Davis, Farmville; Juanita Davis, Buckingham; and Sue Davis, Lynchburg.

Also Susan Dickinson, Front Royal; Josephine Goodwyn, Stony Creek; Charlotte Grizzard, Drewryville; Marian Gunn, Blackstone; Eloise Hanes, Farmville; Catherine Hankins, Richmond; Ethel Harrison, Emporia; and Mary Frances Jennings, Appomattox.

Also Vivian Leslie, South Boston; Virginia Lane, Chase City; Mary Ann Morris, Richmond; Dorothy Overton, Farmville; Katherine Rainey, Andersonville; Mary Raltrary, East Hampton, New York; Martha Stringfield, Elbenon; and Virginia Yonce, Shipman.

To become a member of the Granddaughter's Club, a girl's mother or grandmother must have attended Farmville State Teachers College. The Club seeks to help alumnae become acquainted with each other and the daughters of their classmates by entertaining them at a tea given on each Founder's Day.

Officers of the Granddaughters Club other than Nannie Webb, president, are Virginia Lee Abernathy, vice-president; Mary Franklin Woodward, secretary, Dorothy Bennett, treasurer; Evelyn Grizzard, reporter; and Miss Virginia Wall, adviser.

The Pin-Up Column Of Scheduled Meetings

Monday

I
11:00—USO committee
4:00—Town Girls Club
5:00—Dramatic Club Ex. Board
Baptist Student Union
Orchestra
6:45—Athletic Association
7:00—Choral Club
7:15—Virginian
8:00—Choir
Madrigal
Monogram Club
9:00—Sr. A'Capella
10:00—House Council

II
5:00—Dramatic Club Ex. Board
Baptist Student Union
Westminister Fellowship
Wesley Foundation
Orchestra
6:45—Athletic Association
7:00—Choral Club
7:15—Virginian
8:00—Choir
Madrigal
9:00—Sr. A'Capella

III
5:00—Orchestra
Dramatic Club Ex. Board
6:45—Athletic Association
7:00—Choral Club
7:15—Virginian
8:00—Choir
Madrigal
9:00—Sr. A'Capella
10:00—House Council

IV
5:00—Orchestra
Dramatic Club Ex. Board
Baptist Student Union
Westminster Fellowship
6:45—Athletic Association
7.00—Choral Club
7:15—Virginian
8:00—Choir
Madrigal
9:00—Sr. A'Capella

Tuesday

7:00—Dramatic Club
8:00—Riding Club
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W .A.

II
7:00—Home Ecoonmics Club
7:30—Kappa Delta Pi
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W. A.

III
4:00—Spanish Circle
6:45—Classes
7:00—Dramatic Club
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W. A.

IV.
4:00—French Circle
7:00—Cotillion
7:30—Kappa Delta Pi
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W. A.

Wednesday

I
11:00—USO Committee
4:30—Y. W. C. A. Cabinet
4:45—Rotunda Circulation
6:45—Alpha Phi Sigma
Alpha Kappa Gamma
Rotunda Editorial staff
7:00—Orchestra
7:30—Orchesis
8:00—War Council
8:30—Orchesis
10:00—Freshman Commission

II
4:30—YWCA Cabinet
4:45—Rotunda Circulation
6:45—Student Body
Rotunda
7:00—Orchestra
Ass'n. of Childhood Education
7:30—Orchesis
8:00—War Council
8:30—Orchesis
9:00—Y. W. Committees

III
4:30—YWCA Cabinet
4:45—Rotunda Circulation
6:45—Granddaughters Club
Alpha Kappa Gamma
Rotunda
7:00—Orchestra
7:30—Orchesis
8:00—War Council
8:30—Orchesis
9:00—Rotunda staff
10:00—Freshman Commission

IV
4:30—YWCA Cabinet
4:45—Rotunda Circulation
6:45—Pan Hel Association
6:45—Rotunda editorial staff
7:00—Orchestra
7:30—Orchesis
8:00—War Council
Commercial Club
8:30—Orchesis
9:00—Y. W. Committees

V
4:30—Y. W. Cabinet

Thursday

I
5:00—Student Standards
Latin Club
7:00—Choral Club
Beorc Eh Thorn
Gamma Psi
Bandage Rolling
8:00—Debate Club
Choir
Madrigal
Bandage Rolling
9:00—Sr. A'Capella

II
5:00—Colonnade
Sigma Pi Rho
7:00—Choral Club
Bandage Rolling
8:00—Choir
Madrigal
Bandage Rolling
9:00—Sr. A'Capella

III
5:00—Colonnade
Latin Club
7:00—Choral Club
Gamma Psi
Bandage Rolling
8:00—Choir
Madrigal
Bandage Rolling
9:00—Sr. A'capella

IV
5:00—Sigma Pi Rho
7:00—Choral Club
Bandage Rolling
8:00—Choir
Madrigal
Bandage Rolling
9:00—H20
Sr. A'Capella

Friday

I
7:00—Campus League

II
7:00—Future Teachers of America

III
7:30—Northern Neck Club

IV
7:00—Future Teachers of America

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

Living up to their reputations as globe-trotters, many STC'ers went tripping during the week end, because school was just too much to stand for two whole weeks without going away and seeing some new faces!

To Richmond went Betty Scroggin, Mary Ann Morris, Corinne Baker, Margaret Harvie, Marian Hahn, Virginia Naylor, Fay Johnson, Robin Lear, Frances Lee, Virginia Woodward, Mildred Shepherd, Mildred Davis, Eva Cobb, Martha Higgins, and Caroline Huddle.

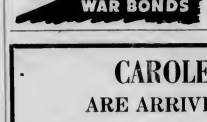
In Roanoke were Jean Bentley, Joanne Button, Barbara Surface, Dorothy Bennett, Betty Blackwell, Augusta Hargan, and Betty Minton.

Sara Moling, Caroline Moon, Mary K. Middleton, Betty Nixon, and Janet Sollenberger visited in Winchester. Hilda Mae Abernathy and Virginia Lee Abernathy were in Cochran, Va.

Seeing Lynchburg were Annette Anthony, Betty Bibb, Christine Bunch, Marcheta Cunningham, Doris Hancock, Elizabeth Motley, Shirley Sloughter, and Kitty Maddox.

Page Cook was in Chester; Helen Brooks Lewis in News Ferry; Jewel Hunt in Cape Charles; Florence Godwin in Smithfield; Mildred Altice in Keysville; Isabel Key in Newport News; Louise Blaine in Durham; Frances Garrett in Curdsville; Frances Jennings and Harriet Cole in Appomattox, and Mary Lou Bagby in Virginia Beach, visiting relatives or friends.

Mrs. Lucy Manson Sharpe went to Blackstone to visit her husband; Jane Philhower and Olive Bradshaw attended the dances at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; and Pat Maddox went to Knoxville, Tennessee to attend a wedding.



Girls attending the Methodist Conference in Richmond over the week end were Anne Buck, Dorothy Cummings, Virginia Farrier, Virginia Lee Price, Katherine Rainey, and Mary Richmond.

Frosh Janie Hanks was off to VMI to help represent STC at the dances, and came back groggy but happy.

Last, one of last year's best loved seniors, Jerry Titmus, was back on our campus for the week end.

Alumnae President Entertains at Lunch

Mrs. Ruth H. Coyner and Miss Mary E. Peck attended an executive board meeting and luncheon of the Richmond Chapter of Alumnae Saturday, September 30, at the home of Mrs. S. Gardner Waller on Noble Avenue in Richmond. Mrs. Waller is the president of the Farmville Alumnae Association.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Clasical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Get your corsages —at— Collin's Florist

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
328 MAIN STREET
Patronize PATTERSON'S
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.

Fresh Candies Received Daily
HARD CANDY
—For—
OVER SEA MAILING
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Popular Sheet Music
LYNN'S
Jewelry Store

Southside Drug Store
EVERYDAY FOOD SPECIALS
Hamburger Special with Frech Fried—Drink 35c

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PHONE
78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

CAROLE KING'S
ARE ARRIVING WEEKLY
See the new flattering fall styles and colors
SIZES 9 TO 17
$7.95 TO $16.95
DOROTHY MAY STORE

OXFORDS - LOAFERS
FOR COLLEGE WEAR
$3.95 & $4.95
NUB KNIT SLOPPY JOE SWEATERS
All Colors—All Wool
$5.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
CHARGE ACCOUNTS AVAILABLE

WELCOME
MISS HAMNER

The Rotunda

DON'T MISS
FIRST LYCEUM

VOLUME XXIV — FARMVILLE, VA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1944 — NO. 3

Pickett to Honor STC Girls With Special Dance Saturday

Col. Lammons, post commander at Camp Pickett, issued an invitation this week to 400 STC girls to a special dance in their honor Saturday night, October 14, in the field house at Camp Pickett.

Hostess for the dance will be Miss Bell, of Service Club No. 2, and according to information received by Miss Leola Wheeler of the college USO committee, the dance will be for S. T. C. girls exclusively. Plans are being made to have the field house carry the color scheme of the school.

The dance is being handled trough the college USO committee, and certain regulations are expected to be carried out by the girls who will go. Girls who desire to go should sign up immediately, if they have not already done so. Buses will assemble in the front of the school to leave at 6:30 Saturday night, and girls who have been included on the final list are expected to meet in the auditorium immediately after dinner dressed to go.

Members of the college committee will accompany the group as well as members of the faculty who will serve as chaperons. Among those who plan to go are Dean Martha Smith and Miss Alpha Lee Garnett.

Further information about the dance and regulations can be obtained from Jackie Parden, chairman of the college USO committee. Other members of the committee are Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, vice-chairman; Ophelia Whittle, secretary-treasurer; Shirley Gibson, head of the recreation center sub committee; Lucy McKenry, Nancy Almond, Ann Shifflebarer, Marilyn Bell, Jane Waring Ruffin, Katherine Prebble, and Lucy Manson Sharpe.

Viccellio, McLear, Philhower, Helmer Made Stunt Chairmen

Mary Parrish Viccellio, senior from Chatham, Jane Philhower, junior from Williamsburg; Pat McLear, sophomore from Richmond, and Mary Helmer, freshman from Newport News, have been elected stunt chairmen for the circus on October 28 sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Serving as booth chairmen for the circus will be Catherine Trower, senior from Eastville; Minnie Rose Hawthorne, junior from Kenbridge; Nancy Whitehead, sophomore from Kecoughton.

As usual there will be a circus queen whose identity will not be revealed until the night of the circus. Each class will be represented in the queen's court.

Business Department To Continue Program

The Business Education Department will continue its War Training Program in connection with the office practice and advanced typing classes, M. L. Landrum, head of the department, revealed to the press this week.

The advanced typing classes are under the supervision of Miss Ottie Craddock and Miss Zita Bellamy.

The work under the War Training Program will be co-ordinated by Miss Olive Parmenter who has had successful experience in organizing office practice courses on the rotation plan at St. Lawrence University, Canton, New York.

The Business Education Department is eager to help with clerical work and in every way cooperate with all war agencies, educational, community, and civic organizations during this period of national emergency.

Mary White Cox Succumbs At Home

Miss Mary White Cox, Head of the Home at Farmville from 1915 to 1944, died at her home here on First Avenue Sunday morning after an illness of several months.

She had been a student at Farmville and returned to her

MISS MARY WHITE COX

Alma Mater in 1902 as an assistant in the home department. In 1915 she assumed the position of Head of the Home and held this place until her retirement in June of this year.

There was a special memorial service for Miss Mary at chapel yesterday and funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Ivan Bond, of Alexandrie; Mrs. J. W. Hayes, of Newport News; Mrs. Conway Selley, of Manassas; and two brothers, Wilson Cox of Newport News, and John Cox of Farmville.

35 Freshmen Sign For Alpha Phi Sigma

Thirty-five freshmen signed up last week as members of Alpha Phi Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity for freshmen and sophomores. All high school valedictorians and salutatorians are eligible for membership.

The initiation will take place in the November first meeting. Sophomores who made a "B" average in last winter and spring quarters who have been issued bids will be initiated at the same meeting in November.

On Thursday, October 12, immediately after chapel in the Junior Parlor there will be a meeting of those new girls who qualify for membership in Alpha Phi Sigma. At this time, also, those girls who were given bids to Alpha Phi Sigma last spring are asked to mee.

McKenry Selected Choral Club Head

Lucie McKenry was elected president of the Choral Club at the meeting held Monday night. She succeeds Louise Harrell in this position.

Other officers elected were Lucy Lingo, business manager and treasurer; Nancy Taylor, secretary; and Nancy McCauley and Clie Sarver, librarians. Also there was a special committee of five elected composed of Hilda Abernathy, Emily Carper, Virginia Dale, Jean Freeman and Rebecca Tomlinson.

H-S Navy V-12 Unit To Present Parade, Review, Farmville

October 23 Slated For Local Program

Plans are being completed for a Navy parade and review in Farmville by the V-12 Unit at Hampden-Sydney, on Monday afternoon, October 23, Lt. George Howe, commanding officer of the unit, revealed to the press yesterday.

The parade will commence at 4:15 Monday afternoon on the corner of Ely and High Street and will continue down High Street to Main Street. The group will parade down Main Street to the railroad track and then do a reverse back to the S. T. C. athletic field, where the review will be.

The program is in connection with Navy Day, which fall this year on October 27, and is being held in advance since the Unit will be on leave on that date.

The entire Navy Unit of 235 men will take part in the review and the parade and music for the occasion will be supplied by the Navy band from Hampden-Sydney.

The V-12 Unit was organized at Hampden-Sydney in July, 1943, and has continued since that time under the direction of Lt. Howe.

Lewis Will Serve As News Editor

Betty Lewis, sophomore from Princess Ann County, has been promoted to the position of acting news editor on the Rotunda, since Margaret Sheffield did not return to school this fall, Jane Waring Ruffin, editor, announced. Betty worked on the news staff last year, and is an active member of Alpha Phi Sigma.

Margaret Harvie, sophomore from Richmond, has been added to the staff in the position of "Y" editor, and Dot Gelston has been added to the typing staff.

Try-outs are being held now for new girls to fill vacancies on the news, feature, social, sports writing staffs, on the typing, advertising and circulation staffs.

All-American Group to Feature Male Voices as First Lyceum Here Friday Night, October 13

THE IONIAN QUARTETTE

BET Elects Masloff As Vice-President

9 Girls Invited To Be Members

At a recent meeting of Beore Eh Thorn, English Honor Society, Ann Masloff, senior from Danville was elected vice-president to fill the vacancy left by Sara Moling, who recently resigned from this office. Ann is an English major and transferred last year from Averett College.

The following girls were elected to membership in Beore Eh Thorn and have accepted, Lovice Aitizer, sophomore from Farmville; Elizabeth Lee Carter, sophomore from Concord Depot; Margaret Eliett, sophomore from Jennings Ordinary; Nancy Harrell, senor from Emporia; Sue Hundley, sophomore from Suffolk; Georgia Knight, senior from Appalachia; Louisa Rives, sophomore from McKenny; Virginia Shackleford, junior from Gloucester Point; and Margaret Wilson, sophomore from Washington.

Officers of Beore Eh Thorn are, Mary Franklin Woodward, president; Ann Masloff, vice-president; Ann Martin, Secretary, and Virginia Lee Abernathy, treasurer.

Freshmen Select Dabney Adviser

Other Elections Scheduled Soon

Miss Mary B. Dabney, of Lynchburg, was elected classman of the freshman class at the meeting held in the Rec last Thursday night.

Coming to Farmville as an assistant professor of physical education, she received her bachelor degree from the College of William and Mary and her master's degree from Columbia University. She is a national basketball official, an American Red Cross lifesaving instructor and a member of the sports committee on physical education for the state. Prior to this year, Miss Dabney was supervisor of physical education in Lynchburg for several years.

Elected chairman of the circus stunt was Mary Helmer of Newport News. Mary was active in Dramatic Club work in high school and has directed several plays which have been presented at Fort Eustis.

Officers of the freshman class will be elected in the near future, according to an announce-

Continued on Page 4

Ionian Quartette Offers Ballads

First in the series of Artists Series, the Ionian Singers ensemble of four male voices, will be presented in the auditorium, Friday, October 13 at 8 p. m.

The Ionian Singers, whose membership comprises Alan Adair, first tenor; Albert Barber, second tenor; Bryce Fogle, baritone; and Hildreth Martin, basso, are an all-American ensemble. These singers have made extensive researches to find materpieces that have been all but forgotten because of the habit of male singing groups using the more popular songs and less difficult ballads of the time.

Alan Adair, first tenor, who has an outstanding lyric voice, first appeared professionaly in theatres of Chicago and St. Louis. After going to New York to study and appearing with another quartet, he joined the Ionian Singers.

Albert Barber, second tenor, has been singing all his life. His wide experiences include concert, light opera, radio and choir work. Too, he has appeared with the New York Symphony, the New York Schola Cantorium, and the Oratorio Society.

Bryce Fogle, baritone, first built his reputation as a pianist. Later he became a singer, composer, and teacher.

Hildreth Martin, basso, had graduated from college before he discovered the musical opportunities awaiting a profundo voice of unusual range and fine texture such as his. He is active in a variety of musical organizations both as soloist and in the capacity he now fulfills with the Ionian Singers and assembling their repertoire.

Tickets will go on reserve Friday morning at 9 in the registrar's office. There is no admission for students; however, the admission price for outsiders is 40 cents.

Farmville Alumna Added as Member Home Department

Coming to S. T. C. from Roanoke, Miss Evelyn Hamner assume her duties in the Home Department this week.

Miss Hamner is house mother for Cunningham Hall and has certain daily hours in the home office.

A graduate of the Normal School here, she has taught in Harrisonburg as well as in South Carolina. She has, however, been making her home in Roanoke for the past twenty-five years.

Harrell Will Serve As PGM President

Nancy Harrell, senior from Emporia, is serving as acting president of the Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary fraternity in social science, in the absence this quarter of Betsy Fox.

Other officers for Pi Gamma Mu are Alice Fetig, secretary; Carolyn Huddle, treasurer; Helen McGuire, Mardi Gras chairman, and Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, corresponding secretary.

The theme for the programs for the year as recently announced by Nancy is a series of papers on each of the important nations of the world today. The series was begun last week by Mary Ann Jarratt, who presented a paper on "The History and Background of Russia".

Sophisticated Sophomores Prepare to Pester Naive Freshmen In Traditional Rat Days

Print Dress, Short Skirt Required

"Hearken, hearken, music sounds afar!"—The musical sound of 300 seditious, sciolistic rodents skipping down the hall to the tune beaten out by the imperial Sophomores. Once again the delightful (yes, this is written by a Soph) tradition of Rat Week will be forced upon the eagerly awaiting Freshmen.

It is a general feeling among upperclassmen that the insignificant Rats will have a different conception of Sophomores during the two day period and perhaps for the rest of the year. They will realize the infinite charm and integrity of the Sophs hence will probably feel they should fall on their knees and shout speeches of praise loud and long to prove their admiration and humbleness. Other lowly rodents may feel the urge to become poets or bards, or may even wish to find their personality on the gym floor so that the Sophs will like them better.

It is another obvious belief that most Rats will comply to the slightest whims of the brilliant Sophomores, because a summons to Rat Court can be made very embarrassing.

As in the days of yore, every Freshman who joins the Royal King of Ratty Rodents will regale herself in the rich rags designated in the Rat Rules. She will also learn said rules and keep her voice in trim, for all Sophomores appreciate good music.

Before setting forth the rules in black and white, let it be said that Rat Week is merely good fun and ridicule of the incoming Freshman class. It is hoped that Frosh and Sophs alike all show good sportsmanship and make Rat Week what is meant to be. Praise '47!

Rat rules as approved are:

1. Attend all meals in the dining room.
2. Do not go to the post office until after lunch each day.
3. Always walk in front of Joan of Arc and kneel in reverence.
4. Know Green and White song.
5. Know all of the Sophomores' names and address them as 'Miss' calling them by their last name

Frosh Attend All Meals

and answer "Ma'am" when spoken to.

6. Meet in gym at 6:00 A .M. each morning, dressed in rat clothes.
7. Freshman class must make up a song in praise of the Sophomores.
8. Convene in front of the Colonnade at 12:30 and immediately after lunch each day.
9. Wear no jewelry whatsoever.
10. Hair must be parted in middle.—All hair must be plaited.—Wear 7 pigtails on right of head, tied with green ribbon or string, and 4 pigtails on left side, tied and white ribbon or string.
11. Outline lips with eyebrow pencil and put lipstick above the eyebrows. Wear rouge on the end of nose. No other makeup is to be worn and no fingernail polish.
12. Wear a green 4 (3" by 4") cut out of cardboard dangling from the right ear touching the shoulders and a white 7, (3" by 4") on the left ear.

Continued on Page 3

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deucl Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Leila Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc, Fay Johnson.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Eilen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spryc. Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelson.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1944

On the Passing of Miss Mary

This week Farmville girls throughout the nation are mourning the passing of Miss Mary White Cox, long Head of the Home here.

Miss Mary, as she was known to students, faculty, and administration was herself a graduate of this school and she came back to Farmville in 1902 as an assistant in the Home Department. In 1915 she was made Head of the Home, a position that can be most nearly compared to the Dean of Women in other schools.

But at Farmville and for Miss Mary the position was more than that. For nearly 30 years Miss Mary was "Mother" to students here, granting permissions and giving counsel to all who entered the doors of Farmville. Last spring she resigned her position here bacause of poor health.

For more than 40 years Miss Mary stood a stable and constant reminder that Farmville girls are ladies, and she herself was as perfect an example as could be found. The spirit which has pervaded all who have become a part of Farmville found embodiment in this faithful and loyal alumnae, and this same spirit she passed on to many of Farmville's daughters. A true gentlewoman of the South, Miss Mary, with a skillful hand, guided the destinies of many and kept them on the road to fuller, happier living. Mere words cannot express all that she meant to Farmville.

And now, after having given most of her life to this school, Miss Mary has passed on. She left behind memories that will be lasting and an influence that will be felt for years to come.

Farmville Girls Answer Call To Roll Surgical Bandages

Last week the students here reached a new high in rolling surgical bandages, when some 1700 were turned in.

Special commendation is due those girls who have organized and carried out the bandage rolling program here, and to those groups who have assisted with the work on Thursday nights. The work was begun here two years ago by Service Committee of the YWCA, and at the beginning a small room in Student Building was large enough to take care of the work. Response from the students increased as they realized that here was something definite and concrete they could do for the war effort, and the group had to move to a larger room, finally settling in the largest of classrooms, the art lab.

And now as the drive into Germany advances, as the list of casualties hits more and more homes, even as the end seems almost in sight there is a greater need than ever for these bandages. And those who help with this work will have a real part in bringing home alive more of the young men of our nation.

It is not a haphazard job, this bandage rolling. It must be done carefully and painstakingly, each bandage must be exactly right, must meet the qualifications for the needs in the hospital centers. It's not a difficult task, but it is not an easy one. There are no medals for the work, no rewards, save the satisfaction of knowing that we are doing something in the all-out war effort. But then what more reward could one ask than the knowledge that perhaps the life of the one's classmate, one's relative or friend, or the red-headed kid next door has been saved because she was willing to give a little time to roll surgical dressings?

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

The new allied offensive has brought our troops within Aachen, our first German city. While the American First Army encircled Aachen, the Aachen-Cologne Road was shelled in an attempt to cut off the escape route of the few defending Germans that remained. All around Aachen on a 30-mile front new breaks have been struck in the Siegfried line. The Germans have labeled it "a major assault."

* * * *

The Third Army has lost ground in southern France in the battle for Fort Driant, which guards the way to Metz. The counterattacks have been overwhelming. We have taken several small towns but the real enemy resistance is being saved for places of more importance.

* * * *

The enemy is also still defending Bologna. Our men are only 12 miles away and widening their front as they advance. Once we take Bologna it is believed that we will encounter a new defense line which is reported being built farther north in Italy.

* * *

There's also a new war front for this week's paper. The setting is Greece. The scene is that of fleeing Germans. With the British forces moving toward Corinth, escape is now or never. Crete is reported evacuated as the Nazis try to return to Germany before the Russians and allies trap them in a noose.

* * * *

The Russians are at work on another trap in the North. Could they reach the Baltic Sea, German troops in Riga and western Latvia would be encircled. This is the beginning of the fight for East Prussia a new offensive anonunced by Stalin. In the Balkans the Soviet forces are within 72 miles of Budapest and Tito claims that Belgrade is "cut off completely from all sides."

The Japanese are still holding out on Palau. Victory is not complete as has been stated but will be if and when we finally take the Japanese held Bloody Nose Ridge. Angaur, six miles south of Palau is being mopped up by the American Marines.

HEARD

After Bedcheck

Queekie Trower's destiny was ruled by the stars this week-end Under the sign of Mercury, her heart was indeed "gladdened" for various reasons . . . Charles' loving was kinda mixed down Shannon's way last Saturday peeyem . . . Billy Baldwin and Lynn Spryc are a newsome twosome . . . Ditto Barbara Lee M. and Dave Crute.

Quote Bev Peebles' frantic cry: "Oh, Mary Lib. Don't leave me here with all these big, handsome men." Orchids of week go to Charlie Treanor for his scoop on S. Easterly . . . Julie Hunt has a conditional invitation to the U. of Va., come the week-end.

Pint size affairs du coeur: Mary Ann Loving and Bo Wall . . . Unusual happening: "Peaches", at the dictation of the ouija board, wrote to a certain young man in the Marines—known only to Ouija. Strangely enough, the letter was returned.

Bear hugs were in order for Twitch, Droste and Jerry Titmus. It was good to see their familiar faces—Gin T. removed her parts to Norfolk where the horizon presented a naval lieutenant.

Flowers, phone calls, special deliveries, et cetera, et cetera, are mere routine for one D. Overcash. By the way, the young man is only at Hampden-Sydney . . . — Mary Ann Morris, another one of the many attractive new frosh was seen with another young man this week-end. Oh yes, and another cute frosh, Charlotte Grizzard has received a bid to Randolph Macon dances this week-end.

Calls from departed Picketeers were presented with Kay Lynch, Carolyn Hayslett, Edith Garcia being some of the luckiest.

The H.-S dance was quite as successful as in the good old days.

The ukelele and its various performers were asked to give a concert at the Lee Theatre but the invitation was regretfully refused since their schedule was already filled. The biggest requests were for "Bamboo Bungalow" and "Get You a Kitchen Mechanic". It is hoped that a Lyceum number can

Continued on Page 4

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

Tonight at prayers, the traditional senior capping service will take place. At this time, the seniors will be capped by their little sisters. The theme for prayers tomorrow night will be: "Jesus said, 'Hear and Do'." There will be vespers Friday night.

A new high in bandage rolling was reached last week when thirty-eight girls rolled 1756 bandages. Let's keep up the good work. You'll have your opportunity to help tomorrow night and every Thursday night in Miss Bedford's art lab. Don't forget to come!

The Baptist Young People's secretary of the YMU spoke at YWA recently. Her topic was "Getting a Kick Out of Life". The Fellowship hour for B. T. U., usually held at the Student Center, was held at the church last Sunday night with one of the W. M. S. circles serving to a crowd of approximately seventy-five.

Next Sunday the Young People's meeting at the Presbyterian church will be conducted by the Hampden-Sydney boys. It's at six o'clock, and a light plate supper will be served. All Presbyterian girls are invited.

The Canterbury Club will participate in the morning service at the Episcopal church next Sunday morning in carrying out the program for National Youth Sunday. There will be a special early Communion service at 7:30 a. m., and in place of the regular meeting Sunday night, the group will have a weiner roast at the home of the Rev. Robert Withers.

The annual fall "Y" Retreat at Longwood was pronounced a success by all.

The "Y" committees meet tonight at 9 o'clock. Cooperate by coming and coming on time to your committee meeting.

"Y" Committees

In order, committee, chairman, and meeting place.

Church Cooperative, Margie

Continued on Page 4

Question of the Week

What Is Your Favorite Place at S. T. C. and—Why?

Lynn Spryc: My bed at a quarter to eight when I have an eight o'clock class.

Ann Kingdon: Shannons! I like its atmosphere at eleven o'clock a. m.—as of this week.

Barbara Lee Myers: The riding room—no explanation.

Margaret Brace: The P. O. where I don't get Charlie's letters.

Page Cook: The telephone booth at 12:45!

Diddy Ford: I'd just as soon be one place as another.

Margaret McIntyre: Second floor C. H. at twelve 'cause it's so quiet.

Beverly Peebies: Miss Wheeler's class room where I'm at last learning to speak English.

Anne Summers: My room 'cause it has a bed in it.

Virginia Shackelford: C. H. 30, 'cause it's home and I like home.

Kitty Parham: The train station, 'cause I'll be going somewhere!

Frances Lee: I like anywhere you can eat!

Betty Lee: I like the Dining Room—Silly!

Jane Philhower: The golf course!!!

Minnie Lee Crumpler: They are all wonderful!

Margaret Hewiett: The cabin—to get away from it all.

Kay Lynch: My corner.

Dot Owen: The Tea Room—don't ask me why, you should know.

Virginia Travis: The Jr. Kitchen—I'm just a born cook!

Julie Hunt: Longwood. I just like it out there.

Mary Lib Fuqua: Bed, of course.

Mary Watkins: My bed! .....

Dodie Jones: The Tea Room if I ever had the money.

Marilyn Johnson: As far away from class as I can get.

Mary Parrish Viecellio: Down the road a piece.

Pepsie Scott: Joe's Place!

Pat Maddox: Modern Dance class!

Birdie Williams: The Rotunda because there's so much activity.

Nancy Harrell: The bowling alley at Shannon's.

Jane Page: The bath tub, 'cause I'm always being thrown in it.

Musical Minded Maidens Mar Silence With Senseless Songs

"We are the nuns, nuns, nuns of S. T. C. . . ." Comes the annual lament, noisily if not musically, from the new crop of freshmen down the hall.—Could anything be more agreeable than the music we hear around school? The most amazing thing about it all is the wide variety with its infectious good humor and genial pleasure.

The whimsical—better still, the ridiculous "Behind the Swinging Doors"—vigorously bursts forth from some happy soul's room and we must laugh in spite of ourselves as we listen to the pleading wails of a loving son's asking his strayed father to leave the evils of the vulgar bar room and come home to his weeping mother. Ah, life is a terrible struggle! What will the older generation think of next? Not a thing that could beat good old boogie woogies for our own hilarious jam sessions. Don't we have fun thinking up new steps and laughing at someone else's breaking creation — "Come along with me boys—just down the road a piece"?

Could we ever enjoy music if the bath tub hadn't been invented? We have often wondered which came first—the bath tub or music. Bath tub operas—now we love them. Where everything is sung from the Toreador Song and "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" to the romantic "I'll Be Seeing You" or "Goodnight Whereever You Are".

A stray word of kindness to the poor lovesick girl who after getting her "wires crossed", paces the halls singing, "You Always Hurt the One You Love". With noticeable consideration we all envy the lucky girl whose "one and only" has been to see her. Appropriate theme songs seem to be "All the Things You Are", "Night and Day," or Sigmund Romberg's "One Alone."

"Begin the Beguine" and "Stardust" bring pleasant memories of week-end hops—not to menton "Moonlight and V. P. I."

There will now be a short pause for a transcribed announcement —"Super Suds, Super Suds—lots more suds with Super Suds". Now back to the subject.

The Bull sessions, in which a lot of nothing is said with the greatest of seriousness are always more fun when we end up with the spirited "Green and White" songs, and the "'V. M. I. Spirit" or "W. & L. Swing" as well as numerous service songs to give that added quality.

Debussy's "Claire de Lune", Tschalkowsky's "Nutcracker Suite", our choir's presentation of Brahm's "Requiem", among many others fit our more classical moods.

To add a little mystery to our life, it's a lot of fun to play "Chloe"—behind closed doors—of course.

Well, "there'll be food around the corner—food around the corners, food around the corner, food around"—How could we exist without it??? But we feed our spirits as well as our bodies, and if we care to exist off the lengthy "It was sad when the Gre-e-at Ship Went Down" with a side dish of "Little Lize' I Luzya!" and a snappy verse of "Rugged but

Continued on Page 4

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

It was in Tunisia. The enemy's artillery was pounding our forces. Corporal John W. Percer of our Field Artillery saw his section chief fall, ran to the officer and staunched his wounds with a tourniquet. The shelling was intense, but the Corporal threw himself between the wounded man and the exploding shells to shield him until it ended. For that he won the Silver Star.

Your extra Third War Loan Bonds help Corporal Percer and all others like him.

Preliminary Games Begun for Annual Tennis Tourney

The preliminary rounds for the tennis tournament were played this past week. These singles are the lead-up games for the semi-finals and finals which will be played soon.

The results of these rounds were as follows, Jane Burchard, freshman, defeated Ophelia Whittle, senior, Betty Borchard, freshman, defeated Helen Wilson, senior; Frances Lee, junior, defeated Betty Minton, frosh; Phyllis Watts, junior, defeated Jane Babb, sophomore; Mary W. Watts, senior, Mary Harrison, freshman, defeated Dot Owen, sophomore, and Mary Walker Watts, senior, defeated Lucy Bralley, junior.

Come out and support your colors in the semi-finals and finals, the dates of which will be set later. You don't have to be an expert to come out and play in the doubles, so get a little practice, find yourself a partner, and enter the matches to support the class colors for your team.

Sophisticated Sophs

Continued from Page 1

13. Wear a print dress above the knees with a clashing skirt over it. Have skirt raised to under armpits and wear a belt around the waist—Thursday the dress and skirt must be worn with the wrong side out, and the dress is to be worn backwards.

14. Wear a black stocking on the right arm with fingers cut out. A glove is to be worn on the left hand.—Stockings can be bought at Newberry's.

15. Wear black stockings on the left leg with a white sock over it. Wear stockings rolled just below the knee. A green sock is to be worn on the right foot. Both socks must be turned up. Mismatched oxfords must be worn.

16. A cardboard sign is to be worn on the front with rat's name and room number. A rat is to be drawn on the sign. A sign is to be worn on the back with "Praise Sophomores" on it.

17. Carry books in pajama legs with bottom of legs tied in knots.

18. Carry a towel with Kleenex and safety matches in it at all times.

19. Each "rat" must carry either a broom, dust pan, or trash basket at all times except to chapel.

20. All "rats" must be prepared to give Sign Off at any time.

21. No rats will be allowed to go downtown Thursday. "Rat Week" begins at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning and lasts through Thursday night. Ratting must be discontinued at 6:00 p. m. on both days, except for special sessions of Rat Court, which may not be held except from 10 to 10:30 p. m.

The Sign Off is:

I (name of rat), from (name of home town), am a seditious, sciolistic freshman and seem to sense that the sensationally sagacious Sophomores surpass us scholastically and socially, for standard statistics state Sophomores stand stable, steadfast, and staunch since stratosphere started.—Such singular stamina surely speaks splendid success secured, showing sufficient, even superfluous signs of success. Sophomores should really sever all connections with the silly, shallow freshmen, since they are scrapping in a sciamachy—PRAISE '47!

Visit Us For the BEST
Soda fountain service
Chappell Company

PEOPLES
NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Left Lead

Tie on the feed-bag, folks, and pack down some cheri-oats; we would feed you everything from A to Z this week; A for Air, and Z for Zip in it!

INDIAN SUMMER

First, though, we had a couple of warm, summery days, Saturday and Sunday to be exact, and of all beautiful weather for riding! It was worth missing lunch for two hours on the trail, or even in the ring for that matter. We can still hear Nancy Ingle praising Miss Black . . . and Mary James voicing her sentiments over Gypsy. The back trail is a popular place indeed!

"Kim" Kimmerling really deserves meals off the Home Office mantel. She took her first ride on Saturday morning and followed it up with three hours at Longwood on Sunday. Kim likes Collie, it seems—and anybody would have loved that ride Sunday.

BIG TIME!

Since we have permission for Sunday riding, the gals find it a pleasure to dress for the occasion, and boots shone and the clips sparkled as the girls trotted down the sunny path. Gone were the Saturday morning blue-jeans and plaid skirts, but ever present was the care-free, jovial feeling that goes with riding any day of the week!

Instead of all riding-work or much trail-riding, the girls spent the two hours trotting about Longwood, with the spring in the dell a most popular stop. Cokes and buns, the H-S Navy, the faculty playing golf, the town-horses practicing for the tournament, and interested on-lookers all served to make the afternoon rather semi-festive, but the crowning climax came when Joyce and Lightning trotted up in the cart pulled by Mr. Reid's Beauty. Oh, yes, Dusty-Boot Ellis was in charge of a somewhat radical ride dejected here! All in all, 'twas a great day and we thank Dean Smith for the privilege she has granted us to add to this year's program.

BABY BUCKAROO!

Monday afternoon's class was more than successful. With Sarah Graham, Mary Kent Withers, and Martha Sydnor aready members in good standing, the "younger set" cantered off into a new year of activity. Newcomers were Martha Smith and wee Mary K. Catlin. Martha did well and Mary K. up on Darky was a sensation! If she likes cantering as well as she liked trotting, progress should prove interesting.

TID-BITS

Cinnamon, true to her Cindy-like nature, turned up with a limp early his week, but is all right now. The Club-horse at the stables underwent a complete clean-out this week—thanks to new members of the Riding Club. And we've finished our oats and are ready for a horse blanket, and a good night's sleep.

"Watch your Diagonal!"

Pegasuus

25 Students Select Physical Education As Major Field

Four upperclassmen and twenty-one freshmen have been added to the physical education department as majors. The upperclassmen are Margaret Nevins, Victoria; Mary Cabell Overby, Chatham; Betty Parrish, Manassas, and Regina Portinaro, Newport News.

Freshman physical education majors are Alice Abernathy, Stony Creek; Jean Babb, Ivor; Ruth Bennett, Chatham; Jean Bentley, Roanoke; Julia Booher, Abingdon; Betty and Jane Burchett, Suffolk; Geraldine Colgin, Petersburg; Edith Duffy, Norfolk; Lottie Hammock, Blackstone; Eloise Hanes, Farmville; Mary Harrison, Thomasville, N. C.; Joyce Johnson, Norfolk; Judy Light, Winchester; Nancy Magner, Cristobal, Canal Zone; Betty Minton, Roanoke; Peggy Moore, Norfolk; Frances Partin, Hopewell; Ellen Ward, Whaleyville; Dorothy White, Staunton, and Barbara Wiley, Nelson.

Riding Gives Credit For First Time Now

Horseback riding is being offered this year for credit. Riders will have to ride twice a week to receive one credit each quarter. Joyce Cheatwood, senior, is riding instructor, and will be glad to help any girls who want to know about riding.

Sunday afternoon trail rides are being offered also this year, but the girls who ride on this jaunts must dress in riding clothes. Blue jeans and sloppy sweaters cannot be worn on Sunday afternoons. Plans for breakfast rides are being made now, and they will prove an interesting occasion for all concerned.

This is the first year riding has been offered for credit, and many girls who are required to take physical education will find this an enjoyable way to get it in.

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

This past week in athletics has proved most important in the tennis line. The tournament has started and the girls have been playing off their matches each afternoon. If you are interested in tennis and don't play well enough to enter the matches, it is wise to come out and watch these girls play. You can pick up lots of good hints as to what you do wrong, and also the way a tournament is held. Also you can come out and suport your colors.

SWIMMING

Recreational swimming is being offered this quarter on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at 8 o'clock. It's fun to swim, so round up your gang and bring them down to the ole swimming hole. We are very proud of our green tiled pool, and when it is filed with girls having a good time it seems to be better than ever.

Swimming is known as the all round exercise. For when you swim, you exercise all of those muscles that need a certain amount of exercise to keep you in trim shape. A healthy body brings a healthy mind, and with lessons and homework, it pays to have a sharp and clear brain. Come on and swim for fun and health's sake too! We guarantee fun for all. If you're just a beginner, that's all right for you won't be by yourself. Practice makes perfect, so try it tonight!

DAILY HABITS

Did you know clealiness was very important in keeping one's health up to par? Many of us seem to form the habit of becoming just a wee bit sloppy after a few weeks in college, and it really doesn't pay. Good heath is something that is definitely being stressed during these war days when so many diseases are in the air, and nerves are tense.

A daily bath is almost an essential, and if you happen to be one of those unfortunates who don't get any hot water, don't neglect to at least sponge off. Wash your hair once a week and brush your teeth twice a day, these may sound silly, but it isn't fun being sick, and caring for yourself, saves many painful days with a cold.

Sleep is the main thing, and sometimes you would think it was rationed for college girls. Try to get your needed eight hours of sleep nightly and you will surely wake up the next day feeling one hundred per cent better.

HOCKEY

Before I close let me remind you again to get in your eight practices so you will be eligible for the hockey team. It won't be long now before the tournament begins, and supporting your colors is most important at that time. Stay in the game and until next week so long.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

PHONE
78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
328 MAIN STREET

Patronize
PATTERSON'S
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.

'Be lovely with DURA-GLOSS nail polish' says Cupid

Make Dura-Gloss your companion in being lovely—it gives irresistible charm to your fingernails. Dura-Gloss wears and wears, because it contains "Chrystallyne", an ingredient which makes it hold well to the fingernail, and resist chipping and peeling. Goes on your nails easily and smoothly, and dries fast. Dura-Gloss is at cosmetic counters, 10¢ plus tax.
Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J. • Founded by E. T. Reynolds

SMART STYLE
BUILT TO WEAR
COMFORT FITTING
STURDY SOLES
STRONG SHANK

AND NOT RATIONED

brown black
russet

YOU couldn't find more interesting pumps at more agreeable prices! Attractively fashioned from fine quality gabardine, their smart open toe styles and becoming rosette trims will "do things" for your fall suit, that new dress . . . in fact, for your entire wardrobe!

sizes 4 to 10 and AA to C

$3.95 & $5.00

SHOE DEPT—FIRST FLOOR, REAR

DAVIDSON'S

THE HOUSE OF QUALITY FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

S. T. C. People Will Say, Or Reasonable Facsimile Thereof

It's with a weary eye we read the fashion features printed here weekly, or printed anywhere else, for that matter. Much more interesting it is to watch the models themselves and read the fashions "on the hoof", so to speak.

A member of the faculty here once remarked that after looking at the girls in classes every other day all year, she still wouldn't know them on a Sunday, or at the train station. True enough—classes call for anything . . . so long's its a sweater 'n' skirt . . . but when Farmville gals dress—they dress! It's hard to realize that the youngish-looking individual who came to class every day in pig-tails to her shoulders, skirts above her knees, and sweaters down to the hemline, can be the same sophisticated young thing who swishes out to a waiting taxi, with black georgette swinging below silver furs, and golden tresses rippling out from under a perky veil.

Rainy days bring out the true S. T. C. in a girl. Of course, kerchiefs for everyday wear are a little out this year, but there's no scarcity of trench-coats. When weather permits ,the correct foot attire in rainy weather — well, there is none. You just aren't in style with shoes on, and besides, it's a little hard on the leather (or rope sandals) to wade to the Southside in a gutterfull of H2O. When weather is too cool to deem bare feet respectable, rubber boots clomp from classes to chapel, and from the dining hall to Shannon's in monotonous regularity. Umbrellas- Heavens no! Only on Founder's Day!

One of the main fashion attractions of State Teachers College is the regulation tank, or swim suit. Comes in any size . . . if it's too large at first, it'll draw to drapeshape as soon as it hits the water. By that time you may have lost it in a high dive, but at least when retrieved, it fits. Or should it be too small to begin with, you may rest assured that's the very time it'll stretch to unlimited bounds as soon as it's under water. Be sure you remain under water, too, 'til the faithful roommate turns up with a Turkish towel.

If it's sports you're interested in, dress accordingly. If there's a horse in your course, your blue jeans can serve double duty, and you can top them off with a plaid shirt and be all set for either a trail ride to Longwood or an afternoon with the unanswered letters at your desk. Or don your breeches and boots and go ahead, if you like tennis, try a T-shirt with your white shorts, and if it's hockey that's captured your interest, just slip on your gym suit and show your colors.

Dates can be just the time to show off that perky new jumper that's as yet too nice to wear to class, and also the ideal spot for the new hair-do. If "he" doesn't like it, you'll know it won't do for the cute new Biology teacher, and you can go back to your pig tails before making a fool of yourself.

If there can be anything nice about the war, it's the fact that college girls have fallen potential heirs to a lot of Big Brothers' clothes. And we'll bet you fifty cents the same one who stalks out in Tad's sport jacket or Terry's G. I. shirt would've balked at hand-me-downs five years or so ago!

When S. T. C. goes to bed, the whole town breathes a sigh of relief. They don't know what they're missing! Just the thing for the Dorm last year would have been pin-uppish housecoats, and tricky p-jays from Baldwin's, but who are we to let things go to waste? Here again we find, if it's not Gran'pa's red flannel night-shirt, it is very definitely, G. I. Joe's civilian pajamas sleeves dangling down into the History assignment, and pants legs rolled up above the week's supply of coke bottles that roll about the floor.

"She was dressed fit to kill," you'll hear them say, and if you know your S. T. C. fashions, an' who're she was going, you'll know that the real kill will come when she finds herself, not an outstanding individual in an original creation but one of a tribe in a near uniform.

"S. T. C." they'll say, "or a reasonable facsimile thereof!"

Creamed Chicken on Toast with Cole Slaw and Sliced Tomatoes Drink, 35c

Southside Drug Store

Corsages & Flowers
OF DISTINCTION
Collin's Florist

For good food Tall cold Pepsi-Cola Phone 522
SHANNON'S

Come In and Try Our Delicious Sandwich & Plate Lunches Best Food In Town
The College Shoppe

The Y

Continued from Page 2

Hewlett, Little Auditorium.

Library, Jane Anderson, Room O.

Membership, Virginia Treakle, "Y" Lounge.

Music, Connie Ozlin, Choir Lounge.

Public Affairs, Shirley Cruser, Choral Club Room.

Publicity, Sara Moling, Room 14.

Prayers, Mary Wyatt, Student Government Room.

Service, Rachel Brugh, Room 24.

Sing, Kitty Maddox, Room 21.

Social, Judy Rieck, Room 12.

Adviser Entertains Members of Society

Miss Gleaves entertained the members of Alpha Kappa Gamma in her apartment on Friday of last week, at dinner. Guests included the old members and the recently tapped members of A. K. G., and Miss Elizabeth Burger, faculty adviser.

STC Rivals Capitol In Clean-Up, Paint, Improvement Plan

Among the multitude of sounds that bear forth from S. T. C., a new one has joined in—the swish, swish, and swish of the paint brush. The clean-up program for the Capital may be leading, but S. T. C. is running a close second. Every since last spring men in white uniforms, with scaffolds, buckets of paint, and brushes have been a familiar scene on our campus.

Certainly it would be a very unobservant person who hasn't noted the glistening white columns, window frames, and doors plus the grassy green benches—this just from the outside. Inside the improvements are almost too numerous to mention. The refreshing smell of paint has been issuing from Doctor Jarman's council room and we pack in to see stately walls of a luscious pink. We also note it is a dusty pink that will blend in well with his favorite flowers—red roses. We walks into Mrs. Watkins' office and are met by a soothing green, and we could discuss the whole infirmary, but we are saving that for special emphasis!

There was really a surprise in store for all the lucky girls who came back this year and found themselves rooming on third floor Junior Building in those newly-tinted suites. Drop over to the blue room and hear T. Dorsey play nightly (via "vic") or into a cheery yellow suite which radiates sunshine at all hours of the night.

A few laughs were gotten when a girl with vivid red hair found herself in a gowing pink room, and when the roommates who had herself in a glowing pink room, cessories found themselves in a green room.

And speaking of laughs, it was indeed no laughing matter last spring when several astonished girls were suddenly awakened by cheerful but unfamiliar whistling sewed all summer fixing blue acwindow!

We are always thrilled over new improvements in the school regardless of our gullibility, and we hope to see more of those irresistable wet pain signs . . . but wet!

Senseless Songs

Continued from Page 2

Right" for dessert, that's our business. And it's our music. And say the town-people, "We can have it!"

Frosh Adviser

Continued from Page 1

ment made this week by Eleanor Bisese, president of the junior class.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

The bright days of fall filled with sunshine and leaves turning gold and red made many S. T. C.'ers wish to view the scenery elsewhere.

So, off to Richmond went at least a fourth of the school, among them being Gene Dare Harrison, Dot Haile, Madie Hunter, Beatrice Jones, Margaret Albersold, Nancy Blair, Betty Carr, Betty Johnson, Mary Cameron Butt, Louvetta Crockett, Helen McRee, Virginia Marshall, Carolyn Bobbitt, Muriel Crostic, Eva Cobb, Ann Dickinson, Betty Dunn, Clarice Clark, Virginia Elliott and Margaret Harvie and many others.

The scenery at Kenbridge must be quite good, too, because there went Rosa Lee and Lucille Bell, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Nancy Wilkinson, Kitty Sue Bridgforth, and Betty Lee.

Dodie Jones and Isabel Key went to Bedford. Virginia Bailey Alice Cross and Betty Epperson visited in Lawrenceville.

With Lucille Jones in Staunton were Norma Chandler and Kitty Wright. Olivia Meade also visited in Staunton. In Petersburg were Louise Baker, Kitty Parham and Judy Connelly.

Victoria claimed Rosa Hill, Betty Adams, Shirley Mankin and Margaret Nevins. Ann Bell went to Chatham, and Eleanor Hall, Martha Hite, Helen Savage, and Jacqueline Hale were in Blackstone.

Roanoke looked good to Ann Gregory, Jean Akers, Betty Lemon, Marilyn Johnson, Dorothy Pultz, and Lois Kavannaugh.

Mary Emma Allen and Mary Gordon Martin visited in Ford.

Back on our campus were Mildred Droste and Natalie Carroll two of last year's seniors.

Many S. T. C.ers found their way to the informal dance at Hampden-Sydney Saturday night. The H.-S. orchestra reached a new peak in production, and the lounge decorations carried out the red, white, and blue of the Navy.

Bedcheck

Continued from Page 2

soon be arranged for the Ukelele and its players.

A replica of the Hope diamond (it could have been one of the crown jewels, was seen on campus recently. Since the ring was of such immense size it was considered unsafe for the owners to wear it. Taking the advice of friends, a guard has been given the jewel. It will regularly be shown (under guard) every night at 8:00 in 90 C . . . The last tidbit is sound advice:

"If he parks his little fliver,
Down by the moonlight river,
And you feel him start to quiver,
Baby—he's a wolf!"

YWCA Group Meets At Longwood Cabin

The members of the "Y" cabinet, with Misses Winnie and Mary Clay Hiner, and Miss Grace Moran, spent Saturday evening and night at the Longwood Cabin. The ministers of the various Farmville churches were guests for supper on Saturday night.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Fresh Candies Received Daily
HARD CANDY
—For—
OVER SEA MAILING
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

De LUXE CLEANERS
See our representative
Fay Johnson
CH. 90
. . . About having your clothes Cleaned

DO NOT FORGET TO MAIL A GIFT OVERSEAS BEFORE OCTOBER 15
Martin the Jeweler

Full Fashioned Hose
48 gauge
92c Pair
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Clasical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System ....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

LYNN'S
Popular sheet music
and
Manuscript paper

Phone 360
Vanity Beauty Shop
142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member F. D. I. C.
Member Federal Reserve System

We like the Classics!

B. $16.98

Many Muffet classics, of course—our favorite selection for a junior wardrobe.

A. "TOWN 'N' COUNTRY" in rayon gabardine. Sizes 9-15.....

B. "CLASSIQUE" in Snoweave (60% spun rayon, 40% wool). Sizes 9-15.....

BALDWIN'S

SWEATERS
S. T. C. GIRLS ARE INVITED TO SHOP
—at—
DOROTHY MAY STORE
TISH-Y-KNIT
ALL SIZES AND COLORS
$4.95 AND $8.95

KEEP ON BUYING MORE WAR STAMPS

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS SENIORS IN WHO'S WHO

VOLUME XXIV — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 18, 1944 — NO. 4

"Who's Who" Lists Eighteen S. T. C. Students

Save for War Stamp Purchase By Feeding Pennies to Piggy

There was once a girl at S.T.C. who saved every penny which came into her possession. With each penny which she dropped into the little Piggy-bank, she remarked, "There goes another brick in 'our' dream-house."

After she had saved 50 pennies in the little Piggy-bank, she bought with them five ten-cent War stamps. These she pasted in a little book with care which someone at the Post-office had given her. When the Piggy-bank complained of being empty, she at once began to fill him up again with 50 pennies.

Now this girl had a room-mate. Her room-mate was very fat. So every time her room-mate felt like buying a candy-bar or a milk-shake or an S. T. C. sundae, she shut her eyes and ran out of the drug store and didn't stop running until she had reached her room on the third floor and had dropped the change which she would have spent on a candy bar or milk shake or sundae right into her glass-globe bank. And every time she dropped money into her Glass-globe bank, she remarked, "Now old Glass-globe bank, you can get fat and I won't, and someday I'll be thin as I want to be!"

After she had filled the Glass-globe bank up with nickels and dimes she took the money all out and counted it and bought as many twenty - five cent War stamps as she could with the money. These she pasted in a little book with care which someone at the Post Office had given her. When the Glass-globe bank complained of being on a diet, she at once began running to it with the nickels and dimes again.

These two wise room-mates kept on and on with this simple saving system. That was a long, long time ago. Now the two wise room-mates are glad. The first one is living in a little brick house which was built with the money she saved by dropping pennies into the Piggy-bank and buying ten-cent War stamps with them. Her husband is glad that she saved them.

The second wise room - mate grew so nice and thin that she

Continued on Page 3

'Cry Havoc' Chosen By Dramatic Club For Production

Scenes Take Place On Bataan

Allan R. Kenward's "Cry Havoc", a play in three acts, will be presented by the Dramatic Club on this campus sometime in November.

The play has been hailed as a female "Journeys End" and tells the story of some nurses on Bataan. The story takes place in a dugout, formerly a gun emplacement, adjacent to Bataan Peninsula, early in 1942.

The cast is composed entirely of women. There is no leading role; each character is an individual and lends her personality to the story. Doris Harper will play the part of the strong - minded doctor; Marilyn Bell will portray the role of Smitty, the doctor's assistant; and Monterey Twiford will take the part of Flo Harris, Smitty's best nurse.

Portraying the role of volunteer nurses are Joan Davis as Nydia, a vacuous Southern girl; Nell Coleman as Pat, a swaggering pert little minx; Louise Pegram and Virginia M. Terrell as Andra and Sue, sisters who believe the war is a religious war; Joscelyn James as Grace, an ex-burlesque girl; Nancy Whitehead as Connie, a Dresden-doll of a girl; Theresa Powell as Helen, a lovely blonde whose thoughts continually turn to men; and Grace Lloyd as Steve, a girl from a Midwestern lumber camp. Serving as Sadie, the lovable cook, is Janie Hanks.

Miss Leola Wheeler, head of the speech department and adviser of the Dramatic Club, is directing the play.

Pictured above are the 18 seniors selected for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". From l. to r., front row, Sara Moling, Eleanor Wade, Lucy Manson Sharpe, Fay Byrd Johnson, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Mary Preston Sheffey. Second row, Mary Ann Jarratt, Harriette Moore, Bobbie Scott, Marilyn Johnson, Sally Robertson, Sara Bird Williams, Ophelia Whittle, Marilyn Bell. Back row, Martha Higgins, Jane Knapton, Helen Wilson, Jane Waring Ruffin.

Faculty Selects Representatives

Eighteen seniors will represent Farmville State Teachers College in the eleventh edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities" for this year.

Those students whose names are listed are Marilyn Bell, Richmond, editor of the 1945 Virginian and a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma; Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Cape Charles, outstanding in choir work and chairman of the College USO committee during the summer; Martha Higgins, Portsmouth, president of the House Council and a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma; Mary Ann Jarratt, Jarrett, vice-president of the YWCA and a member of AKG; Fay Byrd Johnson, Vinton, head of Student Standards and business manager of the Dramatic Club; Marilyn Johnson, Roanoke, president of the Cotillion Club; and Jane Knapton, Covington, editor of the Colonnade.

Also Sara Dailey Moling, Winchester, a transfer from Belhaven College in Mississippi, a member of the Colonnade and Virginian staffs and chairman of Publicity on the Y cabinet; Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C., president of the Student Government Association; Sally Robertson, Richmond, president of the Dramatic Club, vice-president of the House Council, and treasurer of the senior class; Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City County, editor of the Rotunda, president of Sigma Pi Rho, and a member of the Colonnade staff; Barbara Scott, Franklin, vice-president of the Athletic Association; and Mary Preston Sheffey, Marion, a transfer from Marion College and active in various extra curricular activities.

Also Lucy Manson Sharpe, Virginia Beach, president of Alpha Kappa Gamma; Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville, president of the senior class, president of the Monogram Club, and president of Kappa Delta Pi; Ophelia Whittle, Petersburg; vice-president of Student Government, a member of the Virginian staff and Alpha Kappa Gamma; Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock, president of the

Continued on Page 3

Education Society Bids 16 Students, Dean As Members

Kappa Delta Pi elected to active membership sixteen juniors and seniors and Dr. Martha Smith-Smith, Dean of Women, here to honorary membership at its first meeting this year on October 10.

Girls elected to active membership were: Betty Adams, junior from Richmond; Jane Anderson, junior from Farmville; Anna Lee Blanton, junior from Cumberland; Carolyn Bobbitt, junior from South Hill; Lucy Bowling, junior from Andersonville; Eula Belle Doggett; junior from Isle of Wight; Evelyn Grizzard, junior from Drewryville; Margaret Hewlett, junior from Richmond; Nancy Ingle, junior from Covington; Dora Walker Jones, senior from Radford; and Kitty Maddox, junior from Lynchburg.

Also Dorothy Overcash, junior from Hampden - Sydney; Constance Ozlin, junior from Chase City; Agnes Stokes, junior from Kenbridge; Virginia Treakle, junior from Farmville; Betty Woodward, junior from Barhamsville. These girls will be initiated with Dr. Martha Smith Smith at a regular meeting of Kappa Delta Pi soon.

Officers of Kappa Delta Pi are Eleanor Wade, president; Alice Nichols, vice - president; Mary Franklin Woodward, secretary, and Mary Anne Jarrett, treasurer.

Pi Gamma Mu Bids Juniors, Seniors In Chapel Service

Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity, issued bids to ten girls in chapel yesterday.

The girls to whom bids were issued are Virginia Lee Abernathy, Eleanor Bisese, Olive Bradshaw, Roberta Davis, Mary E. Fuqua, Lelia Holloway, Dorothy Overcash, Jean Proise, Virginia Radoena, and Barbara Scott.

Pi Gamma Mu's membership is made up of two classes of members: first, seniors and juniors who have taken a required number of courses in social sciences who have a high academic standing, and second, members-at-large who are either well known scholars in public life or have given their time to practical social science.

Notice

There will be a staff meeting of all members of the Rotunda staff and all try-outs tonight at 9 o'clock in the Rotunda Office. Persons working on every staff of the paper, including business and editorial, must be present tonight, and no excuses will be given.

VEA to Meet Here Saturday Morning

Group To Convene At 10:30 O'clock

Districts D and E of the Virginia Education Association will hold a leadership training conference on this campus Saturday morning, October 21, at 10:30 o'clock.

Discussion leaders and consultants will be the presidents of the districts concerned; Miss Anna Britt, Director of Field Service, VEA; Francis S. Chase, executive secretary VEA; Mrs. Edith B. Joynes, past commander of NEA, and chairman VEA committee on Federal legislation; R. B. Marston, director NEA legislative division; Mrs. Eleanor Rowlett, NEA director from Virginia; Miss Ethel Spillman, president VEA; and T. Preston Turner, assistant secretary VEA.

The purposes of the training conferences are to get the help of local teachers in formulating state policies and objectives: to help county and city educational associations in setting up objectives and planning an effective program for work for the year; and to give leaders throughout the state an acquaintance with national developments and uses, particularly in the Federal school legislative area.

Humorous Debate Presented In Chapel

With Alice Nichols and Betty Cock on the affirmative and Jane Waring Ruffin and Mildred Altice on the negative, the Debate Club presented their annual humorous debate in chapel this morning on the question, Resolved: that it is better to be in love with an Army man than a Navy man.

Betty Adams, president of the Debate Club, served as chairman of the debate.

Each year the Debate Club presents a humorous debate in chapel early in the year to interest the freshmen and new girls in the work. Recent questions have been, Resolved: that the standing army should sit down, and Resolved: that an underground tunnel should be constructed to Camp Pickett instead of Hampden-Sydney.

Advanced Group Finishes HS Course

Seven Day Leave Begins October 24

Ninety-six members of the Navy V-12 Unit at Hampden-Sydney, having completed the required number of terms, will be issued certificates of attendance and be transferred either to midshipmans school or to another V-12 unit at the graduation exercises next Tuesday, October 24, Lt. George Howe, commanding officer, revealed yesterday.

Classes will be resumed at Hampden-Sydney on November 1, with a V-12 corps of 200.

Preceeding graduation and in connection with Navy Day, the entire unit will participate in a parade and review in Farmville on Monday, October 23. The 20-piece Navy band will play for the parade and Mayor Fitzpatrick of Farmville and Dr. J. L. Jarman, president, will be among guests of honor on the reviewer's stand. The parade will begin on the corner of Ely and High streets and culminate on the S. T. C. athletic field, where the review will take place.

STC Red Cross Work Tops Previous Record

Two thousand three hundred and forty-three surgical dressings were made by the college students last Thursday night from 7 to 9 o'clock, Rachel Brugh, chairman of the service committee of the "Y" announced this week.

"This figure exceeds previous numbers by 500 dressings", Rachel said in discussing the work.

This phase of Red Cross work is sponsored weekly on this campus by the service committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Perry's Vagabonds To Furnish Music For Fall Cotillion

Angelo Perry and his Vagabonds will furnish music for the Cotillion dance on November 11.

Catherine Trower, chairman of the music committee, made the announcement last week. Helping her on this committee are Shirley Easterly and Margie Hewlett.

Officers of the Cotillion Club are Marilyn Johnson, president; Betsy Caldwell, leader; Catherine Trower, business manager; and Pogue Massey, secretary.

Anderson, Knight Bid to Sigma Pi Rho

Jane Anderson, junior from Farmville, and Georgia Knight, senior from Appalachia, received bids last week to Sigma Pi Rho, national honor society in Latin, according to an announcement made by Jane Waring Ruffin, president.

Juniors and seniors with a high average in Latin and in general scholarship are eligible for membership. The purpose of the fraternity is to foster the love of the classics; to include the ideals of scholarship and to promote training for teaching of Latin.

Other officers in Sigma Pi Rhin are Margaret Barksdale, vice-president, and Mary Anne Dove, secretary.

Spirit of Festivity Prevails as Annual AKG Circus Nears

Clowns and animals . . . Peanuts, popcorn and soda pop . . . Fortune telling . . . Dart throwing . . . And Bingo, it's the annual AKG circus! A gigantic affair scheduled soon, the circus, the one and only Alpha Kappa Gamma circus features all these and more.

First evidence that the circus was coming to town was witnessed in senior Rec the day the animals were revived from the trunk, and it was a circus in itself to see Martha Higgins and Lucy Manson Sharpe transforming themself into a single ostrich. Most of the animals seemed to be three-legged, but that was soon remedied, and under the careful training of Eleanor Bisese, the animals will all be present and accounted for the night of the circus, scheduled at present for October 28.

Candidates for circus queen, whose identity will be revealed only when the big top is finally raised, have already been nominated by each class, and no group of announcements is complete or up-to-date without an appeal tothe various class groups to "please come to circus practice". The stunt chairman have been chosen and everywhere heads go into a huddle for secrets and surprises.

This year's circus is going to be a Manhattan Merry - Go - Round of fun, and the theme is based on the song by that title, Helen Wilson, chairman revealed yesterday. The ring master, the master of ceremonies for the occasion, will remain unknown until the night of the big event.

Traditionally, the seniors sponsor a dance corner during the circus, and the juniors handle the mob that comes for hot dogs and cokes, and this year is no exception. In addition there will be booths for bingo, for pitching pennies and throwing darts, a wheel of fortune, a cake raffle, a fortune teller and all the other trimmings that go with a really full fledged circus.

The events will begin with a parade through town early Saturday afternoon which will feature a still life scene from each of

Continued on Page 4

Pictured above are the class stunt chairmen. From l. to r., Mary Helmer, freshman; Pat McClear, sophomore; Jane Philhower, junior, and Mary Farrish Viccellio, senior.

Back the Attack-Buy More Bonds

This week the College War Council began the years' activities by reopening the War Savings Stamp booth. Elsewhere in this paper the details of the work can be found, and here we want to comment briefly on the great importance on continuing to buy war stamps regularly.

Obviously, we in college can make no monstrous dent in the sum needed to carry this war to a successful finish, but it is the combination of small groups all over the nations, colleges and high schools, families and single individuals, each contributing their share, that has made possible the successes thus far. With each day, the fighting becomes more intense and we can look with assurance to the day in the not too distant future when Germany at least will be subdued. But that can not mean for us a let-up in our war efforts. It means on the contrary, that we must work much harder to hasten the day of final peace. And every war stamp purchased is a move in the direction of peace.

Make a habit of visiting the war stamp booth regularly. Invest that surplus from your allowance in war stamps instead of that hat you don't really need. Help to buy HIM a ticket home.

In China, Japanese troops have been stopped momentarily against Kweilen. Dionglok, Fukien province, has been recaptured by the Chinese. This is important news for it will delay the capture of Fooshow, the only Chinese port on the east coast. Any plans we had about landing on the Pacific coast must be cancelled for the present.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants
Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Leila Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc, Fay Johnson.

Business Assistants
Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spryc, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelson.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1944

The Spirit of the Thing

Tonight the freshmen are weary from the first strenuous day of the traditional Rat Week hazing by the sophomores. Thus far, with the few inevitable exceptions both the freshmen and the sophomores are to be congratulated on the excellent spirit of sportsmanship.

Rat Week is not a time for sophomores to take out personal grudges nor to "get even" for their hazing last year. It is simply another phase of the orientation and should be so considered by each class. It is really a privilege given to the sophomores in helping the incoming class catch some of the Farmville spirit. It is an incomparable opportunity for the classes to get acquainted with each other, for discovering talents, and for the freshmen it is their first opportunity to pull together as a class.

When it is all over tomorrow there are some who will breathe a sigh of relief, who consider it just one of those unnecessary evils that the school would be well rid of. But Rat Week is another of the Farmville traditions that have a real value to those who participate. And strange as it may seem to freshmen tonight when time has tempered a little of their weariness, Rat Week will become one of their fondest memories.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

"Fight to the death" the defenders of Aachen have been told. During the week Germany has thrown new strength into the battle of this city but Americans have hurled back every assault. The fact that we are taking that city "house by house" shows the stiff resistance we will have to encounter all the way to Berlin. Powerful attacks on supply lines have been effective for Germany's supplies are now coming from parachutes. The besieged city cannot hold out much longer.

North and south of this city the fighting continues in our favor. Canadians are trying to open up the port of Antwerp in Belgium. This city; one of the world's greatest ports, will be indispensable as supply port for the allies. In the Metz-Nancy sector the Third Army has advanced beyond Parroy Forest; in the Bruyeres sector we are within a mile of that city.

* * *

In Italy the battle for the Po Valley is progressing slowly. The fighting is centered along the highway between Bologna and Rimini and because of the mountainous topography our troops must move slowly. Mt. Stanco has been recaptured by African troops west of the highway.

* * * *

With the capture of Petsamo by Russian troops and the advance toward Belgrade, Hungary has applied for peace with the allies. Germany, of course, has followed the usual routine of taking the capital and asking Hungary to follow her. Peace terms for this last German satellite are expected to parallel those of Romania.

* * * *

The Germans in Greece, have delayed our progress by land to Athens by destroying the roads. However, we are flying food and medical supplies toward the freed city and gaining control of other airfields in southern Greece.

* * *

Off the Philippines a decisive battle is being fought between Japanese and American planes and ships. The long hidden Japanese fleet has come forth, but as yet the details of the fight are not known.

* * * *

This is the fourth news write-up and no prospect of announcing V-Day yet. If you are expecting a recess from your classes, you might change your plans to an extra summer holiday.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

One doesn't go in for accurate figures late at night, but at least half the school was missing from bedcheck at one time or another this week end when there was a general exodus in half a dozen directions. Campus was moved temporarily to Pickett and Richmond, the dance being in one direction and the H.-S.C.-Richmond game at the other. Ann Masloff was one of the happiest girls at Pickett, and Margaret Walton gets the same rating for Richmond. For details, see the same.

Present on the campus this week-end was Bette Wood's man. And Betty Lee's. And freshman Mildred Davis still chattered gaily with hers on Monday morning. Philhower always picks the tall, dark and handsomes . . . Pardon, sometimes it's a blond. Mary William Calvert picked the biggest, most powerful men. And Carolyn Smith had a different sort this time.

"Send her one dozen roses" must be Ned's theme song. Witness the flowers in Betty Cock's room. Red roses—and it was only Columbus Day. And speaking of gifts, don't forget to ask Mary Ellen Petty the time so she can show you that new Bulova.

Little Higgins went home to see Roland and a big time was had by all. Check? And now Virginia Shackelford's eyes are sparkling in anticipation of her visitor, expected soon.

It must be nice to have a roommate with a brother like Randolph Caldwell. But perhaps Phe Whittle would be the person to ask about that, and we'd also like to ask about the ankle bracelet.

The Pickett dance allowed for a lot of really good jitterbugs to finally come into their own. But we won't go into that.

Miracle of the week: Marion Orange went for seven whole days without seeing a single movie. The rigors of teaching do interfere sometimes, we suppose.

It was a quite impartial group who debated this morning. Sez who? We suppose that's been a civilian who has been walking Jane Ruffin back from Shannon's every night, but it looked suspiciously like a Navy man to us.

Welcome sight on the campus this week end was Sara Jeffreys, photographer on the paper last year. And Mildred Corvin made a flying stop here, too.

If ever a sardine can was packed tighter than the buses from Richmond Sunday night, we'd like to meet the engineer who managed it.

It looked as if the fleet were in when one walked in Junior Building Monday night—and we don't mean Hampden-Sydney, either. Moonie didn't seem to be moon-

Continued on Page 3

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

All freshmen are urged to attend the first meeting of their new "Y" club which will be on next Monday night at 9 o'clock. Miss Moran will speak to them. It is hoped that all the freshmen will take an active part in the "Y" activities this years.

Watch for the exhibit in the Browsing Room. This week it is done by the library committee.

The Canterbury Club had a picnic Sunday at the home of Mr. Robert Withers. An excellent time was reported.

The Westminster Fellowship is sponsoring the Rev. Lynn Jones of Norfolk as a chapel speaker on Thursday. The Council of the Westminster Fellowship is having an overnight retreat at Longwood Saturday. On Monday at five o'clock in the "Y" lounge the first open fellowship will be held. All Presbyterian girls are invited. The Rev. Albert Edwards, a native of Scotland, and a recent graduate of Union Theological Seminary, will be the speaker. Refreshments will be served.

The Baptist Town Girls are in charge of open house at the "Center" Saturday night Baptist girls, be sure to come!

The theme of prayers this week is "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes". Tomorrow night there will be a special program and on Friday the subject is "I Will Be True to My Ideals."

© ESQUIRE, INC., 1944
Reprinted from the November issue of Esquire.

"We made it"

Question of the Week

What is the first thing you are going to do when all war restrictions are removed?

Eleanor Wade: Ride and ride and ride.

Frances Lee: Take the first train to Notre Dame.

Jane Knapton: Write to Billy as usual, and then buy all the red paint I can find.

Mary Parrish Viccellio: Ain't no telling.

Catherine Trower: Celebrate!

S. T. C. Girl: Buy a new girdle.

Martha Higgins: Go to a big party where I can greet everybody who comes home.

Betty Edwards: Marry the best looking man in the Navy. He's in the middle of the Pacific now.

Joyce Cheatwood: Buy a new horse.

Jackie Parden: Spend my Saturday nights in a different way from usual.

D. (Buz) Buzzell (H.-S. V-12): Get drunk for a week.

Marilyn Johnson: Buy a tank FULL of gas.

Kitty Wright: Drink and drink and drink.

"The Brow" (H.-S. V-12): No more calisthenics.

Marilyn Bell: I'll be so knocked out by then I won't know what to do.

Pogue Massey: Buy a tire—if my check from Washington comes in time.

Jane Waring Ruffin: Set my watch—and my life—back on standard time.

"Mike" (H.-S. V-12): Go home.

Mary Walton Rucker: Use all the sugar I want.

Bette Christian: Eat myself to death.

Mary Eanes: Get in a car and ride as far as I can go.

Frances Sifford: Go around the world—but don't ask me how.

Martha Lee: Go to Texas in a car.

Lucy Messick: Have fun and travel.

Ann Shaw: Start living again.

Charlie Hop: Go out on the Potomac river and go from one end to the other.

Mrs. Packer: Hit the road and keep going.

Dr. Swertfeger: You don't think any of us will be living then, do you?

Rev. Philip Roberts: My first reaction will be one of thanks-

Continued on Page 3

Frosh Find Schedule Jammed With 8:05's, Room Inspection

"Do you see my rat cap???" . . . "Oooh, there it is, hanging on the door knob" . . . "Quick, it's 'most 7:20" . . . "Get those towels off the radiator and those socks off the back of the chair and ssshhh! don't be so noisy when you bang your shin, cause Tootsie is still sleeping!!" "Yi, we'd better step on it, let's let her make up our beds. I know she won't mind!?!" . . . and so on into the morning. Meanwhile, this "Tootsie" person is found burrowing down into her covers to get away from that bright stuff called "Light" and to close her pink ears to that buzzing noise her roommates call "whispering" . . . It's about 45 minutes later when she's rudely awakened by finding herself flopped out on the floor. With one eye she peeps hesistantly over the edge of the bed . . . aha! . . . it's only the maid putting out clean sheets and jerking the . . .others!!

Oh, well, it's time to get it up anyway, so stumbling over and through the array of sweaters, skirts, dickies, socks, rat caps, (umph! forgot, the other two wore their's, didn't they?) and what-have-you, Tootsie looks over the situation and sums it up in a depressing groan . . . muttering, "three beds to make up . . . well, an hour's an hour . . . but these clothes . . . oooh . . . think I'll take up going to breakfast again . . . looks as if they could have taken the tooth brushes out of the tooth powder. . . "

At ten of 9:00, Maizie blows in asks if she may mop up in one breath and deciares she was "only kiddin", in the next and doesn't have time, yo' know. Then grabbing up her History and a handkerchief (to save her Kleenex) she dashes out, leaving poor Tootsie with more dust than she previously had.

The time is exactly 9:05, when who-ever-she-may-be walks in, glances around, folds her hands, and inwardly sighs . . . "These lovely girls, nothing draped on the bed rails, no suitcases under the beds, no towels on the radiators and nothing in the closet save clothes . . ." then with a gentle hand, she opens the door and steps carefully out, lest she disturb the enchanting picture of cleanliness . . .

Know what's happened to Tootsie? Weeeeell!! she had a 9:05 class and after she'd "made up" the beds and stuffed the towels under the _____ and swept the dust out into the _____, she left, because after all—Tootsie didn't want to be late!!!!

Tennis Tournament Finals Set For Friday. Watts Announces

Tourney Semi-finals Scheduled Thurs.

Finals for the tennis tournament are scheduled for this Friday, Phyllis Watts, tennis manager announced. The tournament semi-finals should be played off sometime tomorrow.

The annual tournament has been in progress for sometime, but has been delayed because of bad weather and the consequent condition of the courts. However, most of the games have been played on time and if the weather permits the tournament will be brought to completion on Friday.

Points toward the color cup are scored in the tennis tournament and already competion is keen.

The time for the finals will be posted on the athletic bulletin board.

Betty and Jane Burchett, freshmen from Suffolk, take time out between sets to pose for a picture.

Lions Club To Hold Riding Tournament

Business houses will close from 1 to 4 o'clock, Friday, October 20, to celebrate the riding tournament sponsored by the Farmville Lions Club at Longwood. The parade will form at the Middle Warehouse at 1 o'clock and proceed to Longwood, where Dr. Edgar G. Gammon, president of Hampden - Sydney College, will charge the knights. Following the tournament the coronation ball will be held at the State Teachers College gymnasium. Lieutenant-Governor William M. Tuck of Halifax, will deliver the coronation address. The Camp Pickett DLM orchestra of 15 pieces will furnish the music.

Tournaments, annual affairs here before the war, have not been held since 1941. Knights in regal regalia from this entire section are expected to cross their lances next Friday.

War Stamps Purchase

Continued from Page 1

caught herself a handsome young husband, who said to her, "I am not marrying you for the small fortune which you have saved in twenty-five cent War stamps, but I am marrying you because of your beautiful figure." And she was glad she had saved her money instead of buying candy - bars, milkshakes, and S. T. C. sundaes.

And so our moral: Take your room-mate and invest in a bank, either Piggy-type or Globe-type or any other type and save pennies or stop eating and save more than pennies. When your banks are full, take them to the table in the Hall and there will be a member there of the War Council who will count them for you and sell you War Stamps. And then when you are older and thinner you will also be richer and the War Council will be a success-because they are selling War Stamps at the table in the Hall every Monday from this week on!

Physicals Completed By School Physician

This week marked the end of physical examinations for all students of S. T. C. Each girl in school is required each year to be physically examined by Dr. Ray Moore, the school physician. With the assitance of the physical education instructors and majors in the department, this has become an annual job.

Those girls who missed their physicals are required to pay a fee of one dollar to th infirmary, and they must be examined before the fall quarter is over.

"Who's Who"

Continued from Page 1

YWCA, and Helen Wilson, Petersburg, president of the Athletic Association and a member of the Monogram Club and Alpha Kappa Gamma.

These students were selected by a committee of the faculty and administration from a large list of eligible candidates on the basis of extra curricular activities, leadership and scholarship.

Annually, a compilation of the biographies of outstanding students in America is published Only juniors and seniors and students taking advanced work are selected. The primary purpose of this publication is to bring the outstanding students in America before the business world and before others who annually recruit students.

Bedcheck

Continued from Page 2

ing any, and Lucy Messick was all smiles, too.

Believe it or not, something happened, something was planned and executed here on campus last night and Charlie-Hop didn't know a thing about it until it was happening. 'Twas the soph's walk on the Rats and they say women can't keep secreets!

Question of Week

Continued from Page 2

giving and after that I'm not sure, but a fishing trip sounds good to me.

Left Lead

"Gallopin', Gallopin' . . . " straight through the track, tournament riders practicing faithfully . . . cantering blissfully . . . S. T. C. riders crossing the top of the golf course . . . outlined by an O tober sky, manes flying and hoofs striking a frosted road . . . Sunday afternoon at Longwood.

Says a Navy lad onlooker, "There's nothing like trotting up to the back door on a good looking mare and demanding curb service . . . and getting it!" It's a thought . . . those sticky buns and cokes taste better when devoured after an appetite-rousing ride through the back trail, and when devoured right in the saddle. Although at times it becomes a little awkward, like the time when one rider, up on Callie, had the colt's reins in one hand and Miss Black's in the other, and somewhere in between, two sticky Longwood buns and an icy Coca-Cola. The back-door is a busy place indeed!

We can't help neighing proudly about these glorious Sunday afternoons spent aboard the horses. Something new has definitely been added, and says Nancy Ingle, "These past two Sunday afternoons have been the only two worthwhile Sundays I've ever spent at S. T. C.!"

Lightning got left out due to her enormous appetite of late. It took a little longer than she had bargained for to get that appetite satisfied. By that time some one else was riding the pony, so Elise got mad and wouldn't go!

The somebody else was Helen McGuire . . . just picture her on Lady . . . With her feet dragging the ground, practically, every step of the way. Wade rode the Colt, in sharp contrast, and the two trotted along together, the true picture of an equestrian Mutt 'n' Jeff.

Ever - present, the faithful "Younguns", Sarah Graham and Martha Smith found a true friend in Jean Saueren, who took them on a long ride up the dirt road behind the Longwood grounds, whereas Weedy Rowe and Betty Cock turned back about half-way and joined Ingle on the homeward trail.

If there's ever a tragedy on the golf course it'll be a mental one. Everyone riding pictures herself being struck by a faculty wielded golf ball, whereas every golf playing member of the faculty is dead sure he will be stepped on by a a horse before he can side step off the green. The fact that the riders stick to the road at the edge of the wood and keep off the green entirely has nothing to do with either side of the case.

Joyce deserted this week-end by striking out for Crewe. She missed seeing Anderson do some pretty riding at the tournament track, too. Miss Black did a bit of all right, too, with Mr. Harris up.

Welcome visitor, by the way, at the stables was Flicka, who after a summer at pasture is looking fine and feeling fit as a fiddle. Mr. Harris was exercising her for fair, and we all enjoyed it.

The town horses are out in all their glory this week. Everywhere one looks one sees a local rider prancing about the main part of town, looking for all the world like something out of Currier and Ives. Don't forget to come to the tournament this Friday afternoon, at Longwood. It'll be a worthwhile exhibition.

Meanwhile, wear that halter like a halo, and stay on the bit!

Pegasus

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

REDUCING

Greetings again sports fans! this week as a continuation of our health program, yours truly is going to give you a few minor tips on how to keep fit, o rhow to reduce by exercise if you don't mind a little bit of work. It's very easy to gain weight here at school, where we are all on a regulated schedule of eating meals at a certain time and lights out early. But most of the extra weight gained comes from eating between meals. Naturally you would not be normal if you didn't crave a snack between meals, but how about thinking about your health and figure when you start to indulge. Instead of eating cokes and nabs try a glass of milk and an apple. It doesn't sound quite as appetizing, but milk isn't fattening, and "an apple a day keeps the doctor away," as the old saying goes.

Exercise is another way to keep your weight down. Most of us are required to take physical education, so that suffices for the majority of us, for a quick run up and down the hockey field will help anyone. But eexrcises before you go to bed at night are lots of fun, especially if you do them with with your crowd on your hall, and everyone gets a better night's sleep for it. Try touching your toes without bending your knees, doing several knee bends, and yong on the floor with your arms outstretched and touching your left hand with your right foot and vice versa. There are hundreds of ways to keep fit and exercising is always lots of fun. Try it.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Sportsmanship is a quality every athlete admires, and being a good sport is a good loser and a good winner, and you can be both. There always has to be a loser and a winner in every game, but being a good winner is just as important as being a good loser. Don't let victory go to your head, for there is always the chance that there is a better man than you are, and someday you are liable to be the loser.

A good sport never argues with the referee, for although there may be times when he is wrong, he usually knows his business, and sticks to the rules. Cooperating with your teammates is another quality required in sportsmanship and remember if you as a team do not get together, there isn't a chance for you to win. Don't depend on just one man to carry you on to victory. He doesn't want at the responsibility, and it is not fair to him either. Each member of a team should know their position and stay in it, playing it as the rules are required. There are exceptions to every rule, but you know what it means to play fair and square.

DANCING

Dancing is coming out as an important phase in physical education today. Modern dance, tap dance, square dance and social dance are offered here at school and each girl is given a chance to participate in these classes. You shy wallflowers need not be that way, and when the social dance class is offered take advantake of it and overcome your feelings about not knowing how to dance. Square dancing is always lots of fun, and everyone seems to have a big time when they learn to docey-do, and swing their partner.

Tap dancing isn't as hard as it sounds, and although we may not be Fred Astaires or Eleanor Powells, it's lot of fun to learn to get rhythm in our feet. Modern dance has become quite popular in the last few years. It started out as aesthetic dancing, but has come a long way since that stage. Join one of these dance classes for your physical education class, you'll like it.

Until next week stay in the game, and you freshmenrats, keep your chins up, remember some day you will be a sophomore, too.

STC Swimming Pool Closed for Repairs During Past Week

After being closed for a week, the swimming pool is now in use once more. Cold weather kept the girls from going in for their swimming classes, and for the recreational swimming on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Miss Dabney, swimming instructor, closed the pool temporarily last week when the heating system went off.

Inter-class swimming teams are going to be an important athletic vent this year on the sports calendar. The class meets will probably be held some time in the spring. Those who swim can start practicing now, and there is always a chance of entering the telegraphic meet which is held each year with other colleges throughout the south.

The present with a future— WAR BONDS for CHRISTMAS. Keep on Backing the Attack.

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member F. I. D. C.
Member Federal Reserve System

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Selected line of
Costume Jewelry
at
Martin the Jeweler

Come in and try our
Delicious Sandwiches
They are the best in town
The College Shoppe

Collin's Florist
For Good Flowers
For Good Service
Call Collin's Florist
Phone 181 or 4

Just Cooked . . .
Olive-Kist Nuts—Cooked Daily
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PATTERSON'S Patronize
HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND MONTAGUE STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Doris Dodson

"Sport and sweet"
one-piece of embroidered luxury spun rayon Gammed, aqua, melon
and yellow.
Sizes 9 to 15 $12.95

DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
Second Floor—Elevator Service

Full Fashioned Hose
48 gauge
92c Pair
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Clasical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

LYNN'S
Popular sheet music
and
Manuscript paper

NEW EVENING DRESSES RECEIVED EACH WEEK. SMART STYLES THAT .... YOU WILL ADORE. ....
$16.95 to $22.50
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Nineteen Students Pledge Sororities

Nineteen upperclassmen pledged five sororities here last night as a result of the rushing this week, Jean Prosise, Panhel president, announced.

Pledging Sigma Sigma Sigma are Eloise Stancell, Ann Mingea and Helen Hope Worsham. The new pledges of Phi Zeta Sigma are Virginia Lee Price, Rachel Brugh and Anne Charlton.

Doris May pledged Pi Kappa Sigma, and Beannie Dudley is the newest pledge of Gamma Theta. Lena Claiborne, Lorene Claiborne, Mary Clements, Dorothy Elizabeth Hall, Eleanor Hall, Theresa Hutt, Edith Jones, Marguerite Stephenson, Ann Savedge, Martha Frances Webb, and Betty Woodward pledged Theta Sigma Upsilon.

STC Alumna Serving With WAC in Italy

Corporal Blanche T. Bradley, STC alumna, is serving in Italy with the Women's Army Corps.

Corporal Bradley, who calls Charlottesville, Virginia, home, is the wife of Lt. E. G. Bradley, who is in the air force. She was educated in Virginia, received her B. S. degree in history from the State Teachers College in Farmville, Virginia.

One of the first Virginia women to volunteer for the WAC, Corporal Bradley enlisted in October, 1942, and was assigned to a personnel office in Wilmington, North Carolina, before being sent overseas.

She will return to her classrom with a background of living and working in a theater of operations—and the lesson she will teach will be alive with the experiences she gained as she moved about the old world.

School teachers are not uncommon in the enlisted ranks of the Women's Army Corps. This theater claims more than 90 of them, many of whom have graduate degrees from outstanding universities and colleges.

Overseas for more than a year, these ex-school "marms" are not only doing essential jobs in the war, but also are broadening their experiences so that when victory has been won, they will be more capable of going back into the classrooms and bringing such studies as geography and history to life.

According to naturalists the present horse sprang from a little creature known as the Eohippus. The Eohippus was only 12 inches high. The process of development required millions of years.

Miss Mary Dabney, who was recently selected classman for the freshman class.

Rev. Jones To Speak In Chapel Tomorrow

Coming to Farmville this week, Rev. Lynn Jones of the Royster Memorial Presbyterian Church, of Norfolk, will speak in chapel tomorrow, Thursday on "The Place of Young People in the World Crisis."

A native of Mississippi, Mr Jones is a graduate of the Presbyterian College in North Carolina and the Union Theological Seminary, Richmond.

Agnes Stokes, president of the Westminster Fellowship, will present Mr. Jones to the student body.

Joynes Will Speak At F. T. A. Meeting

Mrs. Edith B. Joynes, past president of the National Education Association, will speak at an open meeting of F. T. A. on Friday night at 7:30 in the Honors Room.

Mrs. Joynes was elected honorary member of the Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Del a Pi last year. At present she is principal of the Gatewood Elementary School in Norfolk.

Officers of F. T. A. are Lucy Bowling, president; Katharine Prebble, vice president; Gloria Shepard, secretary; and Alice Lee Davis, treasurer.

AKG Circus

Continued from Page 1

the class stunts on floats, as well as the clowns and animals. So don't miss the circus. Watch these columns for further details about the most spectacular circus this side of Barnum and Bailey!

Orchestra Organized By Music Teacher

Under the direction of Mrs. Clyde W. Bradshaw, professor of music, a college orchestra has been organized which meets on Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 3:30.

Work is being done in small ensemble playing. Girls now taking part are Catherine Bickle, violin; Annette Grainger, flute; Mary Ballard, clairnet; Virginia Tindall and Barbara Crowther, piano.

At freshman chapel on Monday the instrumental group participates at which time the period is devoted to the artists singing of secular and sacred songs by the entire freshman class.

Competitive Business Needed For Peace

Arguing for a competitive business in keeping peace, Dean A. Worcester, Jr., assistant professor of economics, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La., discussed the relationship between government - controlled international economy and international peace at a recent campus meeting.

Professor Worcester pointed out that private business men with large foreign investments tend to be appeasers, since their investments are threatened by war. Competitive business is patriotic, he said, thus it causes ess international friction than would business controlled by the state.

Government-controlled business would tend to increase friction when one government attempted to overcharge another, since there is no international power strong enough to settle such a dispute. Only in a workable international government would such a system be advantageous. Since we have no such government, he concluded, state - controlled economy would be likely to increase the chances for war.

—ACP

American Colleges' Policies Challenged

American universities cannot endure as "ivory towers" affording a retreat for scholars, Dr. Edwin Sharp Burdell, director of Cooper Union, New York City, told a forum on post-war educational problems at Penn College, Cleveland, Ohio, recently.

Direct service to the community will be demanded in the postwar era, said Dr. Burdell, rejecting a proposal of Dr. Robert M. Hitchins, president of the University of Chicago, to return to the disciplines of the Middle Ages.

It is significant, Dr. Burdell contended, that colleges which in the past have relied upon "prestige" and in which enrollment has been a "class privilege" are now oking for a wider base of student patronage.

—ACP

'ROUND WORLD TAXI

A Chicago woman, a holder of a commercial air pilot's license, has plans after the war of a "round the world air taxi." She claims to have enough passengers to make the first trip worth while. Her plan includes trips to all the war zones.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

When one looks around in the dining hall on week-ends, one feels like singing, "Where, O Where has everybody gone, O where can they be?" Here is the answer, folks!

To Petersburg went Marilyn Ayers, Eleanor Wade, Helen Wilson, Frances Shackelford, Frances Seward, Frances Bell, Dottie Overcash, Nellie Smith, Jean Pritchett, Elizabeth Crouch, Betty Minetree, Sue Hundley, Betty Harville, and George Ann Lewis.

In Lynchburg were Margo Alvis, Shirley Slaughter, Annette Anthony, and Doris Hancock.

In Richmond were Nancy Almond, Nancy Blair, Virginia Shackelford, Pauline Barnes, Corine Baker, Joan Davis, Roberta Davis, Alice Feitig, Mary Helen Griffin, Margie Hewlett, Elizabeth Howard, Fay Byrd Johnson, Caroline Huddle, Ann Kingdon, Betty Lee, Frances Lee, Helen Boyes Lewis, Helen Lacy, Shirley Mankin, Barbara Lee Myers, Jane Waring Ruffin and Pat McLear.

Visiting in Chatham were Nannie Sours, Mary Ellen Hoge and Cab Overbey. In Lawrenceville were Sutton Bland, Mary Stewart Buford, and Alice Cross.

Visiting Kitty East in Altavista was Lucy Brailey. Margaret Lohr went to Brightwood and Helen Brooks Lewis went to News Ferry.

Roanoke held Beatrice Bruch, Jeanne Bentley, Cary Beard, Abie Coon, Mary Ann Dove, Dorothy Fultz, Betty Lemon, and Carolyn Murphy. In Hopewell were Betty Wood and Carmen Low.

Betty and Nancy Parrish visited in Manassas and Joyce Cheatwood, Virginia Beaver, and Virginia Thompson visited in Crewe.

Norfolk drew Shirley Cruser, and Thelma Diggs. Dorothy Turley went to Wytheville and Kitty Maddox and Mildred Shifflett visited Agnes Stokes in Kenbridge. Ophelia Whittle visited Betsy Caldwell in Sweet Briar and Carolyn Bobbitt, Jane Pauiette and Elizabeth McLean went home to South Hill to attend a wedding. Robin Lear, Ellen Moore and Edith Apperson visited in Culpeper, and last, Betty and Jane Burchett, Joyce Bridger and Alice Hannah went to the peanut city, Suffolk.

Members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet were entertained at dinner last Friday evening by Miss Grace Moran at her apartment on Appomatox street. Miss Moran is one of the faculty advisers of the "Y".

Alumnae Luncheon Given In Hampton

Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Dean Martha Smith, Mrs. S. G. Waller, and Dr. J. E. Walmsley will speak at the alumnae luncheon given by the Hampton chapter on Saturday, October 21.

Miss Nancy Louise Bush is the president of the Hampton chapter and is in charge of the plans for the day.

Choir To Perform In Chapel Friday

First in a series of chapel programs to be given by the College Choir, will be presented in chapel on Friday, October 20, Alfred H. Strick, head of the music department, revealed to the press this week.

Following an annotation by Dr. J. E. Walmsley, the group will sing "How Firm a Foundation," and the Senior A'Cappella will sing the Lord's Prayer with Esther Shevick, soloist. Julia Messick will lead the devotionals for the service.

Officers of the College Choir, are Ann Blair, president; Pat Maddox, vice-president; Jean Prosise, secretary; and Julia Messick, treasurer.

Edwards Will Lead Discussion Monday

Rev. Albert Edwards, a Presbyterian minister from Orange, will lead a discussion group in the Y Lounge Monday afternoon, October 23 at 5 o'clock, sponsored by the Westminister Fellowship.

Mr. Edwards is a native of Scotland and came to this country at the age of 17. He is very familiar with that part of Scotland known as Scott's lake country. He is a graduate of Georgia Tech and Union Theological Seminary, and has conducted services at Woodberry Forest.

During this past summer, he was a morning devotional speaker at the Holiday Lake Young People's Conference at Appomattox.

"We invite all college students to attend this group meeting," Agnes Stokes said in discussing the plans this week.

Creamed Chicken on Toast with Cole Slaw and Sliced Tomatoes Drink, 35c

Southside Drug Store

For good food Tall cold Pepsi-Cola Phone 522

SHANNON'S

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

PHONE 78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Bring your clothes for prompt service to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower Our Representative

Adorably Dateable
You, wearing "BOUQUET," a Mary Muffet original. In luscious all wool jersey, with felt belt of gay colors. Sizes 9-15.....
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

Dura-Gloss nail polish has a way about it—it's such a beautiful, brilliant polish. It contains a special ingredient—"Chrystallyne"—which makes it hold well to the fingernails, and resist chipping and peeling. Goes on so smoothly and easily, and dries so quickly, you'll like it better than anything Dura-Gloss is at cosmetic counters, 10¢ plus tax.
Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J. • Founded by E. T. Reynolds

SWEATERS! SWEATERS!
SLOPPY JOES - TAILORED
CARDIGANS! SLIPOVERS!
Colors—Mist Green, White, Brown, Blue, Dusty Pink, Maize and Shocking
$4.95 $5.95 $9.75
Lovely Pastel and Plaid Shirts $5.95 to $8.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Charge Accounts Solicited

NO MORE 8:05 CLASSES

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS! PUBLICATIONS

VOLUME XXIV — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1944 — No. 5

November 1 Set Date of Time Change In College, County

Beginning Wednesday, November 1, the traditional 8:05 blinking of eyes and smothering of early morning yawns on campus will be no longer. That is until March 20 or thereabouts. For S. T. C., in accordance with the schools of Prince Edward County, is adopting a "Shove It Up An Hour Plan". Under the new system breakfast will be served at 8:15 o'clock, lunch at 1:45, and dinner at 7 o'clock and extra-curricular activities and meetings will be held an hour later accordingly.

The action has been taken by the college to avoid a conflict between the schedules of student teachers and those in Farmville schools and surrounding rural communities beginning Wednesday.

However, on week ends, from Saturday night through Sunday night the schedule of time will remain the same as it is at present, that is with breakfast on Sunday at 8, dinner at 1 o'clock and supper at 6 p. m. and Saturday night supper at 6 p. m.

Jean Ruth To Sing Nat'l Songs Here

Pi Gamma Mu, social science fraternity, assisted by the College Choir and Choral Club will present Jean Ruth, well known artist, on this campus Wednesday night, November 8 at 8 o'clock in the large auditorium, in a costume program of national songs of the world.

Patriotic program of songs of all allied nations will play a part in war morale training.

"People who attend will get a feeling of actual participation as the guest artist is costumed to represent the various nations," Dr. James Elliott Walmsley remarked in discussing the program this week.

Welfare Positions Increase With War

"We could have placed five or six times as many students in public welfare positions this year as we did," said Dr. E. M. Sunley, head of the department of social work, West Virginia University. He continued by saying, "Never has there been such an unprecedented demand for professionally prepared social workers. Social workers are wanted as staff members in medical and psychiatric departments of our Army, Navy and civilian hospitals, as child welfare workers in our state departments of public welfare, as interviewers in United States Employment Service Offices, as counsellors for housing projects, as children's workers for Juvenile courts, as rehabilitation workers, by war agencies, etc."

Dr. Sunley added, "In recent months several new areas of social work have developed. Some of the most interesting of these have included counseling positions in industry, social case work positions in labor unions, case work jobs in department stores, counseling positions in the Federal agencies and case work positions in war relocation programs."

"This is but a beginning, new agences and new services in the post-war period especially services for our returning veterans, will call for large numbers of well prepared social workers. Furthermore, here in West Virginia, there are many undeveloped fields of social work such as medical and psychiatric social works in our mental hospitals and institutions for mental defectives, as recreation leaders in similar and other state institutions, as psychiatric workers in our public schools, as case workers in our adult proba-

Continued on Page 3

Brooks To Head Freshman Class

Student Council Members Selected

Louise (Peepsie) Brooks, of Farmville, was elected president of the freshman class at the class meeting held last night. Alice Abernathy, Dinwiddie, and Mary Helmer, Newport News, were elected freshman representatives to Student Government.

In high school Peepsie was president of the senior class, and president of the Student Cooperative Association.

Alice Abernathy was president of her sophomore class, captain of the girls basketball team, and treasurer of the Home Economics Club. Mary Helmer was a member of the National Thespian Society, honorary dramatic society and served as secretary for the Latin Club.

Miss Mary Dabney was recently elected classman, and other officers will be elected at a later date.

Backstage Workers For Play Revealed

Playing backstage, and not under the lights for "Cry Havoc," Fall Dramatic Club play, scheduled for November 19, will be Carol Diggs, vice-president of the Dramatic Club in charge of production. Catherine Lynch will see that the girls look their part since she is in charge of the make-up department.

Helen McGuire lends her talent to heading the costuming department and lends a hand on the great night helping the "stars" get ready for their "on stage glert." Lillian Elliott is in charge of the lighting effects, and keeps the girls in the spotlight.

Publicity for the play is Betty Cock's job. Business manager of Dramatic Club is Fay Johnson and Carolyn Hayslett will be in charge of property department. Staging will be done by Ann Blair.

The above girls are the officers who are working directly on the production of the play, "Cry Havoc."

November 4 Named New Circus Date, Chairman Reveals

Theme Portrayed In Class Stunts

Due to unforeseen circumstances which have arisen, the date for the annual Alpha Kappa Gamma circus has been postponed from October 28 till Saturday, November 4. Helen Wilson, general chairman, revealed this week.

Theme Revealed

The theme for the circus this year is "a merry-go-round of fun" and will be carried out in the stunts by the four classes. Class chairman as recently announced are Mary Helmer, freshman; Patsy McLear, sophomore; Jane Philhower, junior; and Mary Parrish Viccellio, senior.

AKG Committees

AKG committees for the circus are Eleanor Wade and Martha Higgins, decorations; Ophelia Whittle and Ann Martin, animals; Mary Ann Jarratt, Frances Lee, and Virginia Treakle, tickets; Harriette Moore and Sally Robertson, parade; Marilyn Bell, stunts; Jane Waring Ruffin, publicity; and Sara Bird Williams, queen and court.

Queen's Identity Unknown

The identity of the queen and her court will not be revealed until the night of the circus, but the nominations have been made by the various classes. As usual, the senior nominee will be queen, the junior nominee will be maid-of-honor, and the freshman and the sophomore nominees will be in the court.

The parade will begin at 3:30 Saturday afternoon and will continue down Main street, and the circus is scheduled for 8 o'clock that night.

Y. W. C. A. to Present Speaker In Chapel Here November 15

The Rev. John F Ward, of the Church of the Ascension, (Episcopal), Norfolk, will speak in chapel November 15. The program will be sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

The officers for the Y. W. C. A. are president, Sara Bird Williams, vice-president, Mary Ann Jarratt; secretary, Ann Martin; and treasurer, Minnie Lee Crumpler.

ACP Rates Rotunda, Colonnade "First Class Excellent"; All Phases of Work Are Criticized

Magazine Judged For First Time

"First Class Excellent" is the rating given to the 1943 issues of the Colonnade by the National Scholastic Press, according to the present editor, Jane Knapton. Last year's issues were the first to be rated by this service.

Special commendation was given to serious writing, to the poetry pages, and to "Sparkling Speech" page. High ratings were given to the fiction, to the feature to the cover, and to the art work.

Improvements Suggested

Suggestions for improvement include less reliance on exchange material on the page of humor, fewer changes of type in titles, and a different handling of the editorials. The service is not a contest, but is an endeavor to analyze and evaluate the work of college magazines and to rate them in their respective standings.

Editorial content in the Colonnade was rated at 350; art work and photography at 170; editing and makeup at 205, and typography and mechanical considerations at 135, making a total of 900.

Short Story Contest Ends Next Week

November 1 has been set as the deadline for the short story contest sponsored on the campus by the Colonnade, quarterly publication. All entries must be in the Colonnade box or must be given to Jane Knapton or Betty Cock by midnight Wednesday.

All students in school are eligible to enter this contest, and any subject is acceptable.

Prizes of five dollars, three dollars, and two dollars will be given as well as two honorable mentions. Prize-winning stories will be features in the November issue of the magazine.

Committees Named For Fall Cotillion

Brooks in Charge Of Decorations

Catherine Trower and Ruth Brooks will lead the floor and decorating committees for the fall Cotillion dance, scheduled for November 11, Marilyn Johnson, president, announced this week.

Serving under Catherine Trower on the floor committee will be Mary Parrish Viccellio, Ann Summers, Joyce Cheatwood, Barbara Surface, Joan Davis, and Gwen Ackiss.

Dora Walker Jones and Pat Maddox will assist Ruth Brooks on the decorations, the plan of which will be announced later.

Each member of the Cotillion Club will be allowed to invite as her guest one non-Cotillion girl in school, Marilyn Johnson recently announced.

As revealed in last week's paper, Angelo Perry and his Vagabonds have been scheduled to furnish music for the opening dance of the year.

Miss Moran Speaks To Freshman Y Club In Student Lounge

Freshman Y Club meeting was held in the Student Lounge, Monday night, October 23 at 9 o'clock.

Miss Grace Moran who spoke to the group, had as her subject, "How Freshmen Can Make the Most Out of College Life."

The object of the meeting was to bring the new students and the freshmen in closer contact with the work of the Y. W. C. A.

In charge of the first Freshman Y Club was the Sophomore Commission. The freshmen will elect their officers after Christmas and plan their own programs, but until then the Sophomores will be in charge of their meetings.

The freshman class enjoyed a perid of group singing and light refreshments were served to the group.

The meeting was the first in a series of regular monthly meetings.

Student Convention Slated November 3-5

"The World Christ Supreme in My World" is the theme for the state Baptist Student Union Convention which will be held at Calvary Baptist Church, Roanoke, November 3 to 5.

Dr. W. Perry Crouch, Asheville, N. C., will make the keynote address on Friday night. Other speakers include Mr. William Hall Preston, southwide Baptist Student secretary; Dr. M. T. Rankin, Dr. Bill Marshall, and Dr. J. P. Allen.

Student participants include Virginia Treakle, acting president of the Baptist Student Union of Virginia, who will preside at two sessions of the convention as well as Louise Putney who will review Margaret Rumbeck's book, "The Great Answer" at the Saturday night session Miss Frances Copenhaver, local student secretary, will lead the worship service for the Sunday School hour Sunday morning.

Students from almost every college in Virginia will be present at the convention.

Critics Commends Front Page Work

Associated Collegiate Press scorebook, which was received this week, rated the spring issues of the Rotunda "First Class Excellent" with a total score of 870, which is a rating above the previous one received by the Rotunda.

The ACP critics commented that the Rotunda showed "A nice looking front page" and that the treatment of news was "a good job." High scores were given the Rotunda on balance, vitality, the treatment, features, and editorials. Suggestions were made by the critical service as to improvement of the paper, including the use of fewer long paragraphs, more interviews, an dthe use of more subheads.

Typography Superior

Typography and printing on the Rotunda were dated superior by the critical service, but the sports page was rated weak.

News values and sources were rated 210 ;news writing and editing, 250; headlines, topography and makeup, 235; and department pages and special features, 175, a total 870, just 55 points below a rating of All American for college paper sin this class.

Papers judged were published during the spring quarter of last year under the management of the present staff.

The critical service is part of the work of the Associated Collegiate Press of which this paper is a member.

15 Girls Nominated As Personalities In 1945 Virginian

Fifteen girls were nominated for senior personalities this week, out of which eight will be elected by the student body and featured in the 1945 Virginian.

Girls nominated were Marilyn Bell, Richmond, Editor-in-Chief of the 1945 Virginian Sarah Lee East, South Boston, head dining hall hostess; Martha Higgins, Portsmouth, president of the House Council; Mary Anne Jarratt, Jarratt, vice-president of the Y.W.C.A.; Fay Byrd Johnson, Vinton, president of Student Standards and business manager of the Dramatic Club; Jane Knapton, Covington, editor-in-chief of the Colonnade; Harriette Moore, Gastoria, N. C., president of the Student Council; Sally Robertson, Lynchburg, president of Dramatic Club, vice-president of House Council, and treasurer of the senior class; and Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City County, Editor-in-Chief of the Rotunda and president of Sigma Pi Rho.

Also Lucy Manson Sharpe, Virginia Beach, president of Alpha Kappa Gamma; Mary Parrish Viecellio, Chatham, chairman of the senior circus stunt and active in various other campus activities; Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville, president of the senior class, Kappa Delta Pi, and the Monogram Club; Ophelia Whittle, Petersburg, vice-president of the Student Council; Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock, president of the Y. W. C. A., and Helen Wilson, Petersburg, president of the Athletic Association.

These nominations were made by a committee composed of two faculty representatives, a representative from the student body at large, and one from each of the three publications.

Pin-Ups, Paint Job, Pictures, New Atmosphere Make Infirmary Irresistible to Sick and Well

Flower Prints Brighten Rooms

There's an old tale about the graveyard that people were just dying to get into . . . but somehow or other, we never can find really sick girls here who are in any way willing to go to the infirmary.

"Infirmary? Heck, no! I'm not that sick, and if I did go, I'd die having to lie there and stare at those ol' white walls all day."

And such was the general opinion. That however, was before Mrs. Packer took over!

We went through the S. T. C. infirmary a week or so ago, under personal guidance of Mrs. Packer, and the transformation is astounding. From the newness of paint in the front part clear to the crisp new slip-covers on the sun porch furniture, the changes are innumerable—and all for the better.

Remember the drab little office to the right as you go in the door? It's still there . . but the dull, dirty tan walls are now a pale apple green, and the couch that was formerly kept covered with a sheet is now all green and rose striped . . . and inviting looking. Dr. Moore's officious looking desk still holds full sway to give the office a more homelike touch. With a big easy chair and ottoman added, there should be no need to fear a sick call at all.

MRS. SOPHIA PACKER

Directly across the hall the "operating room" has been repainted its traditional white, so the only change there has been one one of a cleaner, lighter, and healthier nature. From this dispensary is doled out everything from Band-Aids to cold pills, and it is here that the clean antiseptic smell makes one feel better immediately.

The corridor where we wait used to be dull and dark and bleak and cheerless. If a girl were to sit there long enough staring at a blank wall, her illness could multiply in no time at all. So Mrs. Packer brightened up the whole atmosphere by hanging lovely flower prints . . . tulips, rhododendrouns, carnations . . to give us something to think about besides our ailments

But the pride and joy . . . the rooms and wards. The same dusty pink walls that are so favored in

Continued on Page 4

No More Morbid Hours at Sick Call

So You Don't Want A Third World War?

So you think there shouldn't be a third world war?

So you wouldn't like for instruments of destruction to come winging over the top of the world and make Richmond and Farmville into a Cologne and a Coventry?

So you wouldn't like for the babies now crying in their mothers' arms to have to go out some day and kill or be killed?

Well, you can do something about it.

Every time you walk into a classroom in geography, history, sociology, political science, or economics, you can do something about it. Only an America which knows the world, its people, and their relation with one another can prevent a third war.

When you walk into a classroom in health or physical education, you can do something about it. Only a healthy America can be a straight-thinking America.

In your science classes, you can learn the physical basis and the physical relationships of all life. In your English classes you can learn to make your mind work better, and can learn the ideals that humanity needs to know if there is to be peace. In your fine arts classes, you can learn some of the things that make life meaningful and beautiful.

And when you walk into a classroom in education, you can learn how to transmit to another generation the knowledge, the ideals, and the beauty that you have discovered. You can learn how to help create a straight-thinking America that can make impossible a third world war.

So you think there shouldn't be a third world war? Well, it's up to you—ACP.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative. 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullien .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Leila Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc, Fay Johnson.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spryc Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelson.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1944

Chi Is Watching You!

This week the once revered and honored Chi marched again, but it has strayed far from the path on which it began some forty years ago. According to the Virginian of 1943 the primary purpose of Chi has been "to improve the understanding of the student body in regard to high standards of conduct for which Farmville is known", but for all practical purposes Chi has degenerated into a sort of Ku Klux Klan, whose chief aim seems to be "walking" on those students whose healthy curiosity leads them to investigate mysterious happenings, and on girls whose behavior has been above reproach.

For an organization to merit continuance on a college campus it should serve some constructive purpose, but the constructive activities of Chi remain so much in the dark it is doubtful if they exist. Moreover, any handful of girls who set themselves up to reprove the conduct of their fellow students, should first "cast out the beam out of their own eye."

Perhaps Chi could have a place on this campus, but in an already over-organized student body, it seems only right that an organization whose symbol is death, whose purposes and activities are no longer respected but laughed at, should be removed.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

"From fallen Aachen in Germany to MacArthur's return to the Philippines on Leyte; from Russian advance lines on German soil in East Prussia to the Nazi lost Balkan Peninsula; from the slowly collapsing Nazi ramparts guarding Italy's vast Po valley to the Red army inundated plains of Hungary and even in far away Burma and the tragic Nicobar Islands in the Bay of Bengal the story was the same. The United Nations were closing in for the double kill."

This is how the war analysts are summarizing this week's headlines. The Philippine invasion has, for the moment, counteracted the war in Germany. Our forces have occupied two air fields and are advancing inland despite Japanese counter-attacks and strong enemy defenses.

* * * *

The Chinese have also held the Japanese back from Liuchow and thrown back troops west of Changsha. At Kweilin the situation remains unchanged, the Japanese still being about 20 miles from that city.

* * * *

Though Hitler cannot look to the Pacific for consolation, neither can he look to his own country.

* * *

Canadians have seized Esschen in Holland and are driving south toward Antwerp. At the same time the British Second Army is pushing northward in an effort to form a pincer movement around that territory. Aachen is now in American hands and our troops are pushing eastward.

* * * *

The Russians have reached the borders of Norway and meanwhile are advancing in Hungary and Yugoslavia. The "three-pronged" offensive has cut off thousands of enemy troops. Even Berlin is admitting that the German people must undergo a major defeat in East Prussia.

* * *

In Italy the Germans are putting up a stiff resistance against advancing troops toward Bologna. Our advancement is measured in yards. However, the British have pushed seven miles into the Po Valley and are now approaching Cervia

In the Aegean sector the British have taken the port of Mudros and landed on the island of Lemnor. Yes, it is evident that "the United Nations are closing in for the double kill."

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

These are the things heard behind closed doors, whispered behind cupped hands, hinted at before verdant freshmen and unknowing others. In short these are the open secrets of our campus this week. The title of the horsiest soph goes unanimously to Ann Kingdon . . . Biggest scoop of course is Lou Baker's diamond . . . Silliest sight was Betty Wood and her lieutenant talking on her hands . . . Biggest news is the organization of a police corps here on campus. This corp is allied H. P. and has as its sponsors Mr. French, Mrs. Packer, and Miss Hall. It is rumored that bids to new members will go out this week.

B Dillard and her usual young man were seen about town over the week-end . . . It was good to see Betty Wright with us again . . . One of Shuffle's young men was here . . . To old girls and new ones who may become interested: The Great Tynes alias Cassanova, Valentino, B. M. O. C., Romeo, etc. will arrive in town for an extended leave some time during the week.

Bobby Dick alias Cassanova, etc. is again finding the hamlet of much interest. Virginia Naylor is attributed to the cause . . . J. Prosise ran a complete dating Bureau last Saturday night. She plans to continue this service each week-end as long as possible.

Two V-12 men have entirely new methods of calling for their dates in senior building. Some observer stated it most closely resembled the old-fashioned hog-call while others agreed that it was nothing but a new version of timber-r-r-r.

Saddest incident of the week: Fitchett did not write or call Peggy T. for three whole days, Miss Ross said that she would wait only one more day before she went into official mourning . . . A complete set of false teeth was found behind the Biology Lab. The owner may obtain them by identification, authorities say.

Beaubeau, only man ever to enter the dining room alone during a meal, (think of his tremendous courage) was welcomed back with open arms over the week-end . . . One of the most apt similes could be, "As familiar as Charlie Burger's face around campus"

Nannie Sours had 19 roses in honor of her birthday from the one and only Nick. . . . Another familiar face to return—Neil Oliver. Good to see him again . . . Now the biggest secret is: From good reports, a gremlin is said to actually live in the tree beside Junior building. On two occasions he has been seen.

Short story of the week concerns the freshman who during rat week was told to call the president of the student body at Hampden-Sydney. It seems that there was a little case of mistaken identification, and the "friend" who answered the phone and identified himself as the party wanted called back later, and even came in to Farmville, still under the false name. But the freshman was smart and made a quick exit, only to meet properly the gentlemen whom she had called in the first place!

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

THE Y

Friday night the town girls and the "Y" cabinet had a weinie roast. Due to the rain, it was held in the rec, but a good time was had by all despite the inclement weather.

There was an association meeting this afternoon, and on Monday afternoon both the Westminster Fellowship and the Baptist Student Union held meetings.

Tonight is the night for "Y" committee meetings. Be sure to attend yours!

The theme for prayers tomorrow night is "What Jesus Can Mean to Us", and for Friday "Never Alone". Go to prayers for comfort and guidance.

"Oh Master, let me walk with Thee
In lowly paths of service free.
Teach me Thy secrets; help me bear
The strain of toil, the fret of care.
—Washington Gladden

The biggest dollar you ever gave!

Aid to servicemen's families is among the many causes your dollars support when you give to your Community War Fund.

We can't let them down now! Give to

YOUR COMMUNITY WAR FUND

Representing the NATIONAL WAR FUND

Question of the Week

What do you think of "Rat Week?"

SOPHOMORES:—

Mary Ann Loving: It's so quiet and restful.

Betty Parrish: It was a good way to get my bed made!

Sue Hundley: Knocked out time!

Nancy Whitehead: Mrs. Beasley misses my room being clean, only once a rat cleaned it, and I got a warning note!

Betty Harville: Pretty good sports, but I gto tired of hearing "skip Rat!"

Anne Tucker: Fathers above!

Grace Lloyd: It caused a lot of headaches, but it was a lot of fun.

Betty Johnson: They were real cute rats.

"Bunny" Cunningham: It showed a lot of good school spirit and I hope we never lose that!

Dot Owen: They were very good housekeepers, 'cause I did not get a warning.

Betty Bowles: It didn't last long enough!

Martha Wells: I turned into a horse overnight!

"Wig" Higginbotham: It showed what a good bunch of girls the freshmen are.

"Jody" Davis: It's obscene, but I love it.

Nancy Parrish: You tell me!

"Ginnie" Woodward: No sleep (I'm a woman of few words).

Margaret Ellet: 'Twas full of fun and worries!

Mac Derieux: It was a mess!

Jerry Payne: It was fun 'cause I like to be serenaded early in the morning.

"Goony" Boon: I hate to express my opinion.

RATS

Marjorie Tice: A bunch of foolishness, yet I enjoyed it!

Dot Overton: After scaring us to death the Sophs were mighty sweet.

Betty Plunkett: Now I can come out of the closet.

Theresa Howell: It made me love everybody more.

Jean Givers: It's a better way to get acquainted with your own class.

Betty & Jane Burchett: ..We could die!

George Anne Lewis: ..I can't think of anything cute, but it was plenty of fun.

Dot White: I thought it was wonderful and I hated to see it end!

Corinne Baker: Lots of fun in getting to know people better.

FACULTY:—

Miss Stubbs: Moderate it!

Miss Lila London: I don't see anything gained by it. It is certainly not in keeping with the dignity of the school, and I'd like to see some freshman class strong enough to do away with it!

Miss Garnett: I think Rat Week should be one in which everyone enjoys themselves, participants and those looking on, also.

Miss Peck: I think it's a nuisance.

Mrs. Packer: Words fail to express it!

Dean Smith: If controlled, it's good, wholesome fun.

Development of 'Cry Havoc' Gives Insight to Fall Play

What do you know about "Cry Havoc"? Why, yes, it is the fall play that is to be presented by our Dramatic Club! Did you know it was one of the most sensational war plays produced in 1942? We were browsing through some books the other afternoon and to our great pleasure ran across a few things that might interest you.

The title itself comes from our historical acquaintance Julius Caesar, who vigoriously shouted to his men, "Cry 'havoc" and let slip the dogs of war!" Indeed, the dogs of war were inevitable in "Cry Havoc".

This thundering broadway hit was written in 1939 several years before Bataan by Allan Kenward. Mr. Kenward was a Metro-Goldwyn - Mayer director of shorts. He has been exposed to acting, teaching, and directing during his career. After the manifold of iniquities experienced by our service men and women on Bataan, Mr. Kenward was influenced to rewrite his play. In doing so he took the exciting yet sordid setting of Bataan, a dozen women with varied characteristics and backgrounds, a plot dealing with fifth column activity that seems almost insignificant in comparison to the dramatic value, and character development, as the indispensable foundation of a most successful work. The combination of realism and tragedy is a candor which disarms criticism.

Don't you think for one moment "Cry Havoc" was produced with all the publicity and grandeur which most Broadway plays are accustomed to being produced. No sir, "Cry Havoc" had a struggle almost as fascinating as that of a great statesman who arrived at the hall of fame through his own resources and efforts.

"Cry Havoc" was first presented in the old Beachwood Theatre—Studio of Los Angeles, California. The theatre itself had a seating capacity of 85 persons. The play which was written by Mr. Kenward was also staged by him and the all female cast was played by amateurs with

Continued on Page 4

Local Monogram Club Initiates Blane, Elliot New Members

New initiates to the Monogram Club were Louise Blane and Lillian Elliott who were initiated on Monday night. The Monogram Club consists of girls who have proven outstanding in athletics on the campus, and are well rounded in sports activities. Each member wears a letter of blue and white for S. T. C.

President of the club is Eleanor Wade; vice - president, Bobbie Scott; secretary-treasurer, Ophelia Whittle. Members are Frances Lee, Edith Lovins, Margaret Orange, Mary Walker Watts, and Helen Wilson.

Eleanor Wade, president of the Monogram Club.

Bells, Bells, Bells; Their Clanging Runs School Girls' Lives

Bong! Ding! Dong! Ting!—'Tis the symphony of bells—those all important bells in a school girl's life. The S. T. C. bell, the library clock, the telephone, the alarm clock, the church bells, the door bell; finally wedding bells. They toll out happiness, sorrow dreariness, gayety—they bring in a new day and carry out the old—they are life and they are death.

The deep bass noise of the school bell breaks the stillness of early morning and the school day officially starts. All over the building it is met with different responses—that eager beaver who jumps up quickly realizing that this is the day Johnny is coming or she is going home, that drowsy sleepy-head who wonders, why oh, why did that bull session last half the night and that lucky soand-so without a first period class who knows the bell she is waiting for will be the one on the alarm clock—but later.

Whether you arise for breakfast or later are pulled out of bed by your roommmate there is always that frantic scurry when the class bell rings. Everything in the room seems out of place—books, scarf, coats, pencils, they all just seem to hide with that bell.

Classes are started and terminated with bells, all through the morning, and every girl is glad when STC's Big Ben rings again signifying "soup's on." There is that breath after lunch but the bells start their song again with afternoon classes. Thus on until evening mail call and dinner. Finally, much too soon the curfew tolls for lights out in the Main Building, but just tell the girls in junior and senior that it is getting late and lessons are yet to be done.

All through the afternoon and night the telephone sends out its eager br-r-r-r and many a girl's heart quickens hoping that it is her call. And oh, the thrill when it is! Sometimes a long distance then again a telegram or special delivery, but exciting all.

Each bell has a duty to perform in a school girl's life and it does it faithfully until finally school days are almost over and the college girl's heart is waiting for another to ring. The joyous gladdening melody of the wedding bells.

At school we take bells for granted and some even almost dislike them. Their's would be a different story if they lived in a place where bells did not toll, and waiting for the bells that will ring all over the whole world announcing "PEACE!"

Tennis Tourney Completed Today

The final round of the tennis tournament was played off this afternoon between Mary Harrison, sophomore and Phyllis Watts, junior. Points were gained for the color cup by the winner of this tournament. Each fall and spring a tennis tournament is played for points toward the color cup.

Those of you who did not participate in the tournament this fall, and want to do so in the spring, start practicing now, so that when the time comes for the spring tournament you will have plenty of practice. Support your colors by coming out for the tennis team.

Orchesis Prepares For Annual Sing

Orchesis modern dance club will present their annual Christmas sing December 9, the night of the senior dance in the auditorium. The program planned is to be an impressive one, and everyone is cordially invited. The program will be opened by a processional, by the members and apprentices of the club. They will be accompanied by the Madrigal Singers of the college choir. Four dances have been planned, Annunciation, Carol, To Those Who Will Speak, and a Lullaby. The Madrigal group will be featured in a number, and Esther Shevick is to sing "O, Holy Night."

President of Orchesis is Betty Ellis; secretary, Edith Lovins; treasurer, Betsy Caldwell; historian, Jean Smith, and costume chairman, Frances Lee. Members are Shirley Cruser, Margaret Harvie, Earlene Kimmerling, Jean Parry, Esther Shevick, Nancy Whitehead. Apprentices are Marilyn Bell, Norma Chandler, Vivian Edmunds, Helen Lacey, Isabel Ransone, and Frances Timmons.

Welfare Positions

Continued from Page 1

tion programs, and as medical social workers in our crippled children's program.

Left Lead

STORMY WEATHER

Were we mentioning Indian Summers? Well, that was last week. Did we promise you a tournament? That was last week, too. Ol' Man Weather intervened as per usual, and after Friday like it was, a virtual all day drownpour who can think of Indain Summers and tournaments? The Indian Summer we have to leave to Nature's discretion, but the tournament has been postponed to this Friday, same place, same time, same principle. Come on as you had planned, and better luck this time.

ROUGH RIDIN'

Peggy Moore is riding for more than a special reason this year. We don't think she'll mind if we mention that she broke her arm once when thrown, and is now back at it in order to take up where she left off. But, Peggy! Letting Gypsy toss you off in the mud is no way to begin new operations!

The mud is quite in evidence this week anyhow. And it's in cahoots with the gravel they've been so generous with around Farmville lately. Saturday's ride, after the day in the stables Friday, caused no little excitement on the back road to the airport, and mud up to the knees (the riders' knees!) and gravel in the hooves (the horses' hooves) added to the consternation. All came through on top though . . . and there were no walk-homes, even after Gypsy had to be chased all over a field or two before she condescended to be caught. And if the trails haven't been soupy since, we'll eat our saddle-soap! Of all the icky mud we've seen, this has been the ickiest. The "Dusty Boots" will become Muddy Boots indeed!

BEGINNER'S DELIGHT

When a bunch of college girls get up on a bunch of horses and take off around the golf course, everyone turns and watches regardless. But when the Monday afternoon class starts out, and wee Mary K. Catlin parks her parts atop Cinnamon, and her feet don't even reach the bottom edge of the saddle people drop all teeth concerned and simply stare! Legs too short to kick, she spends her hour and a half slapping the reins on her mount's neck in a Lilliputian effort to make her horse keep up with the rest, but the dazed mare usually tosses her mane and wonders what kind of over-sized insect is persisting in being so annoying. But even when she lost both stirrups in an unintended canter on the home trip, Mary K. stuck with all the strength of her six or seven determined years, and settled back down to a newly inspired trot with vim, vigor, and vitality!

It was Jody who had to be convinced Lady could jump . . . Jody who rode her bareback and then some . . . but Sarah needed no convincing Monday. She jumped the pony so vigorously, that Martha Smith, as well as Mary K. were all ears to answers of their query, "When can we jump?" Nor were all the beginners down to a standard size in that class . . . Phantom Lady did her best despite the slap-happy landings of her hopeful jockey.

TID-BITS

There are still great hopes for the club house. If we could just get a new grainery, and not have to keep the feed in the club house, as well as the firewood and all the various and sundry necessities of the stables, we might be able to liven things up a bit. Curtains would help, and we hope to get the charts and pictures rehung . . . and the place cleaned up a bit. Jean Carter is chairman of a committee . . . we hope SHE gets it done!

Miss Black was lame awhile this week. The gravel again, no doubt . . . and we have sad news for those who did love Midnight last year. He's blind. May those who voiced such verbal bits of viciousness toward him when he dashed down the trail with one of his sudden take-offs at least have slight regrets at that knowledge, and those who loved his easy, graceful canter and ever alertness join us in choky hopes that he will some day recover his sight and dash again in the way he loved, over the fields to freedom.

Riding club members are requested to have their dues paid to Margaret Lohr before the next meeting. Cough up that twenty-five cents for this quarter and, stay on the bit.

Pegasus

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

ON THE BALL

Greetings again, sports fans! Congratulations first to the new members of the Monogram Club, Louise Blane and Lillian Elliot. Nice going girls! Our sports calendar is in full swing, but the hockey games are not to be definitely decided until we discover whether we will have Thanksgiving vacation or not. If there is no vacation, the games will be played on Thanksgiving day. We would like to have had a scoop on the tennis finals today, but the paper went to press before the game was played.

GROUND STICKS

An observer at a hockey practice would be the most confused person in the world. If he were new at the game, he would certainly think it a dangerous sport, for until the girls learn how to handle their sticks, there is always the danger of having one wrapped around your neck. Learning their positions after they learn the fundamentals of the game is the most important item for a beginner. In playing on a team, if you do not play your position your teammates cannot learn to depend on you. Being an individual when you are on a team is out of question, and only when you have learned to cooperate do you really become a good player.

Hockey is fundamentally like soccer or field ball in the amount of players and the rules for fouls or penalties. It is played with a stick and a hard wooden ball a little smaller than a baseball. It is a game that requires plenty of running, and if you aren't in the pink of condition when you are on the field it really shows up in a hurry. The game is very similar to ice hockey, although not as rough, or as dangerous. Cold weather at S. T. C. always reminds us of hockey, and everyone becomes eager to don her dungarees and plaid shirt for a quick turn around the field.

CHRISTMAS SING

Orchesis, modern dance club, is in charge of the sing program for Christmas night of senior dance, and the program they have planned should put all of us in the Christmas spirit. Each Christmas during war seems to be a little more serious than the Christmas before, and such is the theme of this year's sing program. There will be a light carol dance to put us in the festive mood, but most of the program will be on the serious side.

Dance always becomes an important item during war times, for through dance people express their emotions, and so many pent-up emotions are found inside people during these times. Modern dance has taken a slight trend toward the ballet, not being so much aesthetic dance as it was for many years.

FOOTBALL

Come the autumn and the leaves start changing color, and ole man winter seems to be just around the corner, our thoughts turn to football. Each week end will find some fortunate miss leaving for one of the big league games, but not only the big league calls our fans. Homeward bound go our high school alumni to join in rooting for the old alma mater.

The other day, yours truly saw on campus a group of girls kicking a football around. In these days, you can't tell whether women will take up the game sincerely or not. Your reporter also happened to be one of those who returned to their old alma mater, and although the alma mater was a borrowed one, the spirit of the game and the crowd caught everyone, including yours truly who now talks with a hoarse voice. But we really wouldn't miss it for all the world.

Until next week, stay in the game, sports!

KEEP ON Backing the Attack! WITH WAR BONDS

Collins Florist
Flowers of Distnction for All Occasions
Phone 181 or 4

For good food
Tall cold Pepsi-Cola
Phone 522
SHANNON'S

Come in and try our Delicious Sandwiches They are the best in town
The College Shoppe

For best food and Fountain Service—Visit
Chappell Company

Martin the Jeweler
Silver Identification Hair Clamps $3.00 including three intials

Offivial V . . .—Mail Paper and Ink on sale at ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

PATTERSON'S Patronize
HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND MONTAGUE STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Just Cooked . . .
Olive-Kist Nuts—Cooked Daily
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Clasical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Southside Drug Store
Everyday Food Specials
Hamburger Special
And French Fries
Drink—35c

GUARANTEED
MECHANICAL PENCILS
ASSORTED COLORS
$1.50 EACH
MEN'S DEPT.—FIRST FLOOR
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

"SWEET and LOW"
(Featured in Charm)
The princess dress with a low sweetheart neckline . . . figure-flattering favorite in Spar-Spun Rayon Flannel. Polar White, Moss Rose, Blueclay, and California Lime, with contrasting color embroidery trim. Sizes 9 to 15.
$12.95

DOROTHY MAY STORE

Dean Martha Smith Is Guest Speaker At Pan-hel Meeting

Dean Martha Smith-Smith was the guest speaker at the first open Pan-Hellenic social meeting which was held yesterday at 5 o'clock in the Student Building lounge

The scholarship plaque which is awarded annually to the sorority with the highest scholastic average was again awarded this year to Phi Zeta Sigma, by Jean Prosise, president of the Pan-Hellenic Association.

Girls singing "Too-Ra-Loo-Ra-Loo-Ral" under the direction of Pat Maddox were Betty Blackwell, Anne Blair, Mary William Calvert, Marilyn Johnson, Ben Jones, Jane Knapton, Elizabeth McLean, Anne Masloff, Jean Prosise and Ophelia Whittle.

Anne Masloff also sang the solo, "What a Difference a Day Makes."

"Best Dressed Girl" Title Found Through Health, Care

When you hear the question, who is the best dressed girl you know? surely some beautiful and startling deb flashes through your mind. Maybe she is the girl who models Helen Harper sweaters, or the famous Pat Boyd whom we see peeking behind the pages of our favorite fashion magazines, or Bettera Bolegard who models the cute Joan Kenley blouses, or the famous Vogue model Dusty Anderson.

This idol could be your roommate (doubtful) or some senior like Hacky Moore, Little Higgins, Lucy Manson Sharpe, Ann Blair, or a junior like Bev Peebles, Frances Bell, or Frances Lee, a sophomore like Martha East, Joan Davis, or Martha Sprye, or even a freshman like Peepsie Brooks, Peggy Cabaniss, or Milly Shepherd.

Busy or leisure loving, whoever she is, she no doubt spends at least four hours a week making herself what you think she is. September "Glamour" has an excellent guide for spending these four hours. Thirty minutes on the hair since it is ladies' most predominant feature, thirty minutes for cleanliness, two minutes for lubrication, two minutes for hands, two minutes for nails, and five minutes for the figure. All this is done each night before Miss Deb crawls into bed.

Scientists and psychologists have come to the conclusion, after a period of observation that the twinkle in a girl's eye and the expression on her face is due to what she keeps on her mind. This twinkle and expression can be cultivated through wholesome reading, ever-changing thoughts and outdoor exercise.

New Staff Members Entertained Friday At College Banquet

New members of the faculty and administration were guests of honor at a dinner given last Friday night in the College banquet hall.

In welcoming the guests, Dr. J. L. Jarman mentioned the background of the college and cited the fact that the present banquet room is at the site of the first building of the institution.

Following on the program was Dr. Francis B. Simkins who spoke on "Our Virginia Home" He pointed out the fact that the distinctive aspect of the college is the homey atmosphere.

Concluding his talk, he paid a tribute to Dean Martha Smith as the new head of this, "Our Virginia Home".

Miss Grace Mix, in speaking on the administration of the college, took the guests on an imaginary tour of the main building, pausing in the Rotunda to salute the portrait of Dr. Jarman, the head of the administration. Following the salute, a tour was made of the various administrative offices.

Sketched in a humorous way, Miss Helen Draper pictured the versatility of the faculty, after which M. B. Coyner spoke of the alumnae as an important element in the college community and of the fact that even though they are scattered in many places throughout the country, yet they still look back to Farmville as their intellectual college home.

Dr. Simkins closed the program and the evening with a toast to the new members of the faculty and administration.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

Proving that the best part of college is the week ends away from it, Carolyn Bobbitt, Betty Adams, Jane Paulette, and Mary Virginia Walker and Ann Shaw went to South Hill for a visit. To the Apple Festival in Charlottesville went Ann Blair, Eleanor Wade, Carol Diggs, and Marilyn Johnson.

In Richmond were Jean Akers, Martha Higgins, Mary E. Fuqua, Esther George, Dorothy Haile, Gene Dale Harrison, Margaret Harvie, Elizabeth Lee Carter, Martha Hite, Eloise Stovell, Frances Timmons, Nell Coleman, Berry Howard, Betty Cock, Norma Chandler, Muriel Crostic, Mary Lou Dondley, Mary Frances Fennings, Jo Shaffner and Vivian Edmunds.

Visiting in Cumberland were Anna Lee Blanton, Jackie Parden, Ann Carter, and Fredrika Hubbard.

In Roanoke were Lois Lloyd Sheppard and Louise Baker. In Franklin were Bobbie Scott, Nellie Smith, and Harriette Moore.

Nell Scott went home to Stuart, and Jean Bobb visited the family in Ivor. Ann Chaulton, Frances Garnett and Ann Summers spent the week end in Ashland, and Nancy Almond, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth and Minnie Rose Hawthorne were in Kenbridge.

Chatham looked attractive to Dorothy Anderson and Dorothy Blair. Petersburg was the temporary residence of Judy Connelly, Geraldine Colgin, and Grace Anderson.

Visiting in LaCrosse was Mary Hunter; in Emporia, Elizabeth Harrell, and Carol Belle Jenkins; in Windsor, Katie Lawrence; in Smithfield, Ann Fulghan, and in Jarratt, Mary Ann Jarratt.

Also, many other S.T.C.'ers spent the week end in parts far and near.

Miss Mary Nichols entertained the members of the program committee of Beore Eh Thorn at tea last Wednesday afternoon at her apartment on High street.

Mu Omega sorority honored Mrs. Sophia Packer, who has been made an honorary member of the sorority, at a supper Sunday evening in the chapter room. Miss Leola Wheeler, Mrs. Packer and members of Mu Omega were present.

The present with a future— WAR BONDS for CHRISTMAS. Keep on Backing the Attack.

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmvile, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

LYNN'S
Popular sheet music
and
Manuscript paper

Green Front Food Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Friuts and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

PHONE 360
Vanity Beauty Shop
142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance
Corporation

State
YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER
IN FARMVILLE, VA.
Fri.—Sat.
FRANK SINATRA
in
"STEP LIVELY"

Life In Richardson Provides Fun, Laughs, Gaiety For All!

"The doors swing in . . . the doors swing out" . . . that phrase may be easily applied to the daily bang-bang routine of Richardson Hall. To you who havn't yet visited our quaint abode, we cordially invite you to come with us now for a tour of the Hall.

By way of introduction, we want you to know that the 23 girls here now didn't know that they would be here when they first came to S. T. C.. To begin with, we all get up (by a method known as the ringing of an alarm clock, believe it or not,) then, like the proverbial S. T. C. girl, we debate as to wether it is best "to eat or not to eat". This settled, classes start and end, with dinner announcing the fast approaching darkness, and now . . . and now . . . this is when Richardson really begins to live!!!

"Come on now, lest we forget, let's give to No-Name Jive" . . . loud voice, "Who took that R. C.?"—answering yell, "I did, I thought it was mine, so solly" . . 'Where's the bottle opener?' . . . "You got a knife?" . . . "Oh, heck there's no more peanut butter" . . . All this and our hall presidents too, announcing "Quiet girls, it's 7:30"—shhhh—? It's hard to swallow, but we're at last settled down to themes and translation.

A long, lovely, undisturbed 20 minutes reigns when, "Ahaha-haaha," echoes through the dimly lit halls, a door flies open, our trusted hall president rides again, she dashes down to the room from whence blew forth the terrible volley and pleads for silence or a call down . . . later, they get the latter. A half-hour races by, then everyone is scarced still by a loud banging on the front door (as you know, it's always locked, even we have to scream for a kind soul to "pliz" let us in), the first one who can deposit her graham cracker, grab her robe and drag to the door, usually lets the b ewildered person in. Oh, foo, it's only a girl back from choir.

We all quiet down to our former uncomfortable positions and proceed to study—but can we?

NO! There is no peace, because now a horrible shrill bell is heard —wham! doors open and 23 heads and lower anatomies gallop downstairs, and the swiftest runner, alias the girl who hadn't been balancing a coke on one knee, a book on the other, has the distinct honor of answering the telephone. Now some may not consider it an honor, because you do have pretty good in Engineering to keep this particular chore under control. First, you yell into the mouthpiece—"hello! hello! hello!", but the bells persists in ringing and you keep hollering! Finally it breaks down and a feeble voice says so surprisedly "Richardson Hall?" ahhh, sweet life! the call is through!

One of the nicest things about Richardson is that on Saturday nights, the luckier ones who have dates may have them in the living room. Of course the untiring and constant parade of robed and barefooted frails with their tresses done a' la bobby-pin only adds local color, and is no bother whatsoever to the by now frustrated girl dating in the parlor.

We also have a front porch, or maybe you've noticed us hanging over the rails on week-days and reclining gracefully in the chairs on Sunday? Although we love our home and wouldn't care to trade, we aren't that far from the campus, so why don't you all come see us, we'd love to have you!

Uh—oh, there's the 10:30 bell and that spells "lights out" for Richardson, too. Our day is over but not "Life in Richardson Hall."

'Cry Havoc'

Continued from Page 2

Katherine Emery taking the lead. Despite these ominous features its opening night was a spectacular page in theatre history. Hundreds of people crowded to the little theatre nightly—most of them to be turned away.

The dire need of a large theatre was evident after its first week and it wasn't long before "Cry Havoc" was being presented on a large stage before a tremendous audience, eagerly and breathlessly watching one of the most famous war tragedics.

Soon after its magnificant success on the stage movie rights were sold to Metro - Goldwyn-Meyer, giving everyone an opportunity to have experienced this stirring drama. "Cry Havoc" had a movie career equally as successful as its stage career.

Since then "Cry Havoc" has been produced by small theatre groups, dramatic schools, and colleges throughout the country.

Today its significance means more to us than ever when we hear of the reinvasion of the Philippines and anticipate great victories for the future.

" . . . this is a human tragedy that is terribly touching and real."—New York World Telegram

" . . . has taken its theme from one of the truly inspiring moments of the war."

—New York Times

Infirmary

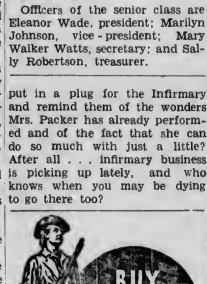
Continued from Page 2

junior building have maneuvered over to the infirmary, and instead of the severe white dotted swiss curtains, flowered prints in pink and green, ruffle merrily in the breezes that blow in the windows. Mrs. Packer is indeed one who understands gals. Take a look at the tops of the pale green bedside tables. Under the newly acquired glass tops, you'll find different "pin-up" pictures . . cut out by Mrs. Packer herself . . . and including everything from all the "Back Home for Keep'ses" to the "Mother-daughter Acts" off the fronts of the Woman's Home Companion. Brighter by far are the dreary days spent in bed when one has softly lighted rosy pink walls to look at, and Colonial prints and pin-ups to admire.

All over the place are growing things. Real life to look at . . . wandering ivy and sweet potato vines ambling lazily over the edges of their pretty little vases. The Sun porch is filled with them, and flower pots sit everywhere. The Fairy Godmother who made the slip covers this summer must have had the growing things in mind when she stitched the green stripes that blend so well with the potted plants

And how did these miraculous changes come about? Mostly through the ingenuity of our Nurse, who spent the summer rummaging around in the attics, and tearing apart old bulky bureaus to make tricky little dressing tables. It was she who made the ruffly curtains and collected the pin-ups. And the Fairy Godmother who made the slipcovers was none other than Mrs. Pickelsimer who worked on the second quarter of summer school while "Doctor Pick" taught.

As to financial backing, the Fairy Godmothers have been the organizations and classes that have contributed cash to the worthy cause. Last year's freshmen, sophs, and juniors and the Granddaughters' Club have been among the faithful ones, and most of this was done with about $170 dollars. Of course the school gave the paint and so on, but without the actual cash, the flower and bird prints, the maps and vases and curtain materials and all the little "special added attractions" would still be a vague dream.



As it is there's still a vague dream. We have tried to describe to you the first floor and it's new glory. But the contagious ward upstairs, where weeks may be spent at the time, still has all this to look forward to . . . and we hope there are no epidemics before the money has accumulated to brighten up the future.

Next time your organization wants to have a party, why not put in a plug for the Infirmary and remind them of the wonders Mrs. Packer has already performed and of the fact that she can do so much with just a little? After all . . . infirmary business is picking up lately, and who knows when you may be dying to go there too?

December 9 Slated By Senior Class For Annual Dance

Seniors have chosen December 9 for the date of their annual class dance. Tickets will be sold to the entire student body. A dance chairman has not been appointed as yet.

Officers of the senior class are Eleanor Wade, president; Marilyn Johnson, vice - president; Mary Walker Watts, secretary; and Sally Robertson, treasurer.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance
Corporation

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PHONE 78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

DE LUXE CLEANERS
Have that . . . Evening Dress . . . cleaned early for . . . Fall Cotillion

Bring your clothes for prompt service to KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Relax In Complete Comfort!

You'll be able to relax easier in a pair of Baldwin's FUZZIES or other slippers. Come in and get your's today—while our stock is complete.

FUZZIES
Red, Blue and Wine
$2.98

SLIPPERS
In Red and Black
$3.49

BALDWIN'S

CHECK CAMPUS HABITS

The Rotunda

ATTEND AKG CIRCUS

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE VA., WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 1, 1944 | No. 6

Alpha Kappa Gamma Raises Big Top Saturday

Mid-term Estimates Will Be Available To Student Body

Grades Will Replace Bi-weekly System

As a means of helping the students to check on their work, mid-term estimates will be available for all students this quarter The estimates will take the place of the bi-weekly report system used up to this session.

The estimates are not to be considered final grades but are to be considered as estimates of the work done to the date thereof. The estimates will not be recorded and will not become a part of the student's permanent record. Estimates will be given around the middle of each quarter.

Sophomores and freshmen may consult their advisers and learn the news—bad or good. Those who are juniors and seniors may consult the heads of the major departments or someone designated by the head of the department. For example if the major subject is History, Dr. Walmsley will be consulted; if Education, Dr. Wynne.

Students will be notified in chapel when the estimate cards are in the hands of the advisers or heads of departments.

Mrs. Thornton Added To Infirmary Staff

Mrs. Henry C. Thornton from Hampden-Sydney, Virginia, was added to the administrative staff at S. T. C. on October 3 as assistant nurse to Mrs. Packer.

Before moving to Hampden-Sydney Mrs. Thorner was a resident of Ashville, North Carolina. She attended Powers School in Richmond and trained at St. Luke's Hospital there.

Mrs. Thornton is former Miss Mary Brock, daughter of the late Professor H. C. Brock of Hampden-Sydney. Her brother is Senator R. K. Brock of Hampden-Sydney, also.

Bible Group Will Be Started Here by Inter-Varsity Head

Representing an interdenominational organization, the United Bible Study, Miss Ethel Smith visited the campus last week to found a group similar to those in many other colleges here and abroad.

Miss Smith spoke to the students in chapel Friday Friday mornning and to the Y. W. C. A. cabinet Friday afternoon, explaining the purpose of the organization.

Coming under the auspices of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship she has already organized groups in Virginia at Mary Washington, Madison, Westhampton, and William and Mary Colleges. There are today about 150 organizations on college and university campuses. This organization had its roots in England in the nineteenth century and since then the movement has spread to Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and the United States

Miss Smith attended the Westminister Choir School in Princeton, New Jersey, where she majored in voice and organ. During her two years there she participated in performances at Carnegie Hall in New York with Toscanini, Stokowski, and Barbornalli. She received her bachelor degree from Wheaton College in Illinois where she received training for the phase of student work in which she is now engaged. This past year she completed her work for her M. music degree at Temple University in Philadelphia.

Miss Smith will aid in teaching the first few lessons as soon as a Bible study group is organized on this campus. After the group is well established, however, students will be in charge of the meetings.

Education Week Program Revealed

Plans for Education Week, November 9-11, were announced in chapel this morning by Jane Waring Ruffin, when she spoke to the student body on the purposes and aims of an Education Week observance.

C. M. Bussinger, principal of the Farmville High school, will open the program next Tuesday, November 7, in chapel when he discusses Federal aid to education.

On Wednesday, Edgar Johnson, of the S. T. C. education department, will present a movie, "Experimental Studies in Social Climates of Groups." The picture shows the varying results from different types of control in the clubs.

Francis Chase, executive secretary of the Virginia Education Association and editor of the official organ of that organization, the VEA Journal, will speak in chapel on Thursday, November 9.

On Friday Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the S. T. C. education department, will speak on educational leadership. The week's program will be concluded on Saturday with a presentation by the college choir.

18 Members Added To Rotunda Staff

Eighteen new members have been added to the Rotunda staff, Jane Waring Ruffin, editor-in-chief, announced this week. Eight received appointments to the editorial staff and ten have been added to the business staff.

Betty Christian, freshman from Newport News; Mary Harrison, sophomore from Thomasville, N. C.; Shirley Slaughter, sophomore from Lynchburg; and Ting Rattaray, freshman from Long Island, N. Y., have been added to the news staff. Additions on the feature staff include Helene Griffin, freshman from Roanoke; and Carmen Low, sophomore from Hopewell.

New girls working on the advertizing staff are Susan Fansler, freshman from Winchester; Ruth Rowe, sophomore from Rural Retreat; and Kathryn Stubberfield, freshman from Cash. Assisting on the circulation staff will be Hilda Abernathy, freshman from Cochran; Frances Bell, junior from Petersburg; Jean Elmore, sophomore from Carson; Lois Lloyd Sheppard, junior from Stuart; Frances Treakle, freshman from Farmville; and Connie Young, sophomore from Covington.

Charlotte Grizzard, freshman from Drewryville and Margaret Wilson, sophomore from Washington, D. C., have been added to the proofreading staff, and Carolyn Hayslett, senior from Clifton Forge, has been added to the typing staff.

These appointments have been made to the staff as a result of five weeks' apprenticeship, during which time the girls were given experience in the phase of paper work in which they were interested.

Choral Club To Give Concert November 5

First in a series of sacred concerts will be presented at the Farmville Baptist Church Sunday evening, November 5 at 7:30 o'clock.

At this time the choral club will sing two great hymns of the church, "How Firm a Foundation" and Blest Be the Tie" preceded by annotations by Doctor James Elliott Walmsley. The Intermediate A'Capella choir will sing "The Crusaders Hymn", and Joy Keenan will render the solo "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" by Ambrose.

Alfred H. Strick, head of the

Continued on Page 4

Operatic Soprano To Present Group Of National Songs

Artist Sponsored Here November 8

Joan Ruth, famous operatic soprano, will appear on the S. T. C. campus Wednesday night, November 8, at 8:30 p. m. in large auditorium sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu, social science fraternity, and assisted by the College Choir and Choral Club.

A program of national songs in costumes of the countries will be presented. Some of Miss Ruth's numbers will be English; some Chinese; some French; some Spanish; and others will be Kentucky mountain folk songs.

Joan Ruth began her musical career in Boston where she was born and received her early training. After completing her studies, she joined the Wagnerian Opera Company and made her operatic debut in the "Marriage of Figero" presented in Washington.

In addition to her varied concert and operatic work, Miss Ruth has studied drama and is an accomplished actress.

Miss Ruth put her combined talents as actress and singer to work later in light opera, taking the leading roles in productions of "The Desert Song", the "Student Prince" and "My Maryland". She has had leading roles in operatic productions of Carmen and Faust. For the Metropolitan she has sung the role of Frasquito in Carmen.

As an example of her versatility and facility in changing moods, Miss Ruth sometimes follows her Chinese group of songs with a series of Kentucky mountain folk songs.

President Announces One Day for Holiday

As printed in the college catalogue, Thanksgiving Day will be the only holiday at that time, Dr. J. L. Jarman announced

"There will be no more holiday," Dr. Jarman told the press, "because there is still difficulty about transportation, because there is still infantile paralysis in

Continued on Page 3

Manhattan Merry - Go - Round Supplies Theme For Circus

Helen Wilson, president of the AA and general chairman of the circus.

Parade Begins Events at 3:30

Alpha Kappa Gamma raises the "Big Top" over the annual circus in the S. T. C. gym this Saturday night, November 4, at 8 o'clock. This year's program is planned around a Manhattan Merry-go-round of fun, and identity of the queen and her court, and of the ringmaster will not be revealed until Saturday night.

Opening event of the circus will be the parade Saturday afternoon, in which each class will sponsor a float with a still life scene from their stunt. Plans are well under way for the animals and clowns for the parade through town and for the main event in the gym Saturday night.

The circus queen has been selected from candidates in the senior class and in her court will be a member of each of the other classes. The ringmaster, the master of ceremonies, will preside over the events Saturday night beginning with the presentation of the class stunts. Following the usual procedure, the identity of the queen will be revealed after an animal show directed by Eleanor Bisese, after which the class stunts will be presented.

The freshman class stunt, led by Mary Helmer, will picture several countries in 1960. Under the direction of Patsy McClear, the sophomores will present a gypsy musical, and the juniors, led by Jane Philhower, will dramatize a Harlem political rally in a night club. Directed by Mary Parrish Viccello, the senior class will present a review of the circus through the ages from the time of the Romans to Barnum.

Admission to the circus will be one war stamp of any denomination. War stamps will be sold this week a t the table in the hall.

Space in the gymnasium has been reserved for booths sponsored by classes and various organizations in the school.

Cotillion Reveals Dance Chaperons

In the receiving line for the fall Cotillion dance, scheduled for November 11, will be Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Dr. J. L. Jarman, and Dean Martha Smith-Smith, according to an announcement made this week by Marilyn Johnson, president of the Cotillion Club.

Those who have been asked to serve as chaperons are Miss Pauline Camper, Miss Alpha Lee Garnett, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Graham, Mr. S. M. Holton, Mrs. G. W. Jeffers, Mrs. Hallie Laing, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, Mrs. Mabel Jones McCoy, Mrs. Catherine Tabb, and Mrs. Eva Heterick Warren.

Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Gammon and Lieutenant and Mrs. G. F. Howe, all from Hampden-Sydney, will be invited guests at the dance.

Jackie Parden and Ann Martin have recently been appointed chairmen of the social committee of the Cotillion Club. Mr. M. B. Coyner is the faculty adviser.

Officers of the club are president, Marilyn Johnson; leader, Betsy Caldwell; treasurer, Margaret Pogue Massey; and business manager, Catherine Trower.

Students To Attend B. S. U. Convention At Calvary Church

Approximately thirty-five S. T. C. students will attend the annual Baptist Student Union Convention in Roanoke November 3 to 5, Miss Frances Copenhaver, local Baptist Student Secretary, revealed to the press this week.

Girls attending the convention from there will present a demonstration on B. S. U. techniques on the Saturday morning program

Reviewing Margaret Lee Runbeck's book "The Great Answer" on Saturday night will be Louise Putney and leading the Sunday school worship meditation Sunday morning will be Frances Copenhaver. Virginia Treakle, acting

Continued on Page 4

Contest For Poetry Colonnade Feature

This week marks the beginning of the annual poetry contest sponsored by the Colonnade.

Poems entered must be original, but may be on any subject. There are no specifications regarding length, style or verse form and students may enter as many poems as she wishes

Prizes are 1st, $5; 2nd, $3; and 3rd, $2.

All contributions should be dropped in the Colonnade box on the bulletin board. This contest closes December 16.

Winning entries will be published in the Colonnade.

Sound Effects Present Problem In Production of 'Cry Havoc'

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

If there comes a time when there are no longer enough chairs backstage for the chapel choir to sit in, the "proper authorities" can go to Carolyn Hayslett for an explanation. It seems that the hardest part of putting on the fall play, "Cry Havoc", is acquiring sufficient and effective sound effects. The chairs are involved when they get thrown about to represent bomb explosions, and their lives are to be feared for unless sufficient substitutes can be procured in short order!

It's one thing to drop chairs . . . it's another to see Grace Lloyd lying upon her back on the floor, kicking with great gusto upon the sides of the sturdy backstage walls. If there can be no substitute found for that, results may soon be realistic indeed. No walls can stand up but so long under pressure of that kind! The cavein that seems so inevitable at this point needs only to be held off till the night of November 17th, and audiences will thrill even more than usual about the wonders Miss Wheeler performs with staging and settings.

Lillian Elliot will no doubt have some extra good lighting and blacking out effects too, if the squad crew leaves her anything of the switch box. After all, with hammers and wrenches crashing down upon the metal of the structure, and with wires that criss-cross "just so", so apt to slip out of place, there may even be short circuits to the extent of real firey blasts upon the opening night.

No, don't take things as seriously as we have portrayed them here. That is, the effects that have to be produced do present a somewhat serious problem, yes, but there have been no destructive after effects as yet, nor are there any expected in the future. The ways and means of producing noise which we have mentioned above are actually a few of the ingenious methods so far used by the prop committee, but they really don't prove anything out of the ordinary for a bunch of S. T. C. students, and there will be more and better ways comes

Continued on Page 4

White House Library Copied In Part In Browsing Room

By CARMEN LOW

Let's go to the Browsing Room and see the latest exhibit! What is it? Why, it is our own miniature White House library—a collection of books found in our library that are the same as part of the books in the library at the "first home" of our nation.

Now we guess you are wondering what this White House library is. If you have ever had the privilege to visit the White House (and, indeed, it would be a privilege) you would probably be taken to a room on the lower floor. There you would find a splendid collection of books. Books on the histories of great nations, books containing the lives of famous men, books on travel and adventure, books waiting to tell you of music and art, books of poetry, books of fiction and mystery, books to delight the fancy of small children, books that we all enjoy and should want to own.

It might surprise you to learn that this collection of books is very young. The surprise might even be greater when we tell you that our "first home" never had a permanent collection of books until April, 1930, when, the American Book Sellers Association presented 500 books that they had carefully chosen to the White House. This presentation occurred during Mr. Hoover's administration, who was quite appreciative and enthusiastic over the idea. It was not until May, 1937 that a second edition consisting of 200 books was presented in December, 1937, giving the White House a marvelous collection of 900 books.

Our library has collected its books from this collection and for our own convenience has put them on display in the Browsing Room. They may be charged out.

So let's go to the Browsing Room and make a point of reading those books from the "miniature White House library" that we have not previously read.

Check Those Campus Habits!

Every now and then it seems necessary to pause for a few minutes and check up on our campus and dormitory habits, which the Campus League Chairman reports are at present in need of much correction.

Those girls living in Main Building have not yet learned that the railing on Second Floor Rotunda is not a grandstand from which to view the goings-on below, she said in her report, and we think it's about time they are learning it. It's a Campus League offense to hang over the rail, an offense, the penalty of which is one call down. And to make matters worse, it seems that the girls persist in augmenting the offense and making themselves conspicuous by wearing shorts and housecoats.

They seem to forget, too, when they come down to take phone calls with pajama legs falling from under a trench coat, that the Rotunda is the place where outsiders enter the school. The call will be held or can wait long enough for you to get properly dressed, and the next time you get called down to the phone and come to take it in a trench coat, your next call down won't be to the phone.

Then the same old question about the Post Office door arises again. It's been said over and over again, and there are signs which clearly indicate the route to the mail boxes. The crowd that forms each time the mail is put up would not turn into a traffic jam if everyone would obey the first of traffic laws and keep to the right. It's the movement in the wrong direction that makes the unnecessary pushing, that slows down and sometimes completely stops the surge of girls.

Another offense reported by the Campus League chairman is that of keeping food in the dormitory windows. No one wants to keep you from having food in your rooms to ward off starvation, but it gives passers a sight closely resembling the back side of a tenement house when jars and bottles and boxes are crowded on the window sill. The same goes for hanging clothes in the window.

And we can't fail to mention the trash on the campus. With all the autumn leaves falling, there is sufficient color on the campus without paper and trash being added.

Now, let's do something about these habits before the Campus League has to take more drastic steps.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen ..... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lella Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spry, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Geison, Frances Terrell, Lois Lloyd Shepard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Haysiett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1944

Re - - - Mid-term Estimates

This quarter the administration and faculty are introducing a system of mid-term averages for all students to replace the outmoded note system of the past years.

The program as planned will give to each student an opportunity to see where she stands in all her classes. They will not be permanent grades to be recorded against a student's record, but estimates to help the student. The system has been tried in other schools and it is reported that the number of final failures is half the number of mid-term estimated failures. It gives the student an opportunity to know where to put that extra effort.

Under the old bi-weekly note system, only those students who were failing or on the verge thereof, were notified and the new plan is designed to help the large middle group of students to raise their scholastic standing. The estimates will be available to freshmen and sophomores through their faculty orientation advisers, and to upperclassmen through the head of the department of their major.

The mid-term estimates are not designed to be a secondary examination period, but merely as an aid to the students and to the faculty.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1944

Our great naval triumph in the Philippines is said to be one of the most decisive victories in naval history. Fifty-eight Japanese warships were damaged or sunk, and only six American vessels were destroyed. No event could have been more timely in celebration of the 169th anniversary of the United States Navy.

* * * *

MacArthur's headquarters in the Philippines report that the Leyte-Samar battles were almost over. We control about two-thirds of Leyte, and the small Japanese garrisons on nearby Samar "are helpless and can be destroyed at will." When we have gained full control of these islands we will have liberated over a million and a half Filipinos.

* * * *

In Holland, American and British forces are trying to prevent the escape of 40,000 Germans in full retreat. Americans, however, have lost the town of Meijel. On the Rhineland flank, Cologne is being hammered from the air as our troops advance. Polish troops have taken Breda.

* * * *

Also Polish troops of the eighth army have taken Predappio in northern Italy. Our own fifth army has withdrawn from positions on Mount Mezzano. The fighting in this sector cannot be judged too harshly as any advancement is being held up by the mud and rain.

* * *

I refer you to other sources for the other happenings of the week. Stalin refused to participate in the aviation conference in Chicago. The underground in France arose in defiance when ordered to disarm. General Stilwell has been withdrawn from command of the China-Burma-India area. There's an election coming up soon. Keep up with the news girls. What do you think, or do you?

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

A few weeks ago this column made a notable error. We stated that Queekie Trower's heart had been "gladdened" by a visit from a promising young dentist. It was a gross understatement. This week-end's business cannot be compared with that. A Psi Omega pin now causes all respectable teeth to drop out.

Julie Hunt has established a new custom under the sun! It was she who gave the ring to Belford. Oh, me! The male animal is so dense, especially in this leaping year. Usual sight on campus: Charlie Barger here to see Bea Jones . . . And Gin Lee Abernathy created a small flurry by having two dates at once on Saturday night.

Ann Carter's tears are for the fair young sailor who departed district with the V-12 unit . . . Esther Shevick's heart was young and gay last week with the two handsome young Pickett lieutenants. Nix girls, they're frends of long standing.

Jean Progise's dating bureau was continued this week-end In fact it was so crowded that hereafter, she asks that all applicants put in orders ahead of time.

It was good to see: Jerry Titmus, B. Bridgeforth and Judy Eason. . . . And in that two men at one time situation is Louise Rives . . . . The H. P. Club was formally entertained with a Whitman's Sampler the other eve.

Ann Houser's date is a permanent fixture here . . . Two Marines splurged with five rolls of film at Longwood on Sunday. Longwood brings up a point: Lucy Brailey had better minded those longer golf shots. Perfectly good men may get hit . . . Ditto Spotswood Hunnicutt . . . and as scarce as they are, too . . . Men, we mean . . . To be treating them like that . . . . Even the freshmen are getting bad habits. Mary Agnes Miller was soon maltreating the male animal with golf balls.

Gin T. Pullen has an affinity for bus drivers . . . We knew perfectly well that that tall, dark and terrific was not Frances Flynn's brother . . . . The very idea . . . The wolf was on campus again this week-end.

Marian White went where they were looking and, well—she hit the pavement fast and furious—We certainly did admire that large handkerchief of Dr. Simkins.

Why couldn't Blaine and Kitty get together in those pictures?—Ahem—And again, ahem—Higgins doles out dill pickles after dinner in the Rotunda most any evening—Now we don't get this next but Higgins says his name is Roland which is beside the point and everything else . . . Oh, me! Women!

Old flames that looked good back on our campus this week-end were Ensign Jack Dugger, Neal Oliver, Edward Slate, Bobby Powell Tynes. It looked as if Navy day was celebrated at S. T.

Continued on Page 3

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

Miss Mary Dupuy gave an excellent talk to the Union Sunday School class which was held at the Methodist Church last Sunday. The union class meets every fifth Sunday.

The first of a series of waffle suppers at the Episcopal parish house was held last Sunday. All of the Episcopal girls in turn are invited to these suppers.

Last Sunday at the B. T. U. meeting Dean Smith spoke to the girls on the subject, "Spiritual Reserves for the College Voyage."

The record has been broken again! Last week 2603 surgical dressings were made. This brings the total for October up to 8254.

Six delegates from S. T. C. attended the State Westminister Fellowship Conference in Staunton this past week-end. All Presbyterian students are invited to a weinie roast at the home of Mrs. Horace Adams Sunday night.

"Talking with God" is the theme for prayers this week. Tonight there will be a special program. For Thursday and Friday the topics are "How Can We Learn to Talk with God?" and "We Need to Talk with God."

The biggest dollar you ever gave!

War Prisoners' Aid is among the many services your dollars support when you give to your Community War Fund.

We can't let them down now! Give to

YOUR COMMUNITY WAR FUND

Representing the NATIONAL WAR FUND

Question of the Week

When do you think the war will end and why do you think it will end then?

Annie Gay Wood: What I wouldn't give to know!

Jane Anderson: It's beyond me, but I hope it's soon.

Margaret Wilson: The ouija board said six months. Let's hope it's on the beam this time.

Margaret Shanks: I hesitate to articulate for fear I may prevaricate.

Dorothy Humbert: I think this war will end when the people get tired of fighting. Our civilization seems to never learn about the brotherhood of man.

Kitty Kearsley: Soon! Bob says so!

Virginia Tindall: As soon as Earl gets to Japan—with those muscles he can knock all the Japs where they belong.

Georgia Knight: Very soon, I hope. I want to see Charles.

Alice Lee Davis: Soon. It's just gotta!

Republican: When Dewey comes into office.

Shirley Easterly: Not as soon as some people think. Just ask Miss Moran.

Kitty Wright: When Hitler says his "heils" to the devil, accompanied by the entire Japanese empire.

...Betty Edwards: When Doug gets to the Philippines.

Ting Rattaray: March 1945. Just a hunch.

Miss Dabney: I just wouldn't know. And I do wish I could tell you.

Ann Kingdon: January first.

Watt goes over soon.

Virginia Radogna: Don't ask foolish questions.

Dean Smith: I'm not in a position to answer.

Mary William Calvert: Not soon enough.

Margaret Pattie: Next spring. I have great respect for the German resourcefulness.

Lucy Messick: In '45. Because it's lasted long enough and I believe our boys can do it.

Minnie Rose Hawthorne: I don't think it's ever going to end!

Nell Scott: In 1946. Ed says so!

Boots Bralley: You asking ME?

Margaret Droste: Good gracious I don't know, but I hope it's soon.

Elizabeth Ann Jones: I never answer that question. I have no idea and don't know enough to have a basis for an opinion.

Olive Bradshaw: It can't be soon enough.

Marilyn Johnson: In three months. Because my brother has got to come home for Christmas. Three successive Christmases are too long to be away.

Hampden-Sydney Sailor: About three years, 'cause we're going to have to kill them all.

Carol Jenkins: This summer because we're doing so good now.

Rosa Chandler: In time for us to get to go home for Thanksgiving.

Dormitory Pin-Ups Indicate Girls' Interest In Future

"Have you sent off for yours yet?" That is the question of the day and everyone swoons over "Back Home for Keeps" pictures, which adorne nearly every room at S. T. C.

Frankie, you are slipping as master of swoon. Instead of listening, entranced for hours to your golden voice, S. T. C.'ers now gaze rapturously at some tall marine kissing a beautiful red-headed girl or a soldier contentedly holding his little baby he probably has never seen before.

Despite the fact that most of the girls have on little gold bands in the pictures, we all can imagine ourselves in their places, encircled by the arms of a handsome, brawny, battle weary service man. Naturally the girl whose sweetheart is an army man, thinks that the way the soldier cradles his girls' face in his big, brown hand and kisses her tenderly is far superior to the way the marine sweeps his little wife off her feet so cave-mannishly (to coin a phrase!?)

Debates on this subject might last far into the night!

The first picture to really make a hit depicted a fireside scene. These advertisements rapidly gained in popularity, although few people remember what product is being advertised. All of you unfortunates who don't possess these inspirational masterpieces should send off to somebody somewhere sometime and join the ranks of waiting girls who see in the "Back Home for Keeps" pictures a scene that they hope to soon duplicate.

Maybe these pictures have a real inspiration to them. - - - Perhaps they are daily reminders to do everything that is asked of us, and more, in the nationwide war effort. It will be worth all of our efforts and sacrifices to make this picture a reality. As overheard in the hall "Boy, when my man gets home, we'll put those "Back Home for Keeps" pictures to shame!"

Watts Wins Fall Tennis Tourney; Gains 5 Points Toward Color Cup

Another Contest Planned Later

Red and White gained five points for the color cup last Wednesday afternoon when Phyllis Watts, junior, defeated Mary Harrison, sophomore, in the final tournament for the fall season.

Players who participated in the matches for the fall season are: freshmen: Jane and Betty Burchett, Betty Minton; sophomores: Jane Babb, Dot Owen; juniors: Frances Lee, Phyllis Watts, and Lucy Bralley; seniors: Ophelia Whittle, Helen Wilson, and Mary Walker Watts.

Another tournament will be played in the spring for color cup points. It is an annual event each fall and spring for a tennis tournament to be held on the S. T. C. tennis courts.

PHYLLIS WATTS

Jobs To Decrease After End Of War

Twenty-five to thirty per cent of the persons who were employed in Texas, even in the pre-war years, will find themselves without jobs as an aftermath of the war, Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business Research said recently.

"The size of the reconversion and re-employment resulting from the transition from war-time to peace-time economy is indicated by the fact that as many as four hundred fifty thousand Texas men in armed services and one hundred fifty thousand in war industries may be added to the employment pool when the war ends," Dr. Cox explained.

The effect of surplus manpower on the University community after the war is not yet known, but it is expected that there will be much greater demand for the jobs at the University Employment Service's office, and as result wages will fall again to the pre-war level.—ACP.

University Offers Degree In Nursing

An expanded program of industrial nursing education through which graduate nurses may get the requirements of the Bachelor of Science degree is offered this fall by the School of Education, New York University.

The four-year program, believed to be the first of its kind in the country, has been planned to permit nurses to arrange their courses in the sequence which best meets their individual professional needs.

Among the requirements for the B. S. degree in industrial nursing is a group of special couses especially planned for the program. Field study will supplement classroom work. The required course in observation and practice in public health nursing, for example will include two months in a voluntary agency. For the course on observation and practice in industrial nursing the student will spend one month in an industry providing full-time medical service and one month in an industry.—ACP.

Hockey Practices Prepare Class Teams For Annual Clash

Hockey practices have been held four times a week, since school started, and the time for the tournament is drawing close. Eight practices are required for each girl before she can try out for the team, and those practices must be on the day tryouts are held.

Ten points will be gained for the color cup for whichever class color gains these points by winning the hockey games. Last year a round robin was held, in which every class team played every other class. The class which wins the most games is champion of the tournament.

The day of the hockey games is also the day of color rush. Runners have already started their practices. The girls who run are picked from each class, by being timed, and those who run the fastest are selected to run for their class colors. This event also gains points for the color cup, and the colors getting the most banners up and winning the most races wins these points.

Bedcheck

Continued from Page 2

C, even though the local V-12 were gone.

Mr. French says that he positively does not say "Hey!" to every girl he sees—This column always aims at implicit truth so with this last statement we close our facts this week.

One Day Holiday

Continued from Page 1

the state, because more holiday would mean a serious interruption in the students' work, and because some parents cannot afford to have the students come home so late in November and then again at Christmas."

Thanksgiving in Virginia will come this year on November 30.

ROOMS
For Reservations call
MRS. M. P. TYNES
Phone 105—602 Oak Street
or
MRS. A. H. IRBY
Phone 189—703 Oak Street

Left Lead

Guest Writer—BETTY ELLIS

There comes a time in everyone's life, when they run out of information, so this week I find myself writing Left Lead while Betty Cock runs around in a maze with On the Ball. It seems that no other synonym has ever been discovered for horse, and after searching through piles of dictionaries, encyclopedias and horse show manuals, stallion, gelding, mare, pony, colt and quadruped were all yours truly could discover. These are just helpful hints for the columnist when she returns to her home territory.

RUNAWAY

Sunday afternoon proved eventful for our Longwood bound equestriennes. Joyce and B. Cock proved that two men (or should I say women) on a horse could be successful. Out they started gally on Gypsy, riding double, and bareback to boot. They found our usually lackadaisical Gypsy in a beautiful mood, and walk she would not. How to reduce in ten easy lessons seemed to be the theme of the day.

We found our younger generation Sarah Graham and Martha "Sudy" Smith having a most exciting time also. "Sudy" on Gypsy bareback, and Sarah on the pony started back to the stables, and half way back decided to change. First Gypsy ran away, and then the pony joined her. Back to the stables again started two bewildered young ladies this time on foot. But to their rescue as they neared town came some town people, and once more mounted they started on their weary way this time returning safely to their destination.

KNIGHT OF STC

Cold weather and high winds could not dampen the spirits of the entries in the tournament last Friday afternoon. It was a gala occasion, he officials riding back and forth with the plumes on their hats tossed by the wind, while the spectators huddled together in blankets It proved colorful and exciting, as each rider would gallop through the racks holding his lance just so to catch the three rings

The Dusty Boots and Margaret Lohr represented STC by riding out to spectate. There was a profusion of offers to let them enter but since none of the girls had ever had the experience this just proved to be a joke. Our stables were represented by Callie, when she took eighth place entered by Mr. Harris of Farmville. The Coronation Ball that night in the school gym topped off the festivities of the day

MISCELLANEOUS

To those of you who remember Midnight, and heard of his sad occurrence in last week's paper will be glad to know that his eyesight has returned. An overdose of the wrong kind of medicine blinded him for a few weeks.

A visit to Mr. Padgett's farm found Skyrocket fat as a pig and still the same, while Clairepot seems to be wasting away to a mere shadow of herself. Those of you who did not know these two horses really missed an eventful happening in your life. Skyrocket has a wild gay spirit that inspires

Continued on Page 4

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Guest Writer—BETTY COCK

There comes a time in everyone's life when monotony gets the best of better judgment, and I find myself with no other way to call a horse a horse. So with Betty Ellis getting the better of this bargain, we columnists swapped columns for an issue, and I find myself lost without my horses, about which I know a little, and bewilderingly facing about fifteen inches of sports news, about which I know nothing!

GOLF GAIETIES

There's a lot that makes us wonder why a group of intelligent people will walk several miles over a hilly golf course just to chase a minute white ball from one intended cup to another, but golf has become one of the more favored sports of the year. Perhaps it's the ride out to Longwood with Mr. Graham; perhaps it's the atmosphere and the getting-away-from-school feeling that makes it so popular. At any rate, the golf course usually stays dotted with people in all stages of learning, from the eager freshmen so willing to learn, to the assured looking faculty members who people the course on Sunday afternoon. Judging from appearances, it must be a great game, and one worthy of recognition on our campus.

TENNIS TOURNEY

Tennis tournament is now a thing of the past. Phyllis Watts gained five Red and White points for the Color Cup when she defeated Mary Harrison, sophomore, in the final pay-off of the fall season.

Players who participated in the matches during the fall are: freshmen, Betty and Jane Burchett and Betty Minton; sophomore; Jean Babb and Dot Owen; juniors, Frances Lee, Lucy Bralley, and Phyllis Watts; seniors: Ophelia Whittle, Helen Wilson, and Mary Walker Watts.

The second annual tennis tournament will be held traditionally in the spring of the year, with more color cup points at stake for inspiration.

CHANGE OF SEASON

As one season goes out, another comes in. When we were younger, jumping-ropes were tired of and hop-scotch became the thing. Thus as we mature, we veer from tennis to basketball, and note with interest that freshman basketball practices have started. Come on out, you new Red 'n' Whites, and try your hand at shooting a few goals toward that Color Cup. You need eight practices to be a member of your class team, and the sub-varsity and varsity teams are picked from these class-embryo players. If you could hear Miss Iler's accounts of the varsity team trips to other schools (pre-war, naturally) maybe there'd be even more inspiration for S. T. C. teams of the future.

TEACHING TEACHERS

Speaking of bewilderment, drop around sometimes to that Phys. Ed. 226 class, when two or three teams are running around one end of the A. A field trying to remember how to play field ball. Or when one of the "teachers" is trying to remember the penalty that fits a certain foul. It's confusing, but amazing, and at least it's educational.

HOCKEY HEYDEY

Here we have explicit instructions to mention hockey. Here again, we have the school spirit angle . . . Color cup, "fight-team-fight", etc. . . . and the usual line of "Come on out . . . get your practices in . . . and show your school spirit!"

SWIMMING SCORE

Not only (reverting to tennis) are the courts open for use at any time except in damp weather, but in the swimming line we find the pool open for recreational swimming every Friday and Saturday night until further notice. If the cap-scarcity has been keeping you out of the fun, you'll be glad to know that swim-caps of the war variety may be purchased at the pool. If it's the fact that the "dips" have been a bit too chilly for comfort, rejoice in the knowledge that the pool is at last heated, and ready for action. But at any rate, come on down for some fun and frolic, and play waterbabies for awhile the next Saturday night that you don't leave school for the week-end.

ROBIN HOODS TO BE

What we consider one of the best photographs in any annual is always the shot of the trim gals with a long-bow, and arrow poised and ready to let fly at some invisible object. The actual picture is just as impressive. The row of girls lined upon the A. A. fields . . . the bows taut and fearsome . . . the arrows delicately, precariously in position . . . the twang in the air as they head for their

Continued on Page 4

PEOPLES
NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance
Corporation

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

OVER NITE CASES
Size 14 in.
COLORS: Black—Tan —Red
$9.95
tax included
Shoe Department—First Floor
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Qualtiy

Chas. E. Burg
Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
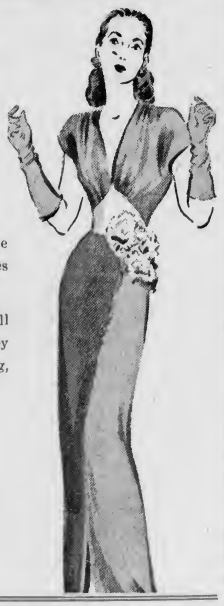
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance
Corporation

Planters Bank &
Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Green Front Food
Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Friuts and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139



PHONE 360
Vanity Beauty Shop
142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

JUST RECEIVED—UNRATION
SHOES - LOAFERS - SANDALS

HOLLYWOOD TIES
Sizes 4 to 9
$3.98
They're smart and attractive
A New Shipment of Anklets Received
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Evening
Dresses

You should see the new evening dresses received this week!
Yes, we have all colors and sizes. They are very flattering, too!
$16.95
—TO—
$22.50
Dorothy May Store
"Farmville's Only Exclusive Woman's Store"

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANN BUCK

Since life begins where classes end the V. M. I. - University of Virginia game and other functions in Lynchburg drew Anne Blair, Carol Diggs, Pogie Massey, Colleen Agee, Louise Blane, Betty Tom Andrews, Nancy Ingle, Kitty Maddox, Glenn Ann Patterson, Virginia Travis, Dotty Qvercash, Mary Calvert, Virginia Farrier, Mary Jo Tucker, Nancy Hughes, Elizabeth Harrell, Doris Hancock, Margaret Brace, and Grace Lloyd.

In Richmond were Virginia Fry Terrell, Judy Connelly at R. P. I., Betsy Carr, Helen McRee, Corinne Baker, Shirley Didlake, Berkley Richardson, Betty Lee, Evelyn Pierce, Francis Lee, Martha Higgins, Gene Crostie, Theresa Paubell, Lou Baker, Anne Dickerson, Marilyn Bell, and Betty Adams.

Activities in Roanoke drew Betty Jane Austin, Betty Mintor and Madelyn Ayers, while Kilmarnock attracted Virginia and Frances Treakle.

Visiting in Matthews, Virginia, were Mary White, Kathryn Patterson, Jackie Dunton, and Nancy Taylor.

In Danville were Virginia T. Pullen, Helen Hope Worsham.

Petersburg was swarmed by the presence of Martha Wells, Kitty Parham, Betty Harville, Betty Minetree, Francis Seward, and George Anne Lewis.

Visiting in Portsmouth were Cam Butt and Jackie Pardon in Burkeville, Carol Jenkins; in Staunton, Ann Carter in LaCrosse, Page Cook; in McKenney, Louise Rives; in Providence Forge, Marion Orange; in Norfolk, Betty Cock, in Hopewell, Carmen Low and Betty Wood; in Boydton, Elsie Thompson; in Blackstone, Martha Hite, at Jennings Ordinary, Margaret Ellett; at Hampden-Sydney, Poguey Massey and Ann Summers, in Lawrenceville, Mary Stewart Buford, in West Point, Sutton Bland; at Sunny Side, Helen Williams and Dot Owen, and at Avalon, Barbara Crother.

Mabel Weaver, Minnie Rose Hawthorne and Kitty Sue Bridgforth filled their week-end activities with Kenbridge fascinations, while Elizabeth and Lorraine Smith went to Nathalie.

Also many other S. T. C.'ers found exciting entertainment away from college this week-end.

Among the girls who visited our compus this week-end were Betty Bridgforth, Emma Broyles, Margaret Pattie, Jerry Titmus, Judy Eason Merger, Jean McIntyre, Mary Sue Palmer, and Virginia Hitcher.

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

whoever rides him, while Clairepport still young is high-spirlited and willful.

Jumping has become an outstanding feature in riding this year, and the horses are being trained for it day by day. But as the days go by weather soone to refuse to cooperate, and taking a jump on mucky ground just isn't a wise thing to do. Jumping has always been the most interesting feature of a horse show, and when a beginner starts her first jumping lesson it is the topic of conversation for days. The thrill of the first jump is always something that leaves you with your heart in your throat and weak knees.

Sunday afternoon trail rides have proved most entertaining, and since they are something new this year, it is nice to know that they are proving so popular. After a busy week, it is always good to get out in the open and away from things ,and riding horseback is a good way to do this. Many girls who have never ridden before, have a fear of horses, but when they do try their first ride it usually sells them on riding for good. Come on and try this sport, for you will always find it an interesting one, and learning to cooperate with your horse is fun.

With relief, I turn this column back to its rightful owner, and to you riders, I say, stay on the bit.

Pegasus

APS Will Initiate New Girls Tonight

Tonight at 7:45 Alpha Phi Sigma Honor Society will initiate 53 new members. Twenty of these are sophomores who were issued bids after having attained an average of B or above two consecutive quarters. The other thirty-three are freshmen who were either valedictorians or salutatorians in high school.

The freshmen will enter as novices, but the sophomores will enter as apprentices. One may attain the degree of apprentice by maintaining a B average for two consecutive quarters and the master's degree by maintaining an average of B plus for that length of time.

Patsy Dale is president of Alpha Phi Sigma, and Miss Mary E. Peck is the adviser.

On the Ball

Continued from Page 3

war . . . We still think it one of the most beautiful of sights that can be seen around our campus.

But it certainly doesn't come under the head of the more energetic sports . . and no more does badminton. The little court behind White House forms a pretty area for the lazy games the girls manage to play . . . barely flapping at the feathered "birdies" in an effortless effort to get them back and forth over the net. It's a lazy-gal's game the way we play it . . . but it's fun from any viewpoint.

And so with apologies we leave you. Next week you'll be safely back in the hands of your own sports editor, and when it comes to sports . . . we'll "'Git a hoss!" And till she returns, stay in the game!

Dean Smith Honored At Tea Last Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Strick entertained at tea in honor of Dean Martha Smith-Smith Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Guests other than the guest of honor included Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mrs. Leon Bell, Mrs. William Gills, Miss Grace Mix, Miss Mary Peck, Miss Blanche Kenny Smith, and Mrs. J. P. Wynne.

Miss Tupper Hostess At Tea October 26

Miss Katherine Tupper entertained the home economics majors at a tea in Student Lounge October 26 from 4 to 5:30 o'clock.

The receiving line was composed of Miss Tupper, Miss Bessie Jeter, Miss Ruth Gleaves, Miss Margaret Sprunt Hall, Elsie Thompson, Lorraine Raiford, and Anne Sufflebarger.

'Cry Havoc'

Continued from Page 1

the night of the play.

Noises aren't the only difficulty though. Where can they precure a baby who will cry from backstage at the absolute proper time? And where can they recruit several Jap voices to issue commands at one of the crucial points of the plot? And we need not think it an easy job to find a dozen or so helmets, and as many pairs of fatigues, and the other usual line of army paraphernalia and equipment that will be needed around the dug-out. Cots are to be had from Hampden-Sydney or Camp Pickett, but the rest of the staging will be left up to the apprentice group itself, and 'twill be no easy job.

All in all, "Cry Havoc" is no easy play to put on, and a great deal of credit goes to those who are working on it, both in acting and in the other stages of producing it. But when it comes to enacting bombing raids, and having people getting shot at, and characters going crazy, well . . . that's when we say flowers to all concerned, and we wish we could be more worthy of describing it to you.

Keep that date in mind . . . Friday night, November 17th, and come and see for yourself whether that bomb which made the light flicker sounds a mere chair being thrown around to you!

BSU Convention

Continued from Page 1

state president, will speak Friday night and will preside at two sessions.

Forums on Saturday will include "Dedicated Vocations" led by William Hall Preston, Southside student secretary; "Creative Leisure" led by W. L. Lumpkin, pastor Manly Memorial Baptist Church, Lexington; "Techniques of Christian Growth" led by Fred Laughon, pastor at Front Royal; "Introducing Others to Christ" led by Dr. J. W. Marshall, personnell director of Foreign Mission Board and "Missionary Opportunities in the Postwar World" led by Dr. M. T. Rankin, executive secretary-elect of the Foreign Mission Board.

Other speakers will include Dr. Perry Crouch, Ashville, N. C., who will speak on the theme "The World Christ Supreme in My World," Dr. J. P. Allen, Dr. R. S. Owen, and Miss Blanche White.

Outstanding features of the program are the Fellowship Hour Friday night as well as the Fellowship Luncheon Saturday at which time the theme will be "The Gay Nineties."

State officers are, president, Robert Blount, Apprentice School, serving in the Armed Forces; first vice-president and acting president, Virginia Treakle, Farmville S. T. C.; second vice-president, Ryland Dodson, Washington and Lee University; third vice-president, Ada Crabtree, Radford College; secretary, Lois Allen, Mary Washington College; reporter Lottie Blanton, Westhampton College and Margaret Shelbourne, V. P. I., promotion chairman.

Choral Club

Continued from Page 1

department of music, will direct the group and preside at the organ.

This concert will be followed by another which will be given in the Methodist Church in the near future.

Martin the Jeweler
Silver Identification Hair Clamps
$3.00 including three intials

PATTERSON'S
Patronize
HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON
DRUG
CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Official V . . . — Mail
Paper and Ink
on sale at
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Clasical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone
Store

Southside Drug Store
Any Size Kodak Film
Developed For
25c

Collins Florist
Flowers of Distinction
For All Occasions
Phone 181 or 4

For good food
Tall cold Pepsi-Cola
Phone 522
SHANNON'S

Try our
Hamburger Special
The College Shoppe

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Lynn's Jewelry
And Music Store
216 N. Main St.
Farmville Virginia

We Repair
ALL MAKES RADIOS
—&—
EECTRICAL
APPLIANCES
Southern Hardware
& Electric Co.
Main Street
Farmville Virginia

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty
and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PHONE
78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

Pretty Combination
HAIR BOWS &
Hair Flowers
29¢
• It's a becoming, youthful note for your wardrobe. Vivid color for that bright accent in your hair. Flowers and ribbon attached to comb.
J. J. NEWBERRY

AS FEATURED IN MADEMOISELLE
Smartest of the n ew, soft castuals . . . Raylaine Wool and Royan Tissue Flannel . . .
Sizes 9 to 15 and 10 to 20.
Priced $12.95 to $22.95
BALDWIN'S

DON'T MISS
TONIGHT' CONCERT

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS,
FROSH OFFICERS

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 8, 1944 | No. 7

Perry's Vagabonds Will Furnish Cotillion Music

Angelo Perry and his Vagabonds from Lynchburg will supply the music at the fall cotillion dance here Saturday night, Marilyn Johnson, president said in revealing last minute plans for the dance yesterday.

Color scheme for the dance decorations will be the cotillion colors, green and yellow, Ruth Brooks, in charge of decorationss revealed. New members of the Cotillion Club will do the decorating for the dance.

Assisting Ruth Brooks on the decorations committee are Dora Walker Jones and Pat Maddox. Gwen Ackiss, Joyce Cheatwood, Joan Davis, Ann Summers, Barbara Surface, and Mary Parrish Vicellio are serving with Catherine Trower on the floor committee. Ann Martin and Jackie Par-den are recently appointed chairmen of the social committee.

Marilyn Johnson, president of Cotillion Club.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B .Coyner, Dr. J. L. Jarman, and Dean Martha Smith-Smith will be in the receiv-

Continued on Page 3

Princeton Lecturer To Speak on Campus, At Local Church

The Rev. Charles R. Erdman, D. D., of Princeton, N. J., will speak in chapel November 14. Agnes Stokes, president of Westminster Fellowship, announced this week. He also will give a series of commentaries on the books of the New Testament at the Farmville Presbyterian Church, Sunday, November 12, through the 14. His schedule will be, November 12, 11:00 a. m.—"Joseph"; 7:30 p. m.—"Sampson"; November 13, 3:30 p. m.—"Cornelius"; 7:30 p. m.—"Paul at Athens"; November 14, 3:30 p. m.— "The Epistle to the Romans"; 7:30 p. m.—"The Epistle to the Philippians."

Dr. Erdman is a professor of practical theology at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Princeton. He is widely known as a lecturer and author. His popularly as a platform speaker is shown by the numerous invitations he has had to speak before noted audiences.

During the first World War,

Continued on Page 4

Town Girls Initiate 10 Local Students

Ten local girls were initiated into the Town Girls Club at a meeting held Monday afternoon.

Girls initiated were Betty Bondurant, Dorothy Boushman, Nota Brisentine, Audrey Lee Davis, Anne Graziani, Eloise Hanes, Clarice Jett, Rachel Kelsey, Molly Reid, and Frances Treakle.

Officers of the club are Rae Chick, president; Virginia Lee Price, vice-president; Coleen Agee, secretary; and Virginia Farrier, treasurer.

Tindall Selected Frosh Vice-Head

Kucera, Bagley Made Officers

Virginia Tindall from Hatton was elected vice-president of the freshman class last night, and Anna Kucera, Roanoke, and Mary Lou Bagley, Suffolk, were selected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Virginia was vice-president of her senior class in high school, editor of the school paper, and senior representative to the War Efforts Organization. During her senior year she won the McIntire Medal and the award for being the most outstanding girl in the county.

In high school, Anna was secretary of her senior class, editor of the annual, and winner of the DAR good citizenship medal. Mary Lou was secretary of her senior class, vice-president of her junior class, and president of the Hi-Y Club.

Week of Education Observed In Chapel By Varied Programs

National Education Week is being observed in chapel this week. Today, Professor Edgar Johnson, of the department of education here presented a movie entitled, "Experimental Studies in Social Climates of Groups", which showed the varying results from different types of control in the clubs.

Yesterday Mr. C. M. Bussinger, principal of the Farmville High School opened the week of programs when he discussed federal aid to education.

Tomorrow, Thursday, November 9, Francis Chase, executive secretary of the Virginia Education Association Journal will speak at the chapel and at the Farmville High school.

On Friday, Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the education department here will speak on educational leadership. On Saturday the week's program will be concluded with a presentation by the college choir under the direction of Professor Alfred H. Strick.

Series of Lectures On Modern Dance Begin November 8

Talks Presented By Kauzlarich

Beginning today, Wednesday, November 8, a series of lectures on modern dance and its components was begun today by Miss Emily Kauzlarich. These lectures are to be given each Wednesday in the audio-visual room at 3:50 and 4:50 p. m. in a series of six weeks. All girls taking Physical Edcation 242 are required to attend these lectures, but anyone interested in understanding modern dance and the dance of today may come.

Each year two lectures have been given. Last year parallel reading in all arts was begun. This year as a preface to guiding the students toward projected reading and developing an appreciation for dance as an art form these serles are planned.

The first lecture was concerning primarily the background of all dance. The ballet which is the background of dance today was discussed, showing its growth and development throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Famous dancers, ballets, ballet masters and trends of the various periods as related to the other arts was pointed out.

The second era of dance brought Isadora Duncan and Ruth St. Dennis. Duncan was the first to free dance today from the shackles of decadent ballet. St. Dennis worked with the mysticism of the East.

The Duncan and the Denis-Shawn eras both contributed to the natural dance of the early twenties. At this time Wigman of Germany brought over her group.

Continued on Page 4

Mrs. Carver to Talk At Student Center

Mrs. George Carver, returned missionary from China, will lead discussions on missions in China, telling of her experiences there, at the Baptist Student Center Tuesday through Friday of next week at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Carver was graduated from Averett and Westhampton Colleges and while in China served as a professor at the University of Shanghai.

All Baptist students and others interested are invited to attend this series of meeings.

Joan Ruth Presents Program Of Songs of Allied Nations In Costume Tonight At 8:30

Y to Sponsor Ward As Campus Speaker

Speaker Is Rector Of Norfolk Church

The Reverend John Ward, rector of the Church of the Ascension Episcopal Church, Norfolk, will speak at the Chapel exercises next Wednesday, November 15.

Coming to this campus as the special Y.W.C.A. speaker for the Fall quarter, he will also lead a discussion at the open association meeting of the "Y" Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Ward was graduated from the College of William and Mary and the Philadelphia Divinity School. He has taught at the Maury High School and at the Norfolk Preparatory School and was ordained Priest in 1938. He has also served as liaison Chaplain for the Army and Navy commission.

Having an interest in creative writing, Mr. Ward has written short stories and has had several plays produced.

Mr. Ward is being sponsored by the Public Affairs committee of the "Y" of which Shirley Cruser is chairman.

APS Honor Society Initiates New Girls As Active Members

Fifty-five new members were initiated into Alpha Phi Sigma, honorary society for scholarship on Wednesday night, November 1.

Alpha Phi Sigma recognizes three degrees of proficiency: novice, apprentice and master. The freshmen were initiated as novices, the requirements for which are that the girl must have been valedctorian or salutatorian in a high school. The sophomores were initiated as apprentices and masters, the requirements being a B average for apprentices and B plus for masters.

Those attaining the masters degree were Elizabeth Lee Carter

Continued on Page 3

Concert Given Under Auspices Of Pi Gamma Mu, Choral Club

JOAN RUTH

Former BET Head Speaks In Chapel

On Thursday, November 2, Mrs. John Wood, first president of Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor society, and daughter of the head of the physics department at V. P. I., was guest speaker at the Beorc Eh Thorn recognition service held in chapel.

Mrs. Wood is the former Miss Mary Robeson. In her talk, she told of the work she and the first Beorc Eh Thorn group did in order to really get the organization started. "It was we who worked to formulate the constitution and by-laws and to select the name for the organization, but it is you who must think and write if we are to keep off another war," Mrs. Wood stated.

Upon graduation from Farmville, Mrs. Wood married and went with her husband to Corregidor, where they lived for several years. She related some of her experiences there but because of threats of the war, she was forced to leave without her husband who has been a prisoner of Japan since May, 1941.

Following Mrs. Wood's address, the following girls were recognized as newly elected members of Beorc Eh Thorn, Lovice Altizer, Farmville; Lee Carter, Concord Depot; Margaret Ellett, Jennings Ordinary; Nancy Harrell, Emporia; Sue Hundley, Suffolk; Georgia Knight, Appalachia; Louise Rives, McKenney; Virginia Shackelford, Gloucester; and Margaret Wilson, Washington, D. C.

On Thursday night these girls were initiated and Mrs. Chamberlayne, a resident of Farmville, who spent the years from 1903 to 1914 in Germany, spoke to the group of some phases of her life there.

Bible Study Group To Meet on Tuesdays

Organizing a Bible Study Group on this campus, Miss Ethel Smith, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship Representatives, has announced that the study will be held each Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the student lounge.

All students are invited to attend this study group which will be led for several weeks by Miss Smith, after which students will be in charge.

National Anthems Selected by Singer

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock, Joan Ruth, soprano, will present her concert of songs of the Allied Nations in the large auditorium under the auspices of Pi Gamma Mu and the Choral Club.

Miss Ruth will open her program with a group of English songs, including "I've Been Roaming," "O, Willow, Willow", and "Come, Let's Be Merry".

After a change of costume, she will offer selections from the Chinese, concluding with the Chinese national anthem. Miss Ruth studied Chinese with Lydia Dan, Director of the United China Relief of Boston, who selected these numbers for the concert.

Again changing her costume to suit the nation she represents, Miss Ruth will sing a group of four French songs, "Ariette de la Belle Arsene", "Chanson", "Gavotte de Manson", and "Marseillaise", national anthem of the French.

The American numbers that Miss Ruth has chosen for this concert include three typical folk songs, and one war song, Lois Townsley's "Amberican's On the March".

The final part of her program will be made up of two selections, the Mexican "Estrellita" and "One Kiss" from the Operetta "New Moon."

Joan Ruth received her musical training in Boston, where she was born. After completing her studies she joined the Wagnerian Opera Company and made her operatic debut in "Marriage of Figaro". In addition to her musical work, Miss Ruth has studied

Continued on Page 4

Debate Club Plans To Be Represented At Dixie Tourney

"Resolved: That the federal government should erect legislation requiring compulsory arbitration of all labor disputes" will be the subject at the Dixie Debate Tournament to be held in Charlotte, N. C., this year.

Farmville is planning to have representatives at this convention, according to an announcement made to the press this week by Betty Adams, president of the Debate Club.

Eight new members have been added to the club. They are Anne Kucera, Barbara Crowther, Mary Lou Bagley, Betty Tipton Edwards, Ann Fulgham, Helen Moneyhon, Mary L. McCarthy, and Ruth Lawrence.

Choral Groups Give Chapel Hour Program

Concluding the Education Week services, the music department will present a program during the chapel hour Saturday morning.

The Madrigal singers will sing "Here in Cool Grot", and the Senior A'Cappella choir will render "God Save Our Men" with Esther Shevick as soloist. Anne Bair, president of the choir, will sing a solo, "A Heart That's Free."

The Rev. O. Worth May will lead the morning devotions and Alfred H. Strick, head of the music department, will be at the piano.

Sound Effects, Lighting, Costuming, Cast Combine to Give Reality to Play ,'Cry Havoc'

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

Rehearsals Are Real Play-Acting

A lamp is swinging down from the center top of the stage. A table and chairs are near the left front, set with dishes. Cots over to center right are littered with clothing and khaki kits. A group of weary girls browse about in semi-alert fatigue, and . . . the show goes on.

But wait! Are the lines we hear being shouted lines from "Cry Havoc"? Nope . . . the voice shouting, "Are the guns loud enough?" belongs to Carolyn Hayslett, and the answering, "NO!" from the audience . . . well, there's no mistaking Miss Wheeler's familiar bellow. These lines are the ones that come in second fiddle later, but are really a vital part of any play rehearsal, from beginning to the end, and there'd be no play without them.

It may be unusual and confusing to a stranger in the audience, but it's a familiar occurrence to members of the cast for a proprman to walk out on the stage in the middle of an act, or for some member of the lighting group to amble out, gazing upward and stumbling over chairs and cast alike, in order to see that the straws are all the way up. It's a simple thing for the cast to eat imaginary food and light the lamp with imaginary matches, and two chairs opposite each other make a good substitute for the cot that ought to be there. Whoever it was who named this set-up "play-acting" must have had rehearsal in mind, for the real acting comes faster with fewer props and more imagination than it does with all the minute details and routine sameness in the world.

If you were to attend a rehearsal of "Cry Havoc", you would be astounded at any number of things. It never ceases to mystify us as to how the girls can go over and over and over a particularly hard scene time and again for possibly half an hour, and still enter into it, same lines, same actions, without faltering. The same swing in the step and the same inflection in the voice . . . but better results every time it's practiced. And you would possibly wonder at how they can imagine those red and beat-up Jeephats to be their regulation army helmets, or the dry brown bread to be appetizing sandwiches. This all comes as part of the play. There's no symbolism here; the facts are facts; substitutes are real to them. Even the lack of uniforms until the costumes arrive has no effect, and one can feel that "Smitty" is an officer, even though the gold bars don't shine on her shoulders yet.

War Setting Is Life Like

Then there's that last week's matter of sound effects. We could do another whole feature on sound effects, but we won't. Suffice it to say that the recordings of the bomb explosions and the machine guns are only too realistic, and the ominous roar of guns in the distance, and the realistic trembling of that swinging lantern

Continued on Page 3

The Election

Though a definite report cannot yet be given because of the number of soldier votes still uncalculated, evidence points to the fact that the President has been reelected for a fourth term.

When Roosevelt was elected for the third time, it was an unprecedented event, and now its seems that he has broken even his record, and will head the government of our nation for another four years. But because he has already served for 12 years and now seems destined to embark on another term of four years means only that it is because the American people honestly believe he is the man to bring the war to an end. It does not mean that our elections have become farcicial, and those among us who were on other other side should remember, as Willkie did, "that he's your President, too."

If he were king, we would say ,"Long live the king", but because he is President, we say, "Good luck!"

Confusion of Times

Having adopted the "shove-it-up-an hour" schedule for the next six months, it is up to the student body to see that the minimum of confusion is caused by it. We have made the change for a practical reason, and we can make it as difficult or as simple as we like.

Complicated? No, it isn't really. With several exceptions, we simply carry on "business as usual" with all school activities scheduled for one hour later than previously. And it has been reported that somehow it works mysteriously to add up extra hours of sleep without cutting down on the waking hours. We don't know about that; but we do know there should be no real trouble in "catching on" to the system.

Let's eliminate all confusion connected with the change in time. There are already enough things to cause headaches without adding trouble with sun time, school time and war time!

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullien .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buek, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Leila Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelson, Frances Terrell, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

The Honor Code—

This week the freshmen and new girls will sign the Honor Code. And though upperclassmen who are "old girls" do not have to repeat the pledge each year, it is well to stop and ponder over the meaning of this, the basis of our entire honor system.

For many years our honor system here has been one to be proud of, one that has led the students through the years to strive for higher ideals of thought and behavior. It is a part of our school that we can not afford to glance quickly at and then pass by. Every organization, every activity, every class in school is in some way involved in the honor code, without which we might easily become just another school, without the spirit and the high ideals of Farmville.

So, freshmen, think carefully through that code before you will sign it. And, upperclassmen, don't forget for one minute that you pledged yourself to "govern your college life according to the standards of the Honor Code", and be on your toes to fulfill that pledge.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

As this column goes to press the results of the presidential campaign are not known. The fact that we cannot vote should not prevent our keeping up with the history-making politics in the present election. After all, it is we who will help determine the president of 1948.

* * *

On the other side of the world this week the fight is more serious than that in our own country. The Germans forced our troops to withdraw fro mthe German village, Schmidt. The Yanks have gained some ground in trying to retake the village, but in this sector as well as the whole line north and south of Aachen the fighting is grim. The Allies have reached the Dutch river, Mear, and it is believed the Nazis will withdraw to set up a stronger defense for Rotterdam and central Holland.

* * *

And so the Reds have reached Budapest —to find Hungarian troops "disarming by the thousands", to find Germany fighting her own allies. This city will be swept along with the rest in the Russian offensive.

* * * *

In Italy the weather is as clear as the mud that's holding up the whole front. We've strengthened our positions, the only accomplishments of the week.

* * * *

There has been no large scale fighting in the Philippines. The Yanks have advanced on Leyte but the climactic battle is yet to be. Contrary to last week's statement the fight for Leyte is not over. Though we have been hitting Japanese airfields in the central Philippines this is not enough atonement for the fact that we had to blow up our last air base in Kwangsi, China. There was our "principal advanced base" and we had no intentions of leaving it to the oncoming Japanese. Though the Chinese held the moff for a while, still they come, pushing, driving, and always advancing.

* * * *

It's better to leave you with a note of good news, however. Saving the best for last—the Germans have been completely driven from Greece. We cannot lose on every front, even as they can never win.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

Speaking of - - -

Diamonds: Jac Parden's is very lovely and we are all very happy for her . . . And everybody was deliriously happy at the circus evidently. Congrats are in order for Helen McGuire, Jac Parden, Margaret Lohr and Peepsie Brooks And of course to the Seniors goes a big round of applause. Ditto to the Sophs. Everybody did a fine job . . . But diamonds continue to flash up . . . And this time it is that of Lou Baker. She is now engaged to a young lieutenant . . . Speaking of lieutenants, Judy Connelly had a very lovely time with her's this week end. . . Nancy Dickerson's young man was here while we are mentioning week ends . . . Also Ann Mingea's.

Again the diamond flashes forth with its varying lights. R. Brooks got a lovely ring . . . And Frances Lee's ensign was flashing wee gold bars around campus.

D. Overcash continues to be pursued by her fond young lover . . . And Marilyn Bell has a new love. His name is Anonymous and he will sweep her off a box car at the end of the war. So speaketh Mr. Graham, who hears all, tells all, et cetera, et cetera . . .

Secret of the week: "Cry Havoc" will be presented on November 17 . . . One of last year's grads, Vivian Gwaltney, is now a Mrs. . . .

A new organization has sprung into being on our campus. They are known as the Chi Fives. Names willl be given upon request as will further information

Roland was back for the circus and both he and Little Higgins came in for a rousing cheer . . . "Bo" Wall's return was the cause of Mary Ann Loving's smiling face . . .

Once more the light shines in Nell Scot's eyes—once more letters from Ed are being received. Sueaking of letters, Naomi Piercy couldn't even concentrate in class after receiving a supply of mail from a certain little man overseas.

Speaking of men, Helen McGuire doesn't give anybody else a chance when a local boy returns home on furlough or leave.

Isabel Key's soldier friend certainly did pick an opportune time to come—the one night she was not on campus.

And what can be Barbara Crowther's attraction around Tappahannock??

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

The Rev. John F. Ward, rector of the Church of the Ascension of Norfolk, will speak at the "Y" Association and in chapel next Wednesday. Dr. Ward was graduated from William and Mary in 1930, attended the Philadelphia Divinity School, and later did graduate work at William and Mary. He taught at Maury High school and at the Norfolk Preparatory School. He was ordained in 1938, and has served as liaison chaplain for the Army and Navy commission. Dr. Ward has done some writing in the field of short play, and has had some of his plays produced.

Freshmen, be sure to vote for eleven members of the sophomore commission tomorrow.

The Presbyterian students of S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney had a picnic at the home of Mrs. Horace Adams on Sunday. The Hampden-Sydney boys were in charge of the program.

The B. S. U. conference was held last week-end in Roanoke. About thirty S. T. C. girls attended it.

Beatrice Bruch has announced that the following were elected recently as members of the Newman Club: Elizabeth Driscoll, vice-president; Helene Griffin, secretary ,and Frances Lively, treasurer. The Newman Club sold Longwood buns in the student lounge Sunday.

The "Y" committees meet tonight at 7 o'clock. Look on the poster in the hall for the meeting places.

Prayers for this week are as follows: tonight, "Jesus Meets Deepest Needs"; Thursday, "Jesus Judges Man", and for Friday, "Jesus Values Man."

The biggest dollar you ever gave!

The U.S.O. is among the many services you support when you give to your Community War Fund.

We can't let them down now! Give to

YOUR COMMUNITY WAR FUND

Representing the NATIONAL WAR FUND

To the Editor:

Dear Editor,

I just want to take this opportunity to say "thanks" to Alpha Kappa Gamma for the circus Saturday night. It is one of the institutions in the school which go a long way in keeping the school spirit alive. The friendly competition between the colors, Red and White and Green and White, is certainly conducive to good sportsmanship and it was displayed there by the losing classes.

Further, any of us who have worked on any big project realize the amount of work and organization that went into the making of a festival as large as the circus it, and it was just "good" to see how everyone pitched in and helped take down all the trimmings when it was all over. It was good to see the spirit and willingness to help and to work on something creative that was exhibited by the entire group who worked on the circus.

It was a great night, and the appreciation of the whole student body is due appreciation to Chairman Helen Wilson. And here's hoping that the annual AKG circus will be continued in the same spirit for many years to come.

A Senior

Dear Editor,

It is difficult to believe that such a demonstration as that which took place late Wednesday night in the dining room and in the Rotunda could have happened at Farmville. Naturally, we were all somewhat disappointed that there was to be no Thanksgiving holiday, however, there was no excuse for such a display of bad sportsmanship. Many of us recall that two years ago when we were asked to forfeit our holiday, it was done cheerfully and with little show of discontent. Perhaps that was because the war had just begun and we were all very conscious of the good fortune we were enjoying in comparison to the hardships of the men overseas. Could it be, then, now when the battle is at its height that we are forgetting how much they would enjoy even one day of rest? Would it not be better to accept the decision of those older and wiser than we, gracefully as true Farmville girls should? When Thanksgiving day rolls around this year let us see if we can make amends for that discourtesy to the school administration by a display of the real Farmville ideals of good sportsmanship and fair play.

Sincerely,

Pat Maddox,
Marilyn Bell, Mary W. Watts,
Mary Parrish Viccellio, Dora Walker Jones, Marilyn Johnson.

Reporter Delves Into History To Trace Story of "Student"

By BETTY BIBB

This is the saga of our gym, our lounge, our music room, our little auditorium, our cabinet rooms, in short, our Student Building. Did your realize that the students, faculty and administration contributed the greatest part to erection of this building, whose total cost was approximately $169,000?

The idea and need was born before World War I, but war drives diverted attention from the less important (at the time) college building. In 1922 efforts to raise money for a modest one story gymnasium revived. The "town people" gave generously, as did college participants, so in late 1922 Dr. Jarman laid aside the first shoveful of earth. At that time there was a frame house that Dr. Jarman had occupied at the front of the lot, with two dwelling houses at the rear. These fell in the wake of rushing workmen and machinery. The total capital in bank was $8,000, a rather palty sum compared with the total cost.

Things looked so good they decided to add a second story, then a third, then a fourth. The third floor with it's private baths, was intended for visiting alumnae.

Before third and fourth floors were completed, a fire destroyed the kitchen, dining hall, and two floors of dorms. Thus the insurance money was loaned to complete "Student", while the gym served as a temporary kitchen.

The fully equipped building was completed in 1922 . . . Now thousands have passed through its doors, many never to return again. Those that will remember it best, however, will be girls who heard nothing but "money for Student Building" their entire four years at Farmville. This is hardly an exaggeration, for Dr. Jarman recalls that he appealed to the girls at least once a week for a whole year. He had determined to put some money in the bank every day and when he lacked it, the students eagerly gathered and scraped a contribution together in answer to the plea. Everyone was interested and held together by a common goal—Student Building.

The State appropriated $59,000, citizens of Farmville contributed approximately $13,000, gifts by friends totaled $110,000, and the students, faculty and administration gave $98,000 and you can go view the result just any time. The last note was removed in 1940,

Continued on Page 3

A.A. Class Song Contest to Conclude In Chapel Wednesday, November 22

Frosh Hockey Game Scheduled

Helen Wilson, president of the Athletic Association, announced Monday, November 5 that the annual song contest between each class will be held in chapel November 22. As is the custom, a prize will be awarded to the class presenting the best song. Judges will be selected, and first prize will be based on the song showing the most pep, originality, and suitability.

Plans are underway for a hockey game to be scheduled November 24 between the S. T. C. Freshmen and Fairfax Hall. This is the first intercollegiate hockey game that has been made possible in several years because of the transportation problem.

It was also announced that the annual color rush will be held November 30. The contest between members of the red and white, and green and white classes is a much anticipated feat every fall, and it takes place on one hall in each building as a red and white and a green and white race against her opponent down the hall to hang out her color first.

This date, November 30, marks the freshman-sophomore, junior-senior hockey games to be played in the afternoon. Eight hockey practices are required by each player before she can participate in supporting her class and color.

APS Honor Society

Continued from Page 1

from Concord and Charlotte West from Surry.

The girls attaining the apprentice degree were Mary Cameron Butt, Portsmouth; Jean Daniels, Roanoke; Alice Burke Davis, Phenix; Anne Dickinson, Richmond; Martha Droste, Ronceverte, W. Va.; Mrs. Annie Graziani, Farmville; Sue McCorkle, Lexington; and Virginia Packett, Warsaw.

Also Louise Rives, McKenney; Ann Savage, Onley; Catherine Stoner, Pincastle; Lucille Upshur, Cheriton; Margaret Walton, Martinsville; Nancy Whitehead, Kecoughtan; Frances Wood, Waynesboro; and Constance Young, Covington.

Freshmen initiated as novices were Hilda Mae Abernathy, Cockran; Suzie Addleman, Cumberland; Ellen Babb, Ivor; Dorothy Ellen Bar, Chatham; Betty Bondurant, Farmville; Lela Bouldin, Reno; Louise Brooks, Farmville; Barbara Lee Broquer, Saltville; Marion Chase, Mappsville; and Shirley Mae Connelly, Gladys.

Also Dorothy Daniel, Danville; Audrey Lee Davis, Farmville; Mildred Davis, Pacer; Mary Eames, Providence Forge; Bettie Ewell, Bloxom; Helen Fifield, Remington; Betty Goddn, Toano; Annette Grainger, Farmville; and Jacqueline Hancock, Courtland.

Also Augusta Hargon, Roanoke; Dorothy Ladue, Alexandria; Katie Lawrence, Windsor; Virginia Love, Chase City; Ellen McMullen, Rapidan; Mary Agnes Milliner, Danville; Martha Morrison, Collierstown; Elinor Overbey, Chatham; and Ella Stone Smith, Gretna.

Also Lorraine Smith, Nathalie; Martha Stringfield, Elberon; Harriette Sutherlin, Sutherlin; Virginia Tindall, Hatton; Jeanne Tolley, Natural Bridge; Betty Wetherall, Craigsville; Nellie Wilkinsog, Cumberland; Rebecca Veinn, Wilson; and Lois Faye Wolfe, Big Stone Gap.

Reporter Delves

Continued from Page 2

after 20 years of perseverance and work.

Bring your clothes for prompt service

to

KLEANWELL CLEANERS

Opposite Post Office

See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

"Cry Havoc"

Continued from Page 1

make the watchers shudder more than once from the time the curtain rises until it drops again at the last dramatic line.

You'll like this play. We're saving the characters for next week, but right now we can say that you'll like the setting, and the staging, and the lighting and the costuming. You'll marvel at the miracles that can be created upon an indoor stage; you'll marvel even more when you stop to realize how true-to-life this whole plot is. Temporary barracks on Bataan housing a varied group of volunteer girls . . . housing as it were a lifetime of drama and suspense.

A far cry from the light modern humorous production, we predict that "Cry Havoc" will be more popular, better liked, and further remembered than many a play in the past. When you see it, you'll forget yourself for the entire performance, and if it doesn't touch you deeper than any motion picture you've seen in the last six months, well . . . we think you're a pretty average person, and we need make no one-sided bets.

That's a week from this Friday night, you know. Don't come for fun. Come for to see some real acting, and some real wonders of what can be done to carry an audience away when a group like this one produces a play like "Cry Havoc"!

Cotillion Ball

Continued from Page 1

ing line. Other chaperons will be Miss Pauline Camper, Miss Alpha Lee Garnett, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Graham, Mr. S. M. Holton, Mrs. Mrs. G. W. Jeffers, Mrs. Hallie Laing, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, Mrs. Mable Jones McCoy, Mrs. Catherine Tabb, and Mrs. Eva Heterick Warren.

Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Gammon, and Lieutenant and Mrs. G. L. Howe, all from Hampden-Sydney, will be invited guests at the dance. One non-Cotillion girl in school may be invited to the dance by each member of the club.

Tickets for the dance went on sale yesterday on second floor Rotunda and will be on sale until Saturday.

Officers of the Cotillion Club are Marilyn Johnson, president; Betsy Caldwell, leader; Pogue Massey, secretary; Catherine Trower, business manager; and Mr. M. B. Coyner, faculty adviser.

Our splendid swimming pool, considered the best of Virginia's Teachers Colleges, was started in 1932, completed in 1934, with the help of the PWA (p. s.—we're still paying for it in the 10th year of a 30 year basis.)

As you gaily chat at a tea in Student Lounge, or swing it on the gym floor, think of how it was before STC had Student Building . . . and be glad you've got it!

Chas. E. Burg Florist

501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Virginia

Member of Federal Reserve Bank

and

Federal Deposit Insurance

Corporation

Lynn's Jewelry And Music Store

216 N. Main St.
Farmville Virginia

Left Lead

HOME AGAIN

Well, Jello-again, you jolly ocks . . . a vacation is nice, but it's good to be in off the hockey field and all settled down in the stable again this week.

It's always safe to talk about the weather, so the weather crops up faithfully and gives us something to talk about. That cold snap was all we needed to make this fall a near-perfect one for riding. The horses all take off with vim, vigor, and vitality, and there's little use for crop or a switch in this day and temperature. Even the pokey colt and her pokier companions, Darky and Lady are rarin' to go without the least coaxing, and as for the usually-eager-anyhow Callie and Miss Black, there's no holding them back.

SIDE-SHOW

Oats of the week go to Jean Carter Smith for her astounding performance with the Pony and cart in the circus parade Saturday. Dressed as a Gladiator, and with Beauty decorated to the ears, they really stole the show . . . to say nothing of the consternation she caused by roaming the back streets of Farmville before taking the pony back home. This, was, at least, compensation for not having all the horses in the parade, a usual treat made impossible this year because of the heavy class schedule.

OFF AGAIN

If we hear of many more accounts of bareback - attempts aboard Gypsy, some of you will get the impression you just are not up with the Jonses until you have had this more than novel ex-perience personally. 'Tis true. Lightnin' is the latest dare-devil to fare forth on the board (and slippery) back of the obliging quadruped (thanks, Ellis) and although "all's well that ends well" she is now one of the unfavored few who agree that in this case, all's well that ENDS.

SUNDAY GOSSIP

And so we come to Sunday. Bob Baldwin and Spud turned up at the stables quite early. Nor were some of our Sunday enthusiasts long in following. The fire in the club house stove felt awful good, but it grew tiresome sitting there after an hour or so. So often two or three attempts at finding the Madame, the smaller-than-average group started out and it did take too long a canter to warm them up again. There was little or no excitement except for the neat jumps that Bob and Spud and Sarah and Cinnamon took, and the bee or what have you that parked under Darky's saddle. When we said "Canter," it became almost a gallop, over the road o'er top the golf course, past the startled golfers and down into the trail through he woods. The way Ginny and the Phantom Lady stuck together ought to prove something after that, and . . . Sudy may be jumping yet before long.

TIME TICKS BY

The beginner's class is doing fine . . . the juniors get better as time ticks by, and the old riders decide more emphatically each and every week that riding is worth getting an education for. The trail songs have taken on that western tang, now, and townsters chuckle as "The Old Cow Hands" literally saunter by on their mounts, bellowing forth their verifications that they learned to ride where they learned to stand. It's all fun and frolic, and it has definite atmosphere. A congenial group of girls and horses, wending their way back to the stables as an early dusk settles over the lighted houses . . . maybe you think there isn't something there that will catch in your throat and make it a picture worth remembering.

Don't let the cold weather scare you away from riding. Pile on the plaid shirts, join the gang in that brisk canter ringward, and "Sing Your Way Home" at twilight, and see if it doesn't give you a thrill never experienced elsewhere at any time!

Stay on the bit!

Pegasus

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

COLOR RUSH

November 30 has been selected as the day for the annual color rush this year. Each year it is one of the most important athletic events, for it is the prelude to the hockey games that are held that day, and an exciting one at that. Each class selects their runners, and they are placed against each other, red and white against green and white. Two runners run on each hall in school, and the winner has the honor of tying her colors on the front of the dormitory she was running in. The colors are banners with either the green and white or red and white colors predominating on them.

Come on you runners! Anyone who can pick up her feet in a hurry is eligible to try out as a class runner, so warm up now. You can practice running up and down your hails, for each dormitory is represented, and the more practice you get the better chance you have of representing your class in this event. Lace up your tennis shoes tightly, and let those feet fly. Remember, your class can always use you, so don't be shy, just try out, for even if you don't make it, you can always say you tried, and they migh use you the next year.

HOCKEY

November 30 is also the big day for the hockey game between the freshmen and sophomores, and the juniors and seniors. This is the day that decides whether the freshmen will wear their rat caps until Christmas or not. Come on, you sports, and get in those practices. It requires eight to try out for the team, and you still have time to get home them before the 30th.

This is the first major sport event of the year to count toward the color cup, and the winner will gain ten points for their colors. Your class colors will be sold at the tabie in the hall a few days before the game, in the shape of hockey sticks, so you who are not too athletically inclined, buy your colors and come out and support your team. This is to be a big day in the S. T. C. sport world.

SONG FEST

Once again the auditorium halls will echo with a pep rally held each year. Songs presented by each class will be sung for the song contest which is held on that day. Cheers are led by cheer-leaders who wear the colors of the school, blue and white, and then the judges make their final decision on the winner of the contest. This is to be held in chapel November 22, and each class wears their color colors which only give a little more zest to the occasion.

This is the chance for you future Irving Berlins to write the song that made your class famous. Put on your thinking caps and throw those notes together. Originality of words is the main thing, for you can borrow the tune from another song.

DARK DAYS

This week has been a busy one scholasticaily in the physical education department, for all girls taking physi al education were required to take a mid-semester exam for the grade sheet. Rules and regulations seemed to whirl around in everyone's head, as they studied industriously to pass for that grade. Learning the rules is always important in any game, and often times a team is found to be a better one when they know the rules, fouls and penalties.

Throw-ins, roll-ins, bullies, how to hold your arrow correctly, what is a bird were but a few of the minor details that made up these examinations. You can often tlines play a game without knowing the rules too well, but it isn't until you start learning the rules, that you know and realize how very little you really do know about the game. In one way these exams are a pretty good idea, for they certainly give the girls a better chance to understand the technicalities of the game they are playing. Here's hoping everyone passed with flying colors, so that they could get that coveted "A" in physical ed.

Until next week, stay in the game, and don't forget to get in those last minute practices.

PHONE 78

WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES

WELLS TAXI

Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Virginia

Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.

Farmville, Va.

Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

PHONE 360

Vanity Beauty Shop

142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

ROOMS
For Reservations call
MRS. M. P. TYNES
Phone 105—602 Oak Street
or
MRS. A. H. IRBY
Phone 189—703 Oak Street

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY
—at—

Martin the Jeweler

Collins Florist

FLOWERS OF DISTINCTION
—For—
FALL COTILLION

FOR BEST SODAS AND FOUNTAIN SERVICE
Visit

Chappell Company

See our representative

Fay Johnson

Ch. 90

For Cleaning

DE LUXE CLEANERS

MILLINERY

HATS FOR EVERYONE

Select Yours Today

All Colors, Shapes and Sizes

2.49 to 7.95

Dorothy May Store

"Farmville's Only Exclusive Woman's Store"

SWEATERS

PULLOVER
AND BUTTON STYLES

ALL COLORS
AND STYES

3.49 to 10.95

SECOND FLOOR

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

Green and White Triumph In Circus, McGuire Is Queen

By CARMEN LOW

Well, people, Green and White dood it!—with the majestic seniors taking first place and the lordly sophs riding high for second honors. Circus was as big a sensation as the ouija board predicted—if not better. Everyone was there from the dosal pink elephant to Eleanor Delenor Brown! We people in the fully packed balcony (this is no exaggeration) although squared, enjoyed every minute of it. Needless to say a hilarious time was had by all.

The big top raised promptly at eight with the master of ceremonies, who was none other than the original Grace Lloyd, introducing a most gracious court—respectively—Peepsie Brooks representing the Freshman, Margaret Lohr representing the Sophomores, Jackie Parden representing the Juniors, and the queen, Helen McQuire, representing the Seniors. After the weeks and days wonderment and mystery, and everyone should have guessed!

We had hardly recovered from the excitement of seeing the court that had been a secret for so long when we were suddenly aware of the ambitious Frosh presentation of their interpretation of the world in 1960. What a world! First we were taken to Africa which in this world of progress had given up its traditional native dances for the latest hep-steps. After hopping gayly from continent to continent witnessing shock after shock we found ourselves home again in the USA. To our great surprise and pleasure we found Frank Sinatra (Peggy Moore to you), although a wee bit feeble, still crooning, and the weaker of the weaker sex still whimnying!

We were startled from our coma caused by the "Voice's" version of "No Love, No Nothing" by two brightly clad gypsies (Nancy Whitehead and Virginia Fry Terrell) dancing the gay fantastic to introduce the Sophs "One Night of Love". The story was told by Martha Frances Webb to a band of gypsies in the warm and friendly atmosphere of a camp fire.

Soon we were splitting our sides laughing at the Juniors campaign partly given for Eleanor Delenor Brown (Mike Shifflet) at the Harlem Night Club. When the Lena Horne of S. T. C., Bev Peebles, sang "Stormy Weather" and Betty Ellis with Potty did their dance (Brisk) undoubtably the evening was at its climax. It was quite a thrill to find the more than fairly accurate facsimile of the Ink Spots right within the immediate junior class. Thanks to Kitty East, Lucy Messick, Esther Shevick, and Connie Ozlin. (Why can't they do this more often?) Due to circumstances beyond her control the almighty Eleanor Delenor Brown was called to do a small clean up job. Thus, the gay evening at the Harlem Club came to an abrupt close.

Next on the program was the seniors' "Circus" within the circus. Something that only the seniors could do. Father Time (Virginia Terrell) rose to the occasion to carry us back to the circus events of the gallant Caesar's day, back in the dim past we witnessed the thrill of thrills—a Roman chariot race—What a sport! Father Time then brought us up to the Dark Ages and we so proudly hailed the Madrigal Singers. And as we bounced through the years of circus till we met the great Barnum who was none other than Pat Maddox. Barnum showed us his spectacular show which included a ferocious Indian (Betsy Caldwell), the sweet Jenny Lind (Anne Blair) who sang "My Hero", the magnificent high jumper (Peepsie Scott) who jumped all of 12 inches after climbing 20 feet in the air, and bored mermaid (Marilyn Johnson) who was found near a Jap infested island. We were speechless with bewilderment when who should appear but the wonderful exhibitionist, Mary, the tight rope Walker (Mary Walker Watts). Barnum concluded his show with a grand finale inviting us to see more of these curios for the small fee of one dime—And so the circus ended!!

We all went downstairs to the booths to have our fortunes told, our handwriting read, to fish for? to throw darts, dance if you were lucky enough to have a partner, or send messages in Spanish, French, and Portuguese and other things. When the clock struck 12 the magic of the evening existed only as a gay mamory and we retired, feeling quite similar to a monkey on a rainbow!

Circus Queen

HELEN McGUIRE

Modern Dance

Continued from Page 1

We have our own Hanya Holm as the result. Graham, Humphrey Weidman broke from the Denis-Shawn group to form their own groups. These four comprise the modern concert artists of today.

The last lecture will attempt to cover all picture dances. The new balle which is evolving from the decadent Russian ballet and is distinctly American is the dance of the theater—the concert dance—a symphony of movement much like that of music, closely allied to all the modern arts.

Princeton Lecturer

Continued from Page 1

Dr. Erdman was active in Y. M. C. A. work and was sent to Camp Lee, where he spent some time working with the soldiers. He is a world traveler and has come in contact with many of the religious leaders of the world.

Danes Reluctant Farewell

When the Germans moved armed forces into Denmark, the Danes received them reluctantly. When the Germans, pressed on several fronts recently, tried to remove these forces, the Danes let them go the same way. One German division is said to have been delayed 16 days. On a freight train departing from Copenhagen, Danish saboteurs forced the crew to stop the train and disconnect four cars belonging to the German army, before the train was allowed to continue its journey. In other cases the saboteurs bombed and machine-gunned German trains.

Alumnae Officers Meet In Farmville

The Executive Board of the STC Alumnae Association met on this campus November 4.

Mrs. Louise Ford Waller, of Richmond, President of the Alumnae Association; Dr. J. L. Jarman; Miss Grace Moran proxy for Miss Mary Berkeley Nelson, of Manassas, first Vice-President Miss Virginia Brinkley of Suffolk, second Vice-President, Mrs. Mary Dornin Stant of Bristol, Va., director; Miss Mary Rives Lancascaster, proxy for Miss Carrie Sutherlin of Washington, D. C., director, Miss Mary Peck, past president, Misses Mary Clay Hiner and Carrie B. Taliaferro, custodians of the office files; and Mrs. Ruth H. Coyner, executive secretary, attended the meeting.

Luncheon in the College Tea Room preceded the business session in the Alumnae office.

Iowa Frosh States Reason For Major

Men's hearts are more easily reached through their stomachs," a home economics freshman at Iowa State Teachers College said when asked why she had chosen home economics as her major. Her face was tinted a deep pink as she went on to expain her belief that almost any man could be interested in a girl that could replace his usual cold breakfast food with hot rolls and grape jelly.

The sudden doubling of freshman enrollment in the home economics department might be the result of girls believing that the training would make them better wives for GI Joe in a post-war marriage, believes Dr. Elisabeth Sutherland, head of the department. Again she points out that the increase may be the result of the intensive college publicity program of the past three years.

At least five freshmen who were interviewed, all of whom have boy friends in the service or are engaged, believe that home economics is a good course to take. They are also unanimously agreed that they will not teach after completing their course.—ACP.

Joan Ruth

Continued from Page 1

drama and is an accomplished actress.

Miss Ruth will be accompanied on the piano by Alfred H. Strick, head of the music department here.

Southside Drug Store
Any Size Kodak Film Developed For
25c

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PATTERSON'S
Patronize
HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND MONTAGUE STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Official V . . . — Mail Paper and Ink on sale at ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

One would suppose that the circus would be enough to keep most S. T. C.ers at school, but not so—these convention-bound Baptists. To Roanoke to attend the B. S. U. convention or for other reasons went Cary Bland, Margaret Verrell, Maria Addleman, Tinnie Bigger, Dorothy Bennett, Josephine Bailey, Elizabeth Bennett, Ellen Bailey, Jeanne Button, Rachel Brugh, Nell Scott, Virginia Treakle, Eleanor Correll, Jean Babb, Mary Ann Dove, Jean Daniel, Alice Lee Davis, Marian Estes, Lucy Francis, Nell Ray Fleming, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Evelyn Goodman, Evelyn Hair, Rachel Joyner, Geraldine Joyner, Georgia Knight, Lois Kavanaugh, Doris Lee Murray, Louise Putney, Mary Ellen Petty, Naomi Piercy, Mary Sue Spradlin, Mabel Lewis, Dottie Ladve, Gertrude Moore and Edith Sanford.

Lois Lloyd Sheppard went to Stuart; Jean Prosise to Wilson; Dorothy Overstreet to Bedford; Agnes Stokes to Kenbridge; Nancy Adams to Powhatan; Carolyn Boothe to Amherst; Lucille Davidson to Dremo Bluff; and Mary Lou Bagley to Virginia Beach.

Washington bound were Reba Conner, Peggy Fink, Ruth Jones, Marion Lotts, and Virginia Packett. To Petersburg went Jean Givers and Judy Connelly, and Frances Shackelford.

Mae Derieux was in Romlik; Sarah Lee Dodson in Mattoax; Betsy Dunn in Radford; Dorothy Hubbard in Melfi; Nancy Ingle in Covington; Edith Jones in Lexington; Caroline and Mary Frances Moon in Shipman; and Mary Copley in South Hill.

Doris Smith and Ann Charlton spent the week-end in Victoria; Betty Howard and Nancy Parrish in Norfolk; Annette Anthony, Katherine Prebble and Mary Walton Rucker in Lynchburg.

Among those who attended the opera "La Traviata" in Richmond Saturday night were Mary Sterrett, Jane Knapton, Betty Blackwell, Fay Byrd Johnson, Ann Masloff, Nancy McCauley, Caroline Huddle and Frances Shackelford.

Replacing the vacancies made by those who found other pastures greener were many little sisters, mothers and friends who were drawn to STC by the circus.

B. S. U. Elects Scott As State Officer

Nell Scott, junior from Stuart, was elected promotion chairman of the Baptist Student Union of Virginia at the convention held in Roanoke last week.

Nell is an active member of the B. S. U. Council on this campus, serving as president of the Young Womens Auxiliary this year. She also is a member of the College Choir.

State officers elected were president, Melvin Bradshaw, University of Richmond; first vice-president, Coleen Logwood, Virginia Intermont; second vice-president, James Oliver, Fork Union; third vice-president, Mary Hines, Mary Washington College; secretary, Virginia Dorey, Radford College, reporter, Jane Rudasill, Madison College; and promotion chairman, Nell Scott, Farmville STC.

Pegasus Entertained At Informal Party

Pegasus riding club was entertained in the riding club room Tuesday, November 7, with an informal party. Doughnuts, cocacolas and games helped to make it an evening in which the new girls in the riding club were given the chance to get to know the old girls. Betty Ellis, social chairman, and her committee, Julia Booher and Betty Christian planned the festivities.

Officers in the riding club are Joyce Cheatwood, president, Jean Carter Smith, vice - president; Mary Sterrett, secretary; Margaret Lohr, treasurer; and Betty Deuel Cock, historian.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Clasical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

For good food
Tall cold Pepsi-Cola
Phone 522
SHANNON'S

Try our Hamburger Special
The College Shoppe

"DURA-GLOSS nail polish does your heart good" says Cupid

TO HAVE AND TO HOLD BUY WAR BONDS

You'll look and feel glamorous when you have Dura-Gloss on your fingernails. Use it for all important occasions and glamour moments. It's so satisfactory and "right." Get Dura-Gloss today—at cosmetic counters, 10¢ plus tax.

Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J. • Founded by E. T. Reynolds

Have a Coca-Cola = So glad you're back

...or offering a soldier the comforts of home

HOME! No place like it. And nobody knows it better than a fighting man back on furlough. Ice-cold Coca-Cola is one of the comforts of home that belongs in your family refrigerator. At the words Have a "Coke", refreshment joins the party. The good old American custom of the pause that refreshes is spreading in many lands around the globe,—a symbol of our friendly home-ways.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
Coca-Cola Bottling Company Farmville, Virginia

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

© 1944 The C-C Co.

The Rotunda

VOLUME XXIV FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1944 No. 8

Colonnade Short Story Winners

Betty Deuel Cock, left and Ann Masloff, right, who tied for high honors in short story contest.

Cock, Masloff Tie For Top Honors In Colonnade Short Story Contest

"A Parlotic Venture," by Betty Deuel Cock, and "One Step Ahead", by Ann Masloff tied for first place in the annual short story contest sponsored by the Colonnade, Jane Knapton, editor, revealed last night. Betty, a junior from Hampton, is active in the Dramatic and Debate Clubs, and is feature editor on the Rotunda staff. Ann, a senior from Danville, transferred last year from Averett College and is this year serving as vice-president of Boerc Eh Thorn.

Second place in the contest goes to Margaret Wilson, sophomore from Washington, for her story, "Years of Honor". Fay Byrd Johnson, senior from Vinton, captured third place with her story, "July 21, 1943."

Numerous honorable mentions were awarded, among which were stories by five freshmen, "Killed In Action", by Lela Bouldin; "Amanda Frances", by Annette Grainger; "The Return", by Nancy Magner; "I Will Be Back", by Daphne Pittman, and "A Song in her Heart", by Virginia Tindall.

All prize winning stories will be published in the forthcoming issue of the Colonnade, and the honorable mentions will be publish from time to time during the year.

Dramatic Club Begins Year's Program With Allan Kenward's Saga "Cry Havoc"

College Students Assist In Schools

Practice Teaching Listed for 53

Fifty-three college students ar doing supervised student teaching this quarter, according to an announcement made this week by Dr. J. P. Wynne. Twenty-six are teaching ine the Farmvill High School, 10 in the elementary school, 13 in special work, 3 in the college, and 2 in Cumberland High School.

Teaching in the Farmville Higl School are, Olive Bradshaw, Science I, Math I; Margaret Barksdale, Latin I, Math I; Carol Diggs Math I, Math II; Susan Durrett Math II, Plane Geometry; Alice Feitig, History III, Histor IV; Alice Green, Spanish I; Ann Hamlin History I, History II; Nancy Harrell, English II, History III; Mary E. Harvey, Science I, Chemistry I; Jane Knapton, Biology II; Elizabeth Mast, Biology II; Helen McGuire, English III, English Journalism; Helen Mundy, Latin I, English I, Virginia Pullen, History I, English I; Mary Sterrett, History I, English I; Virginia Terrell, English II, and Catherine Trower English III, English IV.

Teaching commercial in the high school are, Mary Walton Rucker, Typing II, Shorthand II; Mary Watkins, Typing I, Stenography I; Harriett Moore, Shorthand I, Typing I; Elizabeth Edwards, Typing I, Margaret Stewart, Bookkeeping I, Typing I; and Lucy Messick, Typing I.

Eleanor Hall, Mary Frances Moon, and Elsie Thompson are teaching Home Economics.

Special teachers are, Music Lorraine Agee, Eleanor Correll, Martha Ellen Jones, and Margaret Hewlett. Teaching art are Betty

Continued on Page 4

Moss Named Adviser To YWCA Cabinet

Dr. C. Gordon Moss was recently appointed by the "Y" Cabinet to act in Dr. Jeffers' absence on the Advisory Board.

Dr. Moss has had previous Y. W. C. A. experience serving as chairman of the Advisory Board at Mary Washington College for a number of years.

Dr. Jeffers is on a year's leave of absence from the college making a study for the Virginia Commission of Fisheries.

Chase Challenges STC Student Body

VEA Secretary Speaks of Peace

"You as students have the powers of affecting education in this state and the shape of things to be", Francis Chase, executive secretary of the Virginia Education Association, told the student body at the chapel service on November 9.

In continuing his address, the well-known educator stated that victory lies ahead, but the important question is what lies beyond victory? Will it be peace or merely an armistice until World War III?

"I bring to you as students a challenge because I think you have the power to do something about it", Mr. Chase said as he introduced his five facts which have emerged from this war.

We are winning this war at a great cost of lives was the first fact which he presented to the student body. Following this remark, the part that education plays in setting the stage for victory was discussed after which the problem of educational deficiencies as a cause of war was cited.

Y.W.C.A. Sponsors Ward As Speaker On Campus Today

Rector To Lead Prayers Tonight

The Reverend John Ward, rector of the Church of Ascension Episcopal Church, Norfolk, will lead Prayers tonight, Wednesday immediately after dinner.

Mr. Ward is on the campus today under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. He spoke in Chapel this morning on the topic, "Lights That Never Go Out" and led the informal discussion at the open Association meeting of the "Y" this afternoon at 6 o'clock on "Love, Courtship, and Marriage".

Mr. Ward was graduated from the College of William and Mary and the Philadelphia Divinity School. He has taught at the Maury High School and at the Norfolk Preparatory School and was ordained Priest in 1938. He has also served as liason Chaplain for the Army and Navy commission.

Having an interest in creative writing, Mr. Ward has written short stories and has had several plays produced.

Shirley Cruser, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the "Y" introduced him to the student body at the Chapel service this morning.

Carver Leads Group Discussion on China

Beginning a series of discussions on missions in China last night, Mrs. George Carver will continue these discussions each night this week at 9:30 o'clock at the Baptist Student Center.

Mrs. Carver, a returned missionary from China, came back to this country by way of India with her small son when the first missionaries were evacuated. Her husband returned to the United States at a later date.

Graduating from Averett and Westhampton College, Mrs. Carver served as a professor at the University of Shanghai while in China.

She is very interested in dramatics and has written several religious plays.

All Baptist girls and others who are interested in China are invited to attend these informal discussions according to an announcement released to the press this week by Miss Frances Copenhaver, Baptist student secretary.

11 Frosh Elected For Commission By Secret Ballot

Sophs To Give Fashion Show

Out of the twenty-two girls nominated last week by the freshman class, eleven were elected as members of the Freshman Commission by secret ballot.

Girls elected are Corrine Balser, Richmond; Julia Booher, Abingdon; Betty Christian, Newport News; Susan Dickenson, Fort Royal; Jean Freeman, Hampton; Kitty Hankins, Richmond; George Ann Lewis, Petersburg; Mary Ann Morriss, Richmond; Frances Treakle, Farmville; and Nancy E. Taylor, Mathews.

Peepsie Brooks, recently elected president of the class will also serve on the Commission. Agnes Stokes, freshman counselor, will direct the activities of the group.

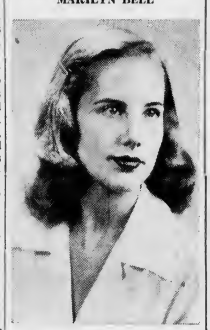
In completing the year's work, the Sophomore Commission will present a fashion show of do's and don't on the S. T. C. campus. Tuesday night, November 21 at 10 o'clock to the Freshman "Y" Club. The recently elected Freshman Commission will continue the work of the retiring Sophomore Commission.

Methodist Director To Speak on Campus

Miss Virginia Henry, director of the young people's work of the Virginia Methodist Conference, will speak at the Chapel service Thursday, November 23.

Coming to Farmville as she tours this section of the country, Miss Henry travels all over the state, speaking to youth groups.

Virginia Lee Price, president of the Wesley Foundation, will present her to the student body.



STC Students To Send Cigarettes Overseas

Beginning Thursday and lasting through Saturday of next week, November 23-25, students will be given a chance to contribute money for cigarettes for boys in the armed forces.

Halls will be canvassed and the table in the hall will be open to give students a chance to contribute, according to an announcement made today by Virginia Shackleford who is in charge of the campaign.

MARILYN BELL

NANCY WHITEHEAD

Pictured above are two from the cast of "Cry Havoc". Marilyn Bell, above, portrays "Smitty," and Nancy Whitehead, below, plays "Connie."

ACE Bids 35 Girls As Active Members

Thirty-five girls were issued bids to A. C. E. yesterday at lunch, Aline Boss, president, has announced.

Girls receiving bids are Betty Adams, Carolyn Alphin, Ellen Bailey, Carolyn Bobbitt, Alice Buck, Dorothy Cummins, Eula Bell Doggett, Shirley Easterly, Florence Godwin, Elizabeth Gore, Virginia May Greewand, Evelyn Grizzard, Betty Brothers, and Rosa Hill.

Also Mary Ellen Hoge, Kitty Maddox, Petty Page Manson, Betty Martin, Elizabeth Minor, Glenn Ann Patterson, Virginia Parson,

Continued on Page 4

Bataan Drama Set In 1942

With Marilyn Bell, of Richmond as "Smitty", the S. T. C. Dramatic Club will open the season at 8:30 Friday night, November 17, with Allan Kenward's "Cry Havoc".

A realistic play, based on actual fact and set in Bataan in 1942, "Cry Havoc" is the story of the work of a group of volunteer workers on an army base during the most difficult period of Japanese raiding. Presented here under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler, the play has been produced on the stage on Broadway and has been made into a movie.

Assisting Miss Wheeler with the production are Carol Diggs, vice-president of the Dramatic Club in charge of production; Ann Blair, in charge of staging; Catherine Lynch, head of the make-up department; Carolyn Hayslett, in charge of properties; Helen McGuire, costuming; and Lillian Elliott, in charge of lighting.

Set in the cramped living quarters of eight volunteers it gives an insight into the heroism displayed by those who remained to the bitter end on Bataan without being sentimental. The girls themselves range in character from a naive, Southern girl, portrayed by Joan Davis, to a tough number (Grace Lloyd) who had been reared in a lumber camp, and in temperament from Connie (Nancy Whitehead) who is continually spraying perfume, to the Irish Pat (Nell Coleman) always looking for a chip to knock off someone's shoulder. Everything happens to

Continued on Page 4

Native Bolivian Speaks to Students On South America

"Through the American movies, people of South America already know something of our country, whereas our knowledge of the South American countries is very limited," Senor Carlos Alfonso Manning a native of Bolivia, stated in his address to the Spanish students November 8.

Senior Manning is one of 240 graduates from South American republics who are in the United States sponsored by the Coordination of Inter-American Affairs. Some of the young men are here studying engineering, the manufacturing of tires, and chemistry, but he is here to learn efficient American methods of accounting and cost of keeping of public works projects.

"I was sent to Virginia because it has one of the best systems in the United States for financing of highways. From here, after six of highways" the gentleman remarked. From here after six months study, he will go to Chi- of two years.

In continuing his discussion, Senor Manning said that we of the Americas with our similarities of historical background and natural resources will be the leaders of the postwar world. He is confident that after the war there will be more opportunity for the North Americans to study the South and for the South Americans to study the North. An exchange of students is an ideal practice in promoting peace.

Besides his knowledge of Spanish, Senor Manning speaks English and German fluently.

When he returns to his home, he will be the director of Bolivia's postwar accounting system.

Cast of "Cry Havoc" Revealed as Diverse, Interesting Group

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

Have you bought your ticket, yet? Reserved it, too? Well, good . . . you're in for a night of real entertainment, and no mistake. But perhaps you're wondering about the people you're going to meet . . . the cast of "Cry Havoc". We promised to introduce them to you this week, so here they are.

There's a doctor in the play. She's an army doc, of course, and a favorite among the girls. She's calm, efficient and gentle, but she gets done what she wants done. "Doc Marsh" is played by Doris Harper. We know you're glad to meet her.

Marilyn Bell plays the part of "Smitty." Competent, attractive, she, as the girls' commanding officer, has friends and enemies alike among the group. But by all is she envied, and of all she holds the respect.

"Flo Harris," (Monterey Twiford in every-day life), is the sort of girl you'll love. She keeps things going with her ever-ready humor; and her slow drawl often breaks in on a near quarrel to calm things down but soon. A bit of philosopher, she gives to us her steady sameness, and we like it.

There's a spitfire in the cast. Her stage name is "Pat Conlin," but we know her as the first of our five freshmen, Nell Coleman. Pugnosed and freckled of face, fiery and swaggerish of nature, she zips through the play with a zest that's astounding, and she leaves that refreshing bit of personality in her every scene.

You'll like "Grace Lambert" too. She's good looking, blonde; brave and admirable. We know her as Joscelyn James . . . Freshman number two.

Third freshman, Teresa Powell. She characterizes "Helen Domeret" . . . small, cute, vivacious and man-crazy. If there were a point of surrender for those war-women of Bataan, one would find Helen applying make-up for the benefit of the non-allied forces.

Jody Davis is our cute little Miss Naivettee, "Nydia Joyce," of the old, deep, south. "Nydia" and her ceaseless knitting will keep up your morale while the bombs are doing their best to tear it down. She has plenty of chuckle-appeal, and is apt to steal a scene or two from under the very noses of her co-characters.

"Susan and Andra West" are British girls, and sisters. Susan, the elder, is portrayed by Virginia Terrell, whereas her younger sister is played by (Froeh) Louise Pegram. True devotion is found between the English girls . . . and good acting is needed and obtained.

"Constance Marks" is described as a "Dresden-doll" type of girl delicate and fragile-looking, and one who isn't always capable of sticking completely to her tasks. She tries though, and goes through with her part to the end. Nancy Whitehead makes a good job of picturing Connie, and an attractive picture it is.

It's "Stephany Polden" who shares the load Connie's shoulders can't quite hold up. "Steve" is a husky, raw-boned girl, mannish in her ways, but gentle in her

Continued on Page 4

My Thinking .. My Money .. My Time .. To the End

Monday marks the beginning of the Sixth War Loan Drive.

The Sixth War Loan marks a new turn in the war on both the fighting and home fronts. It points our tremendous war effort definitely in the direction of the Pacific. During the first five war loans Americans wkere thinking primarily in terms of beating Hitler.

Now our government asks us for a loan of 14 billion more dollars. Why? Haven't we nearly finished off our so-called Number 1 Enemy? Can Japan hold up our powerful war machine very long? Your brother, your friend in the Pacific foxhole wouldn't raise such questions because they are against realities which would make them ridiculous. They kill or are killed. They pray every waking moment for a skyldarkening cover of friendly planes. They thank America for giving them the finest medical care in the world when their rendezvous with destiny is at hand. They know the war with the Japs is just beginning.

Our responsibility to keep faith with our armed forces and and to continue to supply them with the material they need is greater than ever.

What does that mean to college students, who are for the most part not in a financial position to purchase war bonds? The loan goal is spoken of in terms of bond purchases, but the continual and persistent purchase of War Stamps is the part of college students.

Let us, with the rest of America, accept as our slogan, the theme of the Sixth War Loan Drive, 'My thinking, my money, my time will stay in this war to the finish."

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen ..... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Leila Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelson, Frances Terrell, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

Answering the Call Of Opportunity

We, as members of the student body here at Farmville have had more than the average opportunity during the past week to hear educators, theologians, and other well-versed people speak.

We are heirs of all the ages. We are a part of all that we have met. These age-old statments are as true today as they were when they were penned years ago. Every experience that is ours, every speaker which we hear, every person whom we meet helps to make us what we are.

In the realm of theology, Dr. Charles Erdman, outstanding Princeton lecturer and teacher, spoke to the students yesterday on the importance of divine guidance, illustrating his message with the betrothal of Isaac and Rebecca. Also in the field of religion, the "Y" brought to our campus today Rev. John Ward of Norfolk to speak to us on the subject, "Lights That Never Go Out" as a phase of the yearly 'Y" theme —"Facing Today with the Living Christ."

In addition to this inspiring message, Mr. Ward led a discussion this afternoon on one of the most timely subjects of all ages, "Love, Courtship and Marriage."

Speaking along the line of education on our campus last week, we had the opportunity of hearing Francis Chase, executive secretary of the Virginia Education Association, as he spoke of the education of Virginia, its attributes and its deficiencies. Speaking to us on federal aid to education, its importance, and the amount which is safe, C. M. Bussinger, principal of the Farmville High School was presented to the students also last week.

Last but by no means least, the Spanish students had a rare opportunity of hearing a native Bolivian last week. Senor Manning came to this campus to speak in Spanish on the future friendship of the two Americas.

We of Farmville are truly grateful for the opportunities we have had during the past days to become better-rounded and more intelligent students. It is our hope that these opportunities will continue to be made available to us throughout the days and months ahead.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

Metz, the Nazi held French fortress, one of Europe's mightiest bastions," is being surrounded by the U. S. Third Army. The Germans are withdrawing as General Patton's forces move forward along a seventy mile front. Is this a major offensive? The Germans are calling it that but our own correspondents are withholding their opinions till they see if something really big developes from the new push.

* * *

The startling announcement of the week that the United States could be attacked by rocket bombs. Already the new German V-2 rocket bomb is falling on allied lines in Belgium, Holland and France as well as in Britain. Faster than sound it cannot be heard until it hits and has been described as the "eeriest weapon of the war." At least it will increase our war bond sales.

* * * *

Both the Russians and Tito's troops are on the offensive, the Russians having taken the city of Manor only 14 miles south of Budapest. Seventy miles north of the Greek frontier Tito has been storming Yugoslavia's city, Skoplje. The strategic importance of these two drives can be seen more clearly by consulting a map. Either you get a war map when you read the newspapers or take a class under Miss Moran.

* * * *

In China the Japs have broken into Kweilin. The Chinese have gained in Burma. There is still hope that a compromise can be reached bewteen Chiang Kai-Shek and the Communists.

* * *

Question of the week: Where is Hitler?

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

Cotillion dance was naturally the most talked-of thing after bedcheck this week, and there were several people and points who came in for a large share of the conversation.

First of all, the gym looked so lovely, thanks to Ruth Brooks and her corps of Cotillion goats. And the music was good, with no strings attached to the statement.

Then, the number of old girls who turned up for the dance was enough to make even the bedposts sit up and talk. Corvin was back, and with Thomas Graham, and did you see the snakes crawl? And it was good to see Hutter back with the doctor again. Seemed right natural to have Kendal Nottingham and Tommy Lane together on the dance floor, to say nothing of Ann Jacob and Bagwell.

Philhower and Tynes were there with all the bells on, and so were Kingdon and "Ting-a-ling" Bell.

New combination: Ann Blair and Fred Young.

All branches of the service were represented, soldiers, sailors, and even two marines being accounted for. And they came to the dance almost directly from the Pacific and China.

What is it that the McGuire girl does to them? Sambo ended up in the hospital Sunday after the dance with a very high temperature.

We haven't gotten it really straight about Marilyn Bell and her boxcar "Anonymous." Is Anonymous" the box car, or is he coming on a box car? Try the train station, Marilyn, that's where most box cars are.

Big story of the week is of course Mary Sue Palmer's wedding to her O and O, Sgt. Tom Parvin, on November 6.

Margaret Bear's trip to Richmond proved quite a trip, and included everything from the Richmond-Virginia game to a flying trip, and we do mean in the air. Sort of partial to that Air Corps, but we can't really blame her.

And now Betty Deuel Cock dashes off to New York to meet Ned. And she took a minister with her, too.

The Blackstone dance Saturday night came in for a share of the after bedcheck chatter, too. The hotel ballroom made an extra nice setting, and judging from the number who found their way to Farmville on Sunday, we should say that the boys want more of the same.

Three week-end dates that we can't overlook were those of Bobbie Graham, Ann Mingea and Sue Hundley.

And the strangest happenings we know is that of a junior turning her date over to a senior friend when the junior curfew sounded at 11.

We're still wondering if Jean Carter Smith and her date got their fortunes told Sunday night.

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

The Union Vesper Service, which takes place each quarter, will be Sunday at the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. F. F. Swertfeger will speak. Students of all denominations will attend this service and the regular church service at the Presbyterian Church. Afterwards there will be a social hour at the Presbyterian Church. The different churches take turns having this Union Vesper Service.

Congratulations to the new Freshman Commission!

Mr. John Ward spoke in chapel today and led a discussion on marriage in the "Y" lounge at 6 o'clock this afternoon. He will lead prayers tonight.

Dr. Charles Erdman spoke in chapel yesterday.

The Freshman "Y" Club will meet next week, at which time a fashion show will be presented.

The theme for prayers this week is "Living Abundantly." Tomorrow night's subject is "Self Discipline" and Friday night's is "A Great Faith". Go to prayers!

© ESQUIRE, INC., 1944

Reprinted from the December issue of Esquire.

"Going down?"

Annual Photography Creates Excitement Among Subjects

By BETTY BIBB

". . . and you can get your pictures for the annual in the Rec immediately after supper." A breathless "oooh" rippled over the dining room, hundreds of voices began their little phrases.

"Gee, wonder what I look like?"

"Well, what I want to know is, will the retakes be made, 'cause I can see my pic now!!!"

"Hope they fixed my hair, it looked awful."

"Me too, I'd just gotten out of swimming."

This went on and on, and on, then it was time . . . They (meaning our own S. T. C. girls) rushed out of the dining room, trooped down the stairs, and the rec was filled to its zenith.

Two pitiful little tables vainly striving to hold their own, were mercilessly crushed under the onslaught of hundreds of pounding fists—"I'm next. —I'm next!!!" The poor girls trying to satisfy these demands looked helplessly at one another and tried even harder to take the nearest slip, match it with the one in the file and produce the result. The result, in most cases, brought loud exclamations of, "Ooooh, look at it" (while she secretly admired her best features as she did).

A loud banging announcing the first class of the afternoon broke up the clamoring group. Soon the girls were going towards their respective class rooms still scrutinizing their recently acquired photos.

"May I see yours?"

"Sure, but it isn't good, my nose looks crooked!!!"

"Oh, it does not. That's swell, really!!"

"Thanks, you have yours?"

"Nope, haven't gotten it yet, can't wait to see it . . . shhhh—here comes Miss - - -!"

Later on, as we grow accustomed to our smiling faces glaring out at us whenever we steal a peek, the thought materialized that maybe we should have a big one made for "him", or Mother and Dad might like one . . . Consequently, we immediately begin to lay out our methods of approach when we talk to the "retake man" about more pictures. For a pose that we hadn't thought so flattering, we're doing O. K., aren't we?

Walking in on an unexpected victim of self-approach is quite a ludicrous affair. She is standing there at the window, holding her photo up to the light, muttering that, "It should look like this. Why I'm better looking than that, I know" . . . . mumble . . . . mumble! Altho' we'd never stoop to destructive criticism, we think it flattered her!!!

There are probably a lot of us who took our pics into some secret nook or cranny and gazed and gazed upon our countenance . . . , picking out a good feature, making a face at the bad ones and having a hilarious time if we discern a little piece of hair that makes us look as though our beards were hung by a string to the border of the photo.

One frustrated Miss found a mole she didn't know she possessed while another, wondered if her left eye had always been a little higher than her right.

The finest CHRISTMAS present you can give is one of Uncle Sam's WAR BONDS. Keep on BACKING THE ATTACK.

Question of the Week

What changes would you suggest in the Rotunda?

Louise Rives—More students to contribute articles.

Jane Burchett: More pictures.

Bessy: Put Bob Johnson's picture in.

Betty Minetree; "Bugs Bunny".

Betty Burchett: More gossip.

Marilyn Bell: Cartoons by the students.

Spot Honeycutt: No room for improvement.

Bobby Graham: More features.

Cora Redd; A joke column.

Joan Davis: More dirt.

Shirley Cruiser: S. F. N. K. C.

Judy Rieck: A fashion column.

Jerry Payne; Write-ups of the coming movies.

Lillian Elliot: Not so much criticism.

Mary Watkins: More men.

Grace Lloyd: More student activity.

Marion Orange: Not so much about what's going on in the world. We read that in other papers.

Anonymous: I'd like some praises sung about the underdogs that do some work around here.

Nancy Chambers: Put a crossword puzzle in.

Fan Timmins and Margie Hewlett: We want the wishing well because our future is unpredictable.

Ann Dickinson: More about the private lives of the faculty.

Wilson, Orange, Tucker, Colgin Selected Class Hockey Captains

Color Clash Set For Thanksgiving

Helen Wilson, senior, Margaret Orange, junior, Anne Tucker, sophomore; and Jerry Colgin, freshmen have been selected by their classmates, as captains of the class hockey teams, Ophelia Whittle, head of hockey, announced Monday, November 13. The class games will begin in two weeks, and the final games will be played November 30, when the seniors play the juniors, and the sophomores play the freshmen. The game between the freshmen and sophomores will determine whether the freshmen will remove their rat caps or not.

The winner of this tournament will gain ten points for the color cup for their class colors. Eight practices are required for eligibility to make a team, and the practices must be in very soon. Support your colors by coming out for the teams.

Color rush will also be held November 30, and runners are already trying out for their class. Color rush will be held immediately after lunch followed by the hockey games.

Ophelia Whitlte, manager of hockey.

Corrective Class Begun for Frosh

"Watch your carriage, madame," might be the cue for an S. T. C. student to follow if she is taking any practice courses in physical education from now on. A new section 101-R has been added to freshman gym this year. Every girl not only has to be examined by Dr. R. A. Moore medically, also by Miss Emily Kauzlarich orthopedically, which means you show your kno k knees, bow legs, flat feet, ungainly walks and nodding forehead. A girl gets credit for her required courses of physical education even though she is unable to keep up physically with her class. An invidiual program is mapped out for her.

Of the 319 freshmen, 35 were screened for immediate attentions. Dr. Moore rechecked those prescribing special exercises for some and a further examination by an orthopedic surgeon for others. Nine will be referred to Dr. J. B. Dalton Thursday, November 16, for further examination.

One class has been started at 10:05 Monday, Wednesday and Friday with some girls there just to learn to relax, others to work in postural exercise, general conditioning, muscle strengthening, while others walk, swim or follow work in their own class within moderation. Another class will be formed after Dr. Dalton's examinations.

Next term 28 are slated to go through the same procedure. A re-check by Dr. Moore with Miss Kauzlarich, and referral to another class on examination by Dr. Dalton, or to return to their regular class. Some from this term's class will undoubtedly continue throughout the next quarter also.

The long range view, is to have the little gym completely renovated by next fall, and the majors in physical education assisting at every freshman gym period. Girls will not only be assigned to special classes if their cases warrant it, but the room will be open to any girls who have to be excused from gym for that particular gym period. In time the physical education department hopes to make it apply for all physical education practice courses.

50 Dance Students To See Cunningham

Concert Held In Richmond

Next Monday, November 20, 50 dance students, accompanied by Miss Emily Kauzlarich, dance instructor, will attend the dance concert by Merce Cunningham at St. Catherine's School in Richmond.

Merce Cunningham is a dancer in his own right as well as a leading dancer of Martha Graham's dance group. He has a wide range of technical command, and has already established himself as a creative talent of notable scope.

He believes in dance as an independent medium of expression with its own laws and objectives. At present he is a dancer's dancer. Those who have seen him as a member of Graham's company, will look forward to seeing him emerge as an artist in his own right.

Those students attending the concert are Jean Bentley, Julia Booher, Marcheta Cunningham, Martha Droste, Betty Gillespie, Gene Harrison, Ruth Jones, Ann Kingdon, Nancy McCauley, Nancy Magner, Virginia Packett, Betty Parrish, Evelyn Perry, Regina Portinaro, Nannie Sours, Catherine Sours, Catherine Stoner, Margaret Abersold, Jean Tabb, Corrinne Baker, Corrine Boland, Kitty Sue Bridgforth, Betty Burchett, Jane Burchett, Iris Davis, Margaret Ellett, Doris Harper, Sue Ilundley, Janie Hanks, Betty Johnson, Joyce Johnson, Betty Lee, Betty Minetree, Pat Maddox, Betsy Caldwell, Shirley Cruiser, Betty Ellis, Vivian Edmunds, Margaret Harvie, Earlene Kimmerling, Helen Lacey, Frances Lee, Connie Ozlin, Jean Parry, Isabel Ransone, Esther Shevick, Jean Carter Smith, Louise Pegram, Berkley Richardson and Jane Rowe.

Japanese work from 12 to 16 hours a day with two days of rest each month. They cannot change or leave their jobs.

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

SWIM FISH

Last Friday night found the pool open for recreational swimming, so yours truly decided to try it along with the rest of the aquatic ducks. Miss Mary Dabney, swimming instructor, was on hand to help with pointers on bettering your strokes and speed, if you wanted her help. Those of you who are interested in trying out for class teams, or the telegraphic meet which will be held winter quarter, are urged to come dow nto the pool on these nights, down to the pool on these nights, here is your chance to start conditioning yourself now.

If you happen to be a novice, then gather up the gang from your hall and bring them down to the old swimming hole for an evening of merriment. If you dog paddle, or just like to sit on the edge of the pool and dabble your toes, you can still have a wonderful time. There is no chance of going down for the third time, for Miss Dabney is always there with a watchful eye for water swallowers. And the main and most important thing is, the water is beautifully warm. There is no chance of diving in and coming up with a blue nose and purple feet, for the water is carefully temperatured to a right degree to prevent icicles from forming on the participants. Since swimming is the best all around sport for toning all those muscles down, here's a perfect way to keep fit and have fun doing it.

SLIM AND SWEET

We don't guarantee a slimming or fattening of the figure, but you will watch your carriage when you finish a course in correctives being offered to the freshmen in the physical education department now. Stretching, strengthening, and better posturing are stressed as most important details in correcting body faults in this class.

It is open only to those freshmen who have been examined by Miss Emily Kauzlarich orthopedically, and is for their benefit in helping them to get along better in the physical education program. Since physical education is required of every girl in school, this course is a helpful one for girls who find it physically impossible to keep up with their classmates in regular gym classes.

GROUND STICKS

Once again yours truly is handing out the ole school spirit about coming out for your class teams. The great day is approaching when the hockey games will be held and since this is one of the most important events on the athletic calendar for the year, it is only natural that you should want to support your class colors. Get in those eight practices so that you will be eligible for your team, and even if you end up just a substitute, there is always next year to look forward to.

If you aren't an athlete, now is the time to start getting that class spirit, for it always helps a team to have plenty of support from he sidelines. If they don't smile as they run down the field, it's only because they are concentrating on the game, but down in their hearts, there's a pretty nice feeling knowing that their class is behind them. Win or lose, it is always swell to have someone there to pat you on the back, and say "nice game."

The day of the game, pin on your hockey sticks, which will be sold at the table in the hall, prior

Continued on Page 4

Left Lead

Hi! You still with us? Well, drop those text-books and come on out, and don't you dare miss a day of this gorgeous weather.

All right . . . one of the first things our few and faithful readers will notice about the Column is that glamorous cut down there. Sabotage, we calls it. You heard a couple of weeks ago about that eventful Saturday ride that Joyce and Yours Truly took bareback on Gypsy. Well, there's the actual proof, for better or worse. We call it, optimistically, "All Aboard" . . . and it was left up to Gypsy to say, "All ashore that's going ashore!"

GHOST HUNTERS

We aren't going to work up to Sunday this week, but start off with a bang and let you have it first. Seven of them started out, and off to a good start they were. They stocked up on Longwood buns for inspiration, and Joyce jumped Darky and the Colt a couple of times for the sake of an ambitious snap-shooter. Then the vote was taken, and off they went down the back road in quest of a legendary Haunted House. This was all very well and good . . . they trotted a bit and cantered a bit, and admired the scenery as it flew by, and then instead of flying by, flew right along beside our horror-stricken heroines in a gay attempt to keep up. Darky and Miss Black and most of the others entered right into the spirit of the thing and raced along for leagues, with all of Joyce's gentle requests for them to stop literally flung to the winds to no avail. Half-way to Hampden-Sydney, they reigned in at last, and trot-

Continued on Page 4

Physical Education Classes To Witness Movie November 16

A movie short, "Survival of the Fittest", will be shown to the various Physical Education classes tomorrow, November 16, in the Audio-Visual room in the library. Miss Mary Barlow, head of the physical education department, announced yesterday.

The first showing will begin at 8:00 tomorrow night for the students taking Physical Education 226; and second showing will be at 8:30 for those taking Physical Education 251 and any others interested.

Another short, "Safety in the Home" will be added to the showing at 9:30 for students in Health, Education 204 and 305.

3 Delegates Attend Field Hockey Meeting

Attending the Virginia Field Hockey Association business meeting Saturday, November 11, were Miss Elizabeth Burger, Beanie Dudley and Ophelia Whittle as representatives of State Teachers College, Farmville. At this time the Virginia All-State team was chosen to play in Baltimore on November 18, in the South Eastern tournament.

November 22 Named Song Contest Day

Wednesday, November 22, will find the auditorium halls ringing with cheers and yells for green and white and red and white. The athletic council is sponsoring the annual song contest to determine the winner of the song fest of this year. Seniors, sophomores and juniors, freshmen, put your heads together for this is to be a big event. Each class will sing its song, and while judges are making their decisions, cheerleaders will lead the crowd in a few rousing cheers. School spirit will definitely prevail at this time.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Bring your clothes for prompt service to KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

PATTERSON'S Patronize
HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND MONTAGUE STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System ....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Lynn's Jewelry And Music Store
216 N. Main St.
Farmville Virginia

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Prone 139

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PHONE 78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

November is Christmas Gift Time
Unless you buy your gifts early, you will be disappointed. All gifts Christmas wrapped free.
A complete line of gifts for service men!
THE HUB DEPT. STORE

NEW EVENING DRESSES
All colors
$16.95 to $22.50
DOROTHY MAY STORE

BED JACKETS
PLAIN FIGURED
and
QUILTED
2.98 to 7.98
First Floor—Left
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Ruth Confesses Cosy Corner In Heart for Chinese People

"The origin of the program in itself is probably not important," Joan Ruth remarked when asked about the beginning of her Songs of the Allied Nations concert. "I have always liked costumes from my early childhood. I liked to dress up, put Indian feathers in my hair; it always made me seem to be a different person."

"And when I got in concert work, the programs always seemed so stereotyped. I think I thought a little of the audience, too, when I began the costumed program. And the Allied Nations songs just seemed to work in after the war started", the petite singer told us as she carefully packed her varied costumes after the concert here last Wednesday night.

"I always liked languages, too", Miss Ruth said. "There must be something a little foreign in me though I am American born and have never been abroad. French was my first love, and the Chinese came like a vision."

Miss Ruth paused in her packing when asked which part of her program she liked best. "I really don't think one should specialize too much when one is doing a variety, but I must confess I have a cosy corner in my heart for the Chinese." And we agreed as she went on to tell of her opinion of the people.

"They are so real, so true, so unartificial, so wonderfully sincere. They don't say much about it, you just feel it. There is with the people a goodness, a kindness, a simplicity that appeals to me." Miss Ruth studied Chinese under Miss Lydia Dan, Chinese director of the United China Relief of Boston, and she spoke at great length of her teacher. "She represents the highest and best educated of the Chinese," the singer told us. "Her mother and aunt were in the court of the last emperor of the last dynasty of China, so you see, she really represents the best of China."

"No, I don't really speak Chinese, but I know quite a few words, and I know the songs I sing."

In speaking of the costumes she uses in her program, Miss Ruth told us that Chinese costume is aulntentic, made in China, and that yellow satin is the emperor's color. The handkerchief that she carried as she sang, is part of the Chinese costume. "And the French wig was made by the famous wig maker in New York who made the 13 wigs for Mae West to wear in "Catherine the Great". I was really conservative with the wig." Miss Ruth commented and went on to explain that hairdress in the period her costume represented was quite extreme.

From here, Miss Ruth returned to New York, where she is awaiting the completion of another tour. And she is going back to television, too. NBC is interested in using her costume program to further advance television.

Sally Robertson, president of the S. T. C. Dramatic Club which presents "Cry Havoc" Friday. For story, see page 1.

"Cry Havoc"

Continued from Page 1

them, and from the raising of the first curtain to the lowering of the last, the play is filled with tense moments of air raids, difficult moments of suspicion, and even under the strain, moments of gaiety and humor.

Others in the cast include Marilyn Bell as "Smitty", the hard-boiled commanding officer; Doris Harper, as the "Doc"; Monterey Twiford in the role of Smitty's right hand man; and Janie Hankins as "Sadie" the cook. The eight volunteers are further described elsewhere in this paper, but they include Nell Coleman as "Pat"; Jocelyn James as Grace Lambert; Teresa Powell as "Helen"; Jody Davis as "Nydia"; Virginia Terrell and Louise Pegram as the British sisters, "Susan and Andrea West"; Nancy Whitehead as "Connie" and Grace Lloyd as "Steve."

Tickets went on reserve this morning at Patterson's.

A. C. E.

Continued from Page 1

Beverly Peebles, Jane Philhower, Helen Phillips and Nancy Pitts.

Also Virginia Prince, Jean Riddick, Margaret Shanks, Mildred Shifflett, Frances Sifford, Mary Spradlin, Marguerite Stephenson, Agnes Stokes, Lorene Thomas, Margaret Verelle, and Marjorie Vaughan.

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

ted back over the miles to the turn-off road where the others waited dubiously.

And so to Haunted House. It turned out to be a spooky trip indeed, with 20-odd rooms to explore, a rosewood piano from which poured creaky chords and clouds of dust, and a basement which must have been the family burying ground from all evidence on hand. We could think of better ways to spend a trail ride, but none half so exciting. And besides after that mad dash down the highway, no doubt the horses appreciated the pause.

And after that mad dash, it was Joyce who blazed a trail through the pine woods, away from the Haunted House, and led the way home to the stables!

A regular epic . . . don't miss the next installment, in case there is one.

TID-BITS

Retracking back to Friday, you should have seen Betty Ellis jumping the pony bare-back! Would we had a picture of that! . . . Cokie and even Gypsy are jumping now, too, well enough indeed . . . That party last week was more fun than somewhat, but when it comes to imitating anything from Charlie Hop to a five-gaited horse, that's where the bucks come in.

The Riding Club scrapbook has had a rejuvenation. If you're interested in looking it over, just ask for it. And all contributions in the form of pictures, snapshots, clippings, etc., will be greatly appreciated and then some.

Don't forget to take a look at the club house, too, and the attractive curtains, etc., that Joyce made and designed and hung at the windows. P. S.—Keep your opinions on said curtains to yourself!

See ya at the stables . . .

Pegasus

Student Teacher

Continued from Page 1

Wood and Mary Lou Dondley Teaching Physical Education are, Louise Blane, Margaret Bear, Florence Godwin, Mildred Shifflett, Phyllis Watts, and Martha Watkins.

Ten girls teaching in the elementary school are: Shirley Easterly, Kindergarten; Sarah Lee East, Mary Ann Jarratt, and Rachel Joyner, First Grade; Marion Orange and Nancy Wilkerson Third Grade; and Aline Boss, Elizabeth Ann Jones, and Gloria Sheppard, the Fourth Grade.

Teaching in the college are, Carmen Flores, Spanish 131; Frances Wentzel, Shorthand III; and Mary William Calvert, Shorthand III.

In Cumberland High School, Dora Walker Jones and Lucy Manson Sharpe are teaching Home Economics.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

The fall Cotillion dance drew more people to S. T. C. than other places could fascinate away. Among the guests were old familiar faves as Nancy Hutter, Frances Satterfield, Jerry Titmus, Rosalie Jones, Lulie Jones, Jane Smith, Sarah Wayne France, Cynthia Jones, Jane Ford, Sara Jeffreys, Patsy Connelly, Louise Bell, Hannah Lee Crawford, Betty Overcash, Lucille Lewis and Liz Goodwin Sale.

Also Beckie Lacy, Kyle Ainsworth, Rosemary Elam, Lucy Harvie, Louise Andrews, Ann Jones, Joscelyn Gilliam, Louisa Dawson, Kendall Nottingham, Mildred Corvin, and Margaret Sheffield, just to mention a few. And Blanche Kenny Smith came down from Washington for the occasion.

Also visiting on the campus were S. T. C. daughters Della Gregory and Grace Scales. Isabel Wilson, also a former student, returned for a short stay this week.

Other places and faces were still sufficient to attract Betty Tom Andrews, Julia Booker, Jeanne Bentley, Geraldine Colgin, Katherine Kearsley, Helen Boyes Lewis, Betty Page Manson, and Nancy Reid to Roanoke.

To Emporia went Ethel Harrison, Margaret Collins and Gertrude Driver. To Gladstone went Jean Akers and to Hopewell went Alene Alphin and Virginia Ford. To Amherst went Carolyn Alphin and Mary Frances Vaughan. To Ashland went Margaret Brown and Edith Bryant went to Branchville.

In Richmond were Margaret Aebersald, Margaret Bear, Nancy Blair, Eva Cobb, Ann Cox, Anna Ward Peery, Jean Prosise, Virginia and Katherine Tindall, Ophelia Whittle, Mabel Dudley, Marion Estes, Martha Russel East, Hersey Hutt, Gene D. Harrison, Dorothy Hails, Eleanor Hall, Sarah Hodges, Frances Lee, Nancy Magner and Betty Mitchell.

To Portsmouth went Jackie Parden, Daphne Pittman. In Staunton were Lucille Jones, Ellen Higgin bottom, and Dorothy White. Roberta Davis, Julia Dunton and Mary White went home to Mathews.

Ann Nichols went to Washington, and Louise Harrell and Edna Smith visited in Suffolk.

Betty Deuel Cock left yesterday for several days in New York.

Cast of "Cry Havoc"

Continued from Page 1

nature. Grace Lloyd does the honors for this part.

And then there's "Sadie", and our fifth freshman, Janie Hanks. "Sadie" is the outfit's cook, and another favorite among her charges. Substantial, and middle-aged, she looks after things with a motherly eye, and we know you will like her, too.

Friday night, at 8:30, in the auditorium. Come early and avoid annoying entrances that make things unpleasant for those already engrossed in the play. Come and meet in person the characters you've had a glimpse of here, and see what we mean by bravery and admirability and courage. For these are the words that help describe these girls who have volunteered, and who would be willing to give their life if necessary for the part they can do to the game, gather up the rooting section, and come out and yell. Your team is fighting for you, so you do your part for them. Don't forget the date. It's November 30, Thanksgiving Day for the STCers, and it's bound to be a big day for all concerned.

On the Ball

Continued from Page 3

Until next week, get in those practices, and stay in the game.

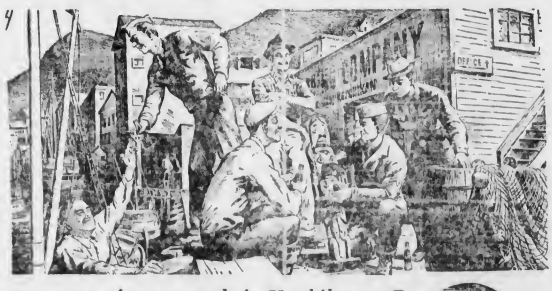
to help where they are most needed. Come and follow through these few dramatic incidents in their lifetime . . . and see if you don't say with us, "I'm glad I've known them!"

Southside Drug Store
Try our . . .
HAMBURGER SPECIAL
35c

Best Sandwiches and Plate Lunches in Town
Come in and see for yourself
The College Shoppe

ALL KINDS OF FRESH FLOWERS
—at—
Collins Florist
Phone: 181 Day 4 Night

For good food
Tall cold Pepsi-Cola
Phone 522
SHANNON'S



PHONE 360
Vanity Beauty Shop
Permanent waves our specialty
142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

Hair Clamps
—at—
Martin the Jeweler

Buy... Christmas Cards early
Best selection on sale
—at—
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Clasical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Have a Coca-Cola = Put 'er there, old timer

. . . or greeting new pals in Ketchikan

In Alaska, just as here in the States, to say Have a "Coke" is to say Pal, we're right glad you're here, just as it does in your own home. In many lands around the globe, the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola has become a symbol of a friendly way of living.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY Coca-Cola Bottling Company Farmville, Virginia

© 1944 The C-C Co.

YOU'LL OPEN YOUR HEART TO Life Stride SHOES

Meant for each other . . . Life-Strides and your busy life today! Young America is taking these spirited shoe-fashions right to its heart. They're so wonderful to walk in you'll want them for working, strolling, dancing, dating!

Advertised in Life, Vogue, Harper's Bazaar and Mademoiselle.

Fashion-Fresh $5.95

BALDWIN'S

Library
State Teachers College
Farmville, Virginia

CONGRATULATIONS, COMMISSION OFFICERS

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS MAY DAY COMMITTEE

VOLUME XXIV FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 22, 1944 No. 9

Richmond Girl Selected Head of Freshman Commission

Booher, Freeman, Richardson Named

Corrine Baker, Richmond, was elected president of the Freshman Commission at the first meeting of the commission held Wednesday night, November 15.

Julia Booher, Abington, was elected vice-president, and Jean Freeman, Hampton, was elected secretary. Berkley Richardson, Richmond, will serve as treasurer.

Eleven freshmen were recently elected as members of the commission by secret ballot.

Agnes Stokes, freshman counselor, will direct the activities of the group. Agnes spoke to the girls at their meeting and told them some of their duties for this year.

The recently elected Freshman Commission will continue the work of the retiring Sophomore Commission.

Ruffin, Crowther Debate Tomorrow

Jane Waring Ruffin, senior, and Barbara Crowther, freshman, will leave for Richmond tomorrow, (Thursday), November 23, to debate with the University of Richmond debate team, Betty Adams, president, has announced.

The Debate Club has been having practice debates to determine who will represent S. T. C. in the Dixie Tournament at Charlotte, N. C., December 6-9. Besides the debate there will be addresses, poetry readings, radio speaking, and impromptu speaking.

The Pi Kappa Delta question for debate this year is Resolved: That the federal government should enact legislation requiring the settlement of all labor disputes by compulsory arbitration when voluntary means have failed, constitutionality conceded.

Last year the Debate Club sent teams to both the fall and spring ournaments in Charlotte. First place in the poetry reading contest was won last spring by one of the group who went from Farmville. The Pi Kappa Delta question for debate last year concerned the establishment of an international police force.

World War II Hero Speaks at Program On Armistice Eve

Captain Samuel "Sambo" V. Wilson, outstanding Virginia World War II hero, was the guest speaker on the Armistice ve program in the auditorium Friday evening, November 11, under the sponsorship of the local American Legion.

The program ,in which the five local ministers took part, consisted of various prayers, scripture readings, and sacred music pertaining to Armistice Day.

Stationed in the China-Burma area, Captain Wilson reached his twenty-first year September 23, and the next day he received confirmation of his captaincy, announcement of his appointment to West Point, and notification of his return to the U. S.

He has been in several of the Far East Campaigns having led the Merril Marauder unit which captured the Jap stronghold of Myityina, Burma. He has been awarded the Silver and Bronze Stars, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Presidential Citation, the Purple Heart, and other honors. Captain Wilson left last week for Amherst College where he will study in preparing to enter the U. S. Military Academy next July.

Becker Will Play For Senior Dance Slated December 9

Maddox Selected Dance Chairman

Bubbles Becker and his orchestra from New York will furnish the music for the senior dance, scheduled for December 9, in the college gym, according to an announcement made by Pat Maddox, dance chairman this week.

Assisting Pat as chairman of the music committee is Catherine Trower, Eleanor Correll will serve as chairman of the decorations committee, with Carol Diggs and Virginia Terrell assistng her.

Other committee heads announced by the general chairman are Dora Walker Jones, floor committee; Sally Robertson and Helen Wilson, tickets; Marilyn Bell, program; Betsy Caldwell, figure, and Marilyn Johnson, chaperons.

Bubbles Becker has done radio work and has played recently at the Starlight Room in Norfolk and often for the Westwood Supper Club in Richmond.

Seniors will wear the traditional white for the dance and underclassmen are requested not to wear white.

Chaperons and floor committee for the dance will be announced in the near future. Officers of the senior class are, Eleanor Wade, president; Marilyn Johnson, vice-president; Sally Robertson, treasurer, and Mary Walker Watts, secretary.

Make a Donation NOW!

Beginning tomorrow, Thursday and lasting through Saturday of this week, the table in the hall will be open for students to make contributions for cigarettes to be distributed throughout the armed forces. This announcement was made by Virginia Shackleford, chairman of the project.

"It is not known definitely as to where these cigarettes will be sent, but there is a possibility of their being sent to McGuire Hospital in Richmond" the chairman said in discussing the arrangements this week.

In addition to the table in the hall, the dormitories will be canvassed, giving each girl a chance to contribute.

Choir to Present Sacred Program

Concert Given On November 26

Another in a series of sacred concerts presented by the College Choir will be given at the Farmville Methodist Church Sunday night, November 26 at 7:30 o'clock, Alfred H. Strick, head of the music department, revealed this week.

The junior A'Capella group under the direction of Jean Prosise will render Dvorak's "Going Home", and Pat Maddox will sing a selection from "The Messiah".

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley head of the department of history, will give annotations of two hymns, and the choir will sing these two selections.

Rev. Conrad Blackwell, pastor of the Methodist Church, will pre side at the service.

Thrills of Going Home Affect Various Girls Various Ways

By HELENE GRIFFIN

"Only one more period and I can go, oh, hurry! hurry!" This is the leading thought of many of our S. T. C. gals come certain week ends . . . maybe we're taking our cuts, or maybe it's just a spur-of-the-moment affair, or better still, it's a weekend when "he's" home on leave! If our honorable parents realized what we go through to make that 1:00 on Saturday!

First, there's the nervous type . . . "oooh, I'll never get packed, what am I going to do? I have four classes Saturday morning and I just know I'll be late for the train . . . and if I do make the train I bet I won't find a seat and if I don't find a seat I'll have to stand all the way home and I'll be tired" . . . breath! we leave this little frail now. . .

Aha! "The Mastermind" species . . . who is so sure of herself she doesn't pack till after 4th period, she knows she'll make the train because she has all of 7 minutes. after she packs, and there'll be plenty of seats . . . she's certain of that . . . If it rains O. K.! If not, O. K., too!

Now there's the "Hit and Run" Miss, who never fails to bang open the closet door, throw all her belongings in her suitcase, fling her hat and coat on—fall over the chair on the way marked "out", clomp down the steps and make the station in three minutes flat. The conductor doesn't have a chance and if some kind soul had not picked him up, he'd never have left with the train. Following our young friend into the crack, we find her seated and beaming good naturedly at her fellow passengers (oh, yes, she has a seat because her neighbors saw it was better to have her "placed" than to have her on top of them).

Directly across the aisle from her Amazonian friend, sits the meek and timid soul. This poor little thing, nearly passed out before she climbed aboard the train. Her roommate had to walk with her to the station, buy her ticket and wave good-bye. The timid one never knew the long sigh of utter contentment and relief her helpful roomate breathed.

Ooooh, we forgot something, the "normal" college girl. She too has four classes but she packed the night before, went through her lessons like any other day, bought her ticket in advance and boarded the train with assistance from no one. We admit the others may lead a more excited life but we bet this girl will graduate in one piece.

Our teachers suffer with us during these classes on Saturday. We bounce into the room, conscious of our dressed up look and don't know what to do with our stockinged legs and high heeled shoes. The problem is solved by crossing our knees and not forgetting to uncross them before we leave. After what seems hours, the bell rings, we jump to our feet, dash out the door, run upstairs, grab the suitcase and brother, we are station bound.

. . . . . It's Sunday night, and as we step off the train, S. T. C. plus surroundings looks pretty good. We know we'll be welcomed royally, "cause haven't we a two-pound box of chocolates under our left arm?

Jones, Trower Chosen Heads Of May Day by Student Body

DORA WALKER JONES

CATHERINE TROWER

War Stamp Totals Announced Mon.

A total of $69.90 of war stamps have been sold since the campaign began on October 23, Helen McGuire, head of the War Finance Committee of the War Council announced Monday.

Those who have been helping to sell stamps are, Rebecca Tomlinson, Kitty Kearsley, and Lottie Hammock. The girls sell every Monday morning from 9 until 1:30 o'clock. Beginning after Thanksgiving the girls will also sell on Wednesday mornings.

"It is our hope that girls will buy war stamps for Christmas gifts this year", the chairman said in discussing the sales this week.

Deadline for Annual Subscriptions Set For December 15

Friday, December 15, will be the deadline for Virginian subscriptions, Marilyn Bell, editor, announced this week. Members of the annual staff will cover the halls in the dormitories in the near future and the table in the hall will be open for subscription placements. In order to subscribe to the 1945 Virginian, one dollar must be paid before that date, with the remaining amount due upon the arrival of the annuals in the spring.

Individual pictures for the 1945 Virginian have been taken by Pearsall Photographers from Roanoke. Most of the group pictures have already been taken and the others will be taken soon, Marilyn revealed.

Green Elected Head Of French Circle To Replace Stites

Alice Green, senior from Farmville, was elected president of the French Circle at the November meeting to succeed Helen Stites, who did not return to school this year. At this time Ann Mingea, sophomore from Abingdon was elected treasurer and Robin Lear, sophomore from Chapel Hill was elected reporter.

Other officers in the French Club who were elected last Spring are vice-president, Margaret Harvey, junior from Richmond; and secretary, Sara Moling, senior from Winchester.

The December meeting of the club will include a party to be celebrated in true French fashion, with the singing of carols, telling of French Christmas stories and with traditional French holiday foods as refreshments.

Jarman Announces Dates for Holiday

Christmas holidays will begin this year after 1 o'clock p. m., on Tuesday afternoon, December 19, Dr. J. L. Jarman revealed to the press this week. Two additional days have been added to the vacation originally scheduled in the college catalogue.

Students will be expected to return to the college after Christmas on Tuesday, January 2, and classes will be resumed at 9 a. m., January 3, Dr. Jarman announced.

Henry Will Speak In Chapel Tomorrow

Sponsored by the Wesley Foundation of the Farmville Methodist Church, Miss Virginia Henry of Richmond, will speak in chapel tomorrow, November 23.

Miss Henry is state director of the young people's work of the Virginia Methodist Conference, and helps in planning the Methodist Conferences every summer at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg.

Coming to Farmville as she tours this section of the country, Miss Henry travels all over the state, speaking to youth groups.

Other Committee Heads Elected

Dora Walker Jones, senior from Radford, was selected general chairman of the May Day committee at a meeting of the student body last night. Assisting her as business manager will be Catherine Trower, senior from Eastville.

Dora was a member of the May Day committee last year, serving as co-chairman of the costume committee. She is an active member of the Dramatic Club and the Home Ec Club and is a member of the College War Council. Catherine served as assistant business manager on last year's May Day committee, and is assistant business manager of the Dramatic Club this year and a member of the Student Standards Committee.

Betty Ellis, junior from Coral Gables, Florida, was chosen head of the Dance Committee for the May Day. She is president of Orchesis and sports editor on the Rotunda. Lucy Manson Sharpe was selected by the student body to be in charge of costuming the May Day. Lucy, a senior from Virginia Beach, is a Home Ec major, and is past president of the Dramatic Club and president of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Heading the Music committee will be Connie Ozlin, junior from Chase City. Connie is an active member of several of the various music organizations on campus. Margaret Orange, who assisted on the transportation committee last year, will serve as chairman this year. Margaret is a junior from Richmond.

Carol Diggs was chosen to head the committee on properties and staging for the annual May Day festival. Carol, a senior from Farmville, is vice-president of the Dramatic Club this year and last year served as head of the stag-

Detailed plans for the May Day theme have not yet been worked out, but tentative plans include a Russian setting with folk music and dancing. The definite date for the annual festival will be announced at a later date.

Movie Lovers Swamp Theaters Despite Annoyed Outsiders

By BETTY BIBB

What is it that a girl misses most when she's on Campus? It is mutually agreed that for most people it would be the MOVIES. What else can lift us from the monotony and humdrum of school life into a world of luscious love-making and adventure?

Follow the typical S. T. C. crowd to see "The Rains Came" or "Gravel Gertie Gets a Permanent". Everybody rushes down the street, panting rapidly, just in time for the feature to begin. As if planned, they charge down the aisle in a body, popcorn, chewing gum, candy and all (including the squashed, leaky cup of coke smuggled in under the trench coat).

Finally, the girls are noisily settled, having walked in front of annoyed town-people and delighted H.-S. sailors. Of course, greetings must be exchanged from friends in the balcony to friends on the third row, etc., also some unfortunate comfortably-settled soul will be asked to move over for two late-comers that loudly announce, "We just got out of lab! Excuse us!"

Now the crowd slumps down in their seats so one's knee is resting on the hair of the one in the row ahead. Lose a lot of hair that way!

Suddenly a hush descends over the entire audience, as the stirring drama moves rapidly toward the end. Then, in one accord, the S. T. C'ers heave a huge sigh and fall limply back, as the lovely heroine is kissed. And what a kiss! "I thought I'd die."

The other people stare in amazement when the hero nearly gets killed, for the moans and nervous shriekings issued from the gaping mouths of the college students is far more interesting than the movie.

And when the girl he was in love with dies of typhoid there is a unanimous cry for Kleenex, scarves, hankies, anything! And sniffles and sobs resound throughout the theater.

As the girls file out the exits, people look and wonder what on earth everybody cried for . . . they didn't see anything so sad.

That night the lucky, plutocratic girls that saw the movies enact the best scenes for anyone interested, sometimes giving an

Continued on Page 4

Check Libe Manners

Again it becomes necessary to say something in these columns about the treatment of library material, the current magazines in particular.

The college library receives regularly many magazines and newspapers, which are in the library for use by the college students, and by all the students, not just the first arrivals. There is no rhyme, reason, or excuse for the treatment they receive at the hands of the students here .

One of the chief concerns the Browsing Room magazines. Twelve magazines are placed regularly in the Browsing Room, for the students to use in that room. They are NOT intended to be removed from that room. However, at any given time, the current issue of all twelve can not be found there because some thoughtless or selfish student has taken them to her dormitory room.

The same goes for magazines in the Reference Room. Such material is necessarily reference material and must remain in the library at all times. The library is open 63 hours every week, and surely this gives any student ample time to do all the research needed in those magazines.

Further than depriving other students of valuable material at the time, the removall periodicals from the library creates an expense no library can comfortably bear in replacements. Many of the magazines are bound and a complete file thereby kept, but before a volume can be bound it must be complete. If a student has taken any issue from its place, it means that another must be secured to replace it, and it is extremely difficult to replace issues of certain magazines at any price.

Another crime, almost as bad as the complete removal of such material is the mutiliation thereof, by clipping pictures, items, cartoons, by removing covers. This greatly lowers the usage value of a magazine for other students, as well as making replacements necessary.

Surely, it is thoughtlessness that has caused students here to give the library material such treatment. Surely the students here will be good enough citizens to take care of property not belonging to them, will be good enough citizens not to deprive their fellow students of good reference material, of current reading matter by removing and mutilating the library magazines in the future.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... Acting News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pulliem .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Mollng, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelson, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1944

More Cigs for Servicemen

Have you bought your war stamps this week? Have you helped to make surgical dressings recently? These two questions are often heard on our campus as these two important phases of war work are carried on.

This week we are given another opportunity or privilege to help our service men—the men who are doing so much for us. This opportunity presents itself on this campus tomorrow through Saturday as we are given a chance to contribute money for cigarettes for our boys and men.

Each year we are permitted to do this little bit in helping to make our service men happier. This year more men than ever before are fighting and if need be dying for American ideals and freedom! This year your money is needed worse than ever. Won't you join with thousands of other college girls in denying yourself a movie, a coca-cola or maybe even an extra trip home and give your money for this cause?

We, as American college girls, are the most fortunate people in all the world in that we can continue our studies with no fear of bombs dropping on our heads or of homes being destroyed. We are permitted to enjoy the opportunities which college students in other countries cannot enjoy. May we, as the student body of this institution of learning, in thanksgiving for our opportunities band ourselves together to give until it hurts, this week and in the future.

—V. E. T.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

How soon will the war with Japan be over? The Japanese are still in Burma, in Maylasia, in French-Indo China. The Japanese are fighting fiercely in Leyte, so fiercely that the liberation of the whole Philippines is a matter of months, at least. The Japanese still hold many aproaches to the homeland and the taking of each is a matter of weeks or months. And finally, the Japanese are winning the land war in China.

* * * *

How soon will the war with Germany be over? The enemy is falling back toward the Siegfried line in the Saar as Americans encircle the crumbling city of Metz. Teamed with the French, the Seventh Army is moving forward in the Vosges Mountains.

* * * *

How soon will the war be over for the Russians? They are swinging around the beseiged Hungarian capital, Budapest, toward Czechoslovakia. Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city is only two miles away.

* * * *

How soon will Tito's forces accomplish complete victory? This week they are fighting alongside the British who liberated Greece. Though the Germans have abandoned Tirana, Albanian capital, they are still attempting to hold northern Albania.

* * *

How soon will the war be over? This is not the question of the week, but the question of months to come. As President Roosevelt said in his appeal for the Sixth War Loan drive, "The war is not over—no, not by many a costly battle. We have no reason to be complacent about the tough road which still ies ahead."

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

Those who spent the week end in Farmville were few and far between. "Cry Havoc" stars rested upon their laurels, as well they might, having earned them and having given a great performance above and beyond their call of duty. Old talent was again lauded in such people as Virginia Terrell and Grace Lloyd. New talent was discovered in Nell Coleman, Monterey Twiford and Joscelyn James. We look forward to future performances. And we regret that Marilyn Bell had to wait till her senior year to be "discovered".

Jo Beatty had a surprise visitor on Sunday evening. She'd be only too willing to give full details.

And have you noticed the Blackwell's latest Romeo. Ah me, wonder if he knows the full benefits of Ry-Krisp.

Tynes (Romeo, etc.) was here again for the week end. In fact he no longer waits for week ends. Last week he managed to twice dash up. This week similar plans are afoot. Generally, well, in fact every time you see him, Philhower is at his side, which may be the reason for many things.

Betsy Dillard's tall, dark and oh! so attentive was here this week end. He and she were mutually in their own world of daze and maze.

Elsie Thompson, having become thoroughly sick of that big beef she's been currently spending so much time with, declares she only wants to see Bobby Burger.

ATTENTION: Due to circumstances beyond our control, there is absolutely no news concerning Anonymous. It is hoped that there will be some communication by next week.

And who is the third person in the well-known triangle between those two sophs whose hair rises at sight of each other.

Virginia Terrell, in her eighth heaven (her seventh being in a play under Miss Wheeler) in Richmond, is to be watched carefully. There may be a great change on her left hand any day now.

P. T. Ross managed to spend one week end away from Fitchett.

J. Knapton and M. Bear had a fairly pleasant time during the week end.

The well-known shortage of potential dates for senior dance continues to exist, especially among seniors, who necessarily need somebody to be in the figure. If any suggestions are forthcoming no matter the source, kindly address Box 2, S. T. C. Please mail suggestions immediately as the time of the great fete draws nigh.

The person we definitely want to know more about is a certain Mr. Tubb. Come, give, Agnes Stokes. What we have heard is DEFINITELY interesting, even the part of his uniquely named car.

Short story of the week: A certain freshman chose this week end to go home. When she returned to her dorm room late Sunday night, her bed like those of the three bears, seemed definitely to have been slept in. That wasn't too bad, but imagine her chagrin when she discovered that her guest had also borrowed her p. j.'s!

And just how did that man get in the dining hall Sunday?

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

The union vesper service for the fall quarter took place Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church. Mrs. F. F. Swertfeger spoke at the vesper service after which the girls attended the regular church service. A social hour was held after church.

Tonight at 10 o'clock the sophomore commission will present a fashion show of the "Do's and Don't's of S. T. C." for the fresh men Y Club in the small audiorium. All freshmen are urged to be present.

Opportunity to make surgical dressings knocks but once a week. Come and help out in Miss Bedford's art lab on Thursday evenings.

The theme for prayers this week is "Let Us Serve God". Tonight there is a special program. Tomorrow night the theme is "Service Has Its Rewards"; Friday night, "Choose You".

O, help us Lord: each hour of

Continued on Page 4

The biggest dollar you ever gave!

Aid to servicemen's families is among the many causes your dollars support when you give to your Community War Fund.

We can't let them down now! Give to

YOUR COMMUNITY WAR FUND

Representing the NATIONAL WAR FUND

Post Office Boxes Please College Girls As Not Many Other Items Do

MARGARET WALTON

The post office box gleams an orange pinkish hue—it is no secret that there is a package slip. Oh, that sudden thrill of finding a package slip when one isn't expected. Perhaps it's that bracelet G. I. Joe is sending from Italy or a picture that H.-S. Gob has been promising or better still (a secret from the gents) food from home!

Of course, the slip is always discovered just as the class bell rings so off you scurry to puzzle for an hour. That slow moving watch hand makes a rotation so back you run to stand impatiently at the end of a ten girl line.

Finally the big moment. Miss Tallaferro shoves a big box under the shelf—a box with your roommate's name on it! You moan and groan and gnash your teeth but there is no denying that is her name. All you can do is sigh, force a smile, and lug the box around until you find her.

A long procession of boxes passes through the postoffice each day, boxes of all shapes, sizes, from every place and containing every conceivable object. But one thing you can say for the boxes, they are always welcome and you can count on some good from them—even when the newly drafted boy friend sends his civillan p j's and vile colored neckties. And it's a good feeling to leave the P. O. lugging your proof that someone is thinking of you.

Not all packages are exactly neat. On one occasion a drip and strong combination of odors followed a girl down the hall, evidence of the bottle of pickles and the bottle of perfume that got together.

The moment you hit the hall everyone rushes to watch the great opening—the "oh's" at new clothing and presents; the "mmm's" and "yum's" at food. The rush for food is so great one often has to climb on the dressers to keep from getting trampled. One S. T. C. girl even had to ask her friends what was in the box of food from home so she could write and thank her mother for it.

Boxes at the beginning of school—new clothes and freshly cleaned old ones that bulging trunks wouldn't hold . . Boxes at Thanksgiving—that home-cooked turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, and mince meat pie . . . Boxes at Christmas—lingerie, p. j.'s, stationery, pictures, clothes, jewelry, perfume . . . Boxes at Valentine day—candy or flowers . . Boxes at Easter—orchids, gardenias, roses . . . Boxes for graduation—silver, china, trousseau articles . . Boxes for birthday—the cake from home and candy and jewelry from admirers.

Not all the boxes, of course, are from the P. O. A tap comes on the door and an expressed package is carted in, a buzz on the telephone announces special delivery. And let's not forget those little green flower boxes that overflow the Home Office on dance week-ends.

But ask any S. T. C. girl and you'll get the same answer: "Send boxes and more boxes!!" We love 'em!!

Letters to the Editor:

Dear Editor,

Where is the shy modesty of the young girl of today? This is a question that remains unanswered concerning the girls who hang over the Rotunda during the week ends to watch the men go by. Even a campus league member hasn't half a chance as she meekly asks the girls to step back from the railing, as they stand attired in everything from cotton nightgowns to blue jeans and plaid shirts. Surely the young ladies of S. T. C. have more respect for their alma mater and themselves than to act in such a manner.

This has become a problem, and when even the campus league can't do anything about it, then it is almost a catastrophe. Here's hoping that putting this in print will make the underclassmen sit up and take notice.

Sincerely,

A Member of th Campus League

Dear Editor,

Orchids to the Dramatic Club for producing one of the best plays we have witnessed—but—brickbats to the audience for their display of impoliteness and unintelligence.

To make a farce of the horrible realities of this devastating war shows an inexcusable shallowness of the minds of college students.

This is not the first time such behavior has occurred and we could cite many other instances but this "takes the cake." To laugh at such superb dramatization reveals extreme ignorance and rudeness.

To whomever this applies, we sincerely hope that next time you will think.

Eleanor Bisese
Shirley Cruser
Jane Philhower,
Carlotta Norfleet
Margaret Orange
Peggy Ross

Juniors Defeat Freshmen Hockey Team 1-0; Red 'n' White Wins Annual Song Contest

Sophs, Seniors Play Today

Hockey season opened with a bang Tuesday, November 21, when the juniors defeated their sister class the freshmen 1-0. Wednesday afternoon the sophomores played the seniors. A round robin tournament is being held again this year, and every class team must play every other team, and in that way, the team winning the most games will be the champions of the hockey tournament for 1944. The teams winning the most games as a class for their colors will gain the ten points given for hockey toward the color cup. Next Tuesday, November 28, the sophomores will play the juniors, and the following day Wednesday, November 29, the freshmen will play the seniors.

The final games will be played November 30 when the freshmen play the sophomores, and the juniors play the seniors. Captains Jerry Colgin, freshman, Anne Tucker, sophomore; Margaret Orange, junior, and Helen Wilson, senior, have selected their teams with the aid of Miss Olive T. Iler, hockey coach. Those girls playing in the games will be announced in next week's paper.

November 30 is also the day of the color rush, and the runners are already trying out. Not all the classes have selected their representative runners yet. The object of the color rush is to place the class colors red and white or green and white on the front of each dormitory in which two runners from each class have run. This is an annual event, and is always held the day of the final hockey games.

HELEN WILSON
President of A. A.

Swimming Classes Open for Everyone

Class Meets Slated For Winter Quarter

On every Thursday night at 8:30, the school pool will be open to those girls who are interested in trying to improve their strokes, speed and endurance for the class swimming meet, and the telegraphic meet, announced Miss Mary Dabney, swimming instructor, November 20. This includes every girl in school, and not only the H2O members.

Miss Dabney will be on hand to help these girls, and every girl who can swim, and is interested in trying out for her class team is encouraged to come. The class meets will be held sometime during the winter quarter, and points will be gained toward the color cup by the winnters. The telegraphic meet is held annually during the winter quarter, also. This is a meet that came about due to war conditions. Because of the tire and gas shortage, the meets are held individually in each college, and the time and winners are wired in to the hostess of the meet that year. Last year Florida State Teachers College in Tallahassee was the hostess, and the year before S. T. C. was hostess.

Frosh Take Top Honors at Pep Rally

Proclaiming the merits and winning qualities of Red and White, the freshmen won the annual song contest at the pep rally in chapel today. This does not count toward the color cup, but a prize has been awarded to the winning class.

The contest is held each year under the auspices of the Athletic Association in an endeavor to produce more and more color songs and to build green and red spirit.. The program this morning was opened by Helen Wilson, presidnt of the A. A., followed by a short talk by each of the other officers, Bobbie Scott, vice - president; Mary Walker Watts, secretary, and Frances Lee, treasurer.

While awaiting the decision of the judges, Mrs. Clyde Bradshaw, Miss Olive Parmenter, and Mrs. Janice Speer Leman, the cheer leaders, Marilyn Johnson, Betty Ellis, and Betty Lee, led student body in a group of rousing cheers.

The program was concluded wit hthe announcement of the winning song by President Helen Wilson.

The freshman song is to the tune of "I've Got a Sixpence."

Longwood Week-End Enjoyed, Monogram Club, A. A. Council

Wearing plaid shirts and dungarees, the AA Council and the Monogram Club accompanied by Miss Olive T. Iler, set out for Longwood last Saturday afternoon November 18. They spent the night, and from the descriptions given by the girls Sunday had a wonderful time. Chopping wood, and playing games kept them busy until supper time, when Bobbie Scott fed them delicious hamburgers, cheeseburgers, potato chips, tomatoes and cokes. After supper they bundled up and sat around singing songs and playing bridge. A midnight snack of cokes and doughnuts sent them to bed with a happy heart.

Sunday morning a breakfast of scrambled eggs, toast, sausage, coffee, milk, tomato juice, grape fruit juice and jam greted them. Then back to school they came in taxis after a wonderful week end. Girls who went were Margaret Lohr, Beanie Dudley, Heidi Lacey, Margaret Orange, Frances Lee, Louise Blane, Edith Lovins, Lillian Elliott, Ophelia Whittle, Eleanor Wade, Helen Wilson, Bobbie Scott and Phyllis Watts.

Left Lead

UP AND AWAY

With a leap and a bound we bring you a review of the week's events in the ring and on the trail . . . and just around the stables.

And around the stable it was for Duffy, too . . . up on Calico and off in a flash. Not literally off, we don't mean . . . just up and away! Tearing around the corner at an angle precarious as well as vicarious. Callie likes to lead.

RIDIN' HIGH

Speaking of the Colt, she's still being schooled, and she takes her lessons well. She'll be beating Gypsy at jumping yet, and in no lengthy time. Weedy Rowe was one of he latest to practice Gypsy over the jumps. A bit uncomfortable, riding her neck, but far easier than giving way to a broken stirrup. Nor do we think "Loocil" will pause in a jump to speak to the bystanders often after this week. That blue hand is attractive, but the other one doesn't match, and the gymnastics were a little difficult to go through for the sake of an even pair.

FUN FOR ALL

Friday afternoon was as good as any three-ring circus. Joyce was trying Jean Carter and Elise on the Figure 8's . . . but it seems they went through the alphabet rather than do an eight. Says Lightning, "I can even put a period after the three!" At one time half the rest of the class was cir-

Continued on Page 4

Half A Hundred See Cunningham

Tuesday morning at 1:00 a. m., fifty tired but happy girls returned from the dance recital in Richmond. It had been an eventful trip, full of fun and entertainment for all. Riding in a chartered bus, they left school Monday afternoon at 4:00 bound for the city. Singing most of the way, not a person lost her voice, even with all the confusion. "Potty" rated a laugh when saying she didn't have any money for a spaghetti supper, "Bessy" took up a twenty-five cent collection to help with the cause.

Arriving in Richmond with definite plans in mind, the gang broke up to hunt for eating places, promising to meet at 7 o'clock to go on to St. Catherine's to the recital. And who should be late for the return but none other than Miss Kay and her escort, who had an eventful time straightening out their bill at the John Marshall Coffee Shop.

Only getting lost once, they finally arrived in time for the destination, and found good seats, also one of last year's Orchesis members, Gloria Pollard. The lights went down, and entered Merce Cunningham, who looked for all the world like Joseph Cotton, the latest heart throb of STC. Mr. Cunningham's dances were skillfully executed, and the costuming and lighting were beautiful. His dances had fascinating

Continued on Page 4

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Bring your clothes for prompt service to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

Buy... Christmas Cards early
Best selection on sale
—at—
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

Special Silver Hair Berets
$2.00 plus tax
Martin the Jeweler
Farmville, Va.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System ....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

PHONE 360
Vanity Beauty Shop
Permanent waves our specialty
142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

HAMBURGER SPECIAL
French Fries and Sliced Tomatoes
35c
Southside Drug Store

"Keep your nails dainty with Dura-Gloss" says Cupid

Dura-Gloss is different. It's so radiant and full of life that you seem to have jewels at your fingertips. The formula with which Dura-Gloss is made is unlike others, and you'll love its remarkable brilliance, the very satisfactory way it goes on, and its unusual wear. At 10¢ cosmetic counters.
Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J. • Founded by E. T Reynolds

CAROL KING DRESSES
Original for Juniors—Sizes 9-15
$10.95—$12.95

WOOL GLOVES
$1.49—$1.98 all colors

WINTER WHITE HATS
$2.49—$10.95

DOROTHY MAY STORE

Just Received
A Shipment
of Saddle Oxfords
White with Brown Saddle

Sizes 4 to 8—Widths AA to C

PRICE $5.00

Shoe Department—First Floor Rear
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Orchids to Director, Cast, Crew for All-Time High Play

Under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler, the S. T. C. Dramatic Club reached an all-time high in play production here last Friday night when they presented Allan Kenward's "Cry Havoc". From the rise of the first curtain to the fall of the last, the capacity-filled auditorium sat tense and breathless, held by the excellent acting and superb production.

Marilyn Bell, in the role of Smitty hard-boiled commanding officer of the volunteers on Bataan, achieved a splendid manner of detachment from the group and issued her orders in terse tones that won respect from her fellow workers. As Doc Marsh, head nurse Doris Harper, was dignified and gentle.

Monterey Twiford did an excellent job with part of Flo Harris, and did a particularly good piece of work in helping keep the volunteers calm during the worst of the air raids, even when the shaking of the quarters extinguished the lamp and left the place in utter darkness for a few minutes.

Nell Coleman, in her first play here, portrayed excellently the swaggerish Irish Pat Conlin. One could almost see the chip on her shoulder!

Joscelyn James was a natural in the part of Grace Lambert, and is to be especially commended on the manner in which she handled her crutches. And a better Helen Domeret than Theresa Powell would be hard to find.

Scene stealer in the play was Joan Davis. With her innocent expressionless naive comments, she was the butt of teasing by her coworkers, and her blonde hair added to her characterization of the Southern girl, Nydia Joyce.

The West sisters, Andrea and Susan, were handled beautifully by Louise Pegram and Virginia Terrell, respectively. Particularly good was Virginia Terrell's portrayal of Susan inviting the group to her party while yet a little demented because of her accident. The scream that she let out sent shivers down the spines of the audience.

Picturing Connie Marks, Nazi spy in their midst, was Nancy Whitehead, who did the part extremely well. Her best scene was near the end when she had been exposed and was attempting to escape. The irony she forced into her voice when she ridiculed the rest of the group as being "American fools" was so realistic one could almost believe she had been trained in one of "the best schools' in America."

As Steve Polden, Grace Lloyd was splendid. She had several extremely good scenes, but her best was when she was shot. It took a lot of falling to make that one look as if she had actually been the recipient of three bullets in her stomach.

We can't forget Janie Hanks, who portrayed Sadie, the cook of the outfit with a skill that makes us believe we can look for bigger things from her in the future.

Ann Blair did a marvelous job of a tough piece of staging, and the quarters really looked "G. I." with the army bunks. Properties and sound effects were handled by Carolyn Hasylett, who did a superb bit of timing with her air raid effects, even to the tossing of the lantern suspended from the ceiling. Lillian Elliott was in charge of lighting, and her handling of the effects are really to be commended. Helen McGuire costumed the group in fatigue suits and regulation uniforms that gave just the right atmosphere to the play. The make-up was done by Catherine Lynch, and one could feel the exhaustion of the group subjected to the continual bombing by just seeing them grow more weary looking in each successive sene.

Our hats off and orchids to Miss Wheeler, the entire cast and the backstage crew for a production that "tops them all."

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

cling one way, and the other half around the ring, reversing at a trot and breaking into a canter without a sign from Joyce . . . Elise doing a three or a six or a nine in the center of the ring. Mary Armistead and the pony ki-yippeee-i-in-g in and out between, and Jean Carter off in a corner making a tiny little zero all by herself just so Darky would know which way to turn. From the air it must have been confusing. From the ground, just plain screwy.

SUN-SET

Of the trio that turned up for the Saturday ride, none felt like working, so down the trail they went to the Haunted House. No doubt even the Spirits were startled out of ten years' fearfulness when they heard the tunes mournfully grinding out of the old piano, and surely the stairs creaked much more effectively under the weight of human beings than they ever could under the soft step of a ghost. But with the girls on their mounts again and down through he woods, eerie-ness was forgotten in the beauty of a pine-covered lowlands with a stretch of sandy river running through. Jumping creeks and bridges, hopping over stray logs, this peaceful bit of beauty at the end of the trail. Who'd miss it? Not us!

See you in the saddle.

Pegasus

Pi Kaps Celebrate 50th Anniversary Friday, November 17

Celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of Pi Kappa Sigma as a national organization, Pi Kaps on this campus had a service in the chapter room and a founders day breakfast on November 17.

Mrs. Bettie Bush, president of a national district Pi Kappa Sigma, is on the campus this week and was entertained at tea at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the local members.

Tri Sigma Alumna Entertained at Tea

Mrs. John Whitehead, Radford, a guest of the Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma, was entertained at tea in the chapter room from 4 to 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Whitehead, the former Mary Shelton of Farmville, is the guest alumna for the year.

Guests attending the tea other than Mrs. Whitehead were Miss Ruth Gleaves, Mrs. Hallie Laing, Mrs. Roy Pearson, Mrs. Annie Shelton, Mrs. Farrar Shelton, and Mrs. Tabb. Miss Pauline Camper, faculty adviser, was also present.

Movie Lovers

Continued from Page 1

excellent performance. Then they pile into bed and dream—no, not of being kissed—but of flunking an English test—Which they probably do!!!

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANN BUCK

In spite of the play, "Cry Havoc", Friday night and the movie "Since You Went Away" which were on this week-end some decided to skip the campus routine a few days.

Richmond was honored with the presence of Milly McWilliams, Louise Pegram, Margaret Nevins, Dot Owen, Barbara Surface, Virginia Terrell, Elizabeth McLean, Beatrice Bruh, Ethel Halsey, Rachel Brugh, Shirley Mankin, Mary Anne Jarratt and Mary Yates.

Something about the U. of Va. attracted Ann Minges to a dance in Charlottesville, others atracted to Charlottesville were Anne Hamlin, Jewel Hunt, Eleanor Wade, and Helen Wilson.

Up and down the hills of Lynchburg were Phyllis Watts, Mary Hunter, Betty Mitchell, Virginia Pickral, Shirley Slaughter, and Anne Shufflebarger.

Attending a wedding in Petersburg where Spot Hunnicutt was maid of honor were Peepsie Brooks and Ruth Brooks. Also in Petersburg were Jean Pritchett, Doris Ramsey, and Sally Robertson.

With their destination as Roanoke, Marilyn Johnson, Betty Lemon, Dot May and Pat Maddox traveled west.

Some had to leave the campus, but afraid to venture far visited in the outskirts of Farmville, namely Nancy Parrish, Betty Parrish, Margaret Lohr, and Anna Headley.

Others who found their interests away from school were Judy Reick in West Point, Nancy Wilkerson in Kenbridge, Connie Young in Covington, Faith Weeks in Baltimore, Md., and Sue McCorkle in Lexington. Doris Harper visited in Washington, D. C., and Marie Cralle in Village.

See Cunningham

Continued from Page 3

titles, such as "Triple-paced," "Root of an Unfocus", "Idyllic Song", "Tossed as it's Untroubled", "The Unavailable Memory Of", "Totme Ancestor," Excerpts from "Four Walls" and "Spontaneous Earth". After the program a mad dash was made back stage to see the entertainer, but Miss Kay rated as the lucky member of the crew, for she was the only person who met and talked with him.

Homeward bound, they stopped off for a quick snack, and then schoolward. With only a few minor accidents that delayed them for a short time, the trip was quickly done. Still singing (these STCers die hard), they arrived at the Rotunda ready for any trip that may be planned in the future to attend another dance recital.

The Y

Continued from Page 2

need
Thy heavenly succour give Help us in thought, in word, in deed,
Each hour on Earth we live!

Good Quality—Good Quantity and Good Service
Collins Florist
Phone 181—Day
Phone 4—Night

For good food
Tall cold Pepsi-Cola
Phone 522
SHANNON'S

Best Sandwiches and Plate Lunches in Town
Come in and see for yourself
The College Shoppe

PATTERSON'S Patronize
HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND MONTAGUE STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

TRY
Lynn's Jewelry Store
For men's and ladies'
IDENTIFICATION BRACELETS

Try Newberry's First for all your Christmas Needs
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

FOR BEST SODAS and and FOUNTAIN SERVICE
Visit
Chappell Co.

Be a neat college girl
Keep your clothes clean and pressed
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PHONE 78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

Have a "Coke" = Eat, drink and enjoy yourself

. . . or adding refreshment to a backyard barbecue

Plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola helps make any barbecue a success. Have plenty of "Coke" ice-cold and ready to drink. When you shop, remember to ask for Coca-Cola. Everywhere, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a high-sign of hospitality in the American home.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
Coca-Cola Bottling Company Farmville, Virginia

Coca-Cola ... the global high-sign

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

© 1944 The C-C Co.

HAND IT TO HER!
from $1.00 to $4.98
Gift-appeal gloves for every glamour girl! Day-time fabrics and pigkin shorties—sports-loving wool mittens—all priced for your Merry Christmas giving!
BALDWIN'S

LOVELY gloves in lush colors. Suedes, leather. From
2.25 to 3.98

WARM fuzzy mittens in bunny white
1.00 to 1.98

SLICK shorties in quality leather
2.98 to 3.98

Library
State Teachers College
Farmville, Virginia.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING

The Rotunda

DON'T MISS RED-GREEN CLASHES

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 29, 1944 | Number 10

Issue of Colonnade Will Appear Soon Knapton Revealed

Dedicate Magazine To Freshman Class

First issue of the Colonnade will appear this week according to an announcement made Monday night by Jane Knapton, editor. It will be dedicated to the freshmen class.

The prize winning stories in the annual short story contest will appear in this issue. Betty Cock's story, "A Patriotic Venture", and Ann Masloff's story, "One Step Ahead" tied for first place in the contest. Betty's story has been illustrated by Nancy Whitehead, and Ann's story has been illustrated by Virginia Terrell.

"Years of Honor" by Margaret Wilson, second place winner, and third place winner Fay Byrd Johnson's story entitled "July 21, 1943" will also be published.

Dean Martha Smith has written an article, "You—Quand Meme" for the magazine. In this she reveals her philosophy to girls.

The middle pages will present snapshots taken during rat week. There will be a picture of a sophomore having a rat "sign off", one of another "rat" proposing to a member of the faculty, and another of a rat dancing with a sailor.

Mary Parrish Viccellio presents "Home Was Never Like This", excerpts from letters written by boys and girls now overseas. "Letter Home", a poem by Betty Cock is in accord with the dedication to the freshmen.

The cover has been designed by Mary Lou Dondley. Carmen Low has cone several cartoons, "Misfits," for the magazine.

The Colonnade is now sponsoring their annual poetry contest. The poems can be any length, form, and on any subject. Contributions can be placed in the Colonnade box under the bulletin board near the auditorium or given to Jane Knapton or Sara Moling. A $5 prize is offered for first place winner, $3 for second place, and $2 for third place. The contest will end December 16.

Alumnae Will Honor Former Head of Home

The Farmville alumnae chapter of State Teachers College completed plans Wednesday to establish a scholarship in memory of the late Miss Mary White Cox, former Head of the Home, who devoted her life in service to the college. The scholarship will be awarded each year to a high school graduate of Prince Edward county. The award will be made on the basis of scholarship and citizenship. Mrs. J. B. Wall, Mrs. M. B. Coyner, and Miss Mary Clay Hiner were named a committee to arrange final details.

Mrs. Roy Pearson was elected president of the chapter to succeed Mrs. J. B. Wall. Mrs. T. D. Smith, Mrs. R. E. Withers, Jr., Mrs. E. D. Brooks, Mrs. Gordon Moss, Miss Louise Richardson and Miss Ottie Craddock were elected vice-presidents; Miss Lillian Minkle, treasurer and Miss Alice Carter, secretary. .

B. S. U. To Sponsor Service at Sunrise

Sponsored by the Baptist Student Union, a Thanksgiving Sunrise Service will be held tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock on the steps to the athletic field.

Miss Frances Copenhaver, local Baptist student secretary, will lead the morning meditation which is a part of the worship service.

Immediately following the service, the students will attend a Thanksgiving breakfast at the Baptist Student Center.

War Thanksgiving Prompts Pause To Count Blessings

(An Editorial)

Tomorrow we pause for a few minutes in our rushed schedule to think on the things for which we have to be thankful. And even in a period of war, when conditions keep us in school instead of the place even dearer our hearts—our homes—there is much for which we Americans, we Virginians, we Farmville-ites, have to be thankful.

First, and foremost, because we are here at all.

Second, because we are Americans, and are living in the country that is today best fed, best clothed, most prosperous, and with the most opportunities in the world. Because America is not a battlefield, and we are safe from horrors and dread of actual warfare; because we are a democratic country and do not live in fear of a mighty despot and his monstrous Gestapo; because of the recent gains made by our fighting men, we should be thankful we are Americans.

Third, because we are college students in America, with an opportunity to do a big part in rebuilding a world into the peaceful and beautiful place it was created to be, we should be thankful.

And because of many, more things, personal and national, we should be thankful. Tomorrow is a day set aside for counting one's blessings and for being thankful for them.

Though Thanksgiving, 1944, finds the world in a turmoil of war, may it find its people truly thankful for all the blessings bestowed upon them.

Mardi Gras Slated For February 10

Committees Named By Dance Chairman

Saturday, February 10 has been selected as tentative date for the Mardi Gras, annual costume dance sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu Helen McGuire, chairman revealed last night. The theme for the festival has not yet been definitely decided, but will be announced at later date, the chairman said.

Elections for the belle to reign over the ball will be held Thursday, December 7. Ballots will be obtained at the table in the hall. The slate is drawn up by a committee representing the enire student body, and the Mardi Gras queen is selected from the senior class.

Committees to work on the dance as announced by the chairman are business manager, Bobbie Scott, tickets, Edith Jones.

Continued on Page 4

Party-Dance Given For Sailors, Girls

H-S Orchestra Supplies Music

Sponsored cooperatively by the Navy V-12 Unit at Hampden-Sydney College and S. T. C., there will be a special party-dance in the Rec of the Main Building here tomorrow night. The party will begin at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening and must break up by 10:30 p. m., due to Navy regulations and the fact that there are classes here the following day.

Music for the party-dance will be brought from Hampden-Sydney in the form of their dance orchestra, led by A | S Jack Gregory. Refreshments will be served by S. T. C. girls.

All students at both schools are invited to the party. Girls will be expected to wear heels and street dresses. Members of the faculty and administration, all of whom are invited, will serve as chaperons.

"City Is Exciting, Women Are Beautiful," S. T. C. Librarian Writes from "Gay Paree"

Merritt Assigned Library Duties

"The women in this town are literally beautiful. Merely pretty ones come a dime a dozen, but every now and then, perhaps about once an hour, one suddenly brushes past a girl or woman who literally takes one's breath away," wrote Dr. LeRoy Merritt to his wife on November 2, soon after his arrival in Paris.

"Age seems to make no difference," he continued. "Almost the same can be said for matrons of 50 as can be said for ingenues of 18. Some of the same can be said for the men, too. The men on whose arms those "one-in-an-hour" type hang—and I do mean hang—seem the epitome of the immaculate and masculine gentleman."

"The people are not all beautiful or handsome, of course," Dr. Merritt went on to elaborate. "In the course of an afternoon's wanderings one can see many of the types that populate the novels of Balzac, Hugo, and DeMaupassant."

Dr. Merritt, librarian at S. T. C. now on leave of absence to serve in the armed forces, is at present stationed in Paris at the American University Center. In describing his work in a recent letter to Dr. J. L. Jarman, Dr. Merritt said, "Your reading of the New York Times has probably given you some hint of an expanded Army program to go into effect on the day of Victory over Germany. That program is now in the preparation stage and I am

DR. LeROY C. MERRITT

Job Gives Time For Personal Needs

in on the ground floor on the Library end of it."

"It is planned to place reference and recreational libraries into each basic unit of a thousand men. I am engaged in planning the training of the librarians of these collections and may do some of the teaching when the time comes. Meanwhile I am acting as librarian of a demonstration library to be used in the instruction. My specific duties will probably vary as time goes on, but I am no end pleased with having landed in a professional library situation that will expand my library experience during my stay in the Army."

To his wife on November 14, Dr. Merritt wrote, "I still very much like the setup under which I am working. Within the fact that I must fake reveille formation at 0700, and that I must show up for meals on time or go hungry, I enjoy a good deal of professional freedom. It is true, of course, that the cynic would say that its freedom to work overtime whenever I want to, but

Continued on Page 4

Bubbles Becker's Orchestra To Set Senior Dance Tempo Saturday Night, December 9

Love, Montgomery To Appear At STC Christmas Concert

Choral Groups To Participate

Jean Love, soprano, and James Montgomery, tenor, will appear as guest artists at the traditional Christmas concert to be held in college auditorium Sunday night, December 17 at 8:30 o'clock.

Born in Australia, Miss Love is an internationally-known soprano. She was granted the Nellie Melba scholarship to the University of Melbourne, studied at several conservatories of music and later did graduate work in London.

A cathedral soloist, James Montgomery is well known nationally. Much of his time is spent interpreting major oratorios.

At this annual program the junior A'Cappella Choir will open the concert, the choral club will sing Adam's "Cantique de Noel", and the Senior A'Cappella will be presented in three numbers.

The Madrigal Singers, seated around the table in Elizabethan robes as of former years, will render three numbers and the college choir will sing selections from "The Messiah".

Mary William Calvert, publicity chairman, has sent out letters to the parents of the choir and choral club members, and she has received acceptances from 21 towns and cities up to this time.

According to an announcement made this week by Alfred H. Strick, head of the Department of Music, all seats will be reserved, out of which 400 seats will be for the student body and faculty, and 150 seats will be reserved for the friends of the college in Farmville and vicinity.

Eleanor Wade, president of the Class of '45.

Shirley Pierce, honorary member Senior Class.

Girls Contributed $190 for Cigarettes For Wounded Men

One hundred and ninety dollars was collected on this campus last week as a result of the opportunity given students to contribute money for cigaretees for men in the armed forces.

The various halls of the college dormitories were canvassed, and the table in the hall was open for students to make contributions.

Each year this opportunity is made available at the college for students to have a part in this enterprise.

Y. W. C A. To Sponsor Dr. Churchill Gibson

Dr. Churchhill J. Gibson, rector of the St. James Episcopal Church, Richmond, will lead the Religious Emphasis Week services on this campus February 6 to 9, Mary Anne Jarratt, chairman of the program, revealed to the press this week.

Methodist Students Attend Conference

"We Build With Thee" is the theme for the Methodist Student Conference to be held at Camp Albemarle, Charlottesville on December 2 through 3.

eDelgates from Farmville State Teachers College will be sent to the conference at which colleges all over the state will be represented, Virginia Lee Price, president of the Wesley Foundation, has announced.

Receiving Line, Chaperons Named

Bubbles Becker and his orchestra from New York will set the tempo for the senior dance slated for December 9 from 8:30 to 12 midnight in the college gym.

Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Simkins, Mrs. Blanche Beazley, Miss Elizabeth Burger, Miss Mary Dabney, and Miss Olive T. Iler will be the chaperons for the dance, according to an announcement made this week by Pat Maddox, dance chairman.

Dora Walker Jones will head the floor committee and Mary William Calvert, Mary Lib Harvey, Marilyn Johnson , Marian Orange, Ann Mapp, and Alice Nichols will serve on the committee.

In the receiving line for the dance will be Dr. J. L. Jarman, Dean Martha Smith, Miss Olive T. Iler, Mr. Raymond French; the senior class officers, Eleanor Wade, Marilyn Johnson, Sally Robertson, and Mary Walker Watts; and dance chairman, Pat Maddox and Shirley Pierce, honorary member of the class.

Class Colors Decorate Gym

The gym will be decorated with the senior class colors, green and white, and with cartoons of a senior's typical day. Eleanor Correll is chairman of the decorations with Carol Diggs and Virginia Terrell assisting her.

The annual figure will be before intermission. During the figure the members of the class will be presented with a dance program. Betsy Caldwell is committee head for the figure, and Marilyn Bell for the programs.

The figure will be led by Eleanor Wade and Shirley Pierce.

Tickets on Sale Next Week

Tickets for the dance will go on sale Tuesday, December 5, on second floor Rotunda. They will be 80c per person and $1.60 per couple. Helen Wilson and Sally Robertson are in charge of tickets. Tickets will also be sold at the door Saturday night.

Senior will wear the traditional white for the dance, and underclassmen are requested not to wear it.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

The College Library will NOT be open at all on Thursday, November 30, Thanksgiving Day. However, it WILL be open as usual, from 7:45 o'clock to 10:45 o'clock Wednesday night.

* * *

There will not be an issue of the Rotunda next week. The editors et al, need a rest, but that is not the reason.

* * *

Correction: Students will be expected to return from the Christmas vacation on Wednesday, January 3 instead of Tuesday, January 2, as printed in last week's Rotunda. Classes will be resumed on Thursday morning, January 4 at 9 o'clock a. m.

* * *

Last minute report from the Dean's Office reveals that students will have Saturday night privileges tonight and tomorrow night.

Come On Out— Support Your Colors

Tomorrow will mark one of the highlights of the college year here when the Red and Whites and the Green and Whites will clash, first in the traditional Color Rush and later on the hockey field.

For years the Color Rush and the hockey games on or as near as possible to Thanksgiving Day have represented the epitome of Farmville spirit, and this year will be no exception. Those who will run in the halls in the morning and those who who will meet on the athletic field in the biggest games of the year, have spent weeks in preparation for the day, and every single student should be on hand to support her color at both events. These events stand for something here at Farmville that is a big part in making the Farmville spirit the living, vital thing it is, and that spirit must not waver or die.

So, we repeat the oft-heard formula, "Come on out and support your colors!"

As Americans Are, So Is America

Even for those of us who are not students of history, the war which we are now fighting has taught us that World War I was only a military victory. Such a misconception of victory was a tragedy—another such mistake may prove fatal to the civilization of which America is a part.

We must remember that peace is not a thing to be declared and that a military victory will not solve our problems, America has endured, America has remained true to herself because she has changed many times—she grows as Americans grow. She is not governed only for the people but by the people. As Americans are, so is America.

Boys and men, your fathers, brothers, sweethearts, have gone out from every state in this union to fight for the democratic way of life, to help preserve the principles on which America was founded and to maintain the spiritual values which dignify and glorify the home, the nation, the individual. Many of these men in the armed services are making the supreme sacrifice on battlefields around the world that you and I may live.

What then is our responsibility to these men, as some of them are able to return to firesides in America after the war? We who have been given the opportunity to press onward and upward in the educational world are to be responsible for helping to see that America, for the first time, really wins the peace.

In closing we want to present to you the challenge which Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin presented to a group of college students not long ago. "This is the greatest age in the world's history and think of it, you and I are a part of it. Not to loaf in it, not to sit by the side of the road and watch events go by, but to be actors, doers of the work, to be ready when the opportunity arrives to do our part. You are the molders of the destiny of your country. You possess sentiment, dreams, conscience, enthusiasm, the fire of the Gods. Keep the fire burning and dedicate your services to your God and your country.

Life will not be shabby, drab, but a thing of light and flame, and you will aid in solving many of mankind's problems, a glorious job you have in front of you."

—V. E. T.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Leila Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spryer, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelson, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Haysett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1944

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

At the rate we're sinking Japanese ships one would think there couldn't be many more left. Nimitz has announced that Navy carrier aircraft sank 18 ships last week. "This is the largest bag of enemy shipping in Pacific aerial warfare since the great Philippines sea battle." Luzon is the center now of our bombing and strafing attacks. Tokyo is also getting her share of the big American Superfortresses.

* * * *

Reports from Chungking state that in South Central China Japanese troops are driving westward and are close to the Kweichow border. Also they are moving southward toward the Indo-China border. As yet there is no proof of the plausibility that the Japanese have captured Nanning.

* * * *

"In Europe our American armies smashed forward on the Western front in battles of undiminshed fury. They breached the German's Vosges mountain positions with a 10-mile thrust through the Saales Pass to the Alsace Plain, captured Weisweiler on the road to Cologne and overran 10 Nazi-held fortresses in the old Maginot line." Despite the heavy fighting the great battle of the Rhine is yet to be fought. The Germans are "digging in" in the town of Faenza as British and Polish forces close in. Twenty miles north of Pistoia Americans seized Mt. Belvedise. Italian politics also are in a mess with the resignation of the government of Premier Bonomi.

* * *

The Russians have made their usual capture of several towns. On a 60-mile front in Czechoslovakia the victims were the important communications centers of Michalovce and Humenne. In Hungary it was the vital rail hub of Hatvan.

* * * *

Are you riding with the Sixth War Loan Drive? Don't be left behind.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

This past week-end has been the most eventful of many, many past week-ends—on campus as well as off. Carlotta Norfleet trekked to West Point for a few days with a stopover in New York on her return . . . Bracey dashed up to Yale for a brief stay . . . and Betty Blackwell was at an Annapolis hop for a few days.

Orange's stay in Richmond was rather disastrous but Philhower's was lovely since there was Tynes . . . Q. Trower was in Richmond with "Mere" again.

K. P. and "Kuku" are beginning to be the usual sight in these parts . . . And one of the newest combinations is Lucy McKenry and Les Andrews, long a favorite around and about . . . "The Brow" can't make up his mind—or so it seems.

And Goldberg is known as "The Philosopher", having been termed many other things in the past.

Betsy Dunn is now dating one of the town's more oustanding catches .Good luck to her. They say he's hard to keep.

It is sad to relate but no helpful suggestions have been received concerning the present date crisis in the senior class for the near-approaching dance.

Short Story: Mary Lou Dondley and Susan Durrett were escorting the minister's small nieces to church on Sunday. One of the churchs' kindly ladies stopped them after the service and offered, "Oh, now I know you-all have just come to town. Your husbands couldn't get off this week-end? I know just how it is. What darling little girls! Now you must give me your names and addresses so some of the ladies can get around to see you. We're so glad you're here—we always want you Army wives to feel right at home."

Need a date? Latest method is called "Teddy Bear Cinch" or "Bring 'Em Back with a Kleenex". Patent is now pending but she will be glad to give fully explanations to anyone interested as she feels it is such a blessing to womankind.

None other than Flight Officer Johnnie Wray was quite the attention in the Rotunda Friday

Continued on Page 4

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

The theme of the library exhibit for December is "The Hope of the World". Go by and see it in the Browsing Room.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, the Baptist students will sponsor a Thanksgiving sunrise service at the steps off the athletic field. All students are invited to attend this service and the breakfast immediately following in the Student Center.

The theme for prayers this week is "Grounds for Thanksgiving." Tonight there will be a special program. Tomorrow night the subject is "God reigns over the Nations" and for Friday night, "God Heals the Broken-Hearted."

The Westminister Fellowship had an open fellowship meeting Monday. A movie "Chaplains in War", was shown in the audio-visual room. Sunday night at 6:45 Mrs. Charles McRae will review the home mission study book "So Many People," at the Presbyterian Church. A fellowship hour will follow.

"We're very quick to voice complaints, and govern life with a frown if things go wrong and all our castles crash and tumble down. We air our little grievances when we come home at night—and in that frame of mind you find that nothing turns out right. If only we could make a list—a new one every day—of all the blessings we receive as we go on our way—we'd never reach the end of it. You'd be surprised to find how many lovely little things would crowd into your mind. God pours his blessings from above—but we're blind to see—and so we are the victims of our own stupidity. We fret our little lives away—we weep and doubt and grieve. If only we could lift our hands and gratefully receive the blessings he bestows on us if we but watch and pray and look beyond the clouds to see the glory of each day."—Patience Strong.

Richardson Frosh Anticipate Nightly Sale of Sandwiches

By HELENE GRIFFIN

"Sandwiches; Sandwiches! Anybody 'wanna' sandwich?" Does anybody want a sandwich??!!!! What a question! Doors fly open, all shapes and sizes of our bedrobed classmates dash out to grab a "bite to eat"—a thin dime is quickly pressed into the seller's hand and a luscious tomato onion, olive, or deviled ham sandwich is given in return.

Just how do these "Sandwich Maidens" know when to sell? We think it's uncanny the hours they appear in our halls.

Take Richardson for instance. The hall lights are low, the time is 10:00 P. M. Almost no sounds come forth from the various rooms save the stomachs that are heard growling, but, no one does anything about it. We're just about ready to take on our last dry piece of graham cracker, when suddenly the front door opens, a voice yells again, "Anybody want a sandwich?" The doors bang open, and the ones in the front room attack first—the two gals carrying the welcome "staff of life" are immediately lost to view under the onslaught of these "starved" freshmen. By the time our first regiment has subsided, the "infantry" from second floor pours down the stairs . . . shouting, "Got change? Have any tomatoes left? . . . Quit shoving! Oh, shucks, I dropped mine, oh well, it's just as good that way, I guess!" Nothing absolutely nothing, daunts our "fearless fosdicks" as they gobble down this American novelty. Have I failed to state why we're doing all this? We're hungry with a capital "H".

By now the two shuddering girls standing in the living room are gradually calming down. Fearing the worst, they quaveringly ask, "Do you all want us to come in again?" The answer is deafening, that their very lives are endangered if they don't, is made very definite by our young and ravenous sandwich eaters.

The front door shuts, every one troops back to her room munching away on her bread and spread. The room reached, she finishes her snack, heaves a long, contented sigh and is ready to be tucked it. The only trouble is, she wishes she had another. The thought never occurred to us to take 20c down and buy two, oh, no!! We were in too big a rush to buy that one (and come to think of it, we were lucky to get that one!)

We're dreaming of that man, or of the holidays, or something equally as exciting . . . all at once we sit bolt upright in bed, clutch our stomachs, stare into the darkness and wonder what the world happened. It didn't take us long, now we know, it was that onion sandwich (our stomachs are growling louder than when we were starving). We groan, flop back, turn over and go back to sleep, dreaming now that hundreds of little onions are chasing us over a loaf of bread.

The next morning dawns bright and clear, but not so us, the night's memories haunting us. Oooh! finally we get up and are surprised to discover we're O. K. No arsenic in those onions!

The day passes, and as night come upon us we are first in our hall to buy from the two girls who come about 10:00 . . . . yelling—"Sandwiches! Onion, tomato. Sandwiches."

Question of the Week

What do you find hardest to do at S. T. C.?

Carol Diggs: Please Miss Wheeler.

Alice Ann Abernathy: Go home.

Barbara Montgomery: Get up for a first period class.

Dottie Overcash: Study!

Louise "F. T." Rives: To keep from writing Joe and settle down to the books.

Mar Kent Stevens: Leave on week-ends!

Any Senior: Get a date for senior dance.

Charlotte Hutter: To tolerate my roommates snitching my clothes while I'm bathing!

"Birdie" Sarver: Run from Mrs. McCoy!

Bobbie Graham: Go to bed!

Mr. Reid: Have the girls do what they ought to do and keep her good will.

Mrs. Hamner: To get the girls to check in when they should and tell the boys goodnight.

Miss Peck: To tolerate those plaid shirts at dinner.

Miss Blackwell: To see the waste of time that goes on around us.

Mrs. McCoy: Keeping the girls from coming down for phone calls in trench coats, minus skirts.

D. J. Hancock: Be nice to Hutter.

Boots Bralley: Concentrate.

Julie Booher: Wash my clothes.

Joyce Hill: Get my dates scheduled!! (note sarcasm)

Betty Harville: Taking 60 words per minute in shorthand class.

"Frances" Davis: To find JOAN.

Ginny Travis: To tell the truth.

Gin T. Pullen: To keep B. Ellis from becoming a mental case.

Betty Ellis: To try to keep Gin T. Pullen from gaining weight.

Mart Droste: Stay here over the week-ends and be without Bill.

Faith Weeks: Study! .....

Jane Philhower: Keep from starving to death.

Frances Lee: To find time to write to my lilac bush.

Sue Hundley: To keep my hair from getting so kinky.

Heidi Lacey: To get up.

Betty Minetree: Having my shorthand transcript ready to hand in on Monday.

Joyce Higgins: To get a little piece of sleep.

Dot Owen: Go to chapel.

Jane Waring Ruffin Go to bed.

Anonymous To get to Farmville in time for Senior Dance!

Bulletin Boards, Pin-Ups Add Life, Vitality to Dorm Room

By MARGARET VALTON

There comes a time in the life of every S. T. C. girl when—when—when—yes; she decides to fix up her room! Not just bed spreads, curtains, drapes but to liven it up with multiposed pictures and gay posters. Call it a fad if you must, but it is lots of fun and oh! so easy on the eye. No more bare colorless walls stare us in the fact but life! beauty! color! from dawn to morn!

On the backs of doors and from the molding swing pictures—anything from scantily-clad, beautifully shapen "Petty girls" to the joyful postwar "Molly and me and baby makes three" reunions. And who said men weren't allowed in S. T. C. dorms? Just walk in any of the rooms and take your pick (Well, we admit they aren't animated but they are the manageable type). Everywhere you turn G.I. Joe grins or big-time marine stares or a sailor give you a "come-hither" look or you just float around on the wings of an air corps man. If we can't have our men we'll cling to a reasonable facsimile until they do come back.

And some of the poses of the couples on paper! Would that they were real!! Who isn't familiar with the crew-cut, ribbon ladden ensign embracing a lovely young girl dressed in pale blue. And then those "Back Home for Keeps." They are just too good to be true! To look at the soldier and girl enfolded in each other's arms in front of the fireplace sends you dreaming of a postwar peaceful world. More than once we find ourselves wishing we were paper instead of human—well, just for a few moments—Oh Heavenly!! (Five minutes, please,

Continued on Page 3

Reds, Greens Clash, Color Rush, Hockey

Hockey Tourney Climaxed Thurs.

Tomorrow, November 30, is a big day in the athletic world at STC. The hockey games between the juniors and seniors, and the freshmen and sophomores are to be played immediately after lunch. The game between the freshmen and sophomores will determine whether the frosh will remove their rat caps or not. These games were to be the final games for the hockey season, but due to uncontrollable weather conditions the games Monday and Tuesday were cancelled. They will be played some time next week a date being set later in this week. Last week's games proved profitable for the juniors and seniors. The juniors beating the freshmen 1-0, and the seniors defeating the sophomores 3-0.

Captains of this year's hockey teams are Helen Wilson, senior, Margaret Orange, junior, Anne Tucker, sophomore, and Jerry Colgin, freshman. The winner of the hockey tournament will be declared the school champions, but the two teams gaining the most points will win the ten points toward the color cup.

Girls playing on the teams are seniors, RW Martha Higgins, LI Bobbie Scott, CF Mary Walker Watts, LI Alice Nichols, LW Betsy Caldwell, LH Edith Lovins, LF Ophelia Whittle, CH Margaret Bear, RF Helen Wilson, RH Nell Fleming, G Margaret Massey. Juniors, RW Betty Ellis, RI Frances Lee, CF Margaret Orange, LI Louise Blane, LW Kitty Wright, LH Phyliss Watts, LF Lillian Elliott, CH Lucille Jones, RF Regina Portinaro, RH Martha Watkins, G Peggy Ross.

Sophomores, RW Mary Harrison, RI Sue Hundley, CF Margaret Ellett, LI Kitty Bridgforth, LW Anne Tucker, LH Nellie Smith, LF Judy Connelly, CH Margaret Lohr, RF Virginia Anderson, RH Betty Parrish, G. Beanie Dudley. Freshmen, RW Peepsie Brooks, RI Georganne Lewis, CF Jerry Colgin, LI Kitty Hankins, LW Jean Bentley, RH Mary Anne Morris, LF Susan Dickerson, CH Julia Booher, RF Dot White, LH Anne Abernathy, G Betty Minton.

Cheering these grls on to victory are class cheerleaders, Marilyn Bell, Ann Blair, Marilyn Johnson, seniors, Beverly Peebles, Virginia Shackelford, Anne Summers, juniors, Lou Baker, Betty Lee, Jane Rowe, sophomores and Corrine Baker, Berkley Richardson and Joyce Wilson, freshmen.

Dorm Life

Continued from Page 2

while we pull ourselves back out of this world of stardust and romance — we'll never make the Rotunda deadline this way.)

As for the bulletin boards in the different girl's rooms—well, they are a little like Mom's stew. They have everything on them — picturesques speech from Magazines, newspapers and books, snapshots of "the man" and those wonderful times spent together, photos of the gang back home or here, telephone calls, specials, telegrams, corsage ribbons, dance cards, football stubbs, college and service pins, army, navy and marine stripes and insignias. Anything you want to save and don't have room in the desk just stick it on the bulletin board! To each girl her bulletin board is something special and personal, bearing hopes, dreams, fears, and beautiful memories.

So if you haven't fixed up your room—get the urge. It doesn't take too much time nor trouble and the improvement is 100 per cent plus.

KEEP ON
Backing the Attack
WITH WAR BONDS

Betty Ellis, president of Orchesis

Orchesis Presents Christmas "Sing"

Choir To Assist With Programs

With evidences of war all about us here at home and abroad, Orchesis is planning its Christmas program around the traditional themes of the season. The spirit of Christmas as seen through the eyes of the young child will predominate. It is that which will remain when this seething world-wide holocaust has spent itself.

The Processional in which all members and apprentices of Orchesis take part will head the program while members of the Madrigal Group of the college choir will sing "Adeste Fideles". which is sung in all Protestant as well as Catholic churches throughout the world. It is the most universal song of the Christmas time. Its history has never been authentically traced, but authorities feel certain that it was one of the old Latin carols originally danced and sung around the Praesepium. If one would attempt to sing it in a slightly increased tempo, giving it a lilting rhythm, its relationship to the early creche dance is most evident.

"Lullaby" is second on the program. This is last year's recital composition reworked because some of last year's members did not return to school. It is still Spanish, still emphasizes the re-bozo shawl, always worn by Latin Americans, but its stress now will be in its application as a form exposed for this holiday season.

No one knows for certain if this is the oldest type of carol, but as the lullaby or mother song is one of the oldest types of expression in folk music, it is safe to assume that the earliest Christmas songs were the manger songs or llabies which the French call Berceuses and the Germans Wiegenlieder.

As mother rocked and sang to her own baby, it was natural that she would put into her song all the heavenly love reflected from the story of the Virgin singing to the Divine Babe of Bethlehem. Into her song crept not only that rocking, lilting rhythm that distinguishes cradle songs, but also the simple pure melody that has ever reflected the depth of true mother love.

"O Holy Night" one of the group of songs coming from those centering around the night of Christ's birth will be sung by esther Shevick, a member of Orchesis and the Madrigal singers. Songs telling of the beauty of this night are to be found in every Christmas land; some among the legendary folk-songs, others in the list of composed chorals. "O Holy Night" is of the latter group by a French composer of the early 19th century.

"To Those Who Will Speak" will be repeated because (to quote a member of the club) "it expresses the emptiness of our verbal expressions for those who have fallen in the fields of far-flung battlefronts. It is the thoughts in our hearts, the symbolism of our faiths and the cradling of their broken bodies by the elements of the earth, the sea and the wind which speak for all of us."

"Silent Night", the most popular of the songs of the Holy Night group will be sung by the Madrigal group. This lovely yet simple song has a most interesting history. In the year 1818, Franz Gruber, the school master and organist of the little church at Oberndorf, found that the organ could not be used for the Christmas Eve program. He was in despair, for he knew that no help could come from outside as there was a blizzard raging in the mountains. He therefore, suggested to the vicar that a new song would help the situation. So he composed the melody and the vicar, Josef Mohr, wrote the verses. Days later when the organ repair man came, Gruber played the composition for him. He insisted on a copy being given him. Soon after a band of Tyrolese singers included the song in their program of Tyrolese melodies which they brought with them to America. It became known here sooner than in Europe. These singers used the air in an arrangement by Michall Hayden, brother of the great Franz Joseph Hayden, to whom the song was attributed. This error occurs in many song collections of today.

"Annunciation" is a totally new departure for Orchesis. Well-known paintings of the nativity were studied to choose one that could best be used as a basis for

Continued on Page 4

Banner Carriers To Begin at 9:30

Beginning a day of athletic events, STC's Thanksgiving Day November 30, will be opened by the Color Rush at 9:30 Thursday morning. This is an annual event, and one which draws the interest of every loyal student. The winner of this event will gain five points for the color cup for their class colors. Two runners representing red and white, and green and white will run on Library Hall, Rotunda, Student, Whitehouse, Junior and Senior Buildings. The girls will have the honor of tying their colors on the front of the building in which they run.

All girls must be out of their rooms by 9:30, or if they are in bed, must stay in their rooms with the door shut. Anyone found on the halls besides the runners and judges will cause a foul on her class colors.

Runners from each class are seniors, Edith Lovins, Jean Prosise and Mary Walker Watts, juniors, Louise Blane, Frances Lee, and Kitty Wright; sophomores Mary Jane King, Heidi Lacey, and Betty Parrish, and freshmen, Betty Burchard, Eloise Hanes and Joyce Johnson.

JUST RECEIVED—
a new shipment of Shetland wool and knitting needles!
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Left Lead

FREE FOR ALL

Lucky Friday! Just ask anybody. When the time comes that Madame is rolling about on the ground, literally bowled over with laughter, that's the time we wish we could have been along . . . just for the ride.

It started first hour and went on all afternoon. To begin with, Cokie has turned out to be lots more cooperative than Mr. Graham in providing an opening in the fence at the low end, near the jumps. It isn't exactly a gate, but at least it's exit-space, and there was very little labor involved on Cokie's part. Anyhow, Joyce built a brush jump in the bare space, and Pioneer Ellis paved the way over it, up on the none too interested Phantom Lady. All went well en route over the rest of the jumps, so Jean Carter and Gypsy followed suit. With the personality Gypsy has, and the facial expression that was seconded only by that on Jean Carter, laugh-provoking results are understandable.

But this was nothing. Picture Mary Sterrett on the pony. A perfect jump . . . and then a three-point landing with Mary on the pony's neck and "out of the saddle" but definitely! And speaking of facial expressions, we understand this is the one which stole the show for the afternoon. This, too, is The Incident which doubled Joyce up on the ground in the middle of the ring. So then Joyce tried, and fair Gypsy turned the tables . . . and the laugh was on the Madame. Gypsy gave a repeat performance of Longwood before she was lured back to the scene of destruction. All in all it was a very educational afternoon, and there was some real jumping done by Lucille Jones and the colt, so 'twas a worthwhile afternoon after all.

COMPETITION

On the way to the Haunted House flew the faithful Saturday class, under strict care of Lightnin' and J. Carter. Due to the absence of Joyce, a half-chopped-down tree made the riders wary, and when a pack of hounds and a few energetic-looking hunters turned up on the trail, our girls

Continued on Page 4

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Football

Last Saturday afternoon found a group of S. T. C.'ers dressed in the now-known garb of bluejeans and plaid shirts playing touch football behind the library. Not all of them were strictly the athletic type, and even a few of them although very feminine proved to be pretty good players. This has become the latest recreation on a lazy Saturday afternoon, and it is open to any girl who has the energy to run up and down for an hour or so.

Touch football isn't really as rough as it sounds, and the rules although similar to regular football aren't hard to learn. The idea of the game, is to catch the girl with the ball, and touch her on any part of her body. The moment you touch her, that is the first down, and so on with the regular rules of the game. It's lots of fun, and some Saturday afternoon when you are feeling rough and ready, come on out and join the gang they'd love to have you, and you'll feel better from having the exercise, we guarantee.

Outdoor Hikes

So you're a fresh air fiend! Well try getting out on a long hike some afternoon with a bunch of your friends, and you'll be surprised what fun it can really be. Go on an exploring trip, or if you have a destination in mind, set out with a brisk walk, and even if you have to slow down before you get there, you will get the full benefit of the good air.

If it's a cold brisk day, like they have been lately, then bundle up good, and either walk or trot quickly, because the minute you stop to think about the cold, the colder you are going to get. If it is a nice sunshiny afternoon, then you are going to have a chance to look over Farmville, and it is really a very pretty place. Getting close to nature is always lots of fun, and doing it with other people seems to make it extra-special.

Dancing

Do you want to be a wallflower? Naturally that is a very silly question, but some girls refuse to do anything about not being able to dance. Although dancing isn't the most important thing, it is one of the important things in a social life. Everyone should have some idea of what to do and how to act on a dance floor, and it is so easy to learn. If you aren't born with a natural rhythm, then learn to develop one.

Every night of the week, somewhere throughout the dormitories you can hear a "tic" playing sweet and low, or fast and hot records.

Continued on Page 4

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance
Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

PHONE 360
Vanity Beauty Shop
Permanent waves our specialty
142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

New Shipment
Of ANKLETS—
Plaid and Solid Color
59c
Dorothy May

SHOP IN NOVEMBER
FOR CHRISTMAS AND IT'S
DAVIDSON'S
FOR ONE STOP
CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
FARMVILLE'S LARGEST AND FINEST DEPARTMENT STORE

Underclassmen Advised To Go Gala In Colors To Senior Dance—No Whites

(Ed. note: Because the suggestions offered herein still apply this year we are reprinting an article from the Rotunda of November 21, 1943, by Jane Smith, class of '44.)

On the week-end following Thanksgiving, the high and mighty seniors celebrate senior dance. The traditional white dresses and the figure and the senior no-breaks are long awaited moments from rat days up.

But I am not writing this to advocate being a senior, but as a none too gentle reminder to underclassmen that at senior dance only seniors are to wear white dresses. Even if your rich uncle just sent you a luscious white dream for the occasion, pack it away in tissue paper for another day and go press the three year old pastel.

In addition to reminding you that seniors are the only ones who can look like angels in white net this time, I would offer some suggestions for rearranging the old favorites. Evening dresses are hard to get and are getting harder. Not only that, but such things as satin and brocades to fixe new jackets just aren't available at any price. So the renovation job is a hard one.

If your blue net is getting that frayed look around the edges, try binding the bottom of the skirt with a ribbon a shade darker and then adding more rows of ribbons at intervals on the skirt. The dime store will furnish the material and you won't have to send it home to mother to fix.

A blue ribbon suggestions—tie a multitude of little bows and tack them in a flurry down one side of your skirt. Use bright colors and don't be afraid of new color combinations.

If you can sew, try a merger. Put a black net skirt over your rose or aqua taffeta. Save a scrap of net for a glamorous scarf for your hair. If you desire decorations, purchase a quantity of inexpensive flowers and sew them around your skirt about three to five inches from the waist. They serve a double purpose, make wilted net skirts sit out like new and change whole line of the dress.

Just be extra sure you don't create any black looks from the seniors by wearing white. Remember, this is their dance.

S. T. C. Librarain

Continued from Page 1

I am also free to take off when I want to and need to take care of personal affairs. Even though in a military setting, it is very definitely a professional job."

In telling more of Paris, Dr. Merritt went on in his letter to Dr. Jarman to say, "I am finding Paris to be a wonderful and exciting city, far more beautiful than any I have seen so far, with the possible exception of Washington, D. C., which was after all, planned by a French architect."

"My only regret", he wrote, "is that someone, from my high school principal right on up to Miss Draper, didn't persuade, cajole, bully, or beat me into taking French. I resent being hampered by language, and resent spending time on it, when so many other things, official and personal, clamor for my limited 24 hours a day."

Speaking further of Paris to his wife, Dr. Merritt wrote, "Hair-does are definitely on the up swing, with the hair swept into a standing reef over the forehead, sometimes as much as five inches high, and seemingly supported by some inner cardboard or something. Some children beg gum and chocolate, but in a nice way, not like 'Any gum, chum' of the limey kids."

"Children, women, and men, too, are remarkably well dressed, attractively dressed, smartly dressed. Standing guard out in front of the place is almost a pleasure for that reason alone," he commented soon after his arrival in "Gay Paree". "Kids all seem smooth-skinned and pleasant of face. It seems remarkable how little the war has touched those I have seen hereabouts," Dr. Merritt remarked.

Mardi Gras

Continued from Page 1

chairman, Gloria Sheppard; advertising, Mary Ann Jarratt, chairman, Virginia Lee Abernathy; floor show, Marilyn Bell, chairman, Eleanor Biese; decorations, Jane Waring Ruffin, chairman, Lelia Holloway; Virginia Radogna, Roberta Davis; orchestra, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, chairman, Dorothy Overcash; costumes, Mary Sterrett, chairman, Josephine Shaffner; and floor committee, Carolyn Huddle, chairman, and Alice Feitig.

Elementary Grades Present Programs

Under the direction of Lorraine Agee, Martha Ellen Jones, and Mrs. Clyde Bradshaw, the third, fourth, and fifth grades will present a program of Christmas music in Chapel Tuesday, December 12.

The children will sing the traditional Christmas carols of the various nations of the world. Explanation of the carols will be given by the pupils, and they will also assist in conducting the program.

Preceding this program, on Friday, December 8, the second grade, led by Margie Hewlett, will present a musical program in Chapel. The program will be the culmination of a study of various songs by the pupils.

Bed Check

Continued from Page 2

night as all of second and third floor Main stood with envy as Mary Gardiner Martin went down to see "her man." And now we understand why there has been so much lovelight in her eyes lately. Oh, yes, and Charlotte West lost no time in getting home to see "little Billy, hold me," at least, that's what his name sounds like to us.

A full-piece symphony orchestra is slowly being procured here at the college. In addition to "The Ukelele," famed of song and story and Senior Annex, we now have a guitar. It's owners have also purchased "How to Play a Guitar in Six Easy Lessons" so we are expecting a concert in the near future. It has not yet been announced as to who will be the stars of the performance.

Perhaps this is old for most of you. It still holds true, nevertheless: "Money talks." "Yeah, the only thing it ever says to me is, 'Good-bye'."

Dance Chairman

Pat Maddox, chairman of the Senior Dance. For story see page 1.

Orchesis

Continued from Page 3

movement in the religious and secular medieval manner with accents on costuming, color staging and lighting. Prints of the painting which inspired the composition will be on display a week before the concert. These are Fra Filippo Lippi's "The Annunciation," Fra Cornevale's "'Birth of the Virgin", Gerald David's "The Annunciation" and Simone Martins "The Annunciation"

"Carol" is the last number. It also evolved as a result of the study of paintings of which Sandro Batticelli's "The Nativity" is used. The fluttering ring of angels overhead suggested a carol which would be in keeping with the rest of the program. The Carol as a Christmas dance has a most interesting history. It dates back to the very first religious services, and signifies one of the many attempts made by the early church fathers to combine the religious and secular music of the people.

St. Francis of Assissi felt that the first Christmas should become a living reality in the minds of the young people in his congregation. The simple way was to dramatize the event, and have all the young poeple themselves participate in the celebration. A replica of an infant's cradle was set up in his church in Greece on Christmas Eve in 1224 and a lovely waxen doll was laid therein. To this holy altar the children brought gifts, the young people brought songs and dances, and the elders brought prayers as tribute to the new born King, the Presepium, or Creche, originated.

As time went on, these creches in the churches became more popular and often most elaborate. But always there was dancing in a circle about the Creche and it was these circle dances that developed into the first Christmas Carols that have come down to us. Today the symbolism of all this remains.

This program is under the direction of Miss Emily Kauzlarich, dance instructor, and will be held December 9, just after supper, before the senior dance. Girls included in the program are Betsy Caldwell, Betty Ellis, Vivian Edmunds, Shirley Cruiser Earlene Kimmerling, Heidi Lacey, Frances Lee, Edith Lovins, Margaret Harvie, Jean Parry, Isabel Ransone, Estlier Shevick, Marilyn Bell, Jean Smith, Frances Timmons, and Nancy Whitehead.

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

The promise of a closed weekend ahead scared many of us to take our cuts or get in some visiting beforehand. So, to Lynchburg went Gwen Ackiss, Annette Anthony, Betty Bibb, Eleanor Corell, Mary William Calvert, Charlotte Hutter and Doris Hancock.

Visiting in Bedford were Sarah Ballard, Grace Anderson, Edith Apperson, Mae Ballard and Dorothy Blair. To Suffolk went Alice Hannock, Sue Hundley, and Ann Martin. Mary Lee Farrier and Martha Lee visited in New Castle.

The cutest people of the week are Carlotta Norfleet and Louise Putney who journeyed to New York. Betsy Dillard and Elizabeth Motley drew second prize by spending the week-end in Washington, D. C. Not to mention Margaret Brace, who went to Yale and Betty Blackwell who was Annapolis bound.

Rosa Hill, Katie Lawrence and Barbara Brown spent the weekend in Windsor, and Ann Clark, Dawn Holcombe and Gladys Lankford in Franklin.

In Richmond were Barbara Brown, Louise Blane, Hilda Bennett Lucy Bowling. Ann Brushwood. Eva Cobb, Nell Coleman, Marion Chase, Dot Cox, Shirley Didlake, Betty Ellis, Marion Estes, Ann Kingdon, Sara Leech, Shirley Mankin, Barbara Montgomery and Glennis Moore.

Chatham lured Nan Sours, Ann Gray Bell, Ruth Jones, Isabel Key and Cora Redd. And Betty Deuel Cock and Janie Hanks had fun in Hampton. Likewise, Mary Ann Clark in Dinwiddie.

In Winston-Salem were Kitty Maddox, Ann Summers, Dottie Overcash, and Glenn Ann Patterson, and in Petersburg were Lou Baker, Kitty Parham, Frances Bell, Betty Harville and Bettie Lively.

Home in Chase City was Tinnie Bigger; in Ivanhoe, N. C., Jo Beatty; in Altavista, Marion Bennett; in Avalon, Barbara Crowther; in Whaleyville, Jane Baives; in Carrollton, Ann Fulgham; in Toano, Mary Martin.

Cross the border in West Virginia in Bluefield were Virginia Butler, Carmen Flores and Edith Garcia, and in the war-boom city of Norfolk were Jance Halstead, Milly McWilliams, Beverly Boone, and Edith Duffy.

To Victoria went Carolyn Hardy, Alice Mae Craddock, Margaret Nevins, Charlotte Grizzard and yours truly.

Happy Turkey Day!

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

decided 'twas time and then some to come home. That pretty little trail beyond the Haunted House is popular with more than our gang.

NEWSHOUNDS

At risk of heaven-knows-what, we neglected to mention a very eventful ride that took place last week. We dare not take that risk again. It seems Sudie and Sarah doubled up bareback on the pony last week, and took off through the woods. All went well, and Sarah even jumped Lady bareback, but they were two stiff-legged young 'uns the next day. Better than no ride, though . . . . we all agree.

IF IT DOESN'T RAIN

A big day has been planned for tomorrow. A small group is leaving early in the morning to celebrate Thanksgiving by a near-cross-country, including lunch on the trail complete with campfire and singing, and all should go well . . . if the horses don't get in too thankful a mood. No turkey, maybe, but who would object to scrambled eggs and hot dogs cooked over an open fire and flavored with good old-fashioned fun and jolly companionship? Not us . . . we're off to the sound of "Jingle-jangle-jingle" and though we may be weary and worn comes the homeward trip, it'll be to the tune of "'Sing your way home," and you can bet your saddle-soap it'll be one Thanksgiving Day we will remember!

Happy Holiday . . . and don't eat too much!

Pegasus

On the Ball

Continued from Page 3

Next time the gang gathers on the hall for a jam session, come out of your shell shy one, and join them. The only way you can really learn to dance is to try it with lots of different people. After you get the fundamental steps down, then you can begin on the harder and fancier ones. You might even go so far as to learn to jitterbug, and that couldn't possibly hurt anyone.

Winter quarter of this year there will be a social dance class open for one credit to any girl in school, and taught by Miss Emily Kauzlarich. In the spring there will be a square dancing class that is always lots of fun. Come on you shy and retiring characters, come out wherever you are and learn to dance.

Until next week don't forget to stay in the game, and come out and support your colors.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

HAMBURGER SPECIAL
French Fries and Sliced Tomatoes
35c
Southside Drug Store

Stop by "MARTIN'S"
And Do Your Christmas Shopping Early
Martin the Jeweler
Farmville, Va.

Buy... Christmas Cards early
Best selection on sale
—at—
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

PHONE 78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

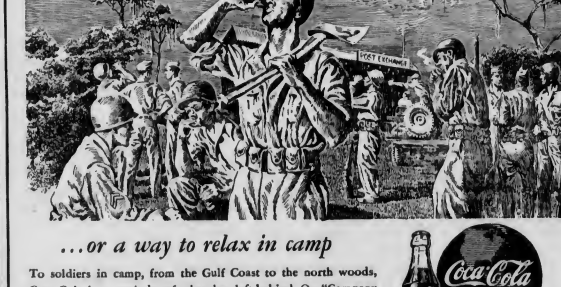
Good Quality—Good Quantity and Good Service
Collins Florist
Phone 181—Day
Phone 4—Night

For good food
Tall cold Pepsi-Cola
Phone 522
SHANNON'S

Best Sandwiches and Plate Lunches in Town
Come in and see for yourself
The College Shoppe

Patronize PATTERSON'S
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
MONTAG STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

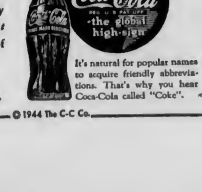


TRY
Lynn's Jewelry Store
For men's and ladies'
IDENTIFICATION BRACELETS

Try Newberry's First for all your Christmas Needs
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street



Have a Coca-Cola = Soldier, refresh yourself

...or a way to relax in camp

To soldiers in camp, from the Gulf Coast to the north woods, Coca-Cola is a reminder of what they left behind. On "Company Street" as on Main Street, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes. Ice-cold Coca-Cola in your icebox at home is a symbol of a friendly way of living.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
Coca-Cola Bottling Company Farmville, Virginia

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

© 1944 The C-C Co.

Library
State Teachers College

MERRY CHRISTMAS

The Rotunda

HAPPY NEW YEAR

VOLUME XXIV — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 13, 1944 — No. 11

Terrell Is Selected To Reign Over Annual Mardi Gras Fete

Love, Montgomery Appear as Guests at December Concert

Program Scheduled For Sunday Night

Sponsored on this campus by the College Choir and Choral Club and under the direction of Professor Alfred H. Strick, Jean Love, Australian soprano, and James Montgomery, New York lyric tenor, will appear as guest artists at the Christmas concert, Sunday night, December 17 at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium.

A native born Australian, Miss Love came to this country shortly after winning the most coveted award in Australia—the Nellie Melba Scholarship. She was the first lyric soprano and the youngest singer ever to win this scholarship.

Here in America, she has sung concerts in the East and over the radio. One of her broadcasts for the Columbia Broadcasting System has been recorded by the OWI for rebroadcast to Australia. Miss Love has also sung with many glee clubs and oratorio societies.

A New Jerseyian by birth, James Mongtgomery has sung in every medium and in every field. He has appeared from coast to coast as the leading tenor of Gilbert and Sullivan operas. In addition, he has sung in concert in oratorio, and on the radio.

Opening this traditional concert the junior A'Cappella Choir will be presented. The Choral Club will sing Adams' "Cantique de Noel" and the Senior A'Cappella Choir will sing three numbers.

Selections from "The Messiah" will be rendered by the College Choir and three numbers will be presented by the Madrigal Singers.

Many people from towns and cities throughout Virginia are expected to attend this annual concert according to an announcement made recently by Alfred H. Strick, head of the department of music.

All of the seats will be reserved of which 400 will be for the faculty and student body. Tickets will go on reserve in the registrar's office at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, December 14.

A sliver offering will be taken at the door to help defray the cost of the concert.

JEAN LOVE

JAMES MONTGOMERY

Seal Sales Total Amounts To $10.88

Rachel Brugh, head of the "Y" Service Committee, announced that the Christmas seals went on sale December the first and the drive continued through the fourth of December. The faculty held a separate sale of the seals, and this total of $10.88 does not include their sale results.

Student Body sales probably fell down because the girls parents purchased the seals sufficient for the whole family.

Alumnae Magazine Features M. W. Cox

In the recent issue of the Alumnae Issue of the Farmville State Teachers College Bulletin, appeared reports on what Farmville Alumnae are doing, pictures of those in war work, Founder's Day news, faculty news as well as a diary of a typical S. T. C. Freshman of 1943-44.

A tribute was paid to Miss Mary White Cox by the Alumnae Association through a portrait-photograph and a short sketch of her life appearing in the bulletin.

One article reports that the class of 1894 won the Jarman Attendance Award in 1944. Ten of the thirteen living members of their class returned for Founder's Day.

On the inside of the cover is the latest portrait of Dr. J. L. Jarman, as painted and presented at the June 1944 commencement, by Julia Mahood, a graduate of Farmville.

Interesting to all alumnae is a series of letters from the different class presidents, urging their class to be present at Founder's Day; and a letter from Louise Ford Waller, alumnae president.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Friday, December 15

9:05-11:05 ..... Classes meeting 11:05—MWF
11:30- 1:30 ..... Classes meeting 12:40—MWF
2:50- 4:50 ..... Classes meeting 2:50—TT

Saturday, December 16

9:05-11:05 ..... Classes meeting 9:05—TTS
11:30- 1:30 ..... Classes meeting 10:05—TTS
2:50- 4:50 ..... Classes meeting 3:50—MWF

Monday, December 18

9:05-11:05 ..... Classes meeting 11:05—TTS
11:30- 1:30 ..... Classes meeting 12:40—TTS
2:50- 4:50 ..... Classes meeting 2:50—MWF

Tuesday, December 19

8:05-10:05 ..... Classes meeting 9:05—MWF
10:30-12:30 ..... Classes meeting 10:05—MWF

A New Outlook on Christmas Time for Balancing the Books

(An Editorial)

As the twenty-fifth of December nears, everyone is filled with the "Christmas Spirit." And it means something extra special to college students here because in addition to being Christmas, it maens going home.

Christmas time is the time for good-will, and thanksgiving, and generosity, and peace among men. The last of these things is being denied many in the world this year, the many who are actually serving their country in the armed forces and their families. It is being denied them that the whole of the Christmas spirit may be preserved permanently in our nation.

But Christmas time is also a time for balancing the books of 1944, a time for summing up what has been gained and lost during the year, before we begin a new slate in 1945. With the coming of the new year we put 1944 behind us, and in these last few weeks we have an opportunity to balance up the columns, to leave the books with a gain rather than a deficit.

And for 1945, it is a new year. All past failures and successes are wiped out and each of us must begin anew, with a clean slate upon which to write 1945.

To each of the students, to the faculty and administration, we wish a very merry Christmas, and best wishes for the New Year.

BET Honor Society Presents Program

Beginning with the topic of "Introduction to and background of French Literature" Boerc Eh Thorn, honorary society in English, presented its first student program in a series of international literature at the meeting Thursday night, December 7.

The Life and Works of Andre Maurois was presented by Jane Waring Ruffin and a book review on the biography of Shelly entitled "Ariel" was given by Virginia Lee Abernathy. Virginia Treakle, chairman of the program for the evening, traced French literature from its beginning in the ninth century to today, naming some outstanding authors and works of each century.

Following the theme of "International Literature" for the year, literature by French, South American, Russian and Chinese authors will be presented in programs in the future.

Business Students Make Year's Plans

Under the direction of Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, the Commercial Club met recenly to make plans for the coming year. Committees were appointed to work on the constiution and to plan he ritual for initiation. A movie entitled "I Want a Job" was shown after the business meeting. The picture showed both good and bad traits of individuals while making personal application for a position.

The Commercial Club is composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors who are majors and minors in the field of business. Freshmen who have an average of "C" or above on twelve hours of college work, and are majoring or mnoring in business may become eligible for membership.

The officers for the coming session are president, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua; vice - president, Hersey Hutt; secretary, Minnie Rose Hawthorne and treasurer, Theresa Hutt.

Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, Frosh Represented In Court

VIRGINIA M. TERRELL

Virginia M. Terrell, senior from Richmond, was selected by the student body to reign over Pi Gamma Mu's costumed Mardi Gras ball, slated this session for February 10, Helen McGuire, chairman, revealed to the press after the recent election.

Attending the queen in the court will be three seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman. The theme as announced at the time of the election, is to be one of Spanish America.

Senior representatives in the court will be Elise Hume, Bluefield, W. Va.; Mary Watkins, Emporia; and Mary Walker Watts, Amherst, Representing the junior class will be Peggy T. Ross, Onley; and Virginia Travis, Lynchburg; and Betty Gillespie, Grundy, and Lynn Sprye, Danville, will represent the sophomore class. The single freshman on the court will be Luz Quinones, from Puerto Rico.

The various committee chairmen assisting Helen McGuire with the dance were announced recently and work is under way to carry out the Spanish-American theme in court costumes, decorations, and floor show .

Mardi Gras is the only costume ball on the campus during the year, and guests are expected to wear masks until after intermission. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes in each of several categories.

17 Girls Invited To College Choir

Seventeen girls have been invited to become members of the College Choir, Alfred H. Strick, head of the music department, revealed this week. The selection of new members was made after a month's probation period.

Girls receiving invitations were Kathleen Blankenship, freshman from Franklin; Emily Carper, junior from Rocky Mount; Anne Carter, sophomore from Cumberland; Cathryn Cregar, sophomore from Tazewell; Eula Bell Doggett, junior from Isle of Wight; Jean Freeman, freshman from Hampton; Louise Harrell, sophomore from Suffolk; Anne Haskins, freshman from McKenny; and Joy Lennan, sophomore from Raphine.

Also Nancy McCauley, junior from Danville; Lucie McKenry, junior from Arlington; Regina Pertinera, junior from Newport News; Virginia Lee Price, junior from Farmville; Frances Sifford, junior from Norfolk; Rebecca Tomlinson, sophomore from Black Creek, North Carolina; Martha Watkins, junior from Blackstone,

Continued on Page 3

$124.10 Contributed To White Christmas

One hundred twenty - four dollars and ten cents was contributed by thirty-nine organizations of the college at the White Christmas celebration held last night, Rachel Brugh, Chairman of the service committee of the YWCA, has revealed. Several other organizations have promised to contribute this week.

This money will be used to give baskets to the needy families at Christmas, to help have medical work done for the students at the high school and training school, and in the other service committee projects throughout the year.

Plans are under way to fix the baskets this Christmas to be taken to the Welfare Center to be distributed by the welfare worker.

Letter To Santa Requests Sheets, Shirts, Mops, Rugs For Russian May Day Costumes

Spreads, Drapes Desired, Too

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

S. T .C., December 12, 1944

Dear Santa Claus,

You don't remember me, because I didn't bother you for much last year. And I hate like everything to bother you for a lot this year, but Santa, just you let me tell you how it is:

It's this way: I'm taking Modern Dance at college, and right about now, when the wind's coldest and the snow-clouds are heaviest, and the trees are bare and Spring looks like a million years away . . . right about now Miss Kay (that's our dance teacher) starts us off thinking about May Day! Yes, sir, committees have been appointed, the theme has been selected, dances are being lined up . . . and the most important part of all is that we're getting costume-conscious, and that is where we need your help.

You see, I'm writing this from all of us, because if we're gonna have a colorful May Day, and an effective one, we've all gotta help the Costume committee from the very start. We know how hard things like materials and all are to get, so we've figured out, or rather Miss Kay has suggested lots of economical substitutes we can put to use. So when you go on with this letter from us, if our requests seem kinda peculiar for college girls, just remember that we're keeping May Day in mind, and personally, we don't think that we're rushing the season at all!

We're pretty sure you don't have any Russian costumes in your storehouses, but if you do, just start on out with those and park 'em in our stockings, for our theme is entirely Russian, and we're full of plans for Czars and emperors and Cossacks and everybody. So if you have any, please bring us all the Russian trinkets you can spare.

Girls Seek Substitutes

And Santa . . . please bring our mothers some new sheets. You see, Miss Kay wants us to bring back after Christmas all the old sheets we can beg from around home. We hafta have some of those sacky-looking things, and nothing can beat a bed-sheet for a drape-shape. Also, please bring Pop all the new shirts you can spare, as I intend to confiscate all the least bit frayed-edged ones, and make them over into Russian blouses. (We have directions.) Some of us already have some old ones of our brothers who are now in the army, etc., but we want some of our Dad's too, 'cause the bigger they are the better. You might bring the men in our families some new pants, too, because we have to have lots of baggy trousers, and men won't give those things up

Continued on Page 4

Too Late to Classify

Last minute information from the Dean's office reveals that the time schedule on next Tuesday will be set back, that is, breakfast at 7:15 and the first exam at 8:05.

• • •

House Council regulations for the examination period will definitely be enforced this year. Quiet is to be observed in study hour and after 11:00 o'clock p. m. One call down will mean one week's campus.

• • •

Don't forget that Friday is deadline for subscribing to the Virginian.

• • •

Tickets for the Christmas concert will go on reserve in the Registrar's Office tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

• • •

Groups will be organized to go carolling on the various streets in Farmville after the concert Sunday night.

Again . . . And Again— The Library Problem

Much has been said and written about misuse and abuse of Library property. But the situation seemed not to improve, and had reached a point last week where it was taken up by the Student Standards Committee.

Reports from the Library state that over 60 books and periodicals too numerous to mention have just "walked" out of the Library in the past year. And this included only those that are known to be missing; each day almost without exception another book is found to be gone. Most of these books have "walked" from the Reserve Book Room, but some of them have gone from the shelf of newer books and even some from the Woman's Club Library which is shelved in our Library.

This week members of the Library staff checked the dormitory rooms and turned up books that have been missing for weeks and months. A report of the books and periodicals found will be turned over to the Student Standards Committee.

A list of those missing books was mimeographed and presented to each faculty member. Dean Smith spoke in the dining hall on Monday evening about the situation. And here it might be advisable to remind the student body that when they remove books or magazines from the Library illegially, or in any way deface any of the books or magazines, they are subject under state law to a fine of $300.

The Library is here for use, and not for abuse. The feet must be cut off the Library books, their wings clipped, and it is up to the student body to do this.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen ..... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants
Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Leila Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants
Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Geiston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd, Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hlida Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Haysiett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1944

To Make Our Learning Serve Us To Its Best

Once more the time for examinations is rolling around, once more midnight oil is being burned, and once more we are anticipating a happy Christmas holiday.

Chattering along the coridors of the various halls reveals this question, "Why are we required to take examinations?" On further listening one hears such things as they are unconstitutional, they are not fair, etc.

Seriously, students, examinations are for your benefit, not for the professors' benefit. You are the ones who will profit from this quarterly review. Throughout the quarter, we have been learning many many new fact about English, history, philosophy, education, and many other subjects too numerous to mention. Much of this recent knowledge is in a confused state in our minds. This is our chance to classify all material and to organize it so that it will serve us now and later to the fullest extent.

"Knowledge comes but wisdom lingers" is a quotation full of rich meaning. Even so, we paraphrase it thus, "Isolated facts come but related material lingers." This is one of the truths of the world today. We must relate what we learn to our present knowledge; we must make our learnings a part of us if it is to serve us.

—V. E. T.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

Our First and Third armies are leading the way of the war in Europe this week. The First Army has crossed the Inde River seizing four towns and pushing back the Ruhr defenses. The Third Army crossed the Saar into the Siegfried Line. Hundreds of our planes backed the offensive to be met by the greatest strength the German Air force has shown in weeks.

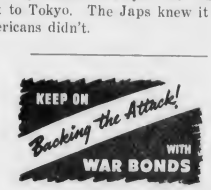
* * *

In Italy, too, both German and American planes have been in action. While allied planse attacked supply lines and battle-front targets, the enemy carried out numerous bombing and strafing raids on our own lines. British Indian troops have captured Alberts and are within nine miles of the Ravenna area.

* * * *

"Three Russian Armies chopped Miskok and Satoraljawjkely, last big German stronghold northeast of Budapest, pushed closer to the Hungarian capital along the west bank of the Danube, and drove to within 72 miles of the Austrian frontier. A broadcast from Marshall Tito's headquarters said his troops had captured Crack in Central Siberia 60 miles south of Belgrade, and had destroyed the German garrison there."

* * * *



The Japanese have launched a new drive seven miles west of Tushan. Unless the Americans and Chinese block these new Jap attacks the results are inevitable. The value of the Burma road has already decreased since the offensive against Southeastern China.

* * * *

Our greatest triumph in the Philippines, of course, if the capture of the Port of Ormoc. This is the main Japanese base on the west coast of Leyte Island.

* * * *

American planes have destroyed five more Jap merchant ships. The B-29s flew back to Tokyo. The Japs knew it even if Americans didn't.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

The seniors won out—even at terrific odds, even when frantic appeals went unanswered. Most seniors had dates and the final picture as presented in the figure was quite charming with the uniforms, and those bouffant white dresses of the girls.

Glad to see "Twitch" and "Titmus" and "Cheese" in our midst again - - - And Miss Jennings' cousin, Arthur Wood, made quite a hit with all and sundry. Am sure he has a standing invitation to return.

Shack's brother was definitely one of the hottest bugs on the floor . . . M. W. Calvert's brother was quite a hit, also. Funny how these young boys can outshine some of the old steady stand-bys.

. . B. Good and Poguey were looking out-of-the-worldish again this week end.

And Ruffin's roses from Louis "way out in California!" Our faith in man's devotion is restored.

New sight: Olive Bradshaw and tall young man from Pickett . . . Pres Watts and Bette Wood were seen together after we don't know how many months . . . One of nicest young men at the dance: Birdie William's Gene . . . And dear me! The way that young man from Norfolk fell for Jo Beatty. Sheer devotion.

Strange Sight: Fitzgerald (The Fitzgerald) with a cherished letter which he periodically moaned over. "Tis a pity fair Carlotta does not bend her ear more closely."

Of course the usual snakes were at the dance and the usual snaking was done. But the most unusual snakes were the two seniors who declared themselves to be official. They openly admitted the fact but strangely enough, they also warned their prospective victims. And as a badge of their profession, they shared an odd ring with a silver snake curling around the stone.

Huddle's young sis, Bobby, was rumored to have been the girl dates most liked to dance with.

A great oversight was made in last issues column it seems. The fact that Peggy T. got a frat pin from Pickett was grossly overlooked. We beg the pardon of all concerned and eagerly await further developments in the near future.

Ask Margaret Orange about Mr. Ellett coming up to call on her. We do not guarantee a reaction of any sort.

And Nancy Harrell's young Romeo who calls her every Sunday night to her—ahem!—consternation . . . Joan Davis' phone calls are getting beyond the amusement stage. Now they're so frequent they're taken for granted.

Back to the dance again: we couldn't fail to overlook or forget to mention Martha Watson and her Don. And that's enough said, if only we can mention that any mention of that Don is definitely good . . . At long last, Betty Deuel, our own Betty, managed to bring that Captain Ned out where everyone could see him and dance with him too. Do it again, Deuel. . . . And speaking of Captains, didn't we notice Joyce Cheatwood with one in the senior figure?

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

The theme for prayers this week has been Christmas. Monday night Hackie Moore told the story of "Why the Chimes Rang." Last night the annual "White Christmas" took place along with the Christmas pageant.

Tonight Miss Rice will tell the story of "The Other Wise Man", and afterwards the traditional Hanging of the Greens and singing of Christmas carols will take place in the Rotunda. The Freshman Commission is in charge of this. Thursday and Friday there will be Vespers in the auditorium after supper.

The Freshman Commission was recently installed at Prayers.

At this season of the year, it is hoped that everyone will beoome infused with the true meaning of Christmas. The "Y" wishes each oi you a very merry holiday.

Merry Christmas

Senior Dance Brings Students Dreams, Realities, Memories

By MARGARET WALTON

"I've been blowing bubbles"—Senior Dance—December 9, 1944—S. T. C. Yesterday—dreams. Today—reality! Tomorrow—memories! Life!!

Excitement? From the moment we first started hearing of it. What a rush to secure those ever elusive dates—to get a new dress or take an iron and needle to the old one—to decorate the gym—tack crepe, paste dancing figures, swing streamers, cover the band stand—to wash hair and do those million and one little necessary trivialities. 'Course all didn't go as smoothly as it might have—a few I. C. C.., always disappointing but, especially so when they were figure men. And Father Time always speeds up the minutes at dance time.

Floating around on a cloud we first tackled the receiving line and there was a vistual sight of relief when a date's name turned out to be Smith, Brown or Jones. We wandered down to the dance floor and the session began. The beautifully swirling evening dress—of course, the white was the most outstanding and those handsome characters in tuxs, tails and uniforms!!! Man shortage? Well, at least, it wasn't for that one night.

The feature was the figure—the symbols of the year '45 and the girls in white on the arms of men and the waltz that followed. The highlight in the life of every Senior and dream of every underclassman.

'Twas a night of laughter, gayety, songs, dancing—meeting new people, happy welcomes to old students, joyiest reunions of old friends (who saw the two former classmates from H.-S. embrace?), old love and beginning of new. Yes, all these symbolize the Senior dance of S. T. C.

Then "After the Ball Was Over" we reluctantly returned to our different abodes. The dance was over but not the thought and dreams of it. It was to be the main discussion of many bed checks to come. We were a little tired—that we realize after we hit the bed but we were still too much in the clouds to care. The only regret we have of the Senior Dance is that it is over.

And what are we waiitng for? Yes! The next Senior Dance!

To the Editor:

Dear Editor,

It seems that enough should have been said by this time about behavior of our student body as an audience. Is it really necessary that we be reprimanded after every program about how we act?

There is a time for applause, and there are types of programs that should not be applauded. Included in the last category are all types of sacred programs, music, dance, or lecture. There must be something lacking somewhere when an audience applauds and reacts noisily to such a presentation as "The Annunciation" done by the modern dance group last Saturday night, and what was lacking was NOT in the presentation.

But applause at the wrong time is not the only thing that we need to correct as an audience. Certainly nothing could be much ruder—or much cruder — than talking during a program. Each member of an audience owes quietness not only to those who present the program, but also to those who are interested in the program.

Late arrivals and early departures disrupt those on the stage as well as making it well nigh impossible for the remainder of the audience to hear and appreciate. And if the program is a few minutes late, that's no cue for the audience to clap. It won't get the program started any sooner, and those back stage aren't behind schedule because they want to be.

Is there any way that we can be educated as an audience?

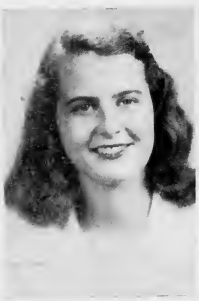
Sincerely,
TWO SENIORS

Dear Editor,

Since December, 1942, State Teachers College students, meeting one night each week, have made 39,254 surgical dressings. The Prince Edward County Chapter of the American Red Cross wishes to express its appreciation for the fine spirit and excellent assistance in meeting the county chapter's monthly quotas. This patriotic work was sponsored by the Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A. and supervised by Mrs. T. J. McIlwaine, Mrs. M. B. Coyner and Miss Margaret Sprunt Hall.

Sincerely,
Nellie Russell Shelton, Chmn.
Prince Edward County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.



General Basketball Practices Begin For Upperclassmen, Underclassmen

Interclass Games Slated for Winter

General basketball practice began Monday, December 10, for upperclassmen and freshmen. The practices take the place of the outdoor sports and gym classes for the week. Third period classes can also be made up during the hours of basketball practice.

Margaret Orange, general manager of basketball, announced that practices will be held this week from 5:00 to 7:00 Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons. These practices will be counted as practices towards class teams.

Interclass games in basketball will be played sometime during winter quarter as a round robin tournament. Each class will play every other class and points toward the color cup will be gained for the winning class toward the color cup. Eight practices must be recorded before any girl is eligible to play on her class team.

Margaret Orange, head of basketball.

Baptist Student Union Night December 17

On Sunday night, December 17, the B. S. U. will present a Student Night at Christmas program at the Baptist Church in place of the regular worship service.

Students on the program will be Carolyn Boothe, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Alice Lee Davis, Mary Wyatt, Gertrude Moore, Virginia Treakle, Shirley Turner, Louise Putney, and Naomi Piercy.

Anne Gray Bell will preside at the organ.

17 Girls Invited

Continued from Page 1

and Connie Young, sophomore from Covington.

The junior and senior A'Cappella choirs of the College Choir presented a program of Christmas music at Fork Union Sunday night, December 10 at 7 o'clock.

Red & White Wins Hockey Tourney

Red and White remained triumphant when they won the hockey tournament last Tuesday afternoon with the freshmen defeating the sophomores 1-0, and the juniors tieing the seniors. On Monday afternoon the seniors defeated the freshmen 1-0, and the juniors defeated the sophomores 1-0. The red and whites won by winning three games out of the tournament, while the green and whites won only two games. This gave the juniors and freshmen ten points toward the color cup.

Five more points were gained by red and white when they won the Color Rush Wednesday, December 6. Of the red and whites, Louise Blane won on Senior, Kitty Wright won on Library, Eloise Hanes won on Rotunda, and Joyce Johnson won on Whitehouse. Green and white Olive Bradshaw won on Junior Building, and Betty Burchett and Betty Parrish tied on Student

Left Lead

With exams coming up (Good luck!) we feel it quite meet that we give out with a minor dose of ancient history. Our lesson concerns Thanksgiving Day . . . remember- Cold? It snowed, one! But off we went anyhow . . . four and Anderson. Of all the beautiful kicking that went on, Anderson caught the prize kick of all. If the wind ever blew any stronger, or the mud ever oozed any deeper, we dare say it was not in the State of Virginia. "Over the River and through the Woods" was putting it mildly indeed for Margaret Lohr and Darky bucked down the road at 90 miles per hour; Anderson and Beauty took off after a wild turkey; the whole group leaped over logs and plowed through mud piles as if there weren't an obstacle in the world. Thanksgiving Day when we landed back at the stables without a single serious mishap, and without a single spill to our discredit, we really found we had something to be thankful for!

STEP LIVELY

"Everybody canter except Suzie, and Suzie you trot! Now so-an-so, keep cantering and reverse! Keep 'er going, keep 'er going. All right, now Suzie, you come in and do a figure eight . . . watch your diagonal . . . keep her going! Watch your diagonal . . . no . . . oh, don't you let her stop at that corner . . . there . . . now . . . out to the railing . . . keep her going . . . hey, you all are supposed to be cantering . . . don't mind her . . . just go on . . . she's going the other way . . . don't cut in like that! Now, drop your reins . . . tie 'em on her ne k and trot . . . just let her trot wherever she wants to, but keep her trotting . . . canter, Elise! Elise, CANTER! Jean, you reverse and keep trotting . . . now that's it . . . head up, shoulders back . . . keep 'em GOING!"

Never ending . . . ever patient (?) . . . untiring . . . Joyce's voice, shouting from the center of the ring . . . instructing, encouraging, teasing, laughing . . . who wouldn't do her best to please?

JUST FOR VARIETY

Martha Sydnor picked ferns for her biology on a wet trail ride last week. Nice weather for ferns, if not for riding. The trail through the pines down to the creek bank made a nice afternoon's occupation.

S.T.C. Represented At Dance Recital

Saturday night, December 2, fifteen STCers accompanied by Miss Emily Kauzlarich and Miss Mary Barlow attended a dance recital at the Mosque in Richmond. The program was definitely Spanish, for the dancers, Rosario and Antonio, were born of gypsy parents in Seville. They brought to the audience typical Spanish native dances from a tango to a quick stepping castinet dance.

With them were three young ladies and an older man who formed their company. The ladies provided a very fine background for these excellent young dancers, and the man played several Andalusian folk songs on his guitar. It was a program vividly presented in colorful costume with fascinating Latin music played by the charming accompanist. The two most popular dances were a tango done by the young couple dressed in white, and a native folk dance comedy.

"JUST TURN ME LOOSE"

There's a beautiful tale that has to be shortened, but which can't be left entirely out. It concerns a trail off the Hampden-Sydney highway . . . a wild ride through a farmer's winter wheatfield . . . several wild jumps across a none-too-narrow creek . . . (Oh, for a camera to have caught a shot of Mary Armistead and the Phantom Lady) . . . and a long canter up a gentle slope . . . back into the woods . . . and so on home. "Let me straddle my old saddle" and then some. The person who wanted to "wander over yonder" had nothing on us.

Take care of yourself over Christmas . . . have a merry one . . . and "Don't Fence Us In Either!"

Happy New Year,

Pegasus

Before leaving for the holidays — shop at Martin the Jeweler
Farmville, Va.

MERRY CHRISTMAS and HAPPY NEW YEAR
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

After a week of being unhounded by news for the paper, we found last week a most eventful week this year in athletics. Red and white stepped out by winning both the hockey tournament and color rush, gaining fifteen points for the color cup. Green and white made a grand display of good sportsmanship and good teamwork. Better luck on the next tournament.

BASKETBALL!

Basketball season has already started, when general basketball practice began this last Monday. Long and lanky, short and fat it really doesn't matter, for if you are interested in the game, you can be a player. All you need are eight practices to be eligible for your class team ,and if you want to do your share here's your chance, athletes.

After Christmas these practices will go into full swing, for this is one of the major sports for the color cup. Practices will be held every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in the gym, and even if you are not scheduled for a class at that time you will be welcome on the floor, for every class wants a chance to be a winner in the tournament, and the more players they have out for the team the better chance they will have of getting a well-rounded team. Come on and support your colors by trying to make the team, even if you warm the bench there's always the satisfaction of knowing that you're behind your class all the way.

HOLIDAY CHEER

Even with the dark and menacing days of examinations approaching us, there's always that cloud with the silver lining meaning Christmas holidays. Here's your chance to catch up on sleep, food, fun and plenty of exercise.

With all the goodies that come with the holidays, there will be many an extra pound not exactly called for on the girlish figures of STCers. You don't have to let that get you down, for exercise of any kind will help you lose them, and will certainly make you feel better mentally and physically.

Christmas tree hunting is one way to exercise, and is always lots of fun too. Over fences, under low trees, up and down trails through the woods looking for just the right tree will help you regain that "figger" again. If you happen to be the person who just walks into a store and purchases your tree, then it's up to you to find some way of getting a new exercise. If we are blessed with a White Christmas, of which everyone is always singing about then snowball fights, sled riding and skating will keep you busy.

Happy holidays, good luck on the exams, and may this new year be a bright and happy one for all. Stay in the game.

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance
Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

PHONE 360
Vanity Beauty Shop
Permanent waves our specialty
142 Main Street
Farmville Virginia

For that last minute CLEANING
TAKE YOUR CLOTHES TO
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Get your gifts for boys .... In the Service ....
Military Sets, Key Chains, Robes, Cigarette Lighters
Get your gifts for Mon, Dad, Sister and Brother from our large selection
Charge accounts available
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

"Be lovely with DURA-GLOSS nail polish" says Cupid

Make Dura-Gloss your companion in being lovely—it gives irresistible charm to your fingernails. Dura-Gloss wears and wears, because it contains "Chrystallyne", an ingredient which makes it hold well to the fingernail, and resist chipping and peeling. Goes on your nails easily and smoothly, and dries fast. Dura-Gloss is at cosmetic counters, 10¢ plus tax. Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J. • Founded by E. T. Reynolds

SAY
MERRY CHRISTMAS WITH SWEATERS
GLAMOUR PLUS WARMTH FOR
IT'S SWEATERS FOR CHRISTMAS!

We Have A Super Collection - Sparkling Glitter Sweaters (day and night stars), Smooth Pullovers, Sleeveless Types, Grand Coat Sweaters. White and Brilliant Colors. Choose Hers Today. - $3.98 to $10.95.

SECOND FLOOR—ELEVATOR SERVICE

DAVIDSON'S
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY
Farmville's Largest and Finest Department Store"

Christmas Parties Given On Campus

The Language Clubs held a delightful Christmas party on Friday evening in the Rec. The entertainment consisted of numbers by the Puerto Rican girls and members of the Language Clubs. Miss Emily Barksdale and Miss Helen Draper and Miss Mary Clay Hiner, faculty members attended.

The "Y" Cabinet held its traditional spaghetti and meatball dinner on Wednesday night of December 6. Miss Frances Copenhaver told a Christmas story. The "Y" Cabinet members and faculty advisers were present.

Beore Eh Thorn, English honor society, enjoyed its annual Christmas party after the program on Thursday night. Cokes, doughnuts, and candy were enjoyed by the members and Misses Lucille Jennings, Willie London, Mary Clay Hiner and Mr. James Grainger, faculty advisers.

On Friday night, Kappa Delta Pi members enjoyed a Christmas banquet in the Tea Room. Dean Smith rendered a delightful talk on "Minerva Was No Bookworm". The decorations consisted of Santa Clauses and holly wreaths. Besides the members, the guests included Dean Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Grainger.

On Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock, the F. T. A. chapter initiated their new members, after which Dr. Wynne gave a short talk and a tea in the Sudent Lounge was enjoyed. Dr. Wynne, Dr. Swertfeger, Mr. Johnson, Miss Gleaves and Mr. Bussinger, faculty members, were present.

Tonight at 10 o'clock, members of the Rotunda staff will be entertained at the annual Christmas party in the Student Lounge. Mr. Holton, faculty adviser, will be present.

On Monday night, Phi Zeta Sigma entertained the members and Miss Willie London, adviser, at a Christmas supper party in the chapter room.

On Thursday night, the members of Alpha Sigma Tau enjoyed a Christmas supper. Miss Bedford, faculty adviser, was present.

Y .W. A. of the Baptist church entertained at the Student Center in Cactus Inn for the foreign students on the campus on Tuesday night.

Bubbles Becker, whose orchestra played for Senior Dance on December 9.

Miss Rice To Tell Christmas Story

Immediately after dinner tonight in Prayers, Miss Rice will tell her annual Christmas story. "The Other Wiseman" in connection with the Christmas program sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., Sara Bird Williams, president of the "Y" dis losed to the press. Following this, traditional "Hanging the Greens" will take place in the Rotunda, sponsored by the Freshman Commission. The singing of Christmas carols will accompany the "Hanging of the Greens."

Letter to Santa

Continued from Page 1

unless they can be talked right into new ones.

As for me, Santa, I'd like to have a couple of Bates' bedspreads with drapes that don't match, the louder the better, and a small woven rug or two. I won't mind if they don't match my room, for I don't intend to hans them. The spreads and drapes make the most beautiful Russian skirts . . . Miss Kay has some gorgeous samples . . . and everybody knows . . . or maybe they didn't know . . . that the Russians are famous for picking up a rug off the floor and wearing it as a part of their outfit. Oh, yes, and if you have any new mops . . . we have to make Cossack hats, and yarn is so terribly hard to get, we thought maybe an old mop could be reincarnated into a hat. It can be done, Santa, no foolin'. The only catch is, we'll need some old cotton stockings, too, to sew the mops to.

For the girls that want pajamas this year would you mind bringing them that satiny type with the wide pants, and high-necked tunics? This would be the one year they'd get a chance to show them off in public! And for the girls who haven't any, some rubber-rain-boots to start us or to help keep our best feet forward . . . !

Well, Santa, I guess that's about all. Please don't forget Miss Kay. She'll need all the help you can spare, and lots of patience! And the May Court election is right after Christmas, so bring them all the votes you can, and some ingenuity as to their costumes, too.

Thanks so much for listening. You'll find a personal invitation to May Day under the Christmas tree, and when you see our costumes just sparkling out there, you can take all the credit you deserve!

So long, Santa . . . be seeing you. Your friend,

"Eva Skivinsky Skivar"

Just Looking, Thanks

By EVELYN GRIZZARD

Saturday night was the big night in the life of the Seniors and other S. T. C'ers, also. At the dance were Connie Christian with Harold Gidier; Grace Shiver with Joseph Eyring; Isabel Key with Roy Carr; Gladys Langford with Paul Hinsar; Dawn Holcomb with Clyde Newsom; Marguerite Stephenson with Dell Poe; Nancy Dickenson with Monty Montgomery; Mary Agnes Millner with Jeff Morgan; Lynn Sprye with George Kostel; Cora Redd with Henry Redd; Louise Rives with Hamilton Avery; Ann Houser with Hubert Taylor; Barbara Lee Myers with John Finks; and Virginia Lee Abernathy with Gil Duke.

Also Caroline Huddle with R. E. Dunkum; Jean Prosise with Walt Kale; Ellen Ward with Pete Lankford; Ann Clark with Jack Haslett; Betty Nixon with Joe Antonille; Sara Bird Williams with Joep Sheety; Janet Sollenburger with Arkie Diamond; Sara Moling with Frisky Smith; Alice Nichols with Dick Fowler; Lelia Holloway with Walter Peterson; Betty Edwards with James T. Nation; Mary Frances Moon with Charles Ailes; Carolyn Hayslett with Robert Murray; Caroline Moon with Lewis Voety; and Bev Peebles with Frank Hudson.

Also Betsy Caldwell with Sumpter Priddy; Alice Feitig with Oscar Pohlig, Jr.; Mary Lou Dondley with Jack Raburn; Roberta Davis with Dick Baylor; Charlotte Grizzard with Jack Bryant; Katie Lawrence with Rawls Fulgham; Mary Sterrett with Rockwell Smith; Lois Lloyd Sheppard with Walter Deyerle; Virginia Lee Price with Max Perrow; Celia Scott with Bruce Stern; Frances Shackelford with Gordan Shackelford; Mary Franklin Woodward with Bruce Martin; and Helen Fuller with Tommie Tompson.

Also Nancy Taylor with Dick Williams; Martha Higgins with Roland Hill; Betty Cock with Ned Elam; Julia Messick with Arthur Wood; Esther May George with Don Rapier; Barbara Surface with Gerald Hash; Alice Coon with Bob Younger; Margery Ann Boaz with W. T. Mann; Lucille Bell with Kenneth Simmons; Jean Brown with Sydnor Mann; and Evelyn Grizzard with James Haywood Clark, Jr.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

To members of the Faculty and Student Body:
A MERRY CHRISTMAS
&
HAPPY NEW YEAR
Butcher's

PHONE
78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES
NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Merry Xmas
to S. T. C.
SHANNON'S

Best Sandwiches and Plate Lunches in Town
Come in and see for yourself
The College Shoppe

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

For Best Fountain Service
Visit
Chappell Co.

SEASON'S GREETINGS
—To—
THE FACULTY AND
STUDENTS OF S. T. C.
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

HAMBURGER SPECIAL
French Fries and Sliced Tomatoes
35c
Southside Drug Store

Poinsettias and all other kinds of potted plants, cut flowers and corsages. Give Flowers for Christmas!
Collins Florist
Phone 181 Day Phone 4 Nte

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Patronize
PATTERSON'S
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
MONTAG STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Silver Identification Bracelets, Barrettes
Lynn's Jewelry Store

ONLY 10 MORE SHOPPING DAYS BEFORE CHRISTMAS
Let us help you select your Christmas Gifts;
We Will Gladly Wrap Your Gifts For You!
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Have a "Coke" = Welcome back

. . . or giving a returned soldier a taste of home

There's an easy way to make a soldier on furlough feel right at home. It's to offer him refreshing Coca-Cola. Have a "Coke" is always the hospitable thing to say. In many lands overseas, as in your own living room, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes, —has become a happy symbol of hospitality, at home as everywhere else.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY Coca-Cola Bottling Company Farmville, Virginia

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

© 1944 The C-C Co.

Library
State Teachers College
Farmville, Va.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

The Rotunda

ENTER POETRY CONTEST

VOLUME XXIV FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, JANUARY 10, 1945 No. 12

...anadian String Quartet Gives Program of Music

Concert Divided Into 3 Sections

...earing on this campus at ...ock last night, the Hart ...et composed of James ...ley Mil... de, ...st, vio... ...ne first in th... ...es for the winter quar...

The program was divided into three parts with an intermission between the second and third parts. The quartet played Mozart's "Quartet in D Minor," Hadydn's "Emperor Theme and Variations", Bridge's "Irish Melody", Grainger's "Molly on the Shore" and Dvorak's "Quartet in F Minor."

The history of this quartet dates back to 30 years ago when Eugene Ysage, one of the greatest musical personalities of the present time, held classes for young geniuses at his estates in Belgium. Boris Hambourg, celloist of the quartet was one of Ysage's pupils. Each pupil participated in playing stringed quartets under the master's guidance, and two youths were brought together little knowing that many years later they were to form and play in a Canadian string quartet—the Hart House quartet.

A world-famous group, this quartet has participated in coronation ceremonies for Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth in Westminister Abbey. During the coronation festivities which followed, they had the honor to be presented at Buckingham Palace at a garden party.

"Great music for the glory and greatness of humanity" is the idealogy of the Hart House quartet as this group tours the country giving concerts.

Sophomore Elected Baptist Official

Bonnie Curtis, sophomore from Portsmouth, was elected first vice-president of the Baptist Student Union at a meeting held Monday afternoon at the Baptist Student Center. She succeeds Louise Putney who did not return to school this quarter.

Bonnie has been active in denominational work since coming to Farmville, serving a san officer of the Training Union. She is also a member of the House Council and works on one of the Y committees.

Get the Big Thrill; See Work In Print

The Colonnade Poetry Contest has bene extended; the new closing date is Tuesday, January 16. The same substantial prizes of five dollars, three dollars, and two dollars are offered; the same leniency as to form and meter prevails. The only demand is that all entries be made by next Tuesday.

This contest is really a beautiful opportunity for self-expression, and perhaps your brain-children will win a prize. All prize winners as well as honorable mentions will be published in the Colonnade. Seeing one's work in print is one of life's lesser thrills. Besides, the Colonnade is your magazine, supported only by your active participation. Don't forget, then, to place your contribution in the Colonnade box below the bulletin board no later than January 16.

Notice

Try-outs for parts in the spring Dramatic Club play will be held in the auditorium tonight immediately after prayers. All interested, come to the auditorium at this time. .

Frost Will Speak Here January 22

Poet Sponsored By Beorc Eh Thorn

Robert Frost, internationally famous lyric poet, will speak on this campus Monday, January 22 at 8:30 o'clock. This lecture is being sponsored by Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor society.

Committees for the program have been named by Mary Franklin Woodward, president, and include, publicity, Sue Hundley, Suffolk; Margaret Eliett, Jennings Ordinary; and Miss Lucilie Jennings, adviser; tickets, Virginia Lee Abernathy, Cochran; Jean Prosise, Wilson; and Miss Mamie Nichols, adviser; entertainment, Connie Ozlin, Chase City; and Miss Weihelmina London, adviser; stage, Georgia Knight, Appalachia; Margaret Wilson, Washington, D. C., and Miss Mary Clay Hinot, adviser. Anne Masloff, vice-president of Beorc Eh Thorn, is in charge of the program.

Copies of Frost's poetry book, "The Collected Poems of Robert Frost" will be ordered on request and sold to students desiring them some time before the program so that they may be personally autographed. Sara Moling, Winchester, is serving as chairman of the sale of books with J. M. Graiger as adviser.

Frost appeared on this campus in the spring of 1940 under the auspices of Beorc Eh Thorn.

Bollinger To Speak At State Conference

The Rev. Hiel Bollinger, secretary of the Department of Student Work of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, will be the keynote speaker at the state Metodist students conference at Natural Bridge Saturday and Sunday, January 13 and 14.

Representatives from all the colleges in the state will be present at this meeting, and approximately 25 girls from here are now planning to attend.

Virginia Lee Price, Farmville, is the first vice-president of the Methodist Student Group of the State of Virginia.

Second HSC-STC Dance Scheduled For This Saturday

Navy To Furnish Music For Occasion

The second in a series of dances sponsored cooperatively by the H. S. C. Naval Unit and S. T. C. is scheduled for this Saturday night, January 13, Dean Martha Smith and Lt. George Howe, commanding officer at Hampden-Sydney, revealed to the press yesterday.

Again the dance will be held in the S. T. C. Recreation Hall of the main building (the Rec), and again, music will be supplied by the H. S dance orchestra under the direction of A. S. Jack Gregory. The dance is scheduled to last from 8 o'clock p. m. till midnight.

The dance is open to anyone who wishes to attend whether or not she has a date, and there will be no admission charged. Girls who have dates who are not members of the H. S. Naval Unit will also be allowed to attend with their dates.

In compliance with numerous requests, there will be numbers played during the dance that will be no-break numbers.

The first of these dances was held in the Rec on Thanksgiving night last fall, and others are planned for the future.

16 New Students Enroll In College

Sixteen new students registered at the beginning of this quarter, Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar, revealed yesterday. Of the students, one is a transfer, four are former S T. C. students who have returned for completion of their work, and 11 are registered as freshmen.

Those who have registered as freshmen are Lise O'Anjou, Quebec, Canada; Neva Mae Brankley, Skipwith; Kathleen Cage, Halifax County; Betty Lou Eaves, Churchland; Margaret Ann Ellis, Norfolk; Virginia Craig Farrier, New Castle; Beatrice Geyer, Chatham; Harriet Purcell, Drakes Branch; Arlette Leola Shelton, Gretna; Joyce Vivian Sisk, Madison Heights, and Virginia Agnes Tobey, Salem.

The single transfer is Ann Baer, of Hampton, who transfers from Seattle, Wash. Those former S. T. C. students include Sue Brace, Farmville; Jo Clayton, South Hill; Evelyn Cole, Chase City; and Betsy Fox, Danville.

Adventures of An STC-er Returning From Holidays

By HELENE GRIFFIN

"Prospect!! Prospect!! Next stop" The kindly old conductor goes through each coach, calling out the little town where scores of girls start getting ready for the 15-mile distant S. T. C. at Farmville. Hat boxes come down, grips come from under the seats, coats go on, bags upon bags of food are grasped with a death like vise, and by the time we've gone five miles, there is a line of these creatures blocking the aisles, quite ready to descend to the platform at S. T. C.

The train grumbles to a screechy stop, two kind soldiers get off and aid these young ladies in their precarious trip from the train . . . if it weren't for men on these trains, girls wouldn't come to college . . . because how could they ever get off! This particular evening it's 7:30, we're a half an hour late, but we don't care now that we're here. Our roommates smother us with hugs (if they arrived before us). We grab a little colored boy to carry our numerous bundles and bags. We wait ten minutes for the checking room to open, then when it does, woof, everyone rushes in, showing their tickets and calling for help. The bewildered station man goes as swiftly as he can, just as eager as we, to get us out of the station and college bound. By this time our hats are on the back of our heads, our coats trailing in the dust, and our faces, weeeell!! a layer of Coty's powder plus a layer of the N. and W. Special brand of dust!

We stumble up the walk, crawl up the stairs, fling open the door, and a thousand voices clamor, "Didja have a good time? Whadja get for Christmas? Was Bill in? I had a wonderful time—sigh! I can't wait to tell ya what I mumble . . . mumble . . . "

There's the bed, ahhhhh, we made it! Plop, goes the suitcase, thud, goes the shoes, "creak"

Continued on Page 3

Sherwood Eddy Will Lecture At Chapel Programs Next Week

Rabbi Presented At Chapel Service

Speaker Discusses American Destiny

Representing the Jewish Chautauqua Society, Rabbi Allan Tarshish spoke to the students at the chapel hour yesterday, January 9, on "The Coming American Destiny".

"America today stands at the threshhold of the greatest era of its history," the Jewish Rabbi said as he introduced his subject. Continuing, he pointed out that the world in which we live is a contracting, diminishing, and indivisible universe, and we have to reckon with it and decide what we are going to do about it.

"The United States stands between two oceans and stretches forward with its interests, ideas, and force. No power can control the world unless it first controls the United States. The world has moved in on us, and we have moved out on the world. We are a part of that world, and that world is a part of us" Rabbi Tarnish related as he briefly reviewed some statements of history.

Discussing further the destiny of this country and of the world, the speaker stated that imperialism can not save the future but that we Americans in expressing our ideas, our spiritual powers, and our influence can help to lead the world to democracy. The question of whether or not we can impose democracy was mentioned, and a solution was found in the fact that all nations of the world want that form of government where equal opportunities are available.

In closing, the Jewish speaker challenged the students by saying that the students of today and the leaders of the young people of tomorrow can help to form the right kind of American destiny.

Graduating from the University of Cincinnati and the Hebrew Union College, Rabbi Tarshish is at present the rabbi of Temple Beth Israel in Hazleton.

Baptists Observe Week of Emphasis

As a part of the southwide Baptist Student Union program, students on this campus will have a series of programs next week under the caption of "Vocational Guidance."

The theme of the week, "I Have Chosen You" will be carried out in daily discussions at the Baptist Student Center each day at 6:15. On Monday, January 15, the discussion will be on "Maximum Christianity in My Profession"; Tuesday, "Maximum Christianity in My Business"; Wednesday, "Maximum Consecration in Definite Christian Service"; Thursday, "Maximum Christian Homebuilding"; and Friday, "Maximum Christian Citizenship." This week will be climaxed on Sunday morning, January 21, at which time a special service will be given.

William Hall Preston, southwide student secretary, has pointed out that the observance of this special emphasis in January will be a helpful contribution, especially to the Christian student on the campus as she faces the problem of life decisons in a confused era.

All Baptist students and others who are interested are invited to attend these meetings daily.

DR. SHERWOOD EDDY

Classroom Building Nears Completion

Structure To Serve Only Temporarily

Work on the temporary commercial building, located between the main building and the power plant, is well under way, and it is hoped that the building may be occupied at the end of the quarter, S. L. Graham, business manager of the college reported this week.

The single story brick building was begun last fall, and will be constructed at an approximate cost of $10,000. It will be used as a temporary classroom building for the duration of the war, after which it will be used as a central storeroom for college supplies.

The building, with concrete floors and a slate roof, will be heated with individual stoves in each of the four temporary classrooms, and will serve to house the Business Education department until the permanent building can be constructed.

Author, Traveler Sponsored by "Y"

Speaker Served As YWCA Worker

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, author, lecturer and world traveler, will be the Y. W. C. A. chapel speaker here Wednesday and Thursday, January 17 and 18, according to an announcement made this week by Sara Bird Williams, president of the Y.

Dr. Eddy, will lead an open association meeting Wednesday at 5:30. He will also lead prayers on Wednesday night.

Sherwood Eddy is the author of thirty volumes on international, economic, social, and religious questions. He has first-hand knowledge of many battle fields and leaders of the two World Wars. He was present at the capture of Mukden in Manchuria by the Japanese in 1931.

On June 30, 1934 he saw Hitler and heard him make his "blood bath" speech to the Reischstag. Dr. Eddy saw Stalin standing on Lenin's tomb reviewing a victory parade of youth. He came into intimate contact with Gandhi, Nehru, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, and the leaders of Asia.

For twenty years Dr. Eddy annually conducted a traveling seminar of educators to study conditions in Russia, Poland, Germany, France, Great Britain, and other countries in Europe.

Graduated from Yale in 1891, Sherwood Eddy went to India to work among the students. After fifteen years work there he was then called to be the secretary for Asia for the Y. M. C. A.

He is lecturing and speaking constantly to service men and civilians. He has spoken in several hundred colleges in all parts of the United States, Europe, and Asia.

Recent books by Dr. Eddy are "I Have Seen God Work in China", "A Portrait of Jesus," "A Century with Youth," "Man Discovers God", "Makers of Men," "The Kingdom of God and the American Dream," and "I Have Seen God Do It."

Back Ways, By Ways Compete With Traditional Scenes

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

There have been innumerable epics told and retold, written over and over again, describing the beauties of a certain building or group of buildings. Much is said, in beautiful phraseology, of domes and doorways, of rooves and rotundas . . . of stained glass windows and impressive entrances. Lawns and gardens are immortalized time and again by writers who flourish on this type of literary expression, and we realize and acknowledge the vital contributions which these descriptive pieces hand down to posterity. But in our modern, youthful, realistic way we stop to wonder . . . did a real literary artist ever look out of his own back door and write about what he saw?

Here at S. T. C. we are blamed for having short-cuts to everything . . . short-cuts to study, short-cuts out of chapel, short-cuts to a week-end away, and short-cuts to everything which we want to do. We recognize our highways, but we seem to take more naturally to the by-ways, and it's the back streets and bare facts which we want to face today.

Familiar to girls on the north side of Junior building is the back view of the college library. The end wings with their arched windows; the center wing with its rubby-like port holes; the white tower where the "village clock" keeps dubious time in any direction; and the whole majestic assymetry of red brick and green shrubbery. A lovely picture indeed, but strictly backdoor!

Going on down Chambers street we reach a less attractive portion of our campus. The expression "Queen Anne front and Mary Ann behind" can truly apply to S. T. C. A peculiar contrast are the queenly columns of the Rotunda, and the attractiveness of the main buildings, to the funny little paint shop behind the lab and the back doors of the dining hall. Here the mule wagons wait to carry away rubbish and the express trucks rumble in with mail-time miscellany; here the steam from the laundry settles down in a semi-permanent fog, and the coal dust from the power plant sifts about in grimy disorder. Here, too, are splotches of paint and whitewash lending variety to an otherwise uninteresting asphalt street-way. Here is back-way atmosphere.

Keep going long enough, though

Continued on Page 4

About - - - - New Year's Resolutions

With New Year's Day less than two weeks behind, it is not too late to make resolutions. We'd like to make the resolution not to nag in these columns about the little things that we have had to mention too often in the past. But in order to keep that resoluion, we must have the backing of the student body in not making that nagging necessary.

In the past, much has been said — and often—about entering the Post Office doors right, and about keeping the movement in the same direction. How about that to add to your New Year's resolutions?

Another sore point has been the continual cutting campus until there are paths at almost every corner where the grass has been worn bare with the continued treading of many feet. The half minute saved by not turning the corner with the cement walks is not worth the disfigurement to the campus. How about adding that to your New Year's resolutions?

We hope sincerely that nothing more will have to be said about the misuse of the Library and abuse of Library property. If we just remember that the regulations that have been made have been to grant maximum use of the Library to the entire student body! How about adding that to your New Year's reslutions?

One more thing that has been constantly listed among our misdemeanors is excessive noise during study hours and after bedcheck. This, too, has been chiefly thoughtlessness, and could be so easily corrected by adding it to your New Year's resolutions.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rueker, Virginia T. Pullen ..... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spryc, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd, Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1945

And, finally, we want to mention the Rotunda railing. Over and over again, we have been asked not to hang over the railing as if it were the fence at a horse show. How about adding that to your resolutions, too?

We, of the Rotunda staff hereby resolve that if we can have the cooperation of the student body, we shall not nag about those things that have already been asked in every way it is possible to ask them.

Task Plus Vision

"A vision without a task is a dream; a task without a vision is a burden, but a task with a vision is a challenge." These are the words of a businessman whose face shone with joy as he described his work.

You and I as we travel the road of life are constantly meeting all types of people who may be classed in many different groups. Some of these have a task with a vision; others do not. Some of these are living; others are merely existing.

Many college people whom we meet are often "in a rut". Life has become for them a bore, a burden, and an unexciting adventure. Having seen students in this condition, we realize the seriousness of having a vision constantly before us as we live and work in halls of learning such as ours. College work done cheerfully and happily makes for complete satisfaction between the student and her professor, while on the other hand, work done with a "no-care" attitude causes all concerned to be dissatisfied.

In setting our aims for the future, we reveal our real selves. Some of us set low aims which we reach and are satisfied. Others of us set high goals and are constantly striving upward, forever pressing onward.

Young people who have goals that exceed their grasp find joy in the classroom in searching for hidden knowledge, explore the fields which only a minority have explored, and seek to realize the higher and better things of life. These may be classified as students who have a task plus a vision, thus making a real challenge.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

There were many changes on the war front during the Christmas holidays. It is consoling to know, however, that the Yanks have given us a happier outlook with the beginning of this new year. "Now is the time to resolve to be informed, to resolve to participate, to refuse to be negative, indifferent, leaving action to others."

* * * *

Though the counter-offensive, started by the Germans in the middle of December, has been slowed and completely stopped in some places, the danger is not over. We hold the initiative in Belgium but the Germans have the foothold in Eastern Holland and around Strasbourg. Said Montgomery, "It was the fighting ability of American doughboys and their tenacity in battle that saved the situation by stands at St. Vith, Bastogne, and south of Menshau."

* * * *

The Russian now hold more than 1800 blocks in the city of Budapest, all of German counter-attacks having failed. However, they have had to withdraw from Esztergom 20 miles north. From here the enemy is trying to push closer to Budapest to save the trapped garrison.

* * *

Leyte and Samar in the Philippines are now islands of the past. The island of Mindoro is the center of action since it seems that it will be the jumping off place to Luzon. The Japanese radio claims we have already invaded Luzon but MacArthur's communiques contain nothing to that effect. Since our capture of the town of Paluan on Mindoro it is possible that the Japs are a trifle anticipant.

* * * *

In Congress?—Your answer is as good as mine!

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

With the happenings of the Christmas holidays a part of the past, there has been quite a bit of chatter going around campus, especially after bedcheck! Probably the most outstanding events and most "historic" are the girls who come back with flashing diamonds on the "third finger, left hand." They include, Aline Boss, Nancy Ingle, Faith Weeks. None will reveal when the events are to transpire.

West Point was the spot of interest during Christmas for numerous of our girls. We understand that Sue Hundley just moved up for the entire two weeks with trunk, skiis, skates, etc. We'd love a detailed report on how it feels to be a West Point cadet, Sue! Then trekking north to that same lively destination went Anne Mingea and Caroline Smith. How STC does get around!

Not to be outdone by the army, Betty Ellis met an Annapolis midshipman who, promoting the "friendship" has already issued the invitation for June week as well as sending a day by day calendar memo of life at Annapolis. Let us know what it's like, Betty.

Santa Claus (specifically, Billy), was unusually good to J. Knapton this year by leaving her furs, and Anne Dickerson found the same in her stocking, too. Virginia Lee Abernathy, with a more domestic interest, was left a cedar chest. Now who could ask for anything more?

Harriet Sutherlin was overheard complaining when she came out of the P. O. with only four, yes, four V-Mails. Her main difficulty appeared to be that the whole batch and some more constituted one letter and several of the main ones hadn't come.

Frances Lee couldn't conceive of Christmas without Frank, so she journeyed all the way to Florida to see him, only to return with a much envied sun-tan—in January!

Everyone on campus is glad to see once more the smiling face of Betsy Fox as part of STC.

And who were the young ladies who, while sitting in Shannon's, were griped when Nannie Sour's date came to borrow a match and didn't stay even long enough to introduce himself?!!

When asked what she got for Christmas, Carlotta Norfleet replied "Bill's skull". She meant in a miniature form made of gold, of course!

A conspicuous character on campus Saturday was one Charlie Loving—wonder if he decided to come back—could it be to reminisce?

Who was the disappointed freshman who discovered at Christmas that she had only gained 29 pounds since September?

And if you don't believe us, just ask Queekie if her Christmas present from Bill wasn't shocking—really and truly shocking!

See the bands stand ready — Tynes arrives Friday—you have only to examine closely the gleam in a certain young lady's eye to know it can't be far off.

Once more we ask, how did the soldier (not the same one) find his way into the S. T. C. dining hall?

Try listening instead of doing all the talking "after bedcheck" and you'll hear plenty, too!

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

The "Y" welcomes everyone back to school and hopes that, after an enjoyable holiday, they are refreshed and ready to get back to business with renewed interest and energy.

Dr. Sherwood Eddy will be here next Wednesday and Thursday and will speak at the "Y" Association meeting on Wednesday.

Plans have been started for Religious Emphasis Week which will be the first week in February.

The "Y" Committees will meet at ten tonight in their regular place. Every girl who has signed up for a committee is urged to attend. There is a job for you to do; the "Y" needs you.

The schedule of this week's prayers will be posted on the bulletin board.

Happy New Year everybody!

CHRISTMAS REPERCUSSIONS

Question of the Week

What did you enjoy most about the Christmas holidays?

"Rosie" Ramsey: Food—I miss it so much it's pathetic.

Jean Pritchett: Sleeping in the mornings.

Anne Moore: Moving pictures!

Judy Rieck: Night riding!

Mary Jane King: Men!

Grace Loyd: The Oklahoma hello.

Nancy Whitehead: Wine, Men, and Song!

"Birdie" Sarver: Not having bed-check.

Virginia Shackelford: Eating and being with my family.

Betty Harville: Johnny and New Year's Eve!

Ann Tucker: Amen to No. 5 and 8!!

Theresa Powell: The cadavers at the Medical College of Virginia.

Heidi Lacy: My curlers falling out when a boy kissed me!

Joan Davis: Egg nog

Jerry Payne: The Head'n Quart (mostly the Quart!)

Joyce Johnson: Food and sleep.

Jean Parry: Accepting my pair of navy wings.

Minnie Lee Crumpler: Just being home!

"Gee-Gee Yance: Boodling (for a change)

Joyce Cheatwood: Bed in the mornings!

Mary Watkins: Van Johnson!!

"Hacky" Moore: Playing with other peoples' babies.

"Jackie" Parden: Peace and quiet of Norfolk and watching Lillian at work.

Lillian Elliot: Flirting with the sailors at Norfolk.

"Boots" Brally: Seeing my little brother.

Jane Knapton: Mom's mince meat pies!

Helen McGuire: Being snowbound (?).

Dottie Overcash: Sleepin', 'cause that's all I did!

Freddie Ann Butt: Home!

When Conversation Is Very Nil, Talk About the Weather Man

"Pick your own topics for features this week," said our feature editor so we started running down the list of available subjects. Week-ends—no; classes—no; people—no; weather, yes! When thoughtful conversation is nil, talk about the weather! And thus poor, defenseless old weather gets unmercifully, verbally tossed around, but if you think you can change the old man—He goes patiently on his moody way. Now, does he influence you? Dare you to answer that? No!

Winter-time—That is really the old man himself—he sweeps along in his flowing white robes puffing blasty gales of snow and rain. He dives into his bag of tricks and out comes ice to wax the sidewalks and trim the trees, snow to blanket the campus and buildings, rains to spoil the curls and dampen the soil and cold winds to chill you to the bone and send you diving under three feet of cover. But he can't lick us—fortified by by heavy coats, boots and scarfs we slide to class on his ice and gleefully turn his smooth snow blanket into snow men, sleigh tracks or snow balls. Besides, what would Christmas be without snow?

Spring—Oh—that's the time for college girls. The excitement of the first robin—sitting there big as life right in the middle of campus or the first jonquil with its colorful yellow cup. Everything's green (no cracks about the students), the breezes warm and playful and that smell of spring—more precious than any foreign perfume or incense. Nor forget—in the spring a young man's fancy lightly truns to thoughts of love. Tennyson might have left out the fairer sex, but Spring is a little more kindly. The campus and front windows once again are crowded and then in early twilight the voices of a happy group unite on an old familiar tune. "In the Evening by the Moonlight"—Hear it?

Summer - time. Whether vacationing, working, or at summer school, summer finds us all with some things in common—suntans, cotton dresses, swimming, or maybe just trying to find a cooler spot. And those beautiful summer nights—riding along in a car with a breeze blowing your hair, or being in a hammock looking up at a black sky studded with a moon center piece and myriads of stars—that's peace! Of course, always a trip has to be made to the beach—being on the sands soaking up that red hot sun and a tussle with the roaring waves. (Open the window, roommate—it's hot in here!)

Fall—The old school bell rings and back flows the stream of girls—old and new. Happy reunions, exciting bull sessions, and renewed vigor for classes. Then the days get shorter and the trees begin to change. The old weather man and his nephew Jack Frost turn artists and widely lavish their bright colors. Football games, burning leaves, long walks, bright skirts, and sweaters—Well, that's just Autumn.

Well, I'm at that point again. "Nice weather we're having today, isn't it? And it's a lovely day tomorrow—after the paper goes to press

Sports Season for Winter Quarter Opened With Basketball, Volleyball

8 Classes Required To Play In Games

Basketball and volleyball were started this week, opening the sports season for winter quarter.

As in hockey last quarter, eight practices are required to participate in class games. Interclass games will be played in the form of a round robin tournament later in the quarter.

Regular classes in seasonal sports will be taught by Miss Olive T. Iler on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Volleyball is scheduled for 4:50 and basketball for 5:50 on these days according to the present time schedule. On Friday afternoons at these same times, basketball will be taught by Margaret Orange, general maanger of basketball, and volleyball by Heidi Lacey, general manager of volleyball. These extra classes are to be taught for those who wish to obtain a third period in either of the above classes.

BETTY ELLIS, President of Orchesis.

Swimming Contests Slated for Quarter

Swimming classes will be important this quarter, for this is the quarter in which the telegraphic meet and interclass swimming contests are to be held. Miss Mary Dabney, swimming instructor, is always on hand to help those girls who wish to try for the teams.

Swimming will be held at night for those who can not find the time during the afternoons to get in their practices. The telegraphic meet is held annually with other colleges throughout the South, and is one of the main events of the sports year. Once again red and white and green and white will compete for points for the color cup, in the interclass meets.

Toledo Girls Adopt Slimming Slogan

Slim waists and hips at the risk of becoming musclebound is the newest slogan for members of the Florence Scott Libbey Hall, women's dormitory at the University of Toledo.

Each night at 11, the lounge blazes with light and pajama-clad women stream into the room from all directions. Their streaming has been slightly slower in the past few days.

At last one woman enters with a mysterious box under her arm. She carefully deposits it on the table and removes the lid. From the box comes two black discs which each woman eyes with baleful glances. The two records for that is what they turn out to be, are placed on the record player and immediately everyone is transferred into a writhing, swaying person. They are doing their nightly exercises in a body to the rhythmic strains of whatever music happens to suit the occasion.

The fad has spread to almost everyone in the dormitory. But there remain some who prefer a few extra inches on their waistlines to being crippled for life.

—ACP.

Dance Apprentices Will Be Initiated On January 17

Next Wednesday, January 17, Orchesis will initiate five apprentices, Marilyn Bell, Vivian Edmunds, Heidi Lacey, Isabel Ranone and Frances Timmons as members. The apprentices will first entertain the members with a supper served in second floor senior kitchen.

Officers of Orchesis are, president, Betty Ellis; secretary, Edith Lovins; treasurer, Betsy Caldwell; costume chairman, Frances Lee; and historian, Jean Carter Smith.

Labor Relations Class Organized

A new course designed to produce specialists in the field of labor relations is now a part of the regular curriculum at Rockhurst College. First three years of the new course will be devoted to liberal arts work and a degree in Economics. Fourth year will be spent in highly specialized study in the field of labor relations.

In 1939, Rockhurst College, recognizing the need for labor relations specialists, inaugurated the Institute for Social Reconstruction.

Because of the need for better qualified men trained to coordinate the interests of labor and management, Rev. John Friedl, head of the Institute, with the aid of Rev. George Hilke S. J. and Prof. Harry Kes, formed the teaching staff and curriculum for the new full-time course.

First two enrollees in the new course are active in the business management of the laundry drivers' union and the boilermakers' union.

ACP

This is a family war. Put your War Bond buying through the payroll savings plan on a family plan, which means figure it out yourself.

Left Lead

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Greetings, Jocks; far be it from us to defy tradition and neglect to mention our best wishes for the coming year, for all of you. And did y'all see what Santa left in our stables? Yep, a brand new horse, and what a horse! Big and bay, he is . . . and yes, he's a HE! His name is "The Colonel," and he's definitely an added attraction. Just ask Sudie . . . she rode him Saturday, and has praised him ever since.

HANG ON . . .

Speaking of Saturday . . . or of any day last week, there really were some rip-roaring rides going on . . . The horses were in the stables all of Christmas, without any exercise at all, and they were really more than raring to be out and around by the time we got back to school. Even the peaceful Cinnamon took off like something wild, and Mr. Nolen had almost as bad a fright as did the rider, when Cinnamon came galloping back to the stables from less than a block away. Once on the trail though, even Cokie and Gypsy calmed down enough for a few nice buck-less canters, and neither, trains, planes, nor zooming trucks caused any serious disasters.

OLD HOME WEEK

It was indeed, when Jacques came back to Farmville. It's Flight Officer de Fores, now, though . . . and looking well and happy in spite of (or because of) his year or so in 'this man's army". It looked good to see Jacques and Heavy around together again and this time they even had in tow one "Sandy" . . . of the U. S. Navy who proved to be quite as popular, if not as big, as the other two.

In fact it was Sandy and not Heavy who joined Jacques and the rest of us on a long and exciting Trail Ride Saturday afternoon; Sandy up on the Phantom Lady, and Sandy who had seldom ridden before who discovered on the first straight stretch that he liked to canter much better than he liked to trot! Over fields and through woods, leaping creeks and dashing by curious bulls, went we, filled to the brim with wim, wigor, and vitality . . . Kim agonizing over the last time she had taken that trail, and Sudy blithely bringing up the rear with the Colonel . . . all to the tune of "Don't Fence Me In", and all taking the words to the song but literally.

When at last the winter woods ended in a familiar opening on the back Longwood trail, and the last height had been skillfully descended and the last icy branch forded, the horses hit the homeward way with a surprising burst of new energy, and it was "hang on" or else till we pulled up at the stables.

It took lunch in a nout-of-the-way place down town to really finish off a pleasant Saturday ride, and we quote no one in particular when we state that a good time was had by all.

NEW RIDERS

There are a good many new riders riding this quarter. It's great to know that the good old winter weather can't scare too many away. Come on out and start the new year off right: it won't be too long before all talk will be of the Horse Show, and you who aren't in on it will be wishing you were!

Meanwhile, take things easy, and stay on the bit.

Pegasus

Physical Ed. Class Provides Exercise En Route As Well

Bong! Bong! Bong! That, dear readers, is the best sound effect one can produce in imitation of our daily bell. This happens to be the 9:05 one, announcing the first class of the day. If you're lucky you don't have your Physical Education then . . . no! you wait till 10:05 and have it with us, the more fortunate ones!! But let's get back to the beginnng of our first period!

Swishhh! By way of explanation, that was us going out the front door to our Spanish class. Assuming a restrained trot we journey to the Library Room I and slink into our seats. Someone comes into the room—focusing our sleep ladened orbs in the direction of the door, we finally conclude it is "la professora de espanol." After a somewhat weak and shaky "Buenos Dias" we brighten up and proceed with the "Accion" of the day.

It's getting closer . . . closer to 10:00 and we feel that hot blood pounding in our veins—these blasted radiators one has to sit next to—then . . . the clock strikes out the hour and throwing caution to the winds, we dash out of the Library room, tramp through the quietness of the Browsing Room, fling ourselves out the door up the confusing stone steps, bang into our rooms—oh, man, we've got 3 minutes time to read a short story for English while we're getting dressed. This task accomplished, we hastily climb into our gym shoes, (I use "Climb" loosely, because some of these shoes do represent P. T. boats) throw a coat around our torso and fly the length of the buildings.

In our wake we have left our skirts on the floor, our blouses under the bed, our shoes in the corners of the room — and our books paraded across the bed. This may be the cause of those upraised eyebrows and little white notes we sometimes find when we return. You think it possible?

Following up those human P-51's we find them buzzing the halls . . . a half a minute left . . .

Continued on Page 4

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

ON THE BALL

Greetings again, sports fans! After a beautiful vacation under the Florida sun yours truly is once again ready to settle down to the idyllic life of the journalistic world. This quarter's sports calendar will be full of events for STC athletes. Swimming, basketball and volleyball are but a few of the games to be held this winter quarter.

BASKETBALL

Up and down the court run the guards and forwards, for basketball season opened this past Monday afternoon. Practices will be held every afternoon except on the week-ends. Eight practices are required for a girl to be eligible for a team, so come on gals, get your practices in early so there won't be any last minute rushing to get your class team together.

This is a major sport, and will give ten points to the winner towards the color cup. Show your class spirit and come out for the team, for even if you just warm the bench, the chances of making the team next year are always very good. Basketball is a quick, clean, fast game that requires skill in coordination and quick thinking. Practice makes perfect, so the more practices the better player you will be.

SOCIAL DANCE

Social dance will be taught this quarter, so you shy wall flowers who have never had the nerve to learn to dance, here is your chance to develop a terpsichorean talent that will give you a feeling of self assurance on the dance floor. Starting with the simple box step, the class will take a turn in the rhumba, samba, tango, waltz, peabody, and even an attempt at jitterbugging. This will be fun for all, so try to put it on your schedule. Dancing is almost an essential in a social life, and even if your partner turns out to be your roommate at a bull session on the hall, it is always lots of fun for all.

SWIMMING

One, two, three—one, two, three over and over as the swimmers glide up and down the pool practicing their strokes for the interclass swimming meets. Yes, lassies 'tis time for the swimming meet, and those practices will come in mighty handy when the big event starts

If you have any fishlike qualities, meaning in swimming, of course, you are perfectly eligible for the team, so come on down to the ole swimming hole, and join in the fun. This is the time to support your class. Five very nice points are given toward the color cup by the winning class.

VOLLEYBALL

Back and forth across the net the ball is tossed by the enthusiastic players, for volleyball is a vigorous and exciting sport. It really isn't a simple game, and requires lots of practice. This is another sport in which points are given for the color cup, and as you can readily see, yours truly is definitely trying to stress coming out for the teams early.

All the practices are general at first, and it isn't until later in the season that the players are divided into classes, and they begin working together. This sport will also be conducted as a round robin tournament, meaning that every team will play every other team.

Until next week, stay in the game, get in those practices and keep your chins up.

Adventures of STC-er

Continued from Page 1

creakes the bed, as our brown suit with "us" in it hits the hay. A deep sigh of contentment, but it's "no time for nothing" as our fellow "colleagues" crowd in to talk over the merry season just past.

Some delayed mail keeps our tales silent for awhile, as a glow and a smile steal across our faces over the written conversation of letters we "knew were here."

Things have quieted down a bit, we start to unpack, but decide we can do better in pajamas and consequently change. The first grip is unlocked when in breezes the gal from next door to give with the chatter of her time at home. An hour flies by, then a skirt and pair of socks are taken out, when another fiend (pardon, friend) blows in, who takes up tempus and does tempus fugit. Oh, well! We can see how to unpack tomorrow and this story of a dance is more than interesting. What if it is 1:00 A. M. I've only four periods tomorrow--eeyou! Chemistry, English, History and Phy. Ed. . . . , g'night chum, I've gotta sleep!!!

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

Shop Here For
For All Kinds of Valentines For SERVICE MEN
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System ....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Bring your clothes for prompt service to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower Our Representative

PHONE 78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

WINTER CLEARANCE
ONE LOT
Winter Coats
Suits and Dresses
Reduced
20%
From MARKED PRICES
Second Floor— Elevator Service
D AVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Santa Claus Knows What School Girls Like, Prefer, Want In Clothes Lines

When it comes to the latest fashion in clothes, Santa Claus really knows his business. He seems to dispense with all kinds and styles and with a lavish hand.

To prove my point, just look around the campus. The number, styles, and types of furs have increased. There are the mink scarfs nestled cosily around milady's neck. Then, there are the handsome coats and short jackets of seal, muskrat, skunk, fox and mink, that make one look, oh, so elegant!

Santa Claus knows what an S. T. C. girls wants when it comes to a "dress-up-dress". It is usually something black, either very plain with a sparkly pin for effect, or one of those side drape effects with no sleeves or very short ones.

The campus fairly blooms with a new crop of sweaters and skirts. The sweaters are of all shades and hues, long and roomy and preferably nubby knit. The skirts are pleated, of course, either all the way around, or with boxy pleats in front and back. Gray, cherry, white and plaids of all colors, remain the favorites.

And many are the lucky girls who are flashing new blue jeans and gorgeously loud plaid skirts to the envy of the more conservative gift receivers. These can best be noted roaming up and down the halls during study hour or on Saturday afternoons.

Along the jewelry line, there are the proud possessors of new and lovely diamond rings, dinner rings, birthstone rings, silver rings with different colored stones, and just rings.

Money from all over the world has found its way to S. T. C. on the arms of lucky girls in the shape of bracelets and around necks, in many interesting and different arrangements. The shell bracelet and necklaces seem to be much more numerous since the holidays and there are lovely blue pink, and silvery pearl colored clusters of them from the South Seas, Bermuda, Africa, and other places.

Santa Claus is a fad-fancier and he promoted one at S. T. C. by handing out so many silver hair barrettes, engraved with owners' name or initials to keep them individual. The number and shape of these are amazing!

Coats, suits and dresses have taken on new life with the addition of lapel pins in the shape of birds studded with rhinestones, flowers set with colored stones, leather and plastic animals and many other new and tricky gadgets.

Oh, yes, Santa Claus knows what is needed to brighten up the tired wardrobes of a school girl!

Phonortens Replace Gremlins with Docs

The Army Air Corps can have its gremlins—it's the phenortens which are running around loose at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine.

"Phenortens," asserts their proud discoverer, A. S. Bob McLelland, USNR, freshman at the College of Medicine, "supercede gremlins—they're the ultimate."

All medical students and quite a few nurses at General Hospital know that there are an infinite number of varieties, all looking over something so as to reveal only the head, eyes, nose, and fingers, the principal anatomical features of the phenortens.

These strange little figures first made their appearance at the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago, when Discoverer McLelland was studying there. A fellow student was absent-mindedly doodling when McLelland look over his shoulder and, with true scientific perception, realized that the first phenorten had been discovered. He triumphantly pronounced its name, and since that memorable night, the phenortens have so increased in numbers as to overrun many of the colleges and high schools of the United States.

McLelland not only introduced phenortens to the world in general, but to the College of Medicine in particular. He was standing at a dissection table when the instructor asked him a question which he was unable to answer, because, he said, "I haven't talked to a phenorten yet."

Then and there the room was turned into a classroom for phenortenology, with the founder of the science as chief lecturer, and soon all the medical students were discovering their own species, and consulting them. So rapidly has their fame spread, that the Medical School gremlins even managed to find their way into a question on one medical examination.

Discoverer McLelland strongly recommends that all individuals ignorant of the enormous wealth of phenorten lore come over to the College of Medicine, where they can be seen in every corner and on every blackboard. "Because if you've never seen a phenorten," he insists, "you've never lived."

—ACP

Poinsettias and all other kinds of potted plants, cut flowers and corsages.

Collins Florist

Phone 181 Day Phone 4 Nte

Hart House Quartet

Pictured above is the Hart House Quartet, who performed here last night. For story see page 1.

Animals of Every Size, Shape, and Color Become Part of STC's Growing Menagerie

Fad Includes Real Thing

Among other things that STC-ers found in Santy's pack were additions to the varied menagerie of cuddly animals for bed decorations. But there were already enough of the things here to write three or four features about.

Take for example, the variations of the bear . . . There are the big brown ones that are sizeable enough to occupy a bed by themselves . . . There are the bears that have been created by imaginative folks, and done up in pink and blue and green . . . There are the smaller variety, ranging in length from six inches to a foot or so . . . There are even included in the menagerie a few minatures, which are definitely NOT to be used on the bed, but should be placed in a safe place (where—at S. T. C.?), since they are made of clear and colored glass. But what we really like are the Pandas, made from real Panda fur and sent from overseas.

Second in popularity seem to be the dogs . . . dogs of wool, with floppy ears . . . dogs of gingham, and plaids . . . dogs of real fur . . . puppies of every hue and shade of the spectrum. But the prize is Besese's "Lazy Bones".

Oldest of the bed animals is probably the lamb . . . and even so commonplace a thing, so stereotyped a thing as a lamb has been made into as many shapes as a geometric design, with as many colors as a chameleon. The niecest of them are large and have a music box hidden somewhere inside that plays (upon winding) "Mary Had a Little Lamb" or "Lullaby and Goodnight" . . . Some are made of knotty string and some are devised from real wool . . . Nearly all of them are white to begin with, and unlike other STC-ers, they usually soon turn out to be black sheep.

Animals from the zoo come in for their place on the beds here, too. Somewhere we saw a fascinating monkey, whose body is so constructed that he is as limber as the real things . . . He had a grin, too, and seemed to be saying, "Hi, sister", . . . In some place can even be found copies of those long necked giraffes, and the one that really made an impression is the one of a violent color no less than violet!!

Elephants have long been favorites of school girls, and since the appearance of Dumbo, they have all had big, floppy ears, which more than cover the face . . . It gives one a funny feeling, to say the least, to life up a soft ear and see two eyes peering out . . . sort of like a game of peek-a-boo!

But if the girls at S. T. C. want animals, they don't have to have play ones . . . Why, the whole campus is alive with cats and dogs which need little encouragement to enter the dormitory for the entertainment of some and the consternation of others . . . Everyone is thoroughly acquainted with Caildown, the small cur that so eagerly follows one and all whenever he is tolerated, who even finds his way into the dining hall time and time again . . . But Calldown has lots of company—or competition . . . There was one time in the not too distant past when it seemed the girls of Cunningham Hall had adopted and were determined to carry out "One dog—at least — for every suite!" A new comer to the campus is a really big black dog who delights in lying in front of the fire in the Rotunda . . . He is a beautiful animal, and his intelligence is displayed by the fact that he seemed to warm himself before that fire.

Animals, live and make-believe, seem to be another fad with STC-ers . . . and they come in all sizes, and shapes, and colors . . . And if they are alive, they stay!

Are You Proud Possessor of Pets?

Physical Ed. Classes

Continued from Page 3

leading down to the auditorium, our faces take on a set look, while a gleam in our eye tells anyone approaching we have chosen the row we're to crash dive through. By the way, girls, this is an excellent hip reducing exercise. The ordeal over, our goal is in sight! Only a few more steps when — umph! Some poor, near-sighted soul in Annex, who evidently had neither seen nor heard us, dared to cross the hall to reach her innocent destination. Picking up the humble remains, we gently place them by the side of the wall, hoping her most intimate will soon find the hacked body.

We're OFF again! There's the gym balcony . . . with noises issuing forth from the floor below—hastily discarding our trench coats, we stumble down the steps, slide over to the piano, ask fearfully if roll has been called and are fairly crushed with, "Don't be silly, she isn't here yet" . . . and the basketball, it's only 5 after, now! This leaves us—shall we say—a little deflated? Anyway, we have analyzed the problem thoroughly, and have reached the conclusion that—we get as much exercise coming to gym as we do in class. Of course, there's also the inevitable trip back and that's just as fast and dangerous if you have a 11:05 class, but . . . pant! pant! . . . don't you think we've talked enough?

Mundy Becomes New Choral Club Member

Helen Mundy, Chatham, was taken into the choral club at the meeting held last Monday night in the music room.

There are approximately 60 members in this choral group, and the officers are Lucie McKenry, president; Nancy E. Taylor, secretary; and Lucy Lingo, business manager.

RECORDS

VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH

Popular—Classical—Hillbilly

New Location—Main Street

Wilson Firestone Store

MEET ME at SHANNON'S

Hamburger Special—for S. T. C. Girls—French Fries, Fruit Salad Hamburger Sandwiches ... 40c

College Shoppe

TRY OUR HAMBURGER SPECIAL with Cole Slaw and French Fries

Southside Drug Store

Patronize PATTERSON'S

Unexcelled Soda Service

Prescriptions a Specialty

WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES

MONTAG STATIONERY

The complete Drug store

PATTERSON DRUG CO.

328 MAIN STREET

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

Varied Assortment of Stationery

Quality—Price—Service

Just Looking, Thanks

JUST LOOKING THANKS

Some of the globe trotting STC-ers started out the year with big time social events this week end in spite of the fact that the holidays were just over on Wednesday.

In search of excitement — and finding it—in Richmond were Corinne Baker, Iris Davis, Ellen Higginbottom, Elise Thompson, Berkeley Richardson, Agnes Stokes, Eva Cobb, Martha Lee White, Margaret Lohr, and Jeane Ganzert.

In Petersburg were Judy Connelly and Frances Seward.

Finding interesting happenings in South Boston were Mary Jo Tucker, Virginia Marshall, and Elizabeth Scott.

Jennings Ordinary attracted Margaret West and Wakefield took Carolyn Boothe for the week end.

Then there are those girls who found something exciting enough to keep away from S. T. C. until this week end, namely, Dodie Jones, who haunted Radford, and Ann Nichols who was in Washington.

In Crewe for the week end were Joyce Cheatwood and Virginia Green.

Durham, N. C., was the destination of Betsy Dunn and Markent Stevens who attended a wedding there. Also attending a wedding was Bea Jones in Salem.

But to go back a little to the holidays, it is interesting to note the number of STC-ers who got together during the holidays. Coleen Agee found her way to Richmond to stay with Pat McLean, who also had as her guests Lillian Elliott and Beanie Dudley.

Suffolk had as part time guests—and all at one house — Martha Higgins, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Margaret Sheffield, Doris Balence, Betty and Jane Burchert, Ann Martin, Pat McLear, Lillian Elliott, and Beanie Dudley.

Frances Lee, who visited in Miami, and Ann Hamlin, who was in Orlando, showed Florida a new hue of red—the STC Special vermillion.

Carol Diggs was big timing it in New York, as was Grace Loyd. It took the nation's capital to attract Ann Summers, who spent the whole holiday in Washington.

And of course, there are those who so loved Farmville that they couldn't spend the entire holiday away. Elsie Thompson spent the gala days in the near vicinity, and Jane Waring Ruffin found her way back at least four days ahead of schedule.

And looking forward again, we can anticipate big doings among STCers this winter. Why, already Bev Peebles is planning a trip to Annapolis this week end . . .

But, we're just looking, thanks.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.

Shop Early at Martin the Jeweler For VALENTINE DAY

VISIT OUR . . . Stationery Depart. For All Kinds of School Supplies ROSE'S 5—10 & 25c STORE Farmville, Va.

By Ways, Back Ways

Continued from Page 1

and the scene changes again, for the better, decidedly. The back of White House, with its ivy; the curved gravelled road to the infirmary door; the rocky gardens under Mrs. Packer's supervision . . . even Dr. Moore's beloved green car . . . all fit in to a scheme of real charm; and there is no equal to the complacency and serenity of the tennis courts and A. A. field when they lie still and un-used in the late afternoon.

There's something about the back trail down town. Something that lures one off the main drag ever so often . . . just to see what it's like down the hill by the Methodist church and out onto the back street that leads to the train station and so on up to the bakery. Perhaps it's most favored by those "on campus" who will try to sneak a doughnut for themselves, but still it's obviously an enticement to anyone who just wants a change of scenery. And there's something about all the back parts of the school that lead to the stables, or to the woods up past Pine street, that inspires those who favor plaid shirts and blue jeans as out-door apparel to strike off in either of those directions. In fact, there's just "something about" the back streets and things that has an air all its own.

Look at a house from its back yard and see if there isn't a friendlier atmosphere from the rear view. Look at the exciting people who leave by stage entrances at the back of theatres. Look at the enchanting elevators in the backs of our dormitory buildings . . . and while you're looking, look at all the gals you'll find running in and out . . . the back way!

Lynn's Jewelry Store

Popular Sheet Music

215 N. Main Street

Farmville -:- Virginia

Start the New Year Right!

WITH CLEAN CLOTHES BRING THEM TO

DELUXE CLEANERS

FOR THE BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE Visit . . . Chappell's

State YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER IN FARMVILLE, VA.

THURS.—FRI.—SAT.

IRENE DUNNE CHARLES BOYER in "TOGETHER AGAIN"

NEW SPRING SUITS . . . Arriving Weekly

Styles you'll adore!

$24.95 and up

DOROTHY MAY STORE

Teachers College
ville, Virginia

VOTE IN PROSPECTIVE TEACHER ELECTION

The Rotunda

ATTEND EDDY, FROST LECTURES

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, JAN 17, 1945 | No. 13

Robert Frost Will Lecture Here Monday Night

FTA Will Sponsor Election For 7 Prospective Teachers

Officials Name Judging Standard

On January 18 the J. L. Jarman chapter of Future Teachers of America will conduct an election to select seven outstanding prospective teachers among the students of S. T. C. The students of the freshman and sophomore classes will vote for the girl of their classes whom they consider most promising prospective teacher. The other five will be selected from the junior class by the juniors and seniors, one each from the juniors enrolled in Curriculum I, Curriculum II, Curriculum III, Curriculum IV, and Curriculum VII.

The table in the hall will be open from 11 o'clock a. m. till 3 o'clock p. m. and from 6 o'clock p. m. till 7 o'clock p. m. for all groups.

Standards to be considered in voting, as set up by those working on the project are physical fitness, thoughtfulness, strength and pleasantness of personality, trustworthiness, originality, ability to speak well before a group, leadership, scholarship, ability to explain things to others, and superior intellectual ability.

650,000 Veterans To Attend Colleges

With student rolls in institutions of higher learning this fall down nearly a third below 1939, the last normal peacetime year, the estimated flow to American campuses after the war of 650,000 veterans for Federally-financed studies "represents the chief hope of American colleges and universities for rescue from the present dearth of men students."

This is today's generalization of Dr. Raymond Walters, University of Cincinnati president and authority on college-university attendance statistics, in his twenty-fifth annual survey for School and Society, education weekly.

As of November 1, there were 608,750 full-time students and 925,084 grand total, including summer and part-time students, in 679 approved institutions. Despite good-sized freshmen classes of 16 and 17-year old boys, current men students are from 50 to 94 per cent belows the figures of five years ago.

A large section of Dr. Walter's report is given over to comments, released here for the first time, as to prospects for returning veterans outlined by Omas W. Clark, assistant administrator of the Veterans Administration, Washington.

Based upon statistics as to age and educational qualifications of armed forces personnel and upon studies of postwar plans of a sample group of 10,000 service men, Clark predicts about 650,000 as a "generous estimate" of those who will be "candidates for full-time education on the higher levels." Previous estimates hazarded by other sources and running as high as 2,000,000 veteran-students after the war thus seem far too optimistic.

The peak load for colleges and universities will probably come a year and a half after Germany's and Japan's defeats, Clark believes as he warns that veterans will not arrive on college campuses in a rush, but will be distributed over several years.

At the present, approximately 2,400 disabled veterans are now studying in colleges and universities. —ACP

College Students Assist in Schools

63 Girls Teach Winter Quarter

There are sixty-three girls doing their practice teaching this quarter, Dr. J. P. Wynne revealed recently. Twenty-eight are teaching in the Farmville high school, 27 in the Elementary school, six in the college, and two in the Cumberland high school.

Those girls teaching in the Farmville high school are, Virginia Abernathy, History I, English I; Marilyn Bell, History III, Chemistry; Betsy Caldwell, History III, Civics IV; Mary Dondley Biology; Lelia Holloway, Spanish I, English II; An Masloff, English IV, II; Elizabeth Mast, English III; Alice Nichols, Alg., Math I; Virginia Naylor, Eng. III, Hist. I; and Jean Prosise, English III, Biology

Also Mary Jane Richards, Science, History II; Virginia Radcogna, English 7th grade, Spanish; Eleanor Wade, Math IV, Algebra II, Math I, Physical Education; Martha Watson, English I, History I; Helen Wilson, Algebra, Plane Geometry, Physical Education; Mary F. Woodward, English I, Science I; Marilyn Johnson, Typing I; Beatrice Jones, Typing I; Mary Fuqua, Shorthand II; Elizabeth McLean, Shorthand I, Typing II; Lucy Messick, Typing I; Ophelia Whittle, Typing I, Bookkeeping I; and Mary Walker Watts, Physical Education.

The two girls teaching Home Economics in the Cumberland High School are Sara Bird Williams and Martha Hite. Margaret Alvis, Alice Lee Davis, Nell Ray Fleming, Margaret Park, and Lucille Winston are teaching Home Economics in the Farmville high school.

In the Elementary school Carolyn Bobbitt, Carolyn Booth, and Geneva Coleman are teaching the first grade, Lena Claiborne and Alleyne Phillips, third grade; Nancy Dickerson, Eula Belle Doggett, and Jean Grey Akers, fourth grade; Lorraine Agee, 6th grade

Continued on Page 3

86 College Girls Make Dean's List For Fall Quarter

Juniors, Seniors Allowed Privileges

Eighty-six girls were named on the Dean's list for the fall quarter 1944 as announced by Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar, this week. Those who were included are Virginia Lee Abernathy, Cochran; Elizabeth Adams, Richmond; Katharine Allen, Enonville; Mildred Altice, Rocky Mount; Jean Anderson, Pedro; Margaret Barksdale, Java; Cary Frances Beard, Roanoke; Marilyn Bell, Richmond; Eleanor Bisese, Norfolk; and Anna Lee Blanton, Cumberland.

Also Carolyn Bobbitt, South Hill; Aline Boss, Hadlock; Lucy Bowling, Andersonville; Lucy Brailey, Richmond; Betty Brothers, Suffolk; Fredrika Butt, Portsmouth; Mary William Calvert, Lynchburg; Mae Cardwell, Concord Depot; Emily Carper Rocky Mount; and Rae Chick, Prospect.

Also Josephine Clayton, South Hill; Frances Copenhaver Bluefield, W. Va.; Shirley Cruser, Norfolk; Nancy Crymes, Surry; Virginia Dale, Honeville; Alice Lee Davis, Whaleyville; Carol Diggs, Farmville; Mary Anne Dove, Roanoke; Sarah Lee East, South Boston; and Shirley Easterly, Lebanon.

Also Eleanor Hall, Nomini

Continued on Page 3

Cruser Names Date Of War Chest Drive

War Chest Drive will be initiated on this campus February 14, and will be concluded on February 21, the tentative date for War Emphasis Day, according to an announcement made this week by Shirley Cruser, chairman of public affairs for the Y. W. C. A.

This year each hall will be canvassed as well as the organizations.

The money that is raised by the drive will go to the World Student Service Fund and to the Red Cross. The World Student Service Fund helps students in foreign countries whose education has been hindered by the war.

Robert Frost who will speak here next week

Dr. Sherwood Eddy Speaks on Campus

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, author, lecturer, and world traveler, spoke in chapel today, Wednesday, on "Today's War and Tomorrow's Peace."

Dr. Eddy will again be the Y. W. C. A. chapel speaker tomorrow when he will use as his topic, "Has Religion Failed?"

This afternoon Dr. Eddy led an open association meeting of the Y at 5:30. The administration, faculty, and students were invited.

He will lead prayers tonight, and at 8 o'clock Dr. Eddy will lead an open discussion in the Y lounge. At 9:30 he will lead another discussion in the Senior Rec.

Books by Sherwood Eddy and a selected group of magazine articles by and about him are now on display in the library.

There are also several books by Dr. Eddy in the Y. W. C. A. collection of books in the Browsing room of the library.

For twenty years Sherwood Eddy annually conducted a traveling seminar of educators to study the conditions in Russia, Poland, Germany, France, Great Britain, and other countries in Europe.

He is lecturing and speaking to service men and civilians. He has spoken in several hundred colleges in all parts of the United States, Europe, and Asia.

Elementary Pupils Learn Typewriting

During the 30 minute chapel period at which time the typewriters are not being used by the college students, the 6th grade of the elementary school is being permitted to take typewriting in the College Department of Business Education.

The touch method of typewriting is being taught, and the students are being trained so that they do not have to look at either their fingers or the keyboard in order to find the proper keys.

A few such experiments have been carried on in the past in a limited number of schools throughout the country, but as far as it is known, this is the first experiment of this kind to be carried on in the state of Virginia. The students appear to be very enthusiastic about mastering the work and it is felt that the experiment will prove successful.

Mattie Winston taught the class last quarter and Betsy Dillard has the place this quarter.

12 Students Make A's For Fall Term

Twelve girls made straight "A's" for the fall quarter, according to an announcement this week from the Registrar's Office. Of this group, seven are seniors, three are juniors, and two are sophomores.

Girls making straight "A" were Mildred Altice, Rocky Mount; Carolyn Bobbitt, South Hill; Mary Aline Boss, Hadlock; Emily Carper, Rocky Mount; Eva Mae Fleming, Chula; Margaret Harvie, Richmond, and Mary Ann Jarratt, Jarratt.

Also, Elizabeth Ann Jones, Berryville; Marion Orange, Providence Forge; Lucy Manson Sharpe, Virginia Beach; Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville; Nancy Wilkinson Kenbridge.

Methodists Select Price As Officer

Virginia Lee Price, junior from Farmville, was reelected vice-president of the Young Peoples group of the Central Region of the Methodist church at the annual state Methodist conference held at Natural Bridge last week-end.

Virginia Lee is president of the Wesley Foundation on this campus, a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and a member of the College Choir.

Famous Lyric Poet Has Been Awarded 3 Pulitzer Prizes

Speaker Sponsored By Beorc Eh Thorn

Robert Frost, internationally famous lyric poet, will speak on the S. T. C. campus on Monday, January 22, at 8:30 o'clock, under the sponsorship of Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor society.

"A Boy's Will", Frost's first book appeared in 1913 in England where he lived for a short time. "North of Boston" was published there a year later. When it was republished in America after Frost's return from England in 1915, he became widely publicized in this country.

The Pulitzer Prize for the best book of poems of the year has been awarded to Frost three times, in 1924, in 1931, and in 1937. He has received several other poetry prizes. Sixteen colleges have bestowed upon him honorary degrees.

Poet Is Teacher

Since his return to America, Frost has combined farming with teaching at Amherst College. He spent two years at the University of Michigan as Poet in Residence and Fellow in Letters. Robert Frost is now Emerson Professor of Poetry at Harvard.

Most of Frost's life has been spent in New England where his parents moved when he was ten years old, but he was born in San Francisco, California. He attended public schools and completed his education at Dartmouth College and Harvard.

Books for Sale

Copies of Frost's poetry book, "The Collected Poems of Robert Frost", will be available to students desiring them some time before the program so that they may be personally autographed. Sara Moling is serving as chairman of the sale of books.

The Beorc Eh Thorn program for the meeting on Thursday, January 18 will center about the poems of Robert Frost. Frost has spoken on this campus previous to his lecture on January 22. This lecture, sponsored by Beorc Eh Thorn, was given on May 15, 1940.

Tickets will be sold at 60c each at the table in the hall Thursday of this week through Monday. Seats will go on reserve Saturday morning at Pattersons.

Slide Rule Course Offered To Students

A course in the study of the slide rule, Mathematics 255, is being given during the winter quarter, meeting once a week and carrying one credit.

In this day of demand for greater speed and efficiency the slide rule is coming into more general use. It is a computing instrument used to solve problems involving multiplication, division, squares, cubes, and combinations of these processes, with a satisfactory degree of accuracy and time-saving rapidity. It has application in the fields of engineering, architecture, statistics, chemistry, merchandising—wherever a quick calculation is necessary.

Attention, Seniors

Please place your order for graduation announcements at once. If it is not done immediately, they won't get here in time for graduation.

Jeune Fille and Joven Senorita Enjoy Modern Language Work on College Campus

D'onjou, Flores Describe Homes

"We thoroughly enjoy our work in connection with the French and Spanish classes on the campus", Lise D'onjou and Carmen Flores remarked as they told your reporter of their activities.

Arriving in Farmville on January 7 from Quebec, Canada, Lise has been granted a fellowship from this college. She is working under Miss Helen Draper, professor of French, going to each of her classes once a week to speak and read to the students in her native tongue, enabling them to attain more oral use of the language. Carmen has also been granted a fellowship and is doing the same thing in the Department of Spanish under Miss Emily Barksdale, professor, that Lise is doing in the French Department. Reflecting the influence of the Army program, colleges and universities throughout the United States are now experimenting with new methods of teaching foreign languages. One of the methods of this program is that native teachers be employed as Lise D'onjou and Carmen Flores chat in three languages.

Girls' Futures Are Undecided

has been done here.

"I decided last November to come to S. T. C. as I found out through the Departments of Education in Washington and Quebec that I could serve as a fellowship student in the French Department", Lise stated as she gave her reason for coming to Farmville.

Born at Mont-Jali on the St. Lawrence River and living in Quebec for the past four years, the little French Canadian girl has been to school at Rimouski and Ursulines Colleges and Laval University. Last year she took an academic course, studying especially French Literature, Latin, and Greek. I have had six years of English," she remarked with a twinkle in her eye as she discussed the point of reading, writing, and speaking English better than she understands it because of our southern accent.

Continued on Page 3

We Are Given Opportunity To Hear Outstanding Men

This morning during the chapel hour and again this afternoon at the open association meeting of the "Y", we were given an opportunity to hear a world author, lecturer, and traveler—Dr. Sherwood Eddy. This opportunity was a rare one and for those of us who have not heard him thus far, we still have the opporunity to do so tonight and tomorrow.

An internationally-known figure, Dr. Eddy knows many of the outstanding leaders of the world today. To hear him speak is to realize to a greater degree than ever before the situation and condition of this global war.

The greatest lyric poet of today, Robert Frost, is scheduled to speak on our campus on Monday night, January 22. This, too, is a rare opportunity for college students to sit and to listen to a poet who interprets poems we like so well and who shares his thoughts so willingly and gladly with others.

Hearing these men speak is in itself an education. The educational facilities on this campus outside the classroom are numerous and varied and should be participated in by more students. A mastery of your subject matter is important; yes, we of the Rotunda staff would not for one minute say that it isn't. We feel that each student should do the best work she is capable of doing in each of her classes, but we also feel that oportunities such as are ours this week and next are an important part of our education.

These are but two of the oustanding features on this year's calendar and there are numerous others which we could mention in the realms of music, education, theology, etc. These should be two of the big dates on your calendar; there will be many more, and the Rotunda will keep you informed as to new oportunities.

As students of today and future teachers of tomorrow, we should be alert, wide-awake people who are taking advantage of all chances and opportunities.

We of this staff take this time to commend the Y.W.C.A. for securing Sherwood Eddy and Beore Eh Thorn for securing Robert Frost as campus speakers.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Geiston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd, Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1945

This issue in charge of Virginia Treakle

Part of Teachers Important In Remaking Chaotic World

The Normal School at Farmville was established in 1887 to prepare the young women of Virginia as teachers in order to raise the educational standards of the State. Throughout the years, the school has undergone many changes, but still it remains true to its original purpose of teacher training.

In the midst of a great war, with our minds on peace, we think deeply about the place of the teacher in the world following the end of the war. And we quickly see that the place is to be a large and an important one.

It was to create more interest in the profession that the Future Teachers of America organization was established during the last decade. The organization on our campus has recently been rejuvenated and reorganized and this week begins a project which should interest every prospective teacher in the college. Seven students will be selected from those taking teacher training course, seven students who their fellow classmen consider the most promising prospective teachers.

Elsewhere in this paper the details of the project are given, and here we wish to say a word to those who will do the selecting. The idea is not to select the most popular, or the best looking girl; there are other times for that. The idea is to select the students who show the most promise of doing a really good piece of work in the field of teaching, because of their capability and on the basis of what they have done while in school.

It will indeed be an honor to be listed among the seven who are selected as the most promising prospective teachers, and they, and all others who teach, will have a big task to do in rebuilding a world from the chaos that will inevitably follow this war.—J. W. R.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

One month ago the Germans launched their mighty offensive. This week that offensive is in reverse as the enemy flees from Belgium toward the Siegfried Line. To Field Marshal Kar Von Rundstedt goes credit for thousands of American casualties. Even in the face of victory we cannot forget this.

* * * *

As Americans move eastward the Russians are moving westward in the new Soviet winter offensive. The attack is along a 600 mile front from the Baltic Sea to Budapest. Advancing in Poland the Reds are getting nearer to Germany's rich coal fields.

* * * *

From the South our progress is negligible in completing the squeeze. German forces in Italy have been strongly reinforced and the Apennines are covered by deep snowdrifts. The enemy is taking all precautions in defending the "vitally needed supply and manufacturing base" of Bologna.

* * * *

Off the coast of China our third fleet is having a field day, having sunk 41 ships and damaged 28 in a Japanese convoy. And as our planes hit Formosa and Honshu our troops have advanced to within 82 miles of Manila. In our anxiety over the western front we must not forget the Yanks in the Philippines. They've got a longer war to fight.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

Annapolis certainly does seem to be the drawing card these days for STC girls. This week it was Bev Peebles and Anne Baer who represented the inhabitants with Jerry Payne receiving an invitation to the next hop.

Two new KA pins have put in their appearance on campus this time worn by Martha Wells and Anne Kingdon.

The joke, short-story, etc., of the week seems to be on Mr. Landrum. It seems that he was innocently standing (not loafing) on a street corner when suddenly, he was aproached by a complete stranger showing utter delight at hearing our competent Prof. sing with a jazz band in Lynchburg. On Mr. L's denial of the accusation, it was then that anonymous proclaimed, "Oh, yes, you played a trumpet—I know I never forget a face!" Is your past catching up with you, Mr. L?

Not being able to stand a weekend away from Ed, Judy Conneily journeyed to Petersburg Friday night. She'll probably become a permanent part of Camp Lee before long.

Bracie is "missing in action" but we'll hope for a speedy recovery out in those W. Va. hills—we know she'll be back dancing as fast as ever before long. Already, she is missed.

For more details of the High School's slogans, see Alice Nichols!

Man shortage again—seen in Senior Rec Sunday night — one man and five girls!

Keeping up the STC reputation at U. Va. this week-end were Mary Jane King, Julie Hunt and Aline Boss.

Brickbats to the HSC sailors who literally tore our radio in the rec "limb from limb."

A new couple seen on campus recently—Anne Blair and Dave Crute.

And who was it that saw Glenn Ann buying bird seed? She seems to be interested in birds or is it "Bird Brains?"

Olive Bradshaw says the latest from Doug Crummett is that he is now engaged as a chaplain in the Navy. Will wonders never cease?

Anne Mapp was greatly surprised last week by the fliving visit of Billy and his comrades.

A sight for sore eyes has been Jean Carter Smith's Will, who has been honoring our campus this week.

Wedding bells rang this week for our own Isabel Ransome. Best wishes!

Then there's the cute little freshman who went all the way to Providence Forge to see the sailor who wired all the way from Arizona and has never been heard from. Did he find a cute brunette somewhere en route, Mary? Maybe he got cold feet when he thought of so many Farmville girls who seemed mighty far away in the Pacific, eh Hauser?

By the way, why all the confusion on first floor senior annex last night when the hall president forgot to come home — just an hour late. Mr. Reid and Ruffin were practically scouring the library when in walks Jonesy alias "Laura."

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

It is hoped that all students are taking advantage of the opportunity to hear Dr. Sherwood Eddy, distinguished writer and speaker, who is on our campus for today and tomorrow. Dr. Eddy spoke in chapel today and in the "Y" open association meeting. He will lead prayers tonight and also conduct a discussion group in senior rec. He will speak in chapel tomorrow. Don't miss hearing him!

Sunday night Vespers at 5:45 have started again.

The Sing contest will start Saturday night with Senior Sing.

The Methodists recently held a state conference at Natural Bridge. Some twenty girls from S. T. C. attended.

Look on the bulletin board for the subjects for prayers.

POETRY MINDED

Question of the Week

What do you think of wearing blue jeans to class?

"Ting" Rattray: What? With my hips?

Mary Morton Fontaine: Better than pulling up p. j. legs.

Betty Minnetree: Good way of keeping warm but not too ladylike.

Jean Givers: All right if Miss Peck doesn't see me. Save coal without being cold—

Jane Paulette: All right for sport but not class.

"Frog" Tomlinson: I wish we could. They hide my long legs.

"Poddy": For an answer to that look at my pleatless skirts.

"Phyl" Watts: It's war! We should save clothes, too.

Betty Ellis: They're comfortable in the bed room but why wear them to class when we're supposed to be ladies?

Kitty Wright: Oh—I'd love to.

Helen Wilson: I think I'd get a little hot.

Dot Geiston: Skirts and sweaters are much more appropriate.

Eleanor Wade: I like those things but there's a time and a place for everything!

Louise Blane: It would save time and considerable effort on everyone's part.

Eleanor Bisese: My glory — It would be comfortable.

"Spot" Hunnicut: It would display my too generous curves.

Frances Lee: I'm all for it.

Ann Summers: Absolutely essential to keep your legs warm.

"Phillower": Why not! Make it a law, too! Three-fourths of the people do it anyway.

Gin T. Pullen: They don't flatter de figger.

Ann Masieff: Mighty comfortable but sloppy idea.

Kitty Maddox: My brain works better when my legs are warm.

Glen Ann Patterson: It's a swell idea. I don't want to freeze at 6'3 degrees.

Dot Overcash: I haven't got one but it's a good excuse to get 'em.

"Jinny" Shackleford: Definitely yes (Santa brought me a new pair.)

"Diddy" Ford: I'd look like death warmed over. (Not that I don't anyway) but why emphasize the rugged truth?

Margaret T. Ross: Why should a bag try to look like a sad-sack!

Editor's Note: Look next week for the faculty's opinion on this question.

Sunday Morn Sleeping Beauty Responds In Agony To Icicles

She's up, she's down! She's up - - - because a glass of ice water thrown rather loosely in the face wouldn't keep anyone in bed. Up she jumps, not completely awake, but, may we remind you, she IS up! . . . that, to an anxious roommate on Sunday morning IS something. A gentle call plus a gentle shake didn't seem to arouse the Sleeping Beauty, nor did throwing back the covers exposing her to the "cold" breezes do any good. Nope, water is the sole remedy.

Being responsible for a person's salvation "ain't" exactly humorous, because every Sunday, rain or shine, we've got to get 'er up and out. When we've seen this chick dressed and in church that is the moment we heave sighs of pure and undiluted relief, we know those lovely orbs are at last opened to the light o' day.

Nosing around, we stare at the gay, self-assured gal who bounces up at 9:00, takes a bath, reads the funnies, and proceeds to prod every living and otherwise obvious soul in the halls with an experienced right forefinger and shouts, "Come on and get up, it's a bee-you-ti-ful morning. Go to Church with me." - - - If Charles Boyer had said "Come wiz me to ze Caskak," we couldn't have this morning, so who is type No. 1 got to be so happy about?" Opening the door in the far corridor, we observe the victim of the 10:00 alarm . . . she is barely functioning as far as grey matter is concerned, confidentially Houdini's guinea pigs under hypnotism would have looked healthy beside her pale condition.

Watch it, looming up in sight is the hurry, hurry, Cutie, "who rolls out about 10:45, dresses with the alacrity of an STC Freshman on her first morning, and zooms towards the Rotunda in perfect imitation of the new jet propelled plane.

Aha, but lurking in the background is our sulky faced comrade who is so different from the aforementioned church goers. She is independent, this one, as we explained earlier, MUST be awakened by a loving hand holding a glass of ice water. She's not always a vision when she stumbles into the bathroom, dripping icicles from her tresses, but we can assure you this much, she does rise and shine! To us, a ritual of this particular brand, every Sunday would prove disheartening, but in the voice of "100% Good Scragg" quote, "We all has got to go to Church"—unquote.

A thoughtful P. S. to wit: Everyone loves to sleep, and especially when that first day of the week extends such a sinful invitation to lie dreaming, Untowit! But none of this for us, because our time is

Continued on Page 4

Volleyball Practices Begin; Professor, Manager Instruct

Gym Suits Required For Class Practice

Volley ball is under way with a good start. Practices are held every day Monday through Friday at 5:00 p. m. Much class spirit and competition is being shown in these daily practices.

Miss Ier instructs classes Monday through Thursday, and Heidi Lacy, manager of volley ball instructs Friday afternoons. Many techniques as serving, returning serves, follow-ups, etc., are taught in each class period.

Heidi Lacy, manager of volleyball.

It is not necessary to take volley ball as a class, if you are interested in the game and class practices. Just come on out and play and sign your name on the list for your class team. Eight practices are required to make the class team. These practices must be gotten in before the time when the class games are to be played.

In order to be able to distinguish between classes and colors, gym suits are required for class and practices. Please cooperate with this request, as it helps all concerned.

Dean's List

Continued from Page 1

Grove; Nancy Harrell, Emporia; Margaret Harvie, Richmond; Rosa Hill, Windsor; Martha Holman Farmville; Caroline Huddle, Richmond; Theresa Hutt, Neenah; Nancy Ingle, Covington; Mary Anne Jarratt, Jarratt; and Dora Walker Jones, Radford.

Also Elizabeth Ann Jones, Berryville; Rachel Joyner, Zuni; Farlene Kimmerling, Roanoke; Lucie McKenry, Arlington; Katharine Maddox, Lynchburg; Ann Martin, Suffolk; Ann Masloff, Danville; Sara Moling, Winchester; Mary Frances Moon, Shipman, and Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C.

Also Helen Mundy, Chatham; Carlotta Norfleet, Virginia Beach; Dorothy Overcash, Hampden-Sydney; Constance Ozlin, Chase City; Glenn Patterson, Kenbridge; Anna Ward Peery, Tazewell, Helen May Phillips, Melfa; Katherine Prebble, Lynchburg; Jean Prosise, Wilson; and Virginia Pullen, Danville.

Also Virginia Radogna, Purdy; Mary Jane Richards; Toano; Jacqueline Ritchie, Richmond; Sally Robertson, Lynchburg, Peggy T. Ross, Onley; Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City County; Barbara Scott, Franklin; Josephine Shaffner, Newport News; Lucy Manson Sharpe, Virginia Beach; and Mary Preston Sheffey, Marion.

Also Gloria Sheppard, Walkerton; Frances Sifford, Norfolk, Margaret Stewart, Clinchport; Agnes Stokes, Kenbridge; Anne Summers, Hampden-Sydney; Virginia M. Terrell, Front Royal; Virginia Treakle, Farmville; Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville; Mary Ella Watkins, Emporia; and Nannie O. Webb, Ordinary.

Also Faith Weeks, Purdy; Martha White, Richmond; Ophelia Whittle, Petersburg; Sarah Clark Wood, Wingina; Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock; and Mary Franklin Woodward, Barhamsville.

To be placed on the Dean's list a student must make B or higher on all her work, with the exception of floor work in Physical Education, on which she must at least make C or higher. An average for the previous three quarters cannot be lower than C. The student on the Dean's list may be absent from classes when she feels that she can use her time in ways that seem more profitable to her.

Members Initiated Into Dance Group

Orchesis Given Supper Tonight

Orchesis will initiate four apprentices, Marilyn Bell, Viviar, Edmunds, Helen Lacy and Frances Timmins tonight, after a supper which the apprentices are giving for the older members. After the initiation, the members will vote on new apprentices to be taken in to Orchesis.

Apprentices serve a term of apprenticeship, in which they must have participated in at least two programs given by Orchesis before they are initiated. To become an apprentice to Orchesis, a girl must have had at least one quarter of modern dance fundamentals here in S. T. C.

Language Work

Continued from Page 1

Talking about the age-old subject of food, the vivacious French student said that the food was not too different from the food in Quebec; however, the preparation was very different.

"Upon deciding to come to Farmville, I chose English as my major and business education as my minor." Her future plans are indefinite, but she may decide to teach.

Lise's likes are many, and her dislikes are few. "I like physical education fine, and I do enjoy going down town with the girls."

"Since this was my first trip to the United States, I looked forward to meeting these southern girls." She was several days late in arriving this quarter because of traveling regulations and was unable to stop in New York to see her American friend there.

A French table has been organized in the dining hall, and this la Jeune fille presides over it with grace and dignity.

The scene swiftly changed from Quebec to Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, in December of 1942 as Carmen Flores is entering a plane fo rthe states in general and for Farmville in particular. Asked why she selected S. T. C., Carmen replied, "When I was a senior in high school, I made the decision to come to the United States to college because I wanted to improve my English. I also loved to travel and to have new experiences. Some of my friends' mothers talked to Mother about Farmville after which I wrote to several Virginia colleges asking for bulletins. After some contemplation, I decided to make Farmville my alma mater. I planned to enter here in the fall of '42 but couldn't get a plane until winter quarter."

Coming from one of the largest towns in Puerto Rico, Carmen told of her grammar as well as her high school where she belonged to the English and French clubs. "I took English in high school," she said, "but I really didn't learn it thoroughly as we only spoke it in class."

Her pet peeve is having to wear a coat. "In Puerto Rico, we have a mild climate the year around, and I'm not accustomed to wool clothes of any kind." As we discussed Virginia's climate, her eyes shone as she related her amazement on first seeing snow.

"I enjoy traveling greatly," the Puerto Rican student said as she told about her trips to New York, West Virginia, and Florida. "I also like movies, swimming, horseback riding, golf, and would like to learn to jitterbug as we don't have such a type of dance in Puerto Rico."

When asked what she missed most of all about being away, she immediately said, "My family,"

"The towns in Puerto Rico resemble Farmville very much because of the scenic beauty. There are, however, no brick houses, only frame and concrete."

Carmen has not definitely decided about the future. She plans to graduate in August of this year after which she may return to Puerto Rico to teach or she may go there for a visit and then return to the United States for further study.

Serving as hostess of the Spanish table, Carmen hopes to improve the Spanish of the American girls who sit there as well as to improve her own English. Majoring in biology and minoring in Spanish, she helps carry on the work of the Spanish club.

"As we get to know these girls, their customs and languages, we are taking a step in promoting world peace," the modern language professors stated this week.

Left Lead

GRAY SKIES . . .

"Nothing but gray skies . . . " to ride under . . . and riding in and out between the rain-drops offers little chance for enthusiastic trail -time-fun, so beginning last Wednesday, there were again a few good hours of good old-fashioned work-outs in the ring. All play and no work makes the horses lazy-like, and everybody knows we like OUR horses filled to the brim with that "Stop-me-if-you-can-I'm-gonna-jump-the-next-truck" attitude that makes them such outstanding individuals!

Dot White was the only beginner who ventured out with the mares feeling as good as they have been, and for once a new paradox was discovered! It's usually Modern Dance that makes people so sore they just can't ride . . . but Dot was so sore from riding, she couldn't even take Modern Dance! Never fear, she'll limber up, as will the numerous other new girls who signed up for riding this quarter but who haven't been able to ride yet because of the weather.

LEST WE FORGET

Just to keep up with things on the trail, though, M. Sydnor, Duff, and Joyce went exploring on last Thursday and ended up being ushered over a 200-year-old farm belonging to one Mrs. Bailey, whom they ran into (figuratively speaking) at the end of the trail. The gals are invited back next time they're "just visiting" around . . . so there could be some interesting rides in the near future. When the days get longer, who knows? There's always the hope for a supper invitation!

FOLLOW THE LEADER

It was Friday's ring work that turned into a literal game of Follow the Leader, with Joyce and the Pony as leaders. 'Round and 'round she goes . . . " and what she does next, nobody can even guess, but it was fun anyhow, and with Call-Down and half-a-dozen other dogs joining in the frolic, at least it was one way of making going-in-circles a veritable game of chance.

SAY GOODBYE . . .

. . . To Anderson . . . he's going into the navy before very long, and maybe you think we won't miss seeing him around with Beauty, turning up somewhere we least expect them, and joining the gang for an hour or so of fun, with his expert manipulation and ever-ready dare-devitry. Good luck, Anderson . . . bring us back a sea-horse!

TID-BITS

We looked and looked for a quotation with which to end the column this week, but all we could find were bits from "The Highwayman", and Shakespeare's "A Horse, a Horse, My Kingdom for a Horse." We couldn't very well picture our gals, squshing through the mud of Farmville in blue jeans and plaid skirts, fitting into the mood of "A coat of the claret velvet, and breeches of brown doe skin," exactly "Clattering and clashing over the cobbles into the dark inn-yard . . . " or "Tugging their reins in the moonlight and galloping off to the West . . . " so we just let it go. We'll end up with our old familiar . . . Come on out when the weather clears up, and . . .

Stay on the Bit!

Pegasus

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Greetings again sports fans! Last week proved a successful one for the beginning of athletic events for 1945. Basketball, volleyball, and swimming are the three major sports scheduled for this quarter, so come out and support your class colors by trying out for a team.

PING PONG

Ping pong which is a minor sport on the campus, but also an important one, is played off this quarter in a tournament similar to that used in the tennis tournaments.

Playing ping pong requires skill and coordination, and practice is very important. Start practicing now, so that you will be able to enter the tournament. This is an individual sport, and it is up to you alone as to whether you will win a game or not.

Individual sports as well as team sports require good sportsmanship, so if you win or lose, be a good sport about it. Even if you do not win your games, there is always the chance of winning next year.

SWIMMING

Calling all aquatic women! More swimmers are needed for the coming class meets, so anyone who can swim is very welcome at the pool. Don't be shy, for there will be plenty of girls down there who probably cannot swim any better than you can.

Recreational swimming will be held on Monday and Wednesday nights. You can get your practices in then if you do not have available afternoons free. Practicing on your speed and strokes will be the main thing, and Miss Dabney will always be on hand to help you.

RIDING

Cold winds may blow, but still STC-ers keep right on riding. This is a year round sport, and although it is more popular in the spring, it still goes on. It really doesn't matter how much or how often you ride, there is always something new to learn.

Getting to know your horse is the first thing, for until you win his confidence, you just won't get along. Naturally it is important to know the fundamentals of how to hold your reins, sit in the saddle, etc. If you haven't signed up for riding now, do sign up in the spring. The horseshow comes that quarter, and is always lots of fun. Everyone who rides participates, even if you have just begun.

FOLK DANCE

This quarter in the freshmen physical education classes, folk dancing is being taught. Folk dancing is a dance that comes from our ancestors, who when they first settled in America brought over typical dances from their countries, and they have been carried down through the years.

The Virginia reel which the girls learn in class is a dance that our grandmothers and grandfathers used to do. In the west, the square dances that are done there, are dances that came with the covered wagon. Learning to dosey-do, and twirl your partner can be lots of fun, and the more intricate the steps become the more fun it is to learn them. During war times, dancing always becomes popular among young and old, for through dancing they can relax.

Until next week, don't forget to stay in the game.

Assist in Schools

Continued from Page 1

music; Eleanor Correll, 2nd grade music; Dorothy Cummings, 5th grade music; Martha Ellen Jones, 2nd and 3rd grade music, and Frances Sifford, 1st and 4th grade music.

Also Virginia Via, Nannie Webb, Ray Chick and Evelyn Stovall, 6th grade Home Economics; Dorothy Cox and Lorraine Raiford, 5th grade Home Economics, Eleanor Correll and Virginia Terrell, art; and Josephine Beatty, Margaret Bear, Louise Blane, Elizabeth Mountcastle, Catherine Trower, Martha Watkins, and Phyllis Watts, Physical Education.

The girls that are teaching in the college are, Betsy Dillard, 6th grade typing; Elizabeth Edwards, Shorthand 112; Isabel Key, Shorthand 112; Mary Preston Sheffey, Typing 102; Carmen Flores, Spanish 102; and Edith Garcia, Spanish 102.

8 Swim Practices Required for Team

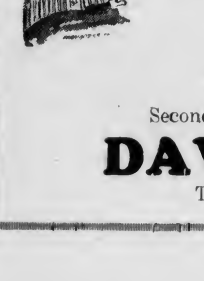
The swimming pool is open now for practices in making the class teams. Class teams compete in swimming as well as the other sports, and the swimming meet is held this quarter at a date which will be set later. Eight practices are also required for class swimming teams.

The swimming pool is open on Monday nights from 8:30 to 9:15 for Freshmen, and from 9:15 to 10:00 for anyone who wishes to come. On Wednesday nights at 9:15 the pool is open for everybody. Instruction in swimming techniques is given by Miss Dabney, swimming instructor, on both these nights.

The water in the pool is heated to such a degree that swimming is a fine sport even in the winter. If you are interested in taking a life-saving course in swimming spring quarter, come out and learn the fundamental techniques of swimming this quarter, or improve the ones previously learned.

Several hundred thousand different items are shipped to the Army overseas — and practically all are paper-wrapped or boxed.

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative



Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmvile, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System ....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

VISIT OUR . . .
Stationery Depart.
For All Kinds of School Supplies
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

- SWEATERS -

ALL COLORS AND SIZES
PULLOVER and BUTTON STYLES

3.98 to 10.95

Second Floor—Elevator Service

DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Jean-Clad Misses With Plaid Shirts Liven Campus Life

What happens to S. T. C. on Saturday afternoons? One would think that the school had suddenly become co-educational. On the halls of Cunningham, and Main, Whitehouse and Gym, and outdoors down the backroad to the athletic field, and jean-clad misses are evident. Comfortable they look, and are, too!

There are several different varieties of these pants that S. T. C. girls are sporting. Well-tailored slacks of grey flannel or gabardine, boy's blue denims and even honest-to-goodness overalls with bibs in front. There are some that resemble sailor trousers with lace-up white strings in back to hold them snug at the waist. The best loved and most comfortable are just plain blue denim overall jeans.

The jeans are topped off with loud plaid woolen shirts that hurt your eyes if you look very long at a time. These come in red and black, green and navy blue, just to mention a few of the color combinations. Some of the brothers' or fathers' cast off shirts make excellent jean accompaniments. V-necked sweaters and dickies are in place, especially those of the plaid variety. Cardigans over shirts add to the warmth and comfort.

Jeans and warm woolen shirts are really quite practical in these heatless days, and a great save of more expensive clothes that would get mussed while we go through the contortions of studying or lounging or nailing up decorations in the gym.

Please girls, let's not shock the population by parading in them to class, or through the Rotunda, or in the library, or on the streets except the back road, because a good thing can go too far, you know.

The Michigan state experiment station and the Dow Chemical Co., have devised a plan whereby sugar beet seed may be planted mechanically. Heretofore, due to the nature of the seed, it could not be planted with a machine. The new plan provides that the seed be coated with some harmless substance making pellets uniform in size. These operate without difficulty in mechanical planters.

Your War Bond Investment Is Your Investment In America . . .

Patronize
PATTERSON'S
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
MONTAG STATIONERY

The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Jean-clad misses are, left to right: Rosa Hill, Hersey Huut, Evelyn Grizzard, and Caroline Huddle.

3 Seconds to Make Bedcheck Familiar Sound to S.T.C.ers

"Coke and nabs—to go. And hurry, please. We've got less than a minute to make bedcheck" . . . "Run! We'll miss bedcheck!" . . . "Don't let 'em lock the door on me. Don't fence me out! I've got to make bedcheck, I'd die if they called my parents just because I stopped to hear "Rum and Coca Cola" again". . . . "You've got three seconds to make bedchecks!"

These and similar expressions have become nightly conversation among the seniors who make the nocturnal trek down town, as the hands of the clock rapidly move toward 11 o'clock And then the mad dash up High Street, as they collide with late studiers racing from the Libe to make bedcheck themselves.

As the big bell tolls out the curfew, hall presidents make the rounds . . . "Where is Betty?" . . . "Is Mary working on the Colonnade still?" . . . "Oh, goodness, did Elizabeth Ann get locked in the Library?" . . . "Tell Helen I'm here for bedcheck, but I've got to get that book from Jo" . . . "Susie! Smith! Has anybody seen Susie? She isn't here for bedcheck." The halls eecho each night with these valiant attempts to prevent the expense of long distance phone calls home . . . and call downs.

A new type of—should we say "slang"?—has come into existance to meet the needs created by the new institution of bedcheck. The institution was met itself with a strange collections of comments when it was presented last fall . . . "I just can't imagine myself being in the same place at the same time every night" . . . "They can't have Bedcheck. Bedcheck is my calleo dog" . . . "They couldn't call my parents anyway. They don't have a phone" . . . "Does bedcheck mean that we have to ACTUALLY be in BED?" . . . "What about after bedcheck? When do they write that?" . . . "Will they check UNDER the beds, too? I always do that myself. Sometimes I find a man, but he's always just a dust mirage" . . . "What I want to know is if the hall presidents are going to tell us goodnight stories when they tuck us in bed".

Mrs. Lula B. Turpin Bequests $6,390.60 To Teachers College

Mrs. Lula Bradshaw Turpin, deceased, of Fine Creek Mills in Powhatan county, left in her will $6,390.60 to S. T. C. in memory of her relative, Carrie Fowles, who was a student here in 1899, Dr. J. L. Jarman revealed this week. The bequest is to be used as a loan fund and will be known as the Carrie Fowles Memorial Loan Fund, Dr Jarman said.

Governor Thanks OPA Workers Here

Commendation for three years service, from Governor Colgate W. Darden, Jr., has been received by the Office of Price Administration ration board here.

"You have rendered a patriotic service in which we all take pride, and you have the earned gratitude of the people of your state and nation," he wrote. "The record you have made in holding prices in your own best tribute."

Referring to the 6542 volunteers administering rationing and price control programs in the State, "ours is the only country where volunteers are doing this important job," he wrote.

The letter was written by Governor Darden on the third anniversary of openng of the original Tire Rationing Boards which eventually became the present War Price and Rationing Boards.

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANNE BUCK

Up the hills and around the bends 22 girls reached their destination at Natural Bridge at the State Methodist Conference. Girls going were Nancy Taylor, Elizabeth Mast, Loraine Raiford, Ann Hamlin, Becky Norfleet, Ann Brushwood, Dot Cummings, Mary Lee Farrier, Eleanor Abbott, Jean Taylor, Martha Lee, Louise Harrell, Betty Adams, Carolyn Bobbitt, Ann Savedge, Nannie Webb, Gladys Lankford, Dawn Holcomb, Anne Buck, Rae Chick, Virginia Lee Price, and Nannie Crittendon.

Finding fun and frolic in the city of Richmond last week-end were Kitty Maddox, Elizabeth Mottley, Jackie Ritchie, Celia Stott, Mary Jo Luck, Virginia Terrell, Lucille Winston, Mary Virginia Williams, Elinor Overbey, Theresa Powell, and Anne Williams.

Mary Jane Richards, Katherine Stubblefield, Martha Watkins, and Martha Watson were attracted to interesting activities in Blackstone.

Lynchburg provided an exciting week-end for Betty Plunkett and Betty Bibb.

Other girls who found fun away from school this week-end were Evelyn Moore in Prospect; Connie Ozlin in Fredericksburg; Doris Smith in Victoria; Ann Tucker in South Hill; Eleanor Parsons in Norfolk; and Jean Prosise in Wilson.

Also Frances Bell in Petersburg; Helen Williams in Sunny Side; Connie Young in West Point; Gwen Ackiss in Portsmouth; Sarah Leach and Clara Welch in Richmond; Jane Anderson in Cumberland, and Martha Ellen Jones, and Annie Gay Wood in Buckingham.

We are glad to have Louise Putney back on the campus to stay with us for a while until she goes to the MCV as a cadet nurse.

Sleeping Beauty

Continued from Page 2

up and we must fortify ourselves for our weekly bout with The Sleepeh. Any resemblance to persons living is NOT coincidental.

Just Received
Potted Plants
and
Ferns
15c to 39c
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Lynn's Jewelry Store
Popular Sheet Music
215 N. Main Street
Farmville Virginia

Hamburger Special for S. T. C. Girls—French Fries, Fruit Salad, Hamburger Sandwiches 40c
College Shoppe

Silver Hair Clamps
—AT—
Martin the Jeweler

PHONE
78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Lovely Flowers For All Occasions
Collins Florist
Phone 181 Day Phone 4 Nite

Try Our HAMBURGER Special! with Cole Slaw, French Fries, Drink
35c
Southside Drug Store

MEET ME
at
SHANNON'S

SEE THESE SMART
Gabardine CHESTERFIELD COATS
For Spring
Newest Pastel Colors and Black
All sizes
$34.50 to $49.95
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Library
Teachers College
Virginia

CONGRATULATIONS
FTA

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS
AKG

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1945 | No. 14

Alpha Kappa Gamma Taps Five In Chapel Today

Roanoke Orchestra To Furnish Music For Mardi Gras

Girls Required To Wear Costumes

Jimmy St. Clair's eight piece orchestra from Roanoke will furnish the music for the Mardi Gras dance scheduled for February 10 in the College gymnasium Helen McGuire, dance chairman has announced. This annual masquerade ball is sponsored under the auspices of Pi Gamma Mu, social science fraternity.

HELEN McGUIRE
Chairman of Mardi Gras

This orchestra has played in Virginia at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Sweet Briar, Hollins ,and Radford Colleges.

Girls are required to dress in costumes, and prizes will be awarded for the two most original costumes and for the two prettiest costumes.

Barbara Scott is the business manager for the dance, and Marilyn Bell and Eleanor Bisese are in charge of the floor show.

The admission will be $1.30 for couples and 25c for spectators.

Cotillion Club Bids 69 Fresh, New Girls As Active Members

Sixty-nine freshmen and new girls were issued bids to the Cotillion tonight, Marilyn Johnson president, revealed.

Those girls receiving bids are Alice Abernathy, Jean Babb, Mary Lou Bagley, Corrine Baker, Doris Ballance, Mary Jane Bond, Julia Booher, Peepsie Brooks, Betty Burchett, Jane Burchett, Peggy Cabiness, Pat Carter, Jo Cooke Anne Clarke, Claire Clarke, Alice Cross, Virginia Dale, Sue Davis Susan Dickerson, Nancy Duncan and Betsy Dunn.

Also Betty Epperson, Joan Freeman, Betty Gills, Jean Givers, Carolyn Grimes, Charlotte Grizzard, Doris Hancock, Alice Hannah, Janie Hanks, Kitty Hankins, Elizabeth Harrell, Mary Harrison Anne Haskins, Joyce Hill, Mary Helmer, Nancy Hughes, Joscelyn James, Carol Jenkins, Joyce Johnson, Anna Kucera, Mary Jane King, George Anne Lewis, Frances Livesay, Virginia Marshall, Mary Ann Morris, and Anne Mooré.

Also Betty Mitchell, Ellen Overby, Caroline Painter, Thersa Powell, Regina Portinero, Berkeley Richardson, Betsy Scott, Betsy Scroggins, Betty Jane Shepard, Mildred Shepherd, Nancy June Snead, Shirley Slaughter, Nancy Squire, Jane Short, Nancy Taylor, Mary Ellen Temple, and Mary Jo

Continued on Page 4

Eddy Challenges Local Girls To Make Life's Big Decision

"I do not worship a dead atheist; I worship a living Christ," Sherwood Eddy stated in his message to the students on last Friday morning.

In his talk, the outstanding author, lecturer and traveler spoke of his 15 trips to Russia, two to the old Czarest Russia and 13 trips to the country under the present government.

In comparing the youth of Russia who stand with eyes fastened on the tomb of Lenin willing to give their lives for the cause of Russia, with the youth of America, he questioned why it was that the latter were not concerned about humanity, God, and country. "The Russian boys and girls are vitally concerned about humanity and country, but not about a God whom they do not know," Dr. Eddy said.

Eminent women such as Florence Nightingale, Jane Adams, Susan B. Anthony, Frances Williams and Mary Lyon as well as others were named with their contributions to the cause of Christ and to humanity in this nation. His former classmate, Horace Pitkins was mentioned as giving his life and fortune and offering to give his son for the cause of Christ in China. "I expect a greater future in China than her past of the last 4000 years because of Christians who have laid down their lives for Christ," Dr. Eddy stated.

Continuing his talk to the student body, the international figure told of his mother's conversion one night while in college and of his son's death in the first World War.

In closing Dr. Eddy said, "If you were today examined for a youth movement, would you be dead in earnest, would you be prepared to give your life and all that you have, all that you are, and all that you ever will be for your cause, the greatest cause on earth? Are you willing to go out and to live for Him, the Lord, and Master of us all? Have you made your great decision? Have you taken the right track of the road as my mother did that night at her college? Let us who follow in his train go out to win a just and lasting peace and to build a better

Continued on Page 4

Gibson Will Lead Religious Services

The Rev. Churchill J. Gibson, D. D., Rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Richmond, will lead the Religious Emphasis Week services on the S. T. C. campus February 6 through 8. "God's Good News for Today" has been selected as the theme for the week.

Dr. Gibson began his ministry as a mountain missionary, and then he was for ten years the Rector of Robert E. Lee Memorial Church in Lexington, Virginia, where he served as student pastor for the cadets at Virginia Military Institute and for the students at Washington and Lee University. He has served in his present position for the past fifteen years. During the last war, he was a chaplain and served in France.

One of Dr. Gibson's great interests is trying to interpret the Christian religion to young people according to a statement made today by Mary Anne Jarratt, chairman of the program for the week

Religious Emphasis Week is that portion of the year set aside by the Y. W. C. A. for special emphasis on the spiritual side of college life. At this time the Y. sponsors outstanding speakers on the campus.

'Y" Group Sponsors Class Sing Programs

Sponsored by the Sing committee of the Y. W. C. A., a class sing program is being presented each Saturday night after dinner.

Based on talent, presentation and originality, judged for the program are Virginia Terrell, senior; Glenn Anne Patterson, junior; Margaret Walton, sophomore, and Frances Treakle, freshman.

Opening last week, the members of the senior class presented the sing program. The juniors, sophomores, and freshmen will present their programs on the next three Saturday nights, after which the judges will be announced and a prize in war stamps will be awarded the winning class.

Betsy Fox and Kitty Maddox are co-chairmen of the Sing committee.

Polio Drive Quota Increases at STC

A drive for funds to stamp out infantile paralysis and to treat the victims of it is now on. The quota for Prince Edward county has been increased, and the STC quota is higher than last year. The faculty and students here are asked to contribute $100.

There was a sharp increase in the number of cases of this epidemic last year. Approximately 759 cases were reported in the state of Virginia for 1944. There were 61 cases in 1943.

About $360 is needed for each patient. The actual cost is probably much higher. Besides treating the patients, the nurses and doctors have to receive compensation for their services. The cost of equipment for treatment is also very great.

The table in the hall will be open for contributions. Representatives from the classes will canvass each hall every night.

10 Girls Selected Future Teachers By Student Body

Election Held By Local F. T. A.

Ten outstanding prospective teachers elected by the students on secret ballots last week were announced to the student body Saturday, January 20, by Mary Ann Jarratt, vice president. This election was sponsored by the J. L. Jarman Chapter of the Future Teachers of America.

Elected from curriculum I was Virginia Treakle, Farmville; Curriculum II, Lucy Bowling, Andersonville; Curriculum III, Betty Adams, Richmond; Curriculum VI, Virginia Lee Price, Farmville; Curriculum VIII, Jacqueline Parden, Portsmouth; Francis Lee Richmond, and Anna Lee Blanton, Cumberland.

Anna Headlee, Norfolk, and Margaret Eliett, Jennings Ordinary were chosen by the sophomore class ,and Peepsie Brooks was elected by the freshman class.

As was announced last week, only seven girls were to be elected, but in some cases the results were so close that ten girls were finally selected.

PGM Will Sponsor Program of Music

Sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu, social science fraternity, a program of music of Allied Nations will be presented to the students on Friday morning, February 2 at the chapel hour.

The program will include music from America, China, England, France, and Russia, and annotations will be given respectively by Dorothy Overcash, Helen McGuire, Caroline Huddle, Mary Anne Jarratt, and Jane Ruffin.

Working with Pi Gamma Mu will be the College Choir which will sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and "God Save the King". Singing the national anthem of China will be Anne Blair; Esther Shevick will sing the French anthem, and Pat Maddox the Russian national anthem.

Lucy Manson Sharpe, President of A. K. G.

Freshmen Sign Up For Y.W.C.A. Work

Committees Headed By Upperclassmen

On Monday, January 22, the freshmen were given the opportunity to become active members of Y. W. C. A. by signing up for Y committees.

Working on the Church Cooperative Committee with Marjorie Hewlett are Nancy Chambers, Lise d' Anjou, Dorothy Hubbard, Maude Savage, Nancy Simmermon and Virginia Tobey.

Choosing the Library Committee and working under Jane Anderson are Tinner Bigger, Neva Brankley, Audrey Lee Davis, Annette Grainger, Jacquelln Hale, Betty Minton, Daphne Pittman, Hessie Sharp, Suzanne Steele, and Martha Stringfield.

On Membership and working with Virginia Treakle are Lucie M. Addleman, Martha Anderson, Annette Anthony, Fulmer Baker, Marion Doris Bennette, Audrey Bonn, Dorothy Bradley, Virginia Butler, Dorothy Ellen Blair, Lela Evelyn Bouldin, Violet Burton, Peggy Cabaniss, Sue Castle, Mary Cowhens, Eva Cobb, Shirley Connelly, Constance Pemberton, Marie Cralle, Barbara Ellen Crowther, Lucille B. Davidson, Iris Davis, Juanita Davis, Sue Davis, Gertrude Driver, Betty DeBord, Lou-

Continued on Page 3

Harrell, Cruser, Maddox, Bisese, Jones Recognized

Joan Circle Bids Members Quarterly

Nancy Harrell, senior from Emporia; Dora Walker Jones, senior from Radford; Pat Maddox, senior from Roanoke; Eleanor Bisese, junior from Norfolk, and Shirley Cruser, junior from Norfolk were recognized this morning in chapel by Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity for leadership in womanly service.

Nancy Harrell served as acting president of Pi Gamma Mu last quarter, and is vice-president of Pi Gamma Mu this quarter She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi and Beore Eh Thorn, and has been active in class activities since she has been here. Dora Walker Jones is general chairman for the 1945 May Day, and served as costume chairman last year. She has been president of the Home Economics Club, and is a member of the House Council. Pat Maddox has been active in choral work during her college career, and serves this year as leader of the Madrigal Group. She is managing editor of the 1945 Virginian, and has been active in class activities.

Eleanor Bisese is president of the junior class, and served in the same position for her class last year. She is a member of the College War Council and Pi Gamma Mu. Shirley Cruser has been an officer in her class for three years, is a member of the Virginian staff, and is chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

The Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma recognized leadership in womanly service once each quarter.

February 7 Slated As Production Date

February 7 i sthe date for the sophomore production, Nancy Whitehead, chairman, has announced. A gay-ninety bar-room will be portrayed with everything from flora-foras to barber shop quartets.

Working on the committees are Pat McLear, "Cab" Overbey, Grace Loyd, Margaret Walton, and Betty Minetree. On the food committee are Kitty Sue Bridgforth and Kitty Parham.

The production will be given in the "Rec" this year instead of in the large auditorium as it was last year.

The production given by this class last year was a talent program wit ha patriotic theme, based on the months of the year. Further details of this year's sophomore production will be revealed at a later date.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

Effective Monday, January 29, town people will not be served in the College Tea Room Mrs. Tabb announced this week. This limitation is due to the recent stricter rationing of foods, and she feels that the college students should have the first consideration.

* * *

Nominations for May Queen and court will be taken at the table in the hall all day tomorrow, Dora Walker Jones, chairman, announced this week. The final election will be held early next week, and the results announced in next week's Rotunda.

Robert Frost Lyric Poet, Enchants Hearers; Wins Place In Hearts of Large Audience

We heard so much about Robert Frost. We heard that he was coming to our campus, and we heard that he had been here before. We heard the English teachers discussing his visit delightedly, and we heard the eager note of expectancy in the voices of the students who were looking forward to it so. And then Monday night came, and we heard Mr. Frost read to us some of his own charming poems, and talk to us in his own friendly way. And for all we had heard before, we still had no idea that it could be as enchanting an hour as it turned out to be.

Mr. Frost spoke again, very informally, at the Reception after his lecture. They, the People, sat in a semi-circle on the floor about his feet. . . and We, the Press sat among them . . . our ears strained and our minds feverishly taking mental notes, vainly hoping we could catch every thing he said, in order to give it back to You, the Public. It was impossible . . . so we slyly watched our chance, and slipped in again when Mr. Frost spoke to the English classes which met at eleven o'clock. This time a sheaf of copy-paper graced our laps, and the notes we took were more than mental in their durability. And even then, thanks to Mr. Grainger, we had the honor of a personal chat with Mr. Robert Frost himself, and found him even more charming, and more friendly, and more grandfatherly than ever!

Some one had asked him which his favorite poem was, and he replied "Perhaps "The Mountain" ", so that, we knew already.

"But was there one which you may have had a particularly hard time with?" we queried. And he thought a while, and repeated the question before he answered.

"Well, there was 'Nothing Gold Can Stay'," he smiled. "I had a terrible time with the last three lines of that one." He chuckled here, as if the memory of it amused him, and he seemed glad to be able to think he had conquered the troublesome lines satisfactorily. When we looked the poem up, to our surprise we found that it consisted of only eight lines in all! Troublesome it may have been, but the results were smooth and perfect.

There was little point in quizzing Mr. Frost for the sake of curiosity. He had said everything in his talks to the groups.

"Tell them again, won't you, what I said about college being another chance to learn how to read? And the last chance. It takes a great deal of the delightfulness out of a poem to have to study it and search for a hidden meaning. Learn to read poetry, not to study it . . ." He talked on about this "learning to read." So many times, he reminded us, the radio takes the place of reading for too many people. And Mr. Frost says that our main reason for going to college, should be to learn to read!

In saying his selections to us, we were fascinated by the ease and naturalness which were so much a part of this great American . In fact, so smooth was his style that only those quite familiar with the poem of the moment could tell when a line was part of the pattern or merely a little

Continued on Page 4

What Gets Your Dimes? Give to Polio Fund Today!

What can you buy for a dime? One large coke . . . two packs of un-available gum . . . not even a whole pack of cigarettes . . . one card of bobby pins . . . three packs of notebook paper . . . one Defense Stamp . . . ten cents . . . one-tenth of a dollar. Or . . . You could drop it into the "March of Dimes" box, and do your minute bit in the helping of children crippled by the dreaded infantile paralysis . . . and the prevention of further horrible results from the grim clutches of this dread disease.

War relief is spoken of often these days. War bond sales are emphasized and re-emphasized. We are kept busy boosting the morale of the boys overseas, and of keeping the home-fronts buzzing with the various war activities that will all serve to bring a sooner peace. But dare we neglect, in the rush of over-whelming industry, the vital things like the prevention and cure of a dread disease that will so affect the lives of future Americans as to perhaps render them incapable of carrying on the principles of Democracy? Dare we leave a dime out of the endless March in order to purchase one more defense stamp of so small a denomination? Have we the right to decide which future is more important, that of our country or that of our future citizens? Or is there a choice here at all? We ask ourselves, as individuals, what difference one more little dime can possibly make, either in our future or that of America. We aren't through buying War bonds . . . we don't stop at one ten-cent stamp . . . nor is anyone advocating the abandonment of Bond buying.

No, students . . . we don't say stop buying war stamps to give to the March of Dimes at all. Read again . . . we say, "Give up one coca-cola . . . stay home from one moving picture . . . knit one less pair of mittens . . . and drop your dime into the nearest box today!"

You have little children in your family, or in the families of dear ones here and at home. You see children in Sunday School, or in the training school; you see children playing with their pets and riding bicycles. Everywhere you turn, you see youngsters who are the future of our land. These are children in whose path may lie the dreaded poliolymelitis. Look at them and fear for them. Whose Child Will Be Next?

—B. D. C.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pulliem .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blanc, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spry, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Geiston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd, Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1945

This issue in charge of Betty Deuel Cock

Road We Must Travel Long, Hard, Rough

Much has been said in these columns about the post-war plans and the place of the college girl in that period. However, we want to speak now of the place of the college girl, of you and of me, in the day in which we are living, the day of war, chaos, and strife.

Life in time of war is vastly different from life in time of peace; even so is the life of a college girl different in many respects. Many of the things which girls of yesterday enjoyed, we have given up willingly because of war. These are, however, only a beginning.

In the Richmond Times-Dispatch on Sunday we read these words, 'Happy tidings from war fronts are welcome but the road ahead is called long and dangerous." Truer words were never spoken in relation to the struggle that is ahead of us. Many of us will be prone to feel that because the Allies are making advances in Silesia, and Luzon and because we have driven Field Marshal Von Rundstedt back toward the West Wall that we need no longer to be worried. This is not at all true; many battles are yet to be fought which will call for all that our country has to give. Of course, we are receiving these messages of victory with the greatest satisfaction, particularly because they have come after receipt of unfavorable news from Europe over a period of weeks.

The world condition does look optimistic at the moment, but let us not forget that the road ahead is long, hard, and narrow and is one that will cause the giving of many of our brothers, friends, and sweethearts.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

The Russian onslaught is rolling along this week on a 56 mile front—and on German soil. Included among the falling Prussian cities is Tannenberg, where the Russian army was defeated in the last World War. It took Russian two years to march 1170 miles from Stalingrad and make what is known as "one of the greatest military comebacks in history."

* * * *

On the other side of Germany our ground forces are closing in. Along the 300 mile Western Front our only setback has been with the 7th Army at Strasbourg, where the enemy has thrown in crack troops and tanks. Patton's forces have driven five miles into Luxembourg and pushed the Germans out of Belgium at one point.

* * *

At last from northern Burma comes the news that the Ledo-Burma road is about ready for use, Japanese defenses having been broken in that area. Ramree Island can now be added to your geography list of war names. Eighteen miles wide, it lies close to the Burma western coast. British troops invaded Ramree this week, a most suitable objective for airfields.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

Wonder what Ann Hauser thought about the scene B. L. and David created in the Rotunda? - - - - things will come out of trips to Natural Bridge. Quite a romantic spot — What about it Betty Adams?

It's a little late for "white" Christmas, but Lulu got home all the same. Note Shirley Cruser's smiling countenance . . . .

Virginia Travis entertained a car full of soldiers on the train from Lynchburg Sunday night. "Biggest liar of Week" goes to her . . . .

Johnny J. was all a twitter because Perch was here . . . enough said . . . .

Don't miss Mary Jane King's "big time" date at "Mardi Gras".

One look at the red head on the U. of Va.'s basketball team was enough for Poguey. Wouldn't it be nice if he joined the marines P. . . .

It's nice to see William Hubbard, pardon me, Ensign Hubbard on the campus. What say Vev? . . . . Peggy T. got to see Fitchet half an hour after play practice . . .

Maddox ought to take a day off and list the dates she had at Medical College last week end. . . .

We do wish Mike Shifflett would tell us about her fond secret lover. It sounds mighty good. . . .

Is Mary Watkins having any success solving her latest problem? . . . .

Cary Beard had "Good news in Blues" this week. We like the Navy, too, Cary . . . .

Once more the diamonds sparkle and this time on none other than Sara Ballard . . . .

Oh yes, and who is that cute lieutenant on campus this week, visiting Anne Dickerson. . .

All reports are that Barbara Crowther, Lou Davisson, and Mary Harrison had a simply lovely week end. For details, see them. .

And just who is the most seen man on campus these days. We realize that Hampden-Sydney is close, but Bill Lacy makes us feel that it is just down the street as he seldom misses a day. Isn't that right, Lucy? . . .

Alice Green really gets inspirations from carrying around daily that good looking soldier's picture.

If you want to see Patsy Dale's eyes sparkle more than ever, just mention the name of a certain ministerial student at H.-S.

Mary Lou Dondley certainly has captured the heart of an Apprentice Seaman at H. S. Nice working, Mary Lou.

Letters from Mary Garden (Martin) Wray in Del Rio sound as if she is very, very happily married and that she is having a marvelous time. Wedding bells rang for her on December 23. . .

Dot Cummings, too bad, you aren't a senior so you can go downtown from 10:30 to 11:00 to keep the senior snakes off. . . .

Continued on Page 4

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

The Sunday School contest held each year is soon to take place. Let's get in the habit now!

Mr. Philip Roberts spoke to the Freshman "Y" Club Friday night on "Choosing A Life Profession." His talk was enjoyed thoroughly.

Monday in Chapel the committee chairman explained their respective committees to the freshmen, who were given a chance to sign up for committes and become active members of the "Y". The committees will meet at ten o'clock tonight, and each freshman is expected to attend the meeting of the committee of her choice.

Vespers are sponsored by the Freshman Commission in the large auditorium at 5:45 each Sunday. This is what the students have asked for; it is up to them to support it.

Plans are being completed for Religious Emphasis Week, the main "Y" event of the year. It is to take place the first week in February.

Seniors started the sing contest Saturday. Look around for talent in your class, and see if you can top the Senior sing!

LEADERSHIP

Question of the Week

What do you think of the idea of letting the girls wear blue-jeans to classes, etc.?

(Viewpoint of Faculty and Home Department)

Miss Hamner: Altogether impossible . . . no dignity to it . . . reflection on the school; reflection on the parents; reflection on everything!

Miss Tupper: Oh, no . . I wouldn't if I were you. I hope you won't . . . I just hope you won't!

Mr. Graham: It's just terrible to dress a pretty little girl in a blue jean! (Ed Note: No doubt the whole pair of jeans would be twice as terrible!)

Miss Camper: Don't ask me.

Miss Mary Clay Hiner: I approve of them for picnics . . .

Ma Moss: Why, there'd be no point in my teaching in a girls' school if you all were going to dress like boys!

Miss Peck: This isn't a Farmerette establishment, is it?

Miss Garnette: No. Why not? Because it's a girl's duty during war-time to look as attractive as she can, and blue jeans certainly do nothing to enhance a gal's beauty!

Dean Smith: If blue-jeans were good-looking it would be different. I think it would be nice for the girls if they had to wear their riding habits, for they're so neat and attractive, but blue-jeans are just so . . . too . . . too . . .

Dr. Swertfeger: Just "no."

Miss Winnie V. Hiner: I don't mind them in the Treasurer's Office.

Miss Wheeler: Ooohh, deah! I think maybe the girls are a little too careless in manners and dress anyhow, and that would just encourage carelessness . . . but as far as my classes are concerned, it wouldn't matter anyway because I probably wouldn't even notice them.

Miss Rice: I think girls are very atttractive unless they make themselves unattractive. I think such a costume would be just—shocking . . . but then I came out of Noah's Ark!

Mr. Snead: Personally, I don't like them. I don't think they're immoral; just not effiminate.

Miss Nichols: Unequivocally No! Any other garb—pajamas, gym suits, or what-nots—but no blue-jeans!

Charlie Hop: I think they're very practical!

"Guest Reporter" Tells All; Gabe Makes With the Mexican

To be read with voice inflection like Gabriel Heatter

Good evening everyone. This is your See All, Hear All, Tell All reporter giving you an inside view of "Chaca versus Bedlam" or "An Amusement of Spanish Confusement," or the regular meeting of the Spanish Club of S. T. S. This should be of interest to all loyal Americans, all who are going to take Spanish next year, and all who are planning to go to Mexico for their Honeymoon. It should be deemed notably interesting to Vice-president Wallace or Rockefellerians who are ardently supporting the Good-Neighbor Policy.

Let me take you to the library January 16, 1945. We see girls from different classes rushing into the audio-visual room and settling themselves for a challenging time of interpreting what is going on. The rank beginners are completely at sea for a while, but soon they learn how to follow the general run of conversation. The president is now rising to open formally this meeting of El Club de Espanol. As we hurriedly glance over the crowd, we notice the presence of not only Americans from "Los Estados Unidos" but Americans from "La America del Sur". They understand with ease the secretary's report, but I see one freshman's eyes cross as she ties to follow the general trend of thought. Sad case!

Ladies and gentlemen, the business session is now over and the president, Mary Preston Sheffey, gives way to Edith Garcia, the program chairman. The group lustily sings some "canciones de Espanol" and every one particularly enjoys "Clelito Lindo." Perhaps your humble reporter could learn the Ay! Ay! Ay! part. The crowd swings and sways to the piano rendition of South American rhythm by Emily Carper. Then a look of intense interest greets Leila Holloway, as she gives a news report in Spanish and everyone seems to recognize familiar military terms which are often almost the same in Spanish as in English.

Ah, these S. T. C. girls are getting acquainted with Spanish games. I see they are eager to play "Loteria" because it's the same as our own "Bingo".

Ladies and gentlemen I wish you could have shared this educational and enjoyable meeting in person. May I say that in these small "get-togthers" is the embodiment of understanding and appreciating the customs and problems of a people who speak a different language, but mean the same when they say "Amigas, siempre" (friends, always). And so - - we reluctantly leave you

Continued on Page 4

17 Girls Receive Bids to Orchesis, Ellis Announces

Dance Recital Slated March 23

Seventeen girls received bids to Orchesis last Thursday night, January 18. They are Corrine Baker, Emily Carper, Claire Clarke, Ann Dickerson, Lois Fuller, Mary Harrison, Ray Johnson, Grace Loyd, Pat Maddox, Nancy Magner, Betty Parrish, Louise Pegram, Theresa Powell, Berkley Richardson, Nannie Sours, Hildreanne Suttle, and Helen Wilson. These girls must serve a term of apprenticeship in which they will participate in two of the programs Orchesis will be in, before they can be initiated as members.

Work will begin this Wednesday night on the dance recital which is presented annually by the modern dance club. The date has been set for March 23, the first week end in the spring quarter. Officers of Orchesis are Betty Ellis, president; Edith Lovins, secretary; Betsy Caldwell, treasurer; Frances Lee, costume chairman, and Jean Carter Smith, historian.

Ping Pong Tourney Will Be Held Soon

A ping pong tournament will be held this winter quarter in the near future. The definite date has not been set yet. Each winter quarter an elimination tournament is held and both green and whites and red and whites are urged to come out for this event. Although ping - pong is a minor sport on the campus, the winner will gain five color points for the color cup.

You who wish to practice, will find a ping pong table, paddles and balls in the shower room. Get your practices in now. All you have to do is get in your own individual practices, a certain number not being required, and when they announce the tournament just sign up.

Physical Ed Groups Take Folk Dancing

Physical educations 102 and 227 are concerned with folk dancing this quarter. 102 is freshmen physical ed. and the freshmen learn folk dancing twice a week from Miss Mary Dabney, Miss Olive T. Iler and Miss Emily Kauzlarich and on their third period play volleyball. Physical ed. 227 is teaching methods in physical education which is required for every girl who is going to get her teaching degree. The girls who are upperclassmen teach the dances to the other members of the class.

Left Lead

IN HONOR OF . . .

With the scarcity of stable news as bad as the local coal shortage, we turn to a new (and refreshing) way of filling up the column this week. With Mr. Robert Frost just gone, and decidedly "missed", we take the liberty of presenting to you here one of his poems that few but horse-lovers have probably ever read. Mr. Frost started to read to us one of his poems "about a little horse", he said, but changed his mind and left us disappointed. We don't say for sure this is the poem he had thought of, but we do say we think you will enjoy it, and might like to post it or paste it somewhere in honor of the great man who left us an intangible something that we won't soon forget.

THE RUNAWAY . . .

Once when the snow of the year
was beginning to fall,
We stopped by a mountain pasture to say, "Whose colt?"
A little Morgan had one forefoot
on the wall,
The other curled at his breast. He dipped his head
And snorted at us. And then he had to bolt.
We heard the miniature thunder
where he fled,
And we saw him, or thought we saw him, dim and gray,
Like a shadow against the curtain of falling flakes.
"I think the little fellow's afraid of the snow.
He isn't winter-broken, It isn't play
With the little fellow at all. He's inning away.
I doubt if even his mother could tell him, 'Sakes, It's only weather." He'd think she didn't know!
Where is his mother? He can't be out alone."
And now he comes again with clatter of stone,
And mounts the wall again with whited eyes
And all his tail that isn't hair up straight.
He shudders his coat as if to throw off flies.
"Whoever it is that leaves him out
so late,
When other creatures have gone
to stall and bin,
Ought to be told to come and take him in."

—Robert Frost.

BIT O' THOUGHT

In many of Mr. Frost's poems we find references to various horses. It's people like him who make the true spirit of animals live forever in the writings they leave us.

We hope you've enjoyed this, whether you'd read it before or not, and we may try it again some time . . . if we can find one we think as well-suited, or half as delightful, as we found the "Runaway"!

Pegasus

Tattle - Tale Gray Weather Persists In Being Talked Of

The eternal topic rides again! For here we are clicking our teeth about the weather. Statistics show that since the holidays we've spent 86.73% of our waking moments surrounded by the gray pall of rain. We no longer run to class at the last minute — we splash. And we paddle downtown for a soda; we squish-squash to Butcher's; we wade home from the current tear-jerker. Our thirsty trench-coats are the deserving objects of our devotion. Weary of water-soaked 'kerchiefs, some of us have even succumbed to umbrellas.

Dampness can be refreshing at times; at least it provides a pleasant contrast to crowded, stuffy classrooms. Yet the rain hath its foul aspects, nevertheless. Witness the omnipresent mud. It oozes over the front sidewalks and submerges the back lanes of the campus. It engulfs would-be gardens an adultivated corners. It somehow manages to seep through the soles of our saddles, so that we have to expose our socks to washboard-scrubbing or clorox-soaking —and still they emerge more than delicately tan at the toes. We find ourselves spattering the stuff (mud, not clorox) on our own and our neighbors' innocent shins.

Witness, too, the disheartening outcome of rain vs. our coiffures. Our tresses drool in a haggish sort of way.. At times we may smother such eye-sores in scarves; but in the D. Hall they are starkly revealed to the discomfort of all present. Eventually we admit defeat; shrug, "What's the use?"; and fail to roll up those lank hanks at bedtime.

Witness, finally, the rain's effect on our frame of mind. Would that we would be Pollyanna-ish and maintain that our dispositions are unshakeably sweetness and light. Such would constitute a lovely ending to this discourse. However, though we're far from being sadsacks, we don't find this perpetually drippy weather any too invigorating. We stare through dull windows; we scowl at drab, lifeless skies.

But cheer up, friends and foes—"Can spring be far behind?" (P. S. We can dream, can't we?").

YWCA Work

Continued from Page 1

isa Elder, Esther Mae George, Charlotte Grizzard, Marian Gunn, Doris Hancock, Alice Hannah, Augusta Hargan, Lottie Hammock, Clarice Haskins, Mary Haskins, Charlotte Hutter, Bette Lively, Carolyn Murphy, Marian Hohn, Peggy Jacob, Anna Kucera, Mary Mason, Ellen McMullen, Helen Lewis, Dorothy Overton, Billie E. Pruett, Betty Anne Plunkett, Yvanne Sayers, Elizabeth James Scott, Lorraine Smith, Elizabeth Smith, Norma Soyars, Jacquelin Seymour, Jean Snead, Elizabeth Stoner, Harriette Sutherlin, Betty Scroggins, Mary Lee Thomas, Alpha Mae Torrence, Jean Turner, Jane Underhill, Betty Wetherall, Doris White, Nell Wilkinson, and Barbara Wiley.

Connie Ozlin, chairman of Music Committee has on her committee, Estalene Anderson, Mary Lou Bagley, Mae Ballard, Jean Bentley, Virginia Beaver, Catharine Bickle, Ann Cox, June Cregar, Betty Craddock, Sarah Dodson, Betty Lou Eaver, Margaret Ann Ellis, Vivian Elmore, Mary Graham, Carol Belle Jenkins, Dorothy Ladue, Gladys Lankford, Connie McConnell, Jane Mantiply, Martha Morrison, Elinor Overbey, Augusta Parrish, Frances Partin, Alfreda Peterson, Carolyn Poole, Joyce Sisk, Alice Smith, Virginia Tindall, Tucker Winn, Miriam White, Mary White, Ellen Ward.

Girls on prayers group under Mary Wyatt are Jean Babbr, Doris Ballance, Mildred Davis, Miriam Estes, Susan Fansler, Lois Fuller, Betty Goddin, Mary F. Jennings, Evelyn Mustain, Katherine Rainey, Mary Richmond, Iris Quillen, Betsy Scott, Betty Shepherd, Edna Smith, Ella Smith, Katherine Stuubefield, Mary Jo Tucker.

On Public Affairs under Shirley Cruser are Hilda Mae Abernathy, Dot Bausman, Margaret Collins, Muriel Crostic, Mary Eames, Bettie Ewell, Betty Gill, Azelle Hutt, Evelyn Rogers, Nancy Taylor, and Lois Wolfe.

Choosing Publicity under Sara Moling were Helen Fifield, Jeane Ganzert, Estelle Haneard, Anne Moore, Ting Rateray, Jeanne Tolley, Mary Vaughen, Doris Young.

On the Service Committee serving under Rachel Brugh are Kathryn Bentley, Barbara Brown, Carolyn Collie, Alice Coon, Dorothy Daniel, Frances Flynn, Margaret Foltz, Ann Fulghan, Dorothy Fultz, Helene Griffin, Iris Hancock, Carolyn Hardy, Lorene Haynes, Nancy Hughes, Katie Lawrence, Betty Lemon, Milly McWilliams, Mary Nye, Mary Jane Oyler, Lenora Perkins, Harriet Purcell, Molly Reid, Bettie Suthers, Agnes Sezemore, Dot Smedley, Marjorie Tice, Marion Wheelock, Ann Watkins, Elma Gene Walker and Mary Yates.

Serving on Sing under Betsy Fox and Kitty Maddox are Alice Ann Abernathy, Virginia Bailey, Jane Baines, Mary Bond, Betty Burchett, Jane Burchett, Dorothy Chambers, Anne Clark, Claire Clarke, Nell Coleman, Josephine Cooke, Lauretta Crockett, Nancy Duncan, Jackie Dunton, Betty Epperson, Lorena Evans, Evelyn Frank, Frances Garnett, Josephine Goodwyn, Frances Gordon, Carolyn Grimes, Jacqueline Hancock, Eloise Hanes, Janie Hanks, Elizabeth Harrell, Ethel Harrison, Anne Haskins, Mary Helmer, Joyce Hill, Dawn Holcombe, Marjorie Holland, Anne Randolph Homes, Joceiyn James, Joyce Johnson, Margaret Jones, Doris Lewis, Mable Lewis, Billie Ann Long, Mary Milliner, Elizabeth Motley, Caroline Painter, Evelyn Pigram, Celia Scott, Mary Ellen Temple, Page Vaughan, Theresa Louise Powell, Nanny Reid, Jane Short, Winifred Sleight, Nancy Snead, Mary Squire, Hildria Suttle, Ollie Mae Tolbert, Myrtle West and Virginia Yance.

Working on the Social Committee under Judy Reick are Eleanor Abbott, Dot Anderson, Christine Bunch, Mary Lee Parrier, Beatrice Geyer, Edith Kirkland, Louise Layman, Virginia Marshall, Evelyn Moore, Zilpha Taylor, and Mildred Shepherd.

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Greetings again, sports fans! Once more yours truly stares into the maize of typewriter keys with nothing to write about, so together we will struggle through this column, you the unfortunate reader, met the unfortunate writer Biggest scoop for this week, is of the course the great day this week when the STC social dancers will dance with Hampden-Sydney Navy. Good luck, girls and may there be more of this in the future. There should be a stronger bond between H.-S. and S. T .C. even if we aren't quite in the same boat.

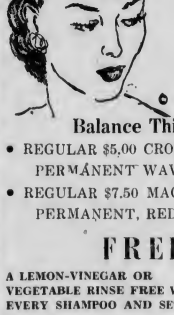
SWIMMING

Saturday night when the old swimming hole was open for recreational swimming, found it invaded by all shapes and forms. Surely you have noted the flattering tank suits! No more suitable name could have been originated for these gayly colored bathing togs.

Follow the leader on the diving board, aquacading up and down the pool, and all sorts of water games were played by the energetic participants. The thrill of the evening came when first starting into the pool with all the lights out, the girls formed a snake line and weaved toward the pool screaming in the dark! Come on out next time and second front starts in the aquatic line, a big time is guaranteed for all, even those of you who like to sit on the edge and dabble your toes.

BASKETBALL

With football season past for 1944, basketball has come out in the sports headlines of today. Not only should you athletes be interested in your own school's athletic abilities on the court, but keep posted on other collegiate sports affairs. Today most of the colleges are naturally playing for either the army or navy, but they have some of the best ball players in the country, and it is wise to keep up on them.



RAINY DAYS

Rainy days always prove very uneventful at S. T. C., but they don't have to be that way. There are lots of things that you can do to keep busy physically, and one of them is walking in the rain. Of course if you have a cold it is most unwise to venture out into the dreary atmosphere, but if you are feeling fine, bundle up good in a raincoat, rain hat, and boots, and set out on a tour of the Farmville countryside. Naturally we don't recommend this when a baby baby hurricane is playing havoc with mother nature, but when gentle rains kiss the earth

So you don't like walking! Well, why not try gathering the gang on the hall, and indulging in some social dance practice. This always come in handy, for the more you dance the lighter you become on your feet, and the better dancing partner you become at our annual rat races. Hook up the juke, grab a partner, and try everything from the waltz to the lindy. If you're shy, the other girls will be glad to help you, and that is really the best way to learn.

The last alternative is of course the old stand-by, bridge, which sharpens your wits and mental ability, if not your muscles. Even reading a good book, or poetry out loud can be fun. Let's not see any more long faces on rainy days. There's too much to do, to even take time out to pout.

Until next week, stay in the game, and come out for your class teams in basketball, volleyball and swimming.

BEAUTY SPECIALS

FOR S. T. C. GIRLS

Balance This month only

- REGULAR $5.00 CROQUIGNOLE PERMANENT WAVES $3.50
- REGULAR $7.50 MACHINELESS PERMANENT, REDUCED TO $5.00

FREE — A LEMON-VINEGAR OR VEGETABLE RINSE FREE WITH EVERY SHAMPOO AND SET

ALL For 75c

BALDWIN'S BEAUTY SHOP

Phone 159 BALDWIN'S DEPT. STORE

PHONE 78

WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES

WELLS TAXI

Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

Varied Assortment of Stationery

Quality—Price—Service

Lynn's Jewelry Store

Popular Sheet Music

215 N. Main Street

Farmville Virginia

Just Received

Potted Plants

and

Ferns

15c to 39c

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

MEET ME

at

SHANNON'S

Hamburger Special for S. T. C. Girls—French Fries, Fruit Salad, Hamburger Sandwiches 40c

College Shoppe

Patronize

PATTERSON'S

Unexcelled Soda Service

Prescriptions a Specialty

WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES

MONTAG STATIONERY

The complete Drug store

PATTERSON DRUG CO.

328 MAIN STREET

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Virginia

Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Writing Portfolios

SIZE

8½ x 11½

PRICE - $1.95

Men's Dept. - First Floor - Left

Davidson's

The House of Quality

Romantic Drapery Replaces Mannish Clothes for Dress

Draped effects leave little to be desired in concealing figure faults and also being in step with style queens. Romantic drapery and a complete ensemble effect is doing away with a more mannish air in dresses for dates and parties.

Very new and feminine are the soft wrap around styles in adaptable tissues fabrics. The V necklines are becoming to most faces, whether they be round or broad. The girls with the long face could use a high round neck or a frill or soft bow to decorate the neckline of her draped dress.

The dresses with drape fronts are seen with the draped part in the center waistline or to the left with a ripple down the side. The becomingness of this, all depends on the individual height and size.

The extended shoulder sleeve was inspired by Madame Chiang Chi-Shek during her recent visit to the country. There really is no sleeve at all and the shoulders are extended to cover the top part of the arm and give the effect of a tiny sleeve. Some of the drape dresses have the old favorite below-the-elbow sleeve, or just above the elbow sleeve.

These dressy dresses are lovely in black, pastels or printed fabrics. When spring rolls around, they will be seen in many shades and hues to contrast with woolen coats and jackets.

The important thing of drapery is not the cut, color, fabric or style, but the unity of effect, a unity suggesting care in choice and wearing of clothes. Casualness is still with us, but it never, never slips into carelessness in any detail.

Robert Frost

Continued from Page 1

side remark, cleverly inserted for his own amusement!

So you see, we heard a great deal of and about Mr. Robert Frost. Somewhere we even heard that he was a great athlete when he was a year or so younger! And so we realized that even the greatest athletes do tire . . . and that with the next stop Athens, Ga., our honored visitor did indeed have "Miles to go before he slept. . . " . . . so we thanked him from the bottoms of our hearts, and left . . . with the sincere hope that we'll still be here when we hear again, "Boerc Eh Thorn . . . bringing whom- Robert Frost."

Eddy Challenges

Continued from Page 1

world."

With these words the outstanding Christian speaker concluded his messages to the students. He arrived on the campus on January 17 and spoke in Chapel at the association meeting of the Y. at Prayers, and led a discussion after dinner Wednesday night. He made his concluding talk Thursday morning and left from here for another campus as he is touring the country, visiting colleges at this time.

Bed-Check

Continued from Page 2

Looks like the Flemming girls and Alice Lee are doing all right for themselves, how about it? . . .

Evelyn Grizzard still receives that letter almost every day from Mac. The nice part about it all is that she really stands in with the family. After receiving letters from several of his relatives, she got several white linen handkerchiefs made by his mother. . .

Until next week's bedcheck we shall check off.

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

New Supply
Rytex Stationery
at
Martin the Jeweler

Glenn Ann Patterson and Kitty Maddox, model two of the new feminine black "dress-up" dresses.

Moss Is Honorary Member of Mu Omega

Mr. C. G. Gorden Moss was recently made an honorary member of Mu Omega, Shirley Cruser revealed. He is the second honorary member to be selected this year, since Mrs. Sophie Packer was chosen in the fall.

Unidentified Fighter Heads For "That Call" In Office

"Off we go into the wild blue yonder"! Yes, sir, that's us! Only it isn't the "wild blue yonder', it's the cold, dark night, because the phone has just rung and some fortunate S. T. C.-er is making fast like a P-47 to take that long distance call.

Time: 9:00 p. m. Place: Richardson Hall (plug!) Setting: A "quiet" hall where the girls are "quietly" studying. Action: Burrrrrinnnnnng!! The call to arms, the signal to attack! The little black box is more popular than a pack of Luckies. This particular time the phone is for every girl, it just couldn't be for one, oh, no, it's for all—and believe me, all answer!

After deafening whoever is on the other end of the wire the actual owner of this call throws the receiver back in place, grabs a kerchief, rolls her pajama legs up, throws a coat on and phhhfft! . . . beware of an unidentified fighter, flying low, and wearing a black chesterfield. Yep! It's our own gal in Seven League Boots headed for the Home Office. (Incidentally, we now pass on to you a piece of advice to be used when opening doors). Our friend is breezing along at 100 m.p.h. to get that call in the home office. She evidently forgot the perils of the Rotunda's door for grabbing the knob, she throws it open with a mighty shove. An amnious thud sounded, horrified our girl Friday peeps around the door to find she has almost put an innocent Lieutenant in line for the Purple Heart. Apologizing and after helping to dust the bewildered officer off, she resumes her run for the call. Breathlessly she picks up the note, dashes to the booth (yes, it's empty) croaked at the operator, and does a fade out when she hears, "I'm sorr-ry but you'll have to wait until I can locate the party."

Fifteen minutes later, bruised and scarred (she did a brodie over the up-turned corner of the rug) looking not like a lady, she hears at long last her O. and O. exercising his vocal cords, but how distant he sounds, blast these connections. Even after waiting this long, she can't say what she wants, because there are at least 10 girls in the office, the figure at the desk has ears and some entimate soul is practically sharing the booth with her.

Is it any wonder that we sometimes come out of that poor man's bass fiddle case looking as if we'd lost our ticket home? It's a crying shame she couldn't "Accentuate on the Positive" when he kept insisting, but all she could manage was a brief and unconvincing, "so do I." Tears well in our heroine's eyes as she shuffles home to her bed and pillow. "What'd he say? It's more than she can bear. With a negative nod the tearful miss confides to her associates that she couldn't remember anything he said and she was so confused she couldn't think. Probably only half of it is Chick's trouble.

We give you a happy ending to this sob story. The next evening Romeo called again and this time everything was SWELL. Juliet hit no unwary Looies on her way over, was not disturbed by any crawling and noisy figures, her L. D. connection was heaven, and she was quite able to convince him that indeed she did, no matter what she sounded like last night. She always had and always would. (May we plagarize and state that this time, "she had landed and had the situation well in hand.")

Try Our HAMBURGER Special! with Cole Slaw, French Fries, Drink
35c
Southside Drug Store

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Navy or Civvy, H.-S. C. Guys Invade City Limits; STC Campus

Hampden - Sydney! Hampy-Dampy U.! Death Valley! Or, so the titles float but it's that "I love that man!" School just seven miles away. Well, seven miles out during this week, but in Shannon's and the Rec come the week end. Also, the source of most S. T. C. mail and males (they call themselves men so we won't put up too stiff an argument).

Those creatures have a way of leaking, slipping, or sliding into all S. T. C. recreation jaunts (Oh, don't think we don't appreciate you, boys) and then too into quite a few female thoughts and hearts. What bull session is complete without: "Did you see that good-looking thing from H-S in Shannon's Saturday? I could eat that man with a shovel." And why do most of the gals spend that extra five minutes before the mirror on week ends?

Of course, we don't and won't say they are a necessity (blow to masculine vanity) but we must admit those strange characters do add color to our campus. Now during wartime it is a sea of blue or white but occasionally a glad plaid shows through and ever so often a white top gives way to a maroon and gray "rat" cap.

In our social life dances come first. Dances call for dates finding Hampden - Sydney with the most supplied. And the dances they give—fun for all with music from their own orchestra (good, too). During the fall H-S football games have a good many S. T. C. supporters. And then interested S. T. C. fans flock to the basketball games. The two schools may battle each other but when it comes on out-sides they stand back to back.

Typical week end! The taxies roll in announced by shrill wolfish whistles. The boys pile out and swagger into Shannon's or to the appointed spot to await their dates.

Saturday afternoon is spent in the Rec but Saturday night takes us to the "hoss opera" when most of the sailors and "civies" find their dates have seen the other pictures. And so amid showers of pop-corn, candy papers, and hilarious out-bursts of laughter we spend a pleasant - - well, we while away two or three hours.

Sunday morning we lounge around waiting patiently — very patiently for two o'clock to come. Then we're usually late at that! The ambitious groups in the afternoon start for the airy treke out to Longwood while the less adventrous prefer a calm afternoon in the Rec listening to Sunday symphonies.

That evening we put on our Sunday manners and clothes and call ourselves "church-goers." We may pump our guns about the inadequacy of the Rec but the rush back from church to get the best seats is quite comical.

Tempus fugit—and all too soon the ye ole' bell clangs ten o'clock. We show those Hampden - Sydney men their respective hats and coats and tell them not to let the door hit them in the back but even as the door catches the heel (pardon, his heel) we're making plans for the next week end.

"Death Valley" homes an ever moving stream of students as does S. T. C. And as an ecstasy-er you-'ll never forget fun shared with Hampden-Sydney; old-timers and new-comers.

"Guest Reporter"

Continued from Page 2

and the meeting but we'll be back when again Spanish fills the air and the minds of the Spanish students of S. T. C. Till then, ladies!

This is a family war. Put your War Bond buying through the payroll savings plan on a family plan, which means figure it out yourself.

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANNE BUCK

There must have been a "big time" in the Capital City Saturday night for in Richmond were Eleanor Bisese, Corinne Baker, Nancy Whitehead, Ann Dickerson, Doris Berkely, Elizabeth Scott, Louise Layman, Betty Lee, Carolyn Murphy, Martha Higgins, Hilda Bennett, Jean Harrison, Mary Jo Tucker, Ellnor Overbey, Ellen Higginbotham, Ann Kingdon, Mar Kent Stevens, Francis Flynn, Ollie Mae Tolbert, Eva Cobb, Doris Smith, Anne Charlton, Kitty Hankins, and George Anne Lewis.

The exciting city of Petersburg drew Lou Baker, Martha Wells, Kitty Parham, Betty Harvie, Betty Minitree, and Judy Connelly.

Kenbridge may be small but it certainly created exciting times for Kitty Sue Bridgforth, Helen Phillips, Lucille Bell, Nancy Almond, Rosa Lee Bell, and Sutton Bland this week end.

South Boston was the highlight spot this week end for Martha East, Evelyn Perry, and Margaret Lohr.

Bremo Bluff was the apple of Louise Davidson, Barbara Crowther, and Mary Harrison's eyes.

Others that seeked adventure away from school were Kitty Saunders in Christiansburg; Mary Robertson in Chase City; Lenora Perkins in Danville; Shirley Slaughter in Lynchburg; Shirley Cruser in Norfolk; Page Cook in Chester; Gladys Lankford in Franklin; Doris Newton in Albine; Francis Bell in Radford; Josephine Cooke in Blackstone; Agnes Cook in Burkeville; Betty Cock in Hampton; Margaret Brace in Charleston, West Virginia; Dorothy Blair and Joyce Cheatwood in Crewe.

More fun and more excitement next week end.

Cotillion Club

Continued from Page 1

Tucker.

Also Doris White, Nell Richardson, Virginia Travis, Dorothy White and Virginia Yonce.

Thirty-five old girls were bid to the Cotillion in the fall, and these new members will bring the roll up to 250. Initiation for all new members will be in the form of the traditional "Goat Week" later in the spring.

Buy your Valentines here
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance
Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Do You Need a
Costume Cleaned
For Mardi Gras?
Bring it to . . .
DE LUXE
CLEANERS

For Best Food
And FOUNTAIN SERVICE
visit
Chappell's

FLOWERS At Their Best Always
Collins Florist
Phone—Day 181
Phone—Night 4

Carole King
DRESSES FOR JUNIORS
"DEBONAIR DREAM"
AS FEATURED IN Harper's Bazaar

$10.95
..with quaint on shoulder and sleeve ing for pixie prettiness! bow ties in front ..makes Africana Rayon Crepe Sky Blue, Green Frost, quilted flowers and soft shirr. The self-fabric belt your waist a wisp! in Ice Pink, Summer Lilac Sizes 9 to 15
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Library
State Teachers College
Farmville, Virginia

PLAN YOUR MARDI GRAS COSTUME NOW!

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS TO MAY QUEEN COURT

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 31, 1945 | No. 15

Betsy Caldwell To Reign as May Queen at Fete
Elise Hume Selected as Maid of Honor In Court

Gibson Will Lead Religious Services Here Next Week

God's Good News To Be Theme

Reverend Churchill J. Gibson, D. D., Rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Richmond, will lead the Religious Emphasis Week services on the S. T. C. campus February 6-8. Selected as the theme for the week is "God's Good News for Today."

On Tuesday, February 6, Dr Gibson will speak in Chapel on the topic "In Whom We Believe." "With Whom We Speak" will be his subject on Wednesday. In Chapel Thursday, February 8, Dr. Gibson will elaborate on the title "Whom We Obey."

There will be an Association meeting Wednesday afternoon at 6 P. M. in the Student Lounge. "How Do You Identify A Christian" will be the theme at this discussion. Wednesday night a very informal discussion will be held in Senior "Rec" at 8.

One of Dr. Gibson's great interests is trying to interpret the Christian religion to young people, Mary Anne Jarratt, chairman of the program for the week reported.

Dr. Gibson began his ministry as a mountain missionary, and then for ten years he was the Rector of Robert E. Lee Memorial Church in Lexington, Virginia, where he served as student pastor for the cadets at V. M. I. and for the students at Washington and Lee University. For 15 years he has served in his present position. During the last war, he was a chaplain and served in France.

Religious Emphasis Week is that portion of the year set aside by the Y. W. C. A. for special emphasis on the spiritual side of college life. At this time the "Y" sponsors outstanding speakers on the campus.

Poetry Winners To Be Revealed In Winter Issue of Colonnade

Winners of the current poetry contest will be revealed in the winter issue of the Colonnade which will come off the press this week, Jane Knapton, editor-in-chief, has announced.

Included also in this issue will be two stories which won honorable mention in the recent short story contest, "So Terribly Young" by Betty Tom Andrews and "Defeat Means Victory" by Beatrice Jones. Two articles on South America will also be featured, "Mardi Gras in Panama" by Virginia Naylor and "Sketches of Brazil" by Julia Braga.

Other short stories in this edition will be Ann Masloff's "Prelude", Jane Waring Ruffin's "A Door to Which I Found No Key", and Sara Daley Moling's "L'Incident."

The feature of the month is Mary Lou Dondley's "Magnifying Obsessions" with cartoons and explanatory paragraphs of different moods of the college student.

Alumnae Virginia Sedgley and Jeanne Strick, former contributors of the Colonnade, submitted to this issue an essay and poem respectively.

BETSY CALDWELL, Queen of May Day

ELISE HUME, Maid of Honor

18 Girls Chosen To Attend Queen

Betsy Caldwell, senior from Sweet Briar, was selected to reign as queen over the 1945 May Day celebration at the student body election Monday night. Elise Hume, senior from Bluefield, W. Va., will serve as maid of honor in attendance to the queen.

Seven other seniors were elected members of the court, which will be composed of 18 girls, two of which are juniors, six are sophomores, and three are freshmen.

Those seniors chosen are Marilyn Bell, Richmond; Ann Blair, Portsmouth; Martha Higgins, Portsmouth; Marilyn Johnson, Roanoke; Lucy Manson Sharpe, Virginia Beach; Virginia Terrell, Richmond, and Mary Watkins, Emporia.

The two junior representatives on the court will be Frances Lee, Richmond, and Jacquelin Parden, Norfolk.

Sophomore court members include Joan Davis, Lynchburg; Martha Russel East, South Boston; Mary Jane King, Radford; Martha Lynn Sprye, Danville; Virginia Cox Travis, Lynchburg, and Nancy Whitehead, Kecoughton.

Chosen from the freshman class were Louise (Peepsie) Brooks, Farmville; Theresa Powell, Richmond, and Berkley Richardson, Richmond.

May Day, always slated for the first Saturday in May, falls this year on May 5.

Details for the program have not yet been revealed by General Chairman Dora Walker Jones, but the Russian theme has been announced, and already intensive work has begun on the dances and costuming of the annual fete.

Dean Emphasises Economic, Military Insecurity In Talk

The fact that insecurity, economic and military, will continue to produce suffering until a moral security established on Christian ethics is adopted, was affirmed by Dean Smith at a meeting of the church women recently.

Her topic was "Christian Freedom." She declared that this nation has loved freedom and fought for it unremittingly, but "all our elaborate postwar planning for safety, security and freedom may avail us little until we take into account spiritual power," which must undergird national and political life.

"We who accept Christianity and who call ourselves Christians believe His teachings. There is no middle road in Christianity."

Dr. Smith's plea was for fact facing, for looking straight and clearly at life and at each of its small daily facts. Don't be blinded by old or new prejudices.

"It is for development of personality that Christ suffered the supreme sacrifice for us. The Christian truths we are seeking to direct to our personnel profit are the truths that lead to spiritual growth.

"In the realization of our spiritual inheritance, from our Heavenly Father, there can be no shackles that blind us."

"Freedom is not license. The four freedoms of the Atlantic Charter will avail us little unless reinforced with spiritual power. The source of this spiritual power is the Bible, the acceptance of Christ and prayer. In accepting Christ we bring into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ. This surrender is Christian Freedom."

PGM, STC Choir Will Give Program

Concert of Music Will Be Presented

At the chapel service on Friday morning, Pi Gamma Mu, social science fraternity, assisted by the College Choir will present a program of music of the Allied Nations. This program is a contribution to the war effort in helping stimulate interest in the Allied cause.

Giving an annotation of the British anthem "God Save the King" will be Caroline Huddle, while Mary Anne Jarratt will give the history and significance of the French anthem "La Marseillaise." Helen McGuire will give the annotation of "San Min Ju Yih", anthem of China; Jane Waring Ruffin, "The Hymn of the Soviet Re-

Continued on Page 4

Three-Act Comedy Selected For Play

Drama To Reveal Fantastic Plot

Shakespeare's three-act comedy, "A Mid Summer Night's Dream", has been selected for the spring production of the S. T. C. Dramatic Club, Sally Robertson president, revealed this week. Tentative date for the play is Saturday night, March 10.

The story concerns a mix-up between two sets of lovers, who in escaping the wrath of the rulers of the commonwealth flee through the forest to a nearby country where the stern laws cannot affect their private lives. A spat between Oberon, and Titania, King and Queen of the Fairy Kingdom, causes a bewildering spell to be cast upon innocent parties by Ob-

Continued on Page 4

Honor Society Bids Junior, 3 Seniors As Active Members

Freddie Ann Butt, junior from Portsmouth, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, senior from Cape Charles, Edith Lovins, senior from Cumberland, Lucy Manson Sharpe, senior from Virginia Beach, received bids to Kappa Delta Pi, honorary society in education.

The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi is to encourage high intelligence and scholastic standards, and to recognize outstanding contributions for education. Only juniors and seniors from the upper quartile of scholarship are admitted to Kappa Delta Pi, their entire record being considered.

Officers of Kappa Delta Pi are Eleanor Wade, president; Alice Nichols, vice-president; Mary F. Wooodward, secretary, and Mary Anne Jarratt, treasurer.

Martin's To Display Costume Prizes For Mardi Gras Festival

Prizes for the annual Mardi Gras dance scheduled for February 10 will go on display on Monday at Martin's Jewelry store, according to an announcement made by Helen McGuire, dance chairman. Two prizes will be given for the prettiest costumes and two for the most original costumes.

Virginia Terrell, senior from Richmond, will reign over the fete attended by Jane Philhower, Elise Hume, Luz Quionones, Peggy T. Ross, Lynn Sprye, Virginia Travis, Mary Walker Watts, and Mary Watkins.

Music for the dance will be furnished by Jimmy St. Clair's eight piece orchestra from Roanoke.

Sponsors of Pi Gamma Mu are Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, Mr. M. Boyd Coyner, and Miss Mary Nichols. Miss Betsy Fox is the president of the Farmville chap-

Continued on Page 4

One Time All Popular Comedy Will Be Staged By Thespians With Forest Scenes

BETTY DEUEL COCK

In a world that's as full of the "War" as ours is, and with the trend definitely away from the supernatural and fantasy-themes, some people may wonder at the selection of the spring production of the college Dramatic Club. Certainly Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" is a far cry from the fall production of "Cry Havoc", and the jump from Japs and khaki to fairies and gauze a long jump indeed. But with Miss Wheeler behind it all, there is no doubt in anyone's mind as to how things will turn out, and as to how this immortal play will again enchant a new audience as well now in 1945 as it did when it was first enacted in 1592.

In 1914, F. E. Chase wrote an introduction to "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for one particular printing of the play. In it he gave a few historical notes which we find interesting enough to deem worthy of quoting here. To begin with, there is a play within a play . . . "The most lamentable comedy and cruel death of Pyramus and Thisbe", and this exaggerated farce was, at one time, more popular than any full-length play which was being presented by the actors of the day. At fairs in the English commonwealth, the antics of the yokels were impersonated by travelling players and under the title of "Bottom's Dream," and many a booth was filled with an audience delighted by the tangled tragedy of Pyramus and his beloved Thisbe.

The whole of Shakespeare's comedy has been given thousands of times since that first company presented it in 1592. It has been cut and rewritten and re-set, and the music and the dances have changed with the centuries, but underneath, it is the original idea, or dream, which Shakespeare himself set down for the amusement of the people. The scenes in the forest, the costumes of the light-footed fairies, the mix-ups of the mortals, the antics of the comedians, and the never-ending pranking of Puck are all there for the pleasure of those who will see it, and the immortal speech and immortal music, some by Mendelssohn, which will live forever in literature are there intact for the enjoyment of all who hear.

Yes, famous people have portrayed the characters of Oberon, Titania, Lysander, and Helena, and all the rest. In the 1880's, at Daly's Theatre in New York, one Tyrone Power appeared as Ereus, John Craig as Lysander, and Maxine Elliott as Hermia. W. R. Blake and Mark Smith have played the

Continued on Page 3

A'Cappella Presents Program In Chapel

Under the leadership of Esther Shevick the Intermediate A'Cappella choir presented a musical program in chapel this morning.

The group sang four numbers which have never been sung here by any choral group. "Begin the Beguine", "All the Things You Are", "Summer Time" and "Now the Day is Over". In the last-named number, Afreda Peterson, freshman, was the soloist.

Margie Hewlett accompanied the group at the piano.

War Time May Day Stresses Cooperation From Students

Now during war times, holding on to old traditions is becoming harder and harder, especially in colleges throughout the country. If we lose that certain something which has its own vital meaning to the students and the institutions itself, we are helping to lose the morale on the home front. With the May Day elections over, the production is now well on its way to becoming a finished product. May Day has become a tradition at STC, and each year through cooperation of the students, it has been a success.

Cooperation is a big word, and can cover a lot of territory, but filed down to small detail, it means extending a helping hand at the right time. You who are school-spirited, and that means every member of the student body, can help to make this year's May Day a success by holding out that hand. You might not be a participant, but if a girl comes to you to borrow a dirndl skirt, an old bed sheet, a colorful kerchief, or a Russian accent, here's your chance. If a strong back is needed to handle props as the final day approachs, you can do your good turn again.

And you who plan to be participants, cooperating with the heads of your committee can be the biggest help. If you are in a dance, get to the practices on time, and try to be at all of them, so that all the dancers will have learned the dance together. If you are on the costume committee, get those measurements in early, and here's where the dancers can cooperate again, by getting them made as soon as possible. Paying for your costumes, coming to practices and being on time to everything is the best way of all that you can help.

Although some people may think it foolish to take up so much extra time to put on this performance, when it is finished there is a complete satisfaction on the part of everyone from the performers, committeemen, to the audience. Help to make this year's May Day one of the best, for it can be through cooperation from everyone.

The Rotunda joins the student body in an expression of sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Graham in the recent loss of their son, Lt. Thomas Hardy Graham, U. S. N., and to Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, on the death of their son-in-law, B. T. Taylor, Jr.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative. 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Biane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spry, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd, Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1945

This issue in charge of Betty Ellis

Music of Allied Nations Presented to Students

Something new in the way of chapel programs will be presented at the chapel hour on Friday when members of the College Choir and Pi Gamma Mu will sponsor a program of music of the Allied Nations. This program should certainly help us to interpret better the nations of the world, their ideas, their customs, and their beliefs.

As students here in a small town in Virginia, we are often prone to forget the vastness of this world in which we live. It is easy for us to become absorbed in campus activities and to forget the condition of the world. By this, I do not mean that we are not conscious of the war in many ways. We are very conscious of it as messages of wounded and missing loved ones reach us. We are aware of the fact that the war is going on in many ways; yet we sometimes fail, I think, to realize the part America plays as a part of a much larger unit, the Allied Nations. It is the realization of this important fact that we should gain from this program of music on Friday.

Through knowing a nation's music, we are better able to understand the general character of the people of that nation. As we sit on Friday listening to the national anthems of the five great Allied Powers, America, Britain, China, France and Russia we will be reminded of the character of these people.

Another added attraction of this special program sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu assisted by the College Choir will be annotations of these songs. This, too, will give us an insight into the picture of the period of writing.

This is a new thing on our campus and one that each of us should hear that we as future teachers and leaders will be able to better interpret the peoples of the world and that we may better be able to direct the thinking of others.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

Just 44 days ago the Germans began their winter counteroffensive. Today along the same Belgium route the direction has been reversed and our own army is within five miles of the Reich. Within the Reich, American and British bombers are carrying out the regular blasting routine. This week the weather man is on our side.

* * * *

At the rate the Russians are advancing it looks as if they will beat us to Berlin. They have captured Dabrowa coal fields. We could easily use that coal ourselves. Now only 73 miles away the Russian General Zhukow prepares to repeat the victories of Stalingrad and Moscow.

* * *

Speaking of mileage the Yanks are only 36 miles from Manila. They are converging down three highways toward the city of San Ferrando. From here Manila lies southeast. Fighting is described as "stubborn"—on the enemy side.

* * * *

Just for the record—the Ledo-Burma road has been renamed the Stilwell road. The allies are planning to drive the Japs east of the Irrawaddy River. This river is

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

The out-of-town navy seemed to be in full command this past week end around STC. There was Shirley Cruser's "Lulu" Faith Week's Sterling; Bev' Peebles and William Hubbard; A. Summers and Jimmy Tarry; Higgins and Roland; Maggie Mac and George, not to mention the usual H.-S.-C V-12'ers.

Trekking off to University of Virginia midwinter's were Kitty Sue Bridgforth, Mar Kent Stevens, Heidi Lacy, Nancy Whitehead, Martha Wells. We heard via the grapevine that M. Wells left a little in haste for Charlottesville. She returned Sunday night only to find her gent of the KA pin fame, Red Hanbury, had come and gone! Better think fast, Martha.

Johnny Johnson headed for Roanoke this week end in the interest of her "high-school days." Perk Hazlegrove.

Jerry Payne returned from Annapolis this week apparently walking on air, and even on cold, gray Monday morning couldn't shake the stardust from her eyes. That Hank must be quite a guy.

Then there was the Marine whom Wardie hadn't seen for three years around campus. We're not quite sure just how things turned out.

One of the student teachers now has her dates assist her in "grading her papers." Would you call that a school-teacher complex, or just plain boredom?

The familiar sound of Bo Wall's motor-scooter is once more heard. It returns together with the twinkle in Mary Anne Loving's eye.

Another question of the week—why do they call J. Hunt's date Sunday "The Bear"? We're just curious, Julie!

Most asked for girl at 529 undoubtedly, remains B. Dillard.

Ask Mary Ann Jarratt what she thinks of hospitals as a romantic setting.

Have you met Betty Cock and Ned's junior? Visiting hours between eight and eleven in room 8, Cunningham?

Again we issue brickbats, and very vigorously, to the juniors who dated in Senior Rec Sunday night, leaving no space for the seniors to date.

Ask B. Ellis what she left at the University of Virginia, and it was not her heart. What about the student who asked if she could commit a murder with only one week's campus as the penalty.

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

Next Tuesday marks the beginning of the annual Religious Emphasis Week on our campus. Dr. Churchill Gibson, of St. James Church in Richmond will be here to speak to us. This week has been planned for the benefit of every girl in school to take advantage of it. It affords an opportunity for all of us to search more deeply into the true meaning of Christianity and to build up our own faith.

Those who desire a time of quiet meditation on Sunday can find it at Sunday Night Vespers, which take place each Sunday in the large auditorium at 5:45.

There will be a sing Saturday night immediately after supper. It will be the second entry in the Sing Contest.

Tonight's subject for Prayers is "A Universal Want"; tomorrow night's, "Fidelity Rewarded"; and Friday night's, "The Distinguishing Characteristic'.

The Union Vesper Service, which is held each quarter, will take place Sunday night at the Baptist Church. The Episcopal students are in charge. On the program is a panel discussion, after which everyone will attend the regular church service. There will be a social hour afterwards.

MAY DAY

Question of the Week

Where, how, and with whom would you most like to have your picture taken?

Betty Minetree: At the Chi Phi House, U. of Va., in front of the fire, with any old fool that'll pose with me.

Theresa Powell: In England, looking at Harold!

Grace Lloyd: In an exclusive restuarant, with steaks and all the trimmings (birdseed) piled high in front of me, with Miss Bugg!

Louise Pegram: West Point, the Hundredth Night Week-end, Ray Griffith, and Flirtation Waltz!

Virginia Terrell: In Washington sitting on top of the monument, with Dick! Wow!

Margaret Wilson: At V M. I., with Al, just lookin'!

Betty Bibb: In Texas, with a coke in one hand and a piece of chocolate fudge in the other and Pete for background!

Janie Hawks: At home. I won't say how, with my Key-det!

Olive Bradshaw: I don't care where, and I don't care how, and I haven't quite made up my mind with whom.

Mary E. Fuqua: In Hawaii, in a grass skirt, with Bob.

Jody Davis: In Florida, in a fur coat, with a bear!

Poddy: In Newport News in Cheyn's Studio with Charles Hickman; don't ask personal questions.

Julia Messick: I'm camera shy, but I'd surely like to see a picture of Betty and Janice as drum majorettes.

Izzie Key: With Kenny, the how and where don't matter!

Martha Lee: I can't answer because I don't understand the question!

Kitty East: At King's Point, at Merchant Marines Academy, with Earl. Need we say how?

Rosa Hill: In the Panama Canal, swimming, with Sam!

Anoymous: In front of the altar at St. John's for obvious reasons, with Ned!

Furious Dash for Hotel Meal Proves STC Girls' Delight

Two smartly dressed girls walked gaily into the Rotunda, which was bursting with the usual Sunday morning activity—especially now because church was over. They paused in the home office, warming themselves by the fire, nonchalantly gazing at the notices on the mantelpiece. Finding nothing of interest, they quickly signed their respective names on the "out to dinner list". Their heels clicked softly on the freshly polished floors, the door opened, and they stepped out in the cool, refreshing crispness of sunny winter day. Both were thinking intently of the delicious meal at the Weyanoke.

In the meantime, Bo, Spike, and Flimsey were up in "old 31" sawing the log for fare-the-well—anyway they were doing their best to replace the buzz saw. Little Ben ticked and tocked quite docilly on the desk as he was practically overcome by the drowsy atmosphere of the room. "Husk", spluttered Flimsey startling the peacefulness of the room to such an extent that Little Ben forgot his ability to tock and realed forth with a series of ticks. "Wake up, Bo—Spike, it's Christmas, but you didn't get anything."

"Flimsey, what tree fell on you. Go back to sleep, please." Bo snapped sarcastically. Flimsey was feeling too good from her long nights sleep to be discouraged. "Ah, come on, girls, let's get up!" Spike was completely undone—"What! leave my warm bed, my dreams! Gee, Flimsey, no visitor ever acts the way you do, settle down." Dauntless, Flimsey spoke up once more and confidently, "This is my last plea! I would like to take you two, to the Weyanoke for dinner, but the dining room doesn't stay open all day, or haven't you heard?"

"The hotel for dinner!" spluttered Bo as her eyes grew larger and larger; "Food, oh, food," she looked blissfully out in space. Spike was overwhelmed, her mouth opened, her eyelids flickered. Yes, the affects of the little word "food" were infinite. Flimsey was quite disgusted, "Well, get into circulation, I want a good meal." Bo and Spike gasped, "Flimsey, do you really mean it?" "Of course I do, silly!" No more was said.

Old 31 rocked with confusion and excitement.

"I'll wear my grey suit."

"Great, I'm going to wear my red one."

"Oh, Flimsey, that's the prettiest blouse."

"Where's the toothpaste?"

"I forgot to pack my comb!"

"Here, use mine."

"I wonder what they have on the menu?"

"Remember that good crab cake we had last time?"

"Hurry up!"

"What time is sit?" Little Ben was bewildered.

The Rotunda had just regained its subdued dignity, but all in vain. There seemed to be some commotion down towards the post office. Commotion isn't the word, for it was Flimsey and Spike rush-

Continued on Page 3

Ping-pong Matches Will Be Scheduled Soon; Winners To Add Points to Cup

Ping-pong matches are coming in the near future. Phyllis s, manager of ping-pong, has nced. A sheet will be posted bulletin board in the hall purpose of signing up for ma Watch for this sheet and p as soon as possible so a te may be made as to th r of contestants expected mpete.

The deadline date and rules for competition will be announced later, but this does not keep you from whetting your paddle to perfect techniques. Ping pong tables will be located in the shower room and in the little gym for persons desiring to use them.

Ping-pong gives five points toward the color cup and proves to be a very tense and exciting competition. Quick reaction and close attention are two outstanding requirements for a fast, interesting game of ping pong.

No specified number of practices is required for competition, just practice until you get your techniques to the place where confidence in your strokes is acquired.

PHYLLIS WATTS

Honor Roll Names 236 S. T. C. Girls

Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar, has announced the Honor Roll for the fall quarter, 1944. Those who were named are Hilda Mae Abernathy, Virginia Lee Abernathy, Elizabeth Viannah Adams, Lucie Meade Addleman, Loreen Kathryn Ages, Marjorie Colleen Agee, Nellie Katharine Allen, Mildred Altice, Lovice Elaine Altizer, and Jane Guthrie Anderson.

Also Jean Anderson, Marion Josephine Bailey, Virginia Norfleet Bailey, Dorris Jones Ballance, Margaret Mae Ballard, Sara Margaret Ballard, Margaret Edmunds Barksdale, Margaret Elizabeth Bear, Cary Frances Beard, and Josephine Beatty.

Also Sarah Elizabeth Bennett, Jeane Louise Bentley, Eleanor Ann Bisese, Mary Louise Blackman, Betty Marie Blackwell, Dorothy Ellen Blair, Anna Lee Blanton, Carolyn Bobbitt, Betty Bondurant, and Carolyn Boothe.

Also Mary Aline Boss, Lela Evelyn Bouldin, Lucy Bowling, Lucy Bralley, Louise Brooks, Betty Brothers, Barbara Lee Brown, Beatrice Angela Bruch, Rachael Brugh, and Alice Eliza Buck.

Also Mary Stewart Buford, Virginia Curtis Butler, Margaret Lee Cabaniss, Mary William Calvert, Mae Cardwell, Emily Claiborne Carper, Elizabeth Lee Carter, Joyce Cheatwood, Rae Chick, and Evelyn Lorene Claiborne.

Also Reba Hill Conner, Phyllis Page Cook, Agnes Cooke, Alice Coon, Frances Ellen Copenhaver, Eleanor Bane Corell, Dorothy Lee Cox, June Cregar, Shirley Cruser, and Nancy Mildred Crymes.

Also Dorothy Lucille Cummings, Patsy Dale, Virginia Dale, Alice Burks Davis, Alice Lee Davis, Au-

Continued on Page 4

Army Experiments In Teaching Methods Prove Successful

Experiments with the Army method of teaching foreign languages at the University of Pittsburgh have been so successful that civilian students have the choice of learning five languages by the new quick intensive method.

French, German, and Spanish will be taught in the day school and Portuguese, Russian, and Spanish in the evening school.

According to Wr. Whitford B. Shelton, head of modern languages, Pittsburgh has become "language conscious". Consequently, applications for admission to these courses exceed the number which may be admitted. Since each student gets intensive drill, sections are limited.

The most startling result of the intensive method, according to Dr. Shelton, is that the students could speak and understand the spoken language, within the limits of their experience, at a rate normal for natives of the country in which it is used.

So, although the instruction was directed primarily to the development of a speaking knowledge, the class acquired as the same time a knowledge of vocabulary and functional grammar 30 per cent greater than would have been attained in traditional courses of the same length.

Under the intensive method the student does not memorize a book of rules. Rather he learns grammar as it is needed. Native speakers are used as patterns for every detail of speech, pronunciation, accent, gestures, and facial expression.

Both advanced and elementary courses will be offered. Fully intensive classes, with five hours a week of class and five hours of drill with a native speaker or "conversationalist," for eight credits in French, German, and Spanish will be given.

Semi - intensive (no drill sections) courses for evening students will be offered in Portuguese, Russian, and Spanish and will meet twice a week.

—ACP

Left Lead

Take it from us, without the weather, we'd all be lost. Last week it was beautiful for riding . . . so riding there was a-plenty.

It took Saturday to do it, but Frances Sifford knew when opportunity was knocking. She donned breeches and field jacket and joined the gang for a few hours of frolic in the ring. Beginners luck or what-have-you, she even cantered on the homeward trail. . . . and stayed up to holler about it! If Red Skelton had ever heard F. Sifford stopping a horse, he could have improved upon his famous line, "Awww, come on, Hoss . . . Whoaoooo!!!"

FRISKY THE KID

There's a thrill in store for those who have yet to see Cookie play when Joyce turns her lose in the ring. Hind feet flying, she doubles up, and as P. Moore would put it, she "does a buck" . . . and then she proceeds to do some more bucks all around the ring. It's back to the fence, though, whenever Joyce holds out her hand, but minus saddle, that colt can really kick up her heels when given the opportunity.

Speaking of P. Moore, it was almost a race to see which would be worn out first the other day. With Peggy up on Miss Black, and both in a rambunctious mood, no one was just sure what would happen next. If Joyce said "Walk", Miss B. cantered; if Joyce said, "Trot", Miss B. cantered; if Joyce had said "Canter" . . . no doubt they'd be running yet.

FLYIN' HIGH

Over the golf-course, on the homeward trail, it was Hang-on-and-jump what gets in your way for so long a time. When the Phantom Lady tried to jump the horse in front of her, that's when it almost became too much for Frances. There was, however, no holding Gypsy back, was there, Duff? And even Callie seemed to be wishing "Don't fence me in" til I jump over these mounds on the golf course! Then, it took only an uneventful trip home and lunch in a secluded place to make the day a perfect one.

ONE DOWN

Almost off the record, and definitely off Darky, was Sudy last week. The little black pulled one of her famous "fast ones" and Sudie hit the turf. Only results were that Darky coudn't be caught so Sudie doubled home on the Colonel . . . and Darky trotted in behind, very much pleased with herself and her own little indiosyncrasies!

NEW GIRLS

"Gee, I'm gonna ride Spring Quarter. . . the whole suite is!" We hear that often, if not from those taking as beginners now, from those who are looking forward to a spring full of stable-talk and saddle-soap. If you're one of those with Misgiving for a middle monicerm, drop it and come on out. There's nothing to be scared of . . . and think of all you're missing now! And those of you who are taking now, brush up those plaid shirts and hit the trail!

And . . . stay on the bit!

PEGASUS

Louise Blane's

On the Ball

BASKETBALL

Choices for members of the class and varsity teams in basketball are to be selected soon. The selection will be made from the girls who have been out for practices the latter part of last quarter and this quarter. The mastering of techniques is not the only basis upon which players are chosen, but cooperation, good sportsmanship, hard work, and fair play are important qualities to be considered in selecting persons to make up the "good team."

Every person gets tired of the four walls which make up her room, and what better way is there to spend an hour of recreation than playing basketball? Through this sport, girls get to know their classmates and schoolmates much better.

Strong competition is expected from both Green and Whites and Red and Whites this basketball season, and who knows, you may be the one needed to help your class become victors. Come on out and spend an hour of enjoyable recreation and get in your class practices.

HI HO CALICO!

Have you ever tried one of those exciting Sunday afternoon trail rides for what ails you? If you haven't, you have certainly missed part of your education in this institution. These trail rides begin approximately 2:30 Sunday afternoons and end just in time to clad yourself for supper.

If it is adventure you desire, this can be guaranteed in one afternoon of ditch-jumping, discovering new trails, exploring hidden historical, vales, and various other exciting activities.

Don't let it worry you if you think that just because you are not an expert horseman you shouldn't attempt this afternoon of fun. Everyone is under the careful eye of an experienced rider, thus leaving no cause for mishaps. If you happen to be one of those lucky people who have dates, bring him along, too.

SWIMMING

The date for the swimming meet is close at hand. If you haven't obtained your eight required practices for participation, please hurry and do so. Contestants are needed for all classes so come on out and join in the "duck race." Under the excellent instruction of Miss Dabney, swimming instructor, mere paddles can be converted into beautiful, graceful strokes. Perhaps you are slightly dubious about your swimming ability, but you would be surprised at the outcome of a little practice and sideline advice.

The water in the pool is heated to a degree that even the coldest natured person can easily endure, so this leaves no excuse for any person not to get her practices.

Once again your truly reminds you to come out for your class teams. This quarter is an important one in athletics, and there will be four sports activities that will count toward the color cup, basketball, volleyball, ping pong and swimming.

Until next week, sports fans, don't forget to stay in the gam.

Hotel Meal

Continued from Page 2

ing up the hall. Bo was walking way behind holding a letter with an expression of ecstasy.

"Bo, hurry up! We'll never make it, besides I can't tolerate the idea of starving."

"I'm coming as fast as I can, only I had a letter from my beautiful hunk of man!"

"Well, that won't keep us from going hungry—please hurry."

"Eh? Oh—Spike, sign me out." The three bounced in the home office and out the front door leaving the Rotunda abounding in their excitement.

"Oh, I'd just love a nice juicy steak."

"Gee, Flimsey, you're just too wonderful for words!" The girls walked briskly down the street and across to the Weyanoke, waved to Carrot and her date as they emerged from the door. Happily the girls stepped in and started for the dining room, just in time to see the manager place on the door, the futile sign, CLOSED!

Forest, Fairy Scenes

Continued from Page 1

part of Bottom. The first time that gas lights were ever used in connection with the production of a play came about in a production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream", and thereafter became a permanent mode of lighting theatres.

When we stop to think that there is even a legend to the effect that Shakespeare wrote the play originally, not for flesh and blood actors, but for marionettes, even greater seems the feat which our girls are undertaking.

There will be some who will ask how can we, a college dramatic club, complete wit hthe casts and companies such, as have performed in this fantasy. There will be some who will not believe it possible. The answer will be here, on our stage, Saturday night, March 10. Shakespeare has been done before at Farmville, and it will be done again.

Patrick Henry Shrine

Efforts may be made in the near future by the Virginia Daughters of the American Revolution, in cooperation with the State, to acquire, "Red Hill" last home of the famed Virginia patriot, Patrick Henry as a permanent shrine to the statesman known for his famous "Give me Liberty, or give me Death" speech.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Lynn's Jewelry Store
Popular Sheet Music
215 N. Main Street
Farmville Virginia

VISIT OUR . . .
Book Department
NEW SHIPMENT
RECEIVED DAILY
49c & 50c each
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Hamburger Special for S. T. C. Girls—French Fries, Fruit Salad, Hamburger Sandwiches 40c
College Shoppe

Patronize
PATTERSON'S
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
MONTAG STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Try Our HAMBURGER Special! with Cole Slaw, French Fries, Drink 35c
Southside Drug Store

Flowers at the best
Collins Florist
Phone—Day 181
Phone—Night 4

MEET ME
at
SHANNON'S

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PHONE
7 8
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES
NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Guaranteed
MECHANICAL PENCIL
Assorted Colors
$1.50
Men's Dept.——First Floor
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Beautiful New SPRING SUITS
Are Here!
with three pleats in front and back!
Sport type, also Cardigan neckline
$27.50
Dorothy May Store
Phone 300

Design Mardi Gras Costumes So That Outfit Is Possible for Participating

With May Day taking the lead this week, it is a little difficult to focus one's attention to Mardi Gras costumes . . . But the dance regulations say that all girls must be in costume, so it really is time to face the problem—which, when you look more closely, isn't really a problem at all.

The regulations also rule out blue jeans as a costume, but the only other limit is on length, and all costumes must be at least knee length. If you will use a little ingenuity, you will find that it isn't necessary to have inherited a fortune to put together a pretty costume for the only masked ball of the year. But here we will offer a few suggestions.

First of all, why not represent your favorite story book character? A Mother Hubbard wouldn't be too difficult to do, if you'll dig up a long skirt and an apron. If you are a funny paper fan, why not try Queen Aleta of the Prince Valiant series? Or even Gravel Gertie wouldn't present any real problem. (Sorry, Daisy Mae's skirt is above her knees!)

In the same line perhaps we could suggest characters from history. Cleopatra costumes could be done out of an old evening dress with a few inexpensive accessories and the help of some of the costume books in the Library. And remember that Scarlett O'Hara used a curtain for a dress once.

Gypsy costumes are always fun to get up . . . Borrow all the junk jewelry you can find . . . Fasten a small bracelet in an earring . . . And if you're lucky, maybe you can find some bells to fasten around your skirt bottom . . . And don't forget that a gaudy kerchief adds to the effectiveness.

National costumes are always good, and a dirndl skirt and a light blouse make a nice peasant outfit. If you are lucky enough to have some oriental p. j.'s, you can even be Chinese for the night, aided by some black pencil marks for the oval eye effect. The May Day theme is Russian, so perhaps you already have an idea for using a broom stick skirt and a scarf tied in the special Russian way.

And while we're speaking of themes, the Mardi Gras theme is Spanish-American, and a mantilla and a basket of bananas make a simple evening dress outfit into a charming Carmen Miranda in no time flat. And colonial costumes with hoop skirts and even pantaloons are always pretty and not hard to do. A simple hoop can be made to fit under a full-skirted evening dress.

Then there are always patriotic possibilities . . . and blackface opportunities . . . and little girl chances (a pinafore and pigtails will make you feel like a little girl, really!).

But don't forget to dress for comfort . . . Too much crepe paper is easily torn, and not to easy to dance in . . . Shoes are desirable . . . It's a dance, so avoid a costume that will make it impossible.

Prizes will be presented for the most original and the prettiest costumes, so set your brain to work, and put together a costume that will pass the censors at the door! Good luck!

Honor Roll

Continued from Page 3

drey Lee Davis, Mildred Davis, Anne Marie Dickinson, Shirley Mae Didlake, and Anna Carol Diggs.

Also Betsy Dillard, Eula Belle Doggett, Mary Anne Dove, Gertrude Elizabeth Driver, Martha Droste, Susan Durrett, Jane Kathren East, Martha Russell East, and Shirley Easterly.

Also Frances Elizabeth Edwards, Margaret Ellett, Betty Epperson, Mariam Helen Estes, Alice Ruth Feitig, Helen Fifield, Eva Mae Fleming, Nell Ray Fleming, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, and Dorothy Henrietta Gelston.

Also Florence Inez Godwin, Annette Grainger, Mrs. Anne Pauline Graziana, Marian Virginia Hohn, Doris Evelyn Hair, Jacqueline Hale, Eleanor Hall, Charlotte Grizzard, Evelyn Grizzard, and Janice Holstead.

Also Rosalie Anne Hamlin, Jacqueline Hancock, Nancy Harrell, Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Margaret Harvie, Lorene Haynes, Anna Stuart Headlee, Margaret Allene Hewlett, Martha Higgins and Rosa Hill.

Also Lelia Alice Holloway, Martha Holman, Caroline Huddle, Mary Anne Jarratt, Sydnor Bolling Johnson, Dora Walker Jones, Elizabeth Ann Jones, Margaret Rachel Pauline Joyner.

Also Barbara Kellam, Jean Moore Kent, Isabel Bertha Key, Dorothy Ladue, Ruth Eleanor Lawrence, Elizabeth C. Lewis, Marion Claire Lotts, Edith Lovins, Susan McCorkle, and Lucie McKenry.

Also Marie Elizabeth McLean, Katherine Maddox, Kane Mantiply, Ann Martin, Anne Masloff, Margaret Massey, Julia Messick, Mary Agnes Millner, Sara Moling, and Helen Moneyhun.

Also Barbara Eugenia Montgomery, Mary Frances Moon, Gertrude Moore, Harriette Moore, Martha Frances Morrison, Anne Motley, Emma Elizabeth Mountcastle, Helen Mundy, Carlotta Norfleet, and Marion Orange.

Also Dorothy Overcash, Dorothy Mae Overton, Virginia Constance Ozlin, Virginia Packett, Jacqueline Parden, Katharine Parham, Nancy Parrish, Ann Patterson, Anna Ward Peery, and Alfreda Peterson.

Also Helen Phillips, Evelyn Pierce, Naomi Piercy, Daphne Pittman, Bessie Irene Pomeroy, Katharine Prebble, Virginia Lee Price, Jean Prosise, Virginia Katherine Rodogna, and Lorraine Raiford.

Also Katherine T. Rainey, Mary Jane Richards, Jacqueline Ritchie, Betty Louise Rives, Mary Louise Robertson, Sally Robertson, Margaret Ross, Ruth Rowe, Mary Walton Rucker, and Jane Ruffin.

Also Edith Sanford, Maude Savage, Felicia Ann Savedge, Barbara Ann Scott, Nellie Scott, Virginia Shackleford, Shirley Slaughter, Doris Smith, Ella Lorraine Smith, and Ella Store Smith.

Also Margaret Stewart, Agnes Stokes, Margaret Shanks, Mrs. Lucy Manson Sharpe, Gloria Sheppard, Harriette Sutherlin, Hildrian Suttle, Jean Frances Taylor, Virginia M. Terrell, and Elizabeth Terry.

Also Elsie Irene Thompson, Virginia Tindall, Elizabeth Eugenia Tolley, Virginia Treakle, Dorothy Turley, Mary Jean Turner, Lucille Upshur, Martha Anne Upshur, Catharine Varner, and Helen Page Vaughan.

Also Mary Frances Vaughan, Mary Parrish Vicellio, Eleanor Wade, Mrs. Martha Hoback Warriner, Martha Watkins, Mary Ella Watkins, Phyllis Watts, Nannie Webb, Charlotte Virginia West, and Marion Wheelock.

Also Martha Lee White, Ophelia Whittle, Lois Wilkerson, Nancy Wilkinson, Mary Walker Williams, Sara Bird Williams, Margaret Wilson, Rebecca Tucker Winn, and Mattie Winston.

Also Lois Faye Wolfe, Annie Gay Wood, Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Woodward, Helen Rose Worrell, and Constance Young.

To be placed on the Honor Roll a student must make a grade of A or B on at least three-fourths of her work for the quarter. She must have no failures, no conditions, no unexcused absences from class or chapel, and no reports from the Home Department or the Student Government Association.

Lise d'Anjou Talks Of College Studies, Customs In Quebec

Lise d'Anjou, student from Quebec, gave a talk on the studies and activities of the University of Laval, which she has attended, and also an account of some of the customs of the province of Quebec at a meeting of the French Club held recently. In carrying out the French-Canadian theme of the program, Lise spoke in her native tongue, French, and taught the Canadian national anthem to the members of the club.

Annette Grainger, of the beginners class in French, concluded the program with the reading of an original composition in French.

Spotswood Hunnicutt, junior from Stoney Creek, was appointed assistant to Margaret Harvey, vice-president, to help with planning the entertainments which conclude each meeting of the French Club.

As well as taking part in the French Club meetings, Lise d'Anjou speaks and reads to each of the French classes once a week, enabling the students to attain more oral use of the language.

The French Club, composed of those girls in school who are taking French, meets each month and the entire meeting is always conducted in French.

Eighty-Two Dollars Totaled In Drive

Eighty-two dollars had been contributed to the March of Dimes Campaign on campus up through Tuesday night, January 30. This amount has been given by both the faculty and students.

The goal set for the drive is $100. The drive is being extended for two days in order that the goal may be reached. Today, January 31, was originally scheduled as the deadline.

Mr. R. H. French, in charge of the campaign for infantile paralysis fund, said, "We will appreciate any contribution you make."

Girls will canvass the halls tonight and Thursday night. Boxes will also be at the table in the hall in Main building for any donations.

Play Is Selected

Continued from Page 1

eron's right-hand man, Puck, or Robin Goodfellow. Comedy is provided by the group of amateur traveling actors, who in endeavoring to present a play of their own, find themselves surrounded by elves and hob-goblins, and minus their chief actor, Bottom, who has been bewitched by the playful Puck.

The amazing unetanglement of the confusion of circumstances provides a full evening of entertainment.

Directing the play is Miss Wheeler; the definite cast has not yet been announced.

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANNE BUCK

War or no war there are plenty of men at the U. of Va. so the girls who attended the dances in Charlottesville this week end say; namely: "Bunnie" Cunningham, Joan Davis, Martha Wells, Mary Coward, Kitty Sue Bridgforth, Betty Ellis, Mary Anne Jarratt, Heidi Lacy, Betty Minetree, Anne Mingea, Mar Kent Stevens, and Nellie Smith.

Lynchburg's population was increased by Barbara Kellam, Mary William Calvert, Elizabeth Church, Doris Hancock, Betty Plunkett, Phyllis Watts, Pauline Barnes, Rosa Lee Bell, and Geneva Coleman.

Like a magic word, excitement in Richmond drew Nancy Blair, Sue Dickerson, Dorothy Cox, Nell Coleman, Louise Layman, Anne Williams, Jean Akers, Corinne Baker, Jean Camper, Nancy Dickerson, Margaret Ann Ellis, Betty Goddin, Martha Hite, Shirley Mankin, Margaret Stewart, and Virginia Terrell.

One ambition of nearly every girl is to go to a dance at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland. Betty Tom Andrews and Jerry Payne reached that ambition this week end.

Finding fun, food and festivity in Petersburg were Frances Shackleford, Jean Givers, and Doris Ramsey.

Venturing to Hopewell were Virginia Ford and Francis Flynn. In Alberta were Margaret Ellett and Barbara Montgomery. In Culpepper were Ellen Moore and Edith Apperson. To the coast at Yorktown were Doris Lewis and Winifred Slaight.

Betty Jane Austin, Alice Coon, Beatrice Brugh, Patsy Dale, Georgia Knight, Pogue Massey, Eleanor Wade, and Helen Wilson made Roanoke their destination.

Others that found school full of books, bags and boresomeness and ventured some where else to find brightness, beauty and boys, were Nancy Hughes, Mary White, Nancy Chambers in Gladys, Virginia; Catherine Bidkley, Ellen Higginbotham and Dorothy White in Staunton; Carolyn Bobbitt in South Hill; Shirley Ann Reaves and Mary Wyatt, South Boston; Fulmer Baker in Abilene, Virginia; Jane Anderson, in Monroe.

In Buckingham Eva Cobb, and Agnes Cook; in Prospect Jane Glenn and Alma Crawley; in Durham, N. C., Ann Lang; in Gretna, Evelyn Cole; in Cumberland, Fredricka Hubbard; Boydton, Anne Homes; in Lawrenceville, Ann Houser; in Dinwiddie, Mary Ellen Tmple; in McKenny, Katherine Whitmore; in Franklin, Anne Clark, and Myrtle West; in Gretna, Evelyn Cole.

Also visiting in Chatham, were Nannie Sours; in Alexandria, Virginia, Sara Bird Williams; in Appomattox, Harriet Cole; and in Anderson, Virginia, was Lucy Boling.

With a far away look in their eyes Margaret McIntyre, Frances Bell, Dotty Overcash, Beverly Peebles, Agnes Stokes, and Anne Summers spent a hilarious week-end at dear old Hampden-Sydney.

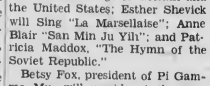
Margaret Brace has gone home to have her appendix taken out. Who is going abroad next week end? Well! you never can tell.

Pi Gamma Mu

Continued from Page 1

public"; and Dorothy Overcash, "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Choir will sing as a group the national songs of Britain and the United States; Esther Shevick will Sing "La Marsellaise"; Anne Blair "San Min Ju Yih"; and Patricia Maddox, "The Hymn of the Soviet Republic."



Betsy Fox, president of Pi Gamma Mu, will preside at the program.

Costume Prizes

Continued from Page 1

ter.

Posters for this dance which is sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu were made by Mrs. Lemon's 301 art class.

This is a family war. Put your War Bondbuying through the payroll savings plan on a family plan, which means figure it out yourself.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System ...Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

The State
YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER
IN FARMVILLE, VA.

SUN. THRU WED.
MOSS HART'S
WINGED VICTORY
With
LON McCALLISTER
JEANNE CRAIN
EDMOND O'BRIEN

Buy your Valentines here
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Select your Valentine GIFTS AT
Martin the Jeweler

Bring your clothes for prompt service to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

Library
e Teachers College
rmville, Virginia.

HEAR
DR. GIBSON

The Rotunda

ATTEND
MARDI GRAS

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 7, 1945 | No. 16

Terrell Will Reign at Annual Mardi Gras Dance

Dr. C. J. Gibson Speaks To Students On Campus

Rector Will Lead Discussion Tonight

This morning in chapel Rev. Churchill J. Gibson, D. D., rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Richmond, gave a message, using as his topic "With Whom We Speak." This was the second talk in the series which began Tuesday, February 6 and will end on Thursday, February 8.

Yesterday Dr. Gibson spoke on "In Whom We Believe". Terminating his talks to the student body in chapel tomorrow, he will use as his theme "Whom We Obey."

DR. CHURCHILL GIBSON

This afternoon at 6 p. m. Dr. Gibson talked to the girls at an Association meeting in the Student Lounge. The theme of the discussion was "How Do You Identify a Christian?" At 8 p. m. tonight an informal discussion will be held in Senior Rec. All of the talks and discussions have as the central thought "God's Good News."

Dr. Gibson has as one of his great interests the interpreting of the Christian religion to young people. As a mountain missionary Dr. Gibson began his ministry. For ten years he was the rector of Robert E. Lee Memorial Church in Lexington, Virginia, where he served as student pastor of the cadts at V. M. I. and for the students at Washington and Lee University. During the last war Dr. Gibson served as a U. S. chaplain in France. For 15 years he has served in his present position.

Each year Religious Emphasis Week is set aside by the Y. W. C. A. for special emphasis on the spiritual side of college life. At this time the "Y" sponsors outstanding speakers on the campus.

Bible Study Group Selects Officers

Carolyn Booth, junior from Wakefield, was elected presisdent and Jane Anderson, junior from Farmville, was elected vice-president of the Inter - Varsity Christian Fellowship on last Tuesday, January 30.

The other officers elected were secretary, Gertrude Moore from Danville; treasurer, Mary Copley from South Hill; publicity chairman, Evelyn Hair from Danville; literature chairman, Geraldine Joyner from Zuni; and music chairman, Martha Jones from Buckingham.

War Drive Begins Here February 14

Swenson To Speak At Chapel Program

Sponsored by the Public Affairs committee of the "Y", the annual campus drive for funds for the War Chest drive will begin February 14 and end on February 21. This money will go to the Red Cross and World Student Fund.

Throughout the week of this drive, there will be programs in chapel. There will be speakers, and skits will be given. The first of the speakers will be Mr. H. L. Swenson, American Red Cross Club director. He has returned to his home at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, after 16 months overseas service. Swenson was very successful in his military relations with the enlisted men and officers of both the Australian Army and American Army.

Each student will be given an opportunity to make a contribution to the fund. Thus, she will have a share in the work that is being done to alleviate suffering and to help provide the bare essentials for wandering students.

There will be a box for the donations on the table in the hall. Besides this each hall in the building will be canvassed by various representatives.

S. T. C. Passes Quota Set For Polio Drive

Students and faculty members of the college contributed one hundred and eleven dollars to the annual March of Dimes. This more than doubles the amount received in college last year. Boys and girls of the training school exceeded their quota with a total of $31.31. The high school collected $31. The total for the three schools is $173.31, Mr. French, co-chairman of the drive, announced this week.

Because of the recent epidemic of infantile paralysis, funds in many counties and states have been exhausted. For that same reason, the quota was higher this year than in years previous.

Pickett Chaplain Is Guest Speaker For Local War Day

6 Discussion Groups Planned

Major Noel T. Adams, post Chaplain from Camp Pickett will be the guest speaker on the afternoon program for War Emphasis Day, set this year for Wednesday, February 21. Harriette Moore, head of the College War Council revealed this week.

The theme for the third War Emphasis Day to be observed here at Farmville will be "What each of the major nations in the world expects, will get from, and can contribute to the Peace Conference." The morning program will consist of six discussion groups, with emphasis centered on the United States, Russia, China, Latin America, England, and the British Empire outside the British Isles. The discussions will be led by a panel composed of one faculty member and a group of student leaders. Those faculty members and student chairmen cooperating are Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, with Mary Ann Jarratt; Miss Grace Moran, with Virginia Treakle; C. Gordon Moss, with Anne Summers; Miss Leola Wheeler, with Betty Adams; Dr. F. B. Simkins, with Fay Byrd Johnson, and S. M. Holton, with Jane Waring Ruffin.

The morning session as planned at present will be concluded with reports from the discussion groups.

Continued on Page 3

Intermediate Choir Gives Music Program

Under the direction of student director Esther Shevick, the Intermediate A'Cappella Choir will present a program of music at the Presbyterian church on Sunday night, February 11, at 7:30 o'clock.

The group will sing "Now the Day Is Over", and a quartette composed of Kathleen Blankenship, Jean Freeman, Doris Lee Murray, and Virginia Yonce will sing "Rock of Ages" under the direction of Frances Siffortd, student director.

Solos will be rendered by Jean Freeman and Dorothy Bennett.

Rev. Philip H. Roberts, pastor, will be in charge of the services, and Alfred H. Strick, head of the music department, will be at the organ.

MARDI GRAS COURT

Standing, first row, left to right, Mary Watkins, Peggy T. Ross, Mary Walker Watts, and Virginia Terrell Second row, Elise Hume, Virginia Travis, Jane Philhower, Martha Lynn Sprye, and Luz Quinones.

VIRGINIA TERRELL, Queen of Mardi Gras

Soph. Production Scheduled Feb. 14

Program Features Gay Ninety Review

Included in the program for the sophomore production to be given on February 14 in the recreation hall are "When You Wore a Tulip," a vaudeville number by Mary Ann Loving and Carmen Low, "A Bicycle Built for Two," by Sue Hundley and Gertie Crouch, and an Irish policeman dance routine by Pat McLear.

The rec will be decorated like a gay nineties bar room for the production and the program will be presented as the floor show. All the numbers of the floor show will be in keeping with this theme. The port royal of a gay nineties bar room will be complete with barkers standing at the swinging doors of each of the entrances down into the rec.

The date for the production has been changed from February 7 to February 14 due to the fact that Religious Emphasis Week had been scheduled previously to include the former date.

Regular APS Meeting Slated For Tonight

Miss Mary Peck, Alpha Phi Sigma adviser, has announced that there will be a regular roll call meeting of that organization tonight at 7:45 in the Honors Room. At this meeting several sophomores will be recognized as being in line to become recipients of the master's degree in scholarship. These girls have made a B plus average for the fall quarter, and they will receive their master's degree in the spring if they uphold that average again during the winter quarter. Freshman and sophomores who have made an average of B for the fall quarter will be advised as to their eligibility for apprentice's degree in the spring.

Alpha Phi Sigma is the National honorary fraternity for underclassmen. High school valedictorians and salutatorians are eligible for membership on matriculation.

Artists To Appear On S.T.C. Campus

Concert Is Third In College Series

Presented as third in a artists series, Janet Bush, contralto, and Gertrude Hopkins, harpist, will appear on the S. T. C. campus on Friday, February 16, at 8:30 p. m.

Of all native singers, Janet Bush can most truly be called an American artist. She has a rich, flexible, easy voice, and is the happy combination of profound musician, a brilliant vocalist and an engaging entertainer.

Gertrude Hopkins, one of America's most distinguished harpists, has appeared on the concert stages of the country, before school and college audiences, and as soloist with leading American orchestras. Miss Hopkins endowed with skillful technique, plays brilliantly with ample tone, and fine rhythm.

8 Girls To Attend Queen; Court Will Appear at 9:40 P.M.

St. Clair Will Set Tempo for Festival

Virginia Terrell, senior from Richmond, will reign over the annual Mardi Gras dance, sponsored under the auspices of Pi Gamma Mu, to be held February 10, in the college gym.

The queen will be attended by Jane Philhower, Elise Hume, Luz Quinones, Peggy T. Ross, Lynn Sprye, Virginia Travis, Mary Walker Watts, and Mary Watkins.

The dance will be carried out with a Latin-American theme, according to an announcement made by Helen McGuire, dance chairman. Jimmy St. Clair's eight piece orchestra from Roanoke will furnish the music for the occasion.

Girls are required to dress in costumes, and prizes will be awarded for the two most original costumes and for the two prettiest costumes. The prizes for these costumes are being displayed at Martin's Jewelry Store.

At 9:40 the queen of the fete and her court will enter the dance. There will be a floor show immediately after the queen enters. Marilyn Bell and Eleanor Bisese are in charge of the floor show.

Girls serving on committees for the dance are Bobbie Scott, business manager; Edith Jones and Gloria Sheppard, tickets; Mary Ann Jarratt and Virginia Abernathy, advertising; Marilyn Bell and Eleanor Bisese, floor show; Jane Ruffin, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Rodogna, and Roberta Davis, decorations; Mary Lib Fuqua and Dorothy Overcash, orchestra; Mary Sterrett and Josephine Shaffner, costumes; and Carolyn Huddie, and Nancy Harrell, floor committee.

Mr. M. Boyd Coyner is in charge of the judging. Other judges will be Mrs. Eddie Lanchester, Mr. Tucker Doyne, and Mrs. Shelton Whitaker.

Chaperons for the dance will be Mrs. Blanche Beasley, Mrs. Hallie Lang, Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Simkins, Miss Alpha Lee Garnett, and Miss Emily Barksdale.

Dr. Jarman, Dean Martha Smith, Dr. J. E. Walmsley, the officers of Pi Gamma Mu, Betsy

Continued on Page 3

Backstage Glimpses of Play Reveal Not One Dull Moment

BETTY DEUEL COCK

Greetings, Readers, if any! The time draws near to bring to you some more scenes from the backstage angle of the Spring play, but if you think we're going to tell you all the secrets, guess again. These are just glimpses of the off-the-record type that they of the cast appreciated, and thought that you would, too.

For example, every play has its favorite lines. It's a familiar thing now, for any member of the cast of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" to stalk into the auditorium for rehearsal and quote Ageus' "Full of vexation come I", and every time one passes under a mis-placed street-light, there's a familiar quaver in the voice that says, "This lantern doth the horn-ed moon present!" Lions "Roo-aa-rr!" at each other upon meeting in the halls, and Fairies go into a dance at the sight of each other. Full often we hear a loud discussion of "Old Ninny's Tomb" . . . and full often we see a sad shake of the head, and hear Puck's famous line, "Lord, what fools these Mortals be!"

Properties haven't begun to come into things yet, but it's surprising what a really good imagination can do. It's not only the audience who will be imagining the Chink in the Wall or the savage and self-imposed death of Pyramus, but right now, the Dog, property of "Moonshine", is fully as real to the cast at practices as he will be in actuality the night of the play.

The usual backstage happenings go on and on, as they will in all plays. Miss Wheeler hasn't lost her glasses yet, but there was a surprising dash onto the stage last week to move the new piano out of the danger zone when that faulty tub overflowed on Second Floor Whitehouse! Fairies "float" about in their bare feet, practicing up on the "lightness" exercises which Miss Kay has provided for them, and the knavish Puck darts here and there, (first here

Continued on Page 3

Help Keep Halls Clean By Complying With Rules

It's a great temptation these days when cigarettes are "few and far between" to dash off to class or to chapel with a cigarette in our hands, and stamp it out before we rush madly down the steps.

Dr. Jarman asked us in chapel several weeks ago not to put cigarettes out in the halls and in the stairways. There has been some improvement, but there are still a few of us who forget.

We've been given the privilege of smoking in our rooms, so let's keep it there. Perhaps we don't think about this until we're on our way down the hall with a burning cigarette, and just as we drop it, we remember that we've been asked not to do it. We think it's too late to trudge back to find an ash tray, so we drop it anyway.

Those last few "drags" on a "cig" are not a matter of life and death, and we certainly won't lose any time by stopping to put a cigarette out before we leave the room. There's a saying that ashes keep the moths out of rugs, but remember there aren't any rugs on the halls.

Often we drop a long cigarette and step on it, and later when we've walked from store to store and heard those words "sorry, no cigarettes today," we wish we had that cigarette we put out on the floor. If we had only stopped to think that we would have to go out in a few minutes, we could have saved that cigarette.

Let's remember to put out our "cigs" in the proper places, and keep our halls clean.

If we do this small job, we'll help those who have to clean up this unnecessary mess and also improve our own habits of neatness. There is certainly always room to improve these habits of neatness.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilida' Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1945

In charge of this issue: Shirley Slaughter

YWCA Offers Challenge During Week of Emphasis

Into the colleges and universities of our country, throng every year, thousands of young, curious, eager students searching for an unknown something that will help them to make the most of this business of living. We as students of State Teachers College, are not so different from the countless other students all over our nation. We are searching to understand the demands these days of suffering and striving are making upon our compassion, our labor, and our devotions. We are searching for a religion to satisfy our needs. That religion is Christianity.

Christianity at its best is a daring venture. It lays claim to the impossible. It does not endure the evils of the world. It sets out to change the world! It takes the initiative. It proclaims for mankind a kingdom of long justice and peace. It dares to live under principles not yet recognized by the governments of the world. This is Christianity. It is this for which we are searching today.

The Young Women's Christian Association works to help make this search easier. Thus, Religious Emphasis Week came into being. These few days are planned to meet the needs and interests of every student at S. T .C. Each student is a part of Religious Emphasis Week. Each has a responsibility in realizing and utilizing the opportunities this week offers. It is a challenge. Will you not accept it and make it your own? —S, B, W,

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

"The American flag flies again over the Philippines' capital." It was January 3, 1942 that the Japanese took it down, and now three years later MacArthur has returned. The city is not completely captured but more significant to us is that the Santa Tomas concentration camp has been liberated. Manila covers about 14 square miles with a population of nearly 1,000,000. "For the reconquests of Luzon and this capital city MacArthur committed elements of at least 10 divisions—upwards of 100,000 men," said Roosevelt to President Osmena of the Philippines. "The magnificent strides of American forces in the Philippines will strengthen our determination to drive the Jap invaders from your islands."

* * *

In Burma the Yanks have crossed the Irrawaddy River for the first time with tanks. This bridgehead fighting is described as some of the fiercest of the Burma campaign. The Japs constantly attack the area preventing any advancement on our side. In China, credit also goes to the enemy. The Chinese have lost both Svichwan and Chihing. Kanchow is the next city in the advancing line. In the glory of Manila we forget the other fightoing fronts where the glory is not always ours.

* * * *

"The German radio claimed 'no essential changes' had occurred on the Eastern front. This was Monday, but with the Russians only 38 miles from Berlin, who knows what changes will be made in the next two days." Of East Prussia's 14,283 square miles, the Germans now hold only approximately 800 square miles west and southwest of Koenigsberg."

* * * *

The doughboys on the Western front have been fighting in snow, sleet, and freezing rain this week. The last Germans have been driven from Belgium soil and Americans have gone a mile into Germany. Patton's Third Army has yet to reach the main fortifications of the Siegfried line despite another two and a half mile advance. The Rhine is only 29 miles away. The mileage looks good from here, but we don't have to march it.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

Since the last (printed) bedcheck one of our fair seniors has changed her name from Miss to Mrs. Namely, Frances Wentzel, now Mrs. John Gayle. All the luck and happiness from all.

We might add that Virginia Terrell was the lucky gal who caught her bouquet, so we'll be listening for more wedding bells!

We'd like a few more details about Poguey's Ranger pin. Sounds interesting!

Another week end, so naturally Higgins went flying off to see Roland.

For events of a very colorful bus ride and humorous description of "an old man" see Joan Davis! His jokes don't bear printing here!!

Virginia Prince certainly deserves some kind of prize. She received a phone call from Seattle, Washington. But then the news the call brought is reward enough. "He" is on his way home!!

Once again we notice around campus Nannie Sours and her Ensign.

We are wondering what happened to Lynn Sprye at Annapolis. No one seems to know.

Another mystery surrounds the suddenly cancelled plans of Olive and Doug for the week end.

The familiar face of Bebeau appeared on campus once more this week end.

Of course there is the mere fact that six (yes, you read correctly) men came at one time to see Betty Ellis this week end from U. Va. That is contrary to ALL rules!

What we really want to know is what time Barbara Lee Myers and Anne Houser got in while on their recent vacation; also, how much lost time they made up!! Speak up, girls!!

Orchids go to Fay Johnson and Student Standards who arranged the trip to Richmond last Friday for the STC girls to hear Jose Iturbi.

His innumerable friends are indeed glad to see Louis Graham back in town. Our Editor's sentiments go without saying.

And of all things, Queekie was not here to see her "friend" "buzz" STC Sunday A. M.—all the way from Boston. She was in Richmond collecting jewelry! Namely, a KA pin.

Still seen daily around school now are Bo Wall and Mary Anne Loving!

A new up and coming romance seems to be Carol Diggs and Hammond Snyder.

What is Mrs. Tabb's recent threat to the Burchett twins? Seems they try to swipe her ice!

Prize bungler of the week is Virginia Craig Farrier's man. He phoned long distance, got the wrong Virginia Farrier, and proceeded to call everybody in town (including Mrs. McCoy) "Darling" before he got hold of his gal — Watch him, Craig!

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

We are now in the midst of Religious Emphasis Week, the main "Y" event of the year. We now have an opportunity to examine more closely our minds and our spirits, and it is up to us to take advantage of it and to strive to better ourselves. Dr. Churchill Gibson, Jr., our speaker, will talk to us tonight in Senior Rec. Freshmen and Sophomores are especially invited to attend.

The winter quarter Union Vesper Service took place Sunday night. A grand time was had by all. And believe us, those Baptists sure know how to entertain.

The Browsing Room is open from three to five on Sunday afternoons for all those who would like to spend a pleasant hour or so among the books and magazines. The "Y" collection is there for the use of any girl.

The "Fun, Food, and Fellowship" meeting at the Presbyterian Church Monday night was a big success.

The Sunday School Contest is now in progress. Go, and invite that girl on the hall to go with you.

Our War Campus Drive begins next Wednesday. Support it to you fullest.

MARDI GRAS

Question of the Week

When you were little, what was your favorite toy; what became of it?

"Boots" Brawley: My 'lectric train. I still have it.

Martha Lee: My nigga doll. I'm saving him for my chillens.

Julia Messick: A pretty little doll. Ask my sister what became of it!

Esther Shevick: A doll piano. Some mean ole boy broke it up.

Ann Bell: A doll carriage and I broke it. What usually becomes of toys!

Miss Hamner: A ten-cent electric lamp that I adored, and was so distressed I didn't know what to do when my little sister broke it.

Nell Scott: A doll that was my mother's, and when the head happened to come off she put it away for her grandchillun, I reckon.

Caroline Moon: A rag doll. I put it away for future use—will it to my little girl, you know.

Kat Tindall: A dydee doll. It bounced on me.

Betty Woodward: A life-size rag doll that my grandma made. It's in Daddy's trunk waiting for my kids. What kids!?!

Jackie Parden: A red-headed doll that I got with Nolde bread coupons. I put it away 'cause I don't like competition.

Frankie Woodward: A toy piano —my mother forgot where she did it.

Irene Pomeroy: I don't know unless it was a plug of tobacco.

Betsy Dillard: A little red scooter. I ran the damn wheels off of it.

Gin Radogna: A great big ole doll baby and I left it out in the rain. Got its face washed off.

Mary Sue Spradlin: A set of dishes. Count on sisters to get rid of them!

Phyllis Watts: My cowboy suit, I outgrew it.

"Baby Sis" Watkins: My billy-goat and buggy for an afternoon ride. Poor Billy died.

Mary Jane Richards: A china doll. A stick of wood fell on it's head.

Pauline Barnes: A duck. It fell down and sprained it's ankle.

Agnes Stokes: A tricycle and a great big fat boy sat on it and mashed the frotn wheel in.

Varied and Strange Noises Haunt Girls As Result of Talking Clothes

The other night about four o'clock I heard the strangest noises—sounded a little like masculine voices and coming from my closet, too! "Oh, I'm dreaming," I thought and then I pinched myself so hard I sat straight up in bed! Well, being a very nosey individual I just decided I'd listen to the conversation and, who had a better right? My room and I found out later, my clothes.

A deep masculine voice sounded, "Yes, this is a sad plight for one such as I. An army government issue shirt with my division's insignia and living in a girls' school. Bah! 'Tain't fit life for an ol' war veteran. Still, I'll admit it's an easier one. Did I tell you about the time I was in the Tunisian invasion?"

"Yes! Yes!" broke in a slightly whiney voice, "We've heard all about it but if you think you're bad off look at me. I was once a tux going to all the big dances; dinners, and night clubs. Oh, did I give the girls a thrill!! Then dead sweet this. Jackson decided I was a little out of date and made Jane a black tailored suit. And look at Joe—his master's best hunting shirt. He has killed deer, bear—been all over those North Woods of Maine. What about it, Joe?"

"Yep," Joe answered. "Everytime he came in with that happy look on his face I knew we were headed for the big woods. That's a man's life! Tramping through the brush and swamps all day then all night sitting around a smoky camp fire swapping stories about past big hunts and fishing trips. An honest one am I—not once did I tell on the master when he stretched the tale a bit. Yep, it was a sad day when he traded my big plaid for one of those green Marine uniforms. He hung me on one nail and put the big rifle just above me—kind 'o brushed the haze away from his eyes. Tears, you say? No, he wasn't the one for crying. He just said, 'See you later, fellows. Got a little business trip to take".

Everything was quiet for a while when a little boyish squeak broke through. "Gosh, I wish I were like you all, but I guess blue jeans don't get around. I was glad when she took me out that ol' store, but I've heard my brothers talk. Boys going to school mostly wear them. They say they play hookey from school in the springtime and go fishing and swimming down at the creek. And oh, they get in fights and have more fun playing. Sometimes it's cowboys and Indians or marbles or football. But she wears me riding. Gee, did I get an awful fall the other day, but we're learning."

And they just kept on talking—the neckties my brother gave me when he went into service. I'm going to have fun teasing him. I always did wonder if he kissed Betty. And Bo's plaid sport jacket. I'm afraid it likes Bo more so I'll have to give it back to him. In

Continued on Page 4

Final Dates Set For Class Swimm' g, Telegraphic Meets

Final dates [illegible] been set for the class swi[illegible] g meet which will be held [illegible], February 16 at 8:30, and [illegible] elegraphic meet which will [illegible] d the following week, Friday, [illegible]ruary 23 at 8:30. All girls [illegible]re out for class teams mu[illegible] their eight practices in [illegible] the meet. The girls wh[illegible]in the telegraphic meet, w[illegible]outstanding swimmers fr[illegible]e class meet, and members of [illegible]e H2O Club.

Senior life saving and instructors life saving courses will begin this Friday night, February 9, at 8:30. All who are interested in taking this course must be present, because fifteen hours must be gotten in by the swimmers before the American Red Cross Field director will arrive in March 19 to the 23 to give the instructors test. One credit will be given for this course, and it is open to any student in the school.

Jean Carter Smith, president of H20 Club.

FHS Defeats STC Frosh In First Basketball Game

The first basketball game of the season was played yesterday, February 6, in the college gym between the Farmville High School and Farmville State Teachers College freshmen. Farmville High School was victorious with a score of 30 to 18. High scorer for the freshman team were Abernathy and Holcomb, while high scorer for Farmville were Virginia Fulcher and Ranson. Every play held spectators in suspense and good sportsmanship was displayed by both teams.

Coaches for the Farmville High School team were Mary Walker Watts and Eleanor Wade, seniors at S. T. C. Miss Iler coached the freshman team. Referees for the game were Margaret Orange and Lillian Elliot.

Bachelor Girls View Galaxy of Diamonds

Because of the numerous Mills girls who came back from Christmas vacation either engaged or married, we of the WEEKLY, a bunch of old maids, view with bewilderment the galaxy of diamond studded fingers. It's a good thing. Girls should and will get married. We are proud also of the high percentage of alumnae with a Mrs. degree.

Our only hope for the new brides and fiancees is that they do not make their marriages an escape into mediocrity. So often a housewife becomes so embroiled in little things. Their worlds can become bounded by four walls. Their conversation can degenerate to Johnny's ailments, their newest recipe, an effective diet

Continued on Page 4

S. T. C. Museum of Fine Arts Displays Pin-Ups, Calendars with War Trend

Of course, we realize that probably none of you all have ever really noticed these tricky and attractive devices hanging on the doors and walls of STC, but we'd like to take you in a few rooms and point out the various ways and means that snapshots, pin-ups, and professional jobs defy gravity and remain gracefully in position at a high altitude.

First, there's the eye-catching Varga calendar (Sorry boys, you all aren't the only ones) with those "gawjeus" gals seemingly floating around, decorating the bare and glamorous walls of STC. Calendars aren't our only diversion—heaven's no! We have an assortment of pics of everlovin' Van Johnson. Mr. Johnson is shown anywhere from that plug for Colgates pose to pulling the string on an outboard motor (don't get us wrong; we think he's cute too). Aha! What have we here? Ummm it's the man himself, (whomever he may be!) smiling at us and know he's nearby, regardless of the envelope that bears the A. P. O. number.

Making our brief tour more intellectual, we pause to gaze at the assortment of aircraft collected and hung on doors by one of our Freshmen. Huge transports, fighters, (Did you hear the buzzing we got Sunday morning?) trainers, bombers; any and every type blot out the woodwork. She claims it gives one an excited feeling; especially when those P-47's buzz STC or fly in formation 'cross campus.

Leaving the "hangar" we pull up before a peaceful display of "Back Home for Keeps" pictures. These always make us gaze into space and do a little "wishful thinking." The sailor, the soldier, the marine, the coast guard, and once in a while the rare species labled pilot—cough!!

Uh, oh! What's that dangling from the moulding? It just couldn not be a blotter. But it is! And a blue one, too! What's the stuff creeping around the sides? Oh, 'scuse us (aside; she sze it's material!) Snapshots of days gone by; viz. Rat Week can still make us laugh and when we recall the two days of bewilderment, fear, and horrible clothing. We were sights, and we maintain that sore eyes couldn't have stood it.

Do we hear a motion to continue? O. K., we're off, but don't get far because a rather startling face greets our eyes. He's lying flat on his back, laughing, and chewing away on Zwy-back! Yep! It's a baby! But not the only one; the optimistic Miss that collected them has our little friend in a hundred poses.

Last, but most important, are the breath taking sheets of "some of the nations leading magazine illustrations." You know what we mean? We can only describe them briefly—mumble—muble—there!!! Do you know what we mean?

If you are following us, we're leading you towards the exit and as we leave all the pics and happy, not to mention our satisfaction after spending an hour in "Farmville's Museum of Fine Arts."

Backstage

Continued from Page 1

and then there) plotting with Oberon off-stage as well as on, 'Tis nothing to hear Bottom and Titania going over and over lines with Helena and Hermia, or to see regular dueling going on between Lysander and Demetrius. And the biggest bit of imagining yet comes when lines forcibly are addressed to an as yet un-cast Philostrate, who is definitely the little man who isn't there!

This play is not only going to be fun to see; it's fun to put on. Over and over, the lines are said, but there is no boredom here. The funny scenes are funnier at every rehearsal. Clever lines find a new meaning at every saying.

Hard to put on? Yes, but worth it. Never a dull moment say the actors, and again we hear an echoing laugh, and a gentle little elf shakes his head and says, "Lord, what fools these mortals be!"

Left Lead

PIONEERS!

On, for the life of Daniel Boone! "See Farmville First", is the familiar cry, nor do the riders stop at a backward glance from the trail through the Pines from where one can see the whole town spread out below like a miniature village on a Christmas card. No, it's off to the Bailey's farm for half the crew, and some real exploring in the wooded sections of the property. "Beautiful!" was the verdict . . . and reports of the little creek that runs through the fields were more than enthusiastic.

NEVER A DULL MOMENT

But all trail-riding and no ring work soon makes gals forget they have things like form to watch, so 'tis back in the ring for things like this: Sara jumping the Phantom Lady . . . M. Sydnor jumping the Pony three feet, with never so much as a tip . . . Miss Black jumping again since her rest from a recent lameness . . . Cinnamon still doing well over the low jumps, and Ckkie-the-colt jumping as high as three feet, and loving it!

The town youngsters made the news this week when the Lindseys pulled a brother-sister act. Colonel shied on the way to Longwood, and Little Brother went off. Just at the gate, Callie took off in a canter, and Big Sister followed Brother's example. None the worse for the tumbles, they were up and at it again in no time. And then it was Ducky Anderson who provided the entertainment, bobbing up and down on Cinnamon in what proved to be (unknown to her) her first canter! It's a great life, but a rough one at times.

INVITATION

Coldish weather, rain, and various other activities have cut down on riding lately, but not for long. The Ol' Cowhands are too fond of their boots 'n' saddles to stay away for long. If you're not just sure how you feel about it, why not try riding one free hour this quarter, and see if your sentiments don't turn you toward a whole quarter of it? You won't be sorry, and until you've tried it, you don't know what you're missing. The pioneer spirit is catching enough, once you're exposed to it. Come on and see how long it takes you to figure out which lead is which, what diagonal you're on, and what we mean when we say . . .

"Stay on the bit!"

Pegasus

Mardi Gras

Continued from Page 1

Fox, Nancy Harrell, Eleanor Bisese, Carolyn Hutter, and Helen McGuire will compose the receiving line. The faculty, administration, and home department are invited.

The admission will be $1.30 for couples, and 25c for spectators.

KEEP ON Backing the Attack! WITH WAR BONDS

Patronize PATTERSON'S
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
MONTAG STATIONERY
The complete Drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Wilson Announces Dates for Tourneys

Teams Will Choose Heads Next Week

The round robin tournaments in basketball and volleyball will be played the last week in February and the first week in March, announced Helen Wilson, president of the A. A. Council, Monday at the A. A. meeting.

Eight practices are required for participation in any class game, and these practices must be obtained before the games begin. In the round robin tournament, every class will play every other class. For the colors who are victorious in basketball, 10 points will be given toward the color cup. Volley ball winners receive 5 points.

Captains for each team will be chosen next week, and with Miss Iler's advice, teams will be chosen from those girls who have gotten in their eight class practices.

As a reminder, volleyball is taught each day from 4:50 to 5:40 and basketball from 5:50 to 6:40. Come on out and get in the rest of your practices, you have just as much chance for making your class team as does anyone else.

War Day

Continued from Page 1

Major Adams will speak to the student body in the afternoon session. Major Adams, now post chaplain at Camp Pickett, served for two years as chaplain under General Patton in North Africa. He recently spoke to the Lions Club in Farmville.

Plans for the evening program have not yet been completed, but the tentative schedule includes a program by the faculty.

College Fads Vary From Snow Suits To Special Silver Hair Clips

Perhaps Shakespeares' immortal Puck was speaking of STC'ers in 1945 when he quoth his famous "What fools these mortals be!" for isn't it rather foolish to splurge your last bit of allowance on some oblong silver bars for your hair, a clashing plaid skirt, or luscious men's P. J.'s, just to be a slave to fashion? "Oh, yes, everybody's got them, Mother and I want to be like them!" How do mothers live through the fads their daughters concoct? From snow suits, reversibles with hoods, heart bracelets, spoons clamped on the arm, sloppy joe sweaters, and purple lipstick to blue jeans, three-cornered kerchiefs, dirty saddle shoes, men's identification bracelets, and special hair clamps, our mothers have shook their heads, clicked their tongues, and said "Well, go on and wear them, but they certainly don't appeal to me!"

You sociology students, take notice of your roommate's clothing and see if she hasn't been victimized to the "mores" or "folkway" of wearing her brother's or serviceman's cast offs! Our grandmothers would've recoiled in horror if they had been forced to don a baggy green, red, and purple plaid skirt and overalls rolled up to the knees and then have gone to a party in another dormitory. Today our friends compliment the loudest and biggest skirt, and think blue jeans are quite the proper attire to attend a hallmate's birthday party.

Instead of the filmy, silky, lacy, negligees of yesteryear we see a short brunch coats, and brightly quilted house coats adorning the effeminate that don't lounge in jeans.

And where are the gaily colored hair ribbons the well-dressed girl used to wear with every costume? Today we wear a pair of silver

Continued on Page 4

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Lynn's Jewelry Store
WATCHES FOR GIFTS FOR Valentine Day
Farmville Virginia

VISIT OUR . . .
Book Department
NEW SHIPMENT
RECEIVED DAILY
49c & 50c each
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

After wandering away from page three last week, it's nice to be home again. A bouquet of roses to Louise Blane for such a very nice job of substituting as sports editor while yours truly stepped up the journalistim ladder. Nice going, Louise!

SWIMMING

Taking first place as starter for the athletic events of the winter quarter will be the swimming meet for inter-class swimming beginning next Friday, February 16 at 8:30 in the ols swimming hole. Come on and out and cheer your class swimmers on to victory. The class winner gains five points toward the color cup, so come on green and whites and red and whites get that spirit.

The telegraphic meet will take place the following Friday week, and this is one of the most interesting activities on the sports calendar. This is taken as a school team, and STC is in competition with different colleges throughout the South. Because of the war, the swimming teams have not been able to make trips for the past few years, so as a substitute, these meets were arranged.

One college is selected as the hostess for the meet, and the tabulations are wired in to the hostess for that year. Each race is a standard race, and must be done in a certain length of time, and within a certain number of yards. After the tabulations are made from all the colleges, they are totaled, and the winners are announced. Some of the girls will be winners of the races, and these totaled together will add up as points for the college they are representing. The college with the most points naturally wins the meet, with second and third place winners also announced.

Come on you aquatic fiends, here's your chance to represent your school, and maybe "bring home the bacon".

Basketball and volleyball games will begin the latter part of February, and the first of March. Basketball gives ten points toward the color cup and volleyball five points. Come on you ball players get in those eight practices and support your class colors.

Yesterday found our freshman class playing Farmville High School in the first game of the season for STC. This article went to press before the game was played, so the scores and other details will have to be left out, but this is sure that the game provided plenty of interest for the spectators, and good practice for the players.

There are hopes this year that our varsity basketball team can get some outside games with different colleges throughout Virginia. Last year's team played the WAC's at Camp Pickett, and then again here on our own gym floor.

Since physical education has become a required course here on campus, you potential athletes might as will help with those class colors. Support your class, and don't forget, that eight practices are required for team membership. Stay in the game, and until next week, keep up that spirit.

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

PHONE
7 8
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

VALENTINE GIFT SUGGESTION
ARROW TIES
Large Selection to choose from
1.00 AND 1.50
Men's Dept.—First Floor
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

100 Girls Pledge Sororities As Result of Week's Rushing

Pledges Entertained At Informal Party

According to the announcement made by Jean Prosise, president of the Pan - Hellenic, 100 girls pledged sororities last week.

The following girls pledged Sigma Sigma Sigma: Corrine Baker, Richmond; Susan Dickinson, Front Royal; Ann Jeannette Haskins, McKenny; Elise Hume, Bluefield, W. Va.; Carol Jenkins, Burkeville, George Ann Lewis, Petersburg; Frances Livesey, Emporia; Mary Ann Morris, Richmond; Eleanor Overbey, Chatham; Betsy Scott, Pulaski; Shirley Slaughter, Lynchburg; Nancy Squire, Emporia; and Berkley Richardson, Richmond.

The new pledges of Gamma Theta are Doris Ballance, Norfolk; Betty Burchett, Suffolk; Jane Burchett, Suffolk; Nancy Chambers, Mahen, W. Va.; Claire Clark, Richmond; Sue Davis, Lynchburg; and Lois Fuller, Concord, N. C.;

Pledging Pi Kappa Sigma are Nancy Duncan, Portsmouth; Frances Garnett, Curdsville; Marion Hain, Richmond; Joyce Hill, Pulaski; Spotswood Hunnicutt, Stony Creek; Azele Hutt, Nenah; Maude Savage, Onley; Betty Scroggins, Richmond; Mary Ellen Temple, Dinwiddie; and Virginia Travis, Lynchburg.

The new pledges of Alpha Sigma Alpha are Betty Bowles, Richmond; Louise Overton Brooks, Farmville; Margaret Lee Cabaniss, Farmville; Muriel Crostic, Richmond; Betty Epperson, Lawrenceville; Alice Hannah, Suffolk; Anne Randolph Holmes, Boydton; Norma Howard, Roanoke, Katie Lawence, Windsor; Sue McCorkle, Lexington; Ellen McMullen, Culpeper; Nancy June Snead, Martinsville; Norma Louise Soyars, Rice; and Hildrain Suttle, Danville.

Mu Omga pledges are Corinne Boland, Falls Church; Mary Eames, Providence Forge; Betty Ewell, Bloxam; Doris Jean Hancock, Lynchburg; Augusta Hargan, Roanoke; Mary Harrison, Thomasville; Shirley Harper, Falls Church; Anna Kucera, Vinton; Geraldine Payne, Onancock; Alfreda Peterson, Waynesboro; and Faye Wolfe, Big Stone Gap.

Alpha Sigma Tau pledged the following girls, Gwenneth Ackiss, Newport News; Jean Damper, Roanoke; Josephine Cook, Portsmouth; Alice Coon, Roanoke; Mildred Davis, Paces; Dorothy Fultz, Roanoke; Jeanne Ganzert, Richmond; Helen Griffin, Roanoke; Lorene Haynes, Farmville; Fredrika Hubard, Cumberland; Charlotte Hutter, Lynchburg; Edith Jane Kirkland; LaCrosse; Nancy Magner, Cristobal, Canal Zone; Peggy Moore, Norfolk; Dorothy Overton, Farmville; Anna Ward Peery, Tazewell; Louise Pegram, Richmond; Betty Plunkett, Richmond; Jean Pritchett, Petersburg; and Katherine Rainy, Curdsville.

Theta Sigma Upsilon pledges are, Hlida Abernathy, Cockran; Lucille Bell, Kenbridge; Barbara Crowther, Avalon; Marion Estes, Colburn; Mary Lee Farrier, Newcastle; Lillian Fink, Washington, D. C.; Annette Grainger, Farmville, Marion Gunn, Blackstone; Lottie Gray Hammock, Blackstone;; Virginia Mae Packett, Warsaw; Frances Parden, Hopewll; Constance Pemberton, Warsaw; Jean Sneed, Farmville; Jean Tolley, Natural Bridge; Mary Frances Vaughan, Amherst; and Dorls Young, Appalachia.

The following girls pledged Phi Zeta Sigma, Barbara Lee Brown, Saltville; Betty DeBord, Cedar Bluff; Charlotte Grizzard, Drewryville; Mabel Lewis, Hopewell; Shirley Mankin, Richmond; Jane Mantiply, Fisherville; Billie Pruett, Hazewell; Lois Lloyd Sheppaid, Stuart; and Frances Treakle, Farmville.

The new pledges were entertained informally Thursday night from 10 to 11 o'clock in the chapter rooms.

Prospective STCers Entertained at Tea

Given by the Warwick Alumnae Chapter the high school girls of the county who might be interested in coming to Farmville were entertained at a tea on Thursday afternoon, February 1, at Morrison.

An exhibit of Farmville material including copies of the Virginian, Colonnade, Alumnae Magazine, and Rotunda was displayed.

80 Students Attend Concert In Richmond

Last week a new project was initiated by the Student Standards Committee, that of arranging trips to outstanding concerts in Richmond for students here at a minimum cost. Eighty students made the initial trip last Friday evening to hear Jose Iturbi in Richmond. Those students were transported to Richmond by the Bevell-Newman Bus Line, and had Balcony seats for a total of $2.90.

The project originated in the Student Standards Committee in an effort to make more artists' concerts within the expense range of the college students here. The project will be handled by the Committee for two successive times, after which, if it proves practical and worthwhile, it will be taken over by the Home Department. Tentative plans for such concerts will include ticket and transportation arrangements to be made in advance by the department, and made available here in Farmville to those students desiring them.

Working on the project are Fay Byrd Johnson, chairman of Student Standards, Miss Emily Barksdale and Miss Ruth Gleaves, the latter serving as chaperons on the first trip.

Bachelor Girls

Continued from Page 3

or the latest bit of scandal. It is easy to make tempests in teapots. It is easy to become narrow minded by living a quiet life.

Married life has unbounded opportunities for the enrichment of one's life. It should be every girl's ambition to make a lovely home for her husband and family. But beyond that it is her duty to stay alive to the world as it progresses. Just as when she is in college, a girl becomes more perceptive, so all through life she should keep alive her interest in the world in order to enrich her own life and life of her family.

Furthermore, if it is her goal to make life truly beautiful for her husband and family, she must incorporate her love of beauty and by this we mean music, art, and literature, into her own life. A woman has time for the esthetic side of life. While men must busy themselves with engineering, science, and medicine, a woman is excused for her interest in music, art, and poetry.

Perhaps this is idealism, but women can afford to be a little starry-eyed. If we college women fail to lift our gaze beyond the routine of housewifely cares, we will become narrow minded as our world narrows.

Mills College Weekly—ACP

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmvile, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Do your clothes HAVE THAT mid-winter drab?
Have them cleaned & pressed at
CLEANERS DELUXE

Student Teachers Favor Wool Suits, Good Line Dresses

As the prospective student teacher surveys her wardrobe, she will find that college garb will fit into satisfying teacher outfits with a little revision and ingenuity on her part. A student teacher should dress conservatively and as neatly as she can, but color, line, and attractiveness need not be sacrificed to accomplish this.

Jane Knapton and Helen McGuire pause on their way to the high school to do their practice teaching.

Her favorite woolen suits will prove to be valuable, as basic outfits, from which to assemble a variety of costumes. Suits with blouses of the simpler variety; suits with contrasting dickies; suits with sweaters, all make pleasing effects. The more tailored and well fitted, the better! Even pleated skirts will come in handy. Skirts and sweaters with dickies or blouses are neat, comfortable, and familiar. These can be mixed and matched in such a variety of ways that they add spice and ease to the monotony of a teacher's work clothes.

Dresses of good lines and not too dressy, but of the button-down-the-front dressmaker type in wool, gabardine, or corduroy can be worn. These might be changed with neat white collars and cuffs, or collars in contrasting colors.

Sport coats of the boxy type or tailored boy-coats make the best toppers. Any coat can be worn, as long as it is of conservative style and suitable in color. Fussy or very dressy fur collars are taboo.

Semi-dressy shoes with heels of a medium height, that fit well and are comfortable are most suitable for teaching. Loafer shoes appear loose and sloppy with hose, and saddle shoes usually are too soiled to be in keeping with the dignity of a teacher. Very high heels and fancy cut sandals are unwise. Not only are they out of place with the conservative clothes, but will put little foot-weary lives in the face of the teacher, and after all girls, we should consider our pupils.

Select your Valentine GIFTS AT Martin the Jeweler

Special Valentines
For Your
Sweetheart, Friends in the Service, Mother and Father
5c and 10c Each
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANNE BUCK

There is a hub-bub at the home office as week-enders are getting passports (permissions) to go home; a scramble to the room to be sure the tooth brush has been included in the last minute packing; a dash to the station; a rush to the ticket window; and the week-enders grab the train just as it pulls out, for an exciting few days are ahead.

Shopping, gossiping, and visiting in Richmond this week end were Gene Harrison, Caroline Huddle, Pat Maddox, Julie Hunt, Sue Hundley, Dorothy Hale, Anne Homes, Evelyn Goodman, Audrey Hudson, Jane Anderson, Hilda Bennett, Lucy Bradley, Marilyn Bell, Ann Blair, Dorothy Bennett, Nancy Blair, Freddie Butt, Eva Cobb, Dorothy Cox, Alma Davis, Junnita Davis, Roberta Davis, Mariam Estes, Queekie Trower, Mary Morton Fontaine, Mary Watkins, and Nancy Harrell.

Lynchburg called Katherine Sickle, Jane Mantiply, Martha Watson, Ann Martin, Elizabeth Mottley, Betty Nixon, Caroline Moore, Sara Wood, and Shirley Slaughter.

Roanoke was peaches and cream for Cary Beard, Mary Anne Dove, Jean Taylor, and Augusta Hargan.

Those that found the sea shore interesting were Dorothy Smedley and Lucy Manson Sharpe at Virginia Beach; Margaret Ellis at Norfolk; Anne Boone, Ruth Atkinson, and Mary Helmer at Newport News; Cam Butt, Betsy Fox, Martha Higgins, Shirley Connelly and Jackie Parden at Portsmouth.

Envy in our eyes is Martha Sprye who attended the U. S. Naval Academy dances at Annapolis, Maryland, this week end. Martha East rated the dances at Woodberry Forest. Among others who rated dances were Bunnie Cunningham and Ann Carter at Washington and Lee in Lexington.

Chatham was the center of attraction for Cora Redd, Ruth Jones, Cab Overbey, Mae Ballard, and Dot Anderson.

Blackstone was attractive to Martha Hite, Gwen Ackiss, and Jacklin Hole.

Finding food and entertainment in McKenney were Louise Rives, Barbara Lee Myers, Ann Houser, and Ann Sufflebarger.

Other STC'ers finding entertainment away from school were Anne Tucker in South Hill; Barbara Scott in Franklin; Mary Agnes Milliner in Danville; Ellen McMullen in Culpepper; Betty Lewis in Westhampton; Margarie Hallord in Bedford; Lelia Holloway, Alice Nichols, and Mary Lou Dondley in Purdy; Julia Agnes Foster in Guinea Mills; Lorene Haynes in Martinsville; Dot Owen in Sedley; Mary Eames in Providence Forge; Mary Cowherd in Cartersville.

Gene Tucker and Alice Ann Abernathy were at Stony Creek; Doris Newton, Ruth Fleming, and Evelyn Cole in Chase City; Jean Elmore, and Vivian Elmore in Conson; Jean Akers at Gladstone; Betty Deuel Cock, and Bev Peebles in Hampton; Ruth Bennett in Amelia; Fulmer Baker in Abilene; Sara Ballard in Bedford; Mary Stewart Buford in Lawrenceville; Lucie Addleman and Anna Lee Blanton in Cumberland; Harriette Sutherlin in Sutherland, and Francis Jennings in Appomattox.

Old faces on the campus last Sunday were Jacqueline Hardy, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, and Mary Lee Pittard.

Lucille Winston, Virginia Terrell, Elizabeth McLear, Beatrice Jones, Mary Ann Jarratt, and Sarah Lee East attended the wedding of Frances Wentzell and John Gale in Richmond, February 1. Virginia Terrell caught the brides bouquet. Happy landings!

College Fads

Continued from Page 3

wings, or heavy clips in our hair. Woeful is the girl whose hair is so thin the clip slides out!!

Some girls only borrow the tops of their brothers pajamas, if they are long enough. Betty Davis, methinks you started something!

Say girls, if your man says he thinks the fad of girls wearing masculine clothes is silly, however, just come back with the reminder in sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the men showed off their legs by wearing silk hose, tightly fitted knee breeches. They used perfume and had flowing, curly locks, either naturally or artificially. Ruffles covered the front of their silk skirts and hung delicately about their wrists. Slaves to fashion?

Gad, what a fad!

Talking of Clothes

Continued from Page 2

fact, I guess when they come back, I'll give them all back. Besides, the man likes me better in my blue evening dress and my dressy green street dress than he does in his old cast-off!" How do I know? A little Bow-tie told me!

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Alumnae Give Dinner At Virginian Hotel

Last night at 6:30 o'clock, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Dean Martha Smith Smith, Miss Mary Dabney, and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner attended the dinner given by the Lynchburg Alumnae Chapter at the Virginia Hotel in that city.

Dr. Jarman and Dean Smith were among the speakers at the dinner which was attended by approximately 100 guests.

Mrs. Gill To Give Talk on Missions

Mrs. Everett Gill will give a missionary talk at the Baptist Student Center on Tuesday night, February 13 at 10 o'clock, Nell Scott, president of the Baptist Young Woman's Auxiliary, has announced.

Mrs. Gill is the wife of Dr. Everett Gill, former secretary of European Missions and is at present the secretary of South American Missions.

A valentine reception will precede the talk at which time all of those students who would like to meet Mrs. Gill are invited.

Bring your clothes for prompt service to KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Try Our HAMBURGER Special! with Cole Slaw, French Fries, Drink 35c
Southside Drug Store

Flowers always at the best
Collins Florist
Phone—Day 181
Phone—Night 4

MEET ME at SHANNON'S

Hamburger Special for S. T. C. Girls—French Fries, Fruit Salad, Hamburger Sandwiches 40c
College Shoppe

Just Received
a new shipment of Cotton Dresses
Sizes 9-15
Priced from
$1.98 to $16.98
Buy now for Spring & Summer before they are all gone!
BALDWIN'S

Library
Teachers College
mville, Virginia.

ATTEND
LYCEUM PROGRAM

The Rotunda

CONTRIBUTE TO WAR CHEST

VOLUME XXIV FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 14, 1945 No. 17

Bush, Hopkins Will Perform On This Campus Friday Night

Concert To Begin At 8:30 O'clock

Presented as third in the Artists Series, Janet Bush, contralto, and Gertrude Hopkins, harpist, will appear on this campus Friday, February 16 at 8:30 p. m.

Gertrude Hopkins, who is one of America's most distinguished harpists, has appeared on the concert stages of the country, before school and college audiences, clubs and as soloist with leading American orchestras. Miss Hopkins began to study when she was seven, and she displayed such talent that when she was ten, she gave her first recital at Ritz Carlton Hotel in New York. Her later training has been with Marcel Granjany, recognized as the world's greatest harpist. Her work with him has been in New York and in Paris

Included in Miss Hopkins numbers will be "Impromptu-Caprice" by Pierne, "Air for the Lute" (16th century) translated by Perilhou, "Bourree" by Bach, ""The Fountain" by Zabel, "Chinese Oriental Dance" by Cady, "Fireflies" by Hasselmans, and "Legende des Elfes" by Renie.

Janet Bush, at the age of eight, was introduced to American audiences via the Keith Vaudeville Circuit which featured as "America's First Musical Family" the "Bus String Ensemble" Playing the violin with the family groups and soloing as a child soprano, Janet, at an early age, learned the pulse of American audiences. It was this early vaudeville experience that accounts in part for Miss Bush's uncanny ability to captivate an audience the moment she walks onto the concert platform.

Janet Bush was enthusiastically acclaimed by press and public alike on five successive occasions in New York recitals, and she was recently chosen from among top-ranking signers by Sir Thomas Beecham to perform Bram's "Alto Rhapsody" with the WABC Symphony over a coast-to-coast network.

The first part into which her program is divided will include "Medimung" by Schumann, and "Ave Marie" and "Die Almacht" by Schubert.

In the second part of her program, she will sing a group of four Russian songs. They are "Oh, Thou Billowy Harvest Field" and "Christ Is Risen" by Rachmaninoff, "Mother Dearest", an old Russian folk song, arranged by Kurt Schindler, and "Hopac" by Mourssorgsky.

The final part of Miss Bush's program will be made up of four selections, "Oh, Love, but a Day" by Black, "Lindy Lou" by Strickland, "Songs My Mother Taught Me" by Dvorak, and "Life" by Pearl Currin.

McClung Will Teach At Baptist Church

The Reverend Ardelle McClung, pastor of Keysville Baptist Church will teach a study course at the Farmville Baptist Church beginning February 18 and continuing through February 23, with the exception of Wednesday, February 21, which is War Emphasis Day. The course will begin at 6:45 P. M. on Sunday and at 8:00 P. M. on the other evenings.

This course is sponsored by the Baptist Training Union as announced by Virginia Treakle, president of B. T. U. The Union annually sponsors a course similar to this one.

Mr. McClung is a graduate of Union Theological Seminary in Louisville. He will use as his text book for the course "Investments in Christian Living" by William R. Regill.

Sophomores Give Annual Production Tonight In "Rec"

Cokes, Do-Nuts Will Be Sold

Tonight, February 14, at 8:30 P. M. Sophomore Production will be given in the "Rec". The admission will be fifteen cents at the door. Cokes and do-nuts will be sold during the performance.

Nancy Whitehead, who directs the Sophomore Production.

The rec will be decorated like a gay nineties bar room for the production and the program will be presented as the floor show. All the numbers of the floor show will be in keeping with this theme. The portrayal of a gay nineties bar room will be complete with barkers standing at the swinging door of each of the entrances down into the rec.

Included in the program are "When You Wore a Tulip", a vaudeville number by Mary Ann Loving and Carmen Low, "A Bicycle Built for two" by Sue Hundley and Gertie Crouch, and Grace Lloyd will sing "My Blue

Continued on Page 3

Rector Challenges Students In Religious Emphasis Week

"The church has been the one thing that has stood across the path of Hitler because out of that institution comes the ideals of democracy", Dr. Churchill Gibson stated in his concluding talk to the students last Thursday morning.

In his message, the Richmond rector noted that people will never forget what Einstein had to say about great newspapers expressing in editorials an opposition to the way of life that Hitler was setting forth, yet there was not a word there. Then he stated that he expected the great universities to stand across the way, but the universities were swept out of the way and the only thing that stood across the path of Hitler was the church.

In continuing his talk, Dr. Gibson stated that religion is a new thing when it strikes a new generation. "We Call God Our Father, and we talk to Him and He talks to us."

"How is it that we get this kind of life sketched out for us and how is it that we are told to do certain things and not to do others?" the speaker asked after which he answered thus "Without something of that kind in the world, this student body would never get anywhere. We have to have certain rules in order that we function."

"What is the discipline that is put forth for you and for me by our Father?" the theologian said. Following this statement he remarked, "It comes down to us from Old Testament times in the form of the Ten Commandments". In discussing these Commandments, Dr. Gibson reiterated that they were to keep us out of trouble, to help build character, and to help us liveworthwhile lives.

to help us live worthwhile lives. mentioned "What happens when we break one of these Commandments?"

"We are not just under the law. We are living in a family and that family will set us back on the right foot. The good Physician comes along and starts us off again. Of course, we have lost, but also we have gained experience, repentence, and a new self-respect. We have had a walk with God. Even as the mechanic repairs your car, the physician cures your physical ill, the great Physician heals your spiritual ills."

In his concluding statement on the subject "Whom We Believe", Dr. Gibson stated very definitely "God keeps us out of the by nooks and by ways and leads us on to life eternal."

Spring Play Cast Named By Wheeler

Shakespearean Play To Be Presented

Characters for the annual spring Dramatic Club play were revealed to the press this week by Miss Leola Wheeler, director. The play, Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream, will be presented early in March.

Theus, Duke of Athens, will be portrayed by Doris Harper and his betrothed, Hippolyta, by Fay Johnson. The parts of Lysander and Demetrius, two young swains of Hermia, played by Louise Pegram, will be taken by Carlotta Norfleet and Margaret Wilson, respectively. Peggy T. Ross will play Egeus, father of Hermia, and Virginia Terrell will take the part of Helena, who is in love with Demetrius.

Joan Davis takes the part of Oberon, king of fairies and Theresa Powell the part of Titania, queen of the fairies. Other fairies are Peas-Blossoms, Barbara Jean Wiley; Cobweb, Mary Yates; Moth, Dorothy Overstreet; and Mustard-Seed, Mary Jane King. Fairies attending their king and queen are Mary Jane Bond, Anna Kucera, Catherine Prebble, and Nanny Sours.

The comedy characters, Quince, Snug, Bottom, Flute, Snout, and Starveling, played by Betty Cock, Betty Bibb, Grace Loyd, Janie Hanks, Christine Shifflett, and Betty Minetree respectively.

Attendants of Theus and Hippolya will be played by Betty Plunkett, Charlotte Hutter, Anne Moore, and Sue Davis.

Dining Hall Hostess Names 4 Assistants

Betty Adams, Carolyn Bobbitt, Agnes Stokes and Lucie McKenry were recently selected by Sarah eLe East, chairman of the dining hall as assistants in maintaining quiet and order during the reading of announcements there.

A call-down will be given to any student talking or making unnecessary noise during the reading of announcements. A call-down will also be given to the table hostess whose duty it is to maintain order at the table. For three such call downs a student must serve one week on campus.

Annual War Chest Drive Opens With Lecture In Chapel Today

Wednesday Slated For Third War Day On S. T. C. Campus

College Class Will Be Excused

All college classes will be excused on next Wednesday, February 21, for the third anual observance of War Emphasis Day on this campus, Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college revealed to the press yesterday. Student teachers will continue with their regular classes at both the elementary and high schools, he said.

As outlined in last week's paper, the morning program for the day will be composed of six discussion groups dealing with the expectations and the prospects for each of the major nations at the conference table. These panels will be led by a group of students with a faculty leader.

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, with Mary Ann Jarratt, will treat the United States; Dr. F. B. Simkins, with Fay Bird Johnson, will lead the group on Latin America; Mr. C. G. Gordon Moss, with Anne Summers, will deal with Great Britain; S. M. Holton, Jr., with Virginia Treakle, will treat the British Empire outside the British Isles; Miss Leola Wheeler, with Betty Adams, will discuss China, ane Jane Waring Ruffin, will lead the discussion group on Russia. Other student assistants will be revealed next week.

Major Noel T. Adams, Post Chaplain at Camp Pickett, will be the featured speaker on the afternoon program, and the day will be concluded with a program of faculty talent at 8:30 p. m. in the large auditorium.

The faculty program, under the direction of Dora Walker Jones and Jane Waring Ruffin, will be set in a military hospital, in which the patients will be entertained by other members of the faculty. A more complete cast will be announced later. Admission to the faculty program will be one War Stamp.

All students will be expected to attend the morning discussions groups, and the afternoon session. All college classes will be excused the entire day. Students will sign up with their hall presidents tomorrow for the group in which they desire to participate.

War Veteran Courses Given at N. J. College

Educational opportunities for women war veterans are offered at New Jersey College for Women in a special program mapped by the College and made available by the "G.I. Bill of Rights."

Besides courses designed to round out a liberal education or to improve a professional skill, leading to a bachelor degree, N. J. C. has prepared several one-year programs for returning women veterans (WAVES, WACS, Nurses, SPARS, Marines, etc.) who wish to take advantage only of the one year of education made possible for them, at public expense, under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act.

For students who wish to begin their college work immediately upon their discharge from the women's branches of the armed services without waiting for the opening of the next regular term, special arrangements will be made so that their transition to college may be as smooth as possible.

Because many of the usual re-

Continued on Page 4

Shirley Cruser, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Y.

Pi Gamma Mu Bids 13 Upperclassmen

On Friday, February 9, 13 girls were recognized as newly-elected members of Pi Gamma Mu, National Social Science Fraternity by Betsy Fox, president, at a special recognition service in chapel. They were Betty Adams, Richmond; Mildred Altice, Rocky Mount; Carolyn Bobbitt, South Hill; Emily Carper, Rocky Mount; Evelyn Grizzard Drewryville; Martha Holman, Farmville; Katherine Maddox, Lynchburg; Helen Phillips, Meifa; Sally Robertson, Lynchburg; Agnes Stokes, Kenbridge; Martha Ann Upshur, Cheriton; Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville; and Mary Franklin Woodward, Barhamsville.

Officers of Pi Gamma Mu are, Betsy Fox, president; Nancy Harrell, vice-president; Eleanor Bisese, secretary; and Caroline Hudle, treasurer.

Moss To Continue Appeal on Tuesday

Student Body Asked To Give To Cause

Sponsored by the Public Affairs Committee of the "Y", headed by Shirley Cruser, the anual campus War Chest Drive was opened with Mr. H. L. Swenson's talk in chapel this morning. The drive will continue for one week and will come to a conclusion at the end of the War Emphasis Day program, February 21.

The appeal for funds will be continued on Saturday by a student skit and a talk by Marilyn Bell. On Tuesday, February 20, Dr. Gordon C. Moss, professor of history, will talk on chapel on how much war chest funds have helped and can help foreign students.

Mr. Swenson, American Red Cross club director, has recently returned to his home at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, after 16 month overseas duty. He arrived in Australia in June 1943 as director of the Rockhampton Club. So excellent was his work there, that Major Bolton S. Pierce, U. S. Infantry, commended him on his "invaluable assistance" to troops stationed there. In January, 1944, Mr. Swenson was transferred to Sydney, where he remained until his return to the United States.

Faculty, student, and campus organizations are being asked to contribute to this drive. The dormitory halls will be canvassed by members of the Public Affairs Committee. The War Chest is placed on the table in the hall, and contributions will be recorded on a themometer.

The War Chest Drive is a combination of the Red Cross and the World Student Service Fund drives. The Red Cross money will be turned over to the War Council who will give it to the Red Cross. The World Student Service Fund money will be added to the contributions to this drive from other colleges and universities in

Continued on Page 3

Lena Horn, Bo-Peep, Miranda Find Way to Costumed Dance

Old New Orleans had nothing on STC on Saturday night when our uninspiring gym became a veritable carnival of color and gaiety, under the skillful hands of Pi Gamma Mu members. Mystery was the order of the evening as lovely ladies in varying degrees of incognito made merry with bewildered gentlemen.

There were costumes for every taste—a mad mixture of all periods, ages, and races. We observed a Chinaman or two, a charming Little Bo-Peep, an indefinite blend of Lena Horn and Mae West, a lady straight from a Turkish harem, Carmen Miranda, complete with vegetabless, and so on.

The dancers were of many nations, but the dance remained strictly of the USA variety. If Chinaman never jitterbugged before they were in a groove Saturday night. It may have been a little awkward for the sweet colonial dames to manipulate their hoops through the intricate maize of a dance — Hampden-Sydney style, but most of them managed—and without benefit of smelling salts.

Breaking was fast and furious, as usual, and if a lady got more than two steps with the gentleman of her choice she considered herself fortunate. The whole affair ceased functioning long enough to gasp at Joyce Hill and her sailor. We hope that Miss K saw that man! Watching this contortion should have served to make her very happy.

The Spanish theme was gracefully carried out by the court, presided over by Queen Terrell, lovely in white taffeta and lace mantilla.

Betty Ellis was rhythmically Latin, what with black lace and castenets. A piano solo, and a song by Esther Shevick completed the floor show.

It was a bad night for the judges, but after much scratching of head and many consultations, the decision was reached. Vicky Edmunds, glittering in a sequined gypsy skirt, carried away the first prize for the prettiest costume, and Juanita Davis as a Southern belle captured second. First prize for the most original costume went to Felicidad Avellanet, with Virginia F. Terrell running a close second.

Music for the festivities was furnished by Jimmy St. Clair, and the hep cats almost carried away the bandstand when the trumpet started sending, and the decorations were literally carried away to the last streamer!

All in all, it was a gala affair. The man shortage was not in evidence—and to coin a phrase, "A good time was had by all."

Use Your Opportunity; Contribute to Drive

The chapel program this morning launched us on the only major drive sponsored by this college for the entire years. We, individually, as well as our campus organizations are asked to contribute to this War Chest Drive, but we can be assured when we give our money that it will go to forward the most worthy causes existing today. Nothing offers more direct war relief than the Red Cross. Nothing can contribute more to ultimate world peace than this Student Service fund.

Education in history and government which may help us to find the cause of conflict and war is already being urged on every hand. We stress education in science to further our civilization, and in art and music to enlarge our conception of beauty and happiness. or can we forget the importance of teacher training to educate the next generation. Yet this war is chest raging and setting back education for years to come.

The World Student Service fund undertakes the work of carrying on education in the face of all the hardships brought on by war. It furnishes help to the gallant students of foreign countries who have literally carried their colleges with them as they fled before the onslaught of the enemy. It sends books to our own boys in enemy prison camps, and to war students interned here in America.

We have had the opportunity this morning of hearing our Red Crosss Club director, Mr. Swenson, describe the benefits which the War Chest fund administers through the Red Cross. On next Tuesday, Dr. Moss will tell u s how much this fund has helped and can help foreign students. The War Chest Drive will reach its culmination on War Emphasis Day.

This week holds the opportunity to learn much about the allied nations and about what is being done and still needs to be done toward furthering the education of their youth, alleviating their suffering, and entertaining their men and women in foreign countries. Most of all it is a big opportunity for us to do our bit by contributing to the War Chest Drive.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief

Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor

Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor

Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor

Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor

Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor

Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager

Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager

Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer

Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Spruye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Geiston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1945

In charge of this issue: Betty Lewis

We Get Out of Study What We Put Into It

In a very few days those little yellow cards with Grade Estimate printed at the top will make their appearance on campus. Along with these little cards you will see some smiling faces and some long faces.

These estimates are not final grades. If we get a grade we're not satisfied with, let's not take that old attitude, "Oh, well, I'm not going to try any more. That teacher's going to flunk me regardlesss."

Then there's another attitude that a lot of us take. "I got a good grade so I don't have to study." Why not try to bring that grade up even higher? We get out of this study just what we put into it.

A lot of soldiers, sailors, and marines would give a lot to get another chance at their school books. In a fox hole on some far away island, a young American boy is thinking of his school days. He's wishing perhaps that he was back in a good American college with a math., science, or English book in his hand. Perhaps he's saying, "If I ever have another chance, I'll show those professors back there that I can 'take on' my lessons like I'm having to 'take on' these Japs."

Those "G. I.s'" "Sea-going bellhops," and "Gobs" realize how important studying is. Let us realize before it's too late, how important studying is.

A few less bull sessions, one less bridge game, fewer trips to town, and see if our grades don't start on an upward trend.

—S. S.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

"The Red Army in a 37-mile smash across southern Germany has almost encircled Breslau, has captured the big industrial center of Liegnitz, 35 miles west of the Silesian capital, and driven to within 84 miles of Dresden, Saxony capital, Moscow has announced." In the first 12 days of this great Silesian drive Moscow claims the Germans have lost 295,000 men killed and 86,330 captured.

* * * *

In the fourth day of its offensive the Canadian First Army has driven 10 miles through the Siegfried line. Two U. S. Third Army divisions are threatening the stronghold of Pruem as they battle in Kleve. Though the Germans blew up a dam and flooded the Roer River, this has not stopped our assault.

* * * *

The Germans are attacking the U. S. Fifth Army on the Italian front, however. We are repulsing their attacks despite the rain and snow. The Massie coastal area is the scene of the heaviest fighting.

* * * *

There's a yellow side to this war and the pun is intentional. The Japanese are trapped between the Pasig River and Manila Bay as the infantry moves forward in the Ermita district. "The bulk of the enemy's island garrison is bottled up in mountain valleys of northeastern Luzon." Despite this, enemy resistance is not weak. They're making their first real stand so far and the toll of American lives is heavy.

* * * *

Don't miss next week's column for result of the Big Three conference. And just to finish this paragraph, the ground hog did see his shadow!

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

One more big social event is now a part of the glorious past—Mardi Gras. It did not pass, however, without a good deal of "confab" concerning its passing both after and before bedcheck!

A few more orchids go to the very lovely queen, Virginia Terrell, who personified the true spirit of beauty, along with her very gracious court. The costumes were mixed—many beautiful with others on the humorous side. All went toward making Pi Gamma Mu's efforts for the Mardi Gras a real success.

Dance or no dance, Perk finally got through to Johnny from an unknown port, after several unsuccessful attempts. It's amazing how a telephone call can put such a smile on one's lips!

Glad to see back on campus again Bette Wood and Pres Watts. Like ole times.

Louise Pegram seems to have quite a few friends who enjoy "swooping" down over STC in their little "wildcats." They can be seen most any day and heard most everywhere! These guys with the silver wings!

Olive was disappointed not to have gotten to see D. Crummett this week-end, but the orchid he sent in his place was certainly a pleasant surprise.

And what's this we hear about Anne Summers getting so excited when she got a certain letter she couldn't even make it to class? Must have really been potent!

Speaking of the air corps, Betty Ellis and Gin T. were doing all right with their Navy pilots Sunday. Flew all the way from Norfolk just for the P. M. We thought that was postwar talk, but it sounds good anyway! Wonder what happened to Toby?

Who is is that can't make up their minds? First, Dave Crute is seen with a short blonde and then a tall brunette. Variety is certainly the spice of life.

Of all the unfortunate events, Mar Kent's date had to hastily depart in the midst of Mardi Gras—it seems that Wilbur didn't figure his "dates" correctly, and unexpected company arrived in town. Tch! Tch!

After wondering for some time who the strange brunette on campus was Saturday, she was later discovered to be our own Joan Davis. Wonder from whom she was trying to hide?

No wonder the confused expression on Ting's face—he thought Kingdom was letting other girls wear his KA pin! After all!

And if you don't think Carmen Low carries around valuable handkerchiefs just ask her. The real story is definitely a strange one!

Jack (of H-S fame) Gregory's expression of usual gloom was certainly transformed into one of glory with Delia's return to school.

And more brickbats to the freshman who thought that Mardi Gras was a bathing beauty contest.

Marion Atkinson was certainly all a-glow this week-end and didn't she have reason enough to be? Not only her man, but He was DRIVING A CAR!

Betty Deuel Cock's Ned seems to be quite a "family man" already after the receptions he was

Continued on Page 4

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

Today marks the beginning of the War Welfare Drive on our campus. It is the only campus drive of the year and is a combined drive for the Red Cross and the World Student Service Fund. It is headed by the Public Affairs Committee of the "Y". The money to be given to the Red Cross will be turned over to the Town Committee by the College War Council to aid in war relief, and the funds for the World Student Service Fund will be sent to national headquarters to be used to help American students abroad and interned students here in America.

The Choral Club presented a program at the Presbyterian Church Sunday night, after which was a Fellowship meeting.

The Baptist students are leading in the Sunday Scchool contest!

There will be a musical program at Prayers tonight.

WAR CHEST

Question of the Week

What would you prefer for a Valentine gift, and from whom?

Beverly Boone: Pat! Are you kiddin'?

Esther Shevick: A letter from Bernie!

Betty Adams: A baby elephant from my grandfather in China . . if I had a grandfather in China.

Miss Kay: A good box of Whitman's . . . . $5.00 size . . . I don't care who from!

Sarah Leach: I'd want Johnny to come home.

Grace Shriver: Dallas Manning!

Mr. Jack: Neckties!

Anne (Bunny-Face) Williams: Milton home in "civilians" . . . from Uncle Sam!

Shirley Didlake: A little bit o' lovin' . . . . Carter Lee.

Virginia Craig Farrier: "Cuddle up a Little Closer", from Charleston, West Virginia.

Minine Lee Crumpler: A letter from Dave.

Jean Button: A visit from Bill.

Evelyn (Chud) Pierce: A telephone call from Johnny.

Margaret Parks: A 30-day leave from "Sweet."

Margo Alvis: I want a trip to West Point, Virginia from Miller. (Gonna get it, too!)

Ann Nichols: A Valentine picture from Grif.

Nola Brisentine: OOooo . . . a box of chocolates . . . from Johnny of course!

"Lightenin' ": A whole lot of FOOD, from anybody who'll give it to me!

Glennis Moore: An "A" on Organic, from Mr. Mac!

Anonymous: A new dart from Cupid!

Marilyn Johnson: All A's and B's on my estimate from all my teachers.

Margaret Orange: Most anything from anybody.

Sarah Lee East: A big box of candy from E. W.

Mary Ann Jarrett: Corn flakes from Kellogg (the red? one).

Jane Waring Ruffin: I have nothing to say to the press.

Bea Jones: A civil look fro my pupils.

Elizabeth McLean: Mail, male.

Carol Diggs: Just one kind word from anybody.

Marilyn Bell: An automatic hose-washer from the education department.

Phe Whittle: A scooter to ride to the High School on, from just anybody.

Ann Blair: Red roses. I'm not choosy as to the sender.

Mary Lib Fuqua: A "sucker" that would last longer than one date.

Virginia Treakle: A visit from John, I'm getting it, too.

To the Editor:

Dear Editor:

In connection with the War Chest Drive which is being carried on on our campus this week, I would like to say just a few words. This is the only drive that the school organizations sponsor all year, and so it is the only chance that we, as individuals, have to make a definite contribution to the war effort. At this time especially, is our help needed to aid the Red Cross in the tremendous and growing task with which it is faced today. As students ourselves, we certainly should be more than willing to help provide for other students so much less fortunate than we. This is where the money that we give to the World Student Service Fund goes—to provide direct relief for students and professors who are victims of war.

I am sure that every student on campus will want to share in this important cause. Let's all try to give even more than our first impulse tells us we should. Let's think twice and thus make our contribution show how true a realization of the fine work being done and how real a desire to aid in it we have.

Sincerely,
Shirley Cruser
Chairman of Public Affairs

TO the Student Body:

With the War Chest Drive about to start on our campus, it is a good idea for us to think for a minute of the things for which this drive is given. It is composed of our Red Cross contribution and the World Student Service Fund with which we are familiar, and it is up to each of us to try to make our individual part in it as big as possible. The war has affected us enough for us to realize the great part the Red Cross is playing. Seeing how secure we are in our college, we should be in sympathy with the students who are actually struggling for an education.

This is our chance to do something for the war effort. Let's all of us feel that the success of the drive is up to each one of us, and then we shall feel that we have really helped.

Sincerely,
Harriette Moore

Annual Ping Pong Tournament Will Begin Here February 19

Rules of Game Posted In Gym

The annual ping pong tournament will begin Monday, February 19, Phyllis Watts, manager of ping pong, announced tonight. Rules for the game will be posted in the gym, and all matches must be played according to these rules. Please read and observe these rules before beginning any matches.

Two balls and paddles will be left in locker No. 368 of the shower room for persons wishing to play in the shower room. Since there is a shortage of ping pong balls, please be careful while using the balls and be sure to return the balls to the proper locker when you have finished with them. If these balls are lots the tournament will have to be postponed as it is impossible to replace them.

Girls in Junior and Senior buildings wishing to use the tables in the trunk room and Recreation Hall, see Phyllis Watts for ping pong balls and paddles. The table in the trunk room of Senior Building is not in such good condition, so when possible use the table in the Rec. If you do use the table in the trunk room please be careful as too much rough treatment may be the end of the table.

Last minute practices are important, so get in some good practices this week and enter the tournament next week. As you know, ping pong gives five points towards the color cup, so come out and support your class and colors.

Lucille Jones and Betty Ellis pause between warm-up practices for the ping pong tourney.

War Chest Drive

Continued from Page 1

the country. The Student Service money is to be used for war students interned here in America as well as for those interned in other countries.

For the third successive year the War Chest Drive is the only major drive sponsored on the campus by the college for the whole year, and has been given the approval of Dr. Jarman.

Visitor Arrives At College Mid Maddening Rush of Meal

Puff . . . puff . . . "Hurry up, Jean, we'll miss her" . . . puff . . . "Oh, good heavens, we have five minutes before that 7:00 train comes in . . slow down, I'm out of breath."

This is the prelude to a weekend of making like hostess. Wednesday you had received a card stating the time and place she would arrive; Thursday, you were still hepped up over the whole idea, and Friday here you are running like spring quarter is over to meet that train. (You knew if you've never been to Farmville it's a lonesome spot to get off and just stand, wondring if you did mix up your stations) Down the long block, the filling station looms up, we run through and pass it, oh, there's the station, (surprised??) but the train hasn't arrived yet (surprise No. 2).

We sit down on the "comfortable" benches to give our breath time to catch up when suddenly, the local's whistle blows its sorrowful call and we make a quick dash to the end of the platform. Puffing to a stop, the old, black engine waits for the few passengers to stumble off. Our friend is one of them! One of us grabs her suitcase, and the other merely as a polite gesture, grabs her!! She declares she's glad to see us and glad to be here. (We believe her!)

A quick hug, a shift of the suitcase, and a bright, cheerful, "It isn't far to college; we won't need a taxi," "Hurry, hurry."

Hurry, aha, haha, that's all we every do is hurry! One of these days . . . (oops, pardon! We went off the beam!)

The "friend" is covering less ground than we, but no one seems to take pity. We in our saddle shoes, and she in her spikes—ho, hum!

S. T. C. We are here! Pointing proudly to several of the buildings we fail to notice the pallor of our guest's face. She mumbles some monosyllables that remind us of food and we rush her into the house. The dinner bell had sounded ten minutes ago and the jovable "boarders" were still pouring out. We somehow slide her through the turmoil, managing to deposit her things on the beds. Minutes later we discover she's beneath it all, quite docile and utterly beaten. Out the door again, a fast run to the Rounda—safe! She's somewhat, taken back by Joan's friendly stare and informal position. Leading her around the statue, we almost literally propel her to our table; there she admits it is the finish, the end, etc. Nine girls to meet, an unfamiliar grace, and no mother's cooking! She wildly abandons all pretense of formality, throws convention to the four winds and screams, "Hi

Continued on Page 4

Left Lead

CONGRATULATIONS!

Starting off with a bang and a horseshoe of red roses this week, and our congratulations to the three new Dusty Boot-ers, Jody Davis, Jean, Saweren, S. Gibson, who were taken into this organization of advanced riders last week. To be a "Dusty Boot", is to be a contortionist and a magician. One must not only be able to saddle and bridle a horse, put him through five gaits, adjust one's stirrups at a trot or a canter, jump six feet (well, we forget the exact height limit!), and do all things advanced riders should be able to do, ordinarily, but also be able to play leap-frog with the horse ahead of you, walk tight-rope style on the fence of ring, and walk your mount at least 20 yards on his front legs while tightening your girth-strap! No, seriously, we're still a little behind on our exact requirements, but anything can happen the Day of Initiation, and it is indeed, an honor to become a member of this outstanding group of S. T. C. riders.

2-BY-4'S

Lesser-sized, but making more news than most, the class of Two-by-fours, or Tiny Tot Trotters, or whatever you care to call them, carried on gallantly to supply your weary writer with a bit of filler, at least. Wee Nancy Spilman tried an acrobatic of dubious nature last week when she practically stood on her head over Cinnamon's neck, with her feet never leaving the stirrups. Nothing daunted by the slight weight, Cinanmon merely lifted her head when she was through eating, and placed Nancy gently but firmly just in front of the saddle. Tiny Caroline McIlwaine celebrated her first ride by happening to be up on the Phantom when said Phantom's girth-strap loosened, and both Caroline and the saddle slid to the ground. Caroline landed on her feet, she said, and was up again as soon as the necessary adjustments were made, and we hope she'll be back next week, regardless of beginners' bad luck the first time.

ADVANCE INFO

Already members of Pegasus are beginning to think about the Horse Show, which will be held, tentatively, on the third Saturday in May. At a meeting last Tuesday night, such things were decided upon as type of programs, number of classes, etc., but definite committees will not be appointed until later. All girls who ride will be elegible to enter the Horse Show, as well as other interested persons, whether they ride here at school or not.

More about that later . . . keep your ears open and volunteer for some help on the making of the ribbons or white-washing the fence! Preparation is half the fun.

WEEK-END WEATHER

All agree that this past weekend made up for all the rain we have had to put up with since November, for more perfect riding weather has never been released for public use!" Saturday and Sunday were both beautiful riding days, and the horses showed as much appreciation as did the girls, by behaving themselves more than beautifully the whole time.

TID-BITS

It would be hard to be kin to the Madame! Joyce's cousin, Jane Davis, of Richmond, arrived in style Friday afternoon, and was greeted at the station with no less than a mounted escort of the entire Friday afternoon's class. It was generous of Mary A. Catlett and the Colonel to carry Jane's suitcase up to the building, more generous of Joyce and Phantom Lady to double Jane herself, and quite nice of the whole procession to parade up High Street for the benefit of all involved in watching, but if we had seen Betty Ellis with her hatchet and rope and that look-in-her-eye, we think we would have stayed inside the bus! . . . All who read avidly the article in Readers' Digest about Lewie, the boy who talked with horses, will be interested in Walter Craigie's remarks on it in last Sunday's "Hoof Prints" column in the Times Dispatch. Anyone who is interested in horses would like Mr. Craigie's column anyhow. It's in the sports section every week, and more than worth your time to read it.

Enough . . . we'll be ousted for being this long-winded.

Stay on the bit . . . and in the saddle.

Pegasus

Soph Production

Continued from Page 1

Heaven". The flora-dora girls will do a dance routine in true gay nineties fashion.

Swim Meet Slated In College Pool For Friday Night

This Friday night at 7:30 in the school swimming pool, the inter-class swimming meet will be held. This meet will determine five points for the winners from red and white or green and white. Different types of races will be held. Relays, different kinds of strokes, and diving techniques.

Friday, February 23 the telegraphic meet will be held in the school swimming pool. This is an annual event, and is held every winter quarter. STC is one of the many Southern schools that enters in this competition.

Support your colors both class and school by attending these swimming meets.

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Last Friday yours truly almost took up Left Lead as her favorite column, when an excusion to the riding ring provided plenty of entertainment. Putting up jumps proves exciting, but Sunday afternoon found them all down on the ground once more.

SWIMMING

At last the final event has arrived. This Friday nights marks the night of the inter-class swimming meet. Come on down to the swimming pool at 8:30, bring your gang, and yell for your class colors. The swimmers have been in training since the beginning of this quarter, so they should be in good shape for the races.

This event gives five points for the color cup so come on red and whites and green and whites here's your chance to help on the points for the color cup. Although the races are counted individually for the winners, their points are totaled toward the class colors, and the class having the most points wins the tournament.

Next Friday night the telegraphic meet will be held in the swimming pool at 8:30. This is a school event and does not concern classes. Come out and support the blue and white of S. T. C. by cheering these swimmers on to victory. The winners will help in totaling points toward winning the telegraphic meet in competition with other colleges throughout the South.

PING-PONG

The ping-pong tournament will begin next Monday, February 19. Get those practices in now so that you will be eligible for the tournament. Sign up on the athletic board, and the more the merrier. This activity calls for individual sportsmanship, but the winner will gain five points toward the color cup for her class colors.

Ping-pong is an exciting game, and requires skill and accuracy in placing the ball on the table in just the right way to keep your opponent from getting it. The more practice you have, the better player you will be, so it pays to practice as often as you possibly can. There is a ping-pong table in the locker room, and two in the Senior building. Due to priorities, ping-pong balls are very hard to acquire, so please guard them with your life. Batting the ball across the net is lots of fun, so good luck on this tournamnt.

OVER THE NET

It won't be long now before the volleyball tournament will begin. Class practices are held every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday afetrnoons. This class is open to girls who want to get their eight practices in before the tournament ends. Teams and captains will be selected very soon, so don't forget to get those practices in as soon as possible. This is your chance to help with your class colors in getting those five points for your class colors.

BASKET BALL

Goal! And another point is scored in basketball 'Tis the season for basketball, and the tournament will begin very soon. Those eight practices must be in before the teams are selected. This inter-class tournament gives ten points for th color cup, and is the major sport of the winter quarter.

Plans are being made for a varsity basketball teams this year, with hopes for some inter-collegiate games. The varsity team will be picked from the girls who make the class teams.

Until next week stay in the game. Good luck to the class swimmers, and don't forget to get those practices in.

Veteran Course

Continued from Page 1

gulations and conditions of admission to college designed for 17-year-old high school graduates will not apply to veterans, each applicant will be considered in the light of her individual qualifications. To meet the situation a few simple conditions of admission have been set up: (1) the applicant must have a serious purpose; (2) the program she desires must be feasible, and (3) she must be capable of doing college work.

—ACP

Try Our HAMBURGER Special! with Cole Slaw, French Fries, Drink 35c

Southside Drug Store

When in need of flowers visit Farmville's leading florist

Collins Florist

Phone—Day 181 Nite 4

MEET ME at

SHANNON'S

Try our delicious homemade pies! You will enjoy them 10c a slice

College Shoppe

Patronize PATTERSON'S

Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
MONTAG STATIONERY

The complete drug store

PATTERSON DRUG CO.

328 MAIN STREET

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Wrist Watches

—AT—

Lynn's Jewelry

Just Received

Ladies' Nylon Slips

Only $1.98

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink

Butcher's

High Street

PHONE 78

WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES

WELLS TAXI

Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Virginia

Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

INVITATION

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO A

SPECIAL SHOWING

—OF—

NEW SPRING STYLES

—AND—

COLORFUL FABRICS

—FOR—

LADIES' SUITS AND COATS

INDIVIDUALLY TAILORED

—BOB SAWYER—

Clothes specialist from the Storrs-Shaefer Co., will be with us

Friday and Saturday, Feb. 16 and 17

Men's Dept. First Floor, Left

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

New Spring Suits Reveal Different Styles, Fabrics

Are you suited for spring? If not, lend an ear and maybe you will get an idea that you might use.

The new spring suits are in a bewildering variety of styles, colors and fabrics. Striking tri-colored contrasts, underscoring black with insects of color in blouse or trimming have a lot of decorative appeal. Cut and style are dedicated to ladylike casualness and ease of wear.

The Eisenhower jackets, sleekly tailored, but entirely feminine, have squared lines, pointed collar and neat front buttonings. The only variation from the original is the drawstring waist band in place of the military buckled belt. Suits with these jackets are striking in combinations of white rum, red and black, Kelly green, and white with black.

The classic gabardine suit with severe lines and precise tailoring is being worn. However, even these are softened by the use of feminine colors.

Straight fitted skirts are seen with short jackets that end just below the waistline. Hound's tooth checks with a solid colored jacket trimmed in the checks is most popular in this style.

Many suits use snug, button-down-the-front lines to nip them in at the waist and flare slightly below it. The window-pane necklines on suit jackets are cut wide and deep to show off dressy blouses. The cardigan neckline is being seen on every type of jacket.

Grey, pin stripe flannel continues to hold it's own, and if it's a grey suit you desire, you will find them in any and all the styles, both dressy and sport.

Pastels have come into the limelight again and some of the shades of these suits are very lovely and flattering. Fuschia, watermelon, shocking pink, cadet blue, baby blue, lemon yellow, lime green and many others are seen in a variety of suit styles.

All one needs to know is the color and line most flattering to the face and figure and they can find just the suit to lighten their spring wardrobe.

GUEST ARTIST

Gertrude Hopkins, harpist, who will play here Friday night. (For story, see page 1).

Alumnae Meeting Set Tonight In Roanoke

Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Alumnae secretary and Miss Virginia Wall will attend a meeting of the Roanoke Alumnae Chapter this evening in Roanoke.

The Alumnae meeting will be held at the Patrick Henry Hotel. Mrs. Wayne Metcalf ("Tux" Harrison) of Roanoke is president of this chapter.

F. T. A. Initiates Girls on February 8

The Future Teachers of America initiated their new members at a tea on February 8 in the Student Lounge. Mr. Preston Turner spoke to the group.

The faculty of the training school and the high school, members of the college faculty, Dean Martha Smith Smith, and members of F. T. A. were present.

Play Rehearsal Allows Backstage Studying, Provides Time For Fun and Work For All

Backstage again, and far from tired of our weekly visits. Want to come along? Take a look at that big wooden box over there . . the one under that huge light bulb. Those gals got tired of trying to write by the dim house lights of the auditorium, so they park back here each night and write letters by the light of the big bulb, which, they swear, doth NOT the horned moon present!

Wait a minute! That gal can't be smoking five cigarettes at one time! She's what? Oh . . . holding them for people who are now on the stage. Yep . . . one between each two fingers and one in her other hand . . . we understand.

They're awful tickled about something. Who are they? New members of the cast? Oh, not speaking parts . . . just bit parts and mob scenes. Well . . . we don't blame them for laughing at Betty Minetree's Moonshine antics or Betty Bibb-the-Lion or at Grace Loyd's unique facial expressions, but they'll learn in a few rehearsals.

Is that piece of paper very important? Virginia Terrell looks like she's having fits just because Janie Hanks is using it for the mantle which she drops which the Lion chews up. Honestly . . . an old piece of paper! Oh, look, though . . . it's her list of what she has to know for a Geography placement test tomorrow! Good grief . . . not any of Europe could be as torn apart as that Lion has torn this. Lipstick smears, too, no less . . . "Well roared, Lion indeed!"

Oh, look! Those little girls! Who are they, the Fairies? That's what we thought. Gee, they're graceful . . . all except the one who's just tripped over her left hind wing. Tell them to be careful how they wave those wands around . . . we picked a couple up, and they're iron pipes silvered over, it feels like; It'd be too bad for Titania if her Oberon took to wife-beating with his wand!

Speaking of wings, we didn't know they'd started on the costumes, but those Fairy wings are awful pretty colors. You say they're gonna dance, too? Oh . . . that explains why Miss Kay was down here the other night watching. Gee, Puck sure is playful. He's about to worry that other little Fairy to death . . . and look . . . look what he did to Bottom! He's bewitched him, and put a Donkey's head on Bottom's shoulders!! We could die!

Down in the audience . . . who's that asleep? Well, who's Egeus? Peggy T. Ross, huh? She didn't have a lot to say, but we thought she'd come in later. Although it is too bad of them to make sport of the little play in the third act. They aren't very nice at all to laugh like that at the poor old Moon. S'pose somebody here laughs at them the night of the play?

Uh-oh . . . move the piano again. Quick!

Well, here comes Miss Wheeler. Maybe she doesn't want us to see everything. After all, the play is gonna be a Lyceum, which means we students won't hafta buy tickets, and we want something saved for the night we see it all done up completely.

Thanks, though, for showing us around. If we come back next week, may we look around some more? We like it backstage . . . so many wild things happen, but as for being behind the footlights . . . huh-uh . . . we'll leave that for the Shakespeares that are doing so well now during rehearsals! So long . . . see ya next week.

Sorority Gives Annual Banquet

Theta Sigma Upsilon held its annual banquet in the college tea room Friday evening, February 9 at 6:30. The decorations carried out the approaching Valentine season with roses, ivy and heart-shaped place cards done in rose and silver.

The guests included Dr. J. L. Jarman, Dean Martha Smith Smith, Miss Lucille Jennings, Miss Alice Carter, Miss Helen Draper, and Mrs. Mabel McCoy.

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANNE BUCK

Considering "all and all" that is trouble (decorating the gym) toil and worry (over mid-term tests) this was a rather exciting weekend for all who stayed at school and all who went gallivanting away, in spite of Mardi Gras.

Back to their Alma Mater for the Mardi Gras festivities were Elizabeth Tennant, Margart Sheffield, Beth Johnson, Elizabeth West (the one from South Carolina) Kitty Davis, Lillian Smith, See Gordon, and Delia Gregory.

Around the bend and up the hills to Lynchburg were Annette Anthony, Betty Plunkett, Catherine Stoner, Evelyn Cilia, Betty Plunkett, Gwen Ackiss, Betty Bibb, Margaret Carter, Doris Hancock, Grace Lloyd, and Betty Martin.

In Richmond getting married was Dorothy Cox; also in Richmond but not getting married — Ruth Rowe, Marion Gunn, Barbara Montgomery, Lottie Hammock, Theresa Powell, Mary Ann Morris, Berkeley Richardson, Mary Ann Loving, Mary Jane Richardson, Cholena Richards, Colleen Agee, Milley Shepard, Corinne Baker, Pauline Barres, Hilda Bennett, Frances Garnett, Anne Haskins, Pat McLear, Julia Messick, Sara Moling, Louise Pegram, Margaret Boss, and Birdy Williams.

Uproarous fun was made in Roanoke by Betsy Scott, Anna Kucera, Betty Tom Andrews, and Rachel Brugh.

Something out of the ordinary attracted Virginia Tobey, Martha Wells, Mary Jane King, Jean Givers, Fracis Seward, Judy Connelly, and George Lewis to Petersburg.

Excitement out of the state led Kitty Saunders to Gainesville, Georgia; and Betsy Dillard to Drapen, North Carolina.

Lucille Bell, Rosa Lee Bell, and Minine Rose Hawthorne made their exit Kenbridge way.

Sweet Briar was all the go for Betsy Caldwell, and Phe Whittle.

Norfolk was all aglow for Eleanor Bisese and Barbara Kellam.

Bedford was comfort for Marjorie Holland and Dorothy Overstreet.

Danville held glamor for Virginia Parris and Hildrean Suttle.

Others making the debut away from school were, Jacqueline Seymour in Brodnax; Elma Gene Walker and Lorene Claiborne in Skipwith; Alice Smith in Lawrenceville; Virginia Love in Chase City; Virginia Thompson and Virginia Beaver, Crewe; Anne Hamliton in Burkeville; Lucille Davidson in Bremo Bluff.

Also Evelyn Frank in Blackstone; Mary Wyatt in South Boston; Mildred Davis in Paces; Harriett Baie in Appomattox; Elsie Thompson in Boyton; Ruth Lawrence and Margaret Ellis in Hopewell; Nancy Taylor and Mary White in Mathews; Mary Eames in Providence Forge; Martha Anderson in Anderson; Betty Wetherall in Crigersville; Carolyn Hardy, Ollie Mae Tolbert, and Jackie Dunton in Victoria; Laurine Curter and Jackie Pardon in Portsmouth.

Also Ruth Johnson in Keysville; Isabel Key in Newport News; Carolyn Hayslett in Clifton Forge; Betty Deuel Cock and Mary Lee Dickerson in Pamplin; Rosa Chandler in Clover; Minnie Lee Crumpler in Herndon; Carolyn Boothe in Wakefield; Mary Lee Bagley at Virginia Beach; Elizabeth Stover in Pincastle; Margaret Walton in Martinsville; Eleanor Wade in Charlottesville; Evelyn Pierce, in Greensboro, North Carolina; Katherine Cage in Fairfax; Mary Ellen Petty at Wren; Elizabeth Smith in Nathlie; and Lorena Evans visited Zilpha Taylor at Eastern Shore.

More "gossip" on "whereabouts" next week-end.

Cabinet Entertains Guest Y Spaker

The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet entertained Dr. Churchill Gibson at a reception on February 6, at 8 o'clock in the Student Lounge. Invited guests included members of the faculty, home department, and administration, ministers of local churches and presidents and vice-presidents of all student organizations.

State
YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER
IN FARMVILLE, VA.

MON.-TUES.-WED.

WE BRING YOU THE SHOW YOU HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR

Frenchman's Creek

with

JOAN FONTAINE
ARTURO DE CORDOVA

(TECHNICOLOR)

Come One and All! Big Show! Ladies, Do Get Your Tickets

Come one! Come all! Big show tonight—Sophomore Production! High here—ladies—gents get your tickets. Yes, bring the kiddies, the dog, the cat, and your mother-in-law. Guaranteed to satisfy and please all. Good for what ails you. The gentlemen will please check their guns before they enter.

This, ladies and gentlemen, is the most stupendous, most rip-roaring saloon west of the rockies. Ye, they call us the "gay nineties". Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! The floor show starts in just ten minutes!

We give you the best of everything—food! drinks! song! dance! laughter! And for your entertainment we have lined up some of the world's best entertainers. Nothing is too good for the Gay Nineties nor you, my good people. We have the latest from Gay ol' Peru—you all have heard of them and noy you have a chance to see them—the Flora Dora girls. Those little girls with the great big hearts.

And then we went to Budapest for a six piece orchestra just for one number—"And the Band Played On." Yes, Casey and his Strawberry Blonde will be there. Also, the queen of the aCn-Can, Miss Nancy Whitehead. Oh, gentlemen, it will make you all feel like sixteen! Now, the ladies will lose their hearts to those handsome, handle - bar moustache rogues of th barber shop quartet.

Here it? That folks, is the music of Mr. Cab Overbey — And you could light a cigar off of that torch song he is singing.

Oh! We also have the little maiden by the seashore in the latest outfit—Miss Cile Sarvor.

Mystery? Yes, we even have some mystery—the unknown blues singer who crept up on us in the black of the night singing her woe-begone tale of misery. Who is she? Where did she come from? Come and see her—maybe you will be the one to discover her identity.

All the latest and your favorite songs, "When You Wore a Tulip", "Behind the Swinging Doors", and "Sweet Adeline."

There now, sir, don't crowd—these Flora Dora girls will wait—Come one, and all! The big entertainment of the evening! The Gay Ninety Saloon!

Bed-Check

Continued from Page 2

receiving at the bus station Sunday nite!

We are wondering how Margie Hewlett's search for an "extrovert man" is coming!

P. S.—Need we even mention Roland? He's trying to enroll!

Visitor at Meal

Continued from Page 3

ya, Jane to Kackie; Glad to know you, Betty," to the astounded Doris, and slaps poor old Grace on the back with a "Howdoyoudo' Helen!"

Butter is eased off the plate like a veteran, the largest sweet potato mysteriously vanishes, a second glass of milk is downed, and three pieces of cake are expertly devoured. Girls, our friend has "arrived", she has learned the hard way, but students . . . "She is in!"

KEEP ON Backing the Attack! WITH WAR BONDS

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System ....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

New Supply of Picture Frames
AT
Martin the Jeweler

Rayon Full Fashioned HOSE
49c to 98c
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Love will find a way with DURA-GLOSS nail polish says Cupid

Use Dura-Gloss for charm and gaiety in your whole appearance. An exclusive ingredient called "Chrystallyne" helps protect the polish against chipping and peeling. That's why you hear so many women say, "Dura-Gloss stays on." 10¢ a bottle, plus tax, at cosmetic counters. Cuticle Remover Polish Remover Duro-Coat

LORR LABORATORIES, PATERSON, N. J. • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

HAVE YOU GIVEN YOUR DOLLAR TO WAR CHEST?

The Rotunda

DON'T MISS ANY EVENT OF WAR EMPHASIS DAY

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, FEB. 20, 1945 | No. 18

Students Observe War Emphasis Day Tomorrow

Columbia Professor To Speak Here On Founders Day Program, March 10

Celebration To Be Entirely Local

Dr. Fannie Wyche Dunn, of the faculty of Columbia University, will be the guest speaker on the Founders Day program, slated this year for Saturday, March 10, Mrs. M. B. Coyner, alumnae secretary reported yesterday.

Due to the government regulation that no meetings can be held which will cause the assemblying of more than 50 people, this year's Founder's Day will be a purely local affair, beginning at 12 o'clock noon, on Saturday, March 10. The date set for Founder's Day each year is nearest Saturday to March 7, the date on which the school was founded in 1884.

The celebration here will be for the students and for the Farmville chapter of the alumnae. The Farmville chapter will serve coffee in the Student Lounge at 11 o'clock to give the Farmville alumnae an opportunity to meet Dean Martha Smith-Smith, recently made dean at Farmville.

Dr. Dunn will speak at 12 o'clock, and the 12:40 classes will be excused so that the students may attend the talk. Due also to wartime conditions, there will be no alumnae luncheon in the tea room as usual.

Dr. Dunn, now on the teaching staff at Columbia, is a former member of the Department of Education at Farmville, and has made outstanding contributions in her field of work.

More details about the day's program will be revealed at a later date, Mrs. Roy Pearson is the president of the Farmville chapter of alumnae.

Commencement At H.-S. C. March 24

Stone To Speak At Exercises

Lieutenant - Commander Mode Stone, of the Bureau of Naval Personnel will speak at the graduation exercises at Hampden-Sydney College, Saturday morning, February 24, Naval headquarters there revealed to the press this week.

One Receives Degree

A small group of the Navy V-12 Unit, having completed their training in the unit, will be transferred to midshipman school or to pre-midshipman school. Among the group who are being transferred is one who will receive at the same time his college degree. He is T. O. Hall. Others of the unit are being transferred for other reasons.

Leave Begins March 24

Leave for the group will begin immediately following the exercises Saturday morning, and the school will reopen Sunday, March 3, with classes being resumed on Monday, March 4.

Due to the uncertainty of weather conditions there will be no review of the unit as is customary at such exercises.

Included in those who are being transferred from the Naval Unit are three members of the dance orchestra, Jack Gregory, leader, J. G. Flasher and Walter S. Moore, Jr.

No transfers to the V-12 Unit at Hampden-Sydney are anticipated, and consequently the unit will be smaller when school reopens on March 4.

Veterans Are Cast In Spring Comedy

Shakespearan Play To Be Presented

Practices for the spring production of the Dramatic Club, Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream", continue nightly, and the play is shaping up for the presentation early in March.

Nearly 30 girls have been cast in the play, as announced in last week's paper, many of whom have taken parts in Dramatic Club productions here before. Carlotta Norfleet, junior from Virginia Beach, who plays the part of Lysander, was cast in "The Cradle Song" last year. Olive Bradshaw, senior from Rice, will take the part of Puck in this year's play and has had previous experience here in both "Prunella" and "The Cradle Song" last year.

"Cry Havoc" Players

The part of Hermia is being taken by Louise Pegram, a freshman from Richmond, who also had a part in the fall play, "Cry Havoc." Also in the fall play were Joan Davis, sophomore from New Jersey, who takes the part of Oberon, and Theresa Powell, freshman from Richmond, who will play Titania.

"Cradle Song" Veterans

With experience in "The Cradle Song', Peggy T. Ross, junior from Onely, has been cast as Ageus in the spring production. Fay Byrd Johnson, senior from Vinton, who portrays Hippolyta, had parts in "The Cradle Song" and in "Prunella'. Also with experience in two plays here is Margaret Wilson, taking the part of Demetrius. Margaret is a sophomore from Washington, and had parts in both "The Ivory Door" and in "The Cradle Song."

Virginia Terrell, senior from Richmond, is cast this time as Helena. She has played in "Prunella", "The Ivory Door", "The Cradle Song", and "Cry Havoc'. Doris Harper, sophomore from Arlington, who plays Thesus, also had parts in "The Ivory Door", in "The Cradle Song", and in "Cry Havoc".

Other veterans include Grace Loyd, Betty Deuel Cock, Janie Hanks, and Christine Shifflett Newcomers to the S. T. C. stage will be Barbara Jean Wiley, Mary Yates, Mary Jane King, Mary Jane Bond, Anna Kucera, Catherine Prebble, Nanny Sours, Betty Bibb, Betty Plunkett, Charlotte Hutter, Anne Moore, and Sue Davis.

Working backstage on the play are Helen McGuire, in charge of costumes; Kay Lynch, in charge of make-up; Ann Blair, in charge of staging; Lillian Elliott, in charge of lights, and Barbara Lee Brown, in charge of properties. Other officers of the Dramatic Club include Sally Robertson, president; Carol Diggs, vice-president; Virginia Shackleford, secretary, and Fay Byrd Johnson, business manager.

Bond Sales Program Meets Success in TSC

Much of the success of the War Savings Program in Texas State College for Women is due to an efficient student organization directed by a Student Finance Chairman, elected annually by the student body and a staff of dormitory sub-chairmen who set up booths once a week for two-hour sales before house meetings. The first college in Texas to earn the right to fly the SCHOOLS AT WAR flag, TSCW first flew the blue minute man March 2, 1944.

Continued on Page 4

Discussion Groups, Speaker, Program of Faculty Talent Scheduled On Program Beginning at 10 in the Morning

Faculty Skit Set In Early 1920's

Tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock the College War Council will present a program of faculty talent in the large auditorium as the concluding event of the third War Emphasis Day to be observed here.

The details of the program have not yet been released, but included on the program are recitations, several groups of songs by various groups of faculty, special "Boogie" and other selections on the piano, a dance or so, selections on the accordian and on the flute, and other numbers, all by members of the faculty and administration.

Setting Revealed

The setting for the program is in an American Legion clubroom in the early 1920's and the costuming and the musical selections will be of that time.

Cooperating with the War Council in presenting this program, some of them taking part in it, are Miss Virginia Bedford, Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, Miss Emily Kauzlarich, Miss Elizabeth Burger, Mrs. Clyde Bradshaw, Miss Alpha Lee Garnett, Miss Evelyn Hamner, C. G. Gordon Moss, S. M. Holton, Jr., J. M Grainger, Paul Davisson, M. B. Coyner, and others, including those residents of Farmville who are assisting with the costuming and the American Legion post here.

Student Directors

The program of faculty talent is being directed by Dora Walker Jones and Jane Waring Ruffin, with Ophelia Whittle in charge of staging and properties, and Shirley Cruser in charge of costuming.

Other members of the College War Council are Harriette Moore, Helen Wilson, Eleanor Bisese, Rachel Brugh, Martha Droste, Sara Bird Williams, Helen McGuire, Mary Walker Watts, with Dr. James Elliott Walmsley as faculty adviser.

Major Noel T. Adams, who will speak on the War Ephamis Day program tomorrow.

Day Sponsored By War Council

Tomorrow's program, the third War Emphasis Day to be observed on this campus, will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning when the entire student body will divide into six groups to discuss what the major nations of the world expect, will get from, and can contribute to the peace conference.

The group discussing England will meet in the small auditorium. This group will be led by C. G. Gordon Moss, with Anne Summers. Other students assisting on the panel are Anna Lee Blanton, Shirley Cruser, and Kitty Maddox.

Led by Miss Leola Wheeler and Betty Adams, the group discussing China will meet in the Senior Rec room. Frances Copenhaver and Agnes Stokes will also take part in leading the group.

Dr. F. B. Simkins and Fay Byrd Johnson will lead the group on Latin America, which will meet in the Y Lounge. Assisting them will be Julia Braga, Olive Bradshaw, Carmen Flores, and Catherine Trower.

The group to discuss the British possessions will meet in the audio-visual room. It will be led by S. M. Holton, Jr., with Virginia Treakle. Others helping with this discussion are Nancy Harrell, Caroline Huddle, and Dorothy Overcash.

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley will lead the discussion on the United States, assisted by Mary Ann Jarratt, chairman, and Evelyn Grizzard, Minnie Lee Crumper, and Shirley Slaughter. They meet in the Student Lounge.

The group on Russia will meet in the Rec of the Main Building. Leading this group are Jane Waring Ruffin, Mildred Altice, Eleanor Bisese, Lucy Bralley, and Eleanor Wade.

Following the discussions, there will be a general assembly in the large auditorium at noon, for reports from each of the groups.

Lunch will be served at 1:15, and the afternoon program will be resumed at 2 o'clock.

Major Noel T. Adams, Post Chaplain from Camp Pickett, will be the featured speaker on the afternoon program. His talk will be preceeded by a group of songs of the armed forces, by Lucy and Julia Messick and Pat Maddox. Ann Blair will sing "The British

Continued on Page 4

Students Are Still Far From Set Goal In War Chest Drive

Many Organizations Yet To Contribute

One hundred eighty-six dollars and ninety-five cents had been contributed to the War Chest Drive when last tabulated, last night, Monday, February 19.

The quota for the drive at S. T. C. is $1,500, and the goal is $1.00 from every student, the rest to come from the various organizations on campus. The deadline for contributions in tomorrow War Emphasis Day, Wednesday, February 21.

Shirley Cruser, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee, and chairman of the drive said last night that she "hoped more individuals on campus will contribute. However, there are many organization that have not yet made their contributions. This is our last opportunity to give to such a worthy fund."

The War Chest Drive is the only major drive on the campus each year and combines the usual Red Cross Drive and the World Student Service Fund Drive.

Publication Heads To Be Selected Soon

Editors, business managers, and managers of the three publications will be selected this week, Helen Savage, chairman of the publications committee announced last night. The publications committee is composed of the retiring editors and business managers of the three publications, one faculty adviser from each publication, and one representative from the student body at large, who serves as chairman of the group.

The new editor of the annual will edit the 1946 Virginian; the new editor of the Colonnade will edit the final issue of the magazine in the spring, and the editor of the Rotunda will take over with the second issue after the beginning of the new quarter.

Following the appointment of publication heads, the nominating committee will meet to nominate for major and minor officers. This committee is composed of the retiring major officers, the student body representative, and Dean Martha Smith-Smith. These elections will be held the first week in March.

Next week's Rotunda will carry the publication heads, and the major officers will be announced in the issue of the following week.

Sophs' Production Produces Laughs, Food, Gay Nineties

Margaret Walton and Jane Page

Say, roommate it's too bad you were in the Infirmary Wednesday. That Sophomore Production was heped. Gee, it sho' was realistic, too—You've seen movies about the salons in the Gay Nineties. Well, this has everything and more than the Hollywood productions. Say, you wanta hear all about it? OK!

Well, you probably heard the bumping nolse all the way down to the infirmary right after supper. Sounded sorta like coal being thrown down the steps into the Rec? No, don't get excited. It wasn't coal; only the sophomores hauling the chairs downstairs. Before you could even get out of the dining room anxious people towing a line headed down to "Ye Ol' Rec Hall" stared you in the face and you had to practically knock it down before you could get to one end yourself. It was a sad looking, but happy crowd that gathered in the Rec. And the night was full of many surprises.

When we walked into the Rec we thought we were really back in the Gay Nineties. The place was decorated with swinging doors, a bar equipped with typical refreshments, tables with red and white checked cloths, and appropriate signs like "Vote for T. Roosevelt" and "Gay Ninety Saloon." And all around the tables were girls dressed as the people of that period - like men with bow ties, checked vests, derbies, handle-bar moustaches—like women with bif orchids plumed, veiled hats and long big bustled dresses.

Well, we gathered around while they gave a floor show. There was Cab Overbey, dressed a typical jive piano player singing "A Good Man's Hard to Find." (Too true, too true). A rugged beginning! Next, in rolled Gertie Crouch and Sue Hundley on an imaginary bicycle built for two. Gertie as the man proposed—"A Bicycle Built for Two"; Sue, offered the girl's reply—so the bicycle separated and they wheeled out separately.

And roommate, if you could have seen Virginia Terrell, Hiede Lacy, Margaret Ellett, Joan Davis, Nancy Parrish, Betty Parrish, Ann Mingae, and Ann Dickenson as a chorus of high-kicking Flora Dora girls—Mmm the whistles they got from the men in the audience! Oh, they were plenty sharp!

Next the scene switched to some good ol' Western melodrama. Mary Jane King portrayed the child begging the father to come home from "Behind the Swinging Doors" accompanied by the Barber Shop Quartet on the chorus. Grace Loyd walked around as the ol' time policeman and ended the act with that Irish version of—"Harrigan."

Remember that six man orchestra they reported getting from Butapest. Well, it played, "Casey Would Waltz with the Strawberry Blond," but without instruments. Nancy Almond was the tall strawberry blond and Sutton Bland was her short freckled-face Casey.

There was a short intermission, and presentation of gifts to Nancy Whitehead as head of Production and Miss Iler, Sophomore

Continued on Page 4

S.T.C.er Arrives In Scotland To Greet Family on Christmas

"Remembering what not to say is going to be a lot harder than knowing what to say," Margaret Pattie, former S. T. C. student wrote her cousins Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Adams of Chapel Hill, N. C., two days after her return to Glasgow, Scotland, on Christmas Day, 1944. "All I can say about the ship is that it was a Dutch freighter and we were in a convoy. We landed where we hoped I'd land and on Christmas Day. I just walked in on the family, and I must say they took it very well."

Margaret returned to her home in Glasgow after an extended leave of four years in the United States. She came to America to visit her cousins in Chapel Hill, in order to recuperate from an illness, and remained to complete two years as a special student here at Farmville.

"Now about the trip," she wrote. "I enjoyed it to the fullest. It sold me on the idea of crossing the "pond" on a freighter. You get to know the passengers and the officers. There were 20 passengers aboard the ship and they were all very lovely. There were three Merchant Navy men returning to England on leave. The Dutch Chief Engineer, Mr. Vondeveld, was a fine man, and is devoted to opera."

"We ran into two storms," Margaret wrote. "Not too bad, but just bad enough to get everything exciting. I trotted down to meals and everyone was saying 'How can you stand food?' I never felt better! As a matter of fact, the night of the first storm we stood on the deck and I don't think I'll ever see a more beautiful or awe-inspiring sight. The waves would tower up and crash over the ship, in the water were little pieces of phosphorus— hundreds of them— and when the waves and spray swept through the air, these sequin-like likhts came, too. We stood until we got drenched and then went in."

Continued on Page 3

Grasp the Opportunities War Emphasis Day Offers

Tomorrow, for the third consecutive year, an entire day is being set aside for the students of this college to stop for a moment and take stock of the world situation.

When War Emphasis Day was instituted three years ago, the program for the day was devoted to the part of college students in the war. Outstanding speakers from all over the state were brought to the campus to speak to us, and student discussion groups worked out what college students could do for the war effort, in relation to the physical fitness program and to consumer education. Last year, faculty members, assisted by student leaders made an intensive study of the various theaters of the war, that we might understand the movements of the war.

Tomorrow our program will be centered around the peace. In times of war, man's mind turns to peace, and so we, tomorrow, will discuss what the major nations of the world expect from this peace, what they will get, and their probable reactions to the latter. In addition, the discussions will include what these nations can contribute to the peace in idealogy and political thought.

In addition to these discussion groups, we will have the opportunity tomorrow to hear Major Adams, Post Chaplain from Camp Pickett, who served as staff chaplain for two years under General Patton. His reputation as a speaker has reached this campus and those who have heard him state very definitely that he does have a message for all Americans. This is an opportunity that we can not afford to miss. .

The day will be concluded with a program of faculty talent. It is good at all times to become acquainted with members of our faculty outside the classroom, and tomorrow night we will have a chance to see something of them "off the record."

The entire day has been planned for the students. It is filled with opportunities for broadening our vision and our knowledge. More than being chance too good to miss, tomorrow's program is one that is our duty in which to participate. We cannot yet think in terms of the end of the war or of victory, but it is time to think in terms of the condition of the world when the end does come. That world will be our world, and certainly we want to know better that which is to be ours.

Don't miss a single of the events scheduled for tomorrow. You'll be sorry if you do!

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Denel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullen .... Typing Managers

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1945

A New Angle On Studying Harder

Editor's Note: This editorial, recently published in the Critograph of Lynchburg College, seems worthy of our consideration).

The usual editorial on "Studying Harder" deals with advantages—that is, the unpleasantness of cramming and the personal value of knowledge in later life. War time brings changes—in the lives of incidentals and in the emphasis upon things. Studying has now become our DUTY.

An unknown number of individuals who would have been the great doctors, preachers, scientists, writers, teachers—the great contributors to the world of tomorrow—have been killed. Their contribution may have been delayed several centuries, but progress as a whole must go on. It is the duty of the comparatively few young people on the campuses in America today. For in other countries education has been thwarted or completely obliterated.

The future is the responsibility for us on this small campus here in Virginia as well as for those who study at large universities. For larger colleges are made up of students like ourselves.

It is only up to us to accept our lot—to be grateful and to live for our fellowman as others have died for him.

To be the leaders of tomorrow is our duty. To develop our talents to capacity is our duty. To gain knowledge and understanding through STUDY is our duty, in order to make our contribution to the world in which we live.—Critograph, Lynchburg College. .

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

"Hemmed in, Berlin faces famine, destruction, and death." Such are the headlines of the week. With the continued advance of the Russian White and Ukraine Armies, Berlin inhabitants face the same plight as Budapest—unless Hitler decides to gamble no longer. Despite the hopelessness of this, newsmen believe Germany will hold out to the end. With the reaffirmation of unconditional surrender at the Big Three conference, with our increased "terror bombings," with success on the Eastern and Japanese fronts, Germany has little to look forward to in the next few months — or weeks. General Clark even foresees a possible withdrawal of German troops in Italy. These 27 divisions are desperately needed closer to the homeland.

* * * *

General MacArthur can best express the Pacific war front. "Yank forces have landed on Corrigedor and seized its decisive points. Its complete capture is now assured." Most significant about this is that we now have complete control of Manila Bay.

* * *

Competing with Philippine news was the announcement of the big carrier strike against Tokyo and Yokohama. Nimitz also struck at Iwo Jima, a tiny island about 750 miles south of Tokyo, but has not acknowledged Japanese reports that the island was invaded. "Iwo will be of little use for naval operating forces but of tremendous advantage for air operations". Japan is as jittery as Germany today. Said a Japanese broadcast. "Be on guard against any enemy landing on Japan proper." The Russians may reach Berlin first but we can take care of Tokyo.

* * * *

In the Burma area the news is the same —"Stiff Japanese resistance." In China they're making the Chinese do the resisting. Either way you look at it is not good.

* * * *

Just for the record will someone tell me what has happened to Tito. Time was when he rated a whole paragraph in this column.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

It seems that about now we have to bid adieu to another group of Hampden-Sydney sailors. Much missed they will be, especially Chuck Seibert, Jimmy Goode (we'll miss his jitterbugging), Hammond Snyder, Walter Kennedy, "the Brow" (Stretch) Dunton, and Jack Gregory (his piano playing is his signature!) Happy sailing to all those who are leaving, and an invitaton to come back to Farmville to see us some time.

With Valentine's Day in the so recent past, there are several gifts that MUST be mentioned. It seems that Clare Wailes not only got roses, but TWO boxes of candy. And we just love people like Bobby Burger, who left an order for red roses for Elsie on Valentine's Day before he went overseas. There were flowers galore, but we can't fail to mention Mary Franklin Woodward's surprise roses, and Betty Deuel's roses, from Ned, of course.

Wedding bells rang again for an S. T. C'er in the week. D. Cox went to Richmond to say "I do". Best Wishes, Dee! And we welcome both her and our other bride, Frances Wentzel Gale back to our midst.

Case of mistaken identity was made by Hersey Hutt before she left town on Friday. That was not JEAN Smith who called, Hersey . . . And we think we would have left town after that, too!

Familiar couples spied around (as usual) were Higgins and Roland, (won't they let him enroll?), Bea Jones and Charlie, Ann Blair and Dave Crute, Page Cooke and Bob Miller

There are two short stories to be related this week The first concerns Sue Hundley, and some sugar, but the story is better if you get her to tell it. It seems that too much sugar is too much, eh, Hundley?

The second happened during a very sober Kappa Delta Pi meeting. At a most serious moment, the door of the Honors Room popped open, a head appeared, and the words came: "Does anybody want to buy a fresh doughnut? . . . Oh, EXCUSE ME!" Depart the embarrassed salesman!

We hope that Delia Gregory will keep on coming back to see us at frequent intervals, even after Jack (the pianist) leaves H. S. C. That would be a double loss.

It seems that it all started last summer—or sometime . . . Anyway, after he got overseas and could no longer be in on steak dinners with her, Cliff sent one to Betty Blackwell via mail, in the form of the makings of the same. Now we do like that!

Jo Beatty at last has Herbert where she wants him Her only hope is that she can keep him there!

Newest couple of the week: Lucy Messick and Jack Dunn.

And Betty Ellis with still another man!

We heard by the way of the grape vine that another clinging Air Corps vine erred from the straight and narrow. Give with

Continued on Page 3

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

Tomorrow is the last day of our War Campus Drive and the last opportunity you will have to contribute. The need is urgent! Give if you haven't already given, and if you have, try to give even more.

The Baptists are still leading this Sunday School Contest. What has happened to you Presbyterians and Methodists? It certainly looks as if a party is in store for the Baptists.

Don't forget that Sunday afternoon Vesper Service. It's restful. It's quiet. And it's yours!

Tomorrow is War Emphasis Day on our campus. Each of us has a definite part in making it a success. And there is much to be gained from a day such as this. You get out of something exactly what you put into it; so put into this everyhing you can to make it what it should and can mean.

This is Brotherhood Week. Tomorrow night's theme for Prayers is "Remember God"; Thursday's, "Love For God's Word"; and Friday's, "Light for Universal Fellowship."

WAR EMPHASIS DAY

Question of the Week

What, next to sleeping, do you like to do best around here?

Anne Holmes: Next best to sleeping is dreaming dreams of the South Pacific.

Carolyn Bobbitt: Play and brag on my first graders.

Mary Haskins: Eating out of the dining hall!

Anne Clark: Getting an air mail from Billy!

Alice Ann Abernathy: Having my brother up for the week-end.

Martha East: Finding that P. O. box full!

Suzanne Steele: Hitting the trail with "Darky."

Betty Bibb: Riding the Colonel!

Ann Nichols: Get in bed and write to Griff!

Shirley Cruser: Eat!

Anonymous: Watch the postmistress smile at everyone that passes.

Claire Clarke: Dance.

Nancy Almond: Going to class.. JOKE!!

Betty Burchette: Play!

Betty Lee: Eat, of course . . . in the dining hall, question mark?

Ann Blair: Talk!

Betty Bowles: Not go to chapel!

Louise Rives: Think about Joe!

Anne Hauser: Telling David to go to bed—in the phone booth!

Helen Apperson: Thinking of Bob's being here on his 30 day leave!

Gwen Ackiss: Not being able to go to the Metropolis. Ain't kidding! Even Farmville's main drag would look good after two week's campus.

Martha Higgins: Eating in the Tea Room!

"Gin T." Pullen: I'm still trying to find out.

Lauretta Crockett: Watch the moon all by my lonesome (joke)!

Virginia Naylor: The Monday A. M. struggle to the high school.

Nancy Wagner: Running around without my shoes in the tropics!

Martha Smith: Fall off the pony.

Sarah Graham: Ride the pony bareback, doubling with Martha.

Betty Ellis: Late hour bull sessions.

Louise Blane: Nothing.

Margaret Pogue Massey: Finding mail in my usually empty mail box.

Fay Bird Johnson: And who said I liked sleep best?

To the Editor:

Dear Editor:-

This year the system of mid-quarter grades has been instiuted. Various opinions on this system have been circulating throughout the student body. One faction definitely opposes it for obvious reasons.

In the first place, it is in reality having mid-term examinations instead of a summary of a student's work for the quarter. This fault lies with the faculty for the most part. Many professors give no test throughout an entire quarter. Under the pressure brought to bear under this system, they feel obligated to give a test. Many times this grade was merely given as the estimate with no other consideration taken into account. If this grade is poor, it can prove considerably demoralizing to the student.

In the second place, with this sudden deluge of tests at the last minute and with no formal schedule as during the examination period, many tests can fall on the same day. The student can do absolutely nothing to remedy this. And during a formal examination schedule, he is not required to undergo more than two exams per day. It does not seem to be fair to the student to weigh him down under a number of tests on one day and then accept a second-rate grade as his mid-term estimate. These instances are not true in all cases but it is true that they do happen.

I am in favor of the mid-term estimate as opposed to the old method of sending out flunk slips every two weeks. The old way was ineffective to the extreme. But to make the new way more beneficial to both student and faculty, I do feel that faculty members should try to space their tests throughout a quarter as a whole instead of waiting just before estimates are due.

FAY BYRD JOHNSON

CASH HOARDING

According to the Treasury Department a number of $1000 bills are in circulation. What is likely the fact is, that there is considerable hoarding of cash in safety deposit boxes and elsewhere. When smaller denomination bills become too bulky they are exchanged for bills of larger denominations. The sum total of these cash hoardings is listed by the Treasury Department as being in circulation. Even the approximate amount cannot be determined but it is a considerable amount and will constitute one of the spending back logs coming into action after the war.

Reds and Greens Tie In Swim Meet; Sophomore Class Scores Most Points

Inter-Class Meet Held Last Friday

Green and white and red and white tied for the inter-class swimming meet last Friday afternoon with both teams scoring 26 points. In the first event with the front crawl, Mildred Sheppard gained first place for the reds, and Jean Smith first for the greens. In the second event the 100 yard free style, Jean Babb took first place for the reds, and Patsy Saunders for the greens. The third event found Mildred Sheppard in first place in the back crawl.

Betty Lou Hayward took first place in the fourth event, winning the breast stroke. The fifth event which was the finals for the front crawl, was won by Millie Sheppard. Diving was the sixth event, and Robin Lear of the greens won first place. The last event was won by red and white in the 75 yard medley. Virginia House swam the back crawl, Anne Summers the breast, Mildred Sheppard the front crawl. Swimming for green and white, in this event were Elise Hume, Betty Hayward and Pat Maddox.

The sophomores gained the most points, winning thirteen, with the freshmen a close second with eleven points. The seniors gained seven points, and the Juniors won five. The 100 yard free style and the 75 yard medley were not recorded as class points, but as individual.

Miss Mary Dabney, swimming instructor.

STC-er in Scotland

Continued from Page 1

Continuing about the trip across what she called the "pond", Margaret wrote, "One morning the Chief Engineer took Elinore and me down to the engine room. It was simply fascinating. How they find out what the trouble is when something breaks down I don't know. We walked down the tunnel where the propeller shaft is, right to the very end of the ship. The noise was pretty terrific, so when Mr. Yonderveid was explaining anything, I just nodded as if I understood everything. Between his Dutch accent and the din I missed nearly everything he said."

"No, the time didn't drag," Margaret assured her cousins. It seems that she did some work on the ship's paper as they crossed, and for services rendered, received "several bars of chocolate, a letter of appreciation in the paper, which was partly in Dutch and partly in English, and the dedication of a poem in the paper."

"I was surprised to find everything so normal here." Margaret wrote. "Toys and such are terribly expensive. I sometimes feel that I'll suffocate though, for the house seems so small and the other houses seem to be crowded around us. Everything at the house is just the same except that my bedroom window has glass in it that you can't see through. The houses all look so stable and compact."

"Glasgow hasnt changed much," she continued. "Except that there are some vacant spaces. The people seem a little more friendly, more inclined to talk."

"I have applied for my identity card and got an emergency ration book. The bread is white now, and we got some oranges yesterday. Dried eggs are remarkably good," she commented.

"Mother can't get over the sight of so many fancy things, and my cousin has played "shop" with all the packages. She was very happy with her doll cut-outs, too. Incidentally, I got everything in free of duty."

"I've drunk tea every afternoon and evening since I've been home," Margaret wrote. "I'd forgotten that we used it so much. I had also forgotten — or rather hadn't realized — that people in this country spoke with such an accent. Everyone asks me when I'm going to lose my American accent!"

Swimming Here Begins Friday For Telegraphic Meet

This Friday evening, February 23 in the swimming pool at 8:30, the annual telegraphic meet will be held. Swimmers for this meet will be girls who were outstanding in the inter-class swimming meet, or girls who could not swim in the last meet. Each year this meet is held with colleges throughout the South.

Because of tire and gas shortage, the girls cannot travel from one college to another, so this system of telegraphing each race result into a home hostess was developed. The meet is held in each individual college, and the winners and times they swam in are telegraphed in to the hostess for that year. Here they are tabulated, and the results are wired back to the individual schools. At the end of the meet, the winners are announced. Last year Farmville placed second in the meet.

Class Sport Captains To Be Selected Soon

It is very important that all people who have gotten in their eight practices come to volleyball and basketball this week as captains for the class teams will be chosen. If you still have a few more practices to get in, come on out and get those practices this week as the round robin tournaments in both basketball and volleyball will begin in the near future.

Captains will be chosen from those persons who have obtained their eight practices and they will be chosen according to ability and organization. You who expect to participate in the round robin tournament must have in your eight practices in before the tournament begins.

Left Lead

ODE TO THE WIND—

"Blow ye winds, blow! Over the golf course, straight to the ring! Sweep over the grass, and ruffle the horses' manes! Whip about their legs and send them dancing and prancing and stepping and side-stepping! Spank the Phantom Lady and make her want to canter - - - tickle the Colonel until he single-foots all the way around! Blow ye winds, blow — and fill the riders with the Spirit of Daring, and a fine and lively ride we'll have today!"

Yes, it's been windy weather for the past week. The trail through the pines is rustly and whistly, and the swift canters around the ring are frisky and exciting. The horses duck their heads and kick their hind feet, and the riders shake their hair and of their eyes, and get a tighter grip with their thighs! Spring fever is approaching, with these wonderful, sunny days predominating, but it'll be preceded by another week, we predict, of gay and glorious breezes.

BEGINNERS' LUCK

Beginner-of-the-week was Martha Lee, who started out on the Phantom Lady for the usual "see-if-I-like-it" ride. She loved it—but the usual results kept her stiff and slow, the next day or so. No sympathy from Joyce . . . she laughs and says, "Oh, you'll be feeling fine by next time!"

TID-BITS

Callie, lame for a week, is out and about again, but she'll be taking it slow for a day or so yet . . . The jumps are up inside the ring, providing room for more fun and less boredom . . . The Haunted House is budding with Spring; we wonder if the fairies who must live in the wisteria play upon the piano for their May Day, and other Spring frolics? . . . Gypsy has improved in nature to a large extent, but she still objects to too great a load behind her saddle . . . We don't blame her for bucking; we admire her for still being able to!

By the way, we thought you might like this:

SADDLE TALK

(From The Atlantic Monthly)

I'd have you learn the rider's stance,
Partly crouch and partly dance:
Your knees a crab, your back a whip
Ready for a buck or a sudden shy.
Ready for buck or sudden shy.
Ready for puddles blue with sky
Or ditches dim.

Knowing how curb and spur, together,
Gather shambling muscle and bone
For the clean clearing of a hedge
Or pivoting round a stone,
You'll watch the flick of your horse's ears,
Reading the road ahead of his fears;
Talking him through the culvert's dark,
Walking him past the crazy bark
Of the dog that leaps from the fiddler's shack.

When sumac clots the quarry ledge
When the rope-walk whistle is still,
You'll be riding the windy ridge
With Shakespeare-song in your pocket,
River and hoof-beat hung in the heart,
The county lore for a locket.

Wary of burrow, of lockjaw barb
Acreep in a careless rusty vine,
You'll be threading stump and furrow,
Scattering puffballs, breathing wine;
Your body, keeper of a ring,
Your viking head for spirit king,
Chance, your sturdy underling!

—Sara Ludlow Holmes

Stay on the bit,

Pegasus

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Congratulations to both red and white and green and white for tying the swimming meet Friday afternoon, and orchids to Millie Sehppard for outstanding swimming, and also orchids to Robin Lear for some beautiful driving. It was quite the occasion, and thus week's telegraphic meet should draw a throng to see our STCers swim for the ole alma mater.

BASKETBALL

This week, captains for the class teams will be elected in basketball and the round robin tournament will be played off very soon. This tournament is very similar to the one held during hockey season, when each team must play every other team. The team scoring the most points or winning the most games, will be declared champions of the basketball tournament, while those two color teams which compile the most points together, will gain the ten points given for the color cup. Eight practices are required to make a team, and those practices must be in before the tournament begins.

Volleyball captains will also be elected this week, and the games will be played off in a similiar tournament to that of basketball. Come on, you sports enthusiasts, get those eight practices in because you have a good chance as anyone to make the team, and playing for your class always displays good spirit. Being a part of a team requires good sportsmanship and plenty of cooperation. Win or lose, good sportsmanship is always an outstanding characteristic in either team or individual sports. Help your class go on to victory by trying out for a team, and even though you remain just a substitute, you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you tried.

PING PONG

Monday was the last day to sign up for the ping-pong tournament which began this week. This is an individual game, and it is up to each girl, whether she will win or lose. There is a ping pong table in the locker room, one in the trunk room of Senior Building, and one in Senior Rec. Get those practices in, for the more practices you have, the better chance you have. This is a game that requires plenty of practice before you can play off a match. There is plenty of opportunity to get those practices in, so do so. The winner of this tournament gains five points toward the color cup for her class colors.

This is an elimation tournament. Two girls will be placed to play against each other, and the winner will play the winner of another set, and so on, until all the girls are eliminated except the two left, who will play off for the championship. Good luck to our ping pong tournees.

WALKING

Theres nothing like a good long walk, to clear one's mind and help them physically too. Long walks along the country lanes around Farmville can be lots of fun with a gang, and even if you're the Garbo type, and prefer to be alone, they can prove both interesting and eventful. We don't suggest you pick a cold and rainy day, although lots of people do enjoy walking in the rain. But with the funny weather Mother Nature has been turning up for us lately, try one of those almost spring days to take that long walk.

Walking is always good exercise, whether it is a brisk walk, or a slow meandering one, while you enjoy the scenery and surrounding countryside. So often the college girls of today do not get outside enough, and this isn't helpful to one's health. The quick trip to Shannon's in the afternoon to snatch a coke and cigarette isn't getting outside really. Take some time off one afternoon, and take an exploring trip. You'll find many beautiful sights around Farmville, and if you're a nature lover, plenty of things to interest you.

Until next week stay in the game. Good luck to our telegraphic swimmers. Last year Farmville placed second, this year, let's hope they make first.

Bed-Check

Continued from Page 2

the details, Dottie Overcash.

Navy-wise, Nancy Harrel trucked herself off to Annapolis this week end. This is news . . . WHEN did all this happened, that we have missed it for so long . . .

All good conversations end back where they started, including those after bedcheck, so we end with another farewell wish to those leaving H. S. C. They did their part toward ending their stay gloriously; witness, the dance in the gym Saturday night. Here's hoping the fresh crop will prove half so nice as those departing!

PingPong Tourney Put Off for Week

The ping pong tournament has been postponed until next week, so you who have not signed up yet, still have a chance to do so. The list is on the athletic bulletin board. This tournament requires cooperation from the individual and it is they who win or lose, not a team. The winner will gain five points for the color cup for their class colors.

Girls who have already signed up for the tournament are Mary Walker Watts, Margaret Orange, Frances Lee, Ophelia Whittle, Phyliss Watts, Jean Bentley, Rebecca Tomlinson, Joyce Johnson, Regina Porinaro, Nellie Smith, Bobbie Scott, Dorothy White and Lucille Jones. Add your name to the list.

Just Received
Ladies' Nylon Slips
Only $1.98
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Patronize
PATTERSON'S
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINSWORTH CANDIES
MONTAG STATIONERY
The complete drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Try Our HAMBURGER Special!
with
Cole Slaw, French Fries, Drink
35c
Southside Drug Store

FLOWERS AT THE BEST AT ALL TIMES
Collins Florist
Phone—Day 181 Nite 4

MEET ME
at
SHANNON'S

Try our delicious homemade pies!
You will enjoy them
10c a slice
College Shoppe

Gifts for every occasion
Martin the Jeweler

Rayon Full Fashioned HOSE
49c to 98c
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

See our representative
Fay Johnson
CH. 90
To Have Your Cleaning Done
DE LUXE CLEANERS

For the . . .
Best fountain service
—visit—
Chappell's

Identification Bracelets
—at—
Lynn's Jewelry

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System
....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

DUNHILL
SERVICE
LIGHTER
Colors:
Navy and Grey
Price $2.00
Men's Dept.—
First Floor
Davidson's
The House of Quality

American Fashions Designed for Wear, Comfort. Utility

Certain fashions are native American, that have sprung from our soil as surely as cotton and tobacco. They are part of the American way of life, and we do them well because we wear them. The shirtwaist, th jumper, modern play clothes, skirts and sweaters classic suits, and the incorporation of slacks in the feminine wardrobe can be listed among our achievements.

Designing of clothes to suit American habits, and mass production is the key to the genius which puts good clothes available at low costs. They have become classic because they suit the tastes, needs and figures, of Americans and because they are available in good designs at all costs both high and low.

America reigns supreme in the field of play clothes. American women were among the first to indulge freely in sports and the need for suitable clothes speeded the sports clothes development.

The trimness of the shirtwaist dress appeals to all American women and it makes the perfect daytime costume. It is adaptable to much variety and changeable at will. It too, ranks among the classics to be varied as the designers will.

The jumper was introduced by college girls and is pratical because one jumper can be varied with many blouses or sweaters, and is doubly versatile.

That these classics are favorites again this spring is already evident in the collections of the better d esigners. Few will doubt that they will continue through many seasons. The new spring versions of these old favorites are pretty soft, colorful, casual and entirely practical, so, we can expect them to equal o reven surpass, the reord that the same general types have made in the past.

—By Evelyn Grizzard

War Emphasis Day

Continued from Page 1

Children's Prayer".

Major Adams served in World War I as an enlisted man, and has served as a Chaplain in this war. He was assigned to the Air Force Command in Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, before going overseas. He served as staff chaplain under the famous General George S. (Blood and Guts) Patton, Jr., in the First Armored Corps in the California Desert Training Corps, in the Western Task Force in the invasion of North Africa, and in the Seventh Army in the Sicilian Campaign. Recently he was returned to the States under the rotation policy of the War Department and is now serving as Post Chaplain at Camp Pickett.

Following Major Adams' talk, there will be a special short feature in connection with War Day shown at the State theater in addition to the main feature "Frenchman's Creek". Tickets for the movie will be on sale tonight at the college in order to avoid the crowd at the theater box. The movie will begin at 3:30 p. m.

The day will be concluded with a program of faculty talent in the large auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

Sophs' Production

Continued from Page 1

sponsor, for her birthday (Many happy returns of the day, Miss Iler!) They also sold cocs colas, nabs, buns, and other refreshments.

Next they introduced their mystery blues singer—a tall exotic creature arrayed in diamonds and a black lace gown got up to sing "St.. Louis Woman". The crowd gave a loud scream and from all sides exclaimed "Why, it is the 'Frog'."—you know Rebecca Tomlinson—"Dat thar gal sho' laid 'em low."

The spotlight shown again and that time a handsome Romeo was pictured draped over the bar. Her fair Juliet sauntered in. They were none other than Mary Ann Loving and Carmen Low singing and with plenty of side action, "When You Wore a Tulip." For a few minutes there we thought we thought that we were picking up a little extra change but instead it turned out that some embarrassed person had dropped a handful of money. 'Course everyone chucked at them, but the show went right on. And how. This time the famed Flora Dora group came on again and many cheers gave another song and dance act.

And then once again that Barber Shop quartet filed in and our girls that portrayed these men really did a super job. We're really got some "good looking men" at S. T. C. The make-up man did 'em up good with more crazy moustaches and red vests—Page Cook, Ann Kingdon, Janet Halstead, Doris Smith, Mar Kent Stevens, and Connie Christian really filled the bill with "Pretty Peggy O'Neal.

Wait a second until I catch my breath. I'm still laughing over that born-comedian, Cile "Birdie" Sarvor. The spotlight had hardly swung to the swinging doors when out bounced Birdie arraged in the glamorous 1890 bathing costume—complete even to the long black stockings and ruffled hat with red bow. And her version of "By the Sea"—Oh, it would have even amused the gloom goon. The show would certainly have been incomplete without her.

Then last but not least—that Queen of the Can Can, Nancy Whitehead, giving a rendition of the dance that won't be forgotten for some time yet.

As a finale the cast trouped in singing "There is a Tavern in the Town", singing down the curtain on a darn good production!

More power to the sophs—they've got what it takes!

Harriette Moore, head of the College War Council, which is presenting War Emphasis Day tomorrow. (For story, see page one.)

Phi Zeta Sigs Hold Annual Founders Day

Phi Zeta Sigma held its annual Founder's Day banquet in the College Tea Room on Saturday night.. Dean Martha Smith-Smith, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Ruth Gleaves, and Miss Willie London, adviser, twelve alumnae, and members of Phi .Zeta Sigma attended. The alumnae who attended were, Lucille Cheatham, Mrs. Frances Milton, Mrs. Julia H. Bull, Mrs. Sara Horner, Mrs. Polly Moore Light, Margaret Lawrence, Delia Gregory, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Sara Seward, Evelyn Pankey, Martha Frances Cobb, Louise Phillips, Nell Holloway, and Alice Peitig.

The alumnae and members were entertained at a tea on Sunday afternoon in the chapter room. Miss Willie London, faculty adviser, was present.

According to the APO the stock of new cars in this country will be entirely depleted next year. There remain but 55,000 new 1942 model passenger automobiles. There is no civilian automobile production in sight for the duration. Last year civilians under rationing received about 255,000 new cars, over four times the number that will be available this year.

Though France is smaller than Texas its prewar population of 41,907,056 was more than six times the population of Texas.

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANNE BUCK

With knees knocking and toes rocking with cold some STCers managed to reach their destination even through ice, sleet, and snow. How could they miss that "Name" band from Hampden-Sydney and all the features (sailors) the dance held in store for them Saturday night?

Finding highlights in Richmond were Betty Adams, Grace Anderson. Edith Apperson, Lucy Bowling, Eva Cobb, Nell Coleman, Shirley Didlack, Virginia Elliotte, Mary Fontaine, Vivian Edmunds, Anne Dickinson, Ann Houser, Elise Hume, Isabel Key, Helen Lacy, Frances Lee, and Eleanor Wade.

Roanoke was all "aglow" for Dorothy Bennett, Augusta Hargon, Marilyn Johnson, Edith Kirkland, Kitty Kearsley, Betty Minetree, Beatrice Brugh, Alice Coon, Helen Cobs, Dorothy Fultz, Evelyn Goodman, Ester Mae George, and Loreene Haynes.

Chase City was wide awake with Vonnie Ozlin, Doris Newton, Nancy Blair, Tinniny Bigger, Evelyn Cole.

Carolyn Booth visited Mary Copeley in South Hill. Also in South Hill was Josephine Clayton.

In Remo, Virginia (any connection with Reno—we wonder) was Lela Evelyn Bouldin.

Others that found glamour away from school were Fulmer Baker in Abilene; Josephine Beatty and Juanita Davis at Hampden-Sydney;- Edith Bryant in Branchville; Corrinne Baker, and Shirley Gibson at Falls Church; Mary Stewart Buford and Alice Cross in Lawrenceville; Marion Davis Bennett and Marie Grade in Village; Kathreen Blankensky in Franklin; Anna Lee Blanton and Ruth Fleming in Cumberland; Sutton Bland, Connie Young in Covington; Neva Mae Blankley in Skipwith.

Also Julia Booher in Abingdon; Ann Cox, Gordonsville; Wilmpie Loa, Clara Haskins, and Dorothy Chambers in Red House; Nancy Dickerson in Spout Springs; Lorene Claiborne in Ranson; Shirley Connelly in Sunny Side; Mary Cowherd in Cartersville; Judy Connelly and Betty Minetree in Petersburg; Reba Corner in South Boston; Mary Ann Clark in Dinwiddie; Mae Cardwell in Concord; Alma Davis in Dillwyn; Mary Lee Dickerson in Pamplin; Sarah Lee Dodson, in Mattoax; Jackie Dunton in Matthews; Larena Evans in Brookneal; Jean Edmonds in Canson; Marian Estes, Coeburn; Susan Farsler in Winchester; Peggy Fink in Warsaw; Helen Fifield in Remington; Betsy Fox in Danville; Margaret Foltz in Wytheville.

Also finding fun other places were Jean Freeman and Janice Hanks in Hampton; Florence Godwin in Smithfield; Marian Gunn, Lottie Hammock and Jacqueline Hole in Blackstone; Beatrice Joyce Geyner and Ruth Jones in Chatham; Anne Hamlin in Surry; Anne Haskins in McKenney; Ethel Harrison and Elizabeth Harrell in Emporia; Mary Harrison in Thomasville, N. C.; Betty Lewis in Hickory; Joyce Hill in Pulaski; Theresa Hutt in Neenah; Rosa Hill in Windsor; Ann Johnson in Kenbridge; Martha Jones in Buckingham; Elizabeth Ann Jones in Marion; Rachel Joyner in Zuni; "Dodie" Jones in Radford; Elizabeth Keeth in Abeline; Mabel Lewis and Carmen Low in Hopewell; Margaret Lohr in Brightwood; Helen Lewis in Vernon Hill; Gladys Lankford in Charlottesville; Margaret McIntyre in Marion, S. C.; Lucie McKenry in Arlington; Judy Reich in West Point; Winefred Straight in Washington, D. C.

Fan Timmons found excitement on William and Mary campus and Nancy Ingle on Randolph-Macon Womans College campus. What could Nancy Harrell find exciting in Annapolis, Maryland, at U. S. N. A.?—We wonder.

Be good until we go sailing next week-end.

Bond Program

Continued from Page 1

Texas Independence Day. Students are determined to keep the flag flying until the boys come marching home.

The regular program is stepped up from time to time by inter-dormitory competitions. Last summer, skits presented before the twice-weekly movies in the College Summer Outdoor Theatre stressed the need of buying as much and as often as possible. War Finance sub-chairmen were always on hand to sell their wares.

This year's campaign got off to a good start with 94 per cent of the 2,492 students buying stamps in October. Plans for the Spring Campaign include sponsorship of an ambulance plane.

—ACP

PHONE
78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELLS TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

S.T.C.ers Go Up To Get Down; Find Amazing Number of Steps

CARMEN LOW

If one has never done anything during her college career at STC, she has climbed steps in one way or another. They are everywhere and positively unavoidable (that is—er—ah—unless some kind of careless person leaves the elevator switch on!)

The variety and number of steps are infinite. The first step taken upon arriving is a small, slick, black, stone one with a sagging middle, and a most amiable air. It is found at the front Rotunda door. Innocent people (probably a few of the other kind, too) have been stepping on this discrete little step slowly for years—some bringing good news, some bad, and others just bringing. Upon taking this "first step," one beholds the Rotunda steps rising in all their dignity before them. Usually this dignity overwhelms them so they retire to the side steps with due respect.

Among the interesting steps around school are those in the Rec—where—it never fails--one invariably falls into a noisy "Sonja Heine" with great lilt and gusto, when trying to impress the date with her poise and charm—and he probably already knows about it anyway. .

One of the most pleasant of stairways we know of are those going down to the tea room Always when passing these steps one encounters the most pleasing smells that fill the sniffer with great satisfaction and contentment. It is at the bottom of these steps that many a person spends her last penny on some delicious and tender morsel. Not only that, it is good to know there are pots of gold at the end of some rainbows.

Steps also have their peculiarities. Take those in second floor Annex. They are most distressing because to get down one must go up. This may seem highly contrary to the law of gravity and most trying on the law of happiness, but any inhabitant of second floor Annex will verify it. Of course, you can go down to get down but after you are down one must pull her hips through the rows of seats in the auditorium. This isn't at all nice, 'cause when one finally gets to the other side she feels like a marble on a lucky day, only a bit frayed about the edges.

There are the sordid and tiring steps of Junior Building There are the library steps that have been used for everything from May Day to "just waiting". And there are the fire escapes. The fire escapes with their smug, tempting look, especially when the favorite date is in town.

Yes, every day inventors are still inventing, but S. T .C. climbs steps.

May we leave you with one parting thought. Watch that gym door step—It's a humdinger!

Keeps on BACKING the ATTACK ★ with WAR BONDS

VOTE FAIRLY
IN MAJOR ELECTIONS

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS
PUBLICATION HEADS

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 28, 1945 | No. 19

Treakle, Elliott, and Whitehead Named Editors

Picking To Speak Here March 2

Plan for Red Cross Unit To Be Given

Miss Helen Picking, field representative for the Eastern area of the American Red Cross, will speak in chapel this Friday, March 2, and will at that time present to the student body the plan for organizing a college unit of the Red Cross on his campus.

The unit, which will be part of the Prince Edward Chapter, will have to be petitioned by the student body. The plan has already been approved by Dr. J. L. Jarman and by Dean Martha Smith-Smith.

Activities of the college units include first aid, home nursing, life saving, and blood donation. Some of the activities are already on the campus, but with the organization of a Red Cross Unit here, they will be incorporated under one head.

Plans are already being made for blood donation by students. The most available center is in Charlottesville, and those who are selected to contribute will go on buses. In order to contribute, a person must be 21, or have his parents' consent and must be in a physical condition approved by the college physician.

Holiday Cancelled For Easter Season

In complying with ODT regulations, there will be no Easter holiday this year according to an announcement made to the student body yesterday morning by Dr. J. L. Jarman.

Because of overcrowded buses and trains, all colleges are requested not to observe the holiday, and this college is complying with that request.

Reunions Prohibited On Founders Day

Due to the war restriction on travel and conventions, the reunion classes will not be able to meet here on Founder's Day. This is the year for reunions of the classes of 1885, 1885, 1905, 1915, 1920, 1925, and 1935. Many members of each of those classes were expecting to return for the program.

Founder's Day program this year will be entirely local with a guest speaker from Columbia University. The day's program will be concluded with the presentation of the Spring Dramatic Club production, Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream", under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler.

Mrs. George Doughty (Martha Lee, class of 1915) has recently written a poem for Founders Day and that poem is being reprinted in these columns. Mrs. Doughty, from Onancock, was the class poet of the class of 1915, and since her graduation has published a book verse.

Mrs. Doughty's poem, entitled "Alma Mater" is as follows:

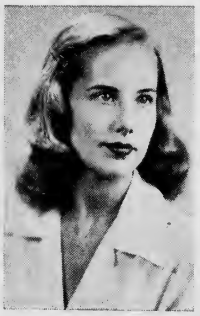
Along the years
Through joys and tears
We turn in thoughts to you

For childhood's doors
And youth's bay shores
Have closed, with moments few

As time and change
Their stay derange
We find your portals true

To take us in
Where'er we've been
Throughout this world anew

And thousands call
We walk each hall
Joan of Arc, with you.



Martha Lee Doughty—1915

VIRGINIA TREAKLE

LILLIAN ELLIOTT

NANCY WHITEHEAD

SHIRLEY CRUSER

RUTH BROOKS

SHIRLEY SLAUGHTER

SUE HUNDLEY

Cruser, Brooks Appointed Managers; Colonnade Manager to be Named Soon

Virginia Treakle, junior from Farmville; Lillian Elliott, junior from Farmville; and Nancy Whitehead, sophomore of Kecoughton have been selected editors-in-chief of the three college publications, the Rotunda, the Virginian, and the Colonnade, Helen Savage, chairman of the publications committee revealed this week.

Sue Hundley, sophomore from Suffolk, was named as managing editor for the 1946 Virginian, and Shirley Slaughter, sophomore from Lynchburg, will serve as managing editor for the Rotunda.

Ruth Brooks, junior from Farmville, was chosen business manager of the Rotunda, and Shirley Cruser, junior from Norfolk, was named business manager of the Virginian. The business manager of the Colonnade has not yet been selected and will be announced at a later date.

Virginia Treakle, who will take over the editorship of the Rotunda with the second issue in the spring has been on the staff for three years, serving this year as managing editor. Last year she was news editor on the staff. In addition to her work on the paper, Virginia has been active in "Y" work, serving this year as chairman of the membership committee, and last year as chairman of the service committee. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, Kappa Delta Pi, and Beore Eh Thorn.

Lillian Elliott, who will edit the 1946 Virginian, comes from the photographic staff of the annual. She has been active in the Dramatic Club and this year serves as head of the lighting group.

Nancy Whitehead has been a member of the literary staff of the Colonnade for two years and has been a frequent contributor to the magazine, both in writing and in art work.

Shirley Slaughter, who is a transfer this year from Agnes Scott College, has been on the staff of the Rotunda since last fall. She has had previous experience on newspaper work. Shirley was one of the discussion assistants for the War Emphasis Day program last week.

Sue Hundley has been on the staff of the annual for two years. She is also on the feature staff of the Rotunda and has been active in work in her class.

Shirley Cruser, who will be business manager of the 1946 Virginian, has been on the staff of the annual for three years. She has served as class treasurer and this year is chairman of the public affairs committee of the Y. W. C. A. She is a member of Beore Eh Thorn and Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Ruth Brooks, newly selected business manager of the Rotunda, has been circulation manager for the past two years. She has been active in other organizations on campus, including the Dramatic Club and Student Standards.

Complete staffs for each of the publications will be announced at a later date.

Pickett Chaplain Emphasizes Totality of Global Conflict

"We are in a war, and we are not yet about to win that war," Major Noel T. Adams said repeatedly during his talk to the student body here on last Wednesday, War Emphasis Day.

Major Adams, who served for two years under General Patton in Africa and in Italy, said that there were many people in this country who did not seem yet to realize that this nation is actually in a war, and with an enemy that has no scruples at all, an enemy that he said, was not to be trusted under any circumstances.

"The war is by no means won," the veteran chaplain emphasized in his talk. We have been fed all kind of propaganda about the success of our bombing raids over Germany, but Germany prepared for this war by placing most of her essential factories and industries under ground where all manner of bombing will not hinder their working."

"And when we get to Berlin, what then? There are hundreds of other towns in Germany," Major Adams told the student body. He warned the students about over-optimism, told of specific examples where the war has been actually hindered because over-optimism has resulted in a letting up of work.

"We are not yet about to win this war," the chaplain said over and over in his talk. He told of the character of the Germans as observed from the battlefront, where he has served as two years as staff chaplain.

Rattray Named Head Of Frosh Production

At a class meeting last week, Ting Rattray was elected chairman of the freshman production to be held on March 27 in the large auditorium.

Ting has had experience along the dramatic line at Stuart Hall where she wrote and directed the senior production last year and planned programs for Alpha Literary Society.

Committees named for the production are Peggy Moore and Joyce Hill; music, "Dew" James, costumes; Mary Anne Morris, dance; Helen Moneyhum, finance; Anne Kucera and Mole Mason, script; and Helen Griffin, publicity; Peepsie Brooks, president of the class, will serve in an ex-officio capacity.

$1397.50 Collected For War Chest Drive

Thirteen hundred ninety seven dollars and fifty cents was the total amount given to the War Chest Drive. The goal for S. T. C. students and faculty was $1500. This drive was sponsored by the Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A. and was headed by Shirley Cruser. It began February 14, and was concluded February 21.

The War Chest Drive included the Red Cross and World Student Service Fund drives. The Red Cross money will be turned in to the War Council, and they will send it to the Red Cross. The World Student Service Fund money, together with that raised by other colleges, will be added to that drive. The money is used for those war students interned in America as well as in other countries.

Commencement Set For Mon., June 4, Wade Announces

Johnson Selected Giftorian of Class

Commencement exercises are set this year for Monday, June 4, Eleanor Wade, president of the senior class announced at a meeting last week. The program has been shortened by one day, and the entire graduation exercises will last from June 2 through June 4.

The exercises will begin Saturday, June 2 with class day exercises in the auditorium. Fay Bird Johnson has been selected as class giftorian, and she will present the gifts to the school, and to the class officers at this program. Gifts to the individual members will be awarded at the senior banquet.

Marilyn Bell, who was chosen class historian, will present a brief history of the class of 1945 at the class day program. Immediately following the program in the auditorium, the traditional daisy chain with the seniors and their little sisters will be formed.

The reception for the seniors is scheduled for Saturday night in the student lounge. Following the reception the seniors and their little sisters will form the lantern parade through the Colonnade and the Rotunda.

The baccalaureate services are slated for Sunday night, June 3.

The final part of the exercises are the commencement exercises, scheduled for Monday morning, June 4.

Speakers for the graduation programs will be announced at a later date.

March 3-4 Slated For I-V Conference On Local Campus

Meetings To Begin At 1:30 Saturday

The Student Conference of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship from Virginia, North Carolina, and Washington, D. C., will meet here at Farmville the week end of March 3-4, Carolyn Boothe, president, has announced. The Conference will begin at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, March 3, and end Sunday afternoon, March 4. The delegates from the other colleges will be accommodated on this campus and in town. Delegates are expected from Duke University, Randolph-Macon, Mary Washington, and other schools.

Among the speakers to be present will be Robert N. Oerter from Princeton University; Elwyn Smith, Washington, D. C.; Albert Newport, and Ethel Smith. The theme of the conference will be "Christ in You."

The faculty and student body at S. T. C. are cordially invited to all the sessions of this conference.

Y. W. C. A. Committee Gives Annual Party

Friday night at 9 o'clock there will be a Big-sister-Little sister coke and nab party in the Rec. The party is being sponsored by the Membership Committee of the "Y", of which Virginia Treakle is chairman.

Ann Blair is in charge of the food committee, Carmen Flores heads the serving committee, Elizabeth McLean serves as publicity chairman, and Norma Soyars will provide the entertainment.

Local Shoe Drive Sponsored by YWCA

Sponsored by the Service Committee of the "Y", of which Rachel Brugh is chairman, a shoe drive will be sponsored on the campus on Thursday night, March 1 from 10 to 10:30 o'clock.

The only requirement is that the shoes have low heels, and it does not matter how badly worn they are as the Prince Edward Welfare Department will have them repaired before distributing them.

Members of the Service Committee will canvass the halls to collect the shoes.

Integrity, Fair Play Needed In Elections

Next week comes the time again for major elections on this campus. Such elections place a large responsibility on the students here. It is the duty of each student to know the offices that are to be filled, to know the qualifications for each, and to choose the student most capable of filling that office.

First in line comes the presidency of the Student Body. She must be chosen with care, for she is to be the leader of the student throughout the year in all things. In addition, she is the president of the Student Council, the executive body of the Student Government Association. The same thing will hold true in a lesser degree for all officers of the Student Government.

The president of the YWCA has a most responsible position. In a way, she is the spiritual leader of the school, and it is with this in mind that the members of the student body should vote.

The position of president of the House Council is a difficult one. It is the duty of this student to maintain order and quiet within the dormitories. A girl who gives in easily to the pleas of her fellows is not the one for this position. She must be positive, and she must be a leader in all respects. The same is true for the other elected members of the House Council.

To the president of the Athletic Association is assigned the task of keeping the student body in a frame of mind for physical fitness. She does not necessarily have to excel in all sports herself, but she must be able to lead and to put across the program of athletics sports as presented on this campus.

There are other elected officers, the dining room hostess, and the freshman counselor, both of which must be strong students with a keen sense of leadership.

Election time is the time to put aside prejudice and favoritism and to vote for the girls who will make the best officers. Can't we, as a student body, keep such things as personal integrity and fair play in mind when we go to vote for the major and minor officers for the coming year?

In Appreciation: War Emphasis Day

On last Wednesday, all classes and meetings were ceased in order that we, the students at Farmville, might broaden our thoughts from campus to get a world outlook. Last week we were given an opportunity to concentrate our every thought on the peace table as we discussed what each of the major Allied Nations has contributed to this global conflict, what each of these nations expects to get and what each nation will get as a result of this global strife.

Initiated on this campus three years ago, the plan for a full day devoted to discussion groups, lectures, etc., is, we feel, the very thing that should be done. As a result of last Wednesday, we feel sure that every student who took any part in this day of war emphasis is now better prepared to read and to interpret more intelligently what she reads. This day was not designed to be a time when each of us could learn all there was to learn about this vast world in which we are now living. That could be too much to grasp in weeks, even months. It was, however, planned as a day when backgrounds would be presented, when people who had studied these problems would have a chance to share their thoughts, and a day when intellects would be challenged to dig even deeper into the thing or things which interest us.

It is also a day when we got a clearer picture of a complex world. By having had an Army officer who has actually served overseas talk to us, we are better able to realize how much we are a part of the whole world. Then the truths which he presented are truths which all of us must realize. Each of us must realize that we are in the midst of a war and that this war is not yet won. Only with this attitude can we really be the citizens that we should be and only then can we realize how important our part on the home front really is.

We do realize the importance and the worth of this day of emphasis on the disastrous war and the peace that is to follow that will prevent our entering World War III. To the faculty and administration who made this day possible, we do give our thanks. Then to the War Council who planned the program that we might better understand this world in which we are living, its problems and oportunities, we are truly grateful.

Only we, as students of today and future citizens of tomorrow, understand the complexity of the problems can we have the insight and knowledge that will be necessary in formulating peace treaties. It may be true that those of us here may never sit at the world's peace table, but some college students of today will be sitting there, determining the destiny of the world.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1945

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

"Twenty-five years ago I predicted the victory of our movement. Today, filled as always with belief in our nation, I predict final victory for the German race." Thus said Hitler on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the announcement of the National Socialist program. His prediction does not coincide with the progress of the war today.

* * * *

Already Russian troops are within the city of Breslau and thirty-three miles from Danzig. Breslau is Germany's eigth largest city and any obstruction here will delay the Russian advance toward Berlin and Dresden.

* * * *

"General Eisenhower's two army offensives, bent on destroying the German army west of the Rhine, is rolling forward." Germany claims it is the greatest offensive Eisenhower has ever staged. Despite this, Eisenhower does not foresee an early victory when he says. If the German continue to show the spirit he has now, there is only one way he can be beaten—the Allied armies must meet the Russian armies in the ce nter of Germany."

* * * *

The three week old battle for Manila has ended with more than 12,000 enemy dead. The fighting does not stop here, how ever.. One of the most vicious battles in history is being fought on the tiny island of Iwo Jima. This is the toughest battle of the Pacific, even tougher than Saipan, Guadalcanal, Leyte, all the rest. The Marine dead already number over 600 and the fight is not finished.

* * * *

Saving the best news for last—Turkey and Egypt have declared war on the Axis. What does defiiant Hitler say to all this?—He's still predicting final victory for the German race.

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

Quoting statistics and not merely the grapevine system, we understand approximately half the girls left school this week-end. Accordingly, things going on after bedcheck were a bit slowed down. The arrival of Betty Kiger back on campus after almost two years absence was a grand and glorious sight to behold. She will always have a particular place in the hearts of the class of '45.

Then there was the invasion of STC by Fork Union Saturda;y that couldn't exactly go unnoticed. They don't exactly take the place of old HSC veterans, but they certainly added a little life in numerous of the otherwise moldy corners around. .

Martha Wells journeyed away this week-end to be with Red AND his family. That has all the earmarks!

Among those keeping usually late hours at VPI (dear old deserted Tech) were Maude Savage, Janie Hanks, Dottie Hubbard, and Bettie Epperson. Good to have STC represented in all points west! And from all accounts, those gals didn't sleep through anything all week-end!

Ann Tucker headed home to be with Bobby for the fifth consecutive week-end—and tho' a bit premature for the adage about spring that gal is really in love.

Lou Baker and Barbara Montgomery found at Randolph-Macon, along with the excitement, two beautiful orchids, with which they returned to school looking very glamorous and self-satisfied: "Mission Accomplished!"

Betty Blackwell was surprised while at home Saturday to receive a call from Paul of HSC fame. And so they arranged to meet and so it goes.

Anne Mapp and Julie seeking (we're not sure what) headed for the Eastern Shore. Guess the return home of two of Uncle Sam's nephews might have had some remote influence.

While here on campus we found Virginia Naylor and Betty Ellis quite the personfication of damsels in distress with the non-arrival of their scheduled dates. We all agree—nothing is more disturbing.

We hear vaguely of Marilyn Bell's innocent dreams of Grace's deserting "Bottom"—Surely nothing as tragic as that will ever come to pass—even after Bedcheck!

We understand that Mary Watkins came back to school still smiling after a "bust-up" that should have upset her. Is that just a mask, or what?

Julia Messick's automatic reference to "Ned" when suddenly pleased, is still a mystery. There must be more there than surface would suggest!

And after all this, perhaps it is time to sleep. After all, it is after Bedcheck.

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

March is "Go - To - Church" month. Then will be the time for all of us who have grown careless about our churchgoing to renew this habit. Let's all do our best to make it a success.

The Little Sister-Big Sister party is to be Friday night at 9 in the Rec. The Little Sisters will ask the Big Sisters. So be sure to get in touch with them before Friday night, all you Little Sisters. Lots of fun is expected.

"The Word of God" is the theme for Prayers this week. Tonight there will be a musical program; tomorrow night the subject is "The World's Greatest Teacher"; and Friday night, "Be Doers of the Word."

There will be a representative from the American Red Cross to speak to us in Chapel Friday. She will organize a Unit here on our campus. This is a time for each of us to be a real part of the American Red Cross. All sorts of activities will come under the Unit so that everybody in school may participate.

Coke 'n' Nab Party

Faculty Let Hair Way Down For War Emphasis Program

MARGARET WILSON

Well, War Day was a success from start to finish, and what a finish! Our venerable faculty let its hair way down, to the vast delight of all present. From the classroom of S. T. C.—'45 style—to the club room of the notorious American Legion—1920 vintage, was quite a leap, but not too much for our versatile instructors. Their talents, it appears, lie in more directions than meet the eye.

To begin with the well-known beginning, the multitude assembled in the auditorium with great expectations. A rumor had been sneaking around for some time to the effect that the lord of the biology lab was also master of the keyboard. And did he live up to his reputation! Accorded a spontaneous and enthusiastic ovation upon his entrance into the hall via a side entrance, the maestro responded with a very gratifying shade of crimson and disappeared back-stage. Still later, Dr. Simkins, an innocent spectator to the antics of his fellows, entered, and was greeted by applause which he failed to realize was for him. (We thought he might like to know)

But back to the performance. Ushered into the Legion's club room, the audience immediately began a roar which was to continue throughout the evening. Where do we begin to describe the galaxy of talent? Well, we suppose the solution is "just plunge in and pray for adjectives!"

We have mentioned Professor Dagwood Davisson and his jumping jive. Now we shall proceed to Mr. Moss of the barber shop bass and the expressive pantomime. Who'd ever have thought it? He's so enthusiastic about that dawgone tariff questions, too.

Next we come to Mr. Coyner and Mr. Holton—potential hepcats, hereafter to be known as "the Voices". The distinguished quartet favored us with a stirring rendition of "Over There" followed by a mournful interpretation of "Typerary" and a gusty presentation of "Mr Zip Zip Zip."

Then and there the proceedings were interrupted by small pest Mary Anne Jarratt, asking plaintively "Can I say it now, Daddy, huh Daddy, huh?" She said it! She ain't gonna wash herself, by gosh!

Hitherto unheralded talent was displayed by Miss Burger, whose accordian solo was quite the scoop of the evening Her duet with Mrs.

Continued on Page 3

To the Editor:

Dear Editor,

War Day was instituted on this campus in 1943, for the purpose of acquainting the students with various phases of the present conflict. The student was to attend discussion groups to attain further information, to attend the large auditorium summaries and to hear the guest speaker there. It was to help the student to further understand his place in this chaos and to make him realize the tragedy that is going on.

Another War Day has come and gone with the aforementioned schedule open to the students. There were no classes. The reaction of this college student body to the program during a war year is appalling. In the first place, some people did not even bother to attend a discussion group. In the second place, the auditorium was only half-filled when the summaries were given. And in the third, the afternoon speaker, who has been in a war theater for active duty, addressed a half-filled house. If each student had attended there would not have been seats for all.

And indeed Major Adams' words, "The American people have not yet realized they are at war," hit home. Because we don't. Our attendance proved this—our complete disinterest showed this. And the sad part is we don't even have excuses. In fact we are so completely disinterested for the most part, we don't even bother. A feeble protest was given by some few to the effect that the whole idea was "boring" a term often applied to something we care not to bother about.

With the exception of a pitifully small per cent of those whom the war has touched tragically, of those who keep themselves informed on the intimate progress in various theatres and of those who do all their very best to write, roll bandages, give blood, observe rationing rules and other war regulations, we must all accept the true picture. We must accept these others' condemnation. We are slackers. We are gold-bricking for those millions over there who are protecting us. We are cowards and traitors. We are Hitler's and Hirohito's best friends. And how we can look Joe in the face when he gets home with his Purple Heart, if he indeed gets home is for our individual conscience to decide. We have cared only for our own blessed skins and everybody else can go hang. Fie on us all for wallowing in our own soft comfort, pitiful sluggards that we are!

I challenge anyone who is a sluggard, slacker, or betrayer of Joe to deny or refute this true attitude towards the war and War Day.

Fay Byrd Johnson

Ping Pong Tourney Begins This Week

Points Go Toward Class Color Cup

The ping pong tournament began this week. This year it will be a round robin tournament. Each girl in the tournament will play every other girl, and the girl who totals the most points will win the five points toward the color cup for class.

The tournament has been divided into rounds. In the first round, Mary Walker Watts plays Nellie Smith, Lucille Jones plays Frances Lee, Ophelia Whittle plays Rebecca Tomlinson, Louise Blane plays Joyce Johnson, Margaret Orange plays Jean Bentley, Bobbie Scott plays Nancy Parrish and Phyllis Watts plays Dot White.

In the second round Mary Walker Watts plays Frances Lee, Nellie Smith plays Lucille Jones, Ophelia Whittle plays Joyce Johnson, Rebecca Tomlinson plays Louise Blane, Regina Portinaro plays Margaret Orange, Betty Parrish plays Jean Bentley, Bobbie Scott plays Phyllis Watts and Dot White plays Nancy Parrish.

The opponents must play two games of 21 points each. The loser records the score and gives it to Phyllis Watts ping pong manager, to post each day on the athletic board. The rules will be posed, and the participants are asked to follow them closely.

Decorations Make STC Rooms Gay, Entertaining, Odd

The rooms at S. T. C. are certainly gay in appearance and most entertaining if one should ever notice all the odd and numerous, yet attractive creations that the most hospitable inhabitants dangle from their walls. It's almost a wonder that they (the walls) aren't buckling from all those fanciful objects which show nothing but ingenuity on the part of the inventor—anyway her likes and dislikes.

The first moment you step in one of these capricious rooms, and don't think they can't change over night, one is completely aware of whom the fair occupant is partial to. If it is a sailor, there will be crisp white hats in honor of the navy—stickers and what have you. If she is partial to a cadet — maybe V. P. I., maybe V. M. I. there will be flashy colors, little mascots, pennants, and an occasional Ring Dance picture. If the happy one is all in favor of the Air Corps, and you, by fate, are slightly on the tall side, you may be forced to crawl in to visit your friend in order to avoid a squadron of B - 29's trailing down from the in the hall.

ceiling. Better still, call her out in the hall.

Again you can make a pretty good guess as to what the girl on the hall's major is. If it is Biology there will be numerous weird objects about. Can't say we didn't warn you, 'cause you might encounter a brain or some small boney skeleton. Of course there is the Art major who has any number of colorful masterpieces taking up the wall space, or the Phys. Ed. major who has everything from the dangling form of a stuffed bathing suit to baseball bats.

When we came across one room that included a peanut man and Johnny, the Philip Morris boy, among its posters and pictures, we decided that those wayward girls were particularly fond of eating and smoking, or, shall we say, they used to be.

Continued on Page 4

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

FANCY FUN

Edith Duffey has difficulty keeping the mind of her mount off the tender morsels of grass on the Longwood Lawn.

Telegraphic Meet Begun on Campus

Tuesday, February 27, at 5:15 in the swimming pool, the first part of the telegraphic meet was held. Swimmers in the meet were Mildred Shepherd, Kitty Kearsley, Jean Smith, Elise Hume, Betty Lou Hayward, Phyllis Watts, Anne Summers, Virginia Younce, Carol Jenkins and Frances Lee.

In this first meet, the events were the 100 yard free style relay, 40 yard crawl, 100 yard breast stroke, and the 100 yard back stroke. The telegraphic meet is usually held all in one day, but this year it has been divided into two sections, the second meet being held next Monday, March , at 9:00 p. m. In the second meet, the events will be the 75 yard medley 40 yard back stroke, 40 yard breast stroke and the 100 yard crawl.

The telegraphic meet is held each year by colleges throughout the South because the gas and tire shortage prevents the girls from all meeting at one college for the meet. One college is selected as hostess for the year, and all the timings and winners from each college are wired into the hostess school. There they are tabulated and recorded, and the winners are announced by wire.

Let's Hair Down

Continued from Page 2

Bradshaw was another surprise. And she can cook, too.

The only calm interlude of the performance was furnished by Mrs. Bradshaw, whose piano playing is worth talking about anytime.

But Miss Kay, truly the dancer supreme! We heard one whistle-long and low—which resounded from third row center to the Weyanoke. And that wasn't Jeb Stuart's caivary either—just S. T. C. askin' for more!

Your War Bond Investment Is Your Investment In America . . .

Try Our HAMBURGER Special!
with
Cole Slaw, French Fries, Drink
35c
Southside Drug Store

Place Your Order for EASTER FLOWERS early!
Phone 141—Day
Phone 8—Night
Collins Florist

MEET ME
at
SHANNON'S

Try our delicious homemade pies!
You will enjoy them
10c a slice
College Shoppe

Left Lead

"A horse, a horse . . . my kingdom for a horse!" This is the kind of weather that brings the famous cry from the lips of every horse lover in and around school, from the time they wade though the balmy mornings to breakfast 'till the time they drift back with the evenin' breezes—after the library closes.

In fact, some people were so hard up for a mount this weekend that they dared to board Beauty for a minor thrill. Beauty, for the information of those of you who haven't had the dubious pleasure, is the two-by-four piece of spotted horse flesh that Mr. Reid likes to call a pony! It seems strange to us . . . wee Denny can ride the little beast for hours at a time, and Mr. Reid has no trouble at all with her, but let a stranger get a bit presumptious and there's no doubt as to results. Pauline Barnes was one of the several who were tossed off time and again in this latest escapade. Pauline as a result, sports a splint and a sling on her right arm. Too bad, "Petun" . . . next time Git a Hoss!

LONE RANGER

The funniest thing we've seen on a horse lately . . . but let's begin at a logical beginning. You see, Phantom Lady is gone, and in her place stands the gentle Snowball white and tall . . . and of his own opinion about things. As long as the group is ambling along at a slow, easy walk, Snowball is right in there with 'em . . . but let the pace speed up a bit, and he just doesn't understand. Why trot when he can walk? Why canter if he decides to trot? And why don't the rest of the gang wait for him when he doesn't decide to do anything? Truly, his attitude is plaintive, and he just doesn't understand. But back to our story.

Saturday was a big day for the Dan't Booners who blazed a new trail off through the fields behind the dirt road. Kim was up on Snowball, eager to try him again after a successful, if slow, trail ride several days before. After each refreshing trot, there was a general slow walk to wait for Kim and the white horse to catch up. After each brisk canter, there came a general standstill for the same reason. At last the pine woods and rugged creek banks made fast travelling impossible, and there were no laggers. But then came the daring Plunge into the thicket! Everyone plunged . . . except Snowball, and Kim's persuasions were non-effective. He just didn't like the woods and wasn't gonna risk his neck along that cliff edge. So without any more to-do, Kim took the high road, and the gang expected to meet again just beyond the thicket. Half-way to clear land a terrifically loud and lonesome whinny re-echoed over the countryside, and the gang looked back to see a perfect replica of the Lone Ranger! High in an open field on top a hill, outlined against the sky, tail grasses waving about his feet, stood Snowball . . . head lifted mane blowing, literally screaming to others to wait for him. He was

Continued on Page 4

Patronize
PATTERSON'S
Unexcelled Soda Service
Prescriptions a Specialty
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES
MONTAG STATIONERY
The complete drug store
PATTERSON DRUG CO.
328 MAIN STREET

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Varied Assortment of Stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

This weeks proves most eventful in the athletic calendar for winter sports activities. The volleyball, basketball, and ping pong tournaments have begun. Good luck to green and white and red and white. The first meet of the telegraphic meet was held this past Tuesday, so this is also another event for the week.

SWIMMING

At last the long awaited for telegraphic meet was held Tuesday, with the second part of the meet coming up next Monday. If you didn't have a chance to attend the meet this past Tuesday, then be sure to turn out on Monday to support the swimmers. A little cheering from sidelines is always encouraging, and don't forget these girls are swimming for STC.

When the telegraphic meet ends, let's not let the interest in swimming die down. Swimming is one of the best sports to participate in, for it exercises all of the muscles of the body. Learning to swim can be lots of fun, and since physical education is a required subject now, try to get swimming on your schedule for one of your classes. Come out for recreational swimming during the week, and especially on Saturday nights. You can always make the movie, and still have time to come down to to the ole swimming hole with the gang for an hour of merriment.

RIDING

With surprise weather that Mother Nature has been giving us lately, it is only natural that on one of these spring days you want to be outside in the fresh air and sunshine. A long trail ride is one of the best ways to satisfy this feeling. On Sunday afternoons, the trail rides are open to girls who are not regular participants in riding classes. The only qualification you must have is that you wear riding jodphurs or pants, for blue jeans and slacks are not very atractive clothing to wear on Sunday afternoons.

You need not worry too much for the girls who takes you out on the ride will be a dependable person who will look after you. Don't be modest and not let them know you have never ridden before, or haven't been on a horse for years, for they will want to know these things in order to take better care of you. Gather up your friends, see Joyce Cheatwood, and off you go for an eventful afternoon in the Virginia sun.

REDUCING

So you want to lose weight? The first thing yours truly suggests, is that if you plan to go on a diet, be sure to get a doctor's advice on this, for incorrect dieting can effect you physically and mentally, too. Exercise is really the best way to lose weight, and there are many ways of doing this. But the first rule you must make is to yourself. Stick to it, or you won't be able to see the improvement you so long for.

There are several kinds of exercises to us for reducing, and the best thing to do is look around for some reliable ones first. Then when you find the one that you think you would prefer, start out with the easiest ones first. Be sure to do them mildly at the beginning, for if you start out too enthusiastically and wear yourself out the first night, sore muscles will definitely be your penalty the next day.

Just before retiring at night is the best time to take these exercises, and keep them up regularly. It won't be long before you will possess that girlish figure. Don't forget also, that good health habits, plenty of fresh air and sleep are also imporant.

Until next week stay in the game, and to red and white and green and white class teams, good luck on your future tournaments.

All Popular Comic Magazines
10c
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

COMPLIMENTS
—of—
Lynn's Jewelry Store

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to Eat and Drink
Butcher's
High Street

Sports Captains Chosen this Week

Teams Will Be Selected Soon

The volleyball and basketball round robin tournaments will begin this week. Captains have been selected, and with the help of Miss Olive T. Iler, coach, they will select their class teams. The tournaments will be played off during the regular class periods, and in volleyball, two captains have been selected to represent the juniors and sophomores for the two alternate days that the class meets.

Captains of volleyball are freshman, Jean Bentley, sophomores, Heidi Lacey, and Barbara Lee Myers, juniors, Betty Ellis, and Phyllis Watts and senior, Margaret Bear. Basketball captains are senior, Mary Walker Watts, junior, Lillian Elliott, sophomore, Margaret Lohr and freshman Alice Abernathy.

The class winning the most games will be declared the champions of these tournaments, and the two teams toaling the most points for helr class colors will win the five points for the color cup for volleyball, and the ten points for basketball.

VISIT—
MARTIN
The Jeweler

PHONE
78
WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES
WELL'S TAXI
Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

SPECIAL SHOE SALE
—ODD LOTS—

WOMEN'S RATIONED SHOES
Reduced 25% and more

Approved by O. P. A.
No Stamp Needed
February 19th to March 10th
First Floor and Bargain Basement
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Hair-do Prevents Pre-Spring Slump

Do you feel a pre-spring slump? Well, so do many of your sisters, and if I may make a suggestion, why not give your morale a boast with a new hairdo. It will put you in the mood for new spring hats. Try it and see for yourself!

The flat top is definitely the most popular current hair style. Parted on the side, with soft waves and loose banely curled ends, caught on the side in a silver individual barette. This is a practical, and easy-to-care for, and easy-to-stay neat style for school girls. Just suits a skirt and sweater, too.

For Sundays and special dates, girls, get out Grandma's rats, and go all out for sophisticated and smooth coiffuers. Thin hair can be made to appear much thicker and lustrous rolled around a rat, and the smooth roll around the head is very flattering to many faces. Try this at the next H.S.C.-S.T.C. dance, and see what results it brings.

Hair arrangement is very important to every girl, because lovely hair arranged suitably and neatly, enhances one's natural beauty much more than any make-up or artificial means could. It is a woman's "crowning glory," literally, and nightly sessions with a brush can do wonders to produce the shining tresses that every girl should possess by nature.

Wise girls know that weekly shampoos and a few minutes spent nightly pinning up the ends, pay real dividends in creating that well-groomed look.

So, here's a word to the wise, care of the hair, and a little experimenting with the arrangement of it, will give one a boast that will last well on into spring.

—By Evelyn Grizzard

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

lost, and not at all happy about it! Kim was of the same mood . . . with a little plain disgust thrown in. When the other riders had overcome their hysterics and called out sympathetically, "Here we are, boy . . . down here" . . . and the realization came that he was less than a mile away (much less) then came the charge! Straight down the hill at a real gallop, to rollicking tune of "Give me land, lots of land!" came the Lone Ranger and her trusty steed . . . and peace reigned again at the happy reunion. He wasn't being obstinate, he was just lonesome!

SUNDAY CAPERS

Sunday was a big day for beginners . . . as well as others. It isn't every day we see Joyce and Jean Carter as spruced up as they were then. Nor is it every Sunday that as many exciting bits of riding can take place. We forget them all . . . check with Betty Ellis for the more exciting ones.

Incidentally, when you're taking those Sunday jaunts to Longwood, Joyce reminds us to please keep off the grass . . . except for that on the left side of the road on the way to the ring. Mr. Graham and Jack have the responsibility of keeping the lawns and the golf course in condition, and it behooves no good to have the green cut up and slashed with the hoof prints and skid marks. Use the roadways over the golf course and down to the Spring and into the woods, but please don't abuse our riding privileges by marring the Longwood territory.

TID-BITS

We saw an interesting thing yesterday . . .a saw horse with a saddle on it. May we recommend this particular breed for the ones who prefer a quiter ride . . . with milder results . . The shack at the stables underwent a thorough cleaning this week. Tackle the tack room next, and Spring Fever won't catch us with our house cleaning to do . . . Woe be unto otherwise welcome visitors to S. T. C. if they visit a riding enthusiast. We enjoyed meeting Katherine Duff . . hope she'll feel equal to coming again!

Don't forget to make up your rides by the end of the quarter . . . they no can carry over into Spring. Don't forget, too, please, keep off the grass, but stay on the bit!

Pegasus

★ SENIOR ★ PERSONALITY ★

MARILYN BELL

Far down the halls we hear a loud voice and as we come closer, we notice a pair of hands flying recklessly in the air. No doubt this "hand personality" will serve to identify Marilyn Bell, retiring editor of the Virginian, on whom we will turn the first Senior Spotlight of the year. This interesting personality has revealed to us a knack for creativity and originality which has been displayed in the writing of class songs and the directing of numerous sings, productions, and circuses. Probably her greatest work next to the annual will be the History of the Class of '45 which she will disclose to us on the morning of June 4.

Marilyn has taken a lot of razzing about the loud voice, but as a member of the Debate Club, she could convince almost anybody that black is white. As vice president of her Junior and Sophomore classes and U. S. O. chairman last year her qualities of leadership, were successfully unfolded. We saw for the first time her dramatic side when she played one of the leading roles in "Cry Havoc", the fall play. When we remember that she will shine forth on the May Court, we need say no more about her looks.

Off the record, she will probably be rememebered for her unforgetable gift of gab. We are often amazed how she ever gets anything done since she's never still a minute, but she could talk her way out of anything, a trait which amazes even the faculty. Incidentally, next to talking, she likes movies, poetry, Clark bars, good music, desserts in the tea room and her own jokes. She hates people who bite their fingernails, crack their knuckles, button only the middle button of their jacket, and fail to roll up their hair. Her favorite expressions of the moment are "knee slapper" and A. F. . . .

We shall never forget her sincere belief in Anonymous (the unknown lover) who will come back from the wars to marry her, and oh, yes! the wild future which she and Carol Diggs have planned for themselves in Chicago. Most likely she will end up in Richmond, the home town, only to pour chemistry into so-called students' heads for the rest of her life. This calls for a quotation from one of her favorite songs, "I went around in my own little crowd, the usual laughs not often but loud."

Bring your clothes for prompt service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANNE BUCK

The bug bit everyone at one time. At any rate, a host of S. T. C'ers went buzzing out of the Rotunda door, all at the same time Saturday. The college was practically vacated. If you were at school, you know what a non-exciting week-end was had. Not even H. S. V-12's were to be seen. Maybe that accounts for so many S. T. C'ers getting the move on them.

Who could have spent a better week-end than those beckoned by the call of "Moonlight and V. P. I." Attending the dance in Blacksburg were Mary Stewart Buford, Marcheta Cunningham, Betty Epperson, Bettie Ewell, adne Hankss, Dorothy Hubbard, Nancy Parrish, Betty Parrish, Maude Savage, and Nancy Blair.

If you had been in Richmond, you would have thought no one less than Santa Claus or Frank Sinatra was there. There must have been something to attract Mary Morton Fontaine, Fan Timmins, Virginia Terrell, Edith Sanford, Janet Sollenberger, Nell Scott, Anne Shuffiebarger, Alice Smith, Mildred Shepherd, Esther Shevick, Mildred Shifflet, Berkeley Richardson, Iris Quillen, Irene Pomeroy, Mary Ann Morris, Virginia Marshall, Pat MacLear, Frances Lee and Sarah Leech.

Also Betty Lee, Elizabeth Kaiser, Beatrice Jones, Margie Hewlett, Gene Harrison, Dorothy Haile, Anne Hauser, Jean Ganzert, Anne Gregory, Mae Ethin, Lois Alma, Ruth Fleming, Virginia Elliott, Alma Davis, Joyce Cheatwood, Claire Clarke, Betty and Jane Burchett, Corinne Baker, H. Bennett, Lucy Brailey, Kitty Sue Bridgforth, Louise Blane, and yours truly. Ruth Brooks, Jean Parry, and Ruth Whitten attended the dance recital at the Mosque.

Lynchburg was bubbling over wih Annie Gay Wood, Marjorie Vaughan, Joyce Sisk, Betty Bibb, Mary Lou Bagley, Anna Lee Blanton, Christine Bunch, Mary William Calvert, Sue Davis, Doris Hancock, Charlotte Hutter, Martha Jones, Catherine Lynch, Sara Moling, Betty Mitchell, Katherine Prebble, Betty Plunkett, Sally Robertson, Jane Ruffin, Mary Rucker, and Shirley Slaughter.

There was no place like Roanoke, say Betty Jane Austin, Betty Blackwell, Jeanne Button, Lois Kavanaugh, Louise Layman, Jacquelin McClaugherty, Bettie Withers, Janne Sayers and Helen Savage who are still recuperating from last week end.

All good must end some time say the girls who ventured out of state, as Marion Lotts in Washington, D. C.; Susan Pansler in Silver Spring, Md.; Joselyn James in Havre de Grace, Md.; Elise Hume in Bluefield, W. Va.; Margaret Jones in Wilkersboro, N. C.; Glenn Ann Patterson in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Finding "big time" in Danville were Caroline Collie, Dorothy Daniel, Dorothy Geiston, Nancy Magner, Ann Masloff, Lenora Perkins, and Virginia T. Pullen.

Finding more than sailors in Portsmouth were Mary Cam Butt, Freddie Butt, Josephine Cooke, Dorothy Cummings, Nancy Duncan, Daphne Plittman, Jane Short, and Martha Wells.

Lawrenceville was attractive in the eyes of Virginia Bailey, Constance Pembertin, and Mary Wallace.

Others knowing the pleasure of being away from school were Estoline Anderson and Martha Anderson in Andersonville; Grace Anderson in Clarkton; Hilda Mae Abenathy in Cochran; Jean Kent and Ellen Smith in Altavista; Lucie McKenry in Arlington; Joanne Torley at Natural Bridge; Elizabeth Harvard in Norfolk; Helen Apperson in Newport News; Jane Knapton in Covington; Ruth Fleming, Virginia Love and Mary Robertson in Chase City; Margaret Elliett in Jennings Ordinary.

Also Agnes Stokes in Salem; Lucille Davidson and Mabel Weaver in Fredericksburg; Mary Cowherd in Cartersville; Margaret Bear and Betty Lou Saver in Churchville; Catherine Bickle and Lucile Jones in Staunton; Peggy Moore and Dorothy White in Clifton Forge; Betty Brothers, Alice Hannah and Ann Martin in Suffolk; Carolyn Bobbitt, Mary Copley, Josephine Clayton and Elizabeth McLean in South Hill; Dot Bennett, Ann Bell, Anna Cosey and Nannis Sours in Chatham; Winifred Siaight in Yorktown and Frances Treakle in Kilmarnock, while Charlotte and Evelyn Grizzard went to Drewryville.

We were glad to see the former Mary Garden Martin, now Mrs. Johnny Wray back on campus for a visit last week.

S. T. C. Decorations

Continued from Page 3

There is one class of enthusiastic fiends all by themselves. One we know of has pictures of gremlins decorating her wall (as if we didn't have enough evils to elude) and they really are precious. Another heartless person has a sweet little doll dangling from a string and even when we've been tempted to do the same, we always refrained.

Let's not forget the movie fans 'cause it's pretty plain about them. If one favors Van Johnson (we can't blame her) her walls will be attractively filled with pictures of the beautiful one. The same goes for Stirling Hayden, The Voice, Alan Ladd, etc. We even know one girl with originality plus . . . Her pin up? None other than the great star of comedy and funny book . . . Buggs Bunny!

Buyers of coal and other solid fuels are entitled to receive from their dealers an invoice, sales slip or receipt that contains full information about the kind of coal sold to them and the price paid. This is required of dealers by an OPA provision effective November 11.

Some opposition is anticipated to the plan to decentralize big industries after the war. Opposition will be offered by Chamber of Commerce of the big towns and the labor bosses who can control labor more conveniently and effectively in the big centers than they can in the rural areas.

Those who like to forecast political events say that in the postwar set up, Russia is not going to have any unfriendly nations along her border and that England expects to control the Mediterranean and the territory along the Suez Canal, leaving South America and possibly China to oversight by the United States.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank
and
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co.
Farmville, Va.
Member: Federal Reserve System ....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

The State
YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER
IN FARMVILLE, VA.
Sun.—Mon.—Tues.—Wed.
JUDY GARLAND
MARGARET O'BRIEN
in
MEET ME IN ST. LOUIS
(TECHNICOLOR)

Attention, Students!

A war bond will be given to the girl attending the greatest number of church services and meetings during the month of March, Dean Martha Smith-Smith announced this week. Printed below is a form to be filled in and turned in to Dean Smith's office at the end of the month. In case of a tie, the amount will be divided into war stamps. Inter-Varsity Fellowship meetings will be counted as well as Sunday school and church meetings.

Record of Services and Meetings Attended During March, 1945

Saturday, March 3
(Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship Convention)

Opening meeting 2:30 p. m. .....
Reports and discussions 3:45 p. m.
Evening meeting 7:30 p. m. .....

Sunday, March 4 (All churches)

Sunday School .....
Morning Worship .....
Inter-Varsity Dis., 3:15 p. m. .....
Young Peoples Group .....
Evening Worship .....

Monday, March 5 (Episcopal)

Lenten worship 8 p. m. .....

Wed., March 7 (Episcopal)

Lenten worship 8 p. m. .....

Sunday, March 11 (All Churches)

Sunday School .....
Morning Worship .....
Young Peoples Group .....
Evening Worship .....

Mon., March 12 (Episcopal)

Lenten Worship 8 p. m. .....

Wed., March 14 (Episcopal)

Lenten Worship 8 p. m. .....

Monday-Friday, March 12-15

Meeting at Presbyterian Church with Rev. Hollingsworth.
March 12
March 13 .....
March 14 .....
March 15 .....
March 16 .....

Sun., March 18 (All Churches)

Sunday School .....
Morning Worship .....
Young Peoples Group .....
Evening Worship .....

Mon., March 19 (Episcopal)

Lenten Worship 8 p. m. .....

Wed., March 21 (Episcopal)

Lenten Worship 8 p. m. .....

Sunday, March 2 (All Churches)

Sunday School .....
Morning Worship .....
Young Peoples Group .....
Evening Worship .....

Union Service (Methodist church)

Monday, March 26 .....
Tuesday, March 27 .....
Wednesday, March 28 .....
Thursday, March 29 .....
Friday, March 30 .....
Saturday, March 31 .....

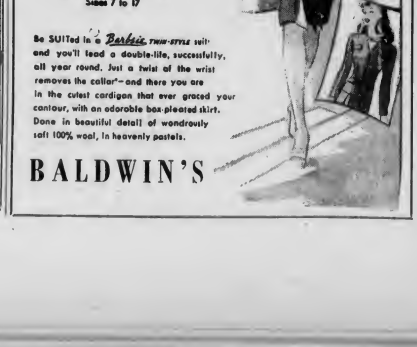
Scholastic Average Won by Mu Omega

Mu Omega sorority led the eight sororities on this campus in scholastic average for the entire group for last quarter. Miss Ruth Gleaves, Panhellenic adviser revealed recently. The average for the entire membrship in the sorority was 1.98.

Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority came in second with an average of 1.89. Third place was a tie between Alpha Sigma Tau and Phi Zeta Sigma with an average of 1.88.

The other sorority averages in order were Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.83; Theta Sigma Upsilon, 1.77; Gamma Theta 1.75, and Pi Kappa Sigma 1.58.

March 24 Named Date Of Panhellenic Dance



March 24 has been set as the date of the Pan-Hellenic dance, Jean Prosise, president of the Pan-Hellenic dance, Jean Prosise, Pan-Hellenic Council, announced Monday night.

Committee chairmen named for the dance are Marilyn Johnson, music; Martha Higgins, tickets; Evelyn Grizzard, invitations; Eleanor Bisese, decorations; and Carol Diggs, floor committee.

This is a family war. Put your War Bond buying through the payroll savings plan on a family plan, which means figure it out yourself.

SMART
Hair Rolls
50¢-79¢
• Feather light, soft, covered with fine netting, in different sizes, to suit your own style of hair-do. Black, Blonde, Medium or Dark Brown.
J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Library
Teachers College
nville, Virginia

COOPERATE WITH ODT

The Rotunda

DON'T MISS
THE PLAY

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1945 | No. 20

College Anniversary To Be Observed Saturday

STC Exodus Limited To 100 a Week-End, President Jarman Announces

Rule Not To Be An Iron-Clad One

ODT Requests Less Travel

In compliance with an ODT request to eliminate unnecessary travel, the exodus from S. T. C. will be limited to 100 students per week-end, Dr. J. L. Jarman announced in chapel yesterday morning.

Th tentative regulation was set up in view of the number of students who left school the last week-end, and wihin the next four weeks opportunity will be given to all students who did not leave campus last week-end to do so.

Students will sign up in the dean's office for the week-end which they want to leave, and in each case the first hundred only will be granted permission. This does not apply to students living in the vicinity of Farmville who do not use the bus or train, Dr Jarman said. Nor does it apply in any case when the student will leave and return by means other than the bus or train.

In any case, permission will be granted to students for emergency leave. Special permission will be granted by Dean Smith or Dr. Jarman, and reasonable cases will be considered.

"The rule is not to be iron-clad one," Dr. Jarman said, "but is to be a guide in limiting the number of students who leave each week-end. If this does not work out satisfactorily, something else will be tried."

Easter week-end, and Founder's Day week-end which is usually a closed weekend will be considered as any other week-end, Dr. Jarman said.

Bids Issued Tonight By Commercial Club

Tonight bids will be issued to the following freshmen Business Education majors to the Commercial Club, Mary Elizabeth Piqua, president of the club announced. All sophomore, junior and senior Business Education majors and minors are members.

Those freshmen who received bids include Margaret Abbott, Kathleen Blankenship, Louise Blackman, Audrey Bond, Marian Chase, Shirley Connelly, Josephine Cooke, Alice Coon, Eneida Costa, Mary Cowherd, Murlel Crostic, Iris Davis, Bettye DeBord, Shirley Didlake, Nancy Duncan, Virginia Elliott, Vivian Elmore, Betty Epperson, Miriam Estes, Susan Fansler, Mary Lee Farrier, Helen Field, Jean Freeman, Alma Fuller, Dorothy Fultz, Marian Gunn, Doris Hancock, Jacqueline Hancock, Dorothy Hubbard, Azele Hutt, Peggy Jacob, Clarice Jett, Margaret Jones, Edith Kirkland, and Anna Kucera.

Also Katie Lawrence, Virginia Love, Gladys McConnell, Evelyn Moore, Carolyn Murphy, Frances Mustian, Mary Nye, Dorothy Overton, Virginia Parris, Eleanor Parsons, Louise Pegram, Constance Pomberton, Betty Anne Plunkett, Arstelle Presley, Marguerite Reid, Maude Savage, Maxine Sayers, Elizabeth Scott, Nancy Jane Snead, Norma Soyars, Harriette Sutherlin, Hildrian Suttle, Jean Taylor, Mary Temple, Mary Jean Turner, Jane Underhill, Mary Wallace, Martha Warriner, Marion Wheelock, Nell Wilkinson, Joyce Williams, and Audrey Young.

In order to become a member of the Commercial Club, a C average must be made on all work.

Lynch Named New Business Manager To Succeed Hutt

Catherine Lynch, junior from Lebanon, has been named business manager of the Colonnade, Helen Savage, head of the nominating committee, released to the press this week.

Succeeding Hersey Hutt in this position, Catherine has been working on the Colonnade staff during the past year as a business assistant. She is also a member of the House Council, serving this year as a hall president in Cunningham Hall, as we'l as an officer of Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor society.

CATHERINE LYNCH

As was announced last week Nancy Whitehead has been named the new editor-in-chief of the Colonnade, and the new staff will publish the finai issue of this year.

Other publication heads named last week were Virgiina Treakle, editor-in-chief; Shirley Slaughter, maanging editor; and Ruth Brooks, business manager of the Rotunda. Also, Lillian Elliott, editor-in-chief; Sue Sundley, managing editor; and Shirley Cruser, business manager of the Virginian.

Theological Student States Life Purpose

"The chief purpose of life is to please God", Robert N. Oerter, Jr., from Princeton Theological Seminary stated in his message to the students attending the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship Conference which was held on this campus March 3 and 4.

Continuing the message, the theological student said that we please God by faith. "We need faith today. From Him springs all the beauty, grandeur, and joy of life. Only faith is sufficient to meet the demands of life."

Other speakers and directors of the conference included Miss Ethel Smith who organized the Inter-Varsity Bible Study group on this campus in the fall; Albert Newport, Princeton Theological Seminary; and Dr. Elwyn Smith, directory of the Westminster Foundation in the National Capital area.

Representatives from the College of William and Mary, Duke, Randolph Macon Woman's College, University of Virginia, Westhampton, University of Maryland, Mt. Vernon University, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton attended the conference.

Whittle, Harrell Leaders of Campus Red Cross Unit

Ophelia Whittle, senior from Petersburg, was selected temporary chairman of the Red Cross unit which is in the process of being organized at the present time. Nancy Harrell, senior from Emporia, was selected temporary secretary of the group.

The petition to the local chapter for organizing a college unit on this campus was signed by 15 seniors, Ophelia Whittle, Bobbie Scott, Pat Maddox, Helen Savage, Jane Knapton, Sara Bird Williams, Helen McGuire, Poguey Massey, Harriette Moore, Mary Watkins, Josephine Beatty, Jane Waring Ruffin, Carol Diggs, Betsy Fox, and Nancy Harrell As soon as the petition is accepted by the Prince Edward Chapter of the American Red Cross and by national headquarters, the unit will become an active one.

The four committees which will begin the work will be advised by four members of the faculty who have been named. They are Miss Elizabeth Burger, first aid and life saving; Miss Margaret Sprunt Hall, home nursing; Miss Leola Wheeler, recreation, and Mrs. Sophie Packer, blood donation.

The donation of blood through the college unit is one of the objects in view for the near future. Other committees may be added at a later date Permanent chairman and secretary will be selected later.

The formation of the college unit on this campus was instigated by a talk by Miss Helen Pickings in chapel last week.

Local Dramatic Club Presents Shakespearean Comedy As Concluding Feature On the Founders Day Program

Play Given As Lyceum

Beginning at 8 o'clock on Saturday night, the Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler will present Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream", a comedy in three acts.

The story concerns a mix-up of two sets of lovers who in escaping the wrath of the rulers of the commonwealth flee through the forest to a nearby country where the stern laws cannot affect their private lives. A spat between Oberon and Titania causes a bewildering spell to be cast upon innocent parties by Puck. Comedy is provided by the group of amateur traveling actors who, in endeavoring to present a play of their own, find themselves surrounded by elves and hob-goblins and minus their chief actor, Bottom, who has been bewitched by the playful Puck.

Playing the part of Thesus, Duke of Athens, will be Doris Harper, sophomore from Arlington, while his betrothed, Hippolyta, will be played by Fay Byrd Johnson, senior from Vinton. Louise Pegram, freshman from Richmond, will play the part of Hermia, and Carlotta Norfleet, junior from Virginia Beach, and Margaret Wilson, sophomore from Washington, D. C., will perform as Lysander and Demetrius, two young swains. Portraying the character of Egeus, father of Hermia, will be Peggy T. Ross, junior from Onley. The part of Helena, who is in love with Demetrius will be taken by Virginia Terrell, senior from Front Royal.

Continued on Page 4

Gay, Capricious Music Fills "Midsummer Night's Dream"

There's music in the air . . . . the music of that great composer, Mendeissohn. It echoes from the tinkling piano, through out the auditorium, and lingers in the air as entrances are completed, and speeches began.

Written especially for Shakespeare's airy "Midsummer Night's Dream", the score opens with the Overture, which is played at the beginning of the first act, and continues until the curtain rises and Thesus makes his first address to Hippolyta. Upon the exit and entrances of all the players, the music of their characters is played for them, with a result as delightful and as mood-implying as anyone can wish.

For the appearances of Thesus, Duke of Athens, we hear the impressive "March", from the overture, and the Duke stalks across the stage in regal splendor, in perfect time to the music. As the pairs of lovers enter, the music changes to a light rendition of still another excerpt, and the tone changes to suit the scene.

The Fairies have an ethereal harmony all their own, not stopping with the piano itself, but going deeper into the voice side of things, including a duet between the Fairy King, Oberon, played by Joan Davis, and one of his fairy servants, Ann Blair. Then there are Oberon's solos as he casts spells with his magic powers, and the chorus of gentle Fairy voices as they sing a lullaby to their Queen, Titania. (Theresa Powell). Nor can we forget the gay, rhythmic dance of the merry Puck, or the other lilting melodies which provide music for the fairies to dance their tripping steps to, as they waken each other for an evening of merriment in the woods.

Clumsily, the comedy characters clown onto the stage for a rough Burgermasque to the tune of "Dance of the Clowns", the dance being a typical composition of their own. Indeed, as they greet each other at each entrance, they fairly frolic onto the stage to their own particularly bouncy melody. One can feel their brand of aged humor resounding in the typical tune that brings them to the stage.

In charge of musical direction for the play is Earlene Kimmerling, Junior from Roanoke. At the piano is Virginia Tindall, freshman from Scottsville. The special music was ordered by the Dramatic Club from Philadelphia and New York.

Directing dances is Miss Kay, of the college physical ed department.

There are a lot of people to thank, as the play nears completion, for success in lights, costuming, and staging, but many thanks go, too, to those in charge of the musical part of the production. Music, gay and capricious for the comedy, light and lyrical for the Fairies, heavy and vehement for the Duke himself, or, for the lovers, of the mood-impelling disposition, it all combines throughout the play to add much to the trend of thought, clarity of the plot, and ingenuity of the great author.

There's music in the air . . . don't miss it!

Mrs. S Gardner Waller, president of the Alumnae Association. She will be unable to be present at the local Founders Day celebration Saturday.

Biology Exhibit Held In College

Sponsored by the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory of the College of William and Mary and the Commission of Fisheries, Mr. Hubert J. Davis, in connection with the educational program for Tidewater schools, has had an exhibit for biology classes in the biology department from March 5 to 7.

The exhibit contains specimens of marine animals found in Virginia. Supplementing the specimens are pamphlets and bulletins.

In the last two or three years this type of exhibit has been made in nearly all of the Tidewater high schools for the purpose of helping the teachers. By the use of the pamphlets, bulletins, movies, and actual examples, conservation practices can be taught more easily.

On of the most formidable specimens showed was the octopus which can be found on the Atlantic coast. Another of particular interest was the famous sea horse. It is the only one in this class which has a neck. The seahorse carries its eggs and young in a pouch. Other interesting marine animals showed included the Portuguese man-of-war, sea cucumber, live oysters, live clams, a number of fish and different species of crabs.

There are 50 or more different kinds of fish found in Virginia. The Menhaden fish is of great commercial value, being used in the manufacture of linoleum, patent leather, cosmetics, and perfumes.

110 V-12 Students Enroll for Quarter

One hundred and ten V-12 students arrived Sunday, March 4 to begin the new quarter at Hampden-Sydney, according to an announcement made this week by Lt. George Howe, commanding officer.

The number of men in the unit has been cut down. No new students entered, and some of last term's students were sent to N. R. O. T. C. and midshipman's school.

Lt. Howe also stated that there will be no change in the program.

Dr. Dunn To Speak Saturday Morning

Beginning at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, March 10, the annual Founders Day program will be held in the large auditorium, M. B. Coyner, chairman of the Founders Day committee, has announced. This program will be opened by an invocation by the Rev. Philip H. Roberts.

Dr. Fannie Wyche Dunn, a former member of the local Department of Education and now professor emeritus at Columbia University, will be the guest speaker of the morning. Speaking also on this program will be Mrs. M. B. Coyner, alumnae secretary, who will make a report on the alumnae of the college and will bring greetings from chapters not represented; Mrs. Roy Pearson, president of the Farmville Alumnae Association, who will report the activities of the local chapter; Harriette Moore, president of the student body who will present the gifts to the college, and Dr. J. L. Jarman who will accept the gifts.

Also on the morning program, sketches will be given of three persons whose portraits are now being painted. Miss Carrie B. Taliaferro will present the sketch of Miss Minnie V. Rice of the Latin department; Miss Mary Clay Hiner will present the sketch of Miss Lula O. Andrews, a for-

Continued on Page 3

Frosh Production Will Follow Theme Of Musical Review

"Freshman Cavalcade" is the title of the Freshman production which will be given March 27. The production will be in the form of a colorful musical review, according to an announcement made by Ting Rattray, production head.

Assisting her with the production are Hildrian Suttle, Corrine Baker, Berkley Richardson, and Claire Cliark, who will plan the dances. Suzanne Steele and Ruth Bennett will help with the staging and Mildred Shepherd will have charge of props.

Those who are working with costumes are Annette Grainger, Audrey Davis, Hilda Abernathy, Norma Howard, Frances Treakle, and Hope Frank. Susan Dickinson, Barbara Crowther, and Virginia Tindall will play the piano, and Norma Howard will lead the group singing.

B. E. T. Elects New, Honorary Members

At a special recognition service in chapel on Thursday, March 5, four girls were recognized as newly-elected members of Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor society.

They were Margaret Harvie, junior from Richmond; Margaret Hewlet; junior from Richmond; Naomi Piercy, junior from Richmond; and Mary Sterrett, senior from Raphine.

Dr. Francis Samkins was elected to honorary membership in the society.

Officers of Beorc Eh Tohrn are Mary Franklin Woodward, president; Ann Masloff, vice-president; Ann Martin, secretary; and Virginia Lee Abernathy, treasurer.

A New Road To Service: College Unit of Red Cross

Last week Miss Helen Picking of the American Red Cross spoke to the student body, suggesting that a college unit of the American Red Cross be organized on this campus. The response from the student body was gratifying. Every hand in the auditorium went up when the representative asked for a show of hands of those who would like to see such an organization and of those who would cooperate in such a unit.

Similar units have already been set up with very satisfactory results in other colleges in Virginia. The college units are under the auspices of the local chapters of the Red Cross, but their organization is entirely separate.

What will such an organization mean on this campus? First of all, it will mean a coordination of the war work already being done, plus an opportunity to do additional work. Second, it will mean an opportunity for every single student to do her part in the all out effort for victory. Third, it will mean that the work will have a real meaning because of the affiliation with the American Red Cross, that the work that we as students in the State Teachers College in Farmville will have a far reaching effect.

What sort of work will such a unit do? It will further such things as already exist here, as the first aid and life saving classes. And it will mean, that at long last, the students here will be able to donate blood to the blood banks for the wounded in the war.

It will mean that every single student will be able to do something real, something almost tangible to help that kid next door who is in France or in the Pacific.

Let us hope that when the wheels of the unit really begin to move on this campus that our enthusiasm will not die. Ask anyone you know who has been across in this war and they will tell you of the big work the Red Cross is doing there, and you can be proud that your school—that you are a part of that work.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pulllen .... Typing Managers

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 7, 1945

Different Founders Day With the Same Old Spirit

Founders Day 1945 will be quite difficult from Founders Day in the years gone by. This change will be necessary because of an O. D. T. regulation banning extra transportation because of world conditions.

Daughters of this college from throughout Virginia and other states will not be returning this year to pay homage to the Alma Mater they know and love. Yet, on Saturday many minds and hearts will be turned towards this college which has been a guiding light to millions of women since 1884.

Many contributions will be given to the college this year from alumnae, faculty, friends, and students. This money will be donated in the spirit of cooperative giving that we and the future daughters of Farmville may realize the opportunities not yet available to us.

Our hope as present students is that we will catch a spark of the true Farmville spirit which has pervaded through these halls since this college was founded. May we as students carry the torch of the spirit that has been caught by Mrs. Martha Lee Doughty's poem, entitled, "Alma Mater."

"Along the years
Through joys and tears
We turn in thoughts to you.

For childhood doors
And youth's bay shoes
Have closed, with moments few

As time and change
Their stay derange
We find your portals true

To take us in
Where'ever we've been
Throughout this world anew

And thousands call
We walk each hall
Joan of Arc, with you."

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

Did you know that the battle for the Philippines is not over? The Manila fight is finished but the Japs are hiding in the mountains. Did you know that Filipino guerrillas are responsible, for the quick success of the Americans in the Luzon fighting?

* * * *

Did you know that the gory battle of Iwo Jima still rages? Though we've killed over 12,000 the fanatics still have strength to hold out. Our progress can be measured only in the thousands.

* * * *

Did you know that the Chinese are on the offensive and are pushing toward the air base city of Siuchwan in Kiangsi Province? In Burma the British wave crossed the Irrawaddy River and are only twenty miles from Mandalay? Tokyo has been bombed fifteen times to date.

* * * *

Did you know that the Red Army in a new break through to the Baltic has trapped 20 Nazi divisions. Berlin, Dresden, and Vienna are in line for the next major assaults?

* * *

Did you know that Americans have reached Cologne and are crossing the Rhine River? So great has been the collapse and disorderly retreat of the Germans that they may not be able to make a stand East of the Rhine.

* * *

Do you know what Roosevelt told Congress about his Crimea conference? Do you know that if you do not know these things you are not worthy of being called a college student?

* * * *

History is in the making. Do you know about it?

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

With the return of the H.-S. C., the activities around STC naturally become a bit more lively. Already, with some new arrivals, Barbara Montgomery has been seen with a new "flame"—doesn't take these gals long!

The "Puny" man of H.-S. C. fame known as "Tots" was seen recently with Carmen Low

For practically a small hothouse go at once to Nancy Whitehead's room. There you will find orchids of all descriptions, colors, etc.

Cub's present from one "Fly-Fly" even caused comment from the house mother. Wonder what it was?

Incidentally, Mary Ann Loving's date wasn't really six feet four—only six feet (the long and short of it.)

After several years' devotion to the Army Air Corps, Margaret McIntyre finds the Navy at Camp Peary definitely attractive. The story that goes with her decision is quite interesting, too.

The funny story of the week goes to Jean Carter Smith and her rare experience—sorry—it doesn't bear printing.

Bev Peebles sought her fun at home this week-end, carrying William with her, along with a gang of chaperons.

For events of a colorful bus ride with a "motherly" bus driver, by all means see Barbara Brown.

And what's all this going around about some guy named Pope?

Judy Connelly, in spite of her crutch, still headed again for Petersburg and for Ed.

Margaret Walton says even after such a prolonged absence (years to be exact) of THE MAN, things haven't changed a bit. That is good!

And if anybody gets anything like as many phone calls as Jane Page and Lois Lloyd Shpherd, her name should be posted somewhere.

Last Sunday night, Betty Cock hardly let Ned get out of sight before she started whistling "Miss You". Speaking of men, none other than Mary Ellen Hoge's Bill will be seen on campus this week-end.

At long last Anne Blair is sure of Brownie's return home. We are just wondering what will happen to local talent!

Prize of the week for a telephone call goes to Frances Lee. Last night Frank called her from San Francisco to wish her a happy birthday. Sounds good to us!

Some of the former H.-S. sailors stoped by for a last look before they reported the first of the week. Parting is such sweet sorrow. Ask Shirley Gibson.

This will be all until next week's bedcheck!

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

Tonight at 10 o'clock in the Student Lounge the Presbyterian and Methodist girls will entertain the Baptist girls with a party as the Baptist girls won the Sunday School contest. Let's be good winners and losers and attend!

Congratulations to the Freshmen for winning the Sing contest. We are truly proud of you.

A grand time was had by everybody who attende dthe Little Sister-Big Sister party Friday night. We especially enjoyed the entertainment.

Don't forget the moment of quiet and worship offered at prayers just before dinner on Sunday.

Let's not let anything keep us from attending church this second Sunday of the March "Go To Church Month."

The theme of prayers this week is "Building a New World Order." The daily topics for the remainder of the week are as follows: "I am come a light unto the world," "Ye are the light of the world," and "The Lord of Hosts is with us."

MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM

A Backstage Peep Reveals Earthly Version of Fairyland

"The heads are here! The heads are here! Have you heard? The heads have come!" The cry echoed all over the school on Monday . . . the "heads" were here, and everyone in the play, seemed more than thrilled. Mystery filled the air . . . for those unfamiliar with the plot of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

For those, however, who are in any way connected with rehearsals, they knew . . . and knew, too, that at Monday night's rehearsal, there would be . . . and ass's head on Grace Loyd . . . and a lion's head on Betty Bibb! Sure enough . . . it came to pass.

Nor was that all that made Monday night's rehearsal so exciting, (as have been and will be) all rehearsals this week. The staging group have worked with pride to make the outdoor woods setting an earthly interpretation of a fairy wonderland. And the lighting group, with their unique spots and blue shading, have transformed the ill-lighted stage of the chapel into a blue-toned picture of pale night's loveliness.

And the costumes! Just wait till you see the regality of Fay Johnson and Doris Harper as Hipolyta and Theseus . . . and the bright, cheery colors of Hermia and Helena's gowns . . . and the clash and sparkle of the mens' swords. The comedy characters dress in keeping with their rough parts . . . canvas aprons and woolen tights predominating. It is this department which features the heads that created so much excitement . . . Bottom and Snug doing the dubious honors.

The fairies flutter in and out in their gauzy wings, and the sparkling (literally) Oberon offers a dazzling contrast to the delicacy of Titania's China-silk wings. The knavish Puck darts about in leafy green . . . now kneeling behind a stump, now dancing to a merry little tune, and the com-

Continued on Page 4

To the Editor:

Dear Editor,

Once more, we are faced with major elections! It is the duty of every girl in this school to nominate wisely, guided by those suggested by retiring officers, and to vote intelligently. It is our duty to give these coming elections a little honest thought and cast our vote after careful consideration of the merits of each candidate.

The most popular girl is not necessarily the most capable, and good looks are no indication of brains! As citizens in a democratic country, fighting for a democratic way of life, we should earn the right to chose our officers by thinking honestly of their qualifications to fit the office and by voting accordingly.

Sincerely,
Evelyn Grizzard

Dear Editor,

Recently, through the work of Student Standards, the noise and uproar in the dining room during announcements has been eliminated. This has been brought about by a few girls who stand while the announcements are being read and slap call-downs on anyone who makes noise and on the hostess at whose table the noise was made. At last we have order in the dining room, and at last no vocal chords are strained on the part of the valiant girls at the Head Table.

Now this is all very well and good, but really in a college of good standing where supposedly intelligent people seek higher learning, we are having to have a police force to patrol in order to have quiet. This system is a veritable insult to our supposed intelligence, to our supposed partial adulthood.

Nor is the dining room the only place where a police force is needed. The old disorder is ever with us at chapel time. No speaker, no program, holds the entire attention of the entire auditorium throughout a chapel period. But a greater rudeness is observed while the Bible is read and a prayer offered. A greater profanity, I should say. Letters are not only read, but written at this time. Lessons are studied—themes written. And of course that is time for the latest gossip to be passed around. In the rear, this latter sometimes amounts to a small din. All of this goes on at a time when reverence, attention and politeness are demanded.

I would suggest that the monitors sit throughout the auditorium and mark down any girls name for unnecessary chatter and other inattention. This girl should have an unexcused chapel absence or her chapel cuts should be taken from her. I would further suggest that more monitors be selected so that a monitor would sit every few rows so that the entire auditorium would be well policed.

This suggestion is an insult to our intelligence. I repeat. It means we have no respect for our administration. It means we have no respect for prayer or the Bible. It means in short that we are little more than children and really have not the right to be in our present position.

Or as has been observed in regard to the war, we just don't bother about these matters either. May I ask, just what some of us do bother about?

Fay Byrd Johnson

Local Girls Defeat W and M 22 to 19 In Premiere Game of 1945 Season

Team Entertained At Informal Tea

Defeating the College of William and Mary's basketball team, 22 to 19, S. T. C.'s varsity basketball team returned to school Tuesday night, March 6, a tired but happy group. After the game Tuesday afternoon, the team was entertained at an informal tea given by the William and Mary Athletic Council. Miss Olive T. Iler, basketball coach, and Miss Mary Dabney, swimming instructor, chaperoned the trip.

Girls participating in the game were guards, Eleanor Wade, (captain), Margaret Orange and Margaret Lohr. Forwards were, Lillian Elliott, Betty Parrish, and Mary Walker Watts. Substitutes were, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Ann Houser, Nancy Parrish and Helen Wilson.

This is the only out-of-town game that the varsity team will participate in this season. Because of transportation problems there have been no inter-mural games since the war.

Dr. Dunn to Speak

Continued from Page 1

mer member of the English deparement; and M. B. Coyner will present the sketch of Dr. F. A. Millidge, one-time head of the geography department here. Miss Julia Mahood, an alumna of the college, is working on these portraits now, and they will be presented at a later date. These portraits are made possible because of gifts from alumnae, faculty, and friends.

Concluding the day, the Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler will present Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" in the auditorium at 8:30 o'clock.

This is the year for reunions of the classes of 1885, 1895, 1905 1915, 1920, and 1925, and many of these classes had expected to return, but because of government regulations that no meeting can be held which will cause the assemblying of more than 50 people, this year's Founders Day will be a local affair.

The Farmville Alumnae Chapter will, however, have a part on the program and will serve a coffee in Student Building Lounge at 11 o'clock to give Farmville alumnae an opportunity to meet Dr. Martha Smith-Smith, the new Dean of Women. Officers of this chapter are invited to the formal banquet in the dining room at 6 o'clock.

Classes meeting at 12:40 on Saturday will be excused in order that students may attend the morning program.

Margaret Orange, manager of basketball.

Swim Meet Slated To End March 10

Contest Began Here Last Week

Last Tuesday, February 27, the first part of the telegraphic meet was held in the school pool. Girls participating in the meet were Mildred Shepperd, Kitty Kearsley Phyllis Watts, Virginia Younce. Elise Hume, Jean Smith, Ann Summers, Margaret Orange and Carol Jenkins.

The 100 yard breast stroke was won by Betty Lou Hayward, the 40 yard front crawl was won by Mildred Shepperd with Phyllis Watts placing second. The 100 yard free style relay was won by Phylis Watts. Mildred Shepherd Kitty Kearsley, Robin Lear and Phiyllis Watts. Mildred Shepherd won the 40 yard back stroke.

The second part of the telegraphic meet was postponed from Monday night, March 5 until Saturday afternoon at 4:00, March 10. This is an annual tournament held with the colleges throughout the South.

Volley Ball Winner To Receive Points

The first two games of the volleyball tournament were held last Friday afternoon, March 2 in the gym. Two games were played off between each of the four classes that played. The sophomores defeated the seniors 12-11 first game, and the seniors defated the sophomores 17-16 second game. The juniors and freshmen also tied, then the juniors defeated the freshmen 18-17 first game, and the freshmen defated the juniors 24-10 second game. The class that wins the most games will be declared the champions, and the two classes that gain the most points together will gain 5 points for the color cup for their class colors.

The first basketball game of the season was held last Wednesday, February 28, between the seniors and the sophomores. The game was tied 24-24. The freshman defeated the juniors 3-30 Thursday, March 1. Winners of this tournament will gain ten points toward the color cup for their class colors, while the class winning the most games will be declared the champions. The volleyball and basketball tournaments will be completely played before this quarer ends.

Ping Pong Tourney Closes March 13

Beginning last week, the ping-pong tournament is now running smoothly. The players are asked to have all their games played off by Monday, March 13 at 7:00, so that the new champion of the tournament can be announced in the Rotunda. The winner of the tournament will gain five pomts toward the color cup for her class colors. The scores are posted on the athletic bulletin board in the hall by the post office, and the girls are asked to post their scores as soon as they play off their games.

Once again, the girls are asked to please be careful with the ping pong balls. Two of the balls used in the tournament have already been destroyed, and since they they are hard to get because of priorities, the balls must be taken care of during the tournament. Do not hit them too hard, and not only will the ball be saved, but it will help to save the hard-to-get athletic equipment.

Left Lead

The grayness of the weather makes the scarcity of news alarming indeed; so little has happened around the stables that we often wonder whether we'll live to tell about what MAY happen when the horses go out again.

BIG DAY

Saturday, however, it did hold off long enough for a much-looked-forward-to ride despite the threats of old man Weather. We had as our guest (regardless of violent protests) one Captain Elam, who dubiously boarded Snowball and was off to the races. We never thought we'd see Snowball out-run Miss Black, but it happened . . . so help us, jocks, it happened! And with Kim up on Cinanmon, N. Ingle up on the Colonel, and Joyce trotting mildly along on Darky (?) the gang was complete, and completely out of sight down the green and over the road on the golf course, straight up to the House that Jack built! Here came a brief pause to make sure everyone was still with us (he was!) then a second wind, and off again through the woods, past the fenced in horses who grow so playful at our approach, and through the mud to the Haunted House. It was mild enough except for the brief mad dashes when an open stretch came in sight, and we're glad to report there were no serious ill effects, and a good time was had by all!

SUPER SNOOPS

We've strained our ears and sprained our noses snooping and trying to dig up some more advance info about the Horse Show. All we've heard is a rumor that the ribbon has been ordered, and that the usual plans are being formulated; committees to be announced later. There's the fence to be painted, the ribbons to be made, food to be planned, horses to be trained . . . classes to be decided upon, pairs to be matched, and so on. Oh, yes! We know what has been done . . . maybe by next week we can tell you a few of who are in charge of getting them all done.

"POME"

And so, readers and riders, with the same old excuse . . . we use another of our favorite filler-inners. We like the opportunities that present themselves for us to share with you the bits of verse we find among our travels, 'cause we think you're just horsey 'nuff to appreciate them. And incidentally, any of your favorites which you'd like to see in print, just turn 'em in to the Madame, and she'll see that we get 'em! This one, incidentally, is from Ted Malone's American Album of Poetry.

THE ROAN COLT

His awkward legs have not learned how
To ease the rhythm of a plow;

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

As examinations approach, and the quarter is drawing nigh, the athletic calendar seems to be quite full of events. You as spectators and participators try to get in on all of them, for not only will you support your class colors, but your school spirit will hit a new peak of enthusiasm.

BASKETBALL

This week our varsity basketball team trotted off to play a game with William and Mary. Since this is the only time the varsity team will make a visit it proved quite eventful. All our luck went with the girls, and if the paper didn't go to press quite so soon, we would be quite willing to supply the score.

The basketball tournament is well on its way now, with two games already having been played off. Listen to the announcements in the dining hall, so that you can come out to the games. Your support is always welcome, and an encouraging cheer from the sidelines always lifts a team's morale.

Basketball has been proven to be one of the most strenous games that girls participate in in athletics, but it is also one of the most exciting. The thrill when your team makes a basket cannot be equaled. Watching the grace of the guards, as they carefully guard their man, and the speede and coordination of the forwards as they pass the ball toward their goal is something really worth seeing. Next game, come out and support your colors, and even if you don't quite understand the technicalities you will enjoy it. If you are really interested, you will want to read up on the rules and regulations of basketball, then you can view the game with that almost professional eye.

SWIMMING

The last lap of the telegraphic meet is being held this Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Last time there could have been a few more spectators, so this time, let's really make this a major event by coming to the pool for an afternoon of cheering our STCers on to victory. Although they may not quite you, if they know you are there it helps a lot, and we want STC to be in the top ranks of the swimming meet.

Swimming is one of the best all round sports anyone can participate in, for it exercises practically every muscle in the body. Even if you aren't an Eleanor Holm, you will enjoy the recreational swimming on Saturday night. Last Saturday night found yours truly down among the ducks, and it really is fun, just ask anyone who has been. There is a capable guard on duty, so there need be no worry about that third time going down, and if you don't swim, paddling around in the shallow end of the pool is just as much fun.

PING-PONG

Once more a dark warning comes from the upper quarters, in asking you girls that play ping-pong to please be careful with the ping pong balls. Already two of the balls have been destroyed, and since they are so very hard to get, it is only wise for the girls to take better care of them.

The tournament will end next Monday night at 7:00. All games must be played before then, and the scores posted on the athletic bulletin board. This is an individual tournament, and the girl who wins will gain five points for the color cup for her class colors.

The harness on his back is not
Like anything he has been taught.

He shakes his head; his back is wet;
He pulls to pay an unknown debt:
His years of laboring begin
To earn his dole from stack and bin.

I know there is no help for it
As long as time controls the course,
But I must always grieve a bit
To see a colt became a horse.

—Keith Thomas

Like that? We did too . . . and we're glad our colt is getting used to a saddle, instead of a harness. Stay on the bit.

Pegasus

SELECT YOUR ANKLE BRACELET at MARTIN The Jeweler

All Popular Comic Magazines 10c
ROSE'S
5—10 & 25c STORE
Farmville, Va.

RECORDS
VICTOR, COLUMBIA, DECCA, BLUEBIRD & OKEH
Popular—Classical—Hillbilly
New Location—Main Street
Wilson Firestone Store

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Virginia
Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Have Your Evening Dress cleaned for Pan-Hellenic Dance at DE LUXE CLEANERS

Green Front Food Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

MEET ME at SHANNON'S

Bring your clothes for prompt service to KLEANWELL CLEANERS
Opposite Post Office
See Catherine Trower
Our Representative

Chas. E. Burg Florist
501 High St. Farmville, Va.
Farmville's Finest Flowers
Telephone 296

Keep DURA-GLOSS always "on hand" - says Cupid

Have you discovered Dura-Gloss Nail Polish? How s-m-o-o-t-h-l-y and easily it flows on? How fast it dries? How beautifully it brings out your whole personality? There's a wonderful ingredient in it called "Chrystallyne" that makes it a special jewel among nail polishes. 10¢, plus tax.

Cuticle Remover Polish Remover Dura-Coat

LORR LABORATORIES, PATERSON, N. J. • FOUNDED BY E. T. REYNOLDS

JUST RECEIVED
A SHIPMENT of SADDLE OXFORDS
White with Brown Saddle
$5.00

Shoe Dept.—First Floor
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Spring Coats Show Variety of Lines, Colors, Designs

Better put on a coat . . . this spring if you want a new look. There are more designs more ideas, and more prettiness in coats than in several seasons.

There are more color combinations this spring. There are glimmering red ones, colorless and with a tunic look. There are rust coats, pink and many checked coats, purple herring bone tweeds, grey and lemon plaids, black and white hounds' tooth checks, grey pin strips, and acqua, yellow, blue, pink and fuschia coats. The soft little dresses that blend along are like the good quiet wives famous men invariably are said to have.

There is variety offered in lines of coats. Some coats look like coats; reefer, trench, swagger, boxy. Some coats look like dresses; fitted, contrasting trim, shirttops. Many have defined waistlines!

There is, as always, the classic loose coat with straight lines, to be worn over a suit or a gay print. Since every really good coat is polygamous and can be worn over many dresses, there is no limit to the change and variety that can be achieved in color combinations For example, under a yellow coat, wear a sky blue printed crepe, or acqua, navy, or black dress. With basic black accessories, any of these colors may be combined.

The look of good-fabriced, well-fitted coat, a pretty hat, and a figure-sweet dress beneath, is refreshing and feminine and "right as rain" in the Spring.

Play Given as Lyceum

Continued from Page 1

Joan Davis, sophomore from New Jersey, will take the part of Oberon, the king of the fairies, and Theresa Powell, freshman from Richmond, will take the part of Titania, queen of the fairies. Barbara Jean Wiley, freshman from Lawrenceville, Va., will be Pease - Blossom, Mary Yates, freshman from Richmond, Cobweb; Dorothy Overstreet, junior from Bedford, Moth; and Mary Jane King, freshman from Radford, Mustard-Seed. Mary Jane Bond, freshman from Alexandria, Anna Kucera, freshman from Roanoke, Catherine Prebble, junior from Lynchburg, and Nancy Sours, junior from Chatham, will be the fairies attending the king and queen.

Betty Cock, junior from Hampton, will play the part of the comedy character, Quince; Betty Bibb, sophomore from Lynchburg, Snug; Grace Loyd, sophomore from Lynchburg, Bottom; Janie Hanks, freshman from Hampton, Flute; Christine Shiflett, sophomore from Churchville, Snout; and Betty Minetree, sophomore from Petersburg, Starveling.

Attendants of Thesus and Hippolya will be played by Betty Plunkett, freshman from Lynchburg, Charlotte Hutter, freshman from Lynchburg, Anne Moore, freshman from Hampton, and Sue Davis, freshman from Lynchburg.

Seats for the spring play which is to be given as a lyceum will go on reserve at Patterson's Drug Store Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock. All students must stop at the table in the hall to get tickets before getting seats reserved.

All girls are expected to wear formal clothes to this lyceum program which immediately follows the annual Founders Day banquet in the dining hall.

Working backstage on the play are Helen McGuire, in charge of costumes; Kay Lynch, make-up; Ann Blair, staging; Lillian Elliott, lighting; and Barbara Brown, properties.

Officers of the Dramatic Club are president, Sally Robertson; vice presidents, Carol Diggs and Virginia Shackleford; secretary, Lucy Manson Sharpe; and business manager, Fay Byrd Johnson.

Try Our HAMBURGER Special! with Cole Slaw, French Fries, Drink 35c

Southside Drug Store

FLOWERS OF DISTINCTION at Collins Florist Phone Day 181 Phone Nite 4

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

BETSY FOX

The second senior spotlight is directed this week on Betsy Fox, one of Danville's contributions to S. T. C. Betsy came to us last year from Averett as a junior. In the few months she has been here, Betsy has made an outstanding record, and has made a permanent place for herself in the hearts of those with whom she has come in contact.

Tall and blond, Betsy possesses one of those contagious grins, and she keeps it tushed on most of the time. She is overflowing with class and color and school spirit, and each group can be proud of the part she has taken in their activities.

In the official records Betsy will go down as president of Pi Gamma Mu, as student government representative, as chairman of Sing. But we'll remember her for long chats, for her level-headedness, for her smile that makes you feel good all over. We'll remember her because she's Betsy and no words will describe her.

38 Students Attend Program of Spanish

Fifty-eight students poured into the Audio-Visual room recently for the monthly meeting of the Spanish Club. Mary Preston Sheffey, presided over a short business meeting, after which Edith Garia presented the program. After the entire club had lustily sung Odios Nuchachos, Rachel Brugh recited Soy Gaucho, which is taken from the famous Spanish poem "Martina Fierro." Then Esther Shevick rendered the lovely air "Siboney," accompanied by Marian Atkinson.

Another delightful highlight was a comedy, "La Vriada Astuta," put on by Nancy Parrish, Evelyn Hair, Marion Lotts, and Ann Bell. The anxious little maid easily got rid of her mitsress's undesirable sultor after she was promised two weeks vacation with pay.

Virginia Radogna gave a synopsis of the news on current events, which was followed by a poem "To George Washington" by Judy Light.

The meeting was concluded with a rousing game of Luteria (Bingo) in which everyone participated.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK Farmville, Virginia Member of Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Planters Bank & Trust Co. Farmville, Va. Member: Federal Reserve System ....Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Frosh Class Wins Y. W. Sing Contest

The Freshman Class won the Sing contest, Kitty Maddox, chairman of Sing, announced at the Little Sister-Big Sister party last Friday night. The prize was received by Peepsie Brooks, president of the Freshman class.

There were three points considered in judging, originality, appropriateness, and presentation.

The four judges were representatives from each class. They ior; Glenn Ann Patterson; sophomore, Margaret Walton; and sophomore, Margaret Walton; and freshman, Frances Treakie. .

Fourth Grade Gives Irish Music Program

Under the direction of Frances Sifford, Jean Akers, Nancy Dickenson, and Eula Bell Doggett, the fourth grade, which is taught by Miss Georgia Norris, will present a program of Irish music in Chapel, Tuesday, March 13.

The children, who will be dressed in green and white, the traditional colors of Ireland, will sing, "Gallway Piper", "The Fairies Dance", "The Lepracaen", and "The Wearing of the Green", all favorite Irish songs. They will conclude the program by dancing the Irish Washerwoman's Dance.

Backstage Peep

Continued from Page 2

bination of the colors gives a pleasing effect that can better be seen that described.

The play is a lyceum number. The tickets cost you nothing except a little effort. For a walk to Patterson's you, the students, get the music described elsewhere in this paper; the costuming and the lighting effects . . . the staging . . . and above all, the acting and the plot of the play itself. For this walk you see Shakespeare at his best, and the S. T. C. Dramatic Club, and Miss Wheeler, in their glory. The Founders are deprived the privilege of seeing a play that was originally asked for by many of them . . . don't miss the opportunity which is afforded you by your school organization.

This is your play—come to it!

Two Year Air Service Course

Texas A and M College, Dallas, i sntw offering a two-year course in aviation operation and management. Training sufficient to prepare students for engine mechanics examination is given along with flight instuction.

Farmville Mfg. Co. MILL WORK BUILDING MATERIALS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body Good Things to Eat and Drink Butcher's High Street

PHONE 78 WE MEET ALL TRAINS AND BUSES WELL'S TAXI Goes Anywhere Within 25 Miles of Farmville

Just Looking, Thanks

By ANNE BUCK

School begins to be a bore before exams, at least there is something unattractive about it. This was shown this week-end by the 400 STCers who concluded last week with desert from other places.

Richmond was peaches and cream to Cile Sarver, Anne Mingea, Anne Kingdon, Berkeley Richardson, Corrine Baker, Mary McCarth, Nancy Read, Fran Timmins, Shirley Mankin, Jean Camper, Anne Williams, Ruth Jones, Dorothy Haile, Mary Ann Loving, Betty Bowles, Marilyn Bell, Carolyn Bobbitt, Betty Sroggins, Marion Hahn, Mary Haskins, Betty Adams, Olive Bradshaw, Nancy Blair, and Barbara Brown, and Rosa Hill.

Lynchburg was strawberry shortcake with whip cream for Annette Anthony, Betty Plunkett, Elizabeth Motley, Alene Alphin, Betty Bibb, Phyllis Watts, and Lorine Haynes.

Roanoke was apple pie to Louise Layman, Betty Jane Austin, May Davis, Madelyn Ayers, Connie Young, and Alice Coon.

Chatham loked like a chocolate soda to Edith Kerians, Beatrice Geyer, Eleanor Overbey, Martha Sours, and Dot Anderson.

Petersburg was a hot fudge sundae for George Anne Lewis, Francis Seward, Kitty Parham, Anne Dickerson, and Judy Connelly.

Crew was ice cream and cake for Josephine Goodman, Elizabeth Maxey, Virginia Thompson, Rose Bland Jenkins, and Helen Trump.

Victoria was pumpkin pie to Mary Ann Clark, Ollie Mae Halbert, and Jackie Dunton.

Curdsville was apricot pudding for Katherine Rainey, Charlotte Hutter, and Frances Garnett.

Others finding the apple of their eye away from the campus were Ellen Bailey and Josephine Bailey in Brookneal; Ella Stone Smith in Gretna; Kitty Saunders in Christiansburg; Mary Emma Allen in Ford; Lucille Davidson at Bremo Bluff; Mary Wyatt in South Boston; Mabel Lewis in Hopewell; Rebecca Tomlinson visited Ann Carter in Cumberland.

Also Juanita Davis and Eva Cobb in Buckingham; Sutton Bland in West Point; Constance Pemberton in Warsaw; Betty Lou Haywood in Hampton; Mary Eames in Providence Forge; Helen Williams at Sunny Side; Gladys Lankford in Franklin; Betty Witherall in Creiglersville; Mary Frances Moon in Shipman; Helen Apperson visited Jane Glenn in Prospect.

Still others finding good things in store away from school were Mary Lou Bayley at Virginia Beach; Mary Jane Bond in Alexandria; Doris Ballance and Beanie Dudley in Norfolk; Sara Lee East at Hollins College; Anna Headile and Martha East visited Margaret Lohr at Bridgewood; Betsy Fox in Danville; Marjorie Hollard in Bedford; Mar Kent Stevens in Radford; and Eleanor Wade in Charlottesville.

Those rating visits out of state, were Robin Lear and Nancy Almond at Chapel Hill, N. C.; Josephine Beatty at Ivanhoe, N. C.; Betty Dillard in Baltimore, Md.; Peggy Fink and Judy Light in Washington, D. C. Carol Jenkins was in Burkeville; Betty Cock in Darlington Heights; Betty Craddock in Vinton; Patsy Saunders in Waynesboro; Betsy Caldwell in Sweet Briar; Mary Virginia Williams in Narrows; Alice Davis in Phoenix; Lou Baker visited Kitty Sue Bridgforth in Kenbridge; Eloise Stancell in Emporia.

Also Winn Tucker, Ruth Stables and Lillian Stables in Wilson; Dorothy Bradley and Helen Brooks in Vernon Hill; Mary Lee Dickerson and Elizabeth Terry in Pamplin.

Old faces back on campus for the week-end were Jerry Titmus, M. K. Ingham, Ella Pool, and Eleanor Boothe.

More gab and get about next week-end.

Try our delicious homemade pies! You will enjoy them 10c a slice College Shoppe

Patronize PATTERSON'S Unexcelled Soda Service Prescriptions a Specialty WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGSWORTH CANDIES MONTAG STATIONERY The complete drug store PATTERSON DRUG CO. 328 MAIN STREET

Gray's Drug Store Pure Drugs Perfumes—Toilet Articles Varied Assortment of Stationery Quality—Price—Service

COMPLIMENTS —of— Lynn's Jewelry Store

Dance Dates Set For May Day Prom, Spring Cotillion

Anne Summers, junior from Hampden-Sydney, has been named as general dance chairman for the May Day dance to be held on May 5 in the college gymnasium. Serving as head of the decorations will be Margie Hewlett, of Richmond.

This dance is being sponsored by the junior class of which Eleanor Bisese is president.

Cotillion Club is sponsoring its annual spring dance on April 14, Marilyn Johnson, president of the club, revealed this week. To date the orchestra has not been announced.

Goat week will be on Monday and Tuesday following the dance. Marilyn Bell will head the Goat Court. Serving with her on the court will be Helen Wilson, Bobbie Scott, and Jean Carter Smith.

SUITOR'S CHOICE

by Mary Muffet

Slim as a wish . . . soft-as-a-kitten jersey . . . to make you the darling of the boulevard. Delectable pastels. White eyelet blouse. 9-15 . . . . . .

BALDWIN'S

Library
te Teachers College
Farmville, Virginia.

GOOD LUCK ON EXAMS

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS MAJOR OFFICERS!

VOLUME XXIV | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1945 | No. 21

Parden, Crumpler, Butt, Lee Win Major Offices

Vagabonds Furnish Music At Annual Pan-Hellenic Hop

Dance To Begin At 8:30 O'Clock

Beginning at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday night, March 24, the Vagabonds will strike the opening chords for the annual Pan-Hellenic dance to be held in the gymnasium.

The receiving line for the dance will be composed of Dr. J. L. Jarman, President; Dr. Martha Smith-Smith, Dean of Women, Miss Pauline Camper, adviser of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority; Miss Sprunt Hall, adviser of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority; Miss Florence Stubbs, Gamma Theta sorority; Miss Olive Iler, Pi Kappa Sigma sorority; Miss Leola Wheeler, Mu Omega sorority; Miss Virginia Bedford, Alpha Sigma Tau sorority; Miss Lucille Jennings, Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority; Miss Willie London, Phi Zeta Sigma sorority; and Jean Prosise, president of the Pan-Hellenic Association.

Johnson Is Chairman

Marilyn Johnson is chairman of the music committee for the dance; Martha Higgins, tickets; Evelyn Grizzard, invitations; Eleanor Bisese decorations; and Carol Diggs, floor committee. Other girls serving on the floor committee are Marilyn Bell, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Carolyn Huddle, Barbara Lee Meyers, Harriette Moore and Faith Weeks.

Intermission will be held from 10:30 to 11 o'clock at which time parties will be held in the eight chapter rooms. During the evening, each sorority will have one no-break dance.

Noble To Direct All Music Groups In Spring Concert

Program Set For April 12

Dr. Tertius Noble, world renowned organist, director, and composer, will direct the A'Cappella groups, college choir, and choral club in the spring concert which will be held in the large auditorium at 8 o'clock on April 12.

Formerly of Yorkminister Cathedral, England, and for 30 years organist and choir master of St. Thomas Church, New York City, Dr. Noble directed the major oratorio, Brahm's Requiem on this campus last spring.

Robert Nicholson, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and James Montgomery, well-known concert singer, will assist with the program. Mr. Nicholson also appared on this campus as the baritone singer in the oratorio, and Mr. Montgomery was one of the guest artists for the Christmas concert in December.

Officers of the College Choir are Ann Blair, president; Pat Maddox, vice-president; Jean Prosise, secretary, and Julia Messick, treasurer.

Time Set Up Hour Beginning Monday

Beginning next Monday, March 19, the time schedule of last fall will be resumed, Dr. J. L. Jarman announced this week. Classes at the college will begin once more at 8:05; breakfast will be served at 7:15, lunch as 12:45, and dinner at 6 o'clock. All meetings scheduled will be set up one hour, as originally scheduled before the time change last fall.

The time change is in cooperation with the county schools and the school in Farmville that have to change their time during the winter months because of the number of rural students enrolled.

Position of Teacher Important In World Dr. Dunn Remarks

"You can render no more patriotic service in the world today than as a teacher", Dr. Fanny Wyche Dunn, professor emeritus Columbia University, remarked when she spoke on this campus last Saturday on the Founders Day program.

Speaking on "Why Teach Today?", Dr. Dunn stated that teachers should have a real desire to teach and should feel a satisfaction from work well done. "The hope of the world today lies in its boys and girls. Teaching is a high calling and a great responsibility and should be regarded as such," the former member of the S. T. C. faculty said.

In concluding her address, Dr. Dunn spoke of her own teaching experience as the "most rewarding, stimulating, and challenging thing in the world."

Three portraits were presented to the school on the Founders Day program, Dr. F. A. Millidge, Miss Lulu O. Andrews, and Miss Minnie V. Rice. The sketches of these faculty members were given by M. B. Coyner, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, and Miss Carrie B. Tallaferro, respectively.

Following a program of student music, Harriet Moore, president of the student body presented to Dr. Jarman gifts from the school. Mrs. M. B. Coyner, alumnae secretary, told of the work of alumnae chapters throughout Virginia and in other states.

Concluding the program for the day was the presentation of "A Midsummer Night's Dream", by the S. T. C. Dramatic Club, under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT Y. W. C. A.

JACKIE PARDEN

MINNIE LEE CRUMPLER

HOUSE COUNCIL A. A.

FREDDIE ANN BUTT

FRANCES LEE

ACE, PTA Present Musical Program

Sponsored by the Association for Childhood Education of the college and the Parent Teachers Association of the Farmville Elementary School, a musical program will be presented in the auditorium Tuesday night, March 20, at 8 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited and a silver offering will be taken at the door.

Officers of A. C. E. are Aline Boss, president; Rachel Joyner, vice-president; Elizabeth Anne Jones, secretary; and Aileyne Phillips, treasurer.

Al Massie Scheduled For Cotillion Dance

Al Massie and his 13 piece orchestra will furnish the music for the spring Cotillion ball to be held in the college gymnasium on April 14, Catherine Trower, chairman of the music committee has announced.

Starting Charlie Spivac's orchestra and arranging music for him for some time, Al Massie, who since has organized his own orchestra, is now playing at the Hotel Roosevelt in Washington, D. C.

Serving also on the music committee are Mary Watkins, Margie Hewlett and Shirley Easterly.

Photographer Counts To 3 As Subjects Arrange Themseles In Right Position

By HELENE GRIFFIN

Monument Makes Good "Snap View"

"Move over this way a little more—no, don't cross your legs—now Dods, don't look so sad — there, that's it—now I'll count to three and you all smile!" Click!! A small figure is seen shifting this way and that; trying to get the sun at her back; the feet and faces of her subjects all in, and the right angle to take the shot from. One girl must brush a piece of lint from her coat; another tries to straighten a stray piece of hair, while another nervous creature bends over to make her hose look like she was wearing Nylons. With much hand waving, mumbled threats, and patient pleading, the "photographer" finally gets the groups ready.

If you take pictures on the monument steps some very nice shots can be arranged. We thought that the Old Confederate was wearing a bewildered look on Sunday when we attempted a few views from the heights of his domain. When the snapshots came back from the developers, we shudder to think that we were hardly dangling from the sides of that old statue.

Richardson's stairs have held many a passing maiden. It's amazing how many positions can be materialized on six wooden steps. There's the languid type who just meets all over the steps. We have also the vivacious soul, bouncing all around, and who finally has to be dug out of the ground when she falls head first over the bannister. "Legs" O'Toole is known and feared by whoever takes her picture. It's, "Never mind my face, just get my legs and new shoes in." "Mug" McGuire is the horror-face who does not think a picture is a picture if you aren't distorting your features a million ways just for the kick. We always enjoy the "Senorita del arbal" because whenever and wherever we see her she is either leaning against, hanging from, wrapped around, and clutching onto, a tree. The unrelated part can be placed next to a breath taking flower bush, a lovely rose arbor, a palm tree, or just be left standing in a clover field, she persists in her arms akimbo, feet apart, and chesire grin stand. (The Cover field is her best best.) "Horizontal" Kate simply has to be gazing into the depths of the latest novel; holding a kitten up in her hands, taking a sun bath; anything, just so she is spread out on good old "terra fir-

Richardson Holds Passing Maidens

Continued on Page 3

New Officers Assume Duties At Beginning of Spring Quarter

Jackie Parden, junior from Norfolk; Minnie Lee Crumpler, junior from Suffolk; Frances Lee, junior from Richmond; and Freddie Ann Butt, senior from Portsmouth, were elected president of the Student Government Association, president of the Y. W. C. A., president of the Athletic Association, and president of the House Council, respectively, as a result of the major elections held on the halls yesterday.

Jackie Parden, a commercial major, was elected to government as a class representative last year. She has been active in the choral groups on campus, and served as chairman of the U. S. O. Committee this year.

Minnie Lee Crumpler, also a commercial major, has been a member of the Y cabinet for two years, serving as freshman counselor and treasurer. She is a member of College Choir, member of the business staff of the Colonnade, and a member of the College War Council.

Freddie Ann Butt, an English major, has served on the House Council for two years, as hall president and this year as treasurer. She is a member of Boerc Eh Thorn, honorary society in English.

Frances Lee, also a commercial major, has this year served on the A. A. Council as treasurer. She has taken an active part in sports, and served as president of her class as a freshman. She was recognized by Alpha Kappa Gamma last fall.

Minor elections will be held after examinations.

These girls will take office after the beginning of the new quarter, next Wednesday, March 21.

Frosh Production Slated March 27

3 Special Numbers Will Be Featured

Three specialty numbers will highlight the Freshman Production which will be given March 27 in the large auditorium. "Rehearsals were begun last week and everything is progressing nicely," said Ting Rattary, production head.

The three specialty numbers will include a monologue by Dew James, a dance by Margaret Ann Ellis, and a solo by Peggy Moore.

Back stage singing for the occasion will be directed by Norma Howard and the chorus will include Nancy Magner, Ann Clark, Kathleen Blankenship, Jean Babb, Iris Davis, Juanita Davis, June Cregar, Maud Savage, Betty Epperson, Nan y Taylor, Alfreda Peterson, Myrtle West, and Ann Haskins.

Girls assisting with the production are Hildrian Suttle, and Claire Clark, who will plan the dances. Suzanne Steele, Ruth Bennett, Eloise Hanes, and Gerry Colgin will help with the staging, and Mildred Shepherd and Gerry Colgin will be in charge of the props.

Those who are working on the costumes are Annette Grainger, Audrey Davis, Hilda Abernathy, Norma Howard, Frances Treakle, and Hope Frank.

Working with the piano music will be Susan Dickinson, Barbara Crowther, and Virginia Tindall.

Committees named for the production are Peggy Moore and Joyce Hill, music; "Dew" James,

Continued on Page 3

235 Girls Needed In Coming May Day

Following a meeting of the May Day Committee this week, Dora Walker Jones, general chairman, announced that some 235 girls will be needed for the production of this year's May Day. Girls interested in taking part in the May Day should sign up with Frances Lee or Dora Walker Jones right away.

There will be a general May Day practice of all participating as soon as it can be arranged and practices will begin after the opening of the spring quarter. Materials for the costumes have already arrived, and the court dresses will be ordered in the near future, Miss Emily Kauzlarich, director, revealed yesterday.

Practices will be scheduled inso far as is possible during the physical education class periods, and night practices will be as few as possible. Work on the dances has already been begun in the folk dance classes.

The theme for the 1945 May Day as announced in the fall is a Russian one, and will depict the people of the Soviet Union. A series of articles on Russia will appear in the Rotunda at frequent intervals until May Day.

Tindall Named Head Of Alpha Phi Sigma

Virginia Tindall, Hatton, was elected president of Alpha Phi Sigma, honor society for freshmen and sophomores, at a meeting last Wednesday, May 10.

The other newly-elected officers include Dorothy Ladue, Alexandria, vice-president; Lucy Addleman, Cumberland, corresponding secretary; Rebecca Aims, Wilson, recording secretary; Audrey Lee Davis, Farmville, treasurer; Annette Grainger, Farmville, reporter; and Faye Wolfe, Big Stone Gap, chaplain.

These officers were all chosen from the freshman class since only freshmen and sophomores are eligible for membership in Alpha Phi Sigma.

Wygal Will Speak On Campus March 28

Sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., Miss Winnifred Wygal will appear on the S. T. C. campus March 28. She will speak in Chapel at 11 A. M. on a religious theme. In the afternoon, she will lead a discussion group at an open Association meeting of the "Y". Concluding her talks, Miss Wygal will speak in Prayers.

After spending twelve years in student work and ten years as secretary of Religious Resources for the whole movement, Miss Wygal resigned last August from the staff of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. She has had graduate work in Theology at Union Theological Seminary, with special studies at Chicago Divinity School, and with the late Canon Streeter of Queens College, Oxford, England. Miss Wygal has spent five summers in Europe and visited seven Asiatic countries.

She also attended the World Council of Churches meeting on Life and Work at Oxford in 1937.

Retiring officers of the YWCA are Sara Bird Williams, president; Mary Ann Jarratt, vice-president; Anne Martin, secretary; Minnie Lee Crumpler, treasurer; and Agnes Stokes, freshman counselor.

Study Diligently Now; Start New Quarter Right

Classes for this quarter have come to an end, and tomorrow brings forth the beginning of five days of examinations. Throughout the dormitory halls tonight, girls will be studying, yes, even cramming, to absorb the needed facts to pass the tests with flying colors.

This is a rather late hour to say very much about studying as you have either studied during the quarter and will only need to review your material in these next few days or you have played all quarter and will burn midnight oil doing last-minute cramming. Anyway, all of us will be studying these next few days to prepare ourselves for the questions which we will be called upon to answer.

There are many ways of studying, some excellent, some fair, some poor. Don't keep your eyes in a book every minute during the examination period. Take off some time to get some fresh air; that will refresh your mind and make the facts come much easier when you settle down again to study. Then, too, it doesn't pay to sit up all night studying as rest is necessary to do one's best on any thing, be it examinations or what not. These are just a few suggestions to help us as we stand on the eve of quarterly tests.

In this column recently we printed an editorial from Lynchburg College in which was this line "Studying has become our DUTY." Continuing the editor states "To be the leaders of tomorrow is our duty. To develop our talents to capacity is our duty. To gain knowledge and understanding through STUDY is our duty in order to make our contribution to the world in which we live."

Realizing then that as loyal Americans it is our duty to study, let us as a student body study sensibly, conscientiously, and diligently not only in preparation for tomorrow and the days that immediately follow, but let us start off the new quarter on the right foot.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... Editor-in-Chief
Virginia Eubank Treakle ..... Managing Editor
Mary Sterrett ..... Business Manager

Betty Lewis ..... News Editor
Betty Deuel Cock ..... Feature Editor
Betty Ellis ..... Sports Editor
Evelyn Grizzard ..... Social Editor
Dorothy Turley ..... Advertising Manager
Ruth Brooks ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Ruth Jones, Betty Woodward, Sara Moling, Margaret Walton, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Anne Buck, Catherine Trower, Margaret Harvie, Lella Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Louise Blane, Fay Johnson, Shirley Slaughter, Mary Harrison, Bettie Christian, Ting Rattaray, Carmen Low, Helene Griffin, Margaret Wilson, Charlotte Grizzard.

Mary Ann Loving ..... Photographer
Mary Walton Rucker, Virginia T. Pullien .... Typing Managers

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Mary Stuart Buford, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overeash, Theresa Hutt, Lynn Sprye, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee Dot Gelston, Frances Treakle, Lois Lloyd Sheppard, Jean Elmore, Hilda Abernathy, Connie Young, Carolyn Hayslett, Frances Bell, Ruth Rowe, Kathryn Stubberfield, Susan Fansler.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1945

Alumna Pays Tribute To Beloved Teacher

(Editor's note: Last week on Founders Day a portrait of Miss Minnie Rice was presented to this school. At that time a tribute to her by Mrs. R. L. Phipps, was read. Part of that is reprinted here.)

To the world of yesterday and today, and perhaps of tomorrow, Minnie Rice was a teacher of Latin. We might as well say that Diogenes was a night watchman because he carried a lantern.

Minnie Rice was much more than a teacher of Latin. She was a diagnostician whose analytic mind took us apart, found out what we needed and fed it to us in philosophe doses, never causing mental indigestion.

We hear of extroverts and introverts. I don't know just exactly how those terms are applied. I doubt if anyone does. Generally, however, an introvert is one who obtains satisfaction by turning thoughts inward, while an extrovert does the same by observing that which is external.

Minnie Rice was an introvert, because she turned her thoughts inward, inward about the welfare of others, and she obtained satisfaction by concentrating on what she could do to help others in this trip from one great oblivion to the greater, happier life beyond.

Latin, to her mind, was simply a means to the end. Caesar, De Senectute, the poems of Horace, were delightful, but served for her to bring out truths, to develop personality in those who were fortunate enough to be in her presence.

Gleanings

By Alice Nichols

This week: 176,798 dead Americans!

* * * *

The most important news of the week is the crossing of the Rhine. Again and again the enemy has tried to destroy the Ludendorff Bridge at Remagen where we made the initial crossing. Despite enemy resistance we have widened our brigehead to a distance of 11 miles and this time it is on the east side of the Rhine.

* * *

Soviet troops have also advanced this week and are now just eight miles from the Bay of Danzig. From Danzig to Stettin the whole front is ablaze as Germany vainly tries to stop the onslaught. Himmler's defense strategy is no good and Danzig, Gdynia and Stettin are as doomed as Warsaw and Budapest.

* * * *

In the Philippines even as our troops continue hill fighting on Luzon we have made a landing on Mindanao. On Iwo Japanese are holding the northern end of the island with little gains on our sides. On top of this Japan announced she had imposed complete military control over Indo China.

* * * *

Turning toward the home front, we find two new bills passed by the Senate this week. The first provides for drafting of nurses not over 44 years of age and not under 20. The second is a man power bill which offers "stiff penalties for employers who hoard surplus war workers."

* * * *

If you are getting overjoyed by the European victory, then don't. Military chiefs warn us that there will be a swift transfer of men to the Pacific. How can anyone be overjoyed when already there are 176,798 dead? How can anyone forget for a moment that someone is dying for us while we gripe about the number of week-ends we can leave school. Yet we do!

HEARD AFTER

BEDCHECK

With the majority of our lassies "on campus" these days, most of the happenings in the past week have occurred within some four walls of STC.

The OAO in Lou Baker's life arrived on the scene unexpectedly Friday, much to her surprise and delight. At the expense of ALMOST missing a class, she was with him six whole hours!

That broad grin that simply wouldn't leave Margaret Ellett's face was due to the visit of her G. I. Joe and we mean he is "rilly" hers!

And today there arrived here a brand new shave-tail Lt. in the Air Corps. Naturally, he's tagged already by one Sue Hundley.

Speaking of new officers Betty Lee was seen last week wondering around campus with one.

And we can go no longer without mentioning the superb performance of the entire cast in the Spring play Saturday night. A score of orchids should go to the entire cast as well as the excellent work as displayed by the lighting, staging, costuming, etc., together with the directing. It was truly a magnificent show of talent, work and glory combined. Many of the actors' and actresses' families were present to witness the play. One especially noticed was Minetree's brother who brought her the big bunch of red roses. Virginia Terrell's Dick was also an eye witness.

Then there's Virginia Lee Abernathy who won't be classed in the "upper hundred" this weekend because her "prince charming" drove all the way up here to take her to some distant point. We thought that was almost unheard of these days.

And we're wondering just what kind of wagon that was Joan Davis was posing on for a recent photo?

And now William has gone transforming Bev's smiles into lovely memories.

The more serious look on Philhower's countenance may be accounted for the fact that Tynes new location is "Alabammie."

Two "Rotacy" boys on campus last week-end as seen with Olivia Meade and Anne Gregory.

A few welcomed faces back to celebrate Founders Day among them being, B. Reid, Libby Heath, Gwen Simpson, Betsy Bore, together with many others.

Flowers from both H.-S. sailors and civies certainly were pretty last week-end. Speaking of H.-S., Bonnie Curtis certainly is seen often with a certain sophomore from there. Patsy Dale has a special interest in that class too, and why shouldn't she when that certain ministerial student was just elected president?

STC training just can't do everything for these country gals. Jean Taylor is still taking off her shoes when she gets home, but that's excusable. It's when she leaves them at a dance that we deem it high time to instruct!

And then there's the surprised third-year student who collapsed into a chair Tuesday night and said, "Well! That's one election the Juniors actually won!"

All together — after bedcheck this week has been the most exciting and the time most taken with "the usual Scuttlebutt."

So long . . . see you after Bedcheck!

The Y

By MARGARET HARVIE

The Baptist students were entertained Friday evening in the Student Lounge by the Methodist students and the Presbyerian students for winning the Sunday School contest. A grand time was had by all. Congratulations Baptists!

Don't forget that this is Go-to-Church month. Get back in the nabit of going regularly.

Congratulations to all the new major officers. We especially congratulate in this column the new president of the "Y". We're expecting big things of all of you!

We wish everybody the best of luck on exams.

There will not be Prayers during exams.

MAJOR ELECTIONS

Interested Alumna Presents Valuable Chinese Altar Rug

The valuable Chinese altar-rug that hangs in the Junior Parlor has been a loan to the college since 1934. Rrecently a letter received by Miss Mary E. Peck from Mrs. William Arthur Maddox (Susie Warner) requested that she act as her representative on Founders Day in conveying this rug as a gift to the college. Not only is the rug valuable from a monetary point of view, but the design depicted is quite fitting to the place it now occupies.

Designed for a temple, the picture represents Lao-tse with a group of his followers, each of them representing a special quality of human knowledge or virtue. Lao-tse, who ranks with Confucius in China's history, was the founder of the Toist religion, or "way of life", and since that is today one of the popular religions of China. The central figure of this altar-rug should set us to investigate the philosophy promulgated by Lao-tse in the sixth century before our Christian era.

Mrs. Maddox graduated from Farmville in 1902. She married William Arthur Maddox who was called to Farmville in 1910 as a professor of psychology and as principal of the Training School. Before coming here he was superintendent of Henrico County, and after leaving our college he took his doctorate at Columbia University. For several years he was on the faculty staff in Teachers College of Columbia, and from there he went to Rockford, Illinois where he served as president of Rockford College until the time of his death in 1933. His untimely death was the result of an automobile accident, and although young, he had accomplished much in the field of education. He was recognized as one of the early crusaders for better schools and especially for better teachers in the schools. His few years at Farmville were appreciated by his colleagues and by his classes. The graduating class of January 1912 chose him as class-man—a real compliment for one who had been here so short a time.

Mrs. Maddox now resides at her childhood home at Dunnsville, Virginia. Our thanks go to her there each Founders Day, for she always remembers to express her interest in us at that time. Again, we thank her for remembering, and we wish to express our appreciation of her recent gift — the Chinese altar-rug.

M. E. P

Orchids To Director, Cast, Back-Stagers For Production

Well, Miss Wheeler and the STC Dramatic Club can rest in peace—and they deserve it! Interpreting the formidable Shakespeare to a packed house would seem to be enough to give any one the good old heebyjebis, but by gosh, they did it!

Just a little spat between Oberon, king of the fairies, and his glamorous queen, Titania, led to a lot of trouble for the lovers, but a lot of fun for the audience. We followed the mischievous Puck through such a series of charms and de-charms that our heads were whirling right along with his victims' hearts. Wonder if that potent love-juice is still on the market? (That was just an aside, but we'll bet that some of us could make good use of it.) We also wager that many a sympathetic ear was turned to the sighs of Helena, in pursuit of the elusive Demetrius. Now's the time for a few well-chosen words about that fickle creature — man, oh well, let's blame it on Puck. Anyway, "Titania waked and straightway loved an ass", so there may be hope for a few of us.

About that asses head—the audience really hated for poor Bottom to loose it. There was a sort of rugged fascination about it. It breyed so musically. We loved the Lion, too, even though it did tear sweet Thisbe asunder.

The costumes were beautifully Grecian, thanks to "Fingers-weary-and-worn McGuire" and the all-seeing eye of Miss Wheeler. And those flashing swords! Um-m. Reminiscient of the days when men were men, and did women love it!

We would have bet our last bottle of Bond St. that that was forest deep and dark, transported to the STC stage. It was perfect, even to the jonquils and iris blooming on grassy banks. And that was a record switch the staging crew made to the Grecian palace, too.

Orchids and gardenias and stuff like nylons go to Lillian Elliot and her lighting group. That dim-out in the last scene was a particular kind of master-piece.

All of those things, plus a bonus of more orchids go to Miss Wheeler, the cast, and all who worked so hard to make it a success. They really did it!

STC Defeats Bridgewater College In Basketball Game Here March 10

Second Game Of Season

Farmville State Teachers College varsity basketball team defeated the Bridgewater College team Friday night, March 10, in the second and last varsity game of the season with a score of 21 to 15. This game was played in S. T .C.'s own gym with many excited spectators present.

Eleanor Wade, captain of the varsity basketball team.

The linc-up for the Bridgewater team was as follows, forwards: Rebecca Jean Bowman, Eleanor Hoonor, Ava Wilson, and Jean Duffy. Guards: Connie Pewese, Zoia Wampler, and Helen Jordon. Substitutes were, forwards: Morrine Wenton and Phyilis Cupp. Guards: Ida Mason, and Virginia Eye. W .F. Smith was Bridgewater's coa.h, and Margaret Dixon was manager and assistant coach Scorer was A. C. Kankla.

S. T C. lineup was as follows, forwards; Mary Walker Watts, Lillian Eliot, and Betty Parrish Guards were, Eleanor Wade, captain, Margaret Orange, and Margaret Lohr. Substitutes were, forwards: Nancy Parrish Rosa Hill, Anne Hauser, Alice Abernathy and Louise Blane; guards, Helen Wilson, Kitty Sue Bridgforth, and Jean Bently.

Mail Time Brings Mad Mob To P. O.

An STC'ers most difficult and trying time appears to be after second period in the morning. Wonder why? We'll elucidate, gates! The mail's up; that's why! From every room, hall, and closet, there pours into the P. O. an endless stream of optimistic students. Oh, but this is the sad part of our little story, because it breaks our heart to see the expectant look on their faces.

